) ORDER FOR ) TELEPHONIC TESTIMONY

WHEREAS the instant case involves an incarcerated party who wishes to be transported to Court for the scheduled small claims hearing, and

WHEREAS NRS 209.274 only mandates inmates transportation when an inmate "is required or requested to appear before a court", and

WHEREAS this language merely means that if a court mandates the offender's presence, he must be allowed to be transported here, and the statutory language not grant an inmate the right to be transported upon the inmate's own request; and

WHEREAS in the case of Barry v. Lindner, 119 Nev. Op. No. 45, 81 P.3d 537 (2003), the Nevada Supreme court held that telephonic testimony may be used, in lieu of a court appearance, when exigent circumstances exist; and

WHEREAS the Nevada Supreme Court recently amended JCRCP 43(a) to clarify that the court may, for good cause shown in compelling circumstances and upon appropriate safeguards, "permit presentation of testimony in open court by contemporaneous transmission from a different location"; and

WHEREAS the Department of Corrections would incur substantial cost and effort to transport an inmate to court for a small claims hearing; and

WHEREAS allowing an inmate to appear for a case raises serious security issues, involving the control of the inmate and potential danger to the general public; and

WHEREAS the instant case does not appear to be especially complex, such that the inmate's actual presence would be essential,

THE COURT FINDS that compelling circumstances are present in this case and that the inmate should be required to testify by telephone, and therefore,

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the institution where the inmate is currently incarcerated shall make the inmate available for telephonic testimony for the scheduling hearing of this matter on

March 1, 2023 at 11:00 a.m.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the inmate shall provide the Court with a phone number where the inmate can be reached for the purposes of eliciting testimony.
