21 I. OPPOSITION

22 POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

23
24 This Court is well aware of the tortuous history of this case, including Mr.
25 Vaile's multiple attempts to increase expense and delay by seeking to challenge this 26 Court's prior rulings in the United States Supreme Court. Certiorari was always 27
28

1 denied. We would expect that the claims of a deadbeat dad will not ring as a pressing
2 issue at the national level this time, either.

3
4 In accordance with NRAP 41, the granting of a stay of remittitur and
5 enforcement of the judgment is discretionary with this Court. As such, we oppose the 6 stay and ask that the decade-delayed collection of the massive child support arrears
7 and attorney's fees to proceed.
8

10 If this Court has any inclination to stay the action, we ask in accordance with
11 NRAP 41(b)(3)(C) that the Court require a bond in the amount of $900,000 as a
12 condition for granting the stay. Mr. Vaile's current child support arrearage is in 13 excess of $300,000 and the outstanding attorney's fees awarded are in excess of 14 $500,000. With statutory interest and penalties continuing to accrue, a bond for 15 $900,000 will cover that sum during the pendency of the stay.

II. CONCLUSION

We ask the Court to deny Mr. Vaile's request for stay or in the alternative condition the stay on the posting of a $900,000 bond.

Respectfully submitted,
