3 THE COURT: Let the record reflect the defendant
4 and counsel are present, the State is represented by counsel.
5 This is the time set for oral argument on motions prior to 6 sentencing. Motion to strike?

7 MR. LYON: Thank you, your Honor. Your Honor, we 8 filed a motion to strike redundant convictions on the concept
9 that Nevada has a long history of authority that redundant 10 convictions should be stricken from the record prior to 11 sentencing.

12 The case law suggests that a redundant conviction 13 is a conviction that arises out of one course of conduct, but 14 results in multiple charges and multiple convictions.

15 There's one case, it's the State of Nevada versus 16 the Eighth Judicial District, talks about the gravamen of 17 offense being the material act which is being punished. And 18 in this case we have three convictions for one material act, 19 that being the killing of Mr. Pettigrew.

20 We have count two, which was the challenge to fight 21 charge resulting in the death of Mr. Pettigrew. We have 22 count five, which is the second degree murder, that reckless 23 disregard charge. And then we have count six, which was the 24 premeditated murder based on the concept that Mr. Gonzalez

1 was part of some conspiracy to assassinate Mr. Pettigrew, and 2 that was primarily promoted at the trial through the 3 testimony of Mr. Rudnick.

4 All three of those charges follow one gravamen of 5 offense, meaning the material act that's being punished, 6 again, is the killing of Mr. Pettigrew. Because those are 7 redundant convictions, they should be struck.

8 The Jenkins case, which is cited at 109 Nevada 337, 9 talks about that when there are alternative theories, the 10 State is certainly free to pursue those theories in a 11 charging document. But if in fact there are convictions 12 based on all theories, then the appropriate remedy is to 13 strike the conviction.

14 Now, in their opposition, the State basically says 15 that the appropriate remedy is a merger of the offenses for 16 purposes of sentencing. And while I would tend to agree that 17 Mr. Gonzalez certainly cannot be punished multiple times for 18 the same act, neither should a conviction exist for those 19 three -- for those three charges. We cited the Ball decision
20 and the Rutledge decision that talks about that convictions 21 are just another form of punishment beyond the actual 22 sentencing itself.

23 So just because the Court may merge the actual 24 sentencings for those three charges, that is not the

1 appropriate remedy in this case. The appropriate remedy, by 2 way of Jenkins and the State of Nevada versus Eighth Judicial 3 District, is to strike those convictions.

4 The State also talks about the fact that, well, 5 these were just alternative theories, they could have been 6 charged within a single count, and therefore really merger is 7 appropriate. Again, the problem is the State did not charge
8 these in a single count. They were charged as each separate, 9 three separate and distinct counts.

10 The Court will recall we addressed this issue prior 11 to going to the jury when we asked the -- when we made the 12 motion for the State to elect which theory it was going to 13 choose. And the Court found that the State did not have to 14 elect one theory by virtue of the fact that that could be 15 cured through the jury instructions, which required a 16 unanimous decision on each of those counts.

17 Because of that, this isn't a situation where we 18 have one specific count, and multiple theories within that 19 one count. We do have multiple charges and multiple 20 convictions. And therefore the State's remedy -- or the 21 State's argument on that point isn't sufficient.

22 Again, if they were correct, and this was all 23 charged under one single count, we would have one conviction.
24 But we don't have that, we have three separate convictions.

1 Finally, the State argues that the Jackson decision 2 has somehow abrogated this redundancy argument, and that it's 3 no longer required. That as long as there is a separate act 4 for each particular charge, then it's appropriate that all 5 the charges and convictions stand.

6 While it's true that Jackson did go in and denounce 7 some of the redundancy argument, the Jackson decision is very 8 clear that it did not affect what they call the alternative 9 offense redundancy. Which -- and they talk about 10 alternativety refers to the mutually exclusive quality of 11 certain offenses; the application of one logically excludes 12 the application of another to the same factual situation.

13 So when you have alternate offense redundancy,
14 Jackson itself says the body of this case law is unaffected 15 by our approval of the same conduct test.

16 Really what they're talking about in that situation 17 is this multiplicity, and whether the charges should be 18 charged in one single charge or multiple charges. Again, we 19 are past that. The State charged three separate charges, the 20 jury was instructed on three separate charges, the jury
21 returned a verdict on three separate charges. So we are now 22 left with three separate charges that are alternative offense
23 redundancy, meaning they are mutually exclusive. You can't 24 have a challenge to fight verdict that is consistent with

1 this theory of premeditation and some sort of conspiracy to 2 assassinate. Those are mutually exclusive. And as well as 3 the second degree murder. You can't have second degree 4 murder, reckless disregard, as well as the first degree 5 murder. Those are all mutually exclusive, and the remedy is 6 to strike the convictions, the redundant convictions. And we 7 would ask that remedy be applied in this case.

8 THE COURT: Thank you. Mr. Stege.

9 MR. STEGE: Well, to start, your Honor, where we 10 left off in the trial, which is them agreeing that these 11 counts merge. And there's no reason that this Court should 12 not hold them to their agreement on the record which is 13 attached as an exhibit to our opposition, that the counts in 14 question, the challenge to fight, the second degree, and the 15 first degree, would merge for purposes of sentencing.
16 There's no reason that they should not be held to that.

17 And I agree with Mr. Lyon that there is a long 18 history of case law regarding this subject, but one that is 19 totally ignored by the defendant's briefs. They didn't 20 address it in their opening brief or in their reply to the 21 State's opposition. And that's the Jackson case, which gets 22 rid of this gravamen test or this same conduct test and talks 23 about legislative authority. And absent -- or if there's any 24 question or vagueness in legislative authority, you look to

1 the Blockburger test.

2 So they agreed to merger, and then they ignore the 3 2012 law on the subject. And under our analysis, or I think 4 the proper analysis laid forth in our briefs, is that it 5 really gets to this argument made by the defense that, well, 6 they could have charged all these under one theory, right?
7 Let us suppose that first, that challenge to fight as a 8 theory of first degree murder. We could have charged it in 9 our first degree murder count as an alternative theory, 10 right? Just as we did. We charged it as premeditated or 11 liability pursuant to a conspiracy. We could have added a 12 third alternative, being the challenge to fight. Which would 13 be no problem under Schad, and we had some argument about 14 that during the course of the trial.

15 And if we would have done that, we would have been 16 arguing, well, we don't know which one of the three they came 17 back with. And the effect is ultimately what we did, we 18 spotted that, we did not need to charge them as separate 19 offenses. But by doing so we increased our burden under that 20 Schad analysis. And if we would have thrown it in there, 21 they would have been making that argument.

22 But there's no problem with charging them as 23 separate offenses.

24 Now, looking under the Jackson test to the

1 legislative -- to the plain meaning of the statute, there's 2 no indication that multiple punishments would be prohibited.
3 Even though, your Honor, we are not asking for multiple 4 punishments, we're asking for a merger analysis, whereby the 5 challenge to fight, second degree, and the first degree 6 convictions would merge. There's on their face, on the 7 legislative reading of it, there's no issue with it.

8 But let us assume that there is a problem with it.
9 If there were some vagueness or ambiguity in the statutes, we 10 would go to a Blockburger test. And as pointed out in our 11 briefs, the challenge to fight and first degree have 12 different elements. Mainly, that first degree requires 13 malice, which is not required by challenge to fight. As well 14 as the challenge to fight requires a challenge, sending, 15 receiving a challenge to fight, which is not an element 16 required by first degree murder.

17 So in conclusion, your Honor, we're -- even though 18 multiple punishments under the Jackson analysis would be 19 proper, we are not asking for that, we're asking that the 20 Court merge the counts as we had agreed to on the record.
21 And as a matter of fairness, given what the -- what the 22 jury's verdict was. So we would ask that the challenge to 23 fight, first degree, and second degree convictions merge for 24 purposes of sentencing.

1 THE COURT: With regard to your argument, I 2 understand your argument with regard to the count two, the 3 challenge to fight, and murder in the first degree, count 4 six, not being mutually exclusive. But what about murder in 5 the second degree, count five, and murder in the first 6 degree, count four, for the death of Mr. Pettigrew?

7 MR. STEGE: Well, under the -- with the Court's 8 indulgence. I would argue that the second degree, they have 9 different -- they do have different elements in that the -- 10 they both contain the malice element, where first degree 11 having the added element of the premeditation and 12 deliberation.

13 I think we argued during the course of the trial
14 that that would be treated as a lesser. In fact we had a 15 long discussion about that, and the Court -- that was the 16 subject of the jury question. And ultimately, because they 17 did not ask for lesser includes, the verdict should stand as 18 to the second degree, not be subsumed, or not be stricken; 19 but rather, be merged with the first degree count.

20 THE COURT: Okay, thank you. Mr. Lyon.

21 MR. LYON: You know, we did discuss and did agree 22 that the sentencings should merge, but that is a different 23 issue than what the motion presents to the Court.

24 We're not talking about purposes of sentencing,

1 we're talking about the actual convictions themselves. And 2 when you're talking the Blockburger analysis and the Schad
3 analysis, we're past all of that. Because there were three 4 separate charges. This isn't a question of whether they 5 should have been charged separately or assumed into one 6 particular charge. We're beyond that. There were three 7 separate charges presented to the jury, the jury came back 8 and found -- and convicted on all three charges, based on the 9 same gravamen of conduct.

10 Because of that, these convictions are redundant,
11 and the convictions themselves have to be struck. A merger 12 at sentencing is not the appropriate remedy. And again, I'd 13 go back to Ball that talked about that. A separate 14 conviction, apart from concurrent sentencing, has potential 15 adverse collateral consequences. It could affect the 16 defendant's eligibility for parole. It could result in an 17 increased sentence under a future offense. A second 18 conviction could be used to impeach the defendant.

19 While they may not necessarily be applicable to 20 Mr. Gonzalez, these are still issues that the courts look at, 21 and as an example of how the conviction is, in and of itself, 22 punishment beyond just the sentence. In fact, they say the 23 second conviction, even if it results in no greater sentence, 24 is an impermissible punishment.

1 So we're not here talking about sentencing and 2 merging of sentences, we're here about convictions, and what 3 this jury did with respect to three charges that all arise 4 out of the same conduct. And Nevada law that says that when 5 that happens, it's the redundant convictions that need to be 6 struck from the record. I think that's the appropriate 7 relief, and that's the relief we're asking for in this case.

8 THE COURT: Ball and Rutledge aren't from the Ninth 9 Circuit, correct?

10 MR. LYON: They're U.S. Supreme Court decisions, 11 your Honor.

12 THE COURT: And they do not deal with this 13 particular circumstance, you're extrapolating it.

14 MR. LYON: Correct. I mean, I think they're more 15 in tune with whether you should have concurrent sentences or 16 not. And in that situation, the court is saying a concurrent 17 sentence isn't necessarily the appropriate remedy. So 18 extrapolating into this situation, if we were to have 19 concurrent sentences it might be more applicable.

20 We've agreed to merge the sentences, which I think 21 is appropriate, but it's not enough of a remedy. And I think 22 those cases show the importance of why that's true.

23 THE COURT: And Nevada has never adopted a theory 24 that the mere conviction is prejudice to the defendant.

1 MR. LYON: Not that I've found, your Honor.

2 THE COURT: All right, thank you. We'll move into 3 the next argument, motion for new trial.

4 MR. HOUSTON: Thank you, your Honor. And the 5 motion for new trial has been of course filed with the 6 appropriate exhibits. Your Honor, I wanted to not 7 necessarily go through each point as brought forth in the 8 pleading. I know the Court reads them, I know the Court
9 would have a chance to review the exhibits. And as a 10 consequence, I wanted to try to confine my remarks to what I 11 felt were the primarily important aspects of each argument.

12 As the Court is aware, we had filed a motion for a 13 new trial based upon three different principles. The first 14 being the fact that we discussed jury instructions at great 15 length in the motion for new trial, we discussed the 16 questions from the jury during the course of deliberation and 17 the Court's response, and then finally, we discussed the 18 multiplicitious charges.

19 And I wanted for background purposes to I guess 20 illustrate the importance of the instructions in this case, 21 to bring forward the method of charging Mr. Gonzalez. As the 22 Court will recall, there were four informations supplementing 23 the original indictment. That in and of itself, just by the 24 title, seems to indicate there was a great deal of legalese

1 that was utilized in the charging of Mr. Gonzalez, to the 2 point that Mr. Gonzalez of course was charged with a number 3 of different theories on how he supposedly had committed the 4 crimes as contained in the indictment. The first information 5 supplementing, the second information supplementing, the 6 third information supplementing, and the fourth information 7 supplementing.

8 The end result was the charges theorized that 9 Mr. Gonzalez, number one, laid in wait and killed 10 Mr. Pettigrew. Number two that, well, maybe if we didn't 11 prove that one, we'll try this. Mr. Gonzalez conspired with 12 other members of the Vagos to kill Mr. Pettigrew. And maybe 13 if that one isn't quite enough, let's go for a third one.
14 Mr. Gonzalez was actually a party to a duel involving 15 Mr. Pettigrew. And then because that may not sell it either, 16 we go to the fourth, that being Mr. Gonzalez aided and 17 abetted Mr. Rudnick and Mr. Pettigrew in a fist fight by 18 shooting Mr. Pettigrew, and then Mr. Gonzalez maliciously and 19 recklessly fired a pistol in a crowded room, disregarding 20 danger to others.

21 And then of course, on top of that, we had the 22 issue that if members of the jury did not unanimously agree 23 to any one of the four, nonetheless, if the 12 would agree to 24 one of the four, that they could still find Mr. Gonzalez

1 guilty, in that sort of fashion.

2 In other words, we've got essentially three to four 3 different theories flowing into one river.

4 THE COURT: Wait. You're mixing, in the Court's 5 mind, what was the charging documents. Your analysis that 6 you've just talked about, you merged several counts.

7 MR. HOUSTON: Correct.

8 THE COURT: The Court instructed the jury 9 specifically that they could not cross over from one count to 10 the other.

11 MR. HOUSTON: Correct.

12 THE COURT: They had to be unanimous as to the 13 count.

14 MR. HOUSTON: Correct.

15 THE COURT: So they could not find -- be not 16 unanimous as to the theory. In other words, one person
17 couldn't decide that he was guilty of count two, and 11
18 people decide he was guilty of count six, and return a 19 verdict of guilt as to both count two and six.

20 MR. HOUSTON: No, and your Honor, I'm sorry if that 21 was a misstatement on my part. My point being is there were 22 several different methods in which to achieve the goal which 23 would require a unanimous verdict.

24 The problem being -- and I think the problem

1 created by such a charging document, you create so many 2 different areas of the law, that certainly in my opinion we 3 as the counsel, and hopefully the Court as well, would 4 understand the complexity of the case, and perhaps provide 5 the necessary guidance or the necessary answers that might 6 assist in working your way through as a juror what amounts to 7 a very technically charged case.

8 That being my point, I know that we provided the 9 Court with a number of issues in the motion for new trial
10 that we felt were compelling as it concerned the jury
11 instructions issue. And of course, we gave a conspiracy 12 instruction. And naturally, the conspiracy instruction led 13 to the first question as provided by the jury.

14 And I'll deal with those questions, but I bring up 15 the confusion only because it seems to indicate to me that 16 the instructions as a whole, albeit instructions that are 17 trying to deal with a very complex matter, certainly in and 18 of themselves also presented a great deal of confusion.

19 And again, I relate that back to the jury questions 20 specifically.

21 But one issue as far as the jury instructions that 22 I found most troubling was the fact the defense, as the Court 23 will recall, had requested what we referred to as a 24 confidential informant instruction. In other words, the

1 short version being that you've heard testimony from an 2 individual, in our case Gary Rudnick, that may be considered 3 as confidential informant. As such, you should examine that 4 testimony perhaps with extra caution.

5 And I know the Court did not give us that 6 instruction. And in the process of not giving us that 7 instruction, indicated that Mr. Rudnick in fact during the 8 Petrocelli hearing had testified, well, I fully expect to go 9 to prison.

10 Now, I find that very interesting, in light of the 11 fact that Mr. Lyon and I also chose to attend Mr. Rudnick's 12 sentencing. Lo and behold, there seemed to be a whole 13 different thing going on that certainly defense counsel was 14 not made aware of. And it seems to also have pointed out the 15 necessity, perhaps, of honoring the request of defense 16 counsel to give that specific instruction to the jury about 17 Mr. Rudnick.

18 And I know, having attended the sentencing, that 19 there was a great deal of, shall I say, animosity on behalf
20 of defense counsel, that somehow the State has not honored 21 what was referred to as their, quote, tacit agreement.

22 Now, I've had years and years to work with 23 Mr. Hall, and frankly, I don't have any reason to doubt 24 Mr. Hall's word. What I do have reason to doubt is the 1 sincerity of Mr. Rudnick's claim, as made during the 2 Petrocelli hearing, that he fully expected to go to prison.

3 And quite frankly, there then would be nothing to impeach him
4 on as it concerned his supposed negotiations with the State.

5 And I don't really have to reach too far to go 6 through his sentencing transcript to repeat over and over 7 again by both Mr. Rudnick and his counsel that there was a 8 wink and a nod agreement as far as they were concerned. The 9 issue isn't necessarily for the purpose of my argument 10 whether the State believed it. The issue is whether the 11 witness testifying for a cause or for a purpose believed it.

12 THE COURT: However, your argument is after the 13 fact.

14 MR. HOUSTON: Well, your Honor, it's only --

15 THE COURT: So if you want to argue that evidence 16 that you secured after the fact is somehow new evidence that 17 would support a new trial, that's different than arguing 18 whether or not the refusal of the instruction, given the 19 state of the case at the time the instruction was refused, 20 requires a new trial.

21 MR. HOUSTON: Well, your Honor, I --

22 THE COURT: I understand the arguments that you're 23 making with regard to Mr. Rudnick. I'm a little concerned, 24 obviously, by that. I'm concerned that Ms. Lunt sat through

1 some if not all of Mr. Rudnick's Petrocelli hearing, and 2 never corrected the record that he was creating that you just 3 talked about.

4 So I don't know, I have no knowledge, but I do know 5 that the Court had evidence before it, sworn testimony that 6 was not refuted, that he expected to go to prison. And 7 that's the basis of the refusal, plus some other things that 8 was wrong with the instruction. But that is the knowledge 9 the Court had.

10 Now, if you want to argue that newly discovered 11 evidence supports a motion for new trial, then that's a 12 different argument than the one that you presented in your 13 pleadings.

14 MR. HOUSTON: Thank you, your Honor, and I would 15 combine that argument certainly with what I'm advising the 16 Court. And I bring that up not necessarily because we knew 17 that at the time, but it was because at the time of arguing 18 jury instructions, my comments to the Court was really quite 19 simple, and really more in agreement with what the defendant, 20 Mr. Rudnick, had set forth on the record at his sentencing, 21 as well as his counsel, that obviously one could certainly 22 infer or imply by what had happened that the defendant
23 Rudnick had received a substantial benefit.

24 And in fact, Mr. Rudnick, as the Court will recall,

1 was allowed to plead guilty to one count. One count was the 2 conspiracy to commit murder.

3 If we then evaluate whether or not Mr. Rudnick's 4 plea resulted in a benefit in exchange for his testimony, 5 then certainly above and apart from this wink and a nod tacit 6 agreement -- which, by the way, was also contrary to the 7 affidavit that was filed in support of the prosecutor's 8 motion in reference to our I think last discovery motion in 9 this case, where Ms. Lunt again assured us that no such 10 agreement existed -- the consequence of that sort of behavior 11 certainly results in an argument, as far as additional 12 information that should support a new trial.

13 But simply on the instruction itself, your Honor, 14 it was very clear that Mr. Rudnick had received a substantial 15 benefit by virtue of his willingness to cooperate, to give 16 statements, whether it be one, two, three or four, and to 17 stand in front of the jury and provide testimony.

18 That benefit was found in the form of a sentence 19 that was subject to probation, a sentence that arguably would 20 not land him in prison, and a sentence that arguably 21 certainly didn't carry a life imprisonment as its sanction.

22 To me that was a substantial benefit. And of 23 course, despite the fact that we could not prove at the time 24 of jury instructions Mr. Rudnick certainly was under the

1 impression he was going to receive a lot more, we did provide 2 the Court with his telephonic communication with his 3 then-spouse, or whatever, Crystal, wherein he was very clear.
4 And in fact, there was evidence before the court that he was 5 receiving a tacit deal by virtue of his statements to his 6 significant other on the telephone. Something to the effect
7 of, well, you don't understand, this is just the way it
8 works. I have to enter the plea to this, and then as a 9 consequence of me entering the plea to this, and me 10 testifying, they're going to give me probation.

11 So obviously we did have evidence in front of the 12 Court that suggested at least -- and most importantly, in 13 Mr. Rudnick's mind, he was going to receive a benefit for his 14 testimony.

15 And as such, I think in fairness to Mr. Gonzalez 16 and the due process issues of fundamental fairness, we should 17 have had that instruction, among the others that we have 18 discussed that I'm not going to spend a great deal of time on 19 because I think they're adequately noted in the pleading.

20 Again, your Honor, I think -- and I said it in 21 closing. I believe that Mr. Rudnick's argument, or rather 22 his testimony, was in fact the basis of the State's charges 23 against Mr. Gonzalez in large part.

24 Absent that, I think as Ms. Lunt referred to in the

1 sentencing of Mr. Rudnick, the State was stuck with this 2 antiquated challenge to fight theory based upon some notion 3 of inviting somebody out at dawn for a duel with pistols.
4 Quite frankly, as Ms. Lunt indicated in her sentencing 5 argument, she believed the outcome of this trial would 6 certainly have been different, had the State been required to 7 proceed on the original indictment and the original counts as 8 set forth.

9 They were not required to proceed in that fashion, 10 and allowed to supplement in the manner they did, by virtue
11 of their interviews with Mr. Rudnick and Mr. Rudnick's 12 providing of additional information.

13 So when it was suggested at the sentencing that 14 Mr. Rudnick was certainly a key witness for the prosecution, 15 I would most certainly have to agree. As such, his testimony 16 then was testimony I think that would either support or not 17 support the State's theories in this case, save and except 18 the challenge to fight, which would have left them with an 19 entirely different problem.

20 On that basis, your Honor, I think in fairness, 21 Mr. Gonzalez should have had that instruction, and it was a 22 critical component.

23 And as we have now learned after the fact, there 24 has been certainly discussion that there was some sort of

1 tacit, wink and nod type agreement. And in fact, there was 2 characterization of certain conduct that was not disputed as 3 having occurred in reference to the State seeking some form 4 of asylum for Mr. Rudnick through a federal and/or state of 5 California witness protection program, with the question 6 repeatedly asked, why would somebody do that if it was their 7 intention to send him to prison.

8 Then coupled with the OR release of Mr. Rudnick, 9 which again I kind of looked at as a benefit for his 10 testimony.

11 But again, that I would leave in the Court's hands, 12 and ask that on that reason alone, your Honor, we should 13 receive the new trial. That certainly doesn't rule out the 14 other issues, it certainly doesn't mean they shouldn't be 15 considered, but that is something that really has impacted, I 16 think, the course of the jury and the resulting verdict.

17 Your Honor, leading from that point into the 18 jurors' questions, I know the Court certainly is well 19 familiar with those questions, I'm not going to try to quote
20 them. But I do recall as Mr. Lyon and I sat in my office 21 awaiting the jury, we did receive a telephone call of course
22 from the Court wherein the Court advised us, quote -- and I 23 think they titled it legal question, which I thought of some 24 significance. But it was then, "If a person has no knowledge

1 of a conspiracy, but their actions contribute to someone 2 else's plan, are they guilty of a conspiracy?"

3 And I recall my comment, in reference to those -- 4 that question on the telephone was -- my immediate response
5 was you have to tell them no. And not surprisingly, Mr. Hall 6 agreed with me.

7 Coincidentally, Mr. Hall, according to the 8 transcript, actually agreed with me not once, not twice, but 9 I think three times throughout our discussion, that the 10 jurors must be advised that knowledge is an element of a 11 conspiracy. And obviously, we didn't go into it in that 12 length, because we said the simple answer to that question is 13 no.

14 We cannot have this jury think that they can 15 convict Ernesto Gonzalez based upon the fact that he didn't 16 have any knowledge, but the final outcome of his actions did 17 in fact contribute to the benefit of what the coconspirators 18 wish to accomplish.

19 THE COURT: And is it your argument that 20 instruction number 17 did not do that? Did not make that an 21 element?

22 MR. HOUSTON: Your Honor, apparently it didn't, 23 because the jury asked the question. And I know --

24 THE COURT: I don't think you can assume that. It

1 may have been misunderstood by a juror, and reviewing -- the 2 question is, did the instruction adequately cover the 3 knowledge element.

4 MR. HOUSTON: You know, your Honor, sometimes that 5 old expression proof is in the pudding is really the best way
6 to approach an answer. The proof in the pudding in this 7 particular case is we don't know how many jurors were 8 confused. We know at least one was. And how many does it 9 take? The fact of the matter is, if one was confused, it's 10 significant. It doesn't matter if all twelve --

11 THE COURT: But you don't know if they were 12 confused after they read it.

13 MR. HOUSTON: I don't know what happened after they 14 read it, other than in less than, what, 38 minutes we had a 15 verdict. Would certainly suggest to me that that may in fact 16 have been a point of contention.

17 But I guess the Court is bringing up my whole 18 concern. We don't know. And because we don't know, I can't 19 look at my client and say look, we lost, and we lost because 20 the jury considered the evidence. We did our best, but 21 that's the way it is. And if I could do that comfortably, I 22 would. I can't. Because I don't know the answer.

23 And I know the Court's questioning of me, well, how 24 many, did they understand later, we'll never know the answer

1 to that, your Honor, because --

2 THE COURT: That isn't really my question, my 3 question was did the instruction give the element of 4 knowledge.

5 MR. HOUSTON: In a legal sense, to me, I don't 6 think it was clear. In a sense to the jury, I think the 7 question definitely sets forth it was not clear, or they 8 would not have asked the question.

9 And I guess my concern is, it was so much simpler
10 to say no. A one word answer. And surprisingly, the State 11 agreed.

12 The failure to do so I think leads us to this 13 problem. The answer, as simplistic as it was, was not given.
14 The resulting answer, however, was simply, essentially, not 15 quoting, go back and read the instructions. Which is kind of 16 like getting an instruction page to do something you don't 17 understand, and you ask for help, and you're told go back and 18 read your instructions.

19 Well, if I understood the instruction in the first 20 place I guess I wouldn't have asked the question in the 21 second place.

22 And I appreciate the Court's question in the sense 23 of, well, is this instruction legally sufficient under the 24 case law as established in the State of Nevada, or the Ninth

1 Circuit. I appreciate that. But trials are so often, as in 2 this case, about more than just the straight standard
3 legalese. Sometimes I think jurors, when not inquiring of a 4 question of fact, are entitled to -- or if not entitled, 5 certainly capable of asking for help.

6 And that was my point in the discussion
7 telephonically, that they were asking for guidance. And for 8 us to fail to give guidance -- and I say us, collectively -- 9 I think deprives them of the ability to make the best 10 decision under the best law, and it deprives the defendant of 11 the notion of receiving the due consideration of a person who 12 is on trial for the rest of their life.

13 There's really not much more important than that.
14 And I believe, and I've set it forth with all the respect I 15 could muster, that we could have done better. And I say 16 collectively, I'm not pointing a finger. But collectively 17 means my client, my defendant, maybe deserved a better shake 18 as far as that answer.

19 We had a second question, and that second question 20 I think also goes to the heart of the objections concerning 21 the method in which this case was charged, as well as 22 Mr. Lyon's statements referencing his argument. And that 23 second question was, where we had a jury knowing full well we 24 had one decedent, believed that they should, could, or would,

1 convict of both a second degree count, a first degree count.
2 And of course, again, Mr. Hall and I agreed in majority as to 3 how that question should be answered. In other words, no, 4 you shouldn't convict of second and first. And I think in 5 our pleading we indicated maybe even add a little more. No, 6 you shouldn't convict of second and first, because truly
7 there's one decedent. The fact that a jury would come back 8 and convict a defendant of what amounts to three separate 9 methods of committing the same crime is again somewhat 10 startling to me and perhaps indicates that just maybe the 11 jury had confusion and didn't understand the instructions, or 12 the theories of charging. Or in fact, the method in which to 13 proceed under the instructions.

14 Obviously, you cannot have a conviction for 15 different types of homicide with one individual, as a logical 16 conclusion to the trial. And we did.

17 And if that suggests anything, it suggests to me 18 that their unanimous verdict of guilty on all counts perhaps 19 was influenced, again, by the inability of the jury to 20 adequately understand exactly what was being suggested or 21 demanded of them, pursuant to the instructions and the matter 22 of law.

23 I think in and of itself, your Honor, as previously 24 discussed, the method of charging in this case was unduly

1 prejudicial. And that goes to the multiplicitious charges.

2 I believe we had a distinct danger of prejudice in 3 this case, just by virtue of the character and the cast of 4 characters. The idea was that we had two rival motorcycle
5 gangs, not clubs, that were savagely and viciously attacking 6 each other as a method of operation in their general
7 charters. Which hopefully at least that came out, that's not 8 true.

9 But what we did have then is the alternative of the 10 jury regarding everything they would have seen since 1949, 11 when they made the first motion picture concerning the 12 savagery of the motorcycle gang, and applying all of that in 13 their approach to this particular case. And when we look at 14 the multiplicitious charges that charge the unlawful killing of 15 Mr. Pettigrew in three separate and different murder counts, 16 I think we established or added to that prejudice. And in 17 fact, Mr. Gonzalez presented really as a middle aged man who 18 ran a business and supported his family, but nonetheless, 19 according to the charging document, he was a one man crime 20 wave.

21 The Nevada Supreme Court has not directly 22 confronted that issue. The federal courts, however, have 23 recognized that allowing the government to prosecute 24 multiplicitious charges may in fact prejudice a defendant by

1 falsely suggesting to a jury that the defendant has committed 2 not one, but several offenses, and therefore stands as an 3 individual of a certain degree of savagery and brutality.

4 And the message then that in my opinion conveyed to 5 the jury is the risk of acquitting a defendant like that is 6 substantial. And as a consequence, I think it also diverts 7 the jury from the actual consideration of the issues. And as 8 such, it at least renders it more likely that they would find 9 a verdict of guilty on all counts.

10 Your Honor, in closing, I would suggest that the 11 defendant believes he was prejudiced by the State's 12 proliferation of charges in this case. And that what started 13 as a risk became a reality, with the jury's second question.
14 "People in here are wondering if a person can be guilty of 15 second degree murder or first, or can it be both."

16 The Court's answer: "You must reach a decision on 17 each count separate and apart from each other." The verdict 18 in this case, your Honor, at least to me confirms that the 19 jurors thought of Mr. Gonzalez as a one man crime wave, and 20 literally thought they should throw the book at him.

21 I would be hopeful that the Court may, after some 22 reflection, agree that we could have perhaps answered the 23 questions in a method that may have satisfied the jurors'
24 perhaps confusion, or certainly their inability to understand

1 exactly what was expected of them under the instructions in 2 this case and the charging document.

3 And the issue as to whether or not we were entitled 4 to that confidential informant instruction, I think certainly 5 at this point should be abundantly clear. And at the very 6 least we know at this point, right now, we had a witness 7 testifying up there that had perjured himself to the court in 8 the Petrocelli hearing, an affidavit had been filed that was 9 either disingenuous or not correct, and finally, the intent 10 of that witness and what that witness felt necessary in order 11 to achieve his goal of getting probation, was certainly 12 foremost in his mind.

13 We were not allowed that. And if that is then an 14 ingredient for the request of a new trial, I would certainly 15 ask the Court to consider that as such. Thank you, your 16 Honor.

17 THE COURT: Thank you. The Court notes that 18 Mr. Hall has been sworn in as a special prosecutor for -- and 19 deputy district attorney for this purpose, and you may 20 proceed with your argument.

21 MR. HALL: Thank you, your Honor. First of all, 22 I'd like to talk a little bit about the facts and the 23 charging document. As you recall, at the end of the trial we 24 introduced the original indictment, and that indictment

1 contained all the charges which were contained in the final
2 document, the fourth amended supplemental indictment. So 3 those charges were the same, those charges did not evolve
4 after Mr. Rudnick provided the statement to the police.

5 And let me just digress for a moment, there. And 6 Mr. Rudnick did not give a statement to the police until well 7 after he was arrested and in jail for several months, 8 pursuant to an investigation and an interview conducted by 9 the police department. Particularly Detective Patton.

10 So traditionally, my point there is traditionally, 11 he was not an informant that was working with the police
12 before the case ever got started. This was a negotiated plea 13 afterwards. But back to the charging document.

14 Now, the defense claims that there was a lot of 15 confusion, the jury must have been confused. And I would 16 suggest that a verdict in 38 minutes, as Mr. Houston 17 suggests, would indicate that there was not a lot of 18 confusion.

19 Now I want to go through the facts that support 20 each individual theory that the State propounded in its 21 charging document.

22 In count two, of course, the Court is aware that we 23 alleged a challenge to fight. Not a duel, as the defense has 24 liked to couch that, or term, the particular murder in this

1 particular case. That's a different statute.

2 The challenge to fight is a separate statute where 3 it is envisioned that multiple parties can be either aiding, 4 abetting, conspiring, and helping each other commit. And in 5 this particular case we did have a challenge to fight. As a 6 matter of fact, the evidence in this case showed that 7 everybody in the casino was aware that there was a problem
8 between the Hells Angels and the Vagos. It started an hour 9 before the murder of Mr. Pettigrew, it escalated. There were 10 a number of people involved, the police were involved.

11 In addition to that, when he says that the jury was 12 confused with respect to the animosity between these two 13 gangs, we had extensive hearings regarding multiple violent 14 incidences between the Vagos and Hells Angels, and a number 15 of eyewitnesses and investigating officers who documented gun 16 fights, murders, knife fights, beatings, and we even brought 17 in videotapes of many of those altercations.

18 So the point of count one was there was a challenge
19 to fight. Everybody knew there was a problem, we established 20 that there was an extensive rivalry between those two gangs.
21 That was shown while the parties were at the Oyster Bar. And 22 Mr. Gonzalez was there at the Oyster Bar, at the initial 23 confrontation between Mr. Pettigrew, and members of the Hells
24 Angels and the Vagos.

1 Later, when they were in front of Trader Dick's, we 2 know that Mr. Gonzalez' San Jose club members were there, it 3 was primarily the San Jose club members that engaged the 4 Hells Angels. After that first punch was thrown by 5 Pettigrew, it was a coordinated attack, and it resulted with 6 Mr. Gonzalez sneaking up behind Mr. Pettigrew and shooting 7 him in the back.

8 Was there a challenge to fight? Clearly, by virtue
9 of the videotape, we had Mr. Rudnick calling Mr. Pettigrew 10 over, confronting him. They were clearly arguing, getting in 11 each other's face, which was clearly consistent with a 12 challenge to fight in modern day parlance. And to say that 13 this is an antiquated statute also isn't true. When we look 14 at the Willmeth case, which I believe was decided in 1986, so 15 it obviously has applicability today. The supreme court 16 reviewed it by virtue of the writ that was filed by both 17 parties, and that document that was examined by the supreme 18 court and approved by the supreme court was almost identical, 19 except for a couple of typographical changes, to the 20 indictment that was presented to the jury in this case for 21 their consideration. That's count two.

22 The second, whether or not we have consistent 23 theories, as opposed to inconsistent theories or theories 24 that are -- I'm forgetting the word that I want to use, but

1 going back to my first degree murder theory. Do we have 2 premeditation, deliberation, along with malice. The 3 essential elements along with, of course, a killing of a 4 human being.

5 The defendant from the witness stand admitted that 6 he had the intent to kill both Mr. Pettigrew and 7 Mr. Villagrana. He thought about it, he said he saw the 8 fight, he was watching the fight, and he said -- you recall 9 what he said, dropped an F bomb and said I made my decision, 10 I'm going to shoot these individuals.

11 That's a totally separate theory. However, it is 12 consistent with the challenge to fight. We had a challenge 13 to fight, and then we had an individual testify that he had 14 premeditated and deliberated his actions before shooting 15 Mr. Pettigrew in the back.

16 Are those mutually exclusive, was the word I was 17 looking for, are these mutually exclusive theories?
18 Absolutely not. They are totally consistent with the facts 19 and evidence of this case.

20 So when we get -- just to digress a little bit, 21 when they're asking to strike these theories, essentially 22 what they're trying to do is say hey, we don't want to have 23 to fight all of these theories at the supreme court, we'd 24 like to narrow it down so we can just talk about challenge to

1 fight, or murder in the first degree, and then argue about 2 our instructions.

3 That is not appropriate in this case, when we had 4 theories that were consistent with the facts and the evidence 5 that was presented in this case.

6 Now, with respect to second degree murder, do we 7 have an individual acting with reckless indifference, callous 8 indifference, to the health, safety and welfare of 9 individuals and engage in a course of conduct which is likely 10 to result in death of a human being? Absolutely. And we 11 don't have to go into that in any detail, by virtue of the 12 fact that we had a videotape of the incident.

13 Now, let's talk about the jury instructions. Now, 14 you know, a knee jerk reaction to a question posed by a jury 15 is one thing, an analysis is something else.

16 Now, in this particular instance, when they said, 17 well, can you have conspiracy if he doesn't have any 18 knowledge of the conspiracy? Well, no. But when you think 19 about it, and that was the knee jerk -- of course you can.
20 Was the jury properly instructed on that? Absolutely. They 21 had a jury instruction number 17, they had numerous 22 instructions that discussed knowledge and specific intent in 23 this particular case.

24 Now, is knowledge a legal question, or is knowledge

1 a factual question? And when we analyze the jury's question, 2 it's crystal clear that it is a factual question that needed
3 to be determined by the jury. And was there sufficient
4 evidence to satisfy that? Absolutely. That's why we played 5 that tape many, many times, so that the jury could see the 6 relationship between the San Jose Vagos, the leadership of 7 the Vagos, their action, prior to starting that fight in 8 front of Trader Dick's. Because that was the evidence that 9 showed the knowledge that there was going to be a fight. And 10 we knew that he had the knowledge when Gonzalez went over and 11 put his drink down before they started the fight. He knew 12 there was going to be a fight there.

13 So, and we also had circumstantial evidence to show
14 that he was a co-conspirator. We had evidence from the stand 15 showing that -- from I think some of the higher-ups in the 16 Vagos organization, indicating that they've got to stand by 17 their fellow Vago and defend them when they engage in this 18 type of altercation. So you had multiple ways to find 19 evidence of a conspiracy and a concerted action to engage the 20 Hells Angels in a deadly confrontation.

21 The point here is that question of knowledge is a 22 factual question that had to be determined by the jury. They 23 were properly instructed, the Court properly told the jury to 24 refer to the instructions to resolve that question, which

1 they did in short order. So to now claim that there was 2 confusion is basically silly.

3 Now let's talk about Rudnick. Rudnick -- the 4 defense was not entitled to the instruction that they 5 requested regarding Mr. Rudnick being a confidential
6 informant. He was never a confidential informant. One point
7 that I thought was very important when Mr. Lunt -- Ms. Lunt 8 was trying to throw me under the bus, saying there was some 9 kind of tacit agreement, was that Rudnick never testified.
10 The only testimony we got from Rudnick when he was on the 11 stand and he was asked, was there any agreement that I was 12 going to recommend any particular sentence for you. No.
13 There never was.

14 And I would also indicate that the defense had 15 ample opportunity to cross-examine Mr. Rudnick. Not only did 16 they have the opportunity to cross-examine, but they had the 17 benefit of a six hour interview of Mr. Rudnick that was tape
18 recorded and videotaped, in addition to another interview
19 with other officers from San Bernardino, Detective Bennett.
20 So they had multiple sources of information that they could 21 use to cross-examine Mr. Rudnick.

22 They have the benefit, as you also might know, that 23 they also had the benefit of a number of witnesses from the 24 Vagos that they had subpoenaed that never came in and

1 traversed Mr. Rudnick's testimony.

2 The jury had all the information regarding 3 Mr. Rudnick working with the State, being given bail 4 consideration, being out on an ankle bracelet, they had all 5 that information. They had the benefit of every bit of 6 information that Mr. Houston had regarding any bias or 7 opportunity to fabricate.

8 And they made a decision based upon the videotape, 9 his testimony, the testimony of all the witnesses that the 10 State presented. And certainly when you put all that 11 together, you've got more than sufficient evidence to prove 12 each case, or each count, each theory of our case, beyond a 13 reasonable doubt.

14 So the defense is not entitled to a new trial.
15 There was no violation of the defendant's rights or violation 16 of due process. The jury was properly instructed, there was 17 sufficient evidence to prove each count. The theories were 18 not multiplicitious, duplicitous, should not be stricken, and 19 the case was properly tried. The defense had an ample 20 opportunity to present their case, they presented their case.
21 And the defense of self-defense was rejected.

22 That was the defense. The kind of losing side of 23 what was their whole defense here, it was self-defense.
24 Saying Rudnick is a liar, Rudnick started it, and

1 Mr. Gonzalez was just acting in self-defense. The jury
2 rejected that defense in short order, because the evidence 3 was overwhelming in this particular case.

4 And I would also indicate that the jury, in 5 addition, had the benefit of Crystal's -- the tape recordings 6 between Gary Rudnick and his wife Crystal. They could have 7 listened to all that. If that was such a strong evidence, 8 they had it. It was rejected.

9 I might also add that in light of the fact that the 10 State alleged both a conspiracy and aiding and abetting, the 11 Schad case would allow us, and that doctrine, would allow the 12 jury to find liability based upon aiding and abetting theory.
13 Perhaps they did say that we didn't have sufficient evidence 14 of a conspiracy, but we certainly had aiding and abetting.
15 And the defense has not alleged that they were improperly 16 instructed on aiding and abetting, which was another theory 17 that was incorporated in both the challenge to fight count 18 and the murder count.

19 So based upon that, your Honor, we'd ask you to 20 deny the defense motion. Thank you.

21 THE COURT: Thank you.

22 MR. HOUSTON: Thank you, your Honor. And just 23 starting off where Mr. Hall stopped, he indicated that 24 obviously the jury had rejected the defense not of self, but

1 defense of another. And quite frankly, they, under the logic
2 of the instructions and the charges, would never have reached 3 that analysis by virtue of the fact if one is a 4 co-conspirator or an aider and abettor, or in fact a 5 principal, of course they do not avail themselves of that 6 defense.

7 You can't get the defense, as Mr. Hall is well 8 aware, if you are a conspirator in reference to the 9 commission of a crime of murder, or an aider and abettor.

10 But what is also interesting is not only is 11 knowledge an element and required in reference to a 12 conspiracy count, but it's also required in reference to an 13 aider and abettor issue. Which takes us back full circle to 14 the question that was asked in reference to knowledge 15 concerning the conspiracy.

16 On that basis, your Honor, I don't know. And of 17 course I would suggest that the jury did not actually analyze 18 the defense of another by virtue of their finding concerning 19 Mr. Gonzalez with or without knowledge becomes a member of 20 the conspiracy.

21 And I do want to talk about the questions a little 22 bit. Because it was not a knee jerk reaction by the State 23 when they agreed with me. I'm sure the Court has had an 24 opportunity to review Exhibit 4, which is the transcript of

1 the telephonic communication between the Court and Mr. Hall
2 and Mr. Lyon and myself and Mr. Stege. And in fact, 3 repeatedly Mr. Hall agreed that, in fact, in reference to the 4 conspiracy question, that we should tell the jury the answer 5 is no.

6 And in fact, Mr. Hall not only agreed with it once, 7 but twice, three times, and I think four times, in reference 8 to our entire conversation. And it went throughout the 9 conversation. So it wasn't --

10 THE COURT: Seriously, the Court thought Mr. Hall
11 and you were wrong.

12 MR. HOUSTON: Well, your Honor, that's the 13 unfortunate aspect of my argument at this point, because 14 obviously I'm somewhat swimming upstream. But I'm hopeful if 15 the Court had a chance to view everything in its totality
16 that perhaps the wisdom of Mr. Hall -- frankly, I wouldn't 17 question that wisdom on this issue, I think he was over and 18 above with the legal acumen. But your Honor, the fact of the 19 matter is, if I could close out on Mr. Rudnick's issues, your 20 Honor, if it's not part of this record, and I would assume it 21 is because it was a codefendant, but the transcript of 22 proceedings, the sentencing on Wednesday, August 24th, 2013, 23 repeatedly refers to this tacit agreement.

24 And it's not what Mr. Hall thought. Mr. Hall

1 wasn't testifying. Mr. Rudnick was testifying. The Court
2 knows he perjured himself at this point in his Petrocelli
3 hearing, but more importantly, the Court knows that 4 Mr. Rudnick felt that there was an agreement. And what I
5 found to be particularly troubling was the statements on page 6 26, lines 12 through 18, where Ms. Lunt says, "But in order 7 to keep Gary's credibility good, in order to make Gary the 8 best possible witness they needed for the prosecution, he 9 couldn't be promised anything. There couldn't be any covert
10 or underhand agreement. But there was a tacit understanding 11 and a tacit agreement if Rudnick did the right thing, they 12 would do the right thing."

13 Then she again says on page 37, lines 23 through 14 24. "They didn't say, 'Gary Rudnick we promise you 15 probation,' but that agreement is there. There is a tacit 16 agreement based on their actions. Actions are louder than 17 words. There was a tacit agreement that they would stand up 18 and do the right thing if Rudnick did, and he did.

19 "And I'm going to ask you to honor that tacit 20 agreement," the Court, "and give him the opportunity for 21 probation. I'm --"

22 THE COURT: I don't know if that is in the record 23 of this case.

24 MR. HOUSTON: If it's not, your Honor, may we

1 introduce this?

2 THE COURT: The Court can take judicial notice of 3 that transcript from the other case.

4 MR. HOUSTON: Thank you.

5 THE COURT: They do have separate case numbers.

6 MR. HOUSTON: I'm sorry, your Honor. I wanted to 7 make sure then that this is a part of the record. I do have 8 a copy, if the Court would like it, for purposes of 9 consideration.

10 THE COURT: We can do judicial knowledge. It's a 11 record of the court. It also reflects that the Court did not 12 accept that invitation.

13 MR. HOUSTON: I'm aware of that, your Honor, and 14 certainly I appreciate that fact, and I know what occurred at 15 the sentencing. But again, it's not what you did, your 16 Honor. It's not what Mr. Hall promised, or even Mr. Stege
17 promised. It's what this witness thought when this witness 18 was testifying. And as a consequence, additional motivation 19 for what this witness may have done as it concerned the 20 witness stand.

21 But as stated three times now, what you do know is 22 that witness was a perjurer. Because you heard that witness 23 at the Petrocelli hearing, you saw a disingenuous affidavit, 24 and now you've had the chance to listen to the arguments at

1 sentencing of Mr. Rudnick. Which of course, as the Court
2 pointed out, is after-acquired information. We did not know
3 that then. Had we known, certainly I think the Court 4 probably would have given us that instruction.

5 But if it is a fact now, and a known fact now, then 6 it shouldn't operate to the prejudice of the defendant that 7 Mr. Rudnick chose to conceal what was truly going on in his 8 brain behind the scenes. As evidenced not only by Ms. Lunt's 9 statement, but by Mr. Rudnick's statement.

10 MR. HALL: I'm going to have to object.
11 Mr. Rudnick never admitted that he lied on the stand.
12 There's no evidence that his testimony was false when he 13 testified.

14 THE COURT: I don't remember Mr. Rudnick
15 testifying.

16 MR. HOUSTON: No, your Honor, I'm talking about at 17 the time of his sentencing argument.

18 THE COURT: Right, I don't think he testified at 19 that time.

20 MR. HOUSTON: No, actually he made a statement to 21 the Court.

22 THE COURT: A statement in allocution.

23 MR. HOUSTON: Yes, your Honor. And if that, of 24 course legally he wasn't sworn to tell the truth, and the

1 whole story. But the fact of the matter is he did allocute, 2 and throughout the course of that I certainly believe 3 indicated his thought process concerning his proceeding and 4 the result.

5 THE COURT: The refusal of the instruction, whether 6 it was based on good determination at the time or whether or 7 not it could still be done now, is only prejudicial if, one,
8 you were not able to argue that theory; and two, the Court 9 did not adequately instruct the jury on the theory of the 10 credibility of witnesses.

11 Both of those issues fail in your argument, 12 Mr. Houston. You did argue this, and you did have an 13 instruction that you could point to and show the bias of the 14 witness. And so how can there be any prejudice to your 15 client?

16 MR. HOUSTON: Your Honor, the statement and the 17 argument advanced by the Court flies in the face of the fact 18 that both the Ninth Circuit, the U.S. Supreme Court, perhaps 19 I'd even think the supreme court in the State of Nevada has 20 recognized a need for a separate and distinct instruction 21 beyond the credibility instruction of a witness as it 22 concerned a witness who was testifying for a benefit. If 23 that be the case --

24 THE COURT: Are you talking about the Crowe case?

1 MR. HOUSTON: Your Honor, I'm sorry, I do not have 2 that in front of me, and I don't want to misstate on the 3 record. But the general principle is we are entitled as 4 defense counsel to a specific instruction referencing an 5 individual testifying for what he perceives to be a benefit,
6 as opposed to the standard credibility instruction. And I
7 know the Court brought that up during the course of our jury 8 instruction argument, the Court felt that to be sufficient.

9 Unfortunately, in light of what we at least now 10 know, yes, I was able to argue that Mr. Rudnick was a liar.
11 And quite frankly, I think his cross-examination demonstrated 12 it. However, what we also know is he definitely in his mind 13 had a perception of a benefit to be received by virtue of his 14 testimony, which kicks into gear the greater caution
15 instruction that's represented by the confidential informant 16 language instruction.

17 Because it's a little bit more. And I'm sure the 18 Court is aware, otherwise the Court would have simply given 19 it to us along with the credibility, although it may have 20 been somewhat redundant.

21 But because, as the Court indicated, there did not 22 appear to be anything in the record save and except his own 23 voice on his own telephone calls to his spouse suggesting 24 that he was going to get a benefit --

1 THE COURT: I didn't say that, you said that.

2 MR. HOUSTON: I'm sorry, I thought you did. But 3 the consequence of the entire thing, your Honor, is -- again, 4 I don't want to belabor the point. I believe in fairness to 5 Mr. Gonzalez, he should have had the instruction. It wasn't 6 a less than critical witness.

7 On that basis, your Honor, we submit the request
8 for motion for new trial. Thank you.

9 THE COURT: Thank you. Okay, the Court is going to 10 take a recess to consider your oral arguments that you 11 presented now, along with the written pleadings that I've 12 already reviewed. So we'll probably be about 15 minutes or 13 so while I make a final decision. And then will make a 14 decision, based on my decision, whether or not we'll proceed 15 with sentencing. Court is in recess.

16 (Recess.)

17 THE COURT: The Court, in reviewing the defendant's 18 motion to strike redundant convictions, notes that the Court 19 has already granted the stipulation to merge counts 2, 5 and 20 6. That was granted on August 8, 2013. That's in the 21 minutes of the clerk of the court where she indicates that 22 the Court was merging those counts. It's also in the rough 23 draft transcript, and the clerk has it in their notes that it 24 was done back then. So these convictions have already been

1 merged. The argument of defendant that the verdict should 2 now be stricken as redundant, should be procedurally barred.

3 However, the Court will address the merits of the 4 argument in that the counts are not mutually exclusive, as is 5 argued by the defendant. Further, the mere fact that the 6 convictions exist in this case cannot support the argument of 7 prejudice when they have been, as in this case, merged, and 8 there is not multiple punishments for the same offense.

9 At this stage in the proceedings, the Court finds 10 it unnecessary and inappropriate to strike the verdicts of 11 the jury. Therefore, the defendant's motion to strike is 12 denied.

13 In defendant's motion for new trial, he argued that 14 the trial resulted in a violation of his due process rights
15 because of errors resulting in an unfair trial. He argues 16 that he was not allowed an instruction on the theory of 17 defendant's case; further, that he submitted more than 60
18 instructions which were ignored by the Court; and the Court's 19 instructions were inadequate or wrong; and the charging 20 document was prejudicial.

21 In the reply to the State's opposition, defendant
22 argues that he objected to certain instructions and offered
23 other instructions, attaching Exhibit 7, 8 9, 10, 11 and 12
24 to the reply as proof. Also, alleging the documents are part

1 of the trial record pursuant to NRS 175.1615.

2 These documents were first presented in the reply.
3 However, the documents in these exhibits are not part of the 4 trial record. They were never filed with the court, nor were 5 they offered in open court when the instructions were 6 settled.

7 Once the preliminary discussions concluded, the 8 Court provided a set of instructions that the Court proposed 9 be given to the jury to counsel for the defendant and the 10 State in open court, with the defendant present and on the 11 record.

12 While on the record, the Court numbered the 13 instructions, and asked the State if they had additional 14 instructions to offer. The State declined.

15 The Court did not curtail the defendant's 16 presentation of additional instructions to be considered.
17 The defendant was asked if he had any instructions to offer, 18 the defendant did not offer what he now presents in the 19 exhibits to his reply. He offered five instructions.

20 As each instruction was offered, the Court 21 entertained argument in support for including the 22 instructions from the defendant and argument against 23 including from the State.

24 The Court then ruled on the offer, making the

1 instruction defendant offered A rejected, B rejected, C 2 rejected, D rejected, and E rejected, in turn, as offered and 3 ruled upon.

4 Further, the defendant misstates the basis for the 5 rejection of Exhibits A through E in both his motion for new 6 trial and the reply to the State's opposition to the motion.
7 Defendant's A was rejected because it was substantially
8 covered in other instructions, specifically 34, and the cited 9 authority did not support the instruction in the form 10 presented, as it was presented.

11 The Court also noted instruction 28, 27 and 28, all 12 dealt with the theory of the defendant's defense. And noted 13 that there was a running instruction included in the packet, 14 as well as an instruction specifically directing a not guilty 15 verdict if any element is not -- was not proven beyond a 16 reasonable doubt. Therefore, this instruction was 17 cumulative.

18 B was rejected because circumstantial evidence was 19 properly covered in other instructions, specifically 9 and 20 10. The Court noted that it was at the Court's discretion 21 that this instruction be included, and the Court declined to 22 exercise that discretion.

23 C was rejected because it impacted the definition 24 of reasonable doubt, which is improper. Further, the

1 instruction has not been approved for use in a case such as 2 this, and reasonable doubt was properly instructed in 3 instruction number 6.

4 D was rejected because the legal theory regarding 5 what is necessary for an act to benefit a gang, thus 6 supporting a gang enhancement, was substantially covered in 7 other instructions, particularly instruction 32. In 8 addition, the cited authority was not proper, the language 9 was dicta of the case cited.

10 Defendant's E was rejected because the legal theory
11 of credibility was substantially covered in another 12 instruction, specifically 38. Further, E did not provide any 13 Nevada authority requiring the Court to give this particular 14 instruction in the form as it was presented, which was not in 15 the Ninth Circuit form. The model form was different.

16 Under the facts of this case, the Court ruled that 17 it was not necessary to give this particular instruction;
18 specifically, because Rudnick did not prove -- did not appear 19 to have any expectation of favorable treatment.

20 However, the Court allowed extensive argument on 21 this by the defendant and felt that the instructions that 22 were provided could allow for that argument.

23 The Court offered the parties the opportunity to 24 notify the Court and make a record of any objections within

1 the packet that was proposed. The defendant had no objection 2 to the instructions other than the five additional 3 instructions discussed above.

4 The attempt to supplement the record now with 5 objections to instructions 10, 13, 16A, 18, 17, 20, and 35, 6 is improper. The defendant argues in its reply that he 7 submitted written objections to 17 of the State's proposed 8 instructions.

9 Again, it is improper to attempt to supplement or 10 create a record that does not exist in this manner. Further, 11 it is not important as to what defendant may have thought of 12 instructions initially proposed by the State. No written 13 objections were ever filed in the record to the Court's 14 proposed instructions, which were the instructions given.

15 In addition, when asked on the record to state any 16 objections to the instructions as proposed, the defendant
17 stated he had none. Thus, no objections to the instructions 18 cited in the motion or reply were presented at trial.

19 Further, the Court finds the instructions given to 20 the jury did not violate the defendant's due process rights.
21 The Court's instructions were clear, concise statements of 22 law, and were finalized after giving the defendant a full and 23 complete opportunity to be heard. The defendant has an 24 unfettered ability to preserve on the record any objections

1 he may have had, which he declined to do.

2 As to the argument in the motion for new trial made 3 by the defendant that the Court committed error in answering 4 the jury's deliberation questions, the motion misstates the 5 answer given by the Court. The actual answer was, quote, "It
6 is improper for the Court to give you additional instruction
7 on how to interpret instruction number 17. You must consider 8 all the instructions in light of all the others -- all the 9 other instruction," end quote.

10 In answering the jury questions, the Court complied
11 with NRS 175.451, Telles v. State, 84 Nevada 587, and Jackson 12 v. State, 128 Nevada Advanced Opinion 55. No error was 13 committed.

14 Defendant also argues error was made by allowing 15 the State's charging document to stand. The Court reviewed 16 the charging document and carefully analyzed the potential 17 for prejudice based upon the number and wording of the 18 charges. In the Court's pretrial decisions, of specific 19 interest is the order on bifurcation and the -- bifurcation 20 request, and the order regarding the limiting of the words 21 "outlaw motorcycle gang" during trial.

22 The argument presented by the defendant regarding 23 prejudice created by the allegation involving multiplicitious
24 charges is without merit, and has been previously considered

1 and rejected by the Court.

2 Further, both parties stipulated to merger if the 3 defendant was convicted of counts 2, 5 and 6, for sentencing 4 purposes.

5 The Court agreed to instruct the jury on that issue 6 if there was a penalty phase. After the defendant was 7 convicted, he waived the penalty phase with the impaneled 8 jury. In a subsequent hearing, the request to merge was 9 renewed, as right, and the Court granted merger and, by 10 stipulation, excused the jury.

11 The Court will impose one sentence for murder on 12 the defendant when he is sentenced. Thus, as discussed 13 previously by the Court and as practically occurring at 14 sentencing, the Court finds no prejudice resulting in 15 violation of defendant's right to due process, or violations 16 of his due process rights.

17 The Court does not find the defendant was deprived 18 of a fair trial. There are not various errors as described 19 by the defendant in his motion for new trial and reply to the 20 State's opposition. The record is not as he has presented, 21 the facts are not as they were argued.

22 Therefore, for reasons discussed herein, and the 23 interest of justice, the defendant's motion for new trial is 24 denied.

1 We will proceed with sentencing.

2 Counsel for the State, do you have a copy of the 3 presentence investigation prepared in this matter?

4 MR. HALL: Yes, your Honor.

5 THE COURT: Counsel for the defendant, do you have 6 a copy of that?

7 MR. HOUSTON: Yes, your Honor.

8 THE COURT: Are you ready to proceed?

9 MR. HOUSTON: Yes, your Honor.

10 MR. HALL: Yes, we are.

11 THE COURT: Thank you. I'll allow the defense to 12 proceed first.

13 MR. HOUSTON: Your Honor, thank you. And just for 14 the record, we have received a copy of the presentence 15 investigation report. We are familiar with the content. The 16 defendant has not asked that I make any corrections, 17 therefore we would not offer any corrections.

18 Your Honor, the report itself of course goes into 19 an offense synopsis as far as what the synopsis seems to 20 indicate had occurred in this case. I do note while the 21 synopsis itself is not such that it requires correction, I 22 think certainly a great deal was left out.

23 Specifically, there does not appear to be much 24 mentioned, if any, as it concerns what happened immediately

1 prior to the time Mr. Gonzalez shot Mr. Pettigrew. For the 2 Court's consideration, I know the Court has seen the video, I
3 think it would be certainly repetitive of me to go back over 4 and over and over again what the Court has certainly had a 5 chance to review.

6 What appeared to happen, in short, is simply there
7 was the initial confrontation, that initial confrontation
8 seemed to subside. As the two individuals, Mr. Villagrana
9 and Mr. Pettigrew, were then walking down the tiled walkway, 10 Mr. Wiggins was seen on the floor. And proceeded then to, at 11 least appearingly without provocation, attack Mr. Wiggins.

12 This is what I think, as the video amply displayed, 13 the defendant saw. The defendant took action, and as a 14 consequence of that action, Mr. Pettigrew is dead.

15 I certainly have had the opportunity, based upon 16 what the prosecution has submitted concerning the character 17 and nature of Mr. Pettigrew, to suggest that we don't 18 disagree with that. Quite to the contrary, I have nothing to 19 suggest Mr. Pettigrew was not a good man. I only know what 20 happened that night, and what this defendant saw allowed him
21 brief seconds to make a decision. Those seconds of course
22 resulted in the death of Mr. Pettigrew.

23 Your Honor, I know the jury found that it was not 24 really necessary to consider this defense of others in

1 reference to determining what happened in this particular 2 case, based upon the idea that there was some sort of 3 conspiracy. Albeit one that we really don't know, as far as 4 the jury verdict, which they were relying upon. All that I 5 can say at this time, your Honor, is that it would be 6 disingenuous of me to stand before you and apologize and take 7 responsibility, because it's my client's intentions of course 8 to appeal, and I don't want to appear as anything other than 9 sincere when I say it seems as though under the circumstances
10 of this case I would ask the Court not to impose a life 11 without sentence, as has been suggested and recommended by 12 the PSI in this particular matter.

13 I would ask the Court to consider the following 14 sentence: A 20 to 50 year sentence in reference to count 2.
15 Obviously we have two enhancements, both the gang enhancement 16 and the deadly weapon enhancement. As I understand it, those 17 two will merge into one. I ask the Court to consider a 12 to 18 36 month sentence consecutive to the 20 to 50 year sentence.

19 In reference to count 3, I ask the Court to 20 consider a 24 to 60 month sentence, concurrent. Count 3
21 being I believe the concealed weapon matter.

22 In reference to count 4, the discharge of a firearm
23 in a structure, I ask the Court to consider a 24 to 60
24 concurrent with count 3 and count 2.

1 In reference to count 1, which would be the gross
2 misdemeanor, conspiracy to engage in an affray, I ask the 3 Court to consider a 12 month sentence to again run concurrent 4 to all other matters.

5 In reference to count 7, I ask the Court to 6 consider the 24 to 96 month sentence as it concerns a 7 conspiracy to commit murder, and I ask again that that 8 sentence be ordered by the Court to run concurrent.

9 I regard Mr. Gonzalez as an individual who found 10 himself certainly in a position that obviously resulted in 11 his conviction, and certainly standing before you for 12 sentencing. I also understand that Mr. Gonzalez has 13 represented throughout his life as a veteran, an individual 14 that worked, raised a family successfully, ran his own 15 business. And despite the statements of certain witnesses on 16 the stand, I don't believe all members of the Vagos are 17 criminals or thugs or gangsters, neither do I believe all 18 members of the Hells Angels would stand as such. I think in 19 this trial that perhaps may have been a misrepresentation to 20 the public as to what these organizations or clubs stand for.

21 That all being said, I know you're not sentencing
22 Mr. Gonzalez because he's a Vago, I know you're sentencing 23 him because of what happened in this case. If we regard who 24 he is, what his life surrounds in the circumstances of this

1 event, I'm hopeful the Court will agree that the sentences as 2 recommended by the defense are appropriate.

3 THE COURT: I'm going to make you go over those 4 again. You were talking very quick, Mr. Houston.

5 MR. HOUSTON: I'm sorry.

6 THE COURT: Which you're known for, but I think I 7 have count 1, you're offering the same as the division of 8 parole and probation?

9 MR. HOUSTON: Correct, your Honor. 12 months on 10 count one, the gross misdemeanor, conspiracy to engage.

11 THE COURT: Correct.

12 MR. HOUSTON: In reference to count 2 I was asking 13 the Court for 20 to 50. As far as the enhancements for the 14 gang enhancement and the deadly weapon enhancement, I was 15 asking the Court on each to sentence to 12 to 36, but as I 16 understand it, they merge into one. That would of course be 17 consecutive to any other counts.

18 In reference to count 3, I was asking the Court to 19 consider 24 to 60 months, and have count 3 run concurrent to 20 count 2.

21 THE COURT: Now -- okay. The division is 22 recommending 12 to 48 months?

23 MR. HOUSTON: Yes, your Honor.

24 THE COURT: On count 3?

1 MR. HOUSTON: I was actually offering the Court an 2 opportunity for a heavier sentence on the theory that it was 3 a concurrent sentence. If the Court was considering a 4 consecutive sentence, then certainly I would agree with the 5 division. The division I do know has recommended concurrent 6 sentences across the board, and as a consequence we agree
7 with the division's analysis for concurrent. If the Court
8 was somewhat concerned about the length of the sentence as a 9 consequence of it not being consecutive, I was suggesting to 10 the Court that we would not oppose a 24 to 60 month.

12 MR. HOUSTON: Your Honor --

13 THE COURT: And count 4 is the same?

14 MR. HOUSTON: And count 4, your Honor, was the same 15 thing. And count 7 was the conspiracy to commit, and we 16 could suggest a concurrent sentence of 24 to 96.

17 THE COURT: Okay, thank you.

18 MR. HOUSTON: Thank you, your Honor.

19 THE COURT: Do you have any witnesses to present?

20 MR. HOUSTON: No, your Honor, we do not. I know 21 Mr. Gonzalez would like the opportunity to speak to the Court 22 at the appropriate time.

23 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Hall.

24 MR. HALL: Thank you, your Honor. Your Honor,

1 initially I'd like to indicate to the Court that there are a
2 number of family and friends of Mr. Pettigrew present today.
3 We have Jeri Pettigrew, who was Jeffrey Pettigrew's mother.
4 Summer Pettigrew, Jeffrey Pettigrew's daughter. Janine
5 Moreno, his sister. Joe Pettigrew, his brother. Chris 6 Pettigrew, who is Mr. Pettigrew's ex-wife, Summer's mother.
7 Josh Pettigrew, a cousin. And Katrina Scowling, a fiance.
8 Also a friend of the family is Bobby Lozano. And Mr. Lozano
9 would like to provide the Court the victim impact statement.
10 I conferred with counsel, defense counsel, regarding him
11 representing the family with respect to a victim impact 12 statement. So essentially I'd like to inform the Court that 13 I have two people who would like to make an victim impact 14 statement, that being Mr. Lozano on behalf of the family, as 15 well as Jeri Pettigrew. She has a brief statement that she 16 would like to advise the Court of.

17 So I'd like to present that evidence first, if I 18 may.

19 THE COURT: You may.

20 MR. HALL: Mr. Lozano. Step forward to me, sir, 21 I'm going to have you sworn in.

22 THE CLERK: Please raise your right hand.

23 BOBBY LOZANO

24 Called as a witness by the State

1 who, having been first duly sworn,

2 testified as follows:

3 THE CLERK: Thank you, please be seated at the 4 witness stand.

6 BY MR. HALL:

7 Q. Sir, would you state your name and spell your last 8 name?

9 A. My name is Bobby Lozano.

10 Q. And are you a friend of the Pettigrew family?

11 A. I've been a friend of theirs for about 36 years.

12 Q. And can you tell us a little bit about your 13 relationship with the family, and Mr. Pettigrew specifically?

14 A. Yes, sir. I've known Jethro for just over 37 years, 15 and every for the last 30 years he will come to my house
16 Christmas Eve about 10:00 in the morning to pick me up to go 17 Christmas shopping for our wives. That was a routine that we 18 did every single year. We stopped at like a Cheesecake 19 Factory, have a nice breakfast with a nice Corona, and then 20 we go shopping for our wives.

21 We used to go pheasant hunting together, we used to 22 do so many things together. And now like I said, this will 23 be my third year without him picking me up to go shopping. I
24 knew Summer when she was just a baby, I held her in my arm

5557

1 when she was just a baby. And I know the whole family, I
2 know the mother, Joe, Jethro's brother, we all became good
3 friends. And apparently this has got us closer than ever 4 because, you know, we're always thinking about Jethro.

5 Q. Can you tell me what impact Jethro's death has had 6 upon the family?

7 A. It's a big old hole in our -- in the system right 8 there that you can't fill it up. Every day, every day we 9 think about him. I'm pretty sure the whole family just 10 thinks about the same things like I do. I have no -- like 11 where we used to go for pizza, we can't do that no more. We 12 can't go over to his house and have dinner with them no more.
13 We can't have our kids playing around together no more. You 14 know, it's a great loss that happened to our family.

15 Q. Was Mr. Pettigrew close to his daughter Summer?

16 A. Oh, that was his pride and joy, that was his love.
17 He always talked about her. Like I said, when we went 18 Christmas shopping, boy, he had to get her the best clothes 19 or whatever. Jewelry, everything. That was his life, his 20 daughter. You know, he loved her a lot.

21 Q. And was he a long time resident of the San Jose 22 area?

23 A. Yes, he was. Like I said, I've known him for 37 24 years in San Jose. So yeah, he was well known, well liked.

1 Q. And what was his occupation?

2 A. He worked for the City of San Jose, he was a truck
3 driver. He was a good driver with, you know -- worked for 37
4 years -- for 27 years, I think.

5 Q. And can you describe the relationship Mr. Pettigrew
6 had with the rest of his family? His mother, his brothers, 7 his sisters?

8 A. Oh, he loved his parents. He loved his mother.
9 Summer, Chris. He was a good -- he was a good son. He was a 10 good uncle, he was a good brother. He was just -- he was 11 loved by the whole family. And, you know, we all miss him.

12 Q. And is there any other thoughts that you'd like to 13 convey to her Honor regarding the sentencing in this case?

14 A. Well, your Honor, just hope you do the right thing
15 for us. And I'm going to miss my brother forever. So I 16 thank you very much for letting me talk. Okay?

17 THE COURT: You have to stay there for just a 18 minute.

19 THE WITNESS: Thank you.

20 THE COURT: Any cross-examination?

21 MR. HOUSTON: No, your Honor, thank you.

22 THE COURT: Okay, now you may step down.

23 THE WITNESS: Okay, thank you. Thank you.

24 THE CLERK: Please raise your right hand.

1 JERI PETTIGREW

2 Called as a witness by the State
3 who, having been first duly sworn,
4 testified as follows:

5 THE CLERK: Thank you, please be seated at the 6 witness stand.

8 BY MR. HALL:

9 Q Ma'am, will you state your name and spell your last 10 name?

11 A. Jeri Pettigrew, P-e double t-i-g-r-e-w.

12 Q. And you're Jeffrey Pettigrew's mother?

13 A. I'm Jeffrey Pettigrew's mother.

14 Q. Now, one of the exhibits that we had presented to 15 the Court and to defense counsel were a number of letters 16 that were given to us from family and friends. Are you 17 familiar with any of these?

18 A. Yes, I am.

19 Q. All right, and can you tell us just a brief overview
20 of these letters that we have provided to the Court?

21 A. Jeff worked for the City of San Jose for 22 years.
22 He was very well liked, very well known. He was I guess the 23 crew supervisor, and all these guys worked for him. And at 24 the funeral, every one of them showed up. And they couldn't

1 say enough good things about him. In front of the plant on 2 Monterey Road in San Jose they have a plaque, brass plaque, 3 that they had made, and had it put on a big rock right there 4 in front, in his memory.

5 When I told them about the hearing coming up here,
6 they said, "Do you need anything?" I said, "Well, if you'd 7 like to write some letters, I'll take them with me." And I 8 believe there was seven of eight letters that they wrote and 9 mailed to me, because they couldn't be here.

10 Q. And I read those letters, and most of them describe 11 the relationship with Mr. Pettigrew, and how kind he was, and 12 how he would help each individual develop his skills with 13 respect to operating heavy machinery, and how he was very 14 kind in his direction and his manner with his fellow 15 employees. Is that fairly accurate with respect to those 16 letters?

17 A. Very accurate. What he would do, whosever birthday 18 it was, he would buy a cake and bring in a half gallon of 19 milk. And that's what they did for that day. And in the 20 letters the guys had told me they're going to keep doing 21 that. Whosever birthday it is, they will get a cake and 22 bring in the milk.

23 Q. I'm sure that his passing has had a significant 24 impact upon you and your family, and of course this is an

1 opportunity where you can describe the impact that Jethro's 2 passing has had upon you and your family. I know you've 3 written a letter.

4 A. I've written a little -- if I may read it.

5 Q. Yes, you may, with the Court's permission.

6 THE COURT: Yes. Have you seen this letter, 7 counsel?

8 MR. HOUSTON: Yes, your Honor, we have.

9 THE COURT: Do you have any objection?

10 MR. HOUSTON: No --

11 MR. HALL: I don't think we have provided that 12 letter, although I have read the letter, it's a victim impact 13 letter that she plans to read into the record. So it's 14 essentially a victim impact statement. And as an officer of 15 the Court, I had not seen anything objectionable in the 16 letter.

17 THE COURT: Okay.

18 MR. HOUSTON: Your Honor, in reference to what I 19 was referring to were the letters that Mr. Hall had given me.

20 THE COURT: Any objection to those being filed?

21 MR. HOUSTON: No, your Honor.

22 THE COURT: Okay. You may proceed, ma'am.

23 THE WITNESS: Thank you. My name is Jeri
24 Pettigrew, Jeff Pettigrew was my youngest son. I will never

1 get to tell my son how much I love him. You have ruined our 2 families. Yours, mine, my other children's. My 3 granddaughter will not have her father to walk her down the 4 aisle when she gets married, and he was -- she was the love 5 of his life. He lived for her. He'll never get to see his 6 grandchildren. I'm sure you have grandchildren. They'll get 7 to come and visit you. He'll never get to visit his 8 grandchildren.

9 I'm sorry, but I consider you a coward, shooting
10 someone in the back. Not one time, but four or five times.
11 You killed someone who had a big, big heart. Someone who was 12 there for everyone who needed something. Jeff lost his right 13 leg -- his left leg in an accident in 1991. Every four years 14 he would get a new leg. He would send the old one down to 15 Mexico for someone who could not afford to get a leg. He was 16 always there to help someone in need.

17 The man you killed believed in paying it forward 18 everyone he could. He had a million friends and no enemies.
19 He was a hard worker, he worked for the City of San Jose for 20 22 years. He loved his job and he loved all the guys that he 21 worked with.

22 He was my baby boy, and he was always there for me.
23 Nothing I can say will ever bring him back, but I'd like for 24 you to remember what you have done to both families. Not

1 just to my family, but to your family, too. And I'm sorry.
2 I wish I could say right now that I forgive you, but I think 3 it's going to take a little more time than this.

4 MR. HALL: Thank you, Ms. Pettigrew.

5 THE COURT: Any questions?

6 MR. HOUSTON: No questions, thank you.

7 THE COURT: Thank you, ma'am, you may step down.

8 THE WITNESS: Thank you. And I did it without 9 crying.

10 MR. HALL: Your Honor, with respect to our 11 recommendation, we would follow the recommendation of the 12 division of parole and probation save and except for the 13 recommendation on the enhancement. We believe the 14 enhancement should be 8 to 20 consecutive, based upon the 15 severity of the offense, the threat to the health, safety and 16 welfare of the community and the people inside of the Nugget.
17 So we would ask you to follow our recommendation, and follow
18 the division's recommendation. Thank you.

19 THE COURT: Division.

20 PROBATION OFFICER: Thank you, your Honor. Shane 21 Lees for the division, we stand by our recommendation.

22 THE COURT: What is your credit for time served?

23 PROBATION OFFICER: 736 days as of today, your 24 Honor.

1 THE COURT: Mr. Gonzalez, the law affords you an 2 opportunity to be heard. Is there anything you would like to 3 say?

4 DEFENDANT: Yes, I would.

5 THE COURT: You may proceed.

6 DEFENDANT: After hearing Mr. Pettigrew's mother
7 and friend, I want to convey my condolences. I no longer
8 have a mom and dad, so I know the feeling of not having, you 9 know. That's what I wanted to say to you.

10 What I wanted also, in light of what I witnessed on 11 9-23, seeing Mr. Pettigrew and Mr. Villagrana, what I 12 witnessed, they left me no choice but to act as I did in 13 defense of my brother. That's what I saw. And that's what I 14 wanted to say. Thank you.

15 THE COURT: The law requires the Court to make 16 certain findings with regard to the enhancement. The Court 17 has reviewed the evidence in this case, as well as the 18 recommendations by counsel, and the findings by the Court.

19 The jury in this matter specifically found that a 20 deadly weapon was used in the commission of this offense. In 21 addition, they specifically found that the offense was in 22 furtherance of gang activity. And therefore the gang 23 enhancement would apply, as well as the deadly weapon
24 enhancement.

1 The legislature has said, however, that only one 2 enhancement can be added to the charge that defendant will be 3 sentenced to, with regard to count 6.

4 The legislature and the case law has not discussed 5 how to analyze the gang enhancement, but the Court takes the 6 opportunity to utilize the direction found in the analysis of 7 the weapons charge.

8 The Court has considered, with regard to both 9 enhancements, the facts and circumstances of the crime, the 10 defendant's criminal history, as well as the impact of this 11 crime on the victim.

12 Any mitigating factors presented by Mr. Gonzalez 13 would have been considered. Very little mitigation has been 14 offered, although the defendant does offer the mitigation of 15 his belief of defense of others.

16 The Court in analyzing this enhancement also looks 17 to the extreme danger to the community that was possible in 18 the use of a deadly weapon in the commission of this offense.
19 And it's for those reasons, after considering all of those 20 factors, that the Court will be making -- entering its 21 decision with regard to the deadly weapon enhancement.

22 The same factors relate and are considered by the 23 Court in making a decision with regard to the gang
24 enhancement.

1 The Court has previously noted in the hearings that 2 we've had on the motions that count 2 was ordered merged into 3 count 6 previously, as was count 5. So the Court will be 4 sentencing the defendant today as to counts 1, 3, 4, and 6, 5 and 7.

6 With regard to administrative issues, the defendant
7 will pay a $25 administrative assessment fee, a $3 DNA
8 analysis fee that was imposed in July, and a DNA testing fee 9 of $150. And subject himself to a DNA analysis test for the 10 purpose of determining genetic markers.

11 As to count 1, the defendant is sentenced to a 12 maximum term of 12 months in the Washoe County Jail.

13 As to count 3, the defendant is sentenced to a 14 maximum term of 48 months in the Nevada Department of 15 Corrections, with minimum parole eligibility of 12 months.
16 This sentence will run concurrent to count 1.

17 As to count 4, the defendant is sentenced to 156
18 months in the Nevada Department of Corrections, with minimum 19 parole eligibility of 35 months, concurrent to count 3.

20 As to count 6, the Court will announce its decision 21 in a moment.

22 As to count 7, the defendant is sentenced to 96
23 months in the Nevada Department of Corrections, with minimum
24 parole eligibility of 24 months. This count will run

1 concurrent to that which will be imposed in count 6.

2 Death is never considered by the community an 3 acceptable result. And for a defendant to have an 4 opportunity to be sentenced by the Court, the Court must look 5 at the three options available to it. The option of life 6 without the possibility of parole; the option of life with 7 the possibility of parole, although in your case may not be 8 particularly realistic because of the minimums that are 9 required if you were to receive that penalty; and the 10 possibility of a term of years.

11 Although your counsel has argued for the term of 12 years, the Court declines to follow that recommendation. The 13 Court finds that you are necessarily subject to an 14 imprisonment in the Nevada Department of Corrections for 15 life.

16 However, the Court does not find at this time that 17 that should be without ever the possibility of parole. So I 18 will allow that you will be eligible for parole after you 19 serve a minimum of 20 years.

20 In addition, consecutive to that sentence, you will 21 be sentenced to an additional 20 years in prison, with 22 minimum parole eligibility of 8 years, for the weapons
23 enhancement. And consecutive for the gang enhancement of 20 24 years, with a minimum of 8. However, the gang enhancement

1 sentence and the weapons enhancement are merged for purposes
2 of sentencing.

3 The Court is in no way condoning your behavior. I
4 find that it was abhorrent, and that there is no
5 justification for it. And I find that there was overwhelming 6 evidence of your guilt.

7 Anything further for the Court?

8 MR. HALL: State has nothing further, your Honor.

9 THE COURT: Any reason judgment should not enter?

10 MR. HOUSTON: No, your Honor, thank you.

11 THE COURT: The defendant is remanded to the 12 custody of the sheriff for transportation to the warden and 13 imposition of the sentence.

15 THE COURT: Yes.

16 MR. LYON: Could we ask for a delay in transport to 17 NNC, because Mr. Gonzalez is still in the process of securing 18 an appeal. We've been talking to other counsel, we're not 19 sure whether it's going to go to the PD's office. His 20 ability to stay here in Reno at least until we can get that 21 taken care of would be most helpful.

22 MR. HOUSTON: We don't believe it would be more 23 than three weeks, your Honor.

24 THE COURT: The Court is not going to interfere

1 with the sheriff's and the warden's transportation
2 arrangements, that's up to them. It's not that difficult for 3 him to file his appeal.

4 You know the requirements, Mr. Gonzalez, for your 5 appeal, it must be filed within 30 days. You have counsel 6 that could file it on your behalf if you can't secure other 7 counsel. So that deadline is not one that can be missed, but 8 I'm going to decline your request.

9 MR. HOUSTON: Thank you, your Honor.

10 THE COURT: Anything further? Court is in recess.
