OVERVIEW

Lawyers should not be allowed to be a part of the medical marijuana industry.

LAS VEGAS MEDICAL MARIJUANA ASSOCIATION LVMMA.ORG STARTED 34 MONTHS AGO, A JOHN LAUB AND THOMAS HAYNIE PARTNERSHIP. WE ARE 50 YEAR FRIENDS WHO GREW UP IN LAS VEGAS SINCE 1966 AND BEGAN A 501c3 TO BE A GO TO PLACE FOR INFORMATION. WE BEGAN MEETING WITH AND VETTING MANY INDIVIDUALS AND BUSINESSES WITH THE PUBLIC SAFETY AS A PRIMARY INTEREST. BELOW ARE SOME OF THE AREAS WE WORKED WITH:

- SAFETY PACKAGING
- BRANDING
- DOSAGE
- KID PROOF EXIT PACKAGING TO HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES
- POINT OF SALES SYSTEMS , SECURITY SYSTEMS , RFID TRACKING
- SYSTEMS, BREEDERS, CULTIVATORS
- BANKING, INSURANCE
- LAB TEST EQUIPMENT
- SPEAKERS FROM AROUND THE COUNTRY, INDUSTRY TOURS

WE ARE STILL LEARNING EVERYDAY AND HAVE OVER 10, 000 FOLLOWERS ON LINKEDIN INCLUDING BIOTECHNOLOGY, MINING, GAS AND OIL COMPANIES, DOCTORS. WE ARE A REAL AND ESTABLISHED COMPANY.

My name is Thomas Haynie. I am just a regular person that has worked hard all of my life. I did not go to college, I worked in the casinos from 16 to 21 years old and for my Fathers business for the next 30 years working with City, County, and State Contracts from 1969-2005. Some of the contracts we worked with included McCarren International Airport, Nevada Prison systems, Mining, County Courthouse and Detention Center, the entire Las Vegas Country Club, Regency Towers, Master TV system, Fire Alarms, Cameras, entire Entry Systems complex, Nellis Air Force Base Telephone Systems, you name it I've got experience with it!

I saw an opportunity to work in the medical marijuana industry to bring in companies from out-of-state to work with local companies. I've worked for 2 years on this project.

My complaint stems from a lawyer who is working with a medical marijuana enterprise that has a partner who is a lawyer and uses his position as a lawyer to make it difficult to retain an experienced lawyer to pursue legal action; and due to his relationships with other lawyers this has been very challenging, in fact I feel lied to and abused. I've also witnessed how he has treated others in the industry, using the legal system TO NOT PAY BILLS AND CAUSED LAWSUITS.

I believe that to have a Privilege License in the State of Nevada must come with some responsibilities. One is that the person needs to operate in an ethical matter, not embarrass the state and to protect the public. It is quite obvious to me that this lawyer has no ethics and will use the legal system to further his own interests at the expense of the general public and the state.

LAWYERS SHOULD NOT BE OWNERS IN THESE BUSINESSES. The temptation to use their power, influence, and knowledge of the law to take advantage of others is just too great. At least it is for this one. I have provided a number of exhibits and pictures to accompany this complaint.

MY CONTRACT WITH CW NEVADA:

BRIAN PADGETT 35% ATTORNEY AND TIM SMITS 20% OWNERS

FINDERS FEE 6K EA UP FRONT, 3% GROSS 7 YEARS EDIBLES, MERCHANDISING T-SHIRTS, CULTIVATION
TURN KEY GROWER

MJARDIN HIRED BY CW NEVADA MULTI GROW LOCATIONS NEVADA

1. 3% GROSS OF EVERY EDIBLE SOLD OVER A 100 DIFFERENT PRODUCTS TO DATE
STATE WIDE SALES
2. MERCHANDISING T-SHIRTS SHOULD HAVE BEEN ABLE TO SELL LAST YEAR FOR INCOME
MR SMITS FAILED TO INFORM THE EDIBLES COMPANIES
OF MY CONTRACT MORE DECEPTION
- 3 1% GROSS MJARDN FOR EVERY POUND GROWN STATEWIDE

This contract is worth 2-3 million dollars over the next 7 years. By squeezing myself, Thomas Haynie, out of this contract they can then re-issue percentage shares for the purchase of 3% gross of edibles company, thus double and triple dipping for greed, essentially.

Brian Padgett 35% Owner CW Nevada NEVADA ATTORNEY
Tim Smits 20% Owner CW Nevada

Between the 2 they have a controlling interest in CW Nevada of 55%. They have multiple businesses together in Nevada.

Brian paid in cash before my contract was even signed, thus leaving no official paper trail. However I have documented these dealings and have kept a paper trail of my own. They stalled for months upon months and wanted only information gathering and a free ride, period.

CONFLICT OF INTEREST: BRAIN PADGETT: LOBBYIST FIANCE / POSSIBLE WIFE, HEALTH CARE INDUSTRY

Turnover of key personnel at state marijuana agencies has become relatively common across the country, creating uncertainties for cannabis entrepreneurs already operating in an unpredictable environment.

Over the past two years, several top marijuana regulators in various states have departed – either voluntarily or because they were forced to step down.

POLITICS

CW NEVADA LARGEST CONTRIBUTOR

While seeking the votes, medical marijuana investors give campaign cash

- Clark County receives more than 200 applications for medical pot businesses
- Clark County commissioners to spend 3 days talking medical marijuana
- Judge, casino moguls among those seeking marijuana business licenses

On March 5, Clark County Commissioners signaled for the first time that they would allow medical marijuana businesses.

Over the next eight days, investors or companies that would seek the commission's OK to open a medical marijuana business donated $36,350 to three commissioners reviewing their applications.

Chris Giunchigliani

Commissioners Chris Giunchigliani, Mary Beth Scow and Susan Brager all received donations in 14 separate contributions between March 8 and 12, according to a Sun analysis of campaign finance reports.

Since March 1, 14 businesses or investors applying for county medical marijuana permits have contributed 22 times for a total of $56,900. Nearly 40 percent of that came from investors in a single venture, CW Nevada.

Giunchigliani, Scow and Brager are the only three commissioners required to disclose campaign contributions during the year. The other four commissioners are not up for re-election and won't have to disclose their contributions until January.

Starting today, the commission will begin reviewing medical marijuana applications at a three-day public hearing. Competition is fierce for 18 licenses to sell marijuana to consumers. The industry is expected to be worth tens of millions of dollars.

The three commissioners also received another $45,500 in 20 contributions from 12 law firms. Law firms are not required to publicly disclose their clients seeking permits, but nearly every law office in Southern Nevada has one or more clients seeking medical marijuana licenses.

Scow and Brager each returned a $1,000 contribution from Sweet Goldy, LLC, a company that is applying for a license. Both commissioners said they didn't want to accept money from a company named as an applicant.

Susan Brager

Brager said she didn't take any money from businesses directly applying for medical marijuana licenses. She did accept donations from people with investments in those businesses but said it won't affect her decision in the application process.

"I probably wouldn't even know who they were because I was fortunate enough to have an abundance of contributions," she said. "I don't know who's attached to what (business)."

Scow said she doesn't plan to return any other contributions but she does plan to disclose them at today's hearing. Giunchigliani said she told several donors to wait until after the medical marijuana selections to make their contributions.

"After we make the decision, if they still agree with my positions, then fine," she said. "They're not buying any access or a vote or anything along those lines."

Scow noted that many of the medical marijuana donors contribute "on a regular basis."

But since 2010, only three of the 14 donors had given to the three commissioners until this spring. That period covers the last time Giunchigliani, Scow and Brager were actively raising money for an election. Political contributions from medical marijuana investors or businesses ranged from $50 to $5,000. State law caps contributions from specific people or businesses at $10,000 per candidate per four-year term.

CW Nevada, the venture with the largest share of campaign contributions, is seeking nine licenses — one of the largest requests before the county commission. The company requested six licenses to grow and process marijuana. It's also asking for three retail licenses.

CW Nevada investors Timothy Smits Van Oyen and Paul Robarts each gave $2,500 to each of the three commissioners running for re-election. The law firm of another investor, Brian Padgett, also gave $2,500 to each of the candidates. The total from all three was $22,500. Robarts and Van Oyen had not previously given to those three commissioners, according to state records. Padgett's law office has given more than $15,000 to various candidates in prior elections.

Van Oyen declined to comment. Padgett, a lawyer, did not return calls seeking comment. Robarts could not be reached for comment.

Clark County commissioner Mary Beth Scow

Other political donors with ties to medical marijuana include:

Nevada Medical Marijuana Dispensary: Dr. Nick Spirtos gave $5,000 to Giunchigliani on March 10, his first contribution to her campaign. Spirtos, medical director of the Women's Cancer Center of Nevada, has a 20 percent share in Nevada Medical Marijuana Dispensary, which is applying for three licenses. Spirtos previously gave $5,000 to Chairman Steve Sisolak in 2011 and $2,000 to Scow in 2010. Dr. Geoffrey Hsieh, a partner in the same venture, also gave $5,000 to Giunchigliani on March 12. It was Hsieh's first contribution to Giunchigliani, although he'd given to Sisolak and Commissioner Lawrence Weekly in past elections. Spirtos did not return a request for comment. Hsieh could not be reached for comment.

Nevada Organic Remedies: Real estate developer Darren Petersen, who owns a 10 percent share in Nevada Organic Remedies, gave $5,000 each to Brager and Scow in May. Petersen's company, Petersen Management LLC, gave another $2,500 to Scow and $3,500 to Giunchigliani. Petersen previously contributed to Scow in 2010, but not Brager or Giunchigliani. Nevada Organic Remedies is seeking two dispensary and two other licenses. Petersen did not respond to a request for comment.

LVMC: Attorney D. Neal Tomlinson gave $1,500 to Giunchigliani on March 3, his first donation to Giunchigliani but one of eight he's made to other candidates since 2010. Tomlinson has a 15 percent stake in LVMC, which has applied for one dispensary and four other medical marijuana licenses. Tomlinson could not be reached for comment.

Nevada Holistic Medicine: Real estate broker Chris Shelton gave $2,500 to Brager on May 16, his first contribution to Brager and one of three he's made this year. Shelton has a 23 percent stake in Nevada Holistic Medicine, which wants to open two dispensaries and a growing facility. Shelton did not respond to a request for comment.

Greenway Medical: Kenneth Nielsen, a Pennsylvania resident who owns 19.5 percent of Greenway Medical, gave $2,500 to Giunchigliani on March 1, his first and only contribution in Nevada. Greenway Medical is seeking a dispensary license and a growing license. Nielsen could not be reached for comment.

La Casa Verde Operating: Attorney Edward Bernstein's law firm gave $1,500 to Scow on March 26. The firm has previously given more than $100,000 to candidates, including $1,000 to Giunchigliani in 2010. Bernstein has a 33 percent stake in La Casa Verde Operating, which has applied for one dispensary license. Bernstein did not return a request for comment.

Dr. Florence Jameson, John Griffin and Kevin Hooks gave $250, $100 and $50 respectively to Giunchigliani. Each has an interest in separate companies applying for medical marijuana licenses. None had previously given to Giunchigliani.

SUMMARY

This is in regards to what I am dealing with and my views on what I have experienced, observed and researched

1. The cart before the horse in Nevada

THERE IS NOT

ANY Banking

ANY Marijuana Control Board

NO ONE IS TAKING RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE ACTIONS OF THESE OWNERS AND NO ONE KNOWS THE BUSINESS PERIOD , BUT THEY SURE ARE LOBBYING FOR THEIR GROUPS. Fast forward 34 months and the lack of control board, laws, guidelines or restrictions has become FULLY APPARENT WITH ALL THE MISTAKES, SPECIAL INTERESTS AND PENDING LAWSUITS.

Example: BRIAN PAGETT, Attorney at Law in the State of Nevada who's fiancé (possibly now wife) JENNIFER LAZOVICH IS A PAID STATE LOBBYIST. THIS IS VERY OBVIOUS COLLUSION AND CONFLICT OF INTEREST!!!

WE DO HAVE

Liquor licensing

Gaming Control

Medial Boards

POLICING THESE INDUSTRIES

2. The Rub

Liquor

Gaming

Physicians & Doctors

All have to RELINQUISH their Licenses, it is ONE or the OTHER, NOT both. The ATTORNEYS are in CONFLICT;

Federally

State lobbying

Political contributions

Law-Making

Banking

ABUSE TO THE SYSTEM; MANIPULATION

3. CW Nevada not holding up their obligations

Deception
Nonpayment
Possible corruption
Vendors, suppliers, agents, payments

4. The state allowed horse trading of licenses that then lead to local and out of state buyers for the purchase of licenses while not paying me. They spend millions yet recently attained a 9 million dollar investor out of Colorado and yet I remain unpaid.

CW NEVADA VS SHANE TERRY PAST OWNERSHIP NUVEDA MME (NONPAYMENT)

AGAIN BRIAN PADGETT ATTORNEY

Court lawsuit
Case no. A-16-734011-C
Shane Terry vs. CW Nevada LLC
Controlling interest Nye County Nevada CW NEVADA RECEIVED

Just had another judge assigned the case.

Mr. Terry still has not been issued payment and has been chasing Mr. Padgett for months who has said he would pay on multiple occasions and yet there have been no payments, period.

In my case, BRIAN PAGETT ATTORNEY

- He was my resident agent
- He helped write the simple contract
- Gave a free office for a year to me in the deal which was useless. I was able to use for 90 days but it was a pig sty and did not present a suitable professional environment to conduct business in. The other owner Tim Smits owned the entire complex Henderson Industrial Center. Tim Smits said the office would be completed in 45 days 2 YEARS AGO.
- Never signed the contracts, just excuses and more excuses.

Other words:

I expected to be paid the front end fees BY JANUARY OF 2015 as Tim Smits had said.

To date:

4 out of 6 have been paid 2 years later, excluding myself.

A. The Merchandising agreement: I could be selling T Shirts over a year ago as a form of income.
B. Tour bus business: I have in place on my side of the business the ability to launch as well as other business plans that I cannot execute while they spend millions, raise money and buy more licenses but continue to snub their noses at the contracts with me, denying me the courtesy of return/follow up calls and payment. I get no response from their end. I have tried phone calls, texts, emails, and visits to their offices with absolutely zero result. There is no transparency, no integrity, no trust when it comes to these gentlemen and their business dealings. Brian Padgett uses his law firm as a tool to extend, deceive and buy time to continue his unethical, colluded dealings. . Unfortunately I have learned the hard way that they simply do not operate with honesty and integrity.

Mr. Padgett & Mr. Smits both have income businesses already. They are hiring people with payroll for CW Nevada and growing while paying contributions to political campaigns including city, county, and state politicians. They use the Court system and their job affiliations to manipulate deals, extend time, frame simple contracts, cause others Attorney fees to mount and all to fulfill their own monetary greed and self-centered enchantments with complete disregard to others.

Cannabinoid Education

How can cannabinoids benefit YOU?

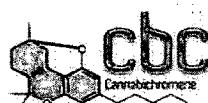

THC has a wide range of medical benefits. THC is most associated with the "high" and euphoria when using cannabis. THC has very high psychoactive characteristics typically ranging from 10-25%. Chemocannabis with THC can cause adverse side effects, including disorientation and heart palpitations. Additional but uncommon side effects have included depression, anger, anxiety, and even short term memory loss.

There is very little CBN present in most marijuana plants. The more CBN, the less THC. Medical cannabis containing high levels of CBN can also induce an appetite and improve handling of emotions. High CBN levels have also shown to reduce symptoms of nausea and gastrointestinal issues. CBN acts as a weak agonist at the cannabinoid receptors and has mild psychoactive characteristics.
