POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

"A motion or a response to a motion shall not exceed 10 pages, unless the court permits or directs otherwise. A reply to a response shall not exceed 5 pages." NRAP 27(2).

Fink's "Reply to Response to Order to Show Cause" is 17 pages in length, resulting from the complex procedural history in this matter, which speaks directly to the question before this Court, which is whether Markowitz' appeal falls within any of the sixteen enumerated categories of appealable orders in NRS 155.190(1). The length is also due to the necessity to explain recent developments in this matter, particularly locating the witnesses to the March 2012 Will, and the affidavits those witnesses have provided. Those affidavits, and the pending petition in District Court as to fraud upon the Court, directly undermine Markowitz' arguments as to whether the May 29 Order distributes property or determines heirship in particular.

For these reasons, Fink respectfully requests that the Court grant them leave to exceed this Court's page limit in his Reply to Response to Order to Show Cause and therefore, prays that this Court grant them leave to exceed the page limit and file his Brief in its entirety.
