I.

STATEMENT OF THE LEGAL ISSUES PRESENTED

1. What is the proper standard for review in this case?
2. Whether the District Court's Order properly affirmed the Appeals Officer's Order Granting Summary Judgment as Appellant had Not Established that His industrial insurance claim should be reopened?

II.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Appellant appealed from the November 8, 2012 denial of reopening of his worker's compensation claim. There was no medical evidence submitted to support the request for reopening as required by NRS 616C.390. (App. at 134).

The parties agreed to bypass the Hearing Officer on this issue and present the reopening issue directly to an Appeals Officer. (App. at 3-5.)

On or about March 26, 2013, Respondents, through Counsel, filed a Motion for Summary Judgment. (App. at 6-12.)

On April 17, 2013, the Appeals Officer issued an Order Denying the Motion for Summary Judgment. (App. at 191-192.)

The matter was subsequently argued before the Appeals Officer on January 29, 2014. Counsel for Respondents raised the Summary Judgment arguments made previously at this hearing.

1 The Appeals Officer issued an Order Granting Summary Judgment on February
2 25, 2014.

4 Appellant filed his Petition for Judicial Review on March 25, 2014, and an
5 Amended Petition for Judicial Review on March 27, 2014.

6 Respondents filed a Notice of Intent to Participate on March 31, 2014.

8 On or about May 5, 2014, the Record on Appeal was submitted.

9 On June 18, 2014, Appellant submitted his Opening Brief.

10 On July 21, 2014, Respondents submitted their Answering Brief.

11
12 On August 25, 2014, Appellant submitted his Reply Brief.

13 District Court Judge Valorie J. Vega heard oral argument on the Petition for 14 Judicial Review on September 29, 2014.

16 On October 22, 2014, the District Court denied the Petition for Judicial Review.

17 The Notice of Entry of Order was filed on October 23, 2014.

19 Subsequently, Appellant filed an appeal to the Nevada Supreme Court on 20 November 10, 2014.

21 Appellant's Opening Brief was filed on March 27, 2015.

22 Respondents, through Counsel, now file their Answering Brief.

24 III.

25 STATEMENT OF FACTS

26 Appellant, WILLIAM POREMBA (hereinafter referred to as "Appellant"),
27
28

1 filed a Petition for Judicial Review of an Appeal Officer's Order Granting
2 Summary Judgment against him in a contested workers' compensation claim.

4 Appellant appealed from the denial of reopening of his worker's
5 compensation claim. There was no medical evidence submitted to supporting the 6 reopening. (App. at 133-134).

8 By way of background, Appellant was involved in a vehicle-heavy
9 equipment accident on or about July 22, 2005 while at work. He sought medical 10 treatment and filled out a C-4 three days later on July 25, 2005. He was diagnosed
11 with thoracic, cervical strains; a face contusion and a knee contusion. (App. at 18).

12
13 A follow-up appointment at Concentra on July 29, 2005 produced the same
14 diagnosis. App. at 26-27).

16 Appellant treated on his own outside of worker's compensation arena on 17 August 2, 2005. (App. at 28-29).

18
19 Appellant was informed by Respondent Insurer that he could not treat with 20 non-preferred providers and could only have one treating physician. (App. at 30-21 32). Care was transferred to Dr. Angela Thomas. (App. at 33).

23 On August 12, 2005, the claim was accepted for cervical strain, lumbar
24 strain and left knee sprain. (App. at 37). The accepted scope of the claim was 25 never appealed by Appellant.

26
27 On August 12, 2005, Dr. Thomas documented that Appellant had a non-28

1 industrial history of chronic low back pain. (App. at 38-40). Physical therapy was
2 recommended.

3 Appellant and his counsel were informed of Respondent Insurer's lien.
5 against and third-party suit proceeds in August 2005. (App. at 41-42).

6 On November 7, 2005, Dr. LaTourette opined that Appellant would need
8 knee surgery in the future. (App. at 56-57).

9 Respondent Insurer sent a claim closure letter on January 27, 2006. (App. at 11 60). The claim closed.

12 On October 5, 2010, Respondent Insurer sought recovery of its worker's
13
14 compensation lien. (App. at 61-63).

15 On November 3, 2010, Appellant sought to reopen his claim, more than one
16 year after it closed. Appellant provided a one-page letter from Sudir Khenika, 17 M.D., which did not have any medical records attached. The letter asks for 18 reopening since the Appellant has had increased pain complaints. This is the 19 PRIOR request for reopening and not the one that is the subject of this appeal.
20
21 (App. at 66).

22 On November 8, 2010, Respondent Insurer denied reopening because 23
24 Appellant had not proven that he has exhausted his third-party recovery on medical 25
26 treatment, which he must do before Respondent Insurer would be responsible to 27
28 pay for reopening and future medical treatment. (App. at 67).

1 In November 2010, Appellant returned to the Las Vegas Pain Institute for
2 neck and low back pain. He was told to continue home exercises. (App. at 69-72).

3 Appellant received a settlement of $63,500.00 from a responsible third party
4 who caused his accident. (App. at 74-76). According to Appellant's affidavit, he 5 personally received $34,631.51 in settlement proceeds. That money has been
6 exhausted prior to this reopening request but it has not been proven to be exhausted
7 on medical treatment that would otherwise be part of the worker's compensation
8 claim. (App. at 183-184). Appellant admits that he used that money to support his 9 family and pay household bills.
10

11 Appellant previously appealed the denial of reopening of his claim. On 12 March 7, 2011, the Hearing Officer properly denied the request for reopening.
13 (App. at 107-111).
14

15 Appellant appealed to the Appeals Office. (App. at 118).
16

17 On May 6, 2011, Respondent Insurer filed a Motion for Summary Judgment
18 regarding the appeal over the denial of reopening before a different Appeals
19 Officer. (App. at 124-130).
20

21 On May 17, 2011, the Appeals Officer GRANTED Respondent Insurer's
22 prior Motion for Summary Judgment. (App. at 131-132).
23

24 Appellant waited approximately a year and on November 8, 2012, his 25 counsel sought reopening once again. Again, there is no new medical reporting to 26
27
28

1 support this request and again, Appellant has not proven that he has exhausted his
2 third-party proceeds on medical treatment before asking Respondent Insurer to pay
3 for more benefits under the worker's compensation claim.

5 On November 8, 2012, Respondent Insurer denied the request for reopening.
6 (App. at 134).

8 Appellant appealed and the parties agreed to bypass the Hearing Officer
9 hearing.

10 Respondent Insurer filed a Motion for Summary Judgment. It was opposed
11 and Appeals Officer Shirley Lindsey denied the Motion. (App. at 191-192).

13 At the appeal hearing, Respondents' Counsel again raised the Motion for 14 Summary Judgment which the Judge had previously denied. (App. at 319-320). A
15 full hearing took place on the merits. Appellant testified that he received
16 $34,631.51 in settlement proceeds from his third-party lawsuit. (App. at 345).

18 Appellant testified that he spent the $34,631.51 on some medical bills and he 19 and his family lived off it; it paid for his house; it paid for his food. Appellant
20 admits that he spent the money on expenses required to support his two children,
21 one in college and one in middle school. (App. at 348).

23 It is undisputed that Appellant did not spend the entire $34,631.51 on 24 medical expenses that would otherwise be part of his worker's compensation
25 claim. (App. at 348).

26
27
28

1 In closing argument, Appellant argued that he may spend the $34,631.51 in 2 settlement proceeds he received from the third-party lawsuit on paying his
3 mortgage and putting food on the table for his family. (App. at 352). Appellant
4 also argued that he “needs a home to live in to be able to recover. Particularly, he
5 needs food and healthy diet to be able to recover” (Id.)

7 While all humans need food and shelter to stay alive, that is not the inquiry
8 here. The issue before the Appeals Officer was whether Appellant spent his third-9 party settlement proceeds on medical treatment that would otherwise be the 10 responsibility of the insurance company if his worker’s compensation claim were 11 to be reopened. It is undisputed that the money was spent on other things, such as 12 paying his mortgage, on his family and on his own food and shelter needs.
13 Appellant admits that he did not spend the $34,631.51 on medical care that would 14 be the responsibility of the worker’s compensation Insurer if the claim was 15 reopened.

17 Respondents’ Counsel made two arguments in closing: (1) that Appellant 18 has not proven that he has exhausted his offset because he has not proven that he 19 spent his third-party proceeds on medical care incurred after the date of settlement;
20 and (2) even if we could reach the issue of reopening, Appellant has insufficient
21 medical evidence to prove the need for more treatment on an industrial basis.
22 (App. at 352-359). The medical records used to support reopening were years old
25
26
27
28

1 and had previously been rejected in a prior attempt to reopen. (App. at 357-358).

2 There are no new medical reports since the last denial of reopening was made. The 3 medical reports being relied upon are from 2009 and 2010.

5 Subsequently, on February 24, 2015, Appeals Officer Shirley Lindsey issued
6 an Order Granting the Insurer's Motion for Summary Judgment. (App. at 298-
7 299). The Appeals Officer issued the Order in lieu of issuing a Decision and Order
8 with Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law.

10 Regardless of the mechanism of the ruling, it is clear that the Appeals Officer
11 considered all the evidence and testimony and did not believe that the Claimant
12 proved a right to reopen his claim.
13

14 Appellant filed his Petition for Judicial Review of that Order on March 25,
15 2014. (App. at 362-367.)
16

17 On October 22, 2014, the District Court issued an Order Denying Petition for 18 Judicial Review. (App. at 431-433.)
19

20 On November 10, 2014, Appellant filed his Notice of Appeal.
21

22 IV.

23 ARGUMENT

24 A.

25 Standard of Review

26 Judicial review of a final decision of an agency is governed by NRS 233B.135.
27
28

1 NRS 233B.135 Judicial review: Manner of conducting;
2 burden of; standard for review.

3 1. Judicial review of a final decision of an agency must be:

4 (a) Conducted by the court without a jury; and

5 (b) Confined to the record.

6 In cases concerning alleged irregularities in procedure
7 before an agency that are not shown in the record, the court may 8 receive evidence concerning the irregularities.

9 2. The final decision of the agency shall be deemed 10 reasonable and lawful until reversed or set aside in whole or in 11 part by the court. The burden of proof is on the party attacking or 12 resisting the decision to show that the final decision is invalid
13 pursuant to subsection 3.

14 3. The court shall not substitute its judgment for that of the 15 agency as to the weight of evidence on a question of fact. The 16 court may remand or affirm the final decision or set it aside in 17 whole or in part if substantial rights of the petitioner have been 18 prejudiced because the final decision of the agency is:

19 (a) In violation of constitutional or statutory provisions;

20 (b) In excess of the statutory authority of the agency;

21 (c) Made upon unlawful procedure;

22 (d) Affected by other error of law;

23 (e) Clearly erroneous in view of the reliable, probative
24 and substantial evidence on the whole record; or

25 (f) Arbitrary or capricious or characterized by abuse of 26 discretion. (Emphasis added.)

27 The standard of review is whether there is substantial evidence to support the 28 underlying decision. The reviewing court should limit its review of administrative 29 decisions to determine if they are based upon substantial evidence. North Las Vegas
30 v. Public Service Comm'n., 83 Nev. 278, 291, 429 P.2d 66 (1967); McCracken v.
31 Fancy, 98 Nev. 30, 639 P.2d 552 (1982). Substantial evidence is that quantity and 32 quality of evidence which a reasonable man would accept as adequate to support a

1 conclusion. See, Maxwell v. SIIS, 109 Nev. 327, 331, 849 P.2d 267, 270 (1993); and 2 Horne v. State Indus. Ins. Sys., 113 Nev. 532, 537, 936 P.2d 839 (1997).

4 When reviewing administrative court decisions, this Court has held that, on 5 factual determinations, the findings and ultimate decisions of an appeals officer are not 6 to be disturbed unless they are clearly erroneous or otherwise amount to an abuse of 7 discretion. Nevada Industrial Comm'n. v. Reese, 93 Nev. 115, 560 P.2d 1352 (1977).
9 An administrative determination regarding a question of fact will not be set aside
10 unless it is against the manifest weight of the evidence. Nevada Indus. Comm'n. v.
11 Hildebrand, 100 Nev. 47, 51, 675 P.2d 401 (1984). A decision by an appeals officer 12 that is based upon the credibility of the claimant and other witnesses is "not open to 13 appellate review." Brocas v. Mirage Hotel & Casino, 109 Nev. 579, 585, 854 P.2d
14 862, 867 (1993).
15

17 While the Court is not required to give deference to pure legal questions 18 determined by the agency, those conclusions of the agency which are closely related to 19 the agency's view of the facts, are entitled to deference, and will not be disturbed if 20 they are supported by substantial evidence. Jones v. Rosner, 102 Nev. 215, 217, 719
21 P.2d 805, 806 (1986). The Appeals Officer's Decision and Order was clearly 22 erroneous in view of the reliable, probative and substantial evidence in the record.
23
24

25 NRS 616A.010(2) and (4) make it clear that Nevada no longer has liberal
26 construction. Issues must be decided on their merits, and not according to the 27
28

1 common law principle that requires statutes governing workers' compensation to be
2 liberally construed. This means workers' compensation statutes must not be
3 interpreted or construed broadly or liberally in favor of any party.

5 B.

6 APPELLANT HAS NOT ESTABLISHED ANY ERROR OF LAW

8 It is Appellant, not Respondents, who had the burden of proving his case by a
9 preponderance of all the evidence. State Industrial Insurance System v. Hicks, 100
10 Nev. 567, 688 P.2d 324 (1984); Johnson v. State ex rel. Wyoming Worker's
11 Compensation Div., 798 P.2d 323 (1990); Hagler v. Micron Technology, Inc., 118
12 Idaho 596, 798 P.2d 55 (1990).
13

14 In attempting to prove his case, Appellant had the burden of going beyond
15 speculation and conjecture. That means that Appellant had to establish the work
16 connection of his injuries, the causal relationship between the work related injury and 17 his disability, the extent of his disability, and all facets of the claim by a
18 preponderance of all the evidence. To prevail, Appellant had to present more evidence
19 than an amount which would make his case and his opponent's "evenly balanced."
20 Maxwell v. SIIS, 109 Nev. 327, 849 P.2d 267 (1993); SIIS v. Khweiss, 108 Nev. 123,
21 825 P.2d 218 (1992); SIIS v. Kelly, 99 Nev. 774, 671 P.2d 29 (1983); 3, A. Larson,
22 The Law of Workmen's Compensation, § 80.33(a).
23
24
25

26 It is disingenuous for Appellant to argue that he had no idea that the Motion
27
28

1 for Summary Judgment would be reasserted during the appeal hearing. The
2 arguments made in the Motion for Summary Judgment are the identical arguments
3 that Respondents have been making to defeat reopening in this case since 2011.
4 To say that Appellant did not expect to hear these arguments defies logic. Surely
5 Appellant should have expected that Respondents were going to defend the denial
6 of reopening. Respondents' brief was timely filed. Thus, this argument can be 7 dismissed outright as it deserves no merit.

10 Secondly, the argument is made that since the Appeals Officer did not make
11 Findings of Fact or Conclusions of law, this Court cannot adequately review her
12 ruling. If that is true, then this Court should remand the matter to the Appeals
13 Officer to make such findings. In workers' compensation cases in Nevada, the 14 Appeals Officer is the trier of fact. The Appeals Officer is the only Judge who 15 heard the live testimony. This Court may not re-weigh the evidence or rule on the 16 credibility of the witnesses. If this Honorable Court finds that Findings of Fact and 17 Conclusions of Law need to be generated, then a remand to the Appeals Officer is 18 the proper remedy. This Court may not step in the shoes of the trier of fact here.
19

21 The arguments the Appellant appears to be making now were already made
22 to the Appeals Officer through his counsel before he lost the appeal hearing. There
23 is nothing new here, just an attempt to get another bite at the proverbial "apple"
24 since the Appeals Officer did not agree with Appellant's arguments. That is 25
26
27
28

1 insufficient to warrant this Court reversing the District Court decision which
2 upheld the Appeals Officer's Order Granting Summary Judgment.

4 B.

5 THE APPEALS OFFICER'S ORDER IS
6 SUPPORTED BY SUBSTANTIAL AND PERSUASIVE EVIDENCE

7 Appellant's appeal must be denied as the Appeal Officer's Order is 8 supported by substantial evidence. If the decision of the administrative agency on 9 the appealed issue is supported by substantial factual evidence in the Record on 10 Appeal, the District Court must affirm the Decision of the Agency as to that issue.
11 Tighe v. Las Vegas Metro. Police Dep't, 110 Nev. 632, 877 P.2d 541 (1994). Here,
12 the Order is supported by substantial and persuasive facts in the record.
13

14 Substantial evidence has been defined as that quantity and quality of 15 evidence which a reasonable man could accept as adequate to support a conclusion.
16 Tighe at 634; State Employment Sec. Dep't v. Hilton Hotels Corp., 102 Nev. 606,
17 608 at n.1, 729 P.2d 497 (1986). In addition, substantial evidence is not to be 18 considered in isolation from opposing evidence, but evidence that survives
19 whatever in the record fairly detracts from its weight. Universal Camera Corp. v.
20 NLRB, 340 U.S. 474, 477, 488 (1951); Container Stevedoring Co. v. Director, 21 OWCP, 935 F.2d 1544, 1546 (9th Cir. 1991).
22
23
24

25 The undisputed fact is that Appellant admits that he spent his third-party 26 settlement funds on supporting his family and not solely on future medical 27
28

1 treatment, which he must do before he asks for any further compensation from the
2 Insurer under his workers' compensation claim. He cannot spend his settlement
3 proceeds on home loans and family expenses and expect that money to be credited
4 toward Respondent Insurer's subrogation offset. That is what he has done here.
6 EICON v. Chandler, 23 P.3d 255 (Nev. 2001) clearly stands for this proposition.

8 The Nevada Supreme Court held in Chandler that: "An insurer is entitled to 9 withhold payment of medical benefits for a work-related injury until an employee
10 has exhausted any third-party settlement proceeds..." Id. at 258.

11
12 Here, Appellant testified that he received more than $34,000.00 in settlement 13 proceeds which he has not proven that he has spent on his own future medical 14 treatment. In Chandler, the insurer's lien was paid back and still benefits were 15 denied until he exhausted the money he received from his third-party case. Here, 16 the lien has not even been paid back. The facts in the present case are even 17 stronger than those in the Chandler case.
18

20 Furthermore, NRS 616C.215 provides the following, in pertinent part:

21 2. When an employee receives an injury for which 22 compensation is payable pursuant to the provisions of 23 chapters 616A to 616D, inclusive, or chapter 617 of NRS
24 and which was caused under circumstances creating a 25 legal liability in some person, other than the employer or a person in the same employ, to pay damages in respect thereof:

26 (a) The injured employee, or in case of death the 27 dependents of the employee, may take proceedings
28 against that person to recover damages, but the amount of the compensation the injured employee or the

1 dependents of the employee are entitled to receive
2 pursuant to the provisions of chapters 616A to 616D,
3 inclusive, or chapter 617 of NRS, including any future
4 compensation, must be reduced by the amount of the 5 damages recovered, notwithstanding any act or 6 omission of the employer or a person in the same employ
7 which was a direct or proximate cause of the employee's
8 injury.

9 (b) If the injured employee, or in case of death the 10 dependents of the employee, receive compensation
11 pursuant to the provisions of chapters 616A to 616D,
12 inclusive, or chapter 617 of NRS, the insurer, or in case
13 of claims involving the Uninsured Employers' Claim
14 Account or a subsequent injury account the 15 Administrator, has a right of action against the person so
16 liable to pay damages and is subrogated to the rights of 17 the injured employee or of the employee's dependents to 18 recover therefor.

19 5. In any case where the insurer or the Administrator is 20 subrogated to the rights of the injured employee or of the 21 employee's dependents as provided in subsection 2 or 3,
22 the insurer or the Administrator has a lien upon the total
23 proceeds of any recovery from some person other than 24 the employer, whether the proceeds of such recovery are 25 by way of judgment, settlement or otherwise. The 26 injured employee, or in the case of his or her death the 27 dependents of the employee, are not entitled to double
28 recovery for the same injury...

(Emphasis added).

16 The future offset identified in subsection (2) can be asserted against the 17 entirety of a Claimant's settlement, including a pain and suffering award, pursuant 18 to Breen v. Caesars Palace, 715 P.2d 1070, 102 Nev. 79 (1986).

21 The language of the NRS 616C.215 is clear that all future workers'
22 compensation benefits must be reduced by the amount of money a claimant
23 receives from a third-party settlement. Until the point at which Appellant has 24 accumulated $34,631.51 in benefit entitlement associated with his worker's
25 compensation injuries, incurred since his third-party settlement, Appellant cannot 26 receive any payments under the workers' compensation system.

1 Appellant's position is that he simply must exhaust his settlement proceeds
2 on his living expenses, food, and home loans rather than exhausting the $34,631.51
3 solely on expenses related to his industrial injury. The notion is not supported by 4 any case law in the Ninth Circuit.

6 In Tobin v. The Dept. of Labor and Industries, 145 Wn. App. 607, 613, 187
7 P.3d 780, 783 (Wn. Ct. App. 2008), the Washington Court of Appeals held that 8 where the remaining balance of a settlement is paid to an employee, "the employee
9 or beneficiary is not entitled to receive additional workers' compensation benefits
10 until the additional benefits equal the remaining balance of the recovery paid to the 11 employee or beneficiary." (Emphasis added).
12

14 The policy underlying future credits is that they shift responsibility for 15 compensating injured employees from the no-fault employer to those who are 16 legally and factually liable for the injury. See, Id. The Court clarified that the 17 claimant cannot be paid compensation and damages by the employer and "yet
18 retain the portion of damages which would include those same elements." See, Id.
20

21 In Associated Steel Workers, Ltd. v. Mullen, 2005 Haw. LEXIS 46 (Sup. Ct.
22 Haw. 2005), the Hawaii Supreme Court held that the claimant's receipt of the 23 remainder of the settlement was "subject to the requirement that [the claimant] 24 first exhaust all necessary future workers' compensation payments from that 25 remainder prior to requesting future compensatory payments from the 26
27
28

1 [insurer]...for the compensable injuries arising out of the same accident.”

2 (Emphasis added).

4 The Arizona Court of Appeals, in Polito v. Industrial Commission of 5 Arizona, 171 Ariz. 46, 47, 828 P.2d 182, 183 (Ariz. Ct. App. 1992), held that a
6 workers’ compensation carrier is only responsible for paying the deficiency
7 between the amount actually collected by the claimant from a third-party
8 settlement and any medical benefits which are due under the industrial insurance
9 statutes.
10

11
12 California is also in agreement, holding the following: “after payment of the 13 employer’s [or the insurance carrier’s] lien, [it] shall be relieved from the 14 obligation to pay further compensation to or on behalf of the employee...up to the 15 amount of the balance of the judgment, if satisfied, without any deduction.” See 16 Dodds v. Stellar, 30 Cal 2d 496, 505, 183 P.2d 658, 664 (1947). (Emphasis 17 added).
18

19
20 Similarly, in Employers Ins. Co of Nevada v. Chandler, 23 P.3d 255, 117
21 Nev. 421(2001), the Nevada Supreme Court did not allow the claimant to simply 22 present evidence that he had spent his settlement proceeds on whatever he felt like 23 spending it on. Rather, the Court held that the claimant could not undergo medical 24 treatment within the workers’ compensation system until he had spent his entire 25 third-party settlement on industrially-related expenditures.
26
27
28

1 The entire point of the future offset provision is to prevent a double
2 recovery. Double recovery means allowing an injured worker to be paid for his
3 injury by a third party and also recover the same amount from the worker's
4 compensation insurer.

6 In the present case, Appellant received in excess of $34,000.00 from the 7 third party to compensate him for the injury he sustained in the car accident which 8 occurred at work. Although that money may be "gone," it is undisputed that it was 9 not entirely spent on medical care, disability benefits, or any other accident benefit
10 that would have been covered under his worker's compensation claim. Rather,
11 Appellant used it to pay his bills and support his family. He now argues that since 12 the money is exhausted, he is entitled to receive accident benefits under his 13 worker's compensation claim. This is the definition of a double recovery.
14
15
16

17 Appellant wants to be paid benefits under his workers' compensation claim 18 when he did not use the $34,631.51 on benefits that would be covered under his 19 workers' compensation claim. Obviously, if an individual is provided with 20 medical care under a worker's compensation claim, that individual is not going to 21 pay the same doctor for the bills paid under the worker's compensation claim.
22 That would be double payment.
23
24

25 Double recovery is when an individual is provided money for the accident
26 benefits and then asks that the same accident benefits be paid under the worker's
27
28

1 compensation claim (i.e. the worker gets the money for the accident benefits and
2 asks the worker's compensation carrier to pay for the accident benefits – double
3 recovery). That is exactly what Appellant is asking this Court to order and exactly
4 what every Court mentioned above has rejected.

6 The money received from the third-party tortfeasor was compensation for 7 Appellant's medical expenses and disability status (accident benefits), both of 8 which were the responsibility of the wrongdoer, not the workers' compensation
9 insurer. The money was not intended to be used to pay for a home loan or other
10 voluntary purchases. Appellant cannot accept disability payments from the third-
11 party tortfeasor and also accept them from the workers' compensation insurer.
12 This is double recovery.
13

15 The idea that Appellant "spent the money" equates to exhaustion of the 16 offset under NRS 616C.215 is not supported by law. There would be no purpose 17 in having the offset if all an injured worker had to prove was that they 'spent' the 18 money. The money must be used on items/treatment or accident benefits that 19 would be covered under the workers' compensation claim. Any other
20 interpretation of this law makes no logical sense.
21
22
23

24 Furthermore, even assuming arguendo that the merits of the reopening could 25 be reached, Appellant has not met his burden of proof to prove reopening. He has 26 a letter from his counsel and some old doctor letters from 2009 and 2010. The 27
28

1 letter from counsel purports of subjective complaints of pain. This falls well below
2 the Appellant's legal burden of proof.

4 Appellant's own assertions prove that he cannot prevail. He admits that he
5 recovered in excess of $34,000.00 in his third-party settlement. He claims that he
6 has spent $14,000.00 in medical treatment relating to his industrial accident. First,
7 this is not enough. He has to show that he spent ALL of the money he got in the 8 third-party case and he has to prove that he spent it on medical treatment that 9 Respondent Insurer would otherwise be liable for.

10
11 Secondly, he has to show that he spent this money AFTER he got it.
12
13 Appellant's assertion that he is going to need a surgery in the future does NOT
14 meet the requirement because he has not spent that money yet.

15
16 Finally, the bills that Appellant did produce to this court are almost 17 exclusively for services incurred BEFORE the third-party settlement. These 18 monies are not considered for the offset. The letter to Appellant regarding his 19 settlement is dated September 25, 2009. Thus, any medical bill incurred BEFORE
20 this date does not count for the offset. The bills prior to settlement were negotiated
21 and known to his personal injury lawyers. The offset requires that the money was 22 spent AFTER the settlement.

24
25 Additionally, we must remember the procedural posture in this case, as it is 26 telling. This Appellant previously appealed the denial of reopening of his claim in 27
28

1 2011. On March 7, 2011, the Hearing Officer properly denied the request for
2 reopening. (App. at 107-111).

4 Appellant appealed and lost that appeal. The present request for reopening
5 was based on the same old medical evidence that was insufficient in the last 6 attempt to reopen. On May 17, 2011, the prior Appeals Officer GRANTED the
8 Insurer's Motion for Summary Judgment due to Appellant's failure to prove
9 that reopening was warranted. (App. at 131-132).

10 In this attempt to reopen, Appellant is relying on Dr. Khanka's report
11 from October 22, 2010. This evidence has already been deemed insufficient
12 by a prior Appeal Officer. Appellant needs a medical report that is at least newer
13 than the last summary judgment order filed against him denying reopening.
14

16 The Affidavit filed by Appellant opposing the Motion for Summary
17 Judgment supports Respondents' position. It proves that Appellant has not 18 exhausted his third-party proceeds on medical treatment associated with this claim.
19

20 All of the foregoing is the substantial evidence used to rule in Respondents'
21 favor in this case. The Appeals Officer reviewed the entirety of the record before
22 her. She listened to testimony and argument during the lengthy appeal hearing.
23 While the Appeals Officer ruled by Order, instead of by Decision and Order, that 24 does not change the fact that her ruling to deny reopening is correct. Appellant is 25 upset because the Appeals Officer ruled against him.
26
27
28

1 Appellant is asking this court to re-weigh the facts, which may not be done
2 now. The Appeals Officer applied all the laws correctly. Therefore, the facts and
3 the law support the denial of Appellant's appeal. North Las Vegas v. Public
4 Service Common, 83 Nev. 278, 291, 429 P.2d 66 (1967); McCracken v. Fancy, 98
5 Nev. 30, 639 P.2d 552 (1982).

8 V.

9 CONCLUSION

10 Based upon the foregoing, Respondents respectfully contend that the 11 Appeals Officer's Order contained no error of law, and that her decision was 12 supported by undisputed credible and substantial evidence as well as binding case 13 law.
