ATTORNEY FOR WASHOE COUNTY

IN THE SECOND JUDICIAL DISTRICT COURT OF THE STATE OF NEVADA

IN AND FOR THE COUNTY OF WASHOE

*** * ***

JOHN AND MELISSA FRITZ,

Plaintiffs,

vs. Case No. CV13-00756

WASHOE COUNTY, Dept. No. 1

Defendant.

DEFENDANT'S REPLY TO THE MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

Defendant WASHOE COUNTY, by and through its attorneys of record, Christopher J. Hicks, Washoe County District Attorney, and Michael W. Large, Deputy District Attorney, hereby files this Reply in Support of its Motion for Summary Judgment. This reply is made and based upon the attached Points and Authorities, and all pleading, papers and exhibits on file. Plaintiffs' Opposition ignores two factual certainties which defeat their case: (1) no taking by Washoe County of Plaintiffs' property ever occurred, and (2) their claim is clearly time barred.

POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

1) Washoe County has taken no action against Plaintiffs' property that constitutes a taking by inverse condemnation.

Plaintiffs claim for inverse condemnation must be dismissed because Washoe County did not take any direct action that is sufficient to establish a causal connection to the alleged damage of Plaintiffs' property; and there is no evidence that a constitutional taking ever occurred. Plaintiffs seek to analogize this case to the Clark County v. Powers, 96 Nev. 497, 611 P.2d. 1072 (1980). As this Court has already recognized, Washoe County's conduct and lack of involvement "in the development of the subdivision at issue is distinguishable from Clark County's extensive involvement in Powers. (Dkt. #___ at 7).

In Powers, the land at an intersection was filled, leveled, graded, compacted and paved, the City elevated a street and other surrounding land, drainage facilities were constructed, and the road was specifically designed to divert and channel waters onto the properties in question. Powers, 96 Nev. at 500-01 611 P.2d. at 1074. Additionally, Clark County entered onto one of the properties, without authorization, and constructed a concrete and rock berm. Id.

The actions of Clark County in Powers are readily distinguishable from those in the present case. Washoe County did not design, engineer or construct anything that resulted in water being diverted onto Plaintiffs' property. Likewise, Washoe County did not enter onto Plaintiffs' property and perform any construction. The only actions that Washoe County is accused of performing that affect Plaintiffs' parcel are purely tangential. Washoe County approved the final maps of the Lancer Estates and Monte Rosa Estate subdivisions and required that those subdivisions comply with statute, local building codes, and Nevada's master planning system. These activities were not directed at Plaintiffs' property and did not result in the "taking" of Plaintiffs' property.[1]

Based upon Plaintiffs' theory of liability, every local or state government that requires compliance with state statute and building code is "intimately and substantially involved" in all developments within its boundaries. This interpretation would create seemingly endless liability for local governments for approval of building projects and, as a result, would thwart approval of development and increase costs of development exponentially. As a policy matter, this Court would be adopting a dangerous precedent were it to allow such a theory of liability.

[1] In fact, the bulk of the alleged actions predate Plaintiffs' ownership of the parcel in question.

2) Plaintiffs have not shown a physical invasion of flood waters or resulting substantial injury

"Nevada law requires a plaintiff in a takings action involving the drainage of surface waters to show both a physical invasion of flood waters and resulting substantial injury." Buzz Stew, LLC v. City of N. Las Vegas, ___ Nev. ___, 341 P.3d 646, 650 (2015) citing Cnty. of Clark v. Powers, 497 Nev. at 501 n. 3, 504, 611 P.2d at 1075 n. 3, 1076 (1980). Despite their protestations, Plaintiffs have shown neither.

In Buzz Stew II, the Nevada Supreme Court rejected a similar argument to Plaintiffs. 341 P.3d 646. Therein, plaintiff asserted a takings claim based upon the "eventual construction of a drainage system on the property or by [a] prior water invasion." Id. at 648. In regard to the physical invasion and substantial injury to plaintiffs, the Nevada Supreme Court recognized:

> Although Buzz Stew presented evidence that during a 100–year flood event water may pool on one corner of the property, the evidence did not demonstrate that any pooling had occurred while Buzz Stew owned the property or that Buzz Stew suffered any substantial injury from any water diversion.

Id.

The Powers case further illustrates the "substantial injury" component of the takings analysis. In Powers, the district court found that Clark County "had taken the Powers parcel in its entirety; the property no longer had a practical use other than as a flood channel." Powers, 497 Nev. at 501, 611 P.2d at 1075. The district court also found that the ".247 acres of the Lowe parcel, used by the County to construct a concrete berm, had been taken, and awarded just compensation." Id. at 502, 611 P.2d at 1075. In this case, Plaintiffs have not shown a physical invasion of flood waters or substantial injury.

The Powers case is distinguishable for a second clear reason. The Powers decision was based upon theories of nuisance, trespass, and inverse condemnation. "[T]he trial court, employing the reasonable use rule as applied to drainage of surface waters, concluded that [Clark County] had unreasonably injured respondents' lands; the court made an appropriate award of damages based on nuisance and trespass claims." Powers 96 Nev. at 501, 611 P.2d at 1075. Of critical importance to the current case, the plaintiffs in Powers decision were compensated for injury to their property based upon the tort theories of nuisance and trespass. Id. Both of those causes of action have been dismissed in the present case. The inverse condemnation damages were only available for the Powers parcel and a portion of the Lowe parcel which were deemed to no longer have any practical use. Id.

The facts of this case justify summary judgment being granted on behalf of Washoe County. The alleged flooding of Plaintiffs property has not resulted in substantial injury. During his deposition, Mr. Fritz stated that he was able to clean up whatever damage to flooding caused to his property. (Ex. 1 at 40-41). There was no injury to walls or floor of his garage which he claims was flooded. (Id.). The only injury was an alleged $3,000 to $4,000 of personal property that was ruined due to the flooding in 2005. (Id.). The injury that Plaintiffs' claim does not constitute "substantial injury." The destruction of personal property may be compensable through tort, but it does not constitute a basis for "substantial injury."

The only other injury that Plaintiffs' assert is that in 2002, "John Fritz was able to easily walk across Whites Creek No. 4" but since that time it "has increased significantly in size and depth." (Opp. at 2). The alleged erosion of Whites Creek No. 4 has not substantially injured Plaintiffs' parcel. The property still has practical use, as it continues to be rented and occupied. Plaintiffs have rented out the Bihler Road property from 2002 through the present. Based upon the testimony of John Fritz, Plaintiffs have received monthly rental rates between $800 and $1,300 for the property. (Ex. 1)(Deposition of John Fritz at 9-13).

3) Plaintiffs claim for inverse condemnation is time barred.

To determine when a limitations period commences, we look at the day the cause of action accrued. Clark v. Robison, 113 Nev. 949, 951, 944 P.2d 788, 789 (1997). "[A] cause of action accrues when the wrong occurs and a party sustains injuries for which relief could be sought." Petersen v. Bruen, 106 Nev. 271, 274, 792 P.2d 18, 20 (1990). In McCarran

International Airport v. Sisolak, 122 Nev. 645, 137 P.3d 1110 (2006), the plaintiff brought an inverse condemnation action against Clark County and McCarran International Airport, arguing that Ordinance 1221 and Ordinance 1599 effectuated a per se regulatory taking of the airspace above his property, in violation of the United States and Nevada Constitutions. Id. at 654, 137 P.3d at 1116. On appeal, the Nevada Supreme Court concluded that the ordinances effectuated a per se regulatory taking because they "authorize[d] the permanent physical invasion of ... airspace" by aircraft and "compel[led] landowner acquiescence" to that invasion. Id. at 666, 137 P.3d at 1124. The Supreme Court of Nevada in Sisolak held that the taking occurred on the date that Ordinance 1221 was adopted and not upon the actual physical invasion of the airspace. Id. Under Sisolak, the enactment of Ordinance 1221 in itself effectuated the taking.

Under Nevada law, a takings claims lie only with the party who owned the property at the time the taking occurred. See Argier v. Nevada Power Co., 114 Nev. 137, 139, 952 P.2d 1390, 1391 (1998)(emphasis added). Plaintiffs did not own the subject parcel to 2001 and therefore bought the property subject to any existing developments and regulations that pre-dated that purchase. Plaintiffs cannot now sue for a takings claim which occurred prior to their ownership of the property.

Plaintiffs argue that it has standing to sue on the development of Lancer Estates because the damage to their property occurred, not when the parcel was developed, but cumulatively and gradually over time. This argument is baseless. Once again, Plaintiffs are confusing damages brought under "takings" jurisprudence and tort based actions. The taking, if any, occurred when the Lancer Estates development was completed which occurred prior to 2001. The alleged gradual erosion may be compensable on a theory of nuisance but does not constitute a taking of property that extinguishes the property's practical use or renders it valueless.

Plaintiffs are again asking this Court to adopt a dangerous precedent that would allow condemnation cases to proceed years or decades after the County's regulatory decision making process occurred.

II. CONCLUSION

For the reasons presented to this Court in the Motion and this Reply, summary judgment should be granted to Washoe County.

DEPOSITION OF JOHN FRITZ

Thursday, August 28, 2014

Reno, Nevada

Reported By: PEGGY B. HOOGS, CCR #160, RDR, CRR
CALIFORNIA CSR #5958

Q Did you ask anybody on the Dupuis side whether or not -- or du-PWI -- about the flooding?
A No.
Q Have you lived in any area that had a floodplain before?
A You know, I can't say that I have. I have never had flood issues anywhere. I'm not saying that -- I've owned a lot of property, and so I don't know who was in the floodplain and who wasn't, so I'd have to say at this time I'm guessing that I have not.
Q Okay. So you knew there was a floodplain designated in that area?
A Uh-huh.
Q Knowing that, did that affect your decision one way or the other on purchasing this parcel?
A No. My thoughts at the time is that there would be a responsible party overseeing the development of all the adjoining subdivisions. I never guessed in a million years that they would have blatantly disregarded all my property rights and just dumped their water on my property.
Q We'll get to all that. I just was wondering what was in your mind in 2001.
Okay. Now, on Bihler Road we have -- Jason was the first occupant besides you temporarily.

Did he pay rent to you?
A Yes.
Q How much did he pay?
A I don't know. 8-, 900. I'm not sure.
Q Something in that neighborhood?
A Somewhere.
Q And the next person after Jason? From your Answers to Interrogatories, it sounded like he lived there till about sometime in 2007.
Does that sound accurate?
A Yes.
Q And then who lived in the house after that?
A I believe Chris Fritz, my other son.
Q Allison Power?
A I know he lived there. I'm not sure if it was before or after Chris. He was after Chris, so it was Chris next. I have several rental properties.
Q Mr. Fritz, on your answer to Interrogatory No. 9, you list Jason from 2002 through 2007; Allison, August '07 to May '08; Chris Fritz from '08 to June '09.
Is that accurate?
A I believe it is, but I'm not 100 percent sure.
Q Let's assume that that is accurate, that at some time Allison Power lived there.

What rent did you charge that person?

A I believe it was 1300.

Q Did he think that was a fair rental value?

A At first. Then when we started having issues where he couldn't use the southern half of the property, he was beginning to moan and groan about it.

Q So let me ask you this, then.

Allison, that's a gentleman or a lady?

A Allison was a lady.

Q Okay. What did they want to use the southern half of the property for?

A Store their RVs.

Q Okay. So after August 7th it's your recollection Allison Power complained to you about flooding on the property?

A He didn't complain. It was just discussed. He wanted -- he had another trailer or two he wanted to pull in there. I said no because it all floods.

Q Did Allison Power, between August '07 and May '08, complain to you about flooding on the property?

A No.

Q Just correct me if this characterization is inaccurate.

You advised him that there might be flooding or there could be flooding; that was the discussion?

A I told him -- the discussion was that it had flooded real bad in 2005 and it would not be safe for him to park his equipment down there.

Q When did that discussion take place to the best of your recollection?

A During the time that he lived there. I don't know. I didn't keep a record of conversations like that.

Q Okay. Then in June of '08 Chris Fritz moved in, and Chris is who?

A My son.

Q Does Chris have a family?

A He's married. No kids.

Q And was he married in June of '08?

A No.

Q So he was a single man living in that house?

A Yes.

Q And did he pay rent?

A Yes.

Q And how much?

A I'm guessing 8-, 900.

Q Wouldn't want to charge him more than you charged Jason, would you?

A I was lucky to get whatever I could get.

Q All right. After Chris moved out -- correct me if I'm wrong -- June of '09 -- that's what your Interrogatory No. 9 answer says -- is it accurate that Jessica Paul moved in?

A Yes.

Q And how much rent did she pay?

A I believe she paid 1300.

Q And did she have any issues with the use of the property like Allison did?

A Again, they wanted to use the southern half, and I said no, we needed to leave it wide open so the current could come through unobstructed, so it wouldn't be re- -- diverted over to the houses.

Q Did Jessica Paul, between June '09 and November 2011, ever complain to you about flooding on the property?

A No.

Q And let me ask you that same question about your son Chris.

From June '08 through June '09, did he ever complain to you about flooding on the property?

A No.

Q Now, after Jessica left as your tenant in November 2011, do you remember the next tenant?

A Would have been Jim Bedlam.

Q And he is your current tenant; correct?

A Yes.

other time that I know of.
Q After December of 2005?
A I believe it was before that.
Q Before? So --
A I'm not sure.
Q -- it would be while your son Jason was living there?
A Yes.
Q Okay. The impression I've gotten -- and correct me if I'm wrong -- is that you were able to clean up whatever damage there was yourself.
A Yes.
Q And so there's no bills or anything like that to reflect what you spent to make those repairs?
A No.
Q Was it a lot? Can you give me an estimate as to --
A I would say it was probably 3- or 4,000 because what it was was was leftover material from different job sites that was being stored in there that had to be dry-stored, and it was all ruined.
Q So it was personal property that was in this building?
A Yes.
Q It sounds like you didn't have to replace any walls or anything like that?

A No.
Q The floor was okay?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Do you ever get any water coming from your neighbor directly across Bihler Road, from his property?
A Like I said earlier, Bihler Road goes downhill from Lancer Estates all the way across my property, so that water comes down by the road and then washes easterly across my property.
Q Did you yourself ever do any of the excavation work on your property?
A Yes.
Q Generally, can you describe what you did?
A I graded -- well, initially I graded the pad for the house and the two garages. Then I got permits.
I'm sure you know the story. Washoe County apologized for giving me the wrong plans, and then they re-sent it. But I graded all of this area here so that it was clear and plain, so the water, the floodwaters -- if they wouldn't let me put the ditch in, at least the floodwaters could go through without any obstacle to divert it over into my garage.
Q I'm going to hand you a red dry erase marker,

Re: Roadway Surface Drainage on SR-431

Dear Mr. Price:

The department is requesting the assistance of Washoe County in correcting a drainage problem on the north side of SR-431 (Mount Rose Highway) between Telluride Dr. and Sundance Dr..

During discussions in April of 1993 it was decided between the department and Washoe County that all flows between Telluride Dr. and Sundance Dr. exceeding 10 cfs would be conveyed northerly through the Lancer Estates property. Currently, there is a large berm constructed on the Lancer Estates property that prevents all roadway surface drainage from the highway to flow northerly as agreed. Meetings between the department, Washoe County and McMillan Homes has not brought a resolution to this problem. We are asking that Washoe County direct McMillan Homes to construct facilities that will convey all drainage above the 10 cfs across their property per the April 1993 discussions.

Please contact me at 688-1250 to discuss correcting this problem.

Sincerely,

George E. Jordy, P.E.
