1 Q. Did you remove that bolus of food?

2 A. Yes.

3 Q. Did you have any difficulty doing so?

4 A. It was a little tricky just because

5 we were trying to accommodate the family's wishes

6 for no autopsy.

7 Normally, if I had done a full

8 autopsy, we would have extracted the neck organs out

9 and I could have simply opened up the entire airway

10 and taken the food bolus out that way, but in this

11 case, we had to get a little creative and basically

12 perform a procedure similar to an intubation that,

13 say, a paramedic would use to try to assess

It was not enough to let Harvey choke to death on their bus are to consider only the evidence in the case in reaching a verdict, you must bring to the consideration of the evidence your everyday common sense and judgment as reasonable men and women. Thus, you are not limited solely to what you see and hear as the witnesses testify. You may draw reasonable inferences from the evidence which you feel are justified in the light of common experience, keeping in mind that such inferences should not be based on speculation or guess.

First Transit is Negligent

Jack and Elaine have met their burden on this issue

Let's talk about Negligence . . .

Who has to prove what?

Inst. #'s 27 & 28
Same thing

The plaintiff has the burden to prove that the plaintiff sustained damage, that the defendant was negligent, and that such negligence was a proximate cause of the damage sustained by the plaintiff.

The defendant has the burden of proving, as an affirmative defense, that some contributory negligence on the part of the plaintiff themselves, was a proximate cause of any damage plaintiff may have sustained.

INSTRUCTIONS No. 28

The plaintiff has the burden to prove the defendant caused damage. The defendant, who alleges, did not exercise due care or negligence in a proximate cause of the damage sustained by the plaintiff.

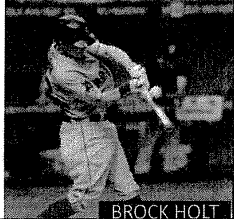

The defendant has the burden of proving, as an affirmative defense, that some contributory negligence on the part of the plaintiff themselves, was a proximate cause of any damage plaintiff may have sustained.

The Law Treats Jack & Elaine Differently than First Transit

Vs.

BROCK HOLT

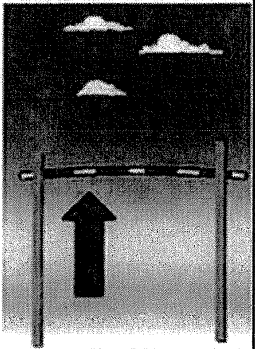

Were Jack & Elaine Negligent? NO.

INSTRUCTIONS No. 26

Negligence is the failure to exercise that degree of care which an ordinarily careful and prudent person would exercise under the same or similar circumstances. Ordinary care is that care which a person of ordinary prudence exercise in the management of their own affairs in order to avoid injury to themselves or to others. You will note that the person whose conduct we set up as a standard is not the ordinarily cautious individual, not the exceptionally skillful one, but a person of reasonable and ordinary prudence. While exceptional skill is to be administered and encouraged, the law does not demand it as a general standard of conduct.

The Law EXPECTS even MORE of Common Carriers

First Transit

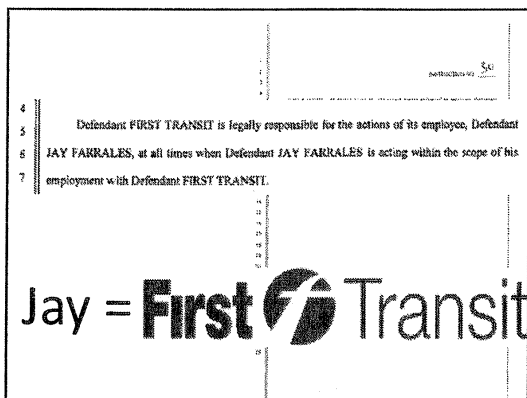

INSTRUCTIONS No. 32

At the time of the occurrence in question, the Defendant FIRST TRANSIT was a common carrier. A common carrier has a duty to its passengers to use the highest degree of care consistent with the mode of conveyance used and the practical operation of its business as a common carrier by passenger bus. Its failure to fulfill this duty is negligence.

First Aid Choking

Choking can become serious if you don't act quickly, and knowing what to do is vital. Most choking involves food that falls to the back of the throat resulting in a muscular spasm (gagging). This results in the person trying to cough and breathe.

if the airway becomes blocked by a large piece of food or some other object, the person will find it difficult to speak or breathe.

How to treat choking:

- Start by encouraging the person to cough. Do this in a reassuring manner and try not to panic.
- If this doesn't work, get the person to lean forward, support their chest with one hand and with the other, give them up to five blows on the back, between the shoulder blades. It's important that these blows are quite firm because you're attempting to create a vibration in the chest, which will hopefully move the object. Some people are concerned about hurting the person but the risk of doing this is very slim. Back blows sometimes don't work is because they have not been delivered with enough force.
- After you have given the five back blows, check inside the mouth in case the object has come up into the mouth and you haven't noticed or the person has not been able to tell you.
- If the five back blows don't work, try a procedure known as the abdominal thrust or Heimlich maneuver.

How to do abdominal thrusts (Heimlich maneuver):

- Stand behind the person who is choking.
- Put your arms around their stomach.
- Make a fist and grab your fist with your other hand.
- Position the fist on the abdomen, just above the navel.
- Pull inward and upward up to five times.
- Again check in the mouth to see if the object has become dislodged.

If the obstruction does not clear after three cycles of back blows and abdominal thrusts, call 9-1-1

If at any stage the person becomes unconscious, you must start CPR.

Defendants First Transit, Inc. and Jay Farrales seek to establish that Plaintiffs Jack and Elaine Chernikoff were contributorily negligent.

Contributory negligence is negligence on the part of Plaintiffs Jack and Elaine Chernikoff which, cooperating to some degree with negligence of another, helps in proximately causing decedent Harvey Chernikoff's death.

Plaintiffs Jack and Elaine Chernikoff may not recover damages if their contributory negligence contributed more to decedent Harvey Chernikoff's death than the negligence of the Defendants First Transit, Inc. and Jay Farrales. However, if Plaintiffs Jack and Elaine Chernikoff were negligent, the Plaintiffs may still recover a reduced sum, so long as their contributory negligence was not greater than the negligence of Defendants First Transit, Inc. and Jay Farrales.

From the desk of Brad Thomas, President

I saw your shop profiled on CNN this morning. I admire your mission to create beautiful art out of what would otherwise become trash. However, I must take exception to one item that I saw in the TV piece: typewriter key jewelry.

You may not be aware that the majority of typewriters being cut up for jewelry are perfectly good. Far from unrepairable, most simply need a good cleaning or an easily replaced carbide. Out of ignorance on the key-cutter's part, some of the destroyed typewriters are scarce and highly valuable on the collectors' market.

Reversely, it has become more profitable to dump 90% of a typewriter in the trash than to sell it as a complete, working unit to someone who would actually use it. Imagine the tons of de-capped typewriters sitting in landfills that could have been used by some student or collector or nostalgic writer. Selling typewriter key jewelry seems to be in contradiction to your Web site's statement: "along the way, we hope to make some impact on the amount of useful material buried in our landfills recent years there has been a resurgence of typewriter interest.

Brad Thomas, President

COURT'S TRIAL EXHIBIT 6

Chernikoff v. First Transit,
Inc. and Jay Farrales

Court's Exhibit
6
A682726
2-19-16

How the Paratransit works...

Paratransit is part of the public bus system that must comply with provisions of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) by providing transportation options for disabled passengers.

RTC contracted with First Transit to provide paratransit services in Las Vegas.

RTC determined passenger eligibility thru interview process. RTC informed First Transit of eligibility & one letter code identifying disability.

Passengers scheduled trips thru RTC. First Transit operated and maintained the buses, and hired and trained the drivers.

WHAT DOES THE VIDEO SHOW?

- 7:57:42 – 7:59:28 Harvey eats a sandwich
- 7:59:36 Harvey puts his lunchbox aside
- 7:59:58 – 8:00:29 Jay helps other passenger off of the bus
- 8:00:30 Harvey starts to lean towards center aisle
- 8:00:38 Jay gets back on the bus
- 8:01:11 Harvey is slumped over into aisle
- 8:01:15 Jay resumes operation of the bus

CHOKING SIGNS AND SYMPTOMS

- Gagging
- Attempts to cough/
weak coughing
- Clutching the throat
- Shifting/unusual
movements

No Signs of Choking

1. No gagging or coughing
2. No clutching the throat
3. No movements to indicate a problem
4. No visible food in the area

First Aid Training Was Not Required

- Not required by federal regulations
- Not required by Nevada regulations
- Not required by Clark County regulations
- Not required by ADA
- Not required by contract between RTC & First Transit
- Not required by CBA
- Not taught in Las Vegas market

What do the experts say?

Would the Heimlich Maneuver or CPR have saved Harvey's life?

- 1) The Heimlich Maneuver
 - No evidence of choking.
 - Not the right treatment for an unconscious person.
 - Would not have expelled the sandwich from Harvey's airway.
- 2) CPR
 - Jay would not have been able to identify or remove sandwich lodged in Harvey's airway.
 - CPR would have been insufficient to save Harvey while awaiting CCFD.
- 3) Other possible causes of death
 - No autopsy – external examination only
 - Without autopsy, impossible to rule out other causes of death
 - Death more consistent with heart attack

The jury is instructed that the law requires a common carrier of passengers to exercise the highest practicable degree of care that the human judgment and foresight are capable of, to make its passenger's journey safe. Whoever engages in the business of a common carrier impliedly promises that its passengers shall have this degree of care. Failure to do this is negligence.

See Sherman v. Southern Pac. Co., 111 P.416 (Nev. 1910); see also Forrester v. Southern Pac. Co., 134 P.753 (Nev. 1913).

SMALL EMPLOYER

SECTION 1 - PURPOSE AND SCOPE
This CBA applies to all employees of First Transit, Inc. who are employed in the State of New York and who are not represented by another collective bargaining agreement.

SECTION 2 - DEFINITIONS
As used in this CBA, the following definitions shall apply: "Company" shall mean First Transit, Inc. and its subsidiaries, including First Transit Services, Inc. and First Transit Operations, Inc. "Employee" shall mean any individual employed by the Company who is not represented by another collective bargaining agreement.

SECTION 3 - Attendance at scheduled Safety Meetings is mandatory, unless specifically excused by the Company. An employee who does not attend all scheduled Safety Meetings shall be charged with an attendance occurrence for each one missed without specific approval by the Company. Any safety meeting attendance record must be made up by the employee prior to the date of the next scheduled safety meeting. For every four (4) consecutive safety meetings attended, the employee will have an attendance occurrence removed from his/her attendance record. If an employee satisfies seven (7) attendance violations (See Attendance, Article 32) he/she will not be eligible for this benefit. All safety meeting attendees will be paid the greater of one (1) hour of pay or actual time of the meeting.

As used in this CBA, the following definitions shall apply: "Company" shall mean First Transit, Inc. and its subsidiaries, including First Transit Services, Inc. and First Transit Operations, Inc. "Employee" shall mean any individual employed by the Company who is not represented by another collective bargaining agreement.

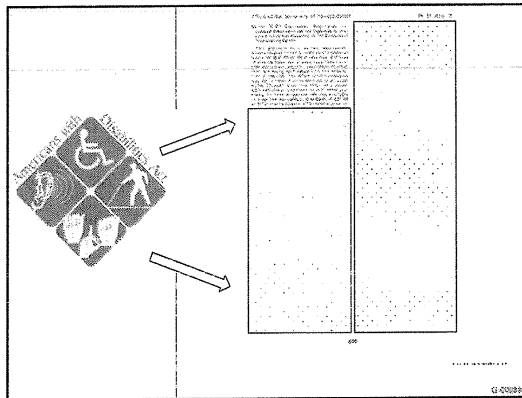

SECTION 6 - All employees will receive a copy of the Company's Employee Handbook, and any new changed rules as issued by the Company from time to time.

CBA 03/10

Did the Union (CBA) tell First Transit: Hey ... ignore your own policy....

Section 37.173 Training

A well-trained workforce is essential in ensuring that the accessibility-related equipment and accommodations required by the ADA actually result in the delivery of good transportation service to individuals with disabilities. The utility of training was recognized.

Second, training must be to proficiency. The Department is not requiring a specific course of training or the submission of a training plan for DOT approval. However, every employee of a transportation provider who is involved with service to persons with disabilities must have been trained so that he or she knows what needs to be done to provide the service in the right way. When it comes to providing service to individuals with disabilities, ignorance is no excuse for failure.

Ignorance is no excuse for failure...

he or she knows what needs to be done to provide the service in the right way. When it comes to providing service to individuals with disabilities, ignorance is no excuse for failure.

employees are trained to proficiency. An employee who has forgotten what he was told in past training sessions, so that he or she does not know what needs to be done to serve individuals with disabilities, does not meet the standard of being trained to proficiency.

None of these entities said we had to follow our Employee Handbook and teach page 70:
