1	WILLIAM B. TERRY, ESQ. Nevada State Bar No. 001028
2	WILLIAM B. TERRY, CHARTERED
3	530 South Seventh Street Las Vegas, Nevada 89101
4	(702) 385-0799 (702) 385-9788 - Fax Electronically Filed
5	Info@WilliamTerryLaw.com Attorney for Real Party in Interest Elizabeth A. Brown Clerk of Supreme Court
6
7	IN THE SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF NEVADA
8	CITY OF HENDERSON,) No. 70500 Petitioner,)
9	vs.) THE EIGHTH JUDICIAL DISTRICT)
10	COURT OF THE STATE OF NEVADA,) IN AND FOR THE COUNTY OF CLARK;)
11	AND THE HONORABLE KATHLEEN E.) DELANEY, DISTRICT JUDGE,
12	Respondents,)
13	and GIANO AMADO, A/K/A BRANDON
14	WELCH, Real Party in Interest.
15	OPPOSITION TO THE PETITION FOR WRIT OF MANDAMUS
16
16 17	COMES NOW, the Real Party in Interest, GIANO AMADO a/k/a BRANDON WELCH, and
	COMES NOW, the Real Party in Interest, GIANO AMADO a/k/a BRANDON WELCH, and files the instant Opposition to the Petition for Writ of Mandamus. The instant answer is filed
17	COMES NOW, the Real Party in Interest, GIANO AMADO a/k/a BRANDON WELCH, and files the instant Opposition to the Petition for Writ of Mandamus. The instant answer is filed pursuant to this Honorable Court's order of September 21, 2016, directing the Real Party in Interest
17 18 19	COMES NOW, the Real Party in Interest, GIANO AMADO a/k/a BRANDON WELCH, and files the instant Opposition to the Petition for Writ of Mandamus. The instant answer is filed pursuant to this Honorable Court's order of September 21, 2016, directing the Real Party in Interest to file an answer to the Petition for Writ of Mandamus.
17 18 19 20	COMES NOW, the Real Party in Interest, GIANO AMADO a/k/a BRANDON WELCH, and files the instant Opposition to the Petition for Writ of Mandamus. The instant answer is filed pursuant to this Honorable Court's order of September 21, 2016, directing the Real Party in Interest
17 18 19 20 21	COMES NOW, the Real Party in Interest, GIANO AMADO a/k/a BRANDON WELCH, and files the instant Opposition to the Petition for Writ of Mandamus. The instant answer is filed pursuant to this Honorable Court's order of September 21, 2016, directing the Real Party in Interest to file an answer to the Petition for Writ of Mandamus. WILLIAM B. TERRY, CHARTERED
17 18 19 20 21 22	COMES NOW, the Real Party in Interest, GIANO AMADO a/k/a BRANDON WELCH, and files the instant Opposition to the Petition for Writ of Mandamus. The instant answer is filed pursuant to this Honorable Court's order of September 21, 2016, directing the Real Party in Interest to file an answer to the Petition for Writ of Mandamus. WILLIAM B. TERRY, CHARTERED WILLIAM B. TERRY, ESO. Nevada Bar No. 001028
17 18 19 20 21 22 23	COMES NOW, the Real Party in Interest, GIANO AMADO a/k/a BRANDON WELCH, and files the instant Opposition to the Petition for Writ of Mandamus. The instant answer is filed pursuant to this Honorable Court's order of September 21, 2016, directing the Real Party in Interest to file an answer to the Petition for Writ of Mandamus. WILLIAM B. TERRY, CHARTERED WILLIAM B. TERRY, ESQ. Nevada Bar No. 001028 WILLIAM B. TERRY, CHARTERED
17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24	COMES NOW, the Real Party in Interest, GIANO AMADO a/k/a BRANDON WELCH, and files the instant Opposition to the Petition for Writ of Mandamus. The instant answer is filed pursuant to this Honorable Court's order of September 21, 2016, directing the Real Party in Interest to file an answer to the Petition for Writ of Mandamus. WILLIAM B. TERRY, CHARTERED WILLIAM B. TERRY, CHARTERED 530 South Seventh Street Las Vegas, Nevada 89101 (702) 385-0799
17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25	COMES NOW, the Real Party in Interest, GIANO AMADO a/k/a BRANDON WELCH, and files the instant Opposition to the Petition for Writ of Mandamus. The instant answer is filed pursuant to this Honorable Court's order of September 21, 2016, directing the Real Party in Interest to file an answer to the Petition for Writ of Mandamus. WILLIAM B. TERRY, CHARTERED WILLIAM B. TERRY, CHARTERED Nevada Bar No. 001028 WILLIAM B. TERRY, CHARTERED 530 South Seventh Street
17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26	COMES NOW, the Real Party in Interest, GIANO AMADO a/k/a BRANDON WELCH, and files the instant Opposition to the Petition for Writ of Mandamus. The instant answer is filed pursuant to this Honorable Court's order of September 21, 2016, directing the Real Party in Interest to file an answer to the Petition for Writ of Mandamus. WILLIAM B. TERRY, CHARTERED WILLIAM B. TERRY, CHARTERED 530 South Seventh Street Las Vegas, Nevada 89101 (702) 385-0799
17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25	COMES NOW, the Real Party in Interest, GIANO AMADO a/k/a BRANDON WELCH, and files the instant Opposition to the Petition for Writ of Mandamus. The instant answer is filed pursuant to this Honorable Court's order of September 21, 2016, directing the Real Party in Interest to file an answer to the Petition for Writ of Mandamus. WILLIAM B. TERRY, CHARTERED WILLIAM B. TERRY, CHARTERED 530 South Seventh Street Las Vegas, Nevada 89101 (702) 385-0799

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

ISSUES PRESENTED

- 1. Does the Nevada Supreme Court have jurisdiction to consider the Petition for Writ of Mandamus?
- 2. If the Nevada Supreme Court has jurisdiction, should the Court exercise that jurisdiction in reference to the instant Petition for Writ of Mandamus?
- 3. Was the decision of the District Court in granting the Petition for Writ of Mandamus or, in the Alternative, Writ of Prohibition filed by Real Party in Interest, Welch, in the district court level a manifest abuse of discretion or an arbitrary or capricious exercise of discretion when the Court correctly dismissed an "amended" complaint when no original complaint existed?

POSITION OF THE REAL PARTY IN INTEREST

- 1. The Nevada Supreme Court does not have jurisdiction to consider the petition for writ of mandamus filed by the City of Henderson.
- 2. If this Honorable Court determines that they have jurisdiction to consider the instant Petition then they should not intercede.
- 3. The Petition for Writ of Mandamus should not be granted since the decision of the District Court was neither a manifest abuse or arbitrary or capricious exercise of discretion when the Court dismissed the "amended" complaint when there in fact were no original complaints to amend.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The procedural history of the instant case is fairly well documented in the Petition for Writ of Mandamus filed by the City of Henderson with certain exceptions.

Factually, on September 22, 2014, the City of Henderson filed a battery domestic violence case in Case No. 14CR011381 against Amado. (PA 1). On January 13, 2015 they filed an additional battery domestic violence case against Amado in Case No. 15CR859. (PA 2). As a result of the City's inability to proceed on those two criminal complaints, those criminal complaints were dismissed on July 29, 2015. On July 30, 2015, utilizing the same case numbers the City filed two "amended criminal complaints" documents again charging Mr. Amado with the same allegations as had been set forth within the original complaint. Throughout all proceedings it was the position of the Real Party in Interest, Amado, that the City could not file an "amended" set of complaints when no criminal complaint existed. The original complaints had been totally dismissed by the City Attorney's office. The Petitioner had original suggested in part that the reason that the City Attorney filed an "amended" complaint a day after the original complaints were dismissed and utilized the same case numbers was in an effort to keep it before the same Henderson Municipal Court Judge. So that this Honorable Court is aware, this was not a situation where during the course of a proceeding, the City moved to amend an existing charging document. This was a situation where the City dismissed the original complaints and on the next day filed amended criminal complaints. Throughout all of the filings before the District Court in Clark County, Nevada as well as the Henderson Municipal Court, the City always maintained that these were amended complaints.

As the City points out in their opening brief, the matter was originally filed pursuant to a Writ of Mandamus/Writ of Prohibition by Real Party in Interest, Amado, in the district court level but it was determined that the City Municipal Judge should consider the matter first. That procedure was utilized and the City Judge from Municipal Court denied the motion to dismiss. The Petition for Writ of Mandamus or, in the Alternative, Writ of Prohibition was again filed and heard by the Honorable Judge Kathleen Delaney. This was done after briefs had been filed in opposition by both the City and a supplemental response by Petitioner Amado. At issue in part was the provisions of NRS 174.085. The provisions under scrutiny of NRS 174.085 were the following:

5. The prosecuting attorney, in a case that the prosecuting attorney has initiated, may voluntarily dismiss a complaint:

(a) Before a preliminary hearing if the crime with which the defendant is charged is a felony or gross misdemeanor; or

(b) Before trial if the crime with which the defendant is charged is a misdemeanor, without prejudice to the right to file another complaint, unless the State of Nevada has previously file a complaint against the defendant which was dismissed at the request of the prosecuting attorney...

While the City quotes some of the language of Judge Delaney they fail to specifically quote exactly what she said in granting the Petition for Writ of Mandamus or, in the Alternative, Petition for Writ of Prohibition. Her full comment was as follows:

The way the dust settles on this for me is not - - it's going to sound perhaps like form over substance, but I don't think that's the case.

The City of Henderson's procedures cannot trump what the statute requires. And the statue does seem to very clearly require that there be no amended complaint filing after the dismissal of the original complaint. It does seem to contemplate, when you look at the plain language and any fair reading of the statute, that it requires a new complaint. We simply don't have that here. I understand the the City, and I don't disagree with the City, has the right to implement the procedures that it sees fit to make their process work and to ensure compliance with the statute. But that doesn't give them the right to create a procedure that is not in compliance with the statute, ultimately, or at least flies in the face of what the statute appears to require.

In this particular case, I do agree with the Petitioner that the City did not follow the statute. I do believe this is more probably granted as writ of prohibition to prohibit the City from the refiling that it undertook. And that the petition should be granted.

This is extraordinary relief. I understand that. But in these circumstances it does appear that there was an abuse of discretion and the circumstances are such that even with little guidance from our case law and our statute, I have to give the fair reading of the statute. And that does appear that this procedure violates that.

I'mm going to grant the petition and as (sic) Mr. Terry tot (sic) prepare the order. I want counsel to have an opportunity to view it

The abuse and discretion language utilized by Judge Delaney referred both to the City's procedure to file the "amended complaint" when there was no complaint to amend and the failure of the Henderson Municipal Court Judge to grant the motion to dismiss.

Respectfully, the Petitioner, City of Henderson, in the instant case submits documents to this Honorable Court which are not relevant to the instant issue. The only issue herein is whether or not the District Court abused her discretion in granting Amado's Petition because the statute in question, NRS 174.085, does not use the terminology "amended complaint" but uses the terminology "complaint".

ARGUMENT

I. THIS HONORABLE COURT DOES NOT HAVE JURISDICTION TO CONSIDER THE INSTANT PETITION.

In their opening writ, the City of Henderson states the following in part:

While district courts retain final appellate jurisdiction in Justice and Municipal court cases, this Court may entertain a Writ petition to review a district court's appellate decision under certain circumstances, for example, to control a manifest abuse or an arbitrary or capricious exercise of discretion...

1

2

3

4

5

6

7

8

10

11

12

13

14

15

16

17

18

19

20

21

22

23

24

25

26

27

28

Respondent Amado agrees with the City that it is the District Court which retains final appellate jurisdiction of justice court and municipal court cases. Respondent Amado, however, does not agree that this Honorable Court, respectfully, has jurisdiction in the instant case. The City of Henderson has sought to proceed by way of a writ of mandamus not by way of a writ of certiorari or prohibition. In City of Las Vegas v. Carver, 92 Nev. 198, 547 P.2d 688 (1976) an appeal had been filed from a judgment reversing a municipal court conviction, the City thereafter appealed and the Supreme Court held that they had no jurisdiction for appellate review of a district court judgment entered on an appeal from a municipal court and that the City's remedy, if any, would have been a timely petition for writ of certiorari. While it is odd to hear this Honorable Court indicate they do not have jurisdiction, that is precisely what the Carver court found when the court indicated that they would not reach the merits of the appeal but in fact acknowledged that they had no appellate review authority or jurisdiction of a district court judgment which had been entered in an appeal from a municipal court. Within Carver they cited cases including City of Reno v. Dixon, 42 Nev. 67, 172 P. 367 (1918) as standing for the clearly established procedure that no appellate jurisdiction lies with the Supreme Court. As a result, respectfully, the Court does not have jurisdiction over the instant issue.

II. EVEN IF THIS HONORABLE COURT FINDS THAT IT HAS JURISDICTION THE COURT SHOULD NOT INTERCEDE.

The City of Henderson argues that this Honorable Court should intercede because it involves a question of interpretation of a statute and to resolve a split of authority at the justice or district court level. It is the position of Respondent Amado that the Court should not intercede. The interpretation of the statute in the case at bar does not mandate that this Honorable Court intercede. What the City really wishes for this Court to do is to in effect add language to the statute that does not exist to allow the filing of an "amended complaint". It was the City's error that created the instant issue when they dismissed the criminal complaints and then not on the same day but on a later date filed "amended complaints". The City in effect wants this Honorable Court to rescue them from their own procedural error. This is not a statutory construction issue, it is an issue involving the error

1 cc
2 A
3 T
4 ci
5 A
6 H
7 de
8 at

10

11

12

13

14

15

16

17

18

19

20

21

22

23

24

25

26

27

28

committed by the City Attorney's office in the methodology that they utilized to prosecute Mr. Amado. The City also suggests that there is a split of authority in the justice or district court level. There is no split of authority because the instant issue does not occur often. In fact, the City's brief cites no other case that would suggest that there was any type of a split of authority. Respondent Amado would suggest that there is absolutely no split of authority because only the City of Henderson would make this type of a mistake in this type of a case and file an amended charging document after the original charging document had been dismissed. The District Court was absolutely correct because the statute above cited does not contain the language "amended complaint".

III. EVEN IF THIS HONORABLE COURT FINDS THAT THEY HAVE JURISDICTION AND SHOULD INTERCEDE, THE DECISION OF THE DISTRICT COURT JUDGE SHOULD NOT BE REVERSED BECAUSE THERE WAS NEITHER A MANIFEST ABUSE OF DISCRETION OR AN ARBITRARY OR CAPRICIOUS EXERCISE OF DISCRETION.

In the case of State of Nevada v. Bonaventure (Hedland), et al., 116 Nev. 127, 994 P.2d 692 (2000) this Honorable Court held that although a writ of mandamus does not lie to correct errors where actions have been taken by an inferior tribunal, the writ may be used to control an arbitrary or capricious exercise of discretion. In effect, this Honorable Court found that they had jurisdiction under limited circumstances such as an arbitrary or capricious exercise of discretion to consider a writ of mandamus such as has been presented in the instant case. The Court also found, however, that the mandamus was within the discretion of the court. Part of the rationale in the Hedland case was because the findings of the district courts of which there was more than one in the Hedland matter created a significant issue of state wide concern. In Hedland the issue was redundancy dealing with traffic offenses and DUIs and whether or not an individual having pled guilty to a traffic offense could thereafter be charged with the DUI. That certainly is an issue much different than that which is presented herein. Interesting, the court in Hedland also looked at the issue of latches; that is the delay of the State in that case in bringing the mandamus petition. The same argument lies herein. Starting at page 133 of the Hedland decision, this Honorable Court again reiterated that and cited cases supporting the proposition that a writ of mandamus does not lie to correct errors for an action taken by an inferior court. The cases cited by the Court in Hedland that dealt with arbitrary or capricious exercises of discretion clearly show that there was no arbitrary or capricious decision reached in the instant case. The District Court viewed the statute and found that the City of Henderson does not have the authority to file an amended charging document when no document to amend existed. In further reaching their decision, the Court recognized that they were mindful that if the Court exercised it's appellate capacity it could potentially undermine the finality of district court appellate jurisdiction. Hedland at 134. The Court then outlined it's rare exception to the rule as being a refusal to exercise jurisdiction which does not exist in the instant case or exceeding jurisdiction which again does not exist in the instant case or as "exercises discretion in an arbitrary or capricious manner." The only reason that the Court as even the opinion shows in Hedland interceded was that it would have had significant issues of state wide concern and that "the only way this split can be resolved is for this court to exercise its constitutional prerogative to entertain these writ petitions."

The issue again is whether or not the decision of Judge Delaney was both arbitrary and capricious in the exercising of her discretion. In State v. Eighth Judicial District Court (Armstrong), 127 Nev. Adv. Op. 84, 267 P.3d 777, 779, 780 (2011) the court defined this standard as being "an arbitrary or capricious exercise of discretion is one 'founded on prejudice or preference rather than on reason" (citations omitted) or "Contrary to the evidence or established rules of law..." (citations omitted). The ruling by Judge Delaney was not founded on any form of prejudice or preference. To the contrary, she did the right thing by looking at the statute, concluding that the term amended complaint was not in it and finding for Petitioner Amado. Additionally, it was not contrary to the evidence because the evidence was exceedingly clear that the original complaints were dismissed and the following day the "amended complaints" were filed. Additionally, even the District Court commented that there were no cases that dealt with this issue so there were in fact no established rules of law. The reason why there may not be any cases that deal with this issue is it was only done in the instant case and again the City cites no cases showing where there is any type of a split of authority. The court in Armstrong supra also defines "manifest abuse of discretion" as "a clearly erroneous interpretation of the of law or a clearly erroneous application of a law or rule." Again the decision by Judge Delaney was not clearly erroneous nor was that decision "...exercised improvidently or thoughtlessly and without due consideration..." Critically, again the court in Armstrong supra indicated "manifest abuse of discretion does not result from a mere error in judgment but occurs when the law is overridden or misapplied or when the judgment exercised is manifestly unreasonable or the result of partiality prejudice, bias or ill will." Based upon this definition there was no manifest abuse of discretion.

The City in their brief suggests to the Court that there was a manifest abuse or an arbitrary or capricious exercise of discretion but cites no cases in support of that position. See the City of Henderson's Opening Brief pages 15-17.

CONCLUSION

For the above-indicated reasons, it is respectfully requested that the Court not exercise it's discretionary jurisdiction in the instant case or, in the alternative, find that the decision of the District Court was not a manifest of abuse or an arbitrary or capricious exercise of discretion. It is therefore requested that the Writ be denied.

DATED this 4th day of October, 2016.

WILLIAM B. TERRY, CHARTERED

WILLIAM B. TERRY, ESQ

Nevada Bar No. 001028/

WILLIAM B. TERRY/CHARTERED

530 South Seventh Street Las Vegas, Nevada 89101

(702) 385-0799

Attorney for Real Party in Interest

CERTIFICATE OF SERVICE

I hereby certify that service of the OPPOSITION TO THE PETITION FOR WRIT OFMANDAMUS was made this __4th__ day of October, 2016, via United States Postal Service and electronic transmission to:

Henderson City Attorney 243 Water Street Henderson, NV 89015 Attorney for Petitioner

An employee of William B. Terry, Chtd.