LTIP

How are LTIP amounts calculated?

Sum of Amounts	= $300,000
Cash/Equity Split	= 20% cash = 20% equity
Value of Cash LTIP	= $750,000 X 70% = $525,000
Value of Equity LTIP	= $300,000 X 30% = $90,000 = 2,000 equity units ($45,000/$22.50)
Total Award	= $525,000 + $90,000 = $615,000 = 2,000 equity units at 100% target = 2,000 equity units

LTIP

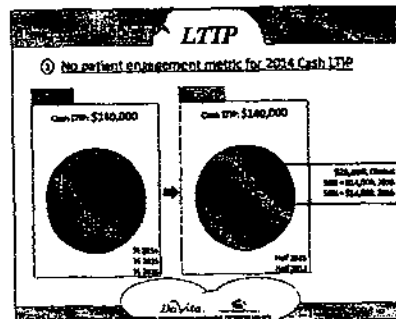

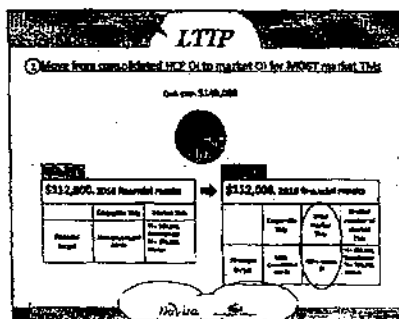

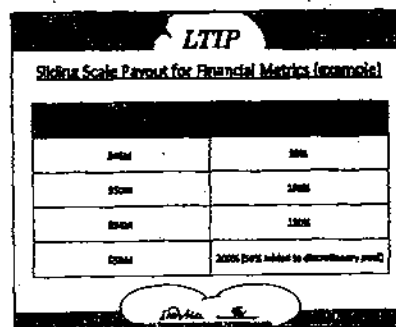

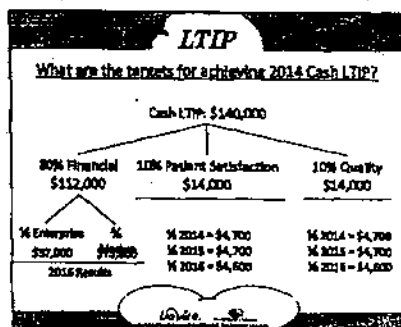

How do we value an equity unit?

- Aligned Incentives
 - Justify equity-based incentives
 - Optimal equity
 - Value creation above current stock price
- The math
 - Stock price: $64
 - Assumed annual growth rate: 4%

Clinical Targets – Key Guidelines

- The MDAI found the value in breast treatment staff to slightly go outside the quality targets determined by the CIP staff for the first 3 years of the program. The program's primary staff changes representing the time of the CIP staff were: Patricia Anderson, RN, assistant manager.
- The value in breast treatment staff to management level at the time of the CIP staff, or two years after, that follows, Patricia Anderson, RN, assistant manager, was a significant change in the quality of the breast treatment staff. This was followed by a significant change in the quality of the breast treatment staff. This was followed by a significant change in the quality of the breast treatment staff.
- Significant changes in the quality of the breast treatment staff, including the quality of the breast treatment staff, were followed by a significant change in the quality of the breast treatment staff.

- HCP Market, Market, or HCP Segment shall mean each of the Company's HCP operating segments, as defined for the 2014 Consolidated Financial Statements, including all business units that either were or would have been included therein had such business unit(s) been in existence and consolidated by the Company as of December 31, 2014.
- Primary Markets include only the HCP Markets commonly known as California, Florida, Nevada, and New Mexico.

These Performance Criteria shall carry the weights indicated on the cover page of this Award, relative to the Award's Target Value, in determining the Payout Amount.

- A. Market OI performance criterion;
- B. Consolidated OI performance criterion;

A portion of the Payout Amount shall be based on the amount of Market OI and/or Consolidated OI achieved for the Company's fiscal year 2016.

The Payout Amount attributable to the Market OI and Consolidated OI performance criteria, respectively, shall be determined based on the grid below, with continuous interpolation between points on the grid (dollars in millions):

Payout as % of Target	50%*	100%	150%
California OI	$296.8	$320.9	$361.0
Florida OI	$83.5	$90.3	$101.6
Nevada OI	$68.0	$73.5	$82.7
New Mexico OI	$2.0	$4.0	$9.0
Consolidated OI	$285.6	$308.7	$347.3

* There will be no payout for performance below the 50% payout threshold.

[The rest of this page has been intentionally left blank]

C. Quality Measure performance criterion

Potential payouts associated with the Quality Measure will be based:

- a) 50% on the HCP 2015 Quality Measure performance criterion described below, and
- b) 50% on the HCP 2016 Quality Measure performance criterion to be determined and communicated as soon as practicable in early 2016.

HCP 2015 Quality Measure:

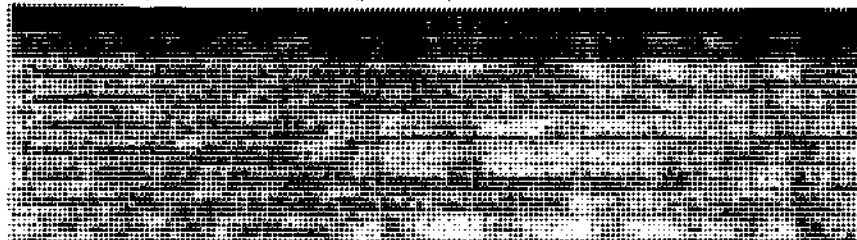

Performance on the HCP 2015 Quality Measure performance criterion will be calculated based on the following six clinical metrics ("HCP Star Metrics") as defined in the HEDIS 2014 Technical Specifications Volume 2 published by the National Committee for Quality Assurance ("HEDIS Manual"):

HCP Star Metrics:

1. Comprehensive Diabetes Care (CDC) – HbA1c poor control (>9%)
2. Comprehensive Diabetes Care (CDC) – Medical Attention for Nephropathy
3. Colorectal Cancer Screening (COL)
4. Breast Cancer Screening (BCS)
5. Disease Modifying Anti-Rheumatic Drug Therapy for Rheumatoid Arthritis (ART)
6. Osteoporosis Management in Women who had a Fracture (OMV)

These clinical metrics will be calculated based on the rules described in the HEDIS Manual, by the information services department of HCP, as further described in the "CMS STAR Measure (STAR measures award health plan performance) 2014 Measurement/ 2015 Reporting" summaries prepared by HCP's quality improvement department. The calculation will include HCP's Group and IPA Medicare Advantage lives with payors where information is available, on a weighted average basis by member months in 2015 in California, Nevada, New Mexico and Arizona. Only patients that are deemed to be continuously eligible shall be considered in the calculation. For this purpose, "continuously eligible" means that the patient has been part of the HCP network for all of the relevant measurement period.

Each of the HCP Star Metrics will be assigned a weight as follows:

DM-His/Le Control
DM-Nephrotoxic
COL

[illegible]

This Quality Composite Score for the six HCP Star Metrics is determined by:

- 07046

Illustrative example:

The following is an illustrative example of the calculation of the HCP Star Metrics Quality Composite Score for use in this Quality Measure performance criterion. This example illustrates the calculation for a single state.

DM-HbA1c (<9%)	3.5	3
DM-Nephropathy	3	1
COL	4	1
BCS	4	1
ART	1	0.5
OMW	3.5	0.5
TOTALS:		7
HCP Star Metrics Quality Composite Score (23.75 / 7):

For the avoidance of doubt, the following is a textual recapitulation of the calculation demonstrated above:

1. First, determine the rating associated with the outcome for each of the six HCP Star Metrics:
 - a) CDC - HbA1c poor control = 3.5 (it clears the 3.5 hurdle, but doesn't reach the next Composite Rating Scale level (86.00%) required to be at 4.0)
 - b) CDC - Nephropathy = 3.0
 - c) COL = 4.0
 - d) BCS = 4.0
 - e) ART = 1.0
 - f) OMW = 3.5
2. Next, multiply the rating for each of the HCP Star Metrics by the weights assigned to each HCP Star Metric:
 - a) DM - HbA1c (<9%) $3.5 \times 3 = 10.5$ weighted value
 - b) CDC - Nephropathy $3.0 \times 1 = 3.0$
 - c) COL $4.0 \times 1 = 4.0$
 - d) BCS $4.0 \times 1 = 4.0$
 - e) ART $1.0 \times 0.5 = 0.5$
 - f) OMW $3.5 \times 0.5 = 1.75$
3. Then add together all the weighted values and divide by the total of the weights to obtain the weighted-average star rating for the HCP Star Metrics, known as the Quality Composite Score for the HCP Star Metrics:

Sum of the weighted outcomes: $10.5 + 3.0 + 4.0 + 4.0 + 0.5 + 1.75 = 23.75$
Divided by the sum of the weights: $23.75 / 7 = 3.39$
4. Finally, an HCP Star Metrics Quality Composite Score of 3.39 implies a Payout Amount of 60% of Target Value based on the grid below.

The Payout Amount related to the HCP 2015 Quality Measure performance criterion shall be calculated as follows:

HCP Star Metrics Quality Composite Score	Payout Amount Achieved for the HCP 2015 Quality Measure performance criterion
Below expectation: < 2.00	0%
Meets expectations: ≥ 2.0	30%
Exceeds expectations: ≥ 3.0	60%
Outstanding: ≥ 3.60	100%

A Grantee shall be eligible to receive payment under the HCP 2015 Quality Measure based on the Primary Market in which such Grantee primarily had management responsibility at the Grant Date regardless of any subsequent changes in the Grantee's role at the Company, subject to adjustment as described in Exhibit A Section 3(e) of this Award.

Notwithstanding the foregoing within this Section C, for a Grantee who operated primarily at an HCP corporate level, or in an HCP Market other than an HCP Primary Market at the Grant Date, the calculation of the Quality Composite Score for such Grantee shall represent the average of the Quality Composite Scores for the HCP Primary Markets, weighted to the number of member months used in the calculation of the Quality Composite Score for each individual Market.

Re: Radiology Partners Practice Update

Dear Physician Partners and Shareholders,

It is my privilege to provide this periodic update on the progress of Radiology Partners ("RP"). It is truly an exciting time for our practice, as we have made outstanding progress to date in so many areas and in doing so we are beginning to unveil the enormous potential we have in front of us to impact radiology and the healthcare system overall.

Laying Our Practice Foundation

We are striving to build our practice on the solid foundation of a shared purpose, as well as a set of beliefs that set forth how we want go about pursuing that purpose. Our Practice Mission is to "Transform Radiology." To us, this means orders of magnitude change across all dimensions: quality, service, economics and the overall role that radiology plays within healthcare. At the highest level, we will achieve our Mission with a sustained and purposeful focus on what we call our "Practice Pillars:" Best Physicians, Best Leaders and Best Clinical Value & Service. By becoming the practice that the Best Physicians want to practice in, developing the Best Physician (and support team) Leaders and focusing our talents and resources on driving innovation in Clinical Value and Service...it is possible over time to transform radiology. Perhaps in exciting ways that we are not yet imagining.

For our growing practice to be successful in such important endeavors, we must also be grounded in a core set of beliefs that define how members of our practice behave, how they treat each other, how they make decisions, what they consider important...in other words, a set of shared values. Our values were chosen following a nine month process where every member of the practice had an opportunity to participate in discussions and exercises to help define what values were most important. The process culminated with a practice-wide vote and the top 5 vote getters became Our Practice Values: Integrity, Teamwork, Excellence, Service and Accountability. As we work together to pursue our Practice Mission, we must hold each other accountable to these values.

Enhancing Our Clinical Value

The core of what we strive to do, across almost 3 million diagnostic and interventional cases per year, is provide optimal clinical value to our referring physicians, clients and patients. As a leading practice in our field, it is our responsibility to leverage our resources, make investments in unique capabilities and to drive innovation that enhances the clinical value that we deliver. In late 2014

radiology partners

and early 2015, RP launched its first practice-wide clinical value programs: a standardized clinical variance process and an RP best practice for the management of incidental thyroid nodules found on CT ("ITN").

The RP Variance Program consists of both local and practice-wide peer review infrastructure, as well as tools, metrics and processes designed to capture, track, follow up on, resolve and learn from reported clinical variances. Variances can be initiated by client personnel, referring physicians or our own radiologists. The program is designed to enhance clinical collaboration, learning and quality improvement, as opposed to being punitive to the physician involved. Also, given that many variances reported by clients or referring physicians are not actually errors, the RP Variance Program is also an important service recovery tool...making sure that reported errors or perceived errors are properly researched with the resolution communicated back to our clients and referring physicians, giving them confidence in our radiologists' clinical performance and in our practice's quality management processes.

Our ITN Best Practice has been implemented to address the recognized variability within the radiology field in how these lesions are worked up and the implications such variability has on cancer diagnosis and downstream resource utilization. The RP best practice for ITN was developed by dozens of RP physicians using available research, our own data and a collaborative process where literally every RP physician had multiple opportunities to review guidelines, provide input and help design the final best practice recommendation. Our baseline performance versus the best practice (pre-implementation) has been defined and soon we will have our first data showing our adherence to the best practice post-implementation. Our clinical value and IT teams are also working to develop the capability to efficiently monitor our adherence with the regularity necessary to drive our collective performance toward our initial goal of 90% adherence. Achieving this initial goal will have a very significant impact: we will find more cancers earlier by aggressively managing lesions that are more likely to be malignant and we will avoid unnecessary resource utilization (ultrasound, biopsies and surgeries) for those that are quite unlikely to be oncogenic.

We consider these clinical value programs to be merely first steps in realizing the potential of a radiology practice with hundreds, or one day thousands, of physicians working together within a culture that encourages excellence and physician collaboration and supported by the process, tools and resources that can only be brought to bear by a practice with significant scale. While they are just first steps...we are nevertheless unaware of any practice in the US that is making these kinds of investments in clinical value innovation.

Building Our Capabilities

In a highly effective practice, the delivery of our critical physician services and the relentless pursuit of enhancing clinical value must of course be supported by outstanding non-clinical support capabilities. Our practice has been investing aggressively in its people, processes and

radiology partners

systems to ensure that the practice's support services are world-class in their efficiency, effectiveness, and ability to support our physicians as they deliver clinical services to our referring physicians and patients. Our 12 person IT support team is recognized by our physicians and clients as distinctive in their talent, commitment, and service orientation. We have invested in a team of radiology service coordinators ("RSC's") whose role is to provide logistics, communications, and other support to our radiologists, allowing our physicians to focus their time on the highest value part of the care process. Our revenue cycle management team has led a consolidation from multiple low performing outsourced vendors to one strategic outsourced partner, as well as our own internal revenue cycle team in Houston. Their efforts and process improvements have led to reductions in unbilled cases, improved coding through physician feedback processes, and improvements in contracted rates with payors. Our human resources team is providing much needed support in areas ranging from recruiting, benefits administration and performance management to training and professional development for our physician leaders in areas such as interviewing skills, performance management and conflict management. These are but a few examples and similarly impressive strides are being made in finance, accounting, operations, sales, business development, legal and compliance.

Developing Our Leaders

We believe that our practice will only reach its full potential if we become outstanding at training and developing the very best physician leaders. This is why our physician leadership program has been at the top of our agenda from the very beginning of RP as a practice. Today the program consists of Practice Leadership Councils which take place every 8 months and bring together as many physicians as the 24/7365 schedule allows to build relationships, share information about the practice, help set practice priorities and provide feedback to practice leadership. In addition, a subset of physician leaders are selected to participate in dedicated training and leadership skills-building exercises, with professional facilitators and our own practice leaders delivering highly relevant content to help our physician leaders hone the skills necessary to create highly effective local teams, as well as to have an important impact on the RP practice overall. Back at home, our physician leaders also work day-to-day with other experienced practice leaders and thus learn new skills in a collaborative, coaching-oriented environment. Our physicians also have access to our practice's two leadership coaches. These highly talented and experienced professionals are available to provide help with challenging situations or to offer more hands on feedback and coaching to our physician leaders in areas pertaining to their personal leadership development goals. Finally, in 2015 we have designed and are just now launching our values-based physician performance and development review process. We will start with our physician leaders receiving meaningful, "360 degree" feedback regarding their performance, contributions to clinical value and service, impact on their teams and credibility with their clients. Once the process has been fine tuned, it will be rolled out to cover every physician and support team member in our practice.

As with most important areas in our practice, we are really just getting started and expect to continue to build upon these initial investments as we more fully define the long-term roadmap for what will be RP's unique, world-class physician leadership development program. There are not many organizations of any scale that can legitimately claim they consistently develop outstanding physician leaders. A signpost of our progress will be when people outside our practice begin to recognize that we do this distinctively well.

Serving Our Clients & Patients

Everything that we do to enhance our clinical value and practice support capabilities and to develop our people has an important impact on our clients and ultimately our patients. Some of our clients, including some of the more sophisticated health systems in the US, have begun to notice and appreciate the value of these initial clinical programs and the quality of our IT, operations and other support teams. All of our practice locations are working on the implementation of our newly designed client review process, in order that all clients have regular, organized and professional in-person meetings reviewing our services. It is a process designed to identify challenges that need to be addressed, define opportunities to add more value, ensure consistent two-way communication and help our partners understand and appreciate the unique level of service our practice offers. Further, in 2013 we are making investments in tools to help our clients manage radiation safety and have embarked on several exciting targeted pilot projects with some of our clients: ranging from developing systems to ensure recommended future follow-up imaging is actually performed to launching a new interventional program designed to bring academic medical center level care to one of our rural, community-based hospitals.

Our clients offer us the opportunity to impact patient care. We must continually innovate and enhance the services we offer, particularly in a world of changing payment models and value-based healthcare, in order to continue to maintain and expand upon that privilege.

Growing Our Practice

To date our practice has experienced significant growth. As a result, more independent radiology practices and hospitals are beginning take notice. As they come to understand the unique capabilities of our practice and the impact that we can have on clinical value and service, we expect the result will be more radiologists choosing to practice with RP and more clients choosing RP to provide their radiology service. Growth allows us to garner additional capital and human resources, to leverage new investments over a much broader economic base and to continue to drive innovation in our field. Growth also enhances the opportunities available to our physicians and support team members and allows all of us to have a bigger impact on our field.

Sharing in Our Success

More than 70% of the people in our practice are physicians and as we often say... "it only therefore makes sense that as our practice is successful our physicians should share in this success." We achieve this in part because of our core underlying belief in physician ownership. Today, over 55% of our physicians own equity in RP and more than 1/3 of RP's ownership is in the hands of our radiologists. New associates that join our practice have a path to partnership and equity ownership. In fact, we have promoted 15 new RP partners across our various practice locations over the course of the last 12 months. This naturally aligns our physicians with our shareholders, as they are both direct beneficiaries of the investments that we make and the growth and financial performance that we achieve.

Our Practice Values • Integrity • Teamwork • Excellence • Service • Accountability

radiology partners

Further, we recently had the opportunity to pay our first practice-wide physician bonus which totaled approximately $1 million. Physicians that were with RP for a full year were eligible and the individual amounts were based upon the local leadership's assessment of each physician's contribution to the practice, specifically as it relates to our practice values of integrity, teamwork, excellence, service and accountability. While there is no guarantee that we will be able to continue to pay physician bonuses in the future, it is certainly our goal to maintain and grow our ability to do so over time.

Creating Value for Our Shareholders

Our shareholders, including our physician partners, have entrusted us with their capital with the expectation that we will in turn deliver them an attractive risk-adjusted return. We take this trust and responsibility very seriously, in part because we know we will only continue be able to attract the capital necessary to Transform Radiology if we consistently deliver on this commitment. For this reason, everyone on the RP team should be aligned as we attempt to balance physician and support team compensation, long-term investments in practice capabilities, investments in growing our practice and profitability for our shareholders. As we discussed at our recent Practice Leadership Summit, "each of these four areas must be watched so that they may thrive and grow to support our Mission."

To date, as a result of the dedication and good work of our physicians and support team members, we have delivered an attractive return to our shareholders. Below is a chart of our share price valuation, most recently marked at a market value of $4.37 in connection with a transaction completed in July 2015.

Attached is an individualized summary of your equity position in RP.

Summary

Momentum is building within our practice. Others are noticing it. You have played a role in helping build it and for that I thank you. It is my hope that each of you feels it and takes pride in it. We have in front of us that rarest of professional opportunities...the chance to transform a field of medicine. While it will undoubtedly take considerable time, working together it is within our reach...and, make no mistake, if we are successful the impact will be very important!

With sincere gratitude and appreciation,

Explanation of Attached

Dennis's long term compensation falls into three categories. He has SSARs, RSUs/PSUs and Cash LTIP. The attached summarizes them. Let me explain each one.

- 1) SSAR is Stock Settled Appreciation Right (like an option). So let's look at the first tranche (granted 4/13/2011), with a strike price of $43.35. Those are all vested and so he can exercise them today. They expire 5 years from date of grant, so they will be expiring soon and I'm sure Dennis will be exercising them soon. When he chooses to exercise them, we take the difference between the stock price on the day prior to exercise and the strike price and give him that many shares of stock. So let's say the stock closes today at $65.44 (closing price on Feb 3). If he exercises them all on Feb 4, then each one is worth $65.44 - $43.35, or $22.09. In total that is $250,000 \times $22.09 = $5,522,500$. Since the stock closed at $65.44, the company would give him 84,390 shares ($$5,522,500$ divided by $65.44) if he exercised them on Feb. 4. So basically he is getting the in-the-money value in stock...kind of like a cashless exercise of an option.

The second tranche (granted 12/18/2012) is half vested and exercisable and half vests on 4/1/2016. This tranche expires 12/18/2017. The third and fourth tranches vest in the future on the dates indicated.

In the case of all these SSARs, the year in which he exercises, he recognizes W2 Income equal to the in-the-money value (in my example above, $5,522,500). This is taxed at ordinary income tax rates. When he exercises, he either has to write a check to DaVita to cover withholding tax, or he can direct DaVita to sell enough of the 84,390 shares to cover withholding tax and just deposit the net shares into his brokerage account. If he subsequently sells these net shares, that will be capital gains (or loss), with the basis being whatever the stock price was on the day he exercised the SSARs.

- 2) RSUs and PSUs. RSUs are Restricted Stock Units. RSUs are basically shares of stock that he gets when they vest. So for example, he will get 36,466 shares vesting on May 15, 2016. This is a taxable event, so whatever the value of those shares are on May 15, 2016 will show up as W2 Income in 2016 (ordinary income). In order to get those shares, he either has to write DaVita a check to cover withholding taxes, or direct DaVita to sell enough shares to cover withholding taxes. And then if he subsequently sells these net shares, that will be capital gains (or loss), with the basis being whatever the stock price was on the day the RSUs vested.

PSUs are Performance Shares. They are just like RSUs with an additional twist. In addition to the time vesting, there is a performance requirement, which can actually result in payout of more or less than the target number of shares (including all the way down to 0 shares). The number indicated on the other attachment is the target number of PSUs in which he would vest (50% on 5/15/2017 and 50% on 5/15/2018) if each of the performance conditions is hit exactly at target. At this point, it is likely that he will vest in less than 100% of these shares because of where we are likely to come out on the performance conditions. Tax treatment is the same as for RSUs.

- 3) Cash LTIP is Cash-based Long Term Incentive Payment. Think of it like a bonus tied to long-term criteria. His first cash LTIP (granted 3/19/2013) is based on 2015 performance conditions and so we already know the outcome. He will get paid $4,950,000 for sure. The reason there is a "plus" sign is that there is a discretionary payment possibility for outperformance, and so he could make more, but we won't know until closer to April 1, 2016. The payout will be split 50% April 1, 2016 and April 1, 2017. He also got a Cash LTIP grant very recently, but the likely payout is $0. The reason for this (that we just granted it recently and we already think it will pay out at $0) is kind of complicated, so if you want to talk live about it, let me know and I can explain. The tax treatment is just like a normal cash bonus payment - ordinary income, shows up as W2 income in the year actually paid, and there are withholding taxes.

2.1 Credits. The Distributor shall comply with the Owner's written instructions to credits to be accorded on the screen or in any paid advertising and publicity issued by the Distributor or under the Distributor's control, and shall provide in its agreements with sub-distributors and licensees that such sub-distributor and/or licensee shall also comply therewith and shall include the same provisions in any agreements entered into by such sub-distributor with its sub-distributor(s), if any, provided that such written instructions have been approved in advance and in writing by the Distributor. This undertaking by the Distributor is solely for the benefit of the Owner and not for the benefit of any third party. No casual or inadvertent failure to comply with contractual obligations as to credits to be accorded on the screen or in any paid advertising and publicity by the Distributor or any of its subsidiaries, affiliates, sub-distributors or licensees to comply with contractual obligations as to credits to be accorded on the screen or in any paid advertising and publicity shall constitute a breach of this Agreement. Upon Distributor's receipt of notice from the Owner that the Distributor or its subsidiaries have failed to comply with the credits furnished to the Distributor by the Owner, the Distributor shall take all such steps as are reasonably practical to cure such failure with respect to future screen credits, advertising and publication, provided the credits accorded by the Owner conform to the provisions of this section. In the event that such failure was casual or inadvertent, there shall be no other remedy available to any person against the Distributor, its subsidiaries, affiliates, sub-distributors or licensees for any such failure. In no event shall the Owner be entitled to seek or receive injunctive relief in connection with any failure by the Distributor to comply with the provisions of this Section. In no event shall the Distributor be liable or have any responsibility for any acts or omissions with respect to credits created by or under the control of an exhibitor, newspaper, magazine, broadcaster or other parties who are not subsidiaries of the Distributor.

2.2 Delivery. If the Picture is produced, the Picture shall be delivered to the Distributor in accordance with a delivery schedule approved by the Distributor, but in no event later than October 17, 2016 (the "Expected Delivery Date"). However, the Expected Delivery Date may be extended for up to a period up to 365 days at the Owner's option. Delivery of the Picture shall be accompanied by delivery to the Distributor of the materials set forth on Exhibit "2" hereto prepared in accordance with the specific Delivery Requirements contained in this Agreement.

ARTICLE 3

TERM

3.1 Initial Term. The initial term (the "Initial Term") of license granted in this Agreement shall be 25 years from the date hereof.

3.2 Extensions. This Agreement shall be automatically renewed for two further periods of 25 years and 45 years (the "Second and Third Terms", respectively), unless notice of termination is delivered to the Owner by the Distributor between six months and three months prior to the expiration of the Initial Term or the Second Term, as the case may be.

3.3 Right of First Negotiation /Last Refusal After the Term has expired:

(a) If the Owner proposes to sell, license or otherwise exploit any Rights granted to the Distributor hereunder, the Owner shall first give the Distributor notice thereof. The distributor shall have the exclusive right to negotiate in good faith with the intention of reaching an agreement to acquire the applicable Rights specified in the Notice, for a period of 60 days after receipt of the Notice. The parties agree that the first negotiation/last refusal rights set out herein are material and that damages are an inadequate remedy for any violation of any such Rights. Therefore, the Distributor shall be entitled to equitable relief to prevent a breach of or to mandate compliance with its first negotiation/last refusal rights granted herein. If the Distributor and the Owner do not reach an agreement as to the material terms for an agreement to acquire such Rights within the 60 day period, the Owner may negotiate with third parties with respect to such Rights, subject to the provisions of Subsection 3.3 (b) below.

(b) If the Owner makes or receives a bona fide offer with respect to the applicable Rights, the material terms of which are less favorable than the last offer made by the Distributor, and if the Owner proposes to accept such offer, the Owner shall give Notice to the Distributor of the material terms and conditions of the third party offer and the name of the person making the offer. The Distributor shall have the right to acquire the interest in the applicable Rights on the same material terms and conditions as the third party offer by giving Notice of acceptance thereof within 15 days after the Notice Date. Otherwise, the Owner shall be free to accept the third party offer. However, if the proposed third party transaction is not consummated, the Distributor's first negotiation/last refusal rights under this Section 3.3 will apply to each further offer relating to the applicable Rights of the Owner.

ARTICLE 4

PAYMENTS

4.1 Distributor shall arrange for and/or pay and guarantee the following to Owner:

(a) 100% of Net Receipts as defined on Exhibit "3" attached hereto. Distributor may deduct any participations and residuals due to third parties providing services in connection with the Picture from Gross Receipts and pay such sums on behalf of Owner to the parties to which such sums are due under agreements entered into by Owner.

4.2 Security Interest. As security for the full and timely payment and performance of Distributor's obligations hereunder, the Distributor hereby grants to Owner a security interest, charge and lien upon: (i) all of Distributor's rights and interest in the Rights licensed hereunder; (ii) all of Distributor's rights and interest as lessor or licensor under each of the Sub-Distribution Agreements, including without limitation, Distributor's right to payment and all payments there under, and (iii) any and all other rights and interest of Distributor in, to and in connection with the Picture, now or hereafter acquired, including without limitation, all tangible and intangible assets, contracts, instruments, chattel paper, accounts, deposit accounts, cash, rights to payment, inventory, rights under copyright, and any and all proceeds, substitutions or replacements of any of the foregoing (collectively the "Distributor's Collateral").

DISTRIBUTION POLICY

5.1 General. With respect to the Rights, the Distributor shall have the broadest possible latitude in the exploitation thereof, and the exercise of its judgment in all matters pertaining thereto shall be final. In this connection, the Distributor shall have complete authority to exploit the Rights in accordance with such sales methods, policies and terms as it may, in its sole discretion, determine; provided that it shall employ its reasonable best efforts to maximize the commercial benefits to the Owner from the exploitation of the Picture. Subject to the foregoing, the Distributor has not made any express or implied representation, warranty, guarantee or agreement as to the total amount of proceeds which will be derived from the exploitation of the Rights, nor has the Distributor made any express or implied representation, warranty, guarantee or agreement that there will be any sums payable to the Group hereunder or that the Rights will be exploited continuously. All matters relating to the exploitation of the Rights (including the scope and duration thereof) shall be decided by the Distributor in its sole discretion. In no event shall the Distributor incur any liability based upon any claim by the Owner that the Distributor has failed to realize receipts or revenue which should or could have been realized. The Distributor may settle, compromise, adjust, cancel, waive, give allowances to, not collect or not seek any remedy for collection of any contracts, debts or sums due with respect to any Rights, for any reason whatsoever.

5.2 Sub-Distributors. Subject to the terms hereof, the Distributor may exploit the Rights either itself or through such other parties, including Affiliates of the Distributor, as the Distributor may, in its sole discretion, determine and, without limiting the foregoing, shall have the express right to enter into sub-distribution and licensing agreements which may extend beyond the Term of this Agreement. The Distributor may license the Rights connected therewith, in whole or in part, in good faith as may be consistent with the Distributor's general practice in such matters, to any and all other agencies in which the Distributor or its Affiliates may have an interest directly or indirectly upon such terms and rentals as the Distributor may deem fair and proper under the circumstances, and which are on arms-length, customary terms in the motion picture industry.

(c) There are no suits, actions, arbitrations, or legal, administrative or other proceedings, or governmental investigations pending or, to the best knowledge of the Distributor, threatened, against the Distributor.

6.3 Indemnity. Distributor and Owner (in this capacity "Indemnitor") do hereby and shall at all times indemnify and hold harmless the other parties, their successors and assignees, and all officers, directors, agents, attorneys and employees of the foregoing (herein collectively referred to as "Indemnitees") from and against any and all costs, claims, charges, recoveries, losses, expenses (including, but not limited to, attorneys' fees and disbursements), liabilities, damages, judgments, settlements, injunctions, compromises, penalties, decrees or any other loss of any kind or nature whatsoever (all referred to herein as "Loss") which may be made, asserted, maintained or secured against, or suffered by, any Indemnitee caused by or arising out of any breach by the Indemnitor of any of its representations warranties herein, including, without limitation, any consequential or special damages proximately caused by the foregoing. If the Indemnitor shall fail to so reimburse the Indemnitees, then, without waiving their rights otherwise to enforce such reimbursement, the Indemnitor shall, on behalf of the Indemnitees, have the right to deduct the said amount of such payments, costs and expenses, or any part thereof, from any sums accruing to or for the account of the Indemnitor under this Agreement.

ARTICLE 7

TERMINATION, DEFAULTS

7.1 Limitations. This Agreement may not be terminated, revoked, cancelled, rescinded or otherwise abrogated for any reason whatsoever prior to the expiration of the Term, without the Consent of Distributor.

7.2 Effect on Existing Agreements. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement, with respect to any sub-distribution or licensing agreements or any assignments entered into by the Distributor in connection with the Rights ("Sub-Distribution Agreements"), the following shall apply:

(b) the Owner shall do nothing to disturb or interfere in any way with any rights under the Sub-Distribution Agreements; and in connection with the foregoing, at the end of the Term of this Agreement, any agreements entered into, or Rights granted, prior thereto by the Distributor in the exercise of its Rights under this Agreement (or by any of its sub-distributors or licensees in the exercise of the Rights granted to them by the Distributor), which have not by their terms terminated or expired, shall remain in effect and the Group shall succeed to the Distributor's position thereunder;

(c) all sales, assignments, pledges, encumbrances or other transfers of any nature whatsoever, made at any time whatsoever by, on behalf of or under the authority of the Owner of all or any part of the Owner's rights in the Picture, shall be subject to all such Sub-Distribution Agreements; and

(d) if by operation of law or otherwise any rights in such Sub-Distribution Agreements revert in or revert to the Owner, then the Owner will grant to such persons as the Distributor may designate effective immediately upon any such reversioning or reverting all such rights under the affected Sub-Distribution Agreements as necessary, appropriate or convenient in the Distributor's sole discretion, and the Owner hereby irrevocably appoints the Distributor as the Owner's exclusive attorney-in-fact, for its use and benefit, with full power of delegation, substitution and re-substitution, for the purpose of executing, acknowledging, filing and recording any and all documents and instruments and doing all other acts necessary or advisable to further accomplish the purposes aforesaid, this power of attorney to survive the dissolution, bankruptcy or other legal incapacity of the Owner.

7.3 Events of Default - Distributor.

An "Event of Default" by the Distributor shall mean the occurrence of any of the following events.

(a) The breach or failure of the Distributor to keep or perform any agreement or obligation or any representation or warranty of the Distributor made under this Agreement, and is confirmed by a final judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, if Distributor disputes any such claim of breach;

(b) The making by the Distributor of any general arrangement or assignment for the benefit of its creditors;

(c) The commencement of any bankruptcy, insolvency, reorganization or liquidation proceeding by or against the Distributor; or

(d) The appointment of a conservator, trustee or receiver for the administration of the Distributor's financial affairs, or to take possession of substantially all of the Distributor's assets.

7.4 Cure Period. In the event of a breach or default by the Owner or by the Distributor, other than those breaches and defaults set forth as Events of Default in Sections 7.3 hereof, no such event shall be actionable at law or in equity unless and until:

(i) The breaching party receives Notice of the event of breach or default from the other party; and

(ii) The breaching party fails to cure the breach or default within 30 days of the Notice Date.

7.5 Remedies. All rights and remedies granted to either party under this Agreement are cumulative and the exercise of one shall not limit or affect that party's right concurrently or subsequently to exercise any other right or remedy, and shall be in addition to such other rights or remedies as that party may have at law, in equity, under this Agreement or otherwise. The Owner acknowledges and agrees that the rights granted to the Distributor hereunder are of a special, unique and extraordinary nature, the breach, loss or impairment of which would cause irreparable harm to the Distributor, and could not adequately be compensated for by money damages. Accordingly, in the event of any actual or anticipatory breach, loss or impairment of such rights, in addition to all other remedies which may be available to the Distributor, the Distributor shall be entitled to injunctive relief against the Owner and against each and every one of its predecessors and successors and assigns with respect to the rights granted to the Distributor hereunder to prevent any such breach, loss or impairment. In no event shall the Owner be entitled to seek or obtain any injunctive relief with respect to the exercise by the Distributor of any Rights granted to the Distributor hereunder, it being agreed that the only remedy of the Owner shall be an action for an accounting or for damages, without limiting the Owner's rights pursuant to Section 7.3 hereof.

7.6 Force Majeure. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this Agreement, neither party shall be liable to the other in damages or otherwise because of any failure to perform hereunder caused by fire, earthquake, flood, epidemic, catastrophic accident, explosion, casualty, strike, lock-out, riot, civil disturbance, act of public enemy, embargo, war, act of God, by any municipal, state or federal ordinance or law, by any legally constituted authority, whether municipal, state or federal, by the issuance of any executive or judicial order, or the unavailability of the director or any principal cast member (which unavailability is beyond the reasonable control of the producer of the Picture and of the Distributor and which prevents production of the Picture; due to their death, incapacity or default of their agreements with the production entity that produces the relevant Picture (to the extent not covered by insurance). In no event shall inclement weather be deemed to be or considered as an event of force majeure for any purpose of this Agreement. If the distribution of the Picture shall be materially interrupted by any such cause, or if, for any reason whatsoever, the majority of the motion picture theatres in any country comprising the Territory exhibiting motion pictures shall be closed for one week or more, then at the election of the Distributor, the Distributor's obligations under this Agreement may be suspended with respect to such country in the Distributor's sole discretion for such time as such conditions may exist.

ARTICLE 8

The name of the Owner, may be utilized to the extent permitted by law in any suits or proceedings which may be brought by the Distributor or its sub-distributors or licensees.

- iii) any matter for which the Distributor is required to indemnify the Owner hereunder, the Owner undertakes to give notice to the Distributor of such claim, as promptly as is reasonably possible, and in no event later than fifteen (15) days after the Notice Date and the Distributor shall have the right to engage such legal representatives as it shall require in connection therewith and the exclusive right to control the defense, prosecution or settlement of the applicable claim (whether or not by the issuance of legal proceedings to the extent permitted by law), subject to the Owner being indemnified by the Distributor against any legal and other costs occasioned by the Owner in respect of such claim unless the Owner shall elect to participate in the applicable proceeding together with the Distributor through counsel of the Owner's choice.

8.3 Further Assurances. If the Distributor deems it necessary or appropriate to effectuate, confirm and protect any of its rights granted to it hereunder, the Owner agrees to promptly execute any documents and do any acts reasonably appropriate to confirm and effect such rights (specifically including those rights set forth in Article 7 and this Article hereof), and if the Owner shall fail to do so within two (2) business days after the Distributor's request, the Distributor shall have the right to execute such documents and perform such acts in the name of the Owner on its behalf but for the Distributor's benefit, and the Owner does hereby irrevocably appoint the Distributor as their attorney-in-fact (with full power of delegation, substitution and re-substitution) for such purposes.

I. Net Receipts. Net Receipts means the amount of Gross Receipts at the close of any Period remaining, if any, after first deducting from Gross Receipts, on a continuing and cumulative basis, the aggregate of the following items in the order of priority set forth below:

A. any Distribution Fees and Expenses incurred by the Distributor in connection with the distribution, exhibition or exploitation of any of its Rights hereunder which have not previously been recouped by the Distributor; and

B. all third party participations payable in connection with the Picture.

II. Gross Receipts.

A. Gross Receipts means the aggregate of the following at the close of each Period (as defined in Paragraph V below):

All monies actually received and earned by the Distributor from licenses of the Rights to exhibit the Picture hereunder (including by means of television devices or networks and through all other non-theatrical methods of distribution) by means of any size or gauge of film or other material in any and all languages and versions. Outright Sales Receipts and receipts from the exploitation of Video Rights shall not be deemed Gross Film Rentals. Calculation of Gross Film Rentals shall be subject to the following:

- a) No costs (however incurred, paid or allowed) shall be deducted in calculating Gross Receipts (including co-operative or theater advertising), and if deducted at the source, shall be added back to Gross Receipts for purposes hereof.
- b) Amounts to be included as Gross Receipts shall be determined after all refunds, credits, discounts, allowances and adjustments for whatever reason granted. Until earned, forfeited or applied to the picture, neither advance payments nor security deposits shall be included in Gross Receipts. Without limiting the foregoing, non-returnable advances or guarantees shall not be included in Gross Receipts except to the extent recouped from actual revenues derived by the Distributor.

2. Outright Sale Receipts. All net monies actually received by the Distributor or its Affiliates from Outright Sales

3. Video Royalties. All earned net royalties received by the Distributor or its Affiliates (or credited against an advance or guarantee previously received) under the terms of licenses granting Video Rights to any Person.

B. Intentionally Deleted

IV. Distribution Expenses. All costs, expenses and charges paid or incurred by the Distributor (which for purposes of this Paragraph shall include sub-distributors and licensees of the Distributor) by reason of, in connection with, or allocable to the derivation of the Gross Receipts from all the Picture in all markets and media including, among other things, the following (but not to exceed $50,000 without approval of Owner):

A. Costs of Collection and Other Costs. The aggregate of the following:

1. Conversion Costs. All costs of conversion of monies, including cable expense and any discounts taken for the conversion thereof directly or indirectly into United States dollars and all costs of transmission of such monies to the United States.

payments and expenses with respect to contesting, compromising or settling (whether by litigation or otherwise) of any Taxes, together with any interest and penalties with respect thereto, shall be treated as Taxes. If any monies are required to be paid to a local institution, group, individual or fund, such payments shall be treated as Taxes. In no event shall the Owner be entitled to take any credits, deductions or other benefits with respect to any Taxes, nor shall the deductible amount of any Taxes (however determined) be decreased (nor Gross Receipts increased) because of the manner in which Taxes and tax credits are treated by the Distributor in filing its net income, corporate franchise, excess profits or other similar tax returns. The Owner shall not be required to pay or participate in the Distributor's own United States federal and state income taxes and franchise taxes (however denominated) based on the Distributor's actual net earnings or any income tax (however denominated) payable by the Distributor to any Territory, based on the actual net earnings of the Distributor in such Territory, it being agreed that any Taxes (however denominated) required to be withheld by any Territory in order to permit the remittance of monies from any such Territory shall not be deemed to be a tax based on the actual net earnings of the Distributor.

If the Owner or any Affiliate of the Owner is entitled, either directly or by way of participation in any fund, to any Guild Payments (the "Owner's Residuals"), to the extent permissible under applicable collective bargaining agreements, the amount of the Owner's Residuals shall not be a deductible Distribution Expense, but shall be treated as an advance against the sums due to the Owner; and conversely any sums due to the Owner paid to the Owner shall constitute an advance against the Owner's Residuals.

7. [Intentionally Deleted]

8. [Intentionally Deleted]

9. Sub-distributor Fees. Any and all fees payable to any sub-distributors or licensees of the Distributor, with respect to any receipts of such sub-distributors or licensees which are included as Gross Film Rentals under paragraph 2(a) above.

Subject to the limitations set forth below, the Owner shall have the right on the request of either of its managing members, at its sole expense, to inspect the Participation Account to verify the accuracy of any Statement which has not become incontestable under the terms hereof (an "Inspection"). No persons owned or controlled directly or indirectly by Peter Hoffman may prevent an inspection of accounts hereunder. The Owner agrees that any Inspection and their respective right to contest or object to any Statement or any payment made pursuant hereto will be subject to the following:

Distributor's customary participation accounting practices. The Distributor shall be entitled to establish reasonable reserves for anticipated costs which may be deducted in determining the sums due to the Owner hereunder which in any event shall be liquidated within twelve (12) months of the date first reflected on a Statement. In no event shall any item be included or deducted or excluded more than once in the calculation of the sums due to the Group hereunder.

B. Wherever the Distributor (i) receives from any license either a flat sum or a percentage of the receipts, or both, for any rights to a group of motion pictures (including any of the Picture) which does not specify what portion of the payments apply to the respective motion pictures in the group (which shall not occur in any licenses entered into within three years after initial theatrical release of the Picture), or (ii) receives foreign currency under the next paragraph hereof relating to a group of motion pictures (including any of the Picture), then in any and all such situations the Distributor shall include in, or deduct from, the Gross Receipts, as the case may be, such sums, determined in good faith, as may be consistent with the Distributor's usual practice in such matters. All costs deducted in determining sums due to the Owner hereunder shall be apportioned to the Picture if incurred or expended on an industry basis, or in conjunction with other motion picture distributors, or with respect to the Picture and other motion pictures distributed by the Distributor as determined by the Distributor in good faith and as may be consistent with the Distributor's usual practice in such matters.

C. No sums received by the Distributor relating to the Picture shall be included in Gross Receipts unless and until such sums have been (i) received by the Distributor in United States dollars in the United States in freely available funds; or (ii) used by the Distributor for the production or acquisition of motion pictures which can be lawfully removed from the Territory involved, in which event they shall be included in Gross Receipts for the Period during which an amount (computed at the official or unofficial rate of exchange, as the Distributor may elect) equal to the amount expended for such production or acquisition, plus interest thereon as herein provided, has been recouped by the Distributor (in excess of normal distribution fees and Distribution Expenses) from distribution thereof outside the Territory involved; or (iii) used by the Distributor for the acquisition of tangible personal property which can be and is lawfully exported from the Territory involved, in which event the United States dollar equivalent of the currency utilized to acquire such property shall be included in Gross Receipts hereunder for the Period during which such property was so exported, such United States dollar equivalent to be computed at the official or unofficial rate of exchange, as the Distributor may elect, in effect on the date of export. Any sums not includable in Gross Receipts due to the foregoing are "Restricted Proceeds". The Distributor will, promptly after receipt of a written request from the Owner (but not more frequently than annually), advise the Owner in writing as to any revenues which are then Restricted Proceeds, and the Distributor shall, at the written request and expense of the Owner (subject to any and all limitations, restrictions, laws, rules and regulations affecting such transactions), deposit into a bank designated by the Owner in the Territory involved, or pay to any other Person designated by the Owner in such Territory, such part thereof as would have been payable to the Owner hereunder. Such deposits or payments to or for the Owner shall constitute due remittance to the Owner, and the Distributor shall have no further interest therein or responsibility therefor. The Distributor makes no warranties or representations that any part of any such foreign currencies may be converted into United States dollars or transferred to the account of the Owner in any foreign Territory. In no event shall the Distributor be obligated to apply Gross Receipts of any Territory not actually received by the Distributor in United States dollars in the United States to the recoupment of any costs or expenses incurred with respect to the Picture in any other Territory. Should Distributor obtain a loan or other financing against such Restricted Proceeds, it shall pay Owner its share thereof as if the applicable gross receipts had been received by Distributor.

D. The relationship between the Owner and the Distributor is solely that of debtor and creditor with respect to sums due pursuant to this Agreement. The Owner expressly acknowledges that the Owner has and will have no right, title or interest of any kind or character whatsoever in or to the proceeds of the Picture (other than as specified herein) throughout the Territory and during the Term of this Agreement, and no lien thereon or other rights in or to any receipts of the Picture; and that the same shall be and remain the Distributor's sole and exclusive property, and the Distributor shall not be deemed a trustee, pledgeholder or fiduciary. The Distributor may commingle any Gross Receipts with other monies as it shall determine, and the Distributor shall, as between it and the Owner, have the right to make any use of these monies (whether or not Gross Receipts hereunder) as it shall determine in its sole discretion and to retain for its account all interest and earnings thereof. The Owner shall have no right to receive any interest on any sums earned by the Distributor prior to payment hereunder. The Distributor shall have the right to mortgage, pledge, assign for security purposes or grant a security interest in any Gross Receipts as it shall determine in its sole discretion. As between the Owner and the Distributor, the Distributor shall have complete authority to distribute the Picture and to license the exhibition thereof throughout the Territory for the Term of this Agreement, all as set forth in the Agreement.

E. The Distributor may deduct from any payments to or for the account of the Owner hereunder the amount of any Taxes or other withholding which, pursuant to applicable Laws, is required to be made by the Distributor, based upon, measured by or resulting from payments to or for the account of the Owner. Such deduction shall be in accordance with the good faith interpretation by independent legal counsel of the Distributor of any Laws. The Distributor shall not be liable to the Owner for the amount of such deductions because of the payment of said amount to the Person involved. The Owner shall make and prosecute any and all claims which it may have as to such tax deductions and/or withholdings directly with the Person involved.

F. If the Distributor or any of its Affiliates makes any overpayment to the Owner or any of its Affiliates hereunder or if the Owner or any of its Affiliates is indebted to the Distributor or any of its Affiliates for any reason, the Owner shall pay the Distributor such overpayment or indebtedness on demand or at the election of the Distributor, the Distributor may deduct and retain for its own account an amount equal to any such overpayment or indebtedness from any sums that may become due or payable by the Distributor to the Owner or for the account of the Owner.

G. The Group waives any right which the Owner may have at law or equity to revoke, terminate, diminish or enjoin any rights granted or acquired by the Distributor under the Agreement by reason of any claim which the Owner may assert for non-payment of any monies claimed due and payable hereunder, it being agreed that the Owner shall be limited to an action at law for recovery of any such monies claimed.

Re: "PRAY FOR UKRAINE"

Dear Mr. Kogod:

This deal memorandum agreement ("Agreement") sets forth the understanding reached by and between DENNIS L. KOGOD ("Investor") and PRAY FOR UKRAINE PRODUCTION, LLC ("Producer"), concerning certain terms and conditions pertaining to the additional financing of the motion picture documentary tentatively entitled "PRAY FOR UKRAINE" (the "Picture"). The Picture's anticipated budget (the "Budget") is approximately US $422,582.00 all-in and any overages will be the responsibility of the Producer.

In connection with the additional editing and post-production, the parties acknowledge and agree to the following:

1. Conditions Precedent. Any and all of Producer's obligations hereunder shall be contingent upon Producer's receipt of this Agreement executed by Investor.
2. Picture Overview. The Picture shall be a full-length feature documentary film, to be directed/produced by Evgeny Afineevsky. A portion of the Budget ($341,582.00) will be funded by the Producer and the additional portion ($81,000) will be funded by Investor. Re-editing and final postproduction will commence on or about October 21st 2014.
3. Investor's Obligations. Upon delivery of the signed agreement, Investor shall fund in an amount of principal equity the sum of US $81,000 ("Investor Funding") toward the Budget to be funded October 21st 2014. Investor's Funding shall be treated as fully recoupable equity in the Picture qualifying for contingent compensation participation in accordance with paragraph 6. Investor's Funding shall not be treated as a securities offering requiring registration under the Securities Act of 1993 nor under any state securities laws.
4. Recoupment. Investor shall be entitled to recoup Investor's Funding (US $81,000.00) against the gross Domestic and/or Foreign sale of the Picture. Investor's funding shall be recouped from the Domestic or Foreign territory (the "Collateral") no later than twelve (12) months, subject to any applicable guild liens in such territories.

5. Investors Contingent Compensation. In consideration of Investor's contribution of Investors Funding hereunder and further provided that the Picture is produced and Investor is not in default of a material condition or provision of this Agreement, Investor shall be entitled to receive contingent compensation in an amount equal to 20% of 100% of the Picture's Defined Proceeds. "Defined Proceeds" shall be defined, computed, accounted for and paid in accordance with Exhibit "A" attached hereto. However, in no event shall the contingent compensation definition or schedule of payment accorded to the Investors, irrespective of the term or category used (e.g., "Defined Proceeds", "Contingent Compensation", "Adjusted Gross Profits") be less favorable than the most favorable definition or schedule accorded to any profit participant in connection with the Picture. If the Producer sells or transfers the rights to the Picture, Investors position will be transferred and stay enforced.

6. Accounting/Audit Rights. Investor shall be accorded customary audit and accounting rights, on a quarterly basis and during reasonable business hours, of Producer's books and records as they pertain to the Picture. Investor rights are more particularly detailed and described in Exhibit "A," attached herein.

7. Delivery. Producer shall use reasonable efforts to deliver the Picture to the Domestic distributor and all international licensors, barring any unforeseen contingency or event of force majeure, no later than second quarter of 2015. Any failure to meet said contemplated delivery date shall not be deemed a material breach of this Agreement.

8. Credit/Participation. Producer agrees that Investor and his spouse shall receive credits as an executive producer in this film. Whenever possible, and subject to availability and approval by Studio or Network, Investor and Spouse shall be involved in the PR, awards, festivals, and premiers associated with the Picture. Nothing herein shall be deemed to restrict Producer from granting producer, co-producer, associate producer, executive producer or similar producer credits to others and placing this individuals on the same card (before / after or together) with Investor.

9. Additional Provisions.

9.1 Nondisclosure: Publicity. Investor shall not issue, disclose or otherwise take any actions in respect of Investors services, including any advertising, public statements, promotion, or cross-promotion with respect to the Picture or this Agreement, without Producer's prior written approval.

9.2 Notices. All notices to be given in writing shall be given by email, registered mail, return receipt requested, or by facsimile, and shall be sent to the respective addresses for notices listed below, or to such other addresses as each party may notify to the other from time to time. A notice sent by registered mail shall be deemed received on the date inscribed in the official return receipt. A notice sent by facsimile shall be deemed received on the next business day.

Garima Varshney

From: Gabriella Clorff-Kogod [gclorffkogod@yahoo.com]
Sent: Tuesday, March 03, 2015 4:34 PM
To: Radford Smith; Garima Varshney
Subject: IVF

Okay, so I'm working on a claim for the hospital today and was doing some research on IVF (in vitro fertilization). Clearly the twins are fraternal, and that might be attributable to them being conceived using that process. That would also mean they were planned -or premeditated - rather than an accident that, of course, "Mr. Kogod doesn't regret." If the wife was 38 or 39, her age may have been an issue.

Also, the history of autos may be more significant as far as who was driving what he was leasing. At one point after we moved here, he was leasing a Porsche Cayenne. He came home after an extended trip and said they totaled it in the airport parking garage and he had to lease a new car, but he went with a BMW SAV. I wonder if he didn't actually drive that Porsche to CA, and it was being used there. Just a thought.

I'm still finishing the biography.
Thanks,
Gab

20 Defendant.

CASE NO.: D-13-489442-D

DEPT NO.: G

FAMILY DIVISION

21 PLAINTIFF'S RESPONSE TO DEFENDANT'S FIRST SET OF INTERROGATORIES

22 TO: DENNIS KOGOD, Defendant; and,

23 TO: JAMES J. JIMMERSON, ESQ., Attorney for Defendant

24 COMES NOW, the Plaintiff, GABRIELLE CIOFFI - KOGOD, through her attorneys, Radford J.
25 Smith, Esq. and Garima Varshney, Esq. of Radford J. Smith, Chartered, and provides the following,
26 Plaintiff's Response to Defendant's First Set of Interrogatories:

27 INTERROGATORY NO. 1:

28 Please identify all real and personal property, tangible or intangible, that you contend is community property. For each item listed, please state the present location of the property, the name(s) in which the property is titled, the purchase price of the property, the fair market value of the property, a complete

1 description and, Make, Model, overall condition, options, and mileage and the amount, if any, owed
2 against the property.

3 RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 1:

5 Plaintiff objects to this Request in that it is over broad and unduly burdensome, and is vague and 6 ambiguous. Further, Defendant has knowledge regarding response to this interrogatory as Plaintiff was 7 provided very limited information regarding the parties' assets. Without waiving said objection Plaintiff
8 responds that upon information and belief, the following properties have community property interest -

- 10 1. 28 Via Mira Monte, Henderson, Nevada 89011
- 11 2. 9716 Oak Pass Road, Beverly Hills, California 90210
- 12 3. 321 S. San Vicente Boulevard, Los Angeles, California 90048
- 13 4. 434 S. Canon Drive, Los Angeles, California 90049
- 14 5. Yacht located in California
- 15 6. 2002 EZ GO 25 HP (Golf Cart)
- 16 7. 2013 Ferrari
- 17 8. 2015 Bentley
- 18 9. 2014 Mercedes
- 19 10. 2015 Bentley
- 20 11. 2013 Hyundai
- 21 12. Other automobiles
- 22 13. Other real properties
- 23 14. Proceeds from sale of previous real properties

24 Discovery in this matter is ongoing. Plaintiff has retained experts to appraise the properties but the 25 properties have not yet been appraised. Plaintiff will produce the appraisal report once completed. Further,
26 Plaintiff will supplement this response regarding community property as and when more information and/or 27 documents become available.
28

INTERROGATORY NO. 2:

29 Please identify all real and personal property, tangible or intangible, that you contend you hold as your 30 separate property (i.e., property you hold in which you claim Defendant has no community property 31 interest). For each item listed, please state the present location of the property, the name(s) in which the
32 property is titled, the purchase price of the property, the fair market value of the property, a complete

1 description and Make, Model, overall condition, options, and mileage and the amount, if any, owed
2 against the property.

3 RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 2:

5 Plaintiff responds that the following real property is her sole and separate property - 1478 East 14th
6 Street, Brooklyn, New York 11230. Further, any and all inheritance Plaintiff has received, or receives in 7 the future, from her family members is her separate property.

8 INTERROGATORY NO.3:

9 Please identify all real and personal property, tangible or intangible, which you have purchased either
10 separately or jointly with another person since the parties' separation. For each item listed, please state the 11 present location of the property, the name(s) in which the property is titled, the purchase price of the 12 property, the fair market value of the property, and the amount, if any, owed against the property.
13

14 RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 3:

15 None.

17 INTERROGATORY NO. 4:

18 Please state whether you believe and/or contend that any community and/or joint-owned property owned
19 by you and Defendant should be divided in any way other than equally, if so, please state all facts that 20 support your belief and/or contention, and identify with specificity all evidence that supports your belief
21 and/or contention.
22

23 RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 4:

24 This case presents the unusual factor of Defendant forming an entirely new family (including two 25 children and a woman who regularly holds herself out as his wife), purchasing lavish and substantial assets
26 for that family, and to this day continuing to utilize and gift community property without Plaintiff's
27
28

1 approval, consent or knowledge. Plaintiff seeks an unequal division of community property to compensate
2 her for Defendant's massive and unauthorized use of community property.

3 INTERROGATORY NO. 5:

4 Please identify any and all accounts held in your name, or held for your benefit in the name of another
5 individual, trust, or entity, including, but not limited to, checking accounts, savings accounts, money
6 market funds, investment accounts, stock accounts, overseas accounts, or certificates of deposit, from 7 January 1, 2005, through the date of your answer to this Interrogatory or the date of final hearing,
8 whichever is later, including the name and address of the financial institution, type of account, and all
9 account numbers
10

Thoughtful Succession Planning Contributes to Enduring Human Capital Advantage

Organizational continuity is vital to the long-term success of a firm, and, to help ensure it, NEA has developed a culture in which younger generations of firm leaders are recruited, nurtured, and promoted from within.

The founders of NEA wanted to create an enduring organization that succeeded long past their involvement. In keeping with this goal, our founders planned for succession early in the life of the firm and appointed Peter Barris as Managing General Partner in 1999, long before their intended retirement. In fact, two founders remained active through NEA's most recent fund, announcing in 2010 their plan to retire at the end of 2012. These two founders remain engaged with NEA and have contributed to a complete and orderly transition of leadership to the next generation of NEA partners. The vision and planning of our founders has provided a roadmap for future generations of NEA partners to transition firm leadership with minimal disruption to business continuity and the overall strength of our organization.

Robust Network Extends Reach of Human Capital Advantages

NEA has built a robust and deeply rooted network over many years of investment activity. Since inception, the firm has cultivated long-term relationships with outstanding entrepreneurs and the executives and operators who help make them successful. We have developed strong working relationships with a large number of technical, academic and industry leaders; top academic centers and universities; major corporations; limited partners; other venture capital firms; institutional and strategic investors; and professional services firms.

Entrepreneurs choose NEA in part because this network of relationships has proven to be invaluable in guiding companies through growth and change. By partnering with NEA, entrepreneurs invite into their camp a deep and committed network of experienced business minds, successful entrepreneurs, vendors, and potential commercial partners and customers. We believe NEA's network is unmatched in the venture investment field, and is perhaps more valuable to our portfolio companies than capital itself.

NEA has backed more than 900 companies over the last 34 years. The entrepreneurs and management of these companies provide an excellent reference for new entrepreneurs and serve as a proprietary and loyal source of deal flow. Further, the extended family of NEA entrepreneurs and executives is a key source of new business ideas, management talent, and industry and operating knowledge that provides us with a strong competitive advantage in the venture capital marketplace. As further evidence of our entrepreneurs' belief in NEA, many have chosen to be limited partners in NEA funds.

The breadth and depth of our investing staff and our network enables us to make decisions quickly and, more importantly, with robust and relevant information. Contrary to what might intuitively be thought of a larger firm—that it could be more bureaucratic and therefore slower to make decisions—NEA is able to respond in competitive situations very quickly. Our network enables us to surround an opportunity with the best resources for assessment and if we do not have the right knowledge in house, we are often one phone call away from getting that resource. This agility actually enables us to move more quickly than some smaller firms that might not have access to all the right resources to make an informed decision in a very short period of time.

Scale Advantages

Dynamic Capital Allocation

Venture capital market cycles tend to shift every 3-4 years, yet limited partners must make decade-long allocations years in advance of the shifts. With NEA's one-fund platform, we are able to reallocate capital and firm resources to attack the most attractive sectors as they evolve during a fund's investing cycle and we are able to respond quickly to valuation cycles – both up and down. We can accumulate ownership in the most promising companies and sectors without violating strict diversification limits that often exist in smaller funds focused on a particular sector, stage or geography. NEA's primary goal is to optimize returns for our limited partners, and if that means we should cut back in one sector due to adverse market forces and then redirect that capital to more attractive opportunities, we are able and willing to do so.

In addition to dynamically allocating capital and resources for optimization, we also believe that there are very strong synergies created by having all practices focused on a single fund. For example, we see that exclusively growth equity funds often find it difficult to get meaningful stakes in the very best companies since they were not in early.

Scale Intensifies Human Capital Strength

A defining trait of a strong venture firm is the ability to catch the next big wave. Return data suggests that the difference between being a top quartile fund and a bottom quartile fund often hinges on when the firm starts investing in a new space, with a 2-3 year gap separating the top performers from the lowest tier. NEA's size and "bench strength" provides structural advantage in this regard. NEA can perform superior market analysis, often leading us to new markets before they truly materialize and enabling us to responsibly invest in the venture capital industry's equivalent of R&D: pursuing new investment sectors. The following are examples of early movement by NEA:

- NEA has been aggressively investing in software-as-a-service (SaaS) since 1999; by the time SaaS became a popular VC thesis around 2004, NEA portfolio companies WebEx and Salesforce.com had already had initial public offerings and NEA was one of the most credible investors in the space
- Today there is considerable buzz around "big data" and the implications for analytics, storage, security and other key market segments. NEA has been active in this space for a very long time. Even discounting the fact that companies like Silicon Graphics (NEA 1) were the "big data" companies of their day, NEA has been at the forefront of this wave with investments like Tableau in 2004 and Vertica in 2006. Vertica is now the cornerstone of HP's "big data" effort and powers the analytics of companies like Zynga, Groupon, JP Morgan, and Verizon.

Scale Enables Calculated Experimentation

Our scale also enables us to selectively "experiment" in new areas and sectors without significant risk to the portfolio. For example, in the social web and digital media markets (consumer space) the amount of investment needed to start a business has decreased in the last several years. With the advent of open source software and cloud infrastructure and a host of other innovations—all of which NEA is also investing in—these types of startups often do not need millions to get started. But some of these companies are likely to be very successful, and that means they will need to scale with substantial capital that angels or other early-stage focused venture capitalists will not have. In order to ensure that NEA is seeing the very best deals early, we took steps in NEA 13 to make it easier to source and win some of the most attractive seed-stage deals by creating a program called "neaseed." This program allows NEA to make small investments, roughly $50-500K, with fewer approval steps in the process. To lessen the potential exposure, a fund's allocation to this program is expected to be approximately $20 million (roughly equivalent to one average investment in an NEA fund). We expect that 4-6 NEA 13 portfolio companies will "graduate" from the neaseed program—i.e., go through our standard investing process and become traditional series A, early-stage investments. We expect the neaseed program to continue in NEA 14.

Other ways we are able to experiment include our active EIR (entrepreneur or executive in residence) program, incubators, and partnering with niche-focused investment funds (including making investments in such funds). In this regard, we have collaborated with a number of angel and incubator groups, including some of the most prominent angel investors in Silicon Valley, the Lab at Harvard, and the Innovation Group based in Chicago. Our experimental-stage projects are intentionally structured so that we can accelerate or throttle back capital commitments at any time as market conditions merit, and we can do so with little risk to the overall portfolio.

Scale Enables Broad Geographic Coverage

In 1977, NEA was founded as one of the industry's first truly bi-coastal firms, enabling us to find the best opportunities at the source of innovation (be it Silicon Valley, Austin, Boston, Chicago, Atlanta, New York City or DC) and to build a vast network of resources and expertise in those areas. We are one of the most active firms in and outside of Silicon Valley. This broad domestic geographic coverage gives us an advantage in sourcing and making the very best investment decisions in a given space no matter where the company is located. In fact, two of our largest portfolio company IPOs during 2011 were Fusion-io (based in Salt Lake City) and Groupon (based in Chicago), both located outside the traditional pockets of venture investing—Silicon Valley and Boston.

Three decades after our bi-coastal beginning, geographic reach remains a core strategy—the most recent development being the recognition that we must execute our strategy on a global playing field. More than half of the global economic growth over the last two decades is attributable to emerging economies. With the increasing impact these developing markets have on the global economy, they now play an integral role in the venture capital ecosystem as opportunities for investment, for strategic partnership, and as consumers of our companies' products and services. In the last seven years we opened affiliate offices in both China and India to take advantage of the opportunities and continue to grow our teams and resources in these countries.

We expect our global investment activities to increase in NRA 14, reflecting both the opportunities in these emerging markets and our ability to source and support the best deals with our local teams. While our primary investment focus will continue to be on domestic companies, we believe that international venture capital will continue to gain share among worldwide venture transactions. As NEA expands and deepens its international scope, entrepreneurs will benefit from our ability to interface as one firm around the world, with seamless access to an extensive network of resources. Our reach and ability to manage geographic diversity provide an enormous competitive advantage, and also help our U.S.-based portfolio companies access the growing markets around the world.

Organization Advantages

As described above, NEA's founders sought to create an enduring institution that would extend beyond the period of their active involvement—a firm that could weather the invariable sector shifts, operational expansions, and leadership transitions that must necessarily occur over time. To provide an institutional infrastructure, NEA is run very much like an operating business, and we hold our firm to the same high standards of discipline, controls and governance to which we hold our entrepreneurs and portfolio companies. Each of our funds has been managed to ensure transparency of information, fairness, and an alignment of interests among all constituents. We are often described by existing limited partners as a model of best practice venture capital firm governance.

NEA recognizes that top-tier execution and discipline are required for a firm to operate successfully at scale. We have carefully built an infrastructure to support that scale, including a back-office system of people and technology that leverages the investing partners' time and enables efficient operations. Additionally, these systems promote transparency and consistency within the organization, allowing us to more effectively benchmark and identify opportunities for improvement.

NEA also has well-defined control structures that enable authority to be delegated to sector-level sub-teams for coverage, accountability, and agility while retaining central oversight. All investment processes are specifically designed to encourage knowledge transfer.

Aligned Incentives

Our aligned incentive philosophy is a core driver of our conduct and investing practices. We align incentives among NEA, limited partners and entrepreneurs to ensure that we only win when our partners win. Key aspects of aligned incentives include:

- A comparatively low management fee—we make money when limited partners make money
- A single, unified fund—one hot sector or geography does not push the fund into carry if others are under water
- Investing staff compensated with single fund carry, not per deal incentives—this creates alignment among all sector, stage, and geographic teams to encourage optimizing returns around the best mix of sector investments
- History of equitable compensation to retain talent and drive long-term franchise value
- Fair deal terms that align entrepreneur and NEA on the same side of the table to make rational decisions that are for the good of the company vs. the good of one side or another

Board of Advisors

We believe that our Board of Advisors (Board) structure is unique. NEA's Board includes some of NEA's largest limited partners and functions much like the boards of our portfolio companies. We look to its members for insight and guidance.

The Board of each NEA partnership approves quarterly investment valuations and provides input on strategy and relevant operating matters. Each Board generally meets six times per year and holds additional meetings as required. The following table lists the members of the NEA VIII, 8A, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13 Boards and their professional affiliations:

Top Tier Returns through Multiple Cycles

NEA's approach to investing and building a firm has yielded top-tier results. Throughout our history, the firm generally has delivered top quartile performance. Since inception, the NEA investment partnerships have invested in more than 900 companies, resulting in 170 IPOs and more than 290 acquisitions. As of September 30, 2011 the aggregate portfolio has generated $16.1 billion of total value on contributed capital of $9.5 billion, implying a 1.7x multiple (1.5x net multiple to limited partners) with an aggregate 17.2% net IRR to limited partners.

Our investing record is summarized in the table below:

The terms of NEA IV, VI, VII, VIII, 8A and 9 expired on December 31 of 1998, 2005, 2008, 2010, 2010 and 2011 respectively, and those partnerships are in the process of winding up their operations. NEA 10, 11 and 12 continue to primarily make follow-on investments. It is projected that approximately 98% of the $2.48 billion of committed capital in NEA 13 will be invested or reserved by the time of NEA 14's first closing. NEA 13 expects to make new investments into the second quarter of 2012, some of which we may seek to transfer to NEA 14, and then use remaining capital primarily for future financings of existing portfolio companies or for the payment of operating expenses.

Investment Strategy

NEA seeks to fund entrepreneurs building high-growth, enduring companies. Our scale, experience, and network provide us with the platform and flexibility to support a company at every stage of its development—from seed incubation to start-up to expansion and consolidation. In so doing, we develop a unique relationship with every entrepreneur we back, serving as a long-term counselor and partner in building extraordinary businesses.

NEA has always sought to anticipate and embrace change, whether it is within our venture capital ecosystem or in the shifting global markets. Cultivating disruptive technologies, process innovation, and game-changing business models to build industry-leading companies is as intrinsic to our own operations as it is to our investing strategy. We have successfully navigated countless market fluctuations and sector transformations, and we have led the venture industry across the Pacific to India and China and into a new sector of the asset class, Venture Growth

Proprietary and Confidential

Equity ("VGE"). Today, we recognize the need to further evolve in response to significant changes in the domestic venture capital, international venture capital, and public markets.

While our venture investing strategy has evolved to span multiple sectors, stages, and geographies, our fundamental approach still holds true: we partner with entrepreneurs to build transformational companies with exceptional growth potential. We know that innovation is the lifeblood of venture capital; accordingly, our outlook is macroeconomic and not driven by short-term trends. At its core, NEA is a company builder. We are highly confident that companies in our portfolio will help to drive several key areas of global innovation: the widespread impact of the internet and mobile devices, the discovery and development of alternative energy technologies, and the health and well-being of an aging population.

Investment Stage

NEA's proven venture investment strategy spans all stages of a company's growth, from seeding innovations in emerging markets to funding early-stage companies in high-growth markets to fueling the growth of market leaders. Traditional early-stage venture capital investing continues to be the mainstay of our strategy—in fact, NEA is the most active early-stage investor in the industry and this stage continues to generate excellent returns. In 2011, 22 NEA-backed company IPOs and M&A events were traditional early stage venture capital investments. The firm's deep domain expertise and vast network ensure that NEA sees and wins the best early-stage deals.

NEA's venture growth equity practice has grown organically over the last several funds, as we found that exceptional company-building opportunities also exist in later-stage companies that, due to cyclical realities, are cut off from their usual financing routes. Our large capital base and venture investing expertise allow us to pursue these larger venture opportunities at later stages where downside risk is mitigated. These investments have the potential to yield returns comparable to early-stage investments. In 2011, venture growth equity deals accounted for $157.6 million (or 35%) of NEA distributions across all funds. We believe that our VGE investing strategy will continue to enjoy significant competitive advantage. Most other venture firms lack the capital base to make investments of this size, yet these deals inherently entail more risk than other providers of capital typically will assume. Domain expertise, long term business-building skills, and incentive systems—all key components of a successful VGE strategy—are integral parts of NEA's venture capital foundation.

As in earlier funds, and as part of our VGE venture strategy, NEA 14 will continue to invest a small amount in publicly traded companies, particularly those with a small market capitalization in the healthcare industry. Changing capital markets have lengthened the traditional timelines for value creation and created opportunities for NEA and other investors with longer time horizons than most public investors. In addition to supporting portfolio companies as they transition from private to public markets, NEA also sources and executes new public investments, including PIPEs, in small and micro-cap companies with return profiles similar to traditional venture opportunities.

The table below describes the distribution of historical NEA investments by stage of company at the time of initial investment:

As of September 30, 2011

Public/PIPE	6%	6%	7%	2%

Investment Size

Consistent with NEA's policy of diversification, initial investments typically range from $500,000 up to $75 million or more. Over the past two years, NEA 13's initial investments across all deals have averaged $9.1 million and average total dollars invested per deal are expected to be around $20.5 million. In most instances, the size of an investment will be determined by a financial plan which demonstrates that the capital sought will be adequate to support the portfolio company's operations until it accomplishes certain significant milestones. It is expected that most portfolio companies will require further capital support from their investors and NEA 14 plans to maintain sufficient capital reserves to be able to provide that additional financing, if warranted.

Ownership and Support

NEA is a very active investor. We prefer to take meaningful ownership positions in companies where we can make a difference and we seek board representation (historically we have had board seats approximately 85% of the time). We bring the full power of our extensive network to help portfolio companies succeed. We assist management in a variety of ways including recruiting management, formulating strategy, helping to obtain strategic partners and customers, and advising on financing matters. The tables below demonstrate our commitment to active investing.

Joint Investment

NEA 14 expects to co-invest in companies with other NEA partnerships. If NEA 14 invests in existing portfolio companies of the earlier NEA partnerships, the initial investment in such companies will generally be subject to prior approval by the NEA 14 Board of Advisors.

Sector Strategies

As in previous funds, NEA 14's investments will focus on our core areas of expertise: information technology, healthcare and energy technology across multiple stages and geographies. Information technology and healthcare have anchored our domain focus across much of our history and continue to be highly attractive investment areas, characterized by rapid growth in key sectors and the potential for disruptive innovations. Energy technology, which became a focus in NEA 12, has become a significant segment of our investing strategy.

We have organized our resources into practices around key areas of interest within each industry, geography and stage. Each practice is co-led internally by designated NEA partners, who in turn coordinate the efforts of the investment team focused on each area. This helps to streamline processes, ensure optimal resource and capital allocation, and contributes to investment discipline and effective governance throughout the organization. We have established nine distinct practices to date: Consumer Technology; Electronics; Enterprise Infrastructure and Services (EIS); Energy Technology; Biopharmaceuticals; Healthcare Services; Medical Devices; China; and India.

We currently anticipate that NEA 14's investment dollars will generally follow NEA 13's current run-rates for these various industries and geographies with some reallocation among them. Specifically, at this time, we anticipate a smaller allocation to healthcare investing in total and larger allocations to IT (specifically to our EIS practice) and China. However, as with past funds, we may change this mix during the course of NEA 14 in response to business opportunities and market conditions. Historically, NEA has successfully demonstrated the ability to navigate sector transformations, market fluctuations and other significant changes within a fund's lifecycle.

In the following table, historical invested dollars are categorized by industry and geography.

Information Technology

NEA has built a premier franchise in information technology ("IT") investing that has produced substantial returns for NEA's limited partners and resulted in many leading technology companies. This success has created a valuable brand name for NEA, which brings us into contact with many of the best investment opportunities. We are capable of evaluating these opportunities quickly and winning the vast majority of the deals we pursue. NEA's extensive network, domain knowledge, and reputation help in recruiting outstanding management teams, and when additional capital is needed, NEA's involvement is a strong attraction to other investors.

The NEA IT franchise also strengthened its reputation in the last decade by showing the courage and conviction to continue investing throughout the bust cycles of 2000 and 2009. While many other venture firms pulled back from investing in early-stage IT companies, NEA was among the most active, continuing to support both our existing portfolio companies as well as those new companies with particular promise. Many of those investments are currently developing into successful companies or have produced very meaningful exits for the NEA funds in recent years.

NEA endeavors to identify market needs and technology trends that are likely to lead to rapid growth of new products or services, and ultimately create large markets. We determine whether a market is conducive to successful new company formation by analyzing market demand, competitive forces, alternative technologies, customer requirements, barriers to entry, and other factors. NEA uses these analyses both as a filter through which to view the investment opportunities brought to us through our deep network of world-class entrepreneurs, and as a roadmap for actively seeking out the companies that will create entirely new areas of opportunity. Naturally, we seek to back the best entrepreneurs and management teams in a given area. If we are unable to back the best team, we seldom pursue an investment. Instead, we may monitor a leading company in a given developing sector, cultivate our relationships with management and existing board members, and position NEA to lead a subsequent financing round if the opportunity remains attractive.

We learn about coming disruptions in IT in numerous ways, by keeping close relationships with industry leaders and by letting our companies lead us into interesting spaces. To foster our industry relationships, NEA has formed an advisory council of Chief Information Officers (CIOs), which includes the CIOs of some of the nation's most prominent corporations. The council serves as a source of customer perspective and is also a valuable conduit for our portfolio companies that seek to sell to enterprises. We often find that our initial investment in a new area will lead to other investments in the same space. What may start out as a bet outside our current focus area may become a new focus area as the new market develops.

We prefer to take a leadership role as board members and gain large ownership positions in early-stage IT companies. This affords us the opportunity to intimately know a company, which helps to calibrate our follow-on investment strategy. In our best companies, we seek to increase our ownership where we can, and in under-performers, we decrease our subsequent investments. In addition to enhancing returns from our best companies, our large capital base also allows us to support attractive projects through periods of illiquidity by increasing ownership percentages.

Proprietary and Confidential

Our IT investments tend to fall into three practice areas which we believe offer great opportunity for growth and outsized returns and for which we have deep levels of expertise. These practice areas are:

Consumer Technology

Although NEA has always been an investor in consumer companies and has helped build some major consumer brands (including leading first rounds in companies such as TIVO, CareerBuilder, and Vonage), starting in NEA 12 we began directing significant resources to build a leading consumer investing franchise. Today our consumer sector is our highest-performing (even excluding investment results from Groupon). We are perceived by entrepreneurs as a leading firm in this area and we have built a consumer franchise that is uniquely suited to NEA. We view the consumer technology sector as one of the ripest areas for investment and growth that we have seen a long time. With internet and mobile technologies now pervasive and increasingly affordable throughout the world, consumer technologies and services can be created and propagated more quickly and more cheaply than ever before. NEA's early investments in companies like Groupon, Playdom, and Diapers.com have changed both the perception and the reality of our consumer practice, and generated a lot of high-quality deal flow in their wake. As a result, we believe that our consumer practice is established and robust and we intend to continue a similar investment pace in NEA 14 as we deployed in NEA 13.

Areas in the consumer space that most excite us going forward are:

- Social applications and platforms that deliver unparalleled consumer engagement and low customer acquisition costs; people now spend more time on social networks than they do e-mail.
- Wave 2 e-commerce—companies and technologies that are enabling event buying and game mechanics are accelerating the offline-to-online trend across almost all commerce verticals.
- Mobile Internet—is growing faster than desktop internet did, and is now a primary computing device for most of the world.

EIS

Our Enterprise Infrastructure & Services (EIS) practice is a mainstay of NEA's information technology investment area of focus. We saw signs of enterprise spend recovery in 2011 with a massive shift in the mix to new technologies. The transition to virtualization, rising adoption of cloud computing, and explosive growth of enterprise mobility are the key themes in play. The CIO is becoming a service provider with software, platform and infrastructure delivered as a service from either internal or external, third party cloud services. In fact, "infrastructure as a service" is expected to have 60% year-over-year growth. And the onset of tablet computing and other "consumer-driven" technologies in the enterprise are creating new waves of products that render many traditional mainstays obsolete. Wholesale infrastructure changes like these create disruption and opportunities for new technologies and companies to grow rapidly, and NEA intends to fuel this innovation. Given these compelling market factors, we believe our investment in EIS companies in NEA 14 will exceed the rate of investment made in NEA 13.

Electronics

NEA is a leading firm in the electronics sector, with the expertise and the capital needed to invest in semiconductors and systems companies worldwide. For NEA 14, a core investing theme in the electronics sector is to capitalize on the explosive growth of wireless data, which creates opportunities for better use of new and existing spectrum bands, re-architecture of cellular networks around small cells, and richer network topologies to create system-wide efficiencies. Another key theme is emerging from the explosive growth of Internet connected devices—both wireless and wired, linking human users and machines to machines within the home and in the enterprise—that is leading to new bottlenecks in carrier, utility, and enterprise networks. We expect the need for new network devices that deliver this new scale at competitive costs and see this as a fertile investing area for NEA 14. Finally, the move to cloud computing both within the enterprise and among consumer Internet services is leading to a major rewiring of datacenter hardware from servers to network security to storage devices. We plan to invest around these major shifts in hardware capabilities as part of the NEA 14 portfolio.

The semiconductor space has been challenging over the last several years due to its capital intensity and as a result we have adapted our portfolio allocations in prior funds to reflect this, but in 2010 the sector came off historic lows in terms of industry revenues, deal activity, and valuations, and is likely entering a cyclical upturn. As importantly, as chips continue to become more capable and cheaper to buy, we are seeing hardware companies blur the lines between systems and semiconductors in positioning themselves within the value chain, just as companies blurred the lines between IP and chip business models in the past. We have seen examples of this within our portfolio: Fusion-io has wrapped systems expertise and value around a Field Programmable Gate Array (FPGA)—based hardware design and has built a stronger model than pure silicon plays, while keeping their options open on making their own chips as well; Audience, on the other hand, chose to build a chip rather than deliver audio IP, but continues to stay flexible with respect to its business model. For NEA 14, our intention is to have a unified investing approach to systems, IP and semiconductor deals as companies innovate both on products and on business models to capture value. We expect the size of this portfolio for NEA 14 to be consistent with NEA 12 and NEA 13.

Energy Technology

There is no doubt that the cleantech market offers tremendous opportunity for innovation and growth. For the first time, we are seeing more investments go into renewable energy than into traditional fossil fuels. Emerging markets are also driving growth in global energy demand and accelerating build-out of renewables. We believe that during the next decade, renewables will be more important than fossil fuels for satisfying incremental power supply. This market growth and increasing demand creates opportunity for new technologies and companies to take hold and we intend to fuel their ability to do so.

NEA has built an industry-leading practice in this area, with competitive strength bolstered by our unique level of in-house expertise and our ability to invest at scale across multiple contexts. However, true to our advantage of dynamically allocating capital and resources during investment cycles, we invested less in energy technology in NEA 13 than we had originally intended given some of the challenges facing the market, especially in those areas that are more capital intensive. While we will continue to invest in a limited number of capital intensive deals when we think the opportunity is truly transformational, our emphasis is more on capital-light areas such as:

- LEDs—new LED technology is disrupting huge markets and we can leverage NEA's extensive electronics expertise
- Energy Storage—enabling technology for a wide range of important applications including consumer electronics, transportation and renewables
- Conservation—energy management, smart grid and green IT/computing are all part of this category; this area leverages NEA's technology team's expertise
- International—China and India are becoming major players in the energy technology sector as rapid GDP, middle-class and energy demand growth is hampered by unreliable existing infrastructure in need of upgrade; we can leverage NEA's global reach and team to attack this opportunity

We believe NEA's reputation and standing in the energy technology sector is among the very best, even compared to focused alternative energy funds, and think we are well positioned within the sector. For NEA 14, we anticipate our investment allocation to be comparable to our current run rate in NEA 13.

Healthcare

Healthcare expenditures continue to represent a significant and growing portion of the U.S. economy—more than $2.6 trillion in 2010 and representing over 17.6% of GDP. Healthcare spending continues to grow at a rate faster than the broader economy and is expected to represent 19.8% of GDP and exceed $4.6 trillion by the year 2020. In the midst of pervasive concerns about the relationship between healthcare quality and cost, NEA sees tremendous opportunity to invest in companies that will address unmet or underserved clinical needs and combine better clinical outcomes with lower costs. Innovative products, technologies, and service models will be critical in addressing the needs of our healthcare system. We believe that investing in healthcare innovation will continue to be a successful and financially rewarding strategy for the foreseeable future.

Healthcare venture capital investing has been an area of focus for NEA since the firm's inception in 1977. Over this period, NEA funds have invested in more than 275 healthcare companies, of which 76 have successfully completed IPOs and an additional 45 have been sold at a profit. NEA has been the proud financial sponsor and partner of companies that have pioneered transformative innovations in healthcare, including balloon angioplasty, laparoscopic surgery, rational drug design, and Medicare and Medicaid managed care delivery business models. With over 30 years of experience in healthcare investing, an extensive network of contacts, and the ability to invest across all stages of development, we believe that NEA has a preeminent franchise in healthcare investing.

NEA has an extensive network within the healthcare venture capital market and is a preferred venture investment partner for companies with large opportunities that require investors with deep financial resources and a long-term investment horizon. NEA features a robust healthcare investing team, including full-time investment professionals with experience in company operations, clinical medicine, research and finance. This team is supported by venture partners with extensive experience leading large pharmaceutical and medical device companies, academic medical centers and government regulatory authorities.

Given some macro challenges present in the healthcare market today, especially as it relates to the conservativeness of the current FDA and the increased time and cost to get to market, we expect the NEA 14 portfolio allocation to domestic healthcare investment to decrease moderately as compared to NEA 13. However, we believe that opportunities for healthcare investing will increase in both India and China and we have already started to deploy capital against this opportunity set in NEA 12 and 13. In fact, one of our recent successful China-related exits was for a company in the healthcare sector, China Health Ltd.

We believe there are several key practice areas within the healthcare industry that will drive overall industry growth.

Biopharma

Biopharma will continue to be a major practice within NEA's healthcare area of focus. Macro trends such as globalization, ongoing innovation, and increasing interest from big pharma continue to drive biopharma productivity and liquidity. Chronic diseases such as diabetes and heart disease are increasingly prevalent worldwide with aging populations and the wide adoption of Western diets. An emerging global middle class also has greater ability to treat chronic, acute and terminal illnesses with advanced medicines. Globalization has also accelerated new business model innovations, such as outsourcing of chemistry and manufacturing, to drive capital efficiency. In addition, the rapid proliferation of genomic data has facilitated the emergence of a new oncology drug development model in which specific mutations driving tumors can be targeted. Using paired diagnostics, clinical trials can be enriched for those patients most likely to benefit from the therapy. This model, which has already had a handful of successes, can result in faster and less costly drug development and higher clinical trial success rates. Importantly, big pharma has become increasingly dependent on venture capital-backed innovation. Genericization of key products, FDA conservatism, pricing pressures, and poor R&D productivity have led several big pharma and big biotech companies to cut internal R&D spending as a way of supporting near-term operating margins. Big pharma is increasingly eager to access external innovation to fill pipelines, with more active corporate venture capital and new models to partner with biotech, venture and academia. M&A and IPO activity has also picked up, with liquidity events being possible at earlier stages for selected high-quality companies. NEA 13 biopharma investments, which are diversified with respect to stage, therapeutic area, and level of clinical and commercial risk, capitalize on many of these themes. Several NEA portfolio companies have late-stage products targeting genetically-defined cancers, rare diseases, and chronic illnesses, while others with novel biologic platforms (including, multi-specific antibodies and peptide drugs) have reached or are near the clinic with drug candidates. The NEA 13 portfolio also highlights the strengths of our biopharma team, including the ability to leverage our capital base to build toward a larger exit, operational experience to guide both earlier stage companies and those planning near-term IPOs, the ability to selectively invest in public companies to complement and leverage our private investing effort, and NEA's strong reputation and relationships that enable us to work with the best management teams. We continue to see exciting opportunities with NEA 14 to build valuable biopharma companies that can advance meaningful innovations and provide attractive returns.

Proprietary and Confidential

Medical Devices

From a market perspective, the medical devices sector is reemerging after facing headwinds of an economic downturn as well as a more conservative FDA regulatory environment. During much of the NEA 13 investing cycle, our team deliberately focused on ensuring that our current portfolio companies continue to be well financed and strategically positioned to succeed. We successfully recruited high-quality, commercially experienced CEOs to our companies, and opportunistically increased NEA's ownership in emerging category winners. In addition, we continued to invest in NEA's incubator strategy to build the next class of franchise opportunities in the medical device industry. More recently, we have seen an increase in strong deal flow as companies that have survived the downturn look for fresh capital, and have made select investments in high quality, later stage companies with attractive entry valuations and terms. Looking ahead in 2012 and beyond, we expect to see a continued rebound in M&A activity that began in 2010 and 2011 as large cap medical device companies, which are facing declining organic growth rates from mature business segments, are using record cash balances to acquire novel technologies at increasingly early stages of development. We plan to continue taking advantage of these attractive market conditions to initiate new investments in companies that can drive significant value creation with faster timelines to liquidity events.

Healthcare Services

Of the massive total healthcare spending in the U.S., the services market is the largest sector and is in the midst of unprecedented expansion given the aging population, continued growth of chronic conditions and lack of care coordination across delivery settings. Due to the sector's size and scope, we believe that the healthcare services industry is the space where much of the ongoing transformation sweeping the U.S. health system will be centered.

Consequently, we believe NEA's commitment and focus in the healthcare services sector is poised to pay dividends as we believe that we are uniquely positioned to take advantage of the new, disruptive models being created in the space. During the height of government-led healthcare reform, we decreased our dollars into this space as the domestic landscape grew increasingly uncertain, but we did not abandon it. Once implementation and timing of the reform legislation became clearer, we were able to opportunistically deploy capital in sectors that had positive reimbursement outlooks. With the elections, continued Affordable Care Act implementation, and CMS regulations as a backdrop, we expect that 2012 will be a very active year for our domestic healthcare services practice as we continue to focus on companies that increase access, decrease cost, and improve quality of care.

We are also channeling this expertise into healthcare services investments in China and India, where we believe the opportunity is outstanding. We believe that healthcare services in both countries remains a significantly under-penetrated sector, with the demand far outstripping the supply due to improved economic conditions and modernization-trends which make healthcare services attractive from both long-term investing and risk mitigation perspectives. We have been able to leverage NEA's differentiated competitive position as one of the few venture firms investing in China and India with real healthcare services domain expertise. In this respect, we believe that the healthcare market in the U.S., while not perfectly predictive, will serve as a good indicator for where the China and India healthcare markets may ultimately be headed.

Geography-Focused Practices

The venture industry is globalizing, and we believe that NEA is better positioned than ever to benefit. We are leveraging one of NEA's key competitive advantages—effectively managing geographically-diverse operations—to continue to expand our footprint in China and India. With staff on the ground in those countries and close alliances with local investing partners, we plan to invest approximately 20% - 30% of NEA 14's committed capital in emerging markets.

China

NEA was among the first U.S. venture firms to begin investing in China—we made our initial investment more than nine years ago. We have built an extensive network of relationships with talented entrepreneurs and government contacts, supported by a growing local team of investment professionals.

We recognized early the importance of on-the-ground support in China to complement our U.S.-based team focused on China investing activities. This staff is further leveraged by employees of China-based funds with which NEA works closely—BioVeda for healthcare investments and Northern Light for information technology investments. During the NEA 14 investing cycle, we intend to continue building our local team to enable increased investing activity. We are committed to leveraging NEA's connected global platform and resources to build long-term competitive advantage in China.

We intend to increase our velocity of investing in China in NEA 14 as we begin to capitalize on our success to date. Fundamental growth drivers will continue to shape our investing strategy in China. China's GDP has grown steadily at 8-10% per year for three decades, and its economy has quickly burgeoned to become one of the world's largest, with an emerging middle class of nearly 800 million people. This economic story has set a backdrop for exceptional venture opportunities. While China's growth has shown signs of slowing in the last 12 months, the magnitude of growth remains outsized versus the U.S. and other established economies.

Areas of particular focus for NEA 14 will be:

- Technology, Media and Communications—social commerce, mobile internet and cloud computing are just as important growth areas in China as in the U.S.
- Healthcare—public hospital restructurings and private hospital growth, as well as the transfer of the global pharmaceutical value chain to China
- Consumer and Industrial—technology intensive advanced manufacturing, high-growth franchise/chain retail services and high-quality consumer brands

India

Since early 2000, NEA has been taking definitive steps in India, resulting in a clear understanding of the market and a defined investment strategy. Many of NEA's core strengths have proven to be key assets in the rapidly growing Indian market—our diversified strategy and ability to invest across stage and sector plays well in India's developing market, where opportunities are emerging in a wide variety of sectors. Our established local network includes deep government, corporate and financial connections as well as firmly established relationships with in-country venture and private equity firms and investment banks. NEA's expanding global footprint is a competitive advantage in India, owing both to the increasing connectedness of the Indian and global markets and our access to investment and business development opportunities around the world. Yet perhaps most valuable to our portfolio companies is NEA's ability to add value and offer guidance through all stages of growth—our company building skills are a key advantage in an emerging market where management and board talent are still developing.

We believe the Indian economy provides significant venture potential over the medium term, bolstered by strong macro-economic drivers, a widespread prevalence of family-owned enterprises, and respected legal structures. Despite short-term challenges from currency depreciation and inflation, India's estimated GDP growth is 6-8%. Macroeconomic factors like rising income levels and favorable demographics, which underpinned India's phenomenal growth in the last decade, will continue to provide the growth impetus and the services industry leads the way. However, as India scales up to become the fourth largest economy by 2020, we expect investment opportunities to be more diverse and wide-ranging across sectors and stages. We expect many opportunities will emanate from rising consumption and infrastructure needs resulting from a growing middle class. With a strong origination strategy and an active, shared deal approach, we believe that our investments in India will be well positioned to deliver superior returns.

From a stage perspective, the venture growth equity space in India is the most vibrant, accounting for nearly 80% of recent NEA deals transacted, in both value and volume terms. While there has been a recent strong surge towards late-stage funding, the venture growth equity mid-market opportunity is likely to dominate the investment scenario for the next several years. We believe that the mid-market, defined as companies with an equity value of less than $500 million and requiring capital of $15-75 million and exponential growth possibilities, has the most attractive return potential and should be the focus of NEA 14. We will also continue to make selective early-stage investments, particularly those with unique technology IP or business models. We anticipate our India investment rate for NEA 14 to be similar to that of NEA 13.

NEA Crossover Strategy

Beginning with NEA II, NEA has had a practice of investing in selected portfolio companies of prior NEA partnerships. This crossover program has enhanced the rates of return of the new funds. NEA 14's initial investment in any company in which an earlier NEA partnership has an existing investment generally will require the approval of the NEA 14 Board of Advisors. NEA's crossover strategy was adopted for several reasons, among which are allowing the partners to leverage their time and permitting the partnerships to make later-stage investments, including in some publicly held companies, which may lead to distributions to the limited partners earlier in a partnership's life. This early return of capital enhances the fund's rate of return. Crossover investments in private companies have historically ranged from 1% to 26% of committed capital. Private crossover investments currently account for 1% of committed capital in NEA 13.

NEA Partner Communications

NEA has developed a robust internal and external communication system to facilitate its operations. NEA believes its limited partners are partners first and foremost and that communicating with its partners in a meaningful way, and on a regular basis, is vital to the success of the NEA partnerships. NEA has developed an extensive communications program so that its limited partners are kept up-to-date on the status and prospects of each partnership. NEA publishes numerous materials and holds a variety of meetings to maintain communications both internally and externally. In addition, historical and current partnership financial statements, distribution reports and some limited portfolio company summary information is available via NEA's private website for limited partners. Financial statements and other reports and information are subject to confidentiality restrictions and limitations.

External Communications

The following table lists NEA's principal external reports and meetings:

Quarterly	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Partnership overview / financial statements / capital account information/Portfolio Business Summaries	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Board of Advisors
Annual	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Partnership overview / financial statementsTax information	<ul style="list-style-type: none">In person meeting for all limited partners; includes partnership status reports and projections of performance

The reports are generated and the meetings are organized by an experienced and broad team of business professionals. This ensures that the investment partners are free of significant administrative responsibility and can focus exclusively on their portfolio companies and investing activities.

Internal Communications

Weekly meetings of NEA investment professionals and industry and practice teams are a critical component of NEA's internal management process. Every Monday, the industry teams meet separately for two hours followed by a joint meeting of investment professionals and a General Partner meeting where potential investments are presented for approval. These meetings, which are facilitated by video teleconferencing, are frequently preceded by company presentations.

Proprietary and Confidential

Company presentations by key members of the management team of potential new companies, as well as by existing portfolio companies seeking follow-on funding, represent an important component of our decision-making process, and the video teleconferencing format aids the fidelity of communications and interactive discussions.

The team meetings generally include in-depth discussions of candidate companies, assignment of and status updates on due diligence, review of current portfolio companies, and identification of follow-up action items as well as strategy development and implementation.

The joint meeting of investment professionals follows an agenda prepared in advance, which includes review and approval of minutes of prior meetings, summary of team meeting discussions and decisions, presentations by sponsors of proposed investments followed by discussion and vote, distribution planning, merger and acquisitions activity, near-term IPOs, fund cash flows, company valuation updates, and other operating and administrative matters.

This process permits all investment professionals to keep current with both partnership and portfolio company matters and engages the entire group in problem solving and pursuit of opportunities.

Partner's capital commitment may be paid through deemed contributions. The amount of the Management Fee (as defined below) payable by the Partnership will be reduced by this amount of the deemed capital contributions. With respect to capital contributions to be made by the General Partner, the General Partner may make such contributions in the form of promissory notes, for up to $5 million in the aggregate, to the extent that it receives capital contributions from certain of its partners in the form of promissory notes. Members or directors of NEA Management will not be permitted to make capital contributions to the General Partner in the form of promissory notes.

Investment Period:

The investment period (the "Investment Period") of the Partnership will expire on the earlier to occur of (i) the sixth anniversary of the due date of the initial drawdown of capital contributions (the "Initial Drawdown") (or such later date as may be approved by the Partnership's Board of Advisors (as described below)) and (ii) election by 66 2/3% in interest of the limited partners of the Partnership (the "Limited Partners" and, together with the General Partner, the "Partners") within 120 days after notice of the occurrence of a Key Person Event, except to the extent that 66 2/3% in interest of Limited Partners subsequently elect to reinstate the Investment Period. A "Key Person Event" shall occur if fewer than six Key Persons are devoting the business time to the Partnership and related entities that is required of a director of the GP LTD (as more fully described below) at any time prior to the later to occur of (i) the sixth anniversary of the due date of the Initial Drawdown and (ii) the date that at least two-thirds of the Partnership's committed capital has been invested, committed to specific investments (with each such commitment approved by the Board of Advisors) or reserved for follow-on investments. The "Key Persons" for this purpose shall initially be Messrs. Barrett, Barris, Baskett, Drant, Florence, Kerins, Kolluri, Mott, Sandell, Sonsini, Viswanathan and Weller. The Board of Advisors shall have the authority to approve the appointment of additional persons as Key Persons. After the Investment Period has expired the Partnership generally may only make follow-on investments and investments in publicly traded securities purchased on the open market.

Term:

The term of the Partnership shall continue until the end of the calendar quarter that includes the twelfth anniversary of the due date of the Initial Drawdown. However, the term of the Partnership may be extended by the General Partner for up to three additional one-year periods with the consent of 66 2/3% in interest of the Limited Partners.

Proprietary and Confidential

Interest of the Limited Partners.

Drawdowns:

The initial capital contribution of each Partner will be payable on such date as the General Partner may determine with not less than five business days' notice. The remaining capital contributions of the Limited Partners will be payable in installments upon ten business days' notice from the General Partner. If, immediately prior to the Initial Drawdown date, participation in the Partnership by "benefit plan investors" (as defined in Section 3(42) of the US Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended ("ERISA")) is "significant" (within the meaning of the ERISA "plan asset" regulations) or if otherwise determined by the General Partner, the initial capital contributions of Limited Partners that are subject to ERISA and certain other Limited Partners may be delayed as necessary (or may be required to be held in escrow) in order to prevent the assets of the Partnership from constituting "plan assets" under ERISA. Any Limited Partner that fails to make capital contributions when due will be subject to forfeiture of a significant portion of its interest in the Partnership and other remedies, subject to certain limited exceptions.

Subsequent Closings:

Subsequent closings may occur for up to 270 days after the due date of the initial drawdown (or, with approval of the Board of Advisors, up to 365 days after the due date of the initial drawdown). Each Limited Partner admitted (or increasing its commitment) at any subsequent closing will be required to agree to (i) contribute the same percentage of its capital commitment (or increased commitment) that each other Limited Partner had been required to contribute prior to such closing, and (ii) pay an additional amount, calculated like interest at a per annum rate equal to the prime rate plus 2%, on the amount of such contribution (which additional amount will not reduce such Limited Partner's unpaid subscription).

Borrowing and Guarantees:

The Partnership may borrow money, provided that the aggregate amount of borrowings outstanding at any one time does not exceed 15% of aggregate capital commitments (or 20% if approval of the Board of Advisors is obtained).

The Partnership may guarantee the obligations of its portfolio companies, provided that the amount of guarantees outstanding at any one time does not exceed 10% of aggregate capital commitments (or 15% if approval of the Board of Advisors is obtained).

Reinvestment:

The General Partner may elect to reinvest the proceeds from the disposition of portfolio investments, provided that the aggregate cost basis of all portfolio investments made by the Partnership (excluding investments in the same portfolio company made with redemption, repayment or other proceeds within one year of receipt, investments that are realized within one year from the time such investments were made and investments in publicly traded securities acquired in the open market (unless, while the Partnership holds such publicly traded securities, the Partnership subsequently acquires other securities directly from the issuer of such securities in a negotiated transaction)) generally will not exceed 110% of aggregate capital commitments (or 125% if approval of the Board of Advisors is obtained).

Proprietary and Confidential

Management Fee:

The Partnership will pay to NEA Management an annual management fee (the "Management Fee"), payable quarterly in advance, equal to 1.25% of aggregate capital commitments, determined as if all capital commitments had been accepted on the due date of the Initial Drawdown and with interest payable at the prime rate plus 2% per annum on deferred Management Fee amounts attributable to additional capital commitments accepted at closings after the Initial Drawdown. The annual Management Fee for the first year following the end of the Partnership's term will equal 1.25% of the lesser of (i) the aggregate cost and (ii) the aggregate fair value of the Partnership's remaining portfolio investments. The Management Fee will generally be reduced by 100% of any fees or other remuneration received by the General Partner, the GP LTD, the Service Company or the Individual General Partners from the Partnership's portfolio companies.

Expenses:

The General Partner will cause NEA Management and/or other Service Companies to bear the routine, normal operating expenses related to the Partnership such as compensation of the Service Companies' employees, rent, utilities and office expenses. The Partnership will bear all other expenses incurred by it, including, but not limited to, commissions or brokerage fees; fees and expenses of members of the Board of Advisors; expenses of litigation involving the Partnership; normal and extraordinary investment banking, legal, custodial, administrative and accounting services, including such services in connection with the purchase and sale of investments (whether or not consummated); insurance premiums; fees for consulting services related to portfolio investments and prospective portfolio investments (whether or not consummated); travel expenses in connection with the investigation of investment opportunities (whether or not consummated) and other similar fees and expenses.

Investment Restrictions:

Without the consent of the Board of Advisors, (i) the Partnership's investment in any single company (net of the proceeds of investments in such company) will not exceed 10% of the Partnership's aggregate capital commitments; (ii) the Partnership may not acquire publicly traded securities on the open market if at the time of such acquisition the cost basis of any such securities so acquired and still held by the Partnership would exceed 10% of the Partnership's aggregate capital commitments (excluding investments in connection with going private transactions, initial public offerings of existing portfolio companies and acquisitions of securities in the open market if the Partnership subsequently acquires other securities directly from the issuer of such securities in a negotiated transaction); (iii) the Partnership's investment in companies formed outside of the United States and Canada (net of the proceeds from such investments) will not exceed 30% of the Partnership's aggregate capital commitments (provided that if approval of the Board of Advisors is obtained to exceed 30% the Partnership's investment in such entities may not exceed 35%) and (iv) the Partnership generally may not invest in other investment entities, unless the Partnership will not be charged a management fee or will not pay a carried interest, provided that if investments with respect to which the Partnership is charged a management fee and a carried interest are approved by the Board of Advisors, the amount invested in such investments (net of the proceeds from such investments) generally may not exceed 5% of the Partnership's aggregate capital commitments.

Distributions:

The timing of distributions made by the Partnership will be determined by the General Partner. The Partnership may make tax distributions in cash to the General Partner in amounts intended to enable the General Partner to satisfy its tax liability attributable to its participation in the Partnership. All distributions other than liquidating distributions and distributions to withdrawing Limited Partners will be made in cash or marketable securities unless otherwise approved by the Board of Advisors. Securities distributed in kind will be valued at the last reported sale price or the closing bid price (or average of bid prices) last quoted on the date of distribution.

Distributions (other than tax distributions and liquidating distributions) generally will be made 100% to all Partners in proportion to their capital contributions, until Recovery (as defined below) has been achieved.

During any period in which Recovery has been achieved, distributions (other than tax distributions and liquidating distributions) generally will be made 30% to the General Partner and 70% to all Partners in proportion to their capital contributions.

Recovery will be achieved if, at the time of a proposed distribution, each Limited Partner has received aggregate distributions equal to the greater of (i) 85% of such Limited Partner's capital commitment and (ii) such Limited Partner's aggregate capital contributions.

General Partner
Clawback:

If, after the Partnership has made its final liquidating distribution, the General Partner has received aggregate distributions with respect to its carried interest in excess of 30% of the Partnership's cumulative net profits, the General Partner will return to the Partnership the amount of that excess; provided, however, that in no event will the General Partner be required to return an amount greater than the aggregate amount of distributions previously received by the General Partner with respect to its 30% carried interest less income taxes attributable thereto. Each partner of the General Partner will be severally liable for its pro rata share of the aggregate amount to be returned by the General Partner.

Allocations:

Cumulative net income and gains generally will be allocated 70% to all Partners in proportion to their capital contributions and 30% to the General Partner. Cumulative net losses generally will be allocated to all Partners in proportion to their capital contributions. Distributions in kind will be treated as sales for purposes of determining the Partnership's profits and losses. The General Partner will maintain a capital account for each Partner that will reflect, in accordance with US federal income tax guidelines, all contributions made by that Partner, all income, gains and losses allocated to that Partner, and all distributions made to that Partner. Liquidating distributions will be made in accordance with positive capital account balances.

Organizational Expenses:

The Partnership will bear expenses incurred in connection with its organization and the offering of interests in the Partnership, including legal and accounting fees, printing expenses and travel expenses, up to a maximum of $2,750,000. No brokerage, underwriting or placement fees or commissions will be paid by the Partnership in connection with this offering.

Withdrawal and Transfer:

Generally, Limited Partners may not withdraw from the Partnership except in limited circumstances for legal or regulatory reasons. A Limited Partner may be forced to withdraw from the Partnership (in whole or in part) in order to alleviate material adverse conditions imposed on the Partnership, its Partners or the Partnership's portfolio companies as a consequence of such Limited Partner's participation in the Partnership. Limited partner interests are not assignable without the prior written consent of the General Partner.

Board of Advisors:

The Partnership will have a Board of Advisors which is responsible for review and approval of certain decisions of the General Partner, including certain portfolio valuations and certain transactions involving potential conflicts of interest. Members will be selected by the General Partner and will generally be representatives of the Limited Partners; however up to 25% of the members of the Board of Advisors may be independent persons (i.e., neither associated with a Limited Partner nor associated with the General Partner).

Proprietary and Confidential

who have been approved as members by the Board of Advisors. Each member of the Board of Advisors will generally serve for a term of four years (which term may be renewed by the General Partner). Members of the Board of Advisors may also serve as members of the Boards of Advisors of Other NEA Funds (as defined below).

Time Commitment:

Each of the Individual General Partners will be obligated, unless otherwise approved by the Board of Advisors, to devote substantially all of his business time to the Partnership, other NEA venture capital and affiliated partnerships (the "Other NEA Funds"), the Service Companies and portfolio companies of the Partnership and Other NEA Funds until the earliest of (i) a termination or expiration of the Investment Period, (ii) the date that at least two-thirds of the Partnership's committed capital has been invested, committed to specific investments (with each such commitment approved by the Board of Advisors) or reserved for follow-on investments or (iii) the dissolution of the Partnership, provided that each Individual General Partner will in any event devote such business time to the Partnership as is reasonably required.

Other Funds:

Unless otherwise approved by the Board of Advisors, the Individual General Partners will not organize any additional venture capital entity that has a substantially similar investment purpose and focus as the Partnership and is similar in purpose and operation to the Partnership until the earliest of the date on which (i) at least two-thirds of the Partnership's committed capital has been invested, committed to specific investments (with each such commitment approved by the Board of Advisors) or reserved for follow-on investments, (ii) the Investment Period expires or is terminated or (iii) the Partnership is dissolved. Entities formed to make investments primarily in companies that are located in one or more non-U.S. jurisdictions or companies that are publicly traded will not be subject to the preceding limitation.

Conflicts of Interest:

Generally, unless approved by the Board of Advisors, (i) the General Partner, the GP LTD and the Individual General Partners will not invest for their own account in any securities issued by any Partnership portfolio company, (ii) the Partnership will not make an initial investment in an entity in which any Individual General Partner has an investment and (iii) the Partnership will not make an initial investment in existing portfolio companies of any of the Other NEA Funds. The Partnership may, in connection with its initial investment(s), purchase portfolio company securities from an earlier NEA fund and may, in connection with the initial investments of a subsequent NEA fund, sell portfolio company securities to such fund, in each case for a price not exceeding cost plus a reasonable cost of capital or as otherwise approved by the Board of Advisors.

Proprietary and Confidential

Investment Opportunities:	Except for investment opportunities offered to Other NEA Funds or as otherwise approved by the Board of Advisors, the Individual General Partners generally will be required to first offer to the Partnership all investment opportunities available to them that are reasonably believed to be within the purposes of the Partnership before investing in such opportunities for their own accounts.
Indemnification:	The General Partner, the GP LTD, each Service Company, and their respective managers, officers, directors, stockholders, employees, partners, members, agents, controlling persons and beneficial owners, each member of a Partnership committee (including the Board of Advisors), each Limited Partner with which a member of the Board of Advisors is associated and each liquidator for the Partnership (each, an "Indemnified Party") will be indemnified by the Partnership against all losses, judgments, liabilities, expenses and amounts paid in settlement of any claim to which they may be subject by reason of their activities on behalf of the Partnership, so long as the Indemnified Party (other than current or former members of the Board of Advisors and Limited Partners with which such members are associated) acted in good faith and in a manner reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the Partnership, except to the extent that the action giving rise to the claim was the result of gross negligence, willful malfeasance, reckless disregard of fiduciary duty, intentional or reckless criminal wrongdoing, or willful and material breach of the Partnership Agreement. Each current or former member of the Board of Advisors and the Limited Partner with which such member is associated will be indemnified by the Partnership against all losses, judgments, liabilities, expenses and amounts paid in settlement of any claim to which they may be subject by reason of such member's actions as a member of the Board of Advisors, so long as such losses, judgments, liabilities, expenses and amounts were not the result of such member's bad faith or fraud.
Limited Partner Clawback:	Each Limited Partner will be obligated to return distributions to the Partnership in an amount equal to its proportionate share of any indemnification obligation incurred by the Partnership or any obligation of the Partnership to return proceeds received by the Partnership with respect to a Partnership investment, to the extent that the Partnership does not have sufficient cash on hand to satisfy such indemnification or return obligation; provided that (i) the amount of such distribution return obligation will not exceed the lesser of (a) 20% of such Limited Partner's capital commitment and (b) the aggregate amount of distributions received by such Limited Partner; (ii) no Limited Partner will have any liability after the second anniversary of the date of the liquidation of the Partnership, except with respect to potential or actual liabilities of which such Limited Partner has been given notice within 30 days after such second anniversary date; (iii) no Limited Partner will be required to return an amount greater than 10% of its capital commitment after expiration of the Partnership's term; and (iv) no Limited Partner will be required to make any payment to the Partnership with respect to any obligation of the Partnership to return proceeds from a particular Partnership investment in an amount that exceeds the aggregate amount of distributions received by such Limited Partner from the Partnership on or after the date that is three years prior to the date on which the General Partner notified the Limited Partners in writing of such potential obligation.

Reports:

The Partnership will distribute tax information to all Partners within 60 days after the end of each year (subject to the availability of such information). In addition, the Partnership will distribute unaudited summary financial information on a quarterly basis and financial statements audited by a nationally recognized firm on an annual basis. Reported information will be subject to confidentiality restrictions and limitations.

ERISA Considerations:

Under ERISA, fiduciaries of prospective investors that are retirement plans subject to ERISA ("ERISA Plans") must determine that an investment in the Partnership is prudent, that such investment satisfies the requirement that plan assets be diversified and that such investment complies with the other requirements applicable to ERISA Plans. The General Partner intends to organize and conduct the operations of the Partnership so that it will be an appropriate investment for ERISA Plans. In particular, the General Partner will use its reasonable best efforts to ensure that the Partnership will not be deemed to hold the "plan assets" of any such ERISA Plan; provided that "alternative investment vehicles" that hold "plan assets" may be structured as non-discretionary conduits to invest in portfolio investments or other "alternative investment vehicles."

U.S. Tax-exempt
Investors:

The General Partner generally will use reasonable best efforts to structure portfolio investments to avoid causing any US tax-exempt Limited Partner to realize "unrelated business taxable income" within the meaning of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"), including "unrelated debt-financed income." Such reasonable best efforts will be deemed satisfied with respect to a portfolio investment if such investors are given the opportunity to (or Limited Partners are otherwise required to) hold their proportionate share of such portfolio investment directly or indirectly through a "blocker" corporation (provided that this sentence shall apply with respect to "unrelated debt-financed income" only to the extent that holding such investment through such "blocker" corporation would prevent an investor therein from recognizing such income).

Proprietary and Confidential

Non-U.S. Investors:

The General Partner generally will use reasonable best efforts to structure portfolio investments to avoid causing the Partnership to be treated for US federal income tax purposes as engaged in a trade or business within the US. Such reasonable best efforts will be deemed satisfied with respect to a portfolio investment if (a) non-US investors are given the opportunity to hold their proportionate share of such portfolio investment directly or indirectly through a "blocker" corporation (a "Partial Blocker Investment"), provided that the amount invested in such Partial Blocker Investment, together with amounts invested in all prior Partial Blocker Investments, does not exceed 20% of aggregate capital commitments, or (b) all Limited Partners hold their proportionate shares of such investment directly or indirectly through a "blocker" corporation. In addition, the General Partner will use reasonable best efforts to avoid causing the Partnership to make an initial investment in any "United States real property holding corporation" that is a "United States real property interest," each within the meaning of Section 897(e) of the Code.

NEA VALUATION POLICY

Policy Goal – The goal of NEA's valuation policy is to have investments in portfolio companies reported at fair value on a consistent, transparent and prudent basis and in conformity with relevant accounting literature and industry practices. This valuation policy is intended to provide the general framework noting that the valuations for each portfolio company investment will incorporate portfolio company and industry specific information to arrive at the appropriate valuation techniques and determination of fair value. The General Partner determines valuations on a quarterly basis, which valuations are subject to review and approval by the Board of Advisors.

Fair Value Concept – A fair value measurement assumes that the asset or liability is exchanged in an orderly transaction between market participants to sell asset or transfer the liability at the measurement date¹. The estimated fair value represents the amount at which the investment could be sold at the current date between willing parties. All relevant available information should be taken into consideration in the selection of the fair value technique and the inputs used in the valuation. The definition of fair value does not include transaction costs incurred in the acquisition of an investment. Transaction costs may be included in the cost basis of the investment, but would generate an unrealized loss for the amount of the transaction costs on a "Day One" evaluation of the fair value of the investment.

Establishment of a Valuation Hierarchy – NEA, in accordance with U.S. GAAP and standard industry practice has adopted a 3-level fair value hierarchy that prioritizes the inputs used to estimate fair value with a bias towards "observable" inputs. This hierarchy provides increased transparency to those investments that require significant management judgment and estimation in determination of their fair value. Additional disclosures are required for those investments which are classified as Level 3 (see below). The classification of investments within the fair value hierarchy is independent of the valuation techniques used.

- Level 1 inputs are observable market inputs that reflect quoted prices for identical securities in active markets the entity has the ability to access at the measurement date.
- Level 2 inputs are observable market inputs other than quoted prices for identical assets in active markets the entity has the ability to access at the measurement date including:
 - Quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets
 - Quoted prices for identical/similar assets in markets that are not active
 - Market inputs other than quoted prices (yield curves, credit spreads, etc).
- Level 3 inputs are unobservable market inputs, for example, inputs derived through extrapolation or interpolation that are not able to be corroborated by observable market data.

In a fair value determination for an investment, there may be multiple valuation techniques employed and various levels of inputs. The lowest level of significant input determines where in the fair value hierarchy the investment is placed.

¹ ASC 820, "Fair Value Measurement" ASC 820-10-35-3

Proprietary and Confidential

There are enhanced disclosures required for Level 3 investments as these represent the investments for which the greatest amount of judgment and estimation have been applied. An evaluation is performed of the inputs used in the fair value determinations. Generally, it is expected that the significant portion of the investments by NEA would require classification as Level 3 assets.

Acceptable Valuation Techniques – There are three principal valuation techniques which can be used, depending on the circumstances:

- Market approach uses observable prices generated from market transactions involving identical, similar or otherwise comparable assets or liabilities. Examples of market approach techniques include comparable company transactions and performance multiples.
- Income approach uses valuation techniques to convert future amounts (e.g., cash flows or earnings) to a single present amount on a discounted basis.
- Cost approach is based on the current replacement cost of an asset which is the amount currently required to replace the service capacity of the asset.

A combination of valuation techniques may be employed to value an individual investment. All available sources of information should be considered when determining the value of an investment.

Adjustments may be deemed necessary based on specific facts and circumstances surrounding the investment. When an adjustment is deemed necessary, the adjustment should be evaluated to determine whether the adjustment has changed the classification of the investment to a lower level in the fair value hierarchy.

POTENTIAL CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

Prospective investors in the Partnership should consider, among other potential conflicts of interest, the following, which is not intended to be an exhaustive list of all potential conflicts of interests related to an investment in the Partnership:

Other activities of the Members of NEA Partners 14

The individual members of NEA Partners 14 will continue to devote substantial portions of their business time to the active earlier NEA partnerships and to any future partnerships. Conflicts of interest may arise in allocating time, services, or resources among the investment activities of the Partnership and the other active NEA partnerships.

Overlapping investments with other NEA partnerships and allocation of investments

The Partnership expects to invest in companies in which one or more of the earlier NEA partnerships already has an investment. The initial investment by the Partnership in such companies generally will be subject to approval by the Board of Advisors. By investing in existing portfolio companies of these other partnerships, NEA 14 may be better able to diversify its own portfolio in terms of the relative development stages of the companies in which it invests. If any of these other partnerships invests at the same time as NEA 14 in an existing portfolio company, the sharing of those investments will be determined on a case-by-case basis, and may not be pro rata to relative capital. Other existing or future NEA partnerships may make investments in companies in which the Partnership has an existing investment, with the amount of such investment and any contemporaneous investment by NEA 14 being determined on a case-by-case basis.

During the period of time when an earlier NEA partnership is still making investments in new portfolio companies, investment opportunities in new portfolio companies will be allocated between such earlier NEA partnership and NEA 14 on a case-by-case basis. An opportunity may be allocated entirely to such earlier NEA partnership, entirely to NEA 14 or to NEA 14 and one or more earlier NEA partnerships for co-investment. To the extent that an earlier NEA partnership and NEA 14 co-invest in a new portfolio company, the sharing of that investment may not necessarily be pro rata to relative capital. Investment opportunities may also be allocated to investment partnerships formed by NEA in the future. Such investment opportunities may be offered solely to such future partnerships or, during the period when NEA 14 is investing in new portfolio companies, such opportunities may be offered solely to NEA 14 or such future partnerships may co-invest with NEA 14 and/or earlier NEA partnerships. Any such co-investing may not necessarily be pro rata to relative capital. If NEA 14 has invested in the same portfolio company as other NEA partnerships, dispositions of such investments by NEA 14 and such other partnerships will be determined on a case-by-case basis and may not be made at the same time or in proportion to dollars invested in that company.

Where investments by the Partnership and other NEA partnerships in the same company are made at different times or in different proportions, conflicts of interest may arise with regard to valuations, exit opportunities and other matters. In addition, conflicts may arise to the extent that other NEA partnerships invest in the securities of a portfolio company that have different rights than the securities of such portfolio company held by the Partnership. The General Partner will use its good faith judgment in addressing any such conflicts.

Proprietary and Confidential

The General Partner and its affiliates will use their good faith discretion in allocating investment and disposition opportunities among the Partnership and the other NEA partnerships, taking into account the nature and size of the opportunity (including projected follow-on financing requirements), the amount of capital the Partnership and the other NEA partnerships have available for investment, liquidity needs, portfolio construction, the age or life of the Partnership and the other NEA partnerships and such other factors as the General Partner and its affiliates may determine to be relevant.

Co-investment by NEA Personnel

NEA has historically established and funded a small, annual co-investment entity (known as the NEA Ventures program) for the benefit of its employees who do not participate in the "carried interest" attributable to NEA's investment funds. The NEA Ventures entity formed for each year generally co-invests alongside a primary NEA partnership in companies in which a primary NEA partnership is making its initial investment during that year and where that initial investment by the primary NEA partnership is at least $3 million. The NEA Ventures entities may also participate in follow-on financings of companies in which the NEA Ventures entity previously invested. The amount invested by an NEA Ventures entity in an investment round typically ranges from $10,000 to $35,000. The NEA Ventures entities do not participate in certain types of investments for tax, administrative or other reasons (such as investments in "PIPEs", other investment funds or Indian companies). In addition, NEA investing staff members who are below the Partner level (including venture partners and venture advisors) occasionally invest relatively small amounts alongside the NEA partnerships in certain investments with the permission of the sponsoring General Partner. These co-investment participations by such an NEA Ventures entity will, in many cases, reduce by a small amount the amount that might otherwise be invested by the Partnership in an applicable investment opportunity and participation by such investing staff members may result in such a reduction.

Transactions between the Partnership and other NEA partnerships

The Partnership may, in connection with its initial investment(s) purchase portfolio company securities from an earlier NEA partnership and may, in connection with the initial investment(s) of a subsequent NEA partnership, sell portfolio company securities to such partnership, in each case for a price not exceeding cost plus an interest factor or as otherwise approved by the Board of Advisors.

Formation of new funds

While the Partnership Agreement and related documents restrict the formation by the Individual General Partners of a subsequent venture capital fund that is similar in purpose and operation to NEA 14 and that has a substantially similar investment focus as NEA 14 until NEA 14 is "66-2/3% invested" (as determined in accordance with the Partnership Agreement and related documents), NEA and the Individual General Partners will not be restricted from forming other types of investment funds or investment funds formed to make investments primarily in companies located in one or more non-United States jurisdictions or companies that are publicly traded. In certain cases, NEA 14 may invest in other investment funds formed, sponsored or managed by NEA or its affiliates. Investment opportunities that may have been appropriate for NEA 14 may be offered, in whole or in part, to such other investment funds.

Proprietary and Confidential

Certain Board of Advisor approvals

Certain transactions by NEA 14 that would otherwise be prohibited by the Partnership Agreement, including certain transactions that involve potential conflicts of interest between NEA 14 and other NEA partnerships, may be effected with the approval of NEA 14's Board of Advisors. Some or all of the members of NEA 14's Board of Advisors may also be on the Board of Advisors of the other NEA partnership with which there is a potential conflict or may represent investors who have an interest in both NEA 14 and such other NEA partnership. Such Board of Advisors members will not be precluded from participating in discussions with respect to, or from voting on, such transactions that involve potential conflict of interests.

An Individual General Partner generally may not invest personally in a Partnership portfolio company, except with the consent of the Board of Advisors.

Portfolio company interests

The Partnership is expected to have representatives that serve on the boards of directors of portfolio companies and will, as a result, be subject to fiduciary obligations to make decisions that they believe to be in the best interests of the portfolio company. Although in most cases the interests of the Partnership and its portfolio companies will be aligned, this may not always be the case, particularly if a portfolio company is in financial difficulty. This may result in a conflict between the relevant director's obligations to the portfolio company and the interests of the Partnership. In some circumstances, having representatives of the Partnership serve as directors of a portfolio company may restrict the ability of the Partnership to invest directly in an investment opportunity that also constitutes an investment opportunity for such portfolio company.

Diverse limited partner group

The Limited Partners may have conflicting investment, tax and other interests with respect to their investment in the Partnership. The conflicting interests of the Limited Partners may arise from, among other things, the nature of investments made by the Partnership, the structuring of investments and the timing of disposition of investments. As a consequence, conflicts of interest may arise in connection with decisions made by the General Partner, including with respect to the nature or structuring of investments that may be more beneficial for some Limited Partners than for others, particularly with respect to Limited Partners' individual tax situations. In selecting and structuring investments appropriate for the Partnership, the General Partner will not consider the investment, tax or other objectives of any Limited Partner individually.

Proprietary and Confidential

CERTAIN RISK FACTORS

The purchase of limited partner interests involves a number of significant risks. Prospective investors in the Partnership should consider, among other factors, the following, which is not intended to be an exhaustive list of all potential risks related to an investment in the Partnership:

Uncertainty of financial results

NEA's prior investment performance for the earlier NEA partnerships is not necessarily indicative of the future performance results of the Partnership. The Partnership is a new investment partnership with no prior operating experience or history that investors can use to evaluate performance. There can be no assurance that investments by the Partnership will achieve returns comparable to the historical performance of the earlier NEA partnerships. Traditional exit opportunities for venture capital funds, such as the Partnership, have consisted primarily of initial public offerings and acquisitions of portfolio companies by publicly-traded companies, often for stock. The ability of the Partnership to sell or distribute securities and to realize investment gains will depend, in large part, upon favorable market conditions, including receptiveness to initial public offerings for information technology, energy technology, and healthcare companies and an active mergers and acquisitions market. As recent history indicates, initial public offering and merger and acquisition opportunities may be limited or non-existent for extended periods of time, whether due to economic, regulatory or other factors. In addition, general fluctuations in the market prices of securities may affect the value of the investments held by the Partnership. The lack of favorable market conditions or a highly volatile market, or both, could result in substantially lower liquidation values and substantially longer periods before liquidity is achieved, and could reduce the Partnership's investment returns compared to the returns achieved by the earlier NEA partnerships. There is a risk that an investor could lose a portion or all of their investment in the Partnership.

Operating risks of investments

The Partnership's portfolio companies generally will be developing companies in industry sectors that entail significant operating risk. Many of the Partnership's portfolio companies will be at an early stage of development with little or no operating history and no established products or services. Many of the Partnership's portfolio companies will need substantial additional capital (which may not be available) to support additional research and development activities, expansion or to achieve or maintain a competitive position. Such companies face intense competition, including from companies with greater financial resources, more extensive development, manufacturing, marketing and service capabilities and a larger number of qualified managerial and technical personnel.

Highly competitive market for investments

The Partnership's task of identifying and developing successful growth companies is difficult and highly competitive. Many organizations operated by persons of competence and integrity have been unsuccessful in this business. The Partnership will be competing for investments other investors. There can be no assurance that the Partnership will be able to locate suitable investment opportunities, acquire them for an appropriate level of consideration, achieve any particular rate of return or fully invest its committed capital. There is a risk that investments could lose money.

Proprietary and Confidential

Difficulty in valuing portfolio investments

The Partnership's investment portfolio will consist primarily of high-risk investments in unseasoned companies, and most of the Partnership's investments will be difficult to value. There will be no readily available market for most of the Partnership's investments. Valuations of such investments may vary from similar valuations performed by independent third parties for similar types of securities or assets. The value of the Partnership's investments may also be affected by changes in accounting standards, policies, or practices. Due to a wide variety of market factors and the nature of certain securities and assets to be held by the Partnership, there is no guarantee that the value determined by the General Partner will represent the value that will be realized by the Partnership on the eventual disposition of the investment or that would, in fact, be realized upon an immediate disposition of the investment.

Industry concentration risk

The information technology, energy technology and healthcare areas, companies in which the Partnership's investment activities will be focused, may each not perform as well on an industry-wide basis as is currently anticipated by the General Partner. The potential underperformance of these industries may be caused by any number of factors, some of which are beyond the control of the individual portfolio companies, including the impact of government regulation relating to these industries and general financial market and economic conditions. The Partnership may, therefore, be subject to more volatility and a greater risk of loss than a more broadly diversified fund that focuses on a broader array of investments. In addition, the Partnership will participate in a relatively limited number of investments and, as a consequence, the aggregate return of the Partnership may be affected by the performance of a single investment.

Certain considerations related to active management

Many of the Partnership's investments will represent minority positions in portfolio companies, and, although the Partnership may have representatives that serve on the boards of directors, the Partnership may not have the power individually to exert significant control over such portfolio companies' boards of directors and management. In such cases, the Partnership will rely significantly on the existing management and boards of directors of such companies, which may include unseasoned managers and representatives of other investors with whom the Partnership is not affiliated and whose interests or views may conflict with the interests of the Partnership.

Long term nature of portfolio investments

There may be a significant period of time before the Partnership has completed its investment program. Investments may take several years from the date of initial investment to reach a state of maturity when realization of the investment can be achieved. Losses on unsuccessful investments may be realized before gains on successful investments are realized. The return of capital and the realization of gains, if any, will generally occur only upon the partial or complete disposition of an investment. While an investment may be sold at any time, it is not generally expected that this will occur for a number of years after the initial investment. Prior to such time, there often will be no current return on the investments.

In-kind distributions

Certain investments may be distributed in kind to the Limited Partners of the Partnership and any such distribution could put downward pressure on the price of the issuer's securities.

Proprietary and Confidential

Dependence on Individual General Partners

The Partnership will be dependent upon the activities of the Individual General Partners. The loss of several of these individuals could have a significant adverse impact on the business of the Partnership.

Devotion of time of Individual General Partners

The Individual General Partners will continue to devote a significant portion of their time to the business of earlier NEA partnerships and to any future funds that the Individual General Partners may organize. Conflicts may arise in the allocation of investment opportunities and the Individual General Partners' time among the Partnership and other such partnerships.

Board of Advisor Approvals

The Partnership Agreement will contain certain protections for investors against conflicts of interest faced by the General Partner and the Individual General Partners, but will not purport to address all types of conflicts that may arise. Under the Partnership Agreement, certain transactions that involve conflicts of interest between the General Partner and the Partnership may be submitted to the Board of Advisors for resolution. However, the Board of Advisors will not necessarily represent the interests of all the Limited Partners and the members of the Board of Advisors may themselves be subject to various conflicts of interest (including as investors in other entities related to members of the General Partner). In general, the Limited Partners will not be entitled to control the selection of members of the Board of Advisors or to review the actions or deliberations of the Board of Advisors.

Reliance on management of the Partnership

The General Partner will control the business of the Partnership. The Limited Partners will have no voice in Partnership decisions, although certain limited situations will require their approval or the approval of the Board of Advisors. In general, no changes in the Partnership Agreement may be effected without the approval of at least 66 2/3% in interest of the Limited Partners. The Limited Partners will not receive the detailed financial information issued by portfolio companies which is available to the General Partner. A Limited Partner must rely upon the ability of the General Partner to identify, structure, and implement investments consistent with the Partnership's investment objectives and policies. Accordingly, no person should purchase a limited partner interest in the Partnership unless such person is willing to entrust all aspects of the management of the Partnership to the General Partner.

Regulatory Changes

On June 22, 2011, to implement provisions of Title IV of the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") adopted final rules implementing new exemptions from the registration requirements of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (the "Advisers Act"), one of which is commonly known as the venture capital fund exemption. Neither the General Partner nor the Service Company are currently expected to register as an investment adviser with the SEC in reliance on the venture capital fund exemption. The General Partner may need to take into consideration certain conditions regarding the nature of investments that may be made by investment vehicles advised by an investment adviser relying on the venture capital exemption, which may constrain the Partnership's investment flexibility or require certain non-qualifying investments to be disposed of earlier than they might otherwise be. In addition, compliance with the venture capital fund exemption may subject the Partnership to limitations on the Partnership's operations, including limitations on the Partnership's ability to borrow, provide guarantees and make short-term investments, that are more restrictive than any limitation set forth in the Partnership Agreement. Reliance on the venture capital exemption also will necessitate reporting certain information to the SEC about the General Partner and its affiliates and may result in such entities being subject to SEC examination authority and certain Advisers Act compliance obligations. If the General Partner and the Service Company are able to rely on the venture capital exemption, investors in the Partnership will not be entitled to the benefits of certain protections under the Advisers Act.

If the General Partner or the Service Company cannot rely on the venture capital exemption, the General Partner or the Service Company may need to register as an investment adviser under the Advisers Act. Registration under, and compliance with, the Advisers Act could be costly and could divert attention of the Partnership's management team. There also can be no assurance that statutory, regulatory, judicial or administrative interpretations of existing laws and regulations will not in the future impose more comprehensive or stringent requirements on the General Partner or the Service Company.

General economic and political conditions

Changes in legal, fiscal, tax and regulatory regimes may occur during the life of the Partnership which may have an adverse effect on the Partnership. The Partnership may not be permitted to, or be able to, make adjustments in their structure or investment program in order to adapt to such changes. The General Partner will have the exclusive right and authority (within limitations set forth in the Partnership Agreement) to determine the manner in which the Partnership shall respond to such changes, and Limited Partners generally will have no right to withdraw from the Partnership or to demand specific modifications to the Partnership's operations in consequence thereof. Political unrest, war and acts of terrorism may also increase the risks inherent in the Partnership's investments. Due to the illiquidity of the Partnership's investments, the Partnership will have limited ability to adapt to any such changes in the economic environment or mitigate any corresponding losses.

Reserves

As is customary in the industry, the General Partner will establish reserves for follow-on investments by the Partnership in portfolio companies, operating expenses (including management fees), Partnership liabilities, and other matters. Similar reserves will be established for predecessor and future NEA investment funds. Estimating the appropriate amount of such reserves is difficult, especially for follow-on investment opportunities, which are directly tied to the success and capital needs of portfolio companies. Inadequate or excessive reserves could impair the investment returns to the Limited Partners. If reserves are inadequate, the Partnership may be unable to take advantage of attractive follow-on or other investment opportunities or to protect its existing investments from dilutive or other punitive terms associated with "pay-to-play" or similar provisions. If reserves are excessive, the Partnership may decline attractive new investment opportunities. Further, the allocation of investment opportunities among the Partnership and other NEA investment funds may depend on their respective reserves at the time of allocating the opportunity, possibly resulting in lower returns if any of such reserves were later determined to be inadequate or excessive.

Proprietary and Confidential

Foreign Investments

A significant portion of the Partnership's capital may be invested in securities of non-United States portfolio companies. Such investments may present a variety of risks not presented by investments in United States portfolio companies, including risks associated with: (i) fluctuating currency exchange rates; (ii) limitations on currency exchange or the transfer of capital/profits across international boundaries; (iii) different accounting standards; (iv) different legal protections for investors; (v) unusual regulatory burdens; (vi) political or social instability; (vii) multiple taxing jurisdictions; (viii) developing and rapidly evolving government regulatory environments; and (ix) possibility of expropriation or confiscatory taxation. In addition, United States portfolio companies may seek to go public on, or be acquired by companies with shares traded exclusively or primarily on, a foreign securities exchange, also exposing investors in the Partnership to currency exchange, geopolitical and tax related risks.

Emerging Markets

Many of the laws that govern private and foreign investment, securities transactions, creditors rights and other contractual relationships in emerging markets such as China and India are new and largely untested and not fully developed. As a result, the Partnership and its portfolio companies may be subject to a number of unusual risks, including contradictory legislation, incomplete, unclear and changing laws, ignorance or breaches of regulations on the part of other market participants, lack of established or effective avenues for legal redress, lack of standard practices and confidentiality customs characteristic of developed markets, and lack of enforcement of existing regulations. There can be no assurance that difficulties in protecting and enforcing rights will not have a material adverse effect on the Partnership and its investments.

Illiquidity of the Interests

Limited partner interests are highly illiquid, have no public market and are not transferable except with the authorization of the General Partner. There will be no public market for the interests in the Partnership, and none is expected to develop. Withdrawals of limited partner interests from the Partnership are generally not permitted, although in certain circumstances a Limited Partner may be entitled, or required, to withdraw from the Partnership for tax, legal, regulatory or similar considerations. A withdrawn Limited Partner may not be entitled to immediate payment for its interest in the Partnership. Any withdrawal of a Limited Partner may reduce the amount of Partnership capital available for investment or other activities.

Substantial penalty for default

Capital calls will be issued by the Partnership from time to time at the discretion of the General Partner, based upon the General Partner's assessment of the needs and opportunities of the Partnership. In general, forfeiture of a significant portion of a Limited Partner's interest and other adverse consequence may occur upon failure to make any installment payment of a capital call on a timely basis.

Carried Interest

Because the percentage of profits allocated to the General Partner will exceed its capital commitment percentage, the General Partner may have an incentive to make investments that are riskier or more speculative than if the General Partner received allocations on a basis identical to that of the investors in the Partnership or was compensated on a basis not tied to the performance of the Partnership.

Proprietary and Confidential

Placement Fees

The General Partner or an affiliate may engage placement agents in connection with the organization of the Partnership and the offering of limited partner interests. Any such placement agents may be compensated through fixed or contingent fees, as well as reimbursed for expenses. The General Partner or an affiliate, and not the Partnership, will bear the economic burden of placement agent fees.

Side Letters

In accordance with common industry practice, the General Partner may enter into one or more "side letters" or similar agreements with certain Limited Partners pursuant to which the General Partner grants to such Limited Partners specific rights, benefits or privileges that are not generally made available to Limited Partners. Such agreements will be disclosed only to those actual or potential Limited Partners that have separately negotiated with the General Partner for the right to review such agreements.

Government Plan Partners

The General Partner may be required to make certain representations and covenants with respect to campaign contributions, use of placement agents or similar activities in connection with an investment in the Partnership by certain investors such as state or local entities, including investments by public retirement funds. The Partnership Agreement and "side letters" may provide such Limited Partners with certain rights related to such matters (including, without limitation, certain excuse and withdrawal rights) that are not available to other Limited Partners and which may, under certain circumstances, be contrary to the best interests of the Partnership. In addition, federal securities laws may provide such Limited Partners certain excuse and withdrawal rights from the Partnership.

Exculpation and Indemnification

The Partnership will be subject to a variety of litigation risks, especially due to the fact that the Partnership will have representatives serving on the boards of directors of portfolio companies and because one or more portfolio companies may face financial or other difficulties during the term of the Partnership's investment. The Partnership may also participate in portfolio company financings at implicit portfolio company valuations lower than the valuations implicit in preceding rounds of financing. In the event of a dispute arising from any of the foregoing activities (or other activities relating to the operation of the Partnership), it is possible that the Partnership, the General Partner, or NEA personnel may be named as defendants. Under most circumstances, the Partnership will indemnify the General Partner and its partners and other NEA personnel for any costs they incur in connection with such disputes and the Limited Partners may be obligated to return distributions to fund such indemnification obligations.

Material Non-Public Information

From time to time, the General Partner and its affiliates may come into possession of material, non-public information that will limit the ability to buy and sell investments. The Partnership's investment flexibility may be constrained as a consequence of the General Partner's inability to use such information for investment purposes. Alternatively, the General Partner and its affiliates may decline to receive material non-public information which they might otherwise receive in order to avoid investment restrictions even though access to such information might have been advantageous to the Partnership and other market participants are in possession of such information.

Proprietary and Confidential

Terminology

Certain terms and phrases of common usage within the venture capital industry may be misleading to those unfamiliar with such usage. In particular, individuals who participate in the management of a fund often are referred to, in a colloquial sense, as "general partners" even though they are not actually general partners of any partnership and will not assume the liabilities associated with being a general partner of the Partnership. It is not intended that the Partnership will have any general partner other than NEA Partners 14, L.P. Prospective investors must not presume or rely upon the existence of any actual legal entities other than the Partnership, NEA Partners 14, L.P. and NEA 14 GP, LTD.

Tax risks

Certain tax-related risks related to an investment in the Partnership are described under "Certain Taxation and Regulatory Matters" below. Tax consequences of an investment in the Partnership under the tax laws of the United States and other jurisdictions in which the Partnership invests, and in the jurisdictions in which any particular investor is located, can be significant and complex. Each prospective investor should consult its own tax advisors with respect to such matters.

Disclosure regarding Forward-Looking Statements

This Memorandum contains certain statements that are "Forward Looking Statements" within the meaning of Section 27A of the U.S. Securities Act and Section 21E of the U.S. Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Exchange Act"). Those statements include, among other things, the discussions of the Partnership's business strategy and expectations concerning investment expectations, future operations, margins, profitability, and liquidity and capital resources. Although the General Partner believes that the expectations reflected in the Forward Looking Statements are reasonable, it can give no assurance that such expectations will prove to have been correct. All phases of the operation of the Partnership are subject to a number of uncertainties, risks and other influences, many of which are outside the control of the Partnership and any one of which, or a combination of which, could materially affect the results of the Partnership's operations and whether the Forward Looking Statements ultimately prove to be accurate. Important factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from the Partnership's expectations are included in, but not limited to, this "Certain Risk Factors" section.

THE FOREGOING LIST OF POTENTIAL CONFLICTS OF INTEREST AND RISK FACTORS DO NOT PURPORT TO BE A COMPLETE EXPLANATION OF THE CONFLICTS AND RISKS INVOLVED IN AN INVESTMENT IN THE PARTNERSHIP OR LEGAL, ACCOUNTING OR TAX ADVICE. EACH INVESTOR MUST CONDUCT ITS OWN INVESTIGATION AND ANALYSES OF THE PARTNERSHIP AND GENERAL PARTNER AND THE INFORMATION SET FORTH HEREIN TO

Certain U.S. Federal Income Tax Considerations

The following is a brief summary of certain U.S. federal income tax considerations that may be applicable to an investment in NEA 14. For purposes of this summary, a "US Person" generally is any U.S. citizen or resident individual, any corporation, limited liability company or partnership organized under U.S. law, any estate (other than an estate the income of which, from sources outside the U.S. that is not effectively connected with a trade or business within the U.S., is not includible in its gross income for U.S. federal income tax purposes), and any trust if a court within the U.S. is able to exercise primary supervision over the administration of the trust and one or more US Persons have the authority to control all substantial decisions of the trust. The term "US Partner" means any Partner that is a US Person (and, unless the context otherwise requires, includes any US Person that holds an equity interest in NEA 14 through one or more partnerships or other entities treated as transparent for U.S. federal income tax purposes), and the term "Non-US Partner" means a Partner that is not a US Person. This summary does not contain a comprehensive discussion of all U.S. federal income tax consequences that may be relevant to a Partner in view of that Partner's particular circumstances or (unless otherwise indicated) to certain U.S. Partners subject to special treatment under U.S. federal income tax laws, such as regulated investment companies, personal holding companies, brokers or dealers in securities, banks and certain other financial institutions, tax-exempt organizations, trusts and insurance companies, nor does it address any state, local, estate, non-U.S. or other tax consequences of an investment in NEA 14, except as otherwise provided herein.

This summary is based on the assumptions that (i) each Partner (and each of its beneficial owners, as necessary under U.S. federal income tax withholding and backup withholding rules) will provide all appropriate certifications to NEA 14 in a timely fashion to minimize withholding (or backup withholding) on each Partner's distributive share of NEA 14's gross income and (ii) the Partners will hold their limited partner interests in NEA 14 as capital assets for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Each prospective Partner should also note that this summary does not address the interaction of U.S. federal tax laws and any income or estate tax treaties between the U.S. and any other jurisdiction. NEA 14 may make investments in certain other investment funds. The following discussion does not address any special tax issues that may arise in connection with any such investments, unless otherwise indicated.

Proprietary and Confidential

No assurance can be given that the IRS will concur with the tax consequences set forth below. Each prospective investor is advised to consult its own tax counsel as to the U.S. federal income tax consequences of an investment in NEA 14 and as to applicable state, local, estate, non-U.S. or other tax laws.

General Matters

Classification of NEA 14. NEA 14 will be treated as a partnership, rather than a corporation, for U.S. federal income tax purposes unless NEA 14 affirmatively elects to be treated as a corporation for such purposes. The General Partner has no intention of making such an election and does not anticipate any circumstances under which such an election would be made. In certain cases under Section 7704 of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"), a partnership that is classified as a "publicly traded partnership" may be taxed as a corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes. The following discussion is based on the assumption that NEA 14 will be classified as a partnership and will not be treated as a publicly traded partnership.

Taxation of Partnership Operations Generally. As a partnership, NEA 14 will not pay U.S. federal income taxes, but each US Partner will be required to report that Partner's distributive share (whether or not distributed) of NEA 14's income, gains, losses, deductions and credits of the character specified in Section 702 of the Code. It is possible that Partners could incur U.S. federal income tax liabilities without receiving from NEA 14 sufficient distributions to defray such tax liabilities. NEA 14's taxable year will be the calendar year, or such other period as required by the Code. NEA 14 will deliver tax information to the Partners on an annual basis necessary for each Partner's U.S. tax returns (if any).

Election to Adjust Basis of Partnership Assets. The General Partner will have the authority to elect under Section 754 of the Code to adjust the basis of NEA 14's assets (commonly referred to as "Section 754 adjustments") in connection with certain distributions to Partners or certain transfers of interests in NEA 14. Although the General Partner has no present intention of making this election under Section 754, Section 754 adjustments may nevertheless be mandatory under certain circumstances. Consequently, it is possible that NEA 14 will be required to make such Section 754 adjustments which could affect the amount of a Partner's allocations (for U.S. federal income tax purposes) of gain or loss recognized by NEA 14 on a disposition of assets.

The General Partner also will have the authority to elect to treat NEA 14 as an "electing investment partnership." If such election is made, the Section 754 adjustments that otherwise would be mandatory with respect to certain transfers of interests in NEA 14 will not be required. Such election may, however, result in the disallowance (for U.S. federal income tax purposes) of certain losses allocated by NEA 14 to transferees of interests in NEA 14. It is possible that NEA 14 will not be able to qualify as an electing investment partnership.

The General Partner will have the authority to require any Partner engaging in a transaction that requires a Section 754 adjustment (for example, a transfer of the Partner's interest in NEA 14) to bear the ongoing administrative and other costs incurred by NEA 14 or its Partners in connection with these basis adjustment rules. These costs, which could be significant, may be charged to a Partner without regard to whether the General Partner made either of the elections described above on behalf of NEA 14. Furthermore, each Partner will be required to provide NEA 14 with any information necessary to allow NEA 14 to comply with its obligations to make Section 754 adjustments and/or its obligations as an electing investment partnership.

Taxable US Partners

Limitations on Allowable Deductions. Under Section 67 of the Code, U.S. taxpayers who are individuals may deduct certain miscellaneous expenses (e.g., investment advisory fees, tax preparation fees and unreimbursed employee expenses such as the cost of subscriptions to professional journals) only to the extent that these deductions exceed, in the aggregate, 2% of the taxpayer's adjusted gross income. Further, Section 68 of the Code separately disallows certain deductions otherwise allowable to taxpayers who are individuals; the amount disallowed varies based on the taxpayer's adjusted gross income. While the Section 68 limitation on itemized deductions will not apply in 2011 and 2012, under a "sunset" provision, it is currently scheduled to be restored in 2013. Part or all of NEA 14's expenses allocated to any US Partner who is an individual (including expenses attributable to that US Partner's share of the management fee) may be disallowed under these provisions, although tax-exempt US Partners generally will not be affected. In addition, certain expenses incurred in connection with the offer and sale of limited partner interests in, or the organization of, NEA 14 are not deductible by any US Partner.

Surtax on Unearned Income. For taxable years beginning after December 31, 2012, legislation enacted in 2010 is scheduled to impose a 3.8% surtax on the "net investment income" of certain US persons who are citizens or resident aliens, and on the undistributed "net investment income" of certain U.S. estates and trusts. Among other items, "net investment income" generally would include a US Partner's allocable share of NEA 14's net gains and certain other income such as interest and dividends, less deductions allocable to such income. In addition, "net investment income" may include gain from the sale, exchange or other taxable disposition of an interest in NEA 14, less certain deductions. No implementing Treasury Regulations have been proposed with respect to the surtax, and US Partners potentially subject to the surtax should consult their own advisors concerning its potential applicability to their individual circumstances.

Investments in Passive Foreign Investment Companies. A portfolio investment by NEA 14 in the stock of a non-U.S. corporation that is classified as a "passive foreign investment company" ("PFIC") may cause US Partners to be subject to taxation under Sections 1291 through 1298 of the Code. In general, a non-U.S. corporation is classified as a PFIC if 75% or more of its gross income constitutes "passive income" — generally, interest, dividends, royalties, rent and similar income, and gains on the disposition of "passive" assets (generally, those that generate such income) — or 50% or more of its assets (by value or, in certain situations, by adjusted tax basis) produce passive income or are held for the production of passive income. Under the PFIC rules, gain attributable to a disposition of PFIC stock, as well as income attributable to certain "excess distributions" with respect to that PFIC stock, is allocated ratably over the shareholder's holding period for the stock. Gain allocated under this rule to (i) the year in which the shareholder disposes of the PFIC stock and (ii) any year prior to the time the non-U.S. corporation first satisfied the PFIC income or assets test, as well as income attributable to any excess distribution on PFIC stock allocated to those years, is subject to tax (as ordinary income) at the U.S. federal income tax rates applicable to the shareholder for the year in which the disposition occurs. Disposition gain attributable to years included in the shareholder's holding period — other than those described in the preceding clauses (i) and (ii) — and income attributable to excess distributions allocated to each such other year are subject to tax (as ordinary income) at the maximum U.S. federal income tax rate applicable to the shareholder for the year in which the income is treated as realized, and also to an interest-like charge on the shareholder's "deferred" payment of this tax liability calculated generally from the year of deemed realization through the due date of the shareholder's U.S. federal income tax return for the year of disposition or distribution (determined without regard to extensions). A US Partner effectively will be treated as a U.S. shareholder with respect to its proportionate share of any PFIC stock owned by NEA 14. If, however, that PFIC is also a "controlled foreign corporation" in which the US Partner is a "US Shareholder" (as defined below), the PFIC rules generally are superseded by the rules discussed below dealing with controlled foreign corporations.

The PFIC rules are highly technical and it is possible that a non-U.S. corporation in which NEA 14 makes an investment will be classified as a PFIC. If NEA 14 invests in a PFIC, and that PFIC agrees to provide the US Partner and, if necessary, the IRS with certain financial information, a US Partner may elect to treat that company as a "qualified electing fund" ("QEF"). If a US Partner holds stock of a non-U.S. corporation with respect to which a QEF election has been made for the first taxable year in the US Partner's holding period for which the non-U.S. corporation is a PFIC, such US Partner will be subject to tax currently on its proportionate share of certain earnings and net capital gain of that non-U.S. corporation — regardless of whether that corporation actually distributes cash or other property to NEA 14 — but generally will not be subject to the tax regime described in the preceding paragraph with respect to its investment in that corporation. Although the maximum rate of tax imposed on certain dividends is currently 15%, this tax rate does not apply to dividends paid or deemed paid by PFICs. A QEF election generally will not result in current inclusion of the PFIC's earnings for any year in which the PFIC has no net ordinary earnings and no net capital gain.

Alternatively, if such PFIC stock is publicly traded, the US Partner may be eligible to value the stock annually on a "mark-to-market" basis so that the US Partner may treat any resulting gain or loss as ordinary income or loss to avoid the PFIC tax.

The above PFIC rules (including the rules pertaining to QEF or other elections) generally should not affect tax-exempt US Partners. Pursuant to legislation enacted in 2010, however, each US Person who holds shares in a PFIC is required to file an annual information return with the IRS, regardless of whether such shareholder has received a distribution from, disposed of an interest in, or made an election in respect of a PFIC. This filing requirement is in addition to the PFIC reporting requirements mentioned above. Currently, no additional guidance has been issued regarding the information to be provided on the return, the due date of the return, or any exceptions to the filing requirement.

NEA 14 cannot predict with any certainty at this time whether any portfolio company in which NEA 14 invests may be subject to the PFIC regime, whether US Partners will receive sufficient information to make or maintain a QEF election, or the effect of any applicable elections that are made. It is possible that US Partners may be subject to tax currently under the PFIC regime on their proportionate shares of certain earnings of a non-U.S. corporation in which NEA 14 holds an interest and/or may incur nondeductible interest-like charges on tax liability deferred under the PFIC regime without receiving from NEA 14 distributions sufficient to satisfy any such obligations.

Investments in Controlled Foreign Corporations. Under Sections 951 through 957 of the Code, special rules apply to US Persons who own, directly or indirectly, applying certain attribution rules, 10% or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of a non-U.S. corporation (each, a "US Shareholder") that is a "controlled foreign corporation" ("CFC"). A non-U.S. corporation generally will be a CFC for a taxable year if US Shareholders collectively own more than 50% of the total combined voting power or total value of the corporation's stock on any day during such taxable year. US Shareholders of a CFC generally must include in their gross income for U.S. federal income tax purposes their pro rata shares of certain earnings and profits of the CFC. Further, under Section 1248 of the Code, if a US Person sells or exchanges stock of a non-U.S. corporation and that person is or was a US Shareholder at any time during the five-year period ending on the date of such sale or exchange during which that non-U.S. corporation was a CFC, that US Person generally will be required to treat a portion of the gain recognized upon such sale or exchange as a dividend to the extent of the earnings and profits of the CFC attributable to such stock. Under U.S. federal income tax rules, NEA 14 itself is not a US Person and instead, each US Partner's status as a "US Shareholder" with respect to a non-U.S. corporation will be determined by reference to that US Partner's direct and indirect ownership interest in such non-U.S. corporation (including such US Partner's pro rata share of NEA 14's interest in such non-U.S. corporation). If a taxable US Partner becomes a US Shareholder of a CFC, such US Partner (i) will be required to report and pay tax currently on its share of the CFC's earnings and profits, and (ii) will be subject to the Section 1248 recharacterization rule described above. In addition, if a US Partner is a US Shareholder of a CFC and such US Partner disposes of its interest in NEA 14, that Partner generally will recognize income under Section 751 of the Code equal to its distributive share of the Section 1248 income that would have been triggered if NEA 14 had sold its interest in the CFC at fair market value. The maximum rate of tax imposed on certain dividend income and certain long-term capital gains attributable to dispositions of securities generally is 15%, so that a recharacterization of gain under Section 1248 might not increase that US Partner's U.S. federal income tax liability. The statutes applying lower rates to dividends and capital gains, however, cease to be effective for taxable years beginning after December 31, 2012. In addition, income of a CFC subject to income tax in a country other than the U.S. at an effective rate greater than 90% of the maximum U.S. corporate income tax rate is not taxable to a US Shareholder under the CFC rules if the US Shareholder so elects.

The rules applicable to CFCs are complex, and the foregoing summary of the U.S. federal income taxation of US Partners indirectly owning an interest in a CFC is general in nature. The General Partner cannot provide any assurance that NEA 14's portfolio companies will not be CFCs. The CFC rules, however, generally should not affect tax-exempt US Partners.

Foreign Currency Gain or Loss. A US Partner's distributive share of any profit or loss realized by NEA 14 upon NEA 14's conversion of U.S. dollars into non-U.S. currency, or of non-U.S. currency into U.S. dollars, generally will be treated as ordinary income or loss rather than capital gain or loss. Further, if NEA 14 acquires a debt instrument or becomes the obligor under a debt instrument or enters into certain other transactions, any of which is denominated in terms of a currency other than the U.S. dollar, fluctuations in the value of that currency relative to the U.S. dollar generally will result in foreign currency gain or loss. Any foreign currency gain or loss realized by NEA 14 generally will be treated as ordinary income or loss rather than capital gain or loss, and any taxable US Partner will be subject to tax on its allocable share of such income or loss.

Proprietary and Confidential

U.S. Foreign Tax Credits. Subject to applicable limitations, a US Partner that is subject to U.S. federal income taxation generally should be entitled to elect to treat non-U.S. taxes withheld from such Partner's share of NEA 14's dividend and interest income as foreign income taxes eligible for credit against such Partner's U.S. federal income tax liability. Similarly, each US Partner's share of any non-U.S. taxes which may be imposed on capital gains or other income realized by NEA 14 generally should be treated as creditable foreign income taxes. Capital gains realized by NEA 14, however, may be considered to be from sources within the U.S., which may effectively limit the amount of foreign tax credit allowed to the US Partner. Other complex tax rules may also limit the availability or use of foreign tax credits, depending on each US Partner's particular circumstances. Because of these limitations, US Partners may be unable to claim a credit for the full amount of their proportionate shares of any non-U.S. taxes paid by NEA 14. US Partners that do not elect to treat their shares of non-U.S. taxes as creditable generally may claim a deduction against U.S. taxable income for such taxes (subject to applicable limitations on losses and deductions). Foreign tax credits or deductions generally will not provide any benefit to tax-exempt US Partners unless such Partners' distributive shares of the income or gains on which the related foreign income taxes are imposed constitute "unrelated business taxable income" (as defined below) and certain other conditions are satisfied. Because the availability of a credit or deduction depends on the particular circumstances of each US Partner, Partners are advised to consult their own tax advisors.

U.S. Federal Income Tax Reporting By Owners of Non-U.S. Entities. U.S. tax rules impose information reporting requirements on US Persons that own, either directly or indirectly under certain attribution rules, more than certain threshold amounts of stock in a non-U.S. corporation. These persons must disclose, among other things, various transactions between themselves and those non-U.S. corporations. For purposes of these information reporting requirements, stock ownership is determined with regard to certain stock attribution rules, and each US Partner is treated as owning part or all of the stock owned directly or indirectly by NEA 14. Similar reporting requirements apply to US Persons that (i) own, directly or indirectly, more than certain threshold amounts of capital interests or profits in non-U.S. entities, such as NEA 14, that are treated as partnerships for U.S. federal income tax purposes or (ii) contribute, in their capacity as partners, more than $100,000 to a non-U.S. partnership, such as NEA 14, during any 12 month period. In certain circumstances, these rules may require US Partners to file reports annually. US Partners generally will be responsible for satisfying any U.S. information reporting requirements. In addition, U.S. individuals will be required to report certain foreign financial assets (such as stocks and securities of non-U.S. entities) if the aggregate value of all such assets exceed $50,000. Under these rules, US Partners who are individuals generally will be required to report their interests in NEA 14.

Tax-Exempt U.S. Partners

Unrelated Business Taxable Income. Under the Partnership Agreement, the General Partner generally will be required to use reasonable best efforts to avoid the incurrence by any tax-exempt US Partner of any "unrelated business taxable income" ("UBTI") within the meaning of Section 512 of the Code. This undertaking of the General Partner will be deemed satisfied with respect to a portfolio investment if the tax-exempt US Partners are given the opportunity to hold their proportionate shares of such portfolio investment through an entity treated as a corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Notwithstanding this undertaking of the General Partner, it is possible that NEA 14 will make investments, incur liabilities or otherwise engage in certain transactions as permitted under the Partnership Agreement that would result in the realization by tax-exempt US Partners of UBIT. Those activities will not be deemed to violate the general undertaking of the General Partner described above. In this instance, each tax-exempt US Partner would be subject to U.S. federal income tax on its share of such income and may be required to file a U.S. federal income tax return with respect to such income.

Proprietary and Confidential

Non-US Partners

U.S. Trade or Business Issues. Under the Partnership Agreement, the General Partner generally will be required to use reasonable best efforts to conduct the affairs of NEA 14 so that no Non-US Partner will be deemed engaged in the conduct of a trade or business in the U.S. other than pursuant to Section 897 of the Code. This undertaking of the General Partner will be deemed satisfied with respect to a portfolio investment if the Non-US Partners are given the opportunity to hold their proportionate shares of such portfolio investment through an entity treated as a corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes. In addition, the General Partner will generally be required to use reasonable best efforts to avoid causing the Partnership to make an initial investment in any "United States real property holding corporation" that is a "United States real property interest," each within the meaning of Section 897(c) of the Code. Notwithstanding these undertakings of the General Partner, it is possible that the activities of NEA 14 could cause NEA 14's Non-US Partners to be treated as engaged in the conduct of a trade or business in the U.S.

Provided that NEA 14 is not engaged in the conduct of a U.S. trade or business, the U.S. federal income tax liability of a Non-US Partner with respect to that Partner's limited partner interest in NEA 14 generally will be limited to withholding tax on certain gross income from U.S. sources generated by NEA 14 as long as the Non-US Partner undertakes no activities in the U.S. (determined without regard to its investment in NEA 14) that would cause that Partner to be engaged in the conduct of a trade or business in the U.S., and, unless otherwise indicated, the discussion below of the U.S. federal income tax treatment of Non-US Partners is based on that assumption. Further, if the proper amounts are withheld and remitted to the U.S. government, Non-US Partners that are individuals or corporations will not be required to file U.S. federal income tax returns or pay additional U.S. federal income taxes solely as a result of their investments in NEA 14 (though Non-US Partners treated as trusts for U.S. federal income tax purposes are subject to special rules). If NEA 14 is not engaged in the conduct of a trade or business in the U.S., Non-US Partners' shares of income and gains from sources other than the U.S. (e.g., generally, interest or dividends paid by non-U.S. portfolio companies and gains realized on the disposition of securities of portfolio companies) will not be subject to U.S. federal income tax.

If it were ultimately established that NEA 14 is engaged in a U.S. trade or business, NEA 14 generally would be required to withhold and remit to the U.S. government a percentage of NEA 14's net income and gains that are both effectively connected with that trade or business and allocated to Non-US Partners, and would be liable for interest and penalties with respect to amounts which were not so withheld. The relevant withholding percentage generally is the maximum applicable U.S. federal income tax rate, currently 35%. In addition, Non-US Partners generally would be (i) required to file U.S. federal income tax returns and pay tax in respect of their shares of NEA 14's effectively connected income including capital gains, and (ii) allowed a credit against U.S. federal income tax liability for amounts withheld by NEA 14 on their behalf.

Proprietary and Confidential

Non-US Partners which are corporations might also be subject to a "branch profits" tax on certain earnings of NEA 14 deemed to have been repatriated to those Partners.

Treatment of Interest and Dividends from U.S. Sources. Certain categories of income from U.S. sources realized by NEA 14, such as dividends and interest, generally will be subject to U.S. federal income tax, collected by withholding, at a 30% rate on the gross amount of that income allocable to Non-US Partners. A Non-US Partner whose distributive share of such income is subject to this U.S. tax withholding may be able to claim an exemption or a reduced rate of withholding under a tax treaty or convention between the U.S. and that Partner's country of residence. A Non-US Partner resident in a jurisdiction with which the U.S. has a tax treaty, however, will not be entitled to the benefits of that treaty with respect to that Non-US Partner's distributive share of NEA 14's income and gains unless, under the law of that non-U.S. jurisdiction, NEA 14 is treated as tax transparent and certain other conditions are satisfied. Finally, in order to claim the benefits of a tax treaty to reduce U.S. federal income tax withholding on U.S.-source interest and dividends paid on securities that are not actively traded, a Non-US Partner (and any direct or indirect equity owner of a Non-US Partner seeking treaty benefits for itself because the Non-US Partner is considered fiscally transparent in the equity owner's jurisdiction) generally will be required to obtain a U.S. taxpayer identification number from the IRS and may be required to provide that number and certain other documentation to NEA 14. Other exemptions may be available for certain types of interest income.

Withholding on Payments to Certain Foreign Entities. Sections 1471 through 1474 of the Code will generally impose a withholding tax of 30% on certain gross amounts of income not effectively connected with a U.S. trade or business paid to certain "foreign financial institutions" and certain other U.S. owned "non-financial foreign entities," unless various information reporting requirements are satisfied. Amounts subject to withholding tax under these rules generally include gross U.S.-source dividend and interest income paid on or after January 1, 2014, as well as gross proceeds from the sale of property that produces U.S.-source dividend or interest income paid on or after January 1, 2015. To prevent NEA 14 from becoming subject to withholding tax under Sections 1471 through 1474 of the Code, NEA 14 may be required to comply with certain information reporting and disclosure requirements, which may include, among other things, entering into an agreement with the IRS. To avoid withholding tax and comply with such IRS agreement, if any, NEA 14 may cause certain Partners to sell their interests or otherwise withdraw from NEA 14 if such Partners do not comply with NEA 14's requests for information. Partners are encouraged to consult their own tax advisors regarding the possible application of Sections 1471 through 1474 of the Code to NEA 14 and its impact on their investment in NEA 14.

Treatment of Partnership's Capital Gains from U.S. Sources. Under current U.S. law, in general, capital gains realized or deemed realized by NEA 14 will not be subject to U.S. federal income taxation or tax withholding when allocated to a Non-US Partner unless that Partner is an individual who is present in the U.S. for 183 days or more during the taxable year in which such gains are realized and certain other conditions are satisfied.

This general rule does not apply to gains attributable to a trade or business conducted in the U.S. or to certain gains attributable to dispositions of securities of any "United States real property holding corporation" ("USRPHC"), defined in Section 897 of the Code as, in general, a company with 50% or more of the fair market value of its business assets consisting of interests in U.S.

Proprietary and Confidential

real estate and related assets. Capital gains attributable to sales by NEA 14 of the securities of a USRPHC (other than debt securities with no equity component) may be subject to U.S. federal income tax, collected initially by withholding. In such a case, Non-US Partners would also be required to file U.S. federal income tax returns, and might be liable for U.S. federal income tax in excess of the amount collected by withholding. Similarly, Non-US Partners could become subject to U.S. federal income tax, and tax return filing obligations, as a result of transfers of their interests in NEA 14 at a time when NEA 14 owned stock of any USRPHC, although certain exceptions may apply. Although the General Partner generally will be required to use reasonable best efforts to avoid causing the Partnership to make an initial investment in certain USRPHCs, even if a company in which NEA 14 has made an investment is not a USRPHC at the time of the initial investment, it is possible that such company subsequently could become a USRPHC.

Currency Conversion Issues. Non-US Partners (like other Partners) will be required to make their capital contributions to NEA 14 in U.S. dollars, and any cash distributions made by NEA 14 will be made in U.S. dollars. Profits or losses realized by Non-US Partners on the conversion of other currencies into U.S. dollars, or of U.S. dollars into other currencies will not be reflected in the Partners' capital accounts and will not affect the amounts distributable by NEA 14 to its Non-US Partners.

Other Matters

Basis for Description of Tax Consequences. The description of U.S. tax consequences set forth above is based on the provisions of the Partnership Agreement that the General Partner expects will be adopted, existing provisions of the Code, existing and proposed Treasury Regulations, existing administrative interpretations and court decisions, and certain assumptions. Future legislation, Treasury Regulations, administrative interpretations or court decisions could significantly change these authorities. Any such change could have retroactive application and therefore could apply to transactions that have taken place before such change occurs. In addition, some of the issues discussed above have not been addressed by administrative authorities or resolved by the courts. Accordingly, no assurance can be given that the IRS will not challenge the tax treatment of certain matters discussed herein or, if it does, that it will not be successful. No rulings have been or will be requested from the IRS. Furthermore, any changes in the Partnership Agreement or the operations of NEA 14 could affect the tax consequences described above.

Consultation with Advisors. The description of U.S. tax matters set forth above is not intended as a substitute for careful tax planning. It does not address all of the U.S. federal income tax consequences to investors in NEA 14, and does not address any of the state, local, estate, non-U.S. or other tax consequences of such investment to any investor, except as otherwise specifically provided. Each prospective investor in NEA 14 is solely responsible for all tax consequences to that person or entity of an investment in NEA 14. Each prospective investor is advised to consult its own tax counsel as to the U.S. federal income tax consequences attributable to acquiring, holding and disposing of a limited partner interest in NEA 14 and as to applicable state, local, estate, non-U.S. or other taxes. The effect of existing U.S. tax laws and income tax treaties, the tax laws of other jurisdictions to which an investor may be subject, and possible changes in such laws and treaties (including proposed changes which have not yet been adopted) will vary with the particular circumstances of each investor.

Proprietary and Confidential

Certain Cayman Islands Tax Considerations

The Government of the Cayman Islands will not, under existing legislation, impose any income, corporate or capital gains tax, estate duty, inheritance tax, gift tax or withholding tax upon the Partnership or the Limited Partners. Interest, dividends and gains payable to the Partnership and all distributions by the Partnership to Limited Partners will be received free of any Cayman Islands income or withholding taxes. When established the Partnership will register as an exempted limited partnership under Cayman Islands law and the Partnership will apply for, and expects to receive, an undertaking from the Governor in Cabinet of the Cayman Islands to the effect that, for a period of 50 years from the date of the undertaking, no law which is enacted in the Cayman Islands imposing any tax to be levied on profits or income or gains or appreciations shall apply to the Partnership or to any Partner thereof in respect of the operations or assets of the Partnership or the interest of a Partner therein; and may further provide that any such taxes or any tax in the nature of estate duty or inheritance tax shall not be payable in respect of the obligations of the Partnership or the interests of the Partners therein. The Cayman Islands are not party to a double tax treaty with any country that is applicable to any payments made to or by the Partnership.

ERISA

The General Partner intends to organize and operate the Partnership so that an investment in the Partnership will be a permissible investment for profit-sharing, pension or other retirement trusts (collectively, "employee benefit plans") subject to ERISA, and "plans" as defined in and subject to Section 4975 of the Code (each such employee benefit plan or plan, an "Employee Plan"). In considering an investment in the Partnership, however, a fiduciary of an Employee Plan should take into account the facts and circumstances of the Employee Plan. In particular, the fiduciary of such a plan must consider whether an investment in the Partnership meets the prudence and diversification requirements of ERISA and is consistent with applicable rules and regulations under ERISA and the Code prohibiting certain transactions between the plan and parties related to the trust, any fiduciary of the plan or the employer that sponsors the plan.

The U.S. Department of Labor (the "DOL") has issued regulations under ERISA (as modified or deemed to be modified by ERISA, the "Plan Asset Regulations"), which provide, generally, that when an employee benefit plan which is subject to ERISA or Section 4975 of the Code invests in an entity such as the Partnership, the plan's assets include both the limited partner interest in the Partnership and an undivided interest in each of the underlying assets of the Partnership, unless (i) the equity participation in the Partnership by benefit plan investors is not "significant", (ii) the Partnership complies with the "venture capital operating company" ("VCOC") exception, or (iii) the Partnership qualifies for another exception under the Plan Asset Regulations. If the underlying assets of the Partnership were to be considered plan assets of an ERISA plan investor, the General Partner would be an ERISA fiduciary and the Partnership would be subject to undesirable ERISA requirements with which the General Partner would find it difficult to comply.

Equity participation in an entity by "benefit plan investors" (as defined in Section 3(42) of ERISA) is significant if, immediately after the most recent acquisition or disposition of any equity interest in the entity, 25% or more of the value (in the aggregate) of any class of equity interests in the entity is held by "benefit plan investors" (the "25% Test"). For purposes of the 25% Test, the term "benefit plan investors" includes Employee Plans and entities or accounts deemed to hold "plan assets" due to an investment in such entity or account by Employee Plans. Under the 25% Test, the value of any equity interest held by a person (other than a "benefit plan investor") who has discretionary authority or control with respect to the assets of the entity or that provides investment advice for a fee (direct or indirect) with respect to such assets (or an affiliate of such person) is disregarded.

An investment fund may qualify as a VCOC if (i) it has direct contractual rights to substantially participate in or substantially influence the management of operating companies comprising at least 50% of its assets (measured at cost) (the "50% Test") and (ii) in the ordinary course of its business, it actively exercises such management rights with respect to at least one of the operating companies in which it invests. An "operating company" is an entity primarily engaged (either directly or through majority owned subsidiaries) in the production or sale of a product or service, as distinguished from a reinvesting entity. Determination as to whether an entity qualifies as a VCOC is made at the time when an entity makes its first long-term investment and thereafter during a ninety day annual valuation period each year, the first day of which shall begin no later than the anniversary of the Partnership's first long-term investment. An entity must satisfy the 50% Test on at least one day of each such ninety day annual valuation period. Special rules apply to any wind-up of an entity when it enters into its "distribution period" as defined in the Plan Asset Regulations.

If any investor in the Partnership is an Employee Plan, the General Partner will use reasonable best efforts to organize and conduct the affairs of the Partnership so that the assets of the Partnership will not be deemed to be "plan assets" of such investor for purposes of ERISA and the Code.

The General Partner may, under the Partnership Agreement, form one or more special purpose vehicles (each, an "alternative investment vehicle") in order to accommodate the tax, legal, policy or regulatory concerns of any Partner or the Partnership to facilitate participation of one or more Partners in certain portfolio investments or to serve as a "holding company" for certain portfolio investments. It is possible that such an alternative investment vehicle may not qualify as an "operating company" for purposes of the Plan Asset Regulations, and that the assets of such alternative investment vehicle may therefore constitute "plan assets" of those Limited Partners participating in such alternative investment vehicle that are subject to Part 4 of Subtitle B of Title I of ERISA or Section 4975 of the Code. An alternative investment vehicle that holds such "plan assets" will be structured as a conduit vehicle with respect to which the general partner (or similar managing entity) of such alternative investment vehicle does not have any discretionary authority or control with respect to the investment of the assets of such alternative investment vehicle. Each benefit plan investor (A) by making a capital contribution to such an alternative investment vehicle of which the underlying assets are deemed to constitute "plan assets" of such benefit plan investor, will be deemed to direct the general partner (or similar managing entity) of such alternative investment vehicle to invest the amount of such capital contribution in the applicable portfolio company or another alternative investment vehicle and/or pay related costs or obligations with such capital contribution, and (B) acknowledges that during any period when the underlying assets of such an alternative investment vehicle are deemed to constitute "plan assets" under ERISA or Section 4975 of the Code, the general partner (or similar managing entity) of such alternative investment vehicle will act as a custodian with respect to the assets of such benefit plan investor, but is not intended to be a fiduciary with respect to the assets of such benefit plan investor for purposes of ERISA.

Proprietary and Confidential

Governmental plans (that is, plans established or maintained by a state or political subdivision thereof, or by an agency or instrumentality of either) are generally exempted from ERISA but are subject to their sponsoring state's laws and to certain prohibited transaction rules under Section 503 of the Code.

The General Partner will have the authority to require the involuntary withdrawal of limited partner interests in the Partnership (in whole or in part) where the General Partner determines that such withdrawal is necessary to avoid having the Partnership's assets deemed to be plan assets subject to ERISA or Section 4975 of the Code.

The foregoing discussion of certain ERISA considerations is based on statutory authority and judicial and administrative interpretations as of the date hereof and is designed only to provide a general understanding of the basic issues. Accordingly, this discussion should not be considered legal advice and the trustees and other fiduciaries of each Employee Plan are encouraged to consult their own legal advisors on these matters.

"Benefit plan investors" may be required to report certain compensation paid by the Partnership (or by third parties) to the Partnership's service providers as "reportable indirect compensation" on Schedule C to the Form 5500 Annual Return ("Form 5500"). To the extent any compensation arrangements described herein constitute reportable indirect compensation, any such descriptions are intended to satisfy the disclosure requirements for the alternative reporting option for "eligible indirect compensation," as defined for purposes of Schedule C to the Form 5500.

Securities Act of 1933

The limited partner interests described herein will not be registered under the U.S. Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the "Securities Act"), in reliance upon the exemptions for transactions not involving a public offering. Each investor will be required to make certain representations to the Partnership, including that such investor is an "accredited investor" within the meaning of Rule 501(a) under the Securities Act, that it is acquiring an interest in the Partnership for its own account, for investment purposes only and not with a view to its distribution, that it has received or has had access to all information it deems relevant to evaluate the merits and risks of an investment in the Partnership and that it has the ability to bear the economic risk of an investment in the Partnership. The limited partner interests described herein will constitute "restricted securities" under the Securities Act and as such will be subject to certain restrictions on transferability. The limited partner interests may not be transferred or sold unless the interests have been registered under the Securities Act or an exemption from registration is available. It is extremely unlikely that the interests will ever be registered under the Securities Act.

This Memorandum is not a public offering "prospectus" and does not purport to describe or otherwise address all material considerations relating to an investment in the Partnership. Prior to making an investment, offerees and their advisors are invited to ask questions of, and obtain additional information from, the General Partner concerning the interests described herein, the terms and conditions of the offering and any other relevant matters. Such information will be provided to the extent the General Partner possesses such information or can acquire it without unreasonable effort or expense.

Proprietary and Confidential

Investment Company Act of 1940

The Partnership will not register as an investment company under the U.S. Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the "Investment Company Act"), in reliance upon an available exemption from registration contained in the Investment Company Act. The Partnership will obtain appropriate representations and undertakings from all purchasers of limited partner interests, including restrictions on transfer, to ensure that such purchasers meet the conditions of the exemption. The Partnership will rely on the exemption under Section 3(c)(7) of the Investment Company Act. This means that purchasers of limited partner interests must be "qualified purchasers" within the meaning of Section 2(a)(51) of the Investment Company Act. Information with respect to the requirements for "qualified purchaser" status will be included in the subscription agreement for purchase of interests in the Partnership.

Investment Advisers Act of 1940

Neither the Service Company nor the General Partner is currently registered as an investment adviser under the Advisers Act. By virtue of being exempt from the registration requirements of the Advisers Act, the Service Company and the General Partner are not subject to the performance fee restrictions and certain other restrictions contained in the Advisers Act, and the investors in the Partnership will not be afforded the protections provided under the Advisers Act to clients of advisors that are registered under the Advisers Act. The General Partner or one of its affiliates may in the future register as an investment adviser under the Advisers Act to the extent required under the Advisers Act.

To the maximum extent permitted by applicable law, the General Partner and the Partnership (together with their respective related persons) hereby disclaim any duties, obligations, or status as an advisor, finder, agent, broker or dealer on behalf or in respect of any person in connection with such person's actual or proposed investment in the Partnership.

COMPLIANCE WITH ANTI-MONEY LAUNDERING REQUIREMENTS

In response to increased regulatory requirements with respect to the sources of funds used in investments and other activities, the General Partner may require prospective investors to provide documentation verifying, among other things, such investor's and any of its beneficial owners' identities and source and use of funds used to purchase its interest in the Partnership. The General Partner may decline to accept a subscription if this information is not provided or on the basis of such information that is provided. Requests for documentation and additional information may be made at any time during which an investor holds an interest in the Partnership. The General Partner will take such steps as it determines are necessary to comply with applicable laws, regulations, orders, directives or special measures to implement anti-money laundering laws.

PAY-TO-PLAY LAWS, REGULATIONS AND POLICIES

In light of recent scandals involving money managers, a number of states and municipalities have adopted so-called — pay-to-play laws, regulations or policies which prohibit, restrict or require disclosure of payments to (and/or certain contacts with) state officials by individuals and entities seeking to do business with state or local entities, including investments by public retirement funds. The SEC also has recently adopted rules that, among other things, prohibit an investment adviser from providing advisory services for compensation with respect to a government plan investor for two years after the adviser or certain of its executives or employees make a contribution to certain elected officials or candidates. If the General Partner or its employees or affiliates fails to comply with such pay-to-play laws, regulations or policies, such non-compliance could have an adverse affect on the Partnership by, for example, providing the basis for the withdrawal of the affected government plan investor.

LEGAL MATTERS

Proskauer Rose LLP ("Proskauer") serves as U.S. legal counsel to the Partnership and the General Partner in connection with the organization thereof and the offer and sale of Interests. Maples and Calder will ("Maples") serve as Cayman Islands counsel to the Partnership and the General Partner in connection with the organization thereof and the offer and sale of Interests. No independent counsel has been retained (or is expected to be retained) to represent Limited Partners. Prospective investors should consult their own attorneys and advisors concerning an investment in the Partnership. No attorney-client relationship exists between either Proskauer or Maples and any other person solely by such person making an investment in the Partnership.

ACCOUNTING AND REPORTING

PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP or another nationally recognized accounting firm selected by the General Partner will audit the financial statements of the Partnership for each year. The Partnership's annual audited financial statements generally will be distributed to all Partners within 60 days following the close of the year. Quarterly reports of the Partnership's operations will also generally be provided to each Partner within 45 days following the close of a quarter.

AVAILABILITY OF PRINCIPAL AGREEMENTS

The Partnership Agreement of NEA 14 and the Subscription Agreement for the acquisition of interests should be reviewed carefully for more complete information with respect to the Partnership. Copies of the Partnership Agreement and Subscription Agreement will be made available upon request.
