A. Basis for Supreme Court's Appellate Jurisdiction

The District Court's order granting Reno Disposal Company, Inc. (doing business as Waste Management), Refuse, Inc. and Waste Management of Nevada, Inc.'s Motion for Summary Judgment re: Liability and Motion for Summary Judgment re: Damages are appealable under NRAP 3A(b)(1).

B. Filing Dates Establishing Timeliness of Appeal

A Joint Notice of Appeal was filed on October 6, 2016 appealing from:

1. Order granting Summary Judgment re: Liability and Damages filed on September 19, 2016 and Notice of Entry of Order entered on September 20, 2016; and,

2. Order granting Entry of Final Judgment and Notice of Entry of Order, both filed October 25, 2016.

C. Order Appealing From

This appeal is from an order granting RDC, Refuse, and WM's Second Motion for Summary Judgment re: Liability and Motion for Summary Judgment re: Damages.

V.
ROUTING STATEMENT

Although this antitrust matter is presumptively to be routed to the Court of Appeals, it would more properly be routed to the Supreme Court (NRAP 17(a)(10) and (11)). This is an appeal from an order granting summary judgment in the District Court involving state antitrust claims under Nevada's Unfair Trade Practices Act.

The very basic, fundamental subject of this appeal is that the District Court erred in its application of Noerr Pennington immunity to matters falling outside of protected petitioning activity; specifically, to an agreement between two private entities conspiring to create a monopoly.

It is believed that this court has not previously considered the circumstances under which Noerr protects anticompetitive agreements between two private parties who then, several months later, use the government petitioning process as a conduit to carry out their private, anticompetitive scheme.

Appellants further contend that this appeal concerns an issue of public importance. Therefore, this appeal should be directed to the Supreme Court.

VI.
STATEMENT OF ISSUES ON APPEAL

1. The District Court erred by applying Noerr immunity to a private agreement between private parties who only used the petitioning process as an incidental conduit to carrying out their anticompetitive conspiracy to create a monopoly.
2. The District Court erred by considering inadmissible evidence, relying on an absence of evidence, ruling on the weight and credibility of evidence, including but not limited to conflicting affidavits, and construing the foregoing in light favorable only to the moving party.
3. The District Court failed to apply the appropriate substantive law as required when evaluating damages under the Nevada Unfair Trade Practices Act, thereby committing reversible error.
4. The District Court committed reversible error in failing to consider, rule on, or grant Appellants' request for relief pursuant to NRCP 56(f) and other pending discovery motions prior to ruling on the Motions for Summary Judgment.

VII.
STATEMENT OF THE CASE

This case arises from the anticompetitive scheme by Reno Disposal Company, Inc. ("RDC"), Refuse, Inc. ("Refuse") and Waste Management of Nevada, Inc. ("WM") (collectively referred to at times as the "Waste Management Parties"), in conspiring with Castaway Trash Hauling ("Castaway"), whereby, among other things, RDC and Castaway colluded to combine and effectuate a secret acquisition at the very latest, as of April of 2012, the explicit purpose of which was to create a monopoly and unlawfully exclude Nevada Recycling and Salvage, Ltd. ("NRS") and AMCB, LLC doing business as Rubbish Runners ("RR"), and other competitors from the market.

The Waste Management Parties have utilized this anticompetitive scheme to foreclose competition and unlawfully gain a monopolistic advantage, to the detriment of NRS and RR, in violation of Nevada's Unfair Trade Practice Act. ("NUTPA"). In carrying out this anticompetitive conspiracy, RDC and Refuse, along with Castaway, and later used the municipal process as a conduit to carry out the private agreement between the Waste Management Parties and Castaway, to create a monopoly.

As a result, NRS and RR filed their Verified First Amended Complaint on March 25, 2015, alleging in part, unfair trade practices/conspiracy to create a

1 monopoly in violation of the NUTPA. Joint Appendix ("JA") Vol. 2, JA000191-2 384.

3 After obtaining leave to do so, NRS and RR filed their Second Amended 4 Complaint on June 8, 2016, adding WM as a party. Vol. 18, JA003528-3530; Vol.
5 18, 19, JA003536-3729. WM appeared for the first time in this case on June 15, 6 2016, after being joined on June 8, 2016. Vol. 21, JA004113-4137. Literally the 7 day after its first appearance, WM filed Joinders in RDC and Refuse's previously 8 filed Motions for Summary Judgment re: Liability and Damages, which NRS and 9 RR had already timely opposed. Vol. 21, JA004138-4146. The Court held oral 10 arguments on the summary judgment motions on August 18, 2016 and 11 subsequently entered its Order thereon on September 19, 2016. Vol. 26, JA005176, 12 JA005289-5294. The Court did not rule on WM's Joinders prior to, during or at the 13 time it issued its Order granting RDC and Refuse's Motions for Summary 14 Judgment.

15 As such, after the Waste Management Parties filed a Motion for Entry of 16 Final Judgment, on October 25, 2016 the District Court entered Judgment in favor 17 of all the Waste Management Parties, explicitly retroactively granting the Joinder 18 of WM, on all claims. Vol. 26, JA005397-5399.

22 In mid-2012 RDC approached the City and proposed having two different 23 zones and two different providers for commercial services. Vol. 17, JA003266 at ¶4; See also, Vol. 7, JA001330:20-21, (“[A]t some point in mid 2012 I [Martinelli] took a concept to them [City of Reno] of creating franchise zones”).

At the time, there were no City imposed qualifications for haulers or facilities to be considered for the Franchise or Disposal Agreements or the Franchised zones. Vol. 17, JA003266 at ¶5. The City did not solicit bids for those who wanted to be considered as a franchisee for commercial waste and recycling services; RDC went to the City with the zone proposal with RDC having one zone and Castaway having the other zone. Id. See also, Email between Gary Duhon (then Attorney for the Waste Management Parties) and Jason Geddes (former City of Reno Sustainability Manger), whereby Mr. Geddes asks Mr. Duhon for the final map for the percentage of the franchise zones, Vol. 20, JA003862, (“Jason, the labeled maps I sent previously are final and agreed to by Castaway and Reno Disposal and we can adjust if necessary as provided in the agreement. The proportionate share is to be changed 19.50% in the commercial agreement;” “So 19.5 for CTH and 80.5 for WM. Correct?” “Correct”).

In approximately September of 2012, then Councilwoman Zadra “specifically asked whether there were any other Commercial solid waste, trash and/or recycling businesses in the City of Reno who should be included in the Franchise negotiation process and the answer [she] received was along the lines of ‘maybe, well sort of but not really.’” Vol. 17, JA003266, at ¶6.

1 It was not until the day before the October 10, 2012 Reno City Council
2 meeting that Councilwoman Zadra learned that "there were in fact others, 3 including Nevada Recycling and Salvage and Rubbish Runners, who were engaged 4 in the Commercial solid waste, trash and recycling industries in the City of Reno."
5 Vol. 17, JA003267 at ¶7. However, by the time Councilwoman Zadra learned of 6 the other interested stakeholders like NRS and RR, "the zones for [RDC] and 7 Castaway had already been decided." Id. See also, Reno City Council Presentation, 8 Vol. 20, JA003902. (RDC presented to the City "2 Service Areas and 2 Service 9 Providers ('Zones')").
10

11 The first meeting the City had with the other businesses operating in the City 12 of Reno in the commercial waste and recycling industries was the day before the 13 October 10, 2012 City Council meeting. Vol. 17, JA003267 at ¶8. RDC and 14 Castaway and their respective zones were selected before any public meetings 15 were held regarding the Commercial Franchise Agreements. Id. at ¶9.
16

17 The City Council held several public meetings on the topic of single stream 18 recycling in general, but held a total of three meetings in October and November of 19 2012 specifically regarding the Franchise and Disposal Agreements that RDC and 20 Refuse were proposing. Id. at ¶10.
21

22 During the October and November public meetings regarding the Franchise 23 and Disposal Agreements proposed by RDC and Refuse, it became clear that the

1 other local stakeholders were not previously aware of the contract negotiations
2 between RDC, Refuse, Castaway and the City. Id. at ¶11. At the October 10, 2012 3 City Council meeting, then Vice Mayor, David Aiazzi, stated, "There's a group of 4 people here who-who have been left out but to defend [City] staff a little bit, this is 5 a Waste Management proposal not a proposal by the City of Reno, I think it's 6 there- it was their job to go talk to everyone and bring them in."<sup>1</sup>

8 In Zadra's opinion, NRS's facility and operations and RR were just as 9 qualified for a Franchise zone either individually or collectively, as RDC and 10 Castaway, but because RDC and Castaway had already been accepted as 11 franchisees before the other haulers and facilities even knew the franchises were 12 being considered, no other stakeholders had the opportunity to be considered. Vol.
13 17, JA003268 at ¶16 and ¶17.

15 At no time prior to granting either RDC or Castaway a Franchised zone, did 16 RDC or Castaway inform Councilwoman Zadra, or anyone else to her knowledge, 17 that there was already an agreement to acquire Castaway in place. Vol. 17, 18 JA003267, ¶12.

1 Castaway sooner, she would not have voted in support of the Franchises that were 2 approved and it's her belief that, had the other Council Members known about the 3 secret purchase plans at the time, the City Council would have never approved the 4 Franchise and Disposal Agreements as they were approved on November 7, 2012.

5 Id. at ¶13. Then Councilman Aiazzi testified similarly at his Deposition, as 6 follows:

8 "Q: Do you feel that was a material fact that the city council, as you 9 as a city councilperson would like to know if there were negotiations 10 occurring between Castaway and Waste Management before this 11 franchise agreement was put before you? . . .

12 THE WITNESS: I don't know if this whole city council would have 13 liked to know about it but I certainly would have liked to know about 14 it.
15 . . .

16 Q: You mentioned that Waste Management – if Waste Management 17 and Castaway had been negotiating with each other regarding the 18 buyout of Castaway, you at least as a council member would have 19 liked to have known. Why would you have liked to have known?

20 A: Well, that's the whole purpose of the public process, to see what's 21 going on. . . ."

22 Vol. 8, JA001476:22-1477:24.

23 The City made it clear from the outset, it would not award RDC an exclusive monopoly for commercial waste or recycling for all of Reno, which is why the City explicitly entered multiple agreements (two franchised zones). Vol. 17, JA003267, ¶14.

1 While the current Commercial Franchise Agreements allow an assignment 2 by a franchisee of the franchisee's rights under its Agreement to a permitted 3 Transferee without the City's written consent, the entire premise and intent of the 4 Agreements was to preclude one entity from having a monopoly or sole exclusive 5 rights over the entire City of Reno. Vol. 17, JA003268 at ¶18.

7 The City of Reno never expressly pre-approved or agreed to any pre-8 arranged secret agreement to acquire Castaway prior to approval of the Franchise 9 Agreements because the City did not know of the acquisition until after that time.
10 Id. at ¶19.

11 From Councilwoman Zadra's perspective, RDC engaged in a fraud on the 12 City because it knew of the City's explicit intent to have and maintain multiple 13 providers in the Reno area and it intentionally developed a plan to circumvent the 14 City of Reno's express wishes, while concealing their plan to create an exclusive 15 monopoly. Id. at ¶21.

7 SUMMARY OF ARGUMENT

8 In addressing summary judgment motions in antitrust cases, courts have 9 traditionally proceeded with caution in granting such motions. Poller v. Columbia 10 Broadcasting System Inc., 368 U.S. 464, 473 (1962) ("summary judgment 11 procedures should be used sparingly in complex antitrust litigation where motive 12 and intent play leading roles, the proof is largely in the hands of the alleged 13 conspirators, and hostile witnesses thicken the plot"). Here, the District Court 14 misapplied the applicable law in antitrust cases as well as the Noerr-Pennington 15 immunity defense, which as set forth herein, is inapplicable in this case.

16
17 Summary judgment may not be used as a shortcut to resolving disputes upon 18 facts material to the determination of the legal rights of the parties." Parman v.
19 Petricciani, 70 Nev. 427, 436, 272 P.2d 492, 496 (1954). See also, Mullis v.
20 Nevada National Bank, 98 Nev. 510, 654 P.2d 533 (1982). The Court must view 21 the evidence in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party. Pegasus v. Reno 22 Newspapers, Inc., 118 Nev. 706, 713, 57 P.3d 82, 87 (2002).
23

1 While in this case, NRS and RR demonstrated clear credibility issues on the 2 part of RDC and Refuse and their witnesses, even when a plaintiff has not 3 presented any evidence discrediting the honesty of the defendant, summary 4 judgment is still not proper because a plaintiff must have the opportunity to 5 examine the declarants and witnesses at trial, "especially as to matters peculiarly 6 within defendant's knowledge." Short v. Hotel Riviera, Inc., 79 Nev. 94, 378 P.2d 7 979 (1963).

9 Furthermore, where evidence must be derived from the defendants and from 10 their acts, conduct, speech, writings, and documents, the statements of the 11 declarants should be explained at trial. Id. at 101. Where a defendant denies the 12 plaintiff's allegations, it is for the trier of fact to determine the weight of the 13 defendant's testimony. Id. at 102. In citing Colby v. Klune, 178 F.2d 872 (1949), 14 Short noted:

16 '[T]rial by affidavit,' [is] improper because there is involved an issue 17 of fact, turning on credibility...the opportunity to examine and cross-18 examine witnesses in open court, has often been acclaimed as one of 19 the persistent, distinctive, and most valuable features of the common-20 law system. For only in such a trial can the trier of the facts (trial 21 judge or jury) observe the witnesses' demeanor; and that demeanor-22 absent, of course, when trial is by affidavit or deposition-is recognized 23 as important clues to witness credibility. When...the ascertainment (as near as may be) of the facts of a case turns on credibility, a triable issue of fact exists, and the granting of a summary judgment is error Particularly where...the facts are peculiarly in the knowledge of defendants or their witnesses, should the plaintiff have the opportunity to impeach them at trial . . . .

1 Id. Furthermore, a court should not evaluate the credibility of a witness for the 2 purposes of summary judgment, as a plaintiff has the right to a trial where there is 3 the slightest doubt as to the facts. (Citations Omitted). Id. at 102-03.

5 With respect to antitrust actions, in Poller v. Columbia Broadcasting System, 6 Inc., 368 U.S. 464, 473 (1962), the United States Supreme Court held:

7 [S]ummary procedures should be used sparingly in complex antitrust 8 litigation where motive and intent play leading roles, the proof is largely 9 in the hands of the alleged conspirators, and hostile witnesses thicken the 10 plot. It is only when the witnesses are present and subject to cross-11 examination that their credibility and the weight to be given their 12 testimony can be appraised. Trial by affidavit is no substitute for trial by 13 jury ....

14 Due to the conflicting evidence and Affidavits, as well as the countless genuine 15 issues of material facts herein; summary disposition should be reversed.

16 X. 17 ARGUMENT

18 A. Standard of Review

19 This court reviews a district court's order granting summary judgment de 20 novo, without deference to the district court's findings. Wood v. Safeway, Inc., 121 21 Nev. 724, 121 P.3d 1026, 1029 (2005). De novo review of an order granting 22 summary judgment is made "to determine whether the evidence properly before 23 the district court demonstrate[s] that no genuine issue as to any material fact [remains] and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of 1 law.” Torrealba v. Kesmetis, 124 Nev. 95, 100, 178 P.3d 716, 720

2 (2008) (Citations Omitted).

4 B. The District Court erred by applying Noerr Pennington immunity to a 5 private agreement between private parties who only used the petitioning 6 process an incidental conduit to carrying out their anticompetitive 7 conspiracy to create a monopoly.

9 In granting summary judgment, the District Court erroneously found:

10 The Nevada Revised Statutes clearly contemplate the safe harbor 11 described in the Noerr decision. NRS 598A.040(3)(b) says that the 12 provisions of this chapter do not apply to conduct which is expressly 13 authorized, regulated, or approved by an ordinance of any city or 14 county of this state. .... The Court finds that this contract, although 15 it limits competition in the waste disposal industry, is a valid 16 exercise of a proper government power and is specifically exempted 17 from antitrust supervision and antitrust application. Further, the 18 Defendants’ conduct is exempt from liability because it involves a 19 political and not business conduct under the Noerr Doctrine 20 discussed above.

21 JA005292:17-28. NRS 598A.060(1)(e) provides, “Every activity enumerated in 22 this section constitutes a contract, combination or conspiracy in restraint of trade 23 and it is unlawful to conduct any part of any such activity in this state:... (e) monopolization of trade or commerce in this state, including, without limitation, attempting to monopolize or otherwise combining or conspiring to monopolize trade or commerce in this state.” [Emphasis Added].

1 In late 2011 and early 2012, the Reno City Council decided they were not 2 going to grant an Exclusive Franchise Agreement to any one entity. Vol. 17, 3 JA003266 at ¶3; Vol. 7, JA001330:13-15, JA001334:5-6. Only after which, the 4 Waste Management Parties entered into a secret private agreement with Castaway, 5 conspiring with Castaway to monopolize the waste and recycling market. After 6 entering into the private agreement with Castaway, RDC then went to the City and 7 proposed two zones.

13 [REDACTED]." Vol. 11,
14 JA002308. This was a private agreement between the Waste Management Parties 15 and Castaway whereby they agreed to seek two franchise zones, knowing that 16 Castaway would never service a single day of its zone, in order to create an 17 exclusive monopoly for RDC. There was no "petitioning activity" whatsoever 18 involved at that time.
19

20 Actionable conspiracy consists of combination of two or more persons who, 21 by some concerted action, intend to accomplish unlawful objective to harm 22 another, and damage results therefrom. Southerland v. Gross, 105 Nev. 192, 772 23 P.2d 1287 (1989). As of [REDACTED], at the latest, in direct violation of the

1 NUTPA, the Waste Management Parties and Castaway began working together, 2 agreed to combine and conspired to create a monopoly in violation of NRS 3 598A.060(1)(e). "... [W]here private parties take unlawful action merely hoping 4 the government will later ratify it, government action is not an intervening cause, 5 and Noerr-Pennington immunity does not arise." Allied Tube & Conduit Corp. v.
6 Indian Head, 486 U.S. 492, 503-04 (1988); In re Brand Name Prescript. Drugs
7 Antitrust Litig., 186 F.3d 781, 789 (7th Cir. 1999).

9 After the Waste Management Parties and Castaway spent several months 10 orchestrating their conspiracy, in mid-2012, RDC petitioned the City of Reno and 11 proposed having two different zones and two different providers for commercial 12 services- RDC and Castaway. Vol. 17, JA003266 at ¶4; Vol. 7, JA001330:20-21.

14 The District Court erroneously found the pre-petition activity of RDC and 15 Castaway was afforded Noerr immunity. However, RDC's petitioning activity did 16 not begin until July or August of 2012, while the conspiracy to monopolize the 17 Reno market occurred several months prior, with a contract proposal and 18 agreement to monopolize the entire market. Vol. 13, JA002562-2563; Vol. 11, 19 JA002306-2309. The District Court also incorrectly held that, because the 20 Franchise Agreements and coordinating Ordinances contained an assignment 21 provision allowing the Franchisees to assign their respective franchise interests, 22 that the City of Reno somehow ratified and approved RDC and Castaway's prior, 23

1 anticompetitive private agreement. Vol. 26, JA005291:14-21, JA005216:5-2 JA005221:13. Specifically, the District Court held,

4 Looking to the United States Supreme Court in Eastern Railroad
5 President's Conference v. Noerr Motor Freight, 365 U.S. 127, 135
6 (1961) (rehearing denied 365 U.S. 875), Justice Hugo Black stated:

7 'We accept as the starting point for our consideration of the case the 8 same basic construction of the Sherman Antitrust Act adopted by the 9 courts below that no violation of the act can be predicated upon mere 10 attempts to influence the passage or enforcement of laws. It has been 11 recognized at least since the landmark decision of this Court in 12 Standard Oil Company of New Jersey v. United States, that the 13 Sherman Act forbids only those trade restraints and monopolizations 14 that are created or attempted by the acts of individuals or combination 15 of individuals or corporations. Accordingly, it has been held that 16 where a restraint upon trade or monopolization is the result of valid 17 government action, as opposed to private action, no violation of the 18 act can be made out.'

19 Further in the Noerr decision, Justice Black states: 'we think it equally 20 clear that the Sherman Act does not prohibit two or more persons 21 from associating together in an attempt to persuade the legislature or 22 the executive', which in this case was the City of Reno 'to take 23 particular action with respect to a law that would produce a restraint or a monopoly.' Id. at 136.

Vol. 26, JA005291:26-JA005292:16. However, the very next sentence in the Noerr
Motor Freight case, which was not included in the District Court's Order, provides,

Although such associations could perhaps, through a process of expansive construction, be brought within the general proscription of combination(s) *** in restraint of trade, they bear very little if any resemblance to the combinations normally held violative of the Sherman Act, combinations ordinarily characterized by an express

1 or implied agreement or understanding that the participants will 2 jointly give up their trade freedom, or help one another to take 3 away the trade freedom of others through the use of such devices as 4 price-fixing agreements, boycotts, market-division agreements, and 5 other similar arrangements.

6 (Citations Omitted). The Waste Management Parties and Castaway entered into a 7 private agreement whereby Castaway agreed to give up its trade freedom to help 8 RDC take away the trade freedom of others. While the City of Reno is permitted to 9 displace competition in certain circumstances, the City does not have the ability to 10 approve or ratify a prior unlawful conspiracy agreement to secure a monopoly for 11 RDC.

12 NRS 598A.040(3)(c) provides that the provisions of NRS 598A do not apply 13 to "Conduct which is expressly authorized, regulated or approved by. . . An 14 ordinance of any city or county of this State . . ." This provision does not grant the 15 City the authority to ratify or as the District Court erroneously characterizes as 16 "pre-approve" (Vol. 26, JA005291:18-19), a private business agreement between 17 to private parties conspiring to create a monopoly, to the detriment of NRS and 18 RR.

20 In any event, the City of Reno could not have pre-approved an agreement by 21 way of permissible assignment language contained in the Franchise Agreements 22 and coordinating ordinance that were passed on November 7, 2012, when several 23 of the Reno City Council Members did not even know about the private agreement

1 between the Waste Management Parties and Castaway until after the Franchises 2 were voted on and approved. See, Vol. 17, JA003267 at ¶12; Vol. 8, JA001476:22-3 JA001477:24.

5 Contrary to the District Court's finding that the Waste Management Parties 6 and Castaway's private agreement and collusive scheme to create a monopoly is 7 immunized by Noerr, the United States Supreme Court explicitly held that 8 anticompetitive conduct, agreements and overall schemes by private parties is not 9 immunized by Noerr, when it falls outside the petitioning process. If such conduct 10 were immunized by the First Amendment, then competitors would be free to exact 11 economic advantages from local governing bodies based solely on the premise that 12 "they are genuinely intended to influence the government to agree to the 13 conspirators' terms." F.T.C. v. Superior Court Trial Lawyers Ass'n, 493 U.S. 411, 14 425 (1990); Allied Tube, 486 U.S. at 492; In re Brand Name Prescript. Drugs, 186 15 F.3d at 789.

16
17 Noerr-Pennington, a First Amendment-based doctrine that protects private 18 parties from liability under the Sherman Act in connection with efforts to petition 19 the government, only extends so far as necessary to steer the Sherman Act clear of 20 violating the First Amendment. Freeman v. Lasky, Haas & Cohler, 410 F.3d 1180
21 (9th Cir. 2005). Noerr cannot be used to shelter joint activity that creates a 22 monopoly independent of any decision by a court or agency. United Airlines, Inc.
23

1 v. U.S. Bank N.A., 406 F.3d 918 (7th Cir. 2005).

2 The only activities protected under Noerr are those designed to secure 3 favorable government action. There is no law supporting the proposition that Noerr 4 protects the Waste Management Parties' private agreement and conspiracy with a 5 direct competitor, Castaway, that "predated their protected petitioning activity, 6 such that the [government petitioning] process was merely a vehicle to effectuate 7 [the anticompetitive] scheme." California Pharmacy Mgmt., LLC v. Zenith Ins.
8 Co., 669 F. Supp. 2d 1152, 1168 (2009); Citing, Allied Tube, 486 U.S. at 506–07, 9 ("[T]he mere fact that an anticompetitive activity is also intended to influence 10 governmental action is not alone sufficient to render that activity immune from 11 antitrust liability").
12

14 The Ninth Circuit has issued stern warnings to antitrust defendants like that 15 of those herein, stating:
16

17 An antitrust violation does not enjoy immunity simply because an 18 element of that violation involves an action which itself is not illegal.
19 In Trucking Unlimited the Court emphasized the existence of liability 20 for antitrust violations, even though an integral part of the violation 21 may involve otherwise legal and protected activity. The court stated:

22 . . . 'It is well settled that First Amendment rights are not 23 immunized from regulation when they are used as an integral part of conduct which violates a valid statute.'

Similarly, we hold that when there is a conspiracy prohibited by the antitrust laws, and the otherwise legal [petitioning] is nothing but an

1 act in furtherance of that conspiracy, general antitrust principles 2 apply, notwithstanding the existence of Noerr immunity. In so holding 3 we are acting consistently with the theoretical underpinnings of the 4 Noerr doctrine. As we noted above, Noerr immunity is based on the 5 first amendment right to petition and to seek to influence 6 governmental action. When, however, the petitioning activity is but 7 a part of a larger overall scheme to restrain trade, there is no 8 overall immunity. . . .

6 ‘First Amendment rights may not be used as the means or 7 the pretext for achieving ‘substantive evils’ ... which the 8 legislature has power to control. Certainly the constitutionality of 9 the antitrust laws is not open to debate.... If the end result is unlawful, it matters not that the means used in violation may be lawful.’

10 [Emphasis Added]; (Citations Omitted). Clipper Exxpress v. Rocky Mountain 11 Motor Tariff Bureau, 690 F.2d 1240, 1263-64 (9th Cir. 1982). In Clipper 12 Exxpress, the Ninth Circuit reversed the lower Court’s dismissal holding Noerr did 13 not immunize Defendants, “[e]ven if the protests to the ICC were legitimate, if 14 they were part of a larger antitrust conspiracy, the conspiracy is subject to the 15 antitrust laws.” [Emphasis Added]. Id. The Clipper Exxpress Court explicitly 16 recognized “the existence of liability for antitrust violations, even though an 17 integral part of the violation may involve otherwise legal and protected activity.” 18 [Emphasis Added]. Id.

21 Analogous to Clipper Exxpress, here NRS and RR are “not challenging 22 merely the petitioning activity,” but instead “challenge [the conspirators’] entire 23 course of conduct,” which, as alleged, violates the NUTPA as set forth in NRS

1 598A. Id. at 1265. As in Clipper Exxpress, the Waste Management Parties' 2 "actions do not enjoy immunity, even though a part of the actions may have 3 involved protected first amendment petitioning. The reach of the Noerr- 4 Pennington doctrine is not that extensive, and the antitrust laws are not that 5 impotent." Id.

7 Noerr antitrust immunity does not extend to matters occurring in an 8 essentially private context. Agritronics Corp. v. Nat'l Dairy Herd Ass'n, 914
9 F.Supp. 814 (1996). The United States Supreme Court held in Allied Tube,

10 We cannot agree with petitioner's absolutist position that the Noerr 11 doctrine immunizes every concerted effort that is genuinely intended 12 to influence governmental action. If all such conduct were immunized 13 then, for example, competitors would be free to enter into horizontal 14 price agreements as long as they wished to propose that price as an 15 appropriate level for governmental ratemaking or price supports.
16 Horizontal conspiracies or boycotts designed to exact higher prices 17 or other economic advantages from the government would be 18 immunized on the ground that they are genuinely intended to 19 influence the government to agree to the conspirators' terms. Firms 20 could claim immunity for boycotts or horizontal output restrictions on the ground that they are intended to dramatize the plight of their industry and spur legislative action. Immunity might even be claimed for anticompetitive mergers on the theory that they give the merging corporations added political clout. . . . and we have never suggested that that kind of attempt to influence the government merits protection.

22 F.T.C. v. Superior Court Trial Lawyers Ass'n, 493 U.S. 411, 424-25 (1990).

23 "The policies of the Sherman Act should not be sacrificed simply because

1 defendants employ governmental processes to accomplish anti-competitive
2 purposes. Otherwise, with governmental activities abounding about us, government 3 could engineer many to antitrust havens.” Woods Exploration & Producing Co. v.

16 Added]. F.T.C. v. Superior Court Trial Lawyers Ass’n, 493 U.S. 411, 412 (1990).

17 C. The District Court erred by considering inadmissible evidence, relying 18 on an absence of evidence, ruling on the weight and credibility of 19 evidence, including but not limited to conflicting affidavits, and 20 construing the foregoing in light favorable only to the moving party.

21
22 Public policy favors resolution of disputes on their merits rather than by 23 default. Yochum v. Davis, 98 Nev. 484, 487 (1982); Franklin v. Bartsas Realty, 95

1 Nev. 559, 563 (1979). On summary judgment, all facts and inferences must be 2 viewed in light most favorable to the nonmoving party, and the moving party has 3 the burden to establish the nonexistence of any triable issue of fact. Clipper 4 Express, v. Rocky Mountain Motor, 690 F.2d 1240 (9th Cir. 1982). That did not 5 happen in this case.

7 To withstand summary judgment, the nonmoving party cannot rely solely on 8 general allegations and conclusions, but must present specific facts demonstrating 9 the existence of a genuine factual issue supporting his claims. Choy v. Ameristar 10 Casinos, Inc., 127 Nev. Adv. Op. 78 (2011). The nonmoving party's statements 11 must be accepted as true and the court may not pass on the credibility of affidavits.
12 Sawyer v. Sugarless, 106 Nev. 265 (1990). That did not happen here.
13

14 To the contrary, here the District Court improperly ruled on the credibility of 15 the facts and the weight of the evidence, and for that reason alone, reversal is 16 warranted. Parman v. Petricciani, 70 Nev. 427, 436, 272 P.2d 492, 496 (1954).
17 The following are examples of issues of material facts that the District Court 18 impermissibly ruled in light most favorable to the moving party, disregarding long-19 standing precedent:
20

21 a. Example 1

22 The Waste Management Parties' Allegations: Relying on the 23 Agreements and the Deposition Testimony WM's area manager, the Waste

1 Management Parties alleged, "The franchise agreements also conclusively 2 demonstrate that it was the City who pursued the crafting of the new solid 3 waste franchises for the City and that it was the City who selected those waste 4 haulers that it deemed 'qualified' to be the recipient of a franchised area." Vol.
5 13, JA002627:1-5. Relying on Affidavits from former City Councilmen 6 Dwight Dortch and Mayor Cashell, the Waste Management Parties further 7 claimed, "It is also an undisputed fact, that the City only selected Reno 8 Disposal and Castaway as qualified contractors to receive a franchise 9 agreement." Vol. 13, JA002627:5-6.
10

11 NRS and RR' Conflicting Evidence Disputing the Allegations: When 12 the City refused to grant RDC an exclusive monopoly, they conspired with 13 Castaway, and approached the City proposing two different zones and two 14 different providers for commercial services. Vol. 17, JA003266 at ¶4; Vol. 7, 15 JA001330-1331. There were no City imposed qualifications to be considered for a 16 Franchise, Disposal Agreement or Franchised zone; It was not the City of Reno 17 who solicited bids for those who wanted to be considered for commercial waste 18 and/or recycling services, it was RDC who proposed the zones to the City, with 19 RDC having one zone and Castaway the other. Id. See also, Vol. 20, JA003862.
20 Previous Counsel for the Waste Management Parties, also confirmed that the zone 21 percentages and maps were provided to him by WM and he then provided them to

1 the City. Vol. 16, JA003096:23-JA003097:14. “[T]he City did not evaluate 2 whether any other entity would have qualified.” Vol. 17, JA003268 at ¶15. NRS’ 3 facility and operations and RR would have both been just as qualified for a 4 franchise zone as RDC and Castaway. Id. at ¶16.

6 In opposition to the Declaration of Mayor Cashell relied upon by the 7 movants, the credibility of which was called into question before the District Court 8 as follows:

9 [D]espite the statement set forth in the Declaration of Mayor 10 Cashell..., stating, ‘Prior to voting to approve the Commercial 11 Franchise Agreements, I participated in three (3) public Reno City 12 Council meetings at which the contents, terms and conditions of the 13 Commercial Franchise Agreements were explained and discussed in 14 detailed staff reports, in comprehensive presentations by City staff, by 15 the Qualified waste haulers Castaway and Reno Disposal, as well as in 16 extensive public testimony and comment;’ and although the unsworn 17 Declaration itself fails to comply with the provisions of NRS 53.045 .
18 . .Cashell’s statement does not appear to be factually accurate in that 19 the minutes from two of the only three Reno City Council meetings 20 where the specific proposed contents, terms and conditions of the 21 Franchise Agreement(s) indicate that contrary to Mayor Cashell’s 22 statement, he was in fact not in attendance at two of those three 23 meetings.

18 [Emphasis Added]. Vol. 17, JA003245 at FN1, JA003354, JA003402.

19
20 Holding: Despite the questionable credibility of some of the evidence 21 relied upon by the movants as well as the rebutting Affidavit(s) provided by 22 NRS and RR, the District Court’s Order granting Summary Judgment includes 23 the movants’ argument that NRS and RR “lack standing to assert their claim,

1 because they were not qualified to service a franchise zone, that they never 2 sought to be considered by the City of Reno to serve a franchise zone, and that 3 the City of Reno determined they were not qualified waste haulers;" all of 4 which was refuted with admissible evidence, either deposition testimony or an 5 Affidavit under oath by a then Reno Councilmember, which was ignored. Vol.
6 26, JA005293:1-5.

8 Notably, while competing evidence has been submitted as to who qualified 9 to service a franchise zone, the record is devoid of any set of qualifications. There 10 were no qualifications, and the Waste Management Parties' premise that any 11 company or person did not qualify is without any factual support. Based upon the 12 information adduced, the District Court could not render summary judgment, 13 because there were no qualifications; and, in any event, competing facts and 14 evidence material to the issue of qualifications was placed before the Court.
15 Nonetheless, the District Court adopted the Waste Management Parties' alleged 16 proof of qualifications, or lack thereof, over those submitted in support of the non-17 moving parties' position, even though the District Court was precluded from doing 18 so.
19 20

21 b. Example 2-

22 The Waste Management Parties' Allegations: "[NRS and RR's]
23 contention that the City would not have entered into the Franchise Agreements

1 if the City was aware of the assignment is pure speculation.” Vol. 13, 2 JA002643:7-9.

3       NRS and RR’ Conflicting Evidence Disputing the Allegations: Early 4 in the process when single stream recycling was being discussed, the City Council 5 made it clear it was not going to grant RDC an exclusive Franchise or any sort of 6 exclusive rights to service all commercial customers in Reno. Vol. 17, JA003266 at 7 ¶3; Vol. 7, JA001330:13-15, JA1334:5-6. Had the City known about the secret 8 purchase agreement prior to when the Franchise was executed, the City of Reno 9 would not have granted Castaway a zone because, having already been subsumed 10 by Waste Management, it would have ceased operational existence, leaving only 11 RDC and the City already refused to give RDC an exclusive monopoly. Vol. 17, 12 JA003267 at ¶13.

13       Stated differently, if WM had simply written [REDACTED] check to 14 purchase Castaway when they entered into their private agreement in early 2012, 15 RDC would have been unable to circumvent the City’s refusal to grant it an 16 exclusive monopoly, and then competitors, NRS and RR, would have instead been 17 able to be considered for a franchise.

18       Holding: The District Court erroneously favored the movants’ holding, 19 the “City of Reno expressly approved [WM’s] acquisition of Castaway’s 20 franchise rights thereby establishing a single franchise situation.” Vol. 26, 21

1 JA005291:20.

2 As such and at the very least, the District Court erred in disposing this 3 matter by summary judgment as in its findings, the District Court appears to 4 have relied on several material issues of disputed facts and erroneously finding 5 thereon in favor of the movants.

7 In any event, there is ample evidence that establishes NRS and RR were in 8 the same business and capable of seeking a franchise, but for the Waste 9 Management Parties' unlawful acts. Nonetheless, the court weighed the evidence 10 and decided that NRS and RR's failure to request a zone, even if made impossible 11 to do so by the unlawful conduct, did not create a factual dispute for a jury.
12 Contrary to the District Court's erroneous finding, the forgoing demonstrates that 13 there are disputed material facts at issue in this case. While these facts are not 14 material or appropriate for consideration with respect to damages, as set forth more 15 fully herein, there is no doubt the District Court failed to view the evidence in light 16 most favorable to the nonmoving party, thereby precluding summary judgment.
17

18 D. The District Court failed to apply the appropriate substantive law as 19 required when evaluating damages under the Nevada Unfair Trade 20 Practices Act, thereby committing reversible error.
21

22 a. The Order Granting Summary Judgment is procedurally deficient.

23 NRCP 56(c) states, "An order granting summary judgment shall set forth the

1 undisputed material facts and legal determinations on which the court granted 2 summary judgment.” These requirements were clearly overlooked in this case.
3 Here, the Order contains only conclusory statements, failing to set forth any 4 alleged undisputed material facts or legal determinations as required. With respect 5 to damages, the District Court’s Order states:

7       In terms of damages, the Defendants argue that the Plaintiffs lack 8 standing to assert their claim, because they were not qualified to 9 service a franchise zone, that they never sought to be considered by 10 the City of Reno to serve as a franchise zone, and that the City of 11 Reno determined that they were not qualified waste haulers.

12       The Court finds that pursuant to NRS 598A.040(3) the Plaintiffs have 13 not sustained any injury and the Plaintiffs have not alleged an antitrust 14 injury sufficient to confer standing to prove any claim under NRS 15 598A.060.

16 Vol. 26, JA005293:1-9. The District Court’s Order is framed on what Defendants 17 argued and failing to state the undisputed facts, making this appellate process 18 difficult (if not impossible) and leaving both parties to guess at what the District 19 Court actually found to be “undisputed facts.”

20       b. The District Court failed to properly apply the substantive law on 21 damages for NUTPA Claims.

22       The Court misapplied the substantive law on damages in NUTPA claims, 23 which allows for proof of damages through both direct and indirect evidence that NRS and RR were excluded from participating in areas of the market due to 1 RDC's monopoly. Instead, the District Court erroneously applied some other 2 unknown standard.

3 i. NRS and Rubbish Runners Have Standing

4 Antitrust standing generally refers to the requirement that an antitrust 5 plaintiff demonstrates injury to his business or property by reason of anything 6 forbidden in the antitrust laws, and the prudential pre-requisites associated with 7 those requirements. Atlantic Richfield Co. v. USA Petroleum Co., 495 U.S. 328, 8 334 (1990). A determination of antitrust standing centers on the relationship 9 between a given plaintiff's alleged harm, and the alleged wrongdoing by 10 defendants. Associated General Contractors of California, Inc. v California State 11 Council of Carpenters, 459 U.S. 519, 535 (1983). The United States Supreme 12 Court identified a number of factors for determining whether a plaintiff who has 13 alleged an injury under the antitrust laws has standing, including: (1) the nature of 14 the plaintiffs' injury; (2) the directness of the injury; (3) the speculative nature of 15 the harm; (4) the risk of duplicative recovery; and (5) the complexity in 16 apportioning damages. Id at 538-545, 907-912.

17
18 19 20 Instead of evaluating standing from the point of damages, the District Court 21 evaluated NRS and RR's ability to qualify for a franchise holding, (1) "...they 22 were not qualified to service a franchise zone..." (2) "... they never sought to be 23 considered by the City of Reno to serve as a franchise zone ....", and (3) "... the 1 City of Reno determined that they were not qualified waste haulers.” These are 2 improper elements to determine standing. See test for standing articulated in 3 Associated General Contractors of California, Inc., supra. The District Court

4 Order failed to cite a single relevant element. Despite the fact that NRS and RR
5 are direct competitors of RDC and Refuse, the District Court granted summary 6 judgment, finding that NRS and RR could not have suffered damages because they 7 lacked standing to assert their claims, both of which are inaccurate.

9 ii. The NUTPA claims use a relaxed standard of proof for 10 damages.

11 The NUTPA was designed to prevent anticompetitive conduct similar to its 12 federal counterpart(s), the Sherman and Clayton Antitrust Acts. NRS 598A.210(1)- 13 (2); NRS 598A.050 (“The provisions of this chapter shall be construed in harmony 14 with prevailing judicial interpretations of the federal antitrust statutes.”); Boulware 15 v. Nev., 960 F.2d 793, 800 (9th Cir. 1992) (“The Nevada statute also adopts by 16 reference the case law applicable to the federal antitrust laws.”). Because 17 provisions of the NUTPA must be construed in harmony with the judicial 18 interpretations of the federal antitrust statutes, the well-settled federal law 19 regarding causation and damages applies herein.

22 “The general proposition underlying [anti-competitive behavior cases] is 23 that only a person whose competitive business position was harmed by the

1 anticompetitive effects of the alleged restraint of trade can maintain a treble
2 damage action.” [Emphasis Added]. GAF Corp. v. Circle Floor Co., 463 F.2d 752, 3 758-59 (2d Cir. 1972). The issue of damages is determined by proof that the illegal
4 conduct injured Plaintiffs competitive position, and nothing more.<sup>2</sup>

6 Thus, the Waste Management Parties’ assertions that NRS and RR were not 7 qualified for a franchise, did not bid on the franchise, and did not get a franchise 8 (in addition to the inaccuracy of such contentions as set forth herein), are all 9 irrelevant. The causal connection in a monopoly or restraint of trade case requires 10 proof that “... the illegal restraint of trade injured [the plaintiffs] competitive 11 position in the business in which he is or was engaged.” GAF Corp., supra, 463 12 F.2d 752, 758. The causal connection between injury and damages in an unfair 13 trade practice or monopoly case is the exclusionary effect of the illegal act which 14 excludes a plaintiff’s participation in the market, and does not require proof that 15 plaintiff was qualified to get or would have gotten the business.
16

17 In Zenith Radio Corp. v. Hazeltine Research, Inc., 395 U.S. 100 (1969), the 18 Court addressed the practical limits of proof for plaintiffs seeking recovery for 19 injuries from partial or total exclusion from a market, stating:
20

21 <sup>2</sup> This court has emphasized that, to recover, the plaintiff must allege and prove 22 that the illegal restraint of trade injured his competitive position in the business in 23 which he is or was engaged. GAF Corp. v. Circle Floor Co., 463 F.2d 752, 758 (2d Cir. 1972), (Citations Omitted).

1 Trial and appellate courts alike must also observe the practical limits 2 of the burden of proof which may be demanded of a treble-damage
3 plaintiff who seeks recovery for injuries from a partial or total 4 exclusion from a market; damage issues in these cases are rarely 5 susceptible of the kind of concrete, detailed proof of injury which is 6 available in other contexts. The Court has repeatedly held that in the 7 absence of more precise proof, the factfinder may 'conclude as a 8 matter of just and reasonable inference from the proof of defendants' 9 wrongful acts and their tendency to injure plaintiffs' business, and 10 from the evidence of the decline in prices, profits and values, not 11 shown to be attributable to other causes, that defendants' wrongful 12 acts had caused damage to the plaintiffs.' (Citations Omitted).

13 Id. at 123-24. As set forth in Zenith, even if NRS and RR had not disputed such 14 claims with admissible evidence, they do not have the burden to prove they were 15 qualified to obtain a franchise, that the City qualified them for a franchise, or that 16 they would have gotten a franchise. Pursuant to Zenith, it is the Waste 17 Management Parties' burden, as a matter of law, to prove that some other reason 18 caused the Plaintiffs' damages, which may be a mitigation of damages argument, 19 but not a bar to proving damages. So even assuming the District Court found 20 mitigating factors, there is simply no rational way the District Court could 21 conclude that no damages exist. The District Court should have concluded as a 22 matter of just and reasonable inference from the Waste Management Parties' 23 wrongful conduct and its tendency to injure NRS and RR's businesses, that these wrongful acts caused damages to NRS and RR.

These standards of proof on damages are consistent with NRS 598A.210(2),

1 which also allows for a reduced level of proof or connection between damages and 2 injuries providing, “Any person injured or damaged directly or indirectly in his 3 or her business or property by reason of a violation of the provisions of this chapter 4 may institute a civil action and shall recover treble damages, together with 5 reasonable attorney fees and costs.” [Emphasis Added]. NRS 598A.210(2) is 6 consistent with the complicated nature of proving damages set forth in Zenith. NRS 7 598A.210 recognized this difficulty with proving damages, and as such, 8 legislatively mandated a lesser standard for damages by direct or indirect causes.

10 Id.

11 While the District Court’s Order does not address the elements of damages 12 or standing, the Court clearly did not apply the proper test on damages or standing 13 applicable to NUPTA claims.
14

15 In Bigelow v. RKO Pictures, Inc., 327 US 251 (1946), the Petitioner sued a 16 movie distributor for anti-trust violations, because the distributor set up a scheme 17 to give first run movies to certain vendors and not to the Petitioner. The movie 18 distributor claimed the damages were speculative because the movie theater owner 19 could not prove conditions that would have existed, but for the conspiracy. The 20 Bigelow Court recognized this spurious argument, and the court held that a fact 21 finder can infer damages by proof of a defendant’s wrongful act. “Any other rule 22 would enable the wrongdoer to profit by his wrongdoing at the expense of his 23

1 victim. It would be an inducement to make wrongdoing so effective and complete 2 in every case as to preclude any recovery, by rendering the measure of damages 3 uncertain. Failure to apply it would mean that the more grievous the wrong done, 4 the less likelihood there would be of a recovery.” (Citations Omitted). Id. at 263-5 65.

7 Here, the Court failed to infer damages from the facts that tend to show that 8 NRS and RR’s losses were a result of the Waste Management Parties’ conduct, 9 which is the standard to use in determining whether damages exist in a NUPTA 10 claim. The Court failed to consider the causal connection between injury and 11 damages applicable in unfair trade practice cases, which is the exclusionary effect 12 of the unlawful act(s) which excludes the plaintiffs’ participation in the market, 13 without regard to whether plaintiffs were qualified or would have gotten the 14 business, mandating reversal. Because the Court used the wrong standard to 15 determine damages, reversal is appropriate.
16

17 E. The District Court committed reversible error in failing to consider, 18 rule on, or grant Appellants’ request for relief pursuant to NRCP 56(f) 19 and other pending discovery motions prior to ruling on the Motions for 20 Summary Judgment.
21

22 NRCP 56(f) provides:

23 Should it appear from the affidavits of a party opposing the motion

1 [for summary judgment] that the party cannot for reasons stated 2 present by affidavit facts essential to justify the party's opposition, the 3 court may refuse the application for judgment or may order a 4 continuance to permit affidavits to be obtained or depositions to be 5 taken or discovery to be had or may make such other order as is just.

6 A district court's refusal of an NRCP 56(f) continuance is reviewed for an 7 abuse of discretion. Francis v. Wynn Las Vegas, LLC, 127 Nev. 657, 669, 262 P.3d
8 705, 713 (2011); Aviation Ventures v. Joan Morris, 121 Nev. 113, 118, 110 P.3d 9 59, 62 (2005).

10 NRCP 56(f) requires the movant to demonstrate how further discovery will 11 lead to creation of a genuine issue of material fact, and must diligently pursue 12 discovery. Chance v. Pac-Tel Teletrac, 242 F.3d 1151, 1161 (9th Cir.2001) (where 13 movant was diligent conducting discovery, case was less than eight months old, 14 and discovery had not started, the court abused its discretion not 15 granting NRCP 56(f) motion).

16 Furthermore, the NRCP 56(f) affidavit concisely states the reasons for the 17 requested continuance, the discovery contemplated, and the evidence to potentially 18 be obtained. The timeline below clarifies both NRS and RR were diligent in 19 pursuing discovery, and how the Waste Management Parties obstructed every step 20 of the way.

11 Liability and Damages for decision. Vol. 23, JA004633, JA004636.

12 July 14, 2016, the Waste Management Parties filed a Motion for 13 Protective Order Precluding Further Discovery. Id. at JA004706. Notably, 14 this Motion was filed regarding documents the Court previously Ordered 15 Defendants produce. Nonetheless, Defendants refused to produce the same.

16 July 15, 2016, NRS and RR filed a Motion to Compel Production of 17 Documents. Vol. 24, JA004761.

18 July 18, 2016, NRS and RR filed its Opposition to Motion for 19 Protective Order Precluding Further Discovery.

20 July 20, 2016, the Waste Management Parties filed their Reply to
23

1 Motion for Protective Order Precluding Additional Discovery.

2 July 21, 2016, NRS and RR filed their Reply to Motion to Compel 3 Production of Documents. Vol. 25, JA005052.

4 July 25, 2016, NRS and RR submitted the Motion to Compel 5 Production of Documents for decision. Vol. 25, JA005086.

6 August 2, 2016, the Court granted the Waste Management Parties
7 Motion to Preclude Further Discovery, staying the deposition of City 8 Attorney Shipman, which was scheduled for August 8, 2016; and further 9 stating, "Plaintiffs' Motion to Compel Production of Documents ... is under 10 submission and this court will enter an order and fashion remedy." Id. at 11 JA005145-5163, JA005164.

12 August 18, 2016, the Court heard oral arguments on RDC and 13 Refuse's MSJ re: Liability and Damages, and granted both motions. Vol. 26, 14 JA005177-5267.

15 During this time, NRS and RR sought 1500 pages of records related to 16 the Waste Management Parties and Castaway, which Defendants refused to 17 produce.

18 Prior to the August 18, 2016 Oral Arguments, the Court had not addressed or 19 granted WM's Joinder in RDC and Refuse's Motions for Summary Judgment, nor 20 were arguments heard regarding such Joinder at the August 18, 2016 oral 21
23

1 arguments. Even so, somehow, after the fact, the court applied the orders granting 2 summary judgment in favor of RDC and Refuse, to WM as well. Vol. 26, 3 JA005397-5398.

4       When WM filed its Joinders in the Motions for Summary Judgment already 5 filed by RDC and Refuse, WM had only been a party to the action for eight (8) 6 days. Vol. 21, JA004113, JA004138, JA004141. As such, supporting NRS and 7 RR's opposition to WM's Joinders, NRS and RR's requested an opportunity to do 8 discovery pursuant to NRCP 56(f). Vol. 23, JA004622-4623. However, at the time 9 of the oral arguments on the summary judgment motions, the Court had not 10 considered or ruled on the Joinders or NRS and RR's NRCP 56(f) requests. Vol.
11 26, JA005397-5399.

12       In addition, the Court did not rule on NRS and RR's Motion to Compel 13 Production of Documents in advance of oral arguments on the summary judgment 14 motions. At the time of the oral arguments, WM had only been a party in the action 15 for less than sixty (60) days prior to the District Court's granting the Waste 16 Management Parties' Motion to Stay Discovery, leaving NRS and RR absolutely 17 no opportunity to conduct discovery with respect to the allegations against WM set 18 forth in the Second Amended Complaint. Vol. 18, JA003536; Vol. 26, JA005165-19 5167.

20       The NRCP 56(f) Affidavit attached to NRS and RR's Opposition to Joinders 21
23

1 provides that written discovery and/or depositions of a person most knowledgeable 2 as to the corporate formalities governing the joint practices of WM and RDC, the 3 exchange and transfer of monies and assets between the two entities, the utilization 4 of the same dba or trade name and other matters specifically related to the claims 5 set forth in the Second Amended Complaint, would likely be obtained through 6 such discovery.

8 NRS and RR's NRCP 56(f) request for additional time was properly 9 supported, and there is no evidence that either was dilatory in conducting 10 discovery. Vol. 23, JA004622-4623. WM was not a party to the summary 11 judgment motions argued and decided on August 18, 2016. Vol. 26, JA005177-12 5267. The Court abused its discretion by not ruling on the Joinders or the NRCP 13 56(f) request for time to perform discovery before the summary judgment motions
14 were heard and only later arbitrarily ordering that WM be included in its order 15 granting summary judgment. Id. at JA005397-5399.
16

17 Equally perplexing is the fact that [REDACTED] 18 [REDACTED]; however, WM did not petition for and was not 19 granted a franchise by the Reno City Council, only RDC and Castaway. Vol. 13, 20 JA002673; Vol. 14, JA002741; Vol. 20, JA003969. In addition to its failure to 21 allow any discovery as to WM, the District Court had no basis to include WM in 22 its order granting summary judgment, because its order is essentially based on 23

1 assignment provisions in the Franchise Agreements and Noerr, but WM did not 2 engage in any "petitioning" activity nor were they granted a Franchise which 3 provided for acceptable assignments. As such, the District Court abused its 4 discretion and erred by including WM in its Order Granting Summary Judgment.

5 6 XI. CONCLUSION

7 Notwithstanding the existence of Noerr immunity, when there is a 8 conspiracy prohibited by the antitrust laws like the private agreement and scheme 9 to create a monopoly, and the otherwise lawful petitioning activity is nothing more 10 than an act in furtherance of that conspiracy, general antitrust principles apply, 11 mandating reversal.

12 Granting Summary Judgment while there are contested and disputed facts 13 fundamentally flaws the underlying District Court's Order because the Court 14 exceeded its authority. Where facts are properly supported and contested, a jury, 15 not a court is authorized to make factual determinations.

16 In making determinations on liability, standing and damages, the Court erred 17 in misapplying the NUTPA substantive law. As a result, the Court's analysis was 18 devoid of a proper legal assessment of the elements and facts that determine 19 NUTPA liability, standing or damages. As such, the Court granted summary 20 judgment on elements and facts that were not "material" to the determination of 21
23

1 liability, standing or damages.

2 Finally, the Court never ruled on NRS and RR's NRCP 56(f) request prior to 3 the Summary Judgment hearing. The NRCP 56(f) request was properly supported, 4 and there has been no dilatory discovery. In fact, at the time of the summary 5 judgment hearing, pending before the Court were discovery motions, where the 6 Waste Management Parties withheld hundreds of documents, and NRS and RR
7 motioned the Court to compel disclosure. Without addressing the NRCP 56(f)
8 request and knowing significant discovery disputes were pending, the Court 9 deprived NRS and RR the opportunity to obtain discovery, directly related to the 10 issues on summary judgment.
11

12 Based upon the foregoing, the Court erred in granting the Waste 13 Management Parties' Motions for Summary Judgment. Justice and long-standing 14 precedent mandates that genuine, disputed and material fact issues herein must be 15 resolved by the jury. Accordingly, NRS and RR respectfully request that this 16 Court reverse the Court's orders disposing of this case, remanding the matter for 17 further proceedings.
