REPLY TO MOTION FOR EXTENSION OF TIME TO FILE OPENING BRIEF

Rose's appellate counsel seek this extension in good faith for the medical and scheduling reasons described in the motion. It should be granted.

First, Treasure Island does not address the stated reasons at all. While counsel are reluctant to divulge personal details about their health and family, lead appellate counsel was too ill to review the brief around the time Rose sought the extension. In addition, Mr. Smith, who is the initial drafter and the attorney most familiar with the record, has a 10-month-old daughter who has been battling an extreme case of roseola, and his wife is also ill.

Second, Rose has not wasted either the original time given or the additional time. The brief is nearly ready for filing. Rose could file more quickly if Treasure Island would respond to Rose's repeated communications regarding the joint appendix.

Third, Treasure Island's stipulation to an initial extension is not a reason to deny this motion. See NRAP 31(b)(3)(A)(ii) (contemplating that more than one extension may necessary).

Fourth, Treasure Island is not incurring damages. The district court dismissed as moot Treasure Island's claim for damages because Rose is current on its obligations under the lease, and Rose has posted a bond securing the judgment pending this appeal.

For the reasons stated, the requested extension should be granted.

Dated this 3rd day of July, 2017.
