EX 1

OBITUARY

On August 27, 1971 Akiko Aoshima Holliday and William "Doc" Holliday welcomed the youngest of their three children into this world. Richard Nobuyoshi Holliday at Woman's Hospital in Las Vegas, NV.

Richard graduated from Vo-Tech High School in 1989 and played football for Rancho High School where he and his team became AAA Nevada State Champions in 1988.

In 1987 he met his wife Melani Rose Shrope for the first time at Circus Circus. Six months later they became a couple and have been together ever since.

On December 6, 1989 Melani gave birth to their first child Elysha Caprice Holliday and then ten years later on May 6, 1999 Melani gave birth to their son Tatsumaki Oshi Holliday.

Richard was an amazing father and was determined to help his son with autism graduate this past year 2017 from high school. Richard got to see his son graduate as Senior Class President and he also got to see him as prom king at Variety School.

Richard was a loving husband, father, brother, uncle, friend, and coach. He always thought about others before himself. His smile always brightened up a room. He was also a strong believer of the Bible prophecies.

Richard is survived by his wife Melani and two children Esha and Tatsu, sister Wanda Holliday and brother Junior Holliday, along with nieces Gia and Ajene and nephews Gary and Andrew.

On October 8, 2017 after a 7 year battle against stage 4 cancer with two remissions in between the third battle is what brought Richard to the arms of the Most High, and even though his pain is gone, his legacy still lives on.
