

1 are important, and they can be maintained through Plaintiff's own visitation and 2 FaceTime. Evan should be permitted to communicate with his sister. The Court
3 understands that the parties made competing allegations of abuse or neglect dating 4 back to 2010, but there was no testimony of abuse or neglect by either parent since 5 the last custody order was entered. Nor has either parent committed any act of 6 abduction against the child or any other child since the last custody order was entered.

7 c. The child and the relocating parent will benefit from an actual advantage
8 as a result of the relocation. For the same reasons as set forth above, the Court finds 9 that there will be an actual advantage to Evan and the Defendant in relocating to New 10 York.

11 6. If a relocating parent demonstrates to the court the factors set forth in 12 NRS 125C.007(1) are met, then pursuant to NRS 125C.007(2)(a-f), the court must 13 weigh the following factors and the impact of each on the child, the relocating parent 14 and the non-relocating parent, including, without limitation, the extent to which the 15 compelling interests of the child, the relocating parent and the non-relocating parent 16 are accommodated:

17 a. The extent to which the relocation is likely to improve the quality of life
18 for the child and the relocating parent. The Court finds that the improvement for both 19 Evan and Defendant will be quite significant. The improvement for Evan will be 20 tempered by the decreased frequency of contact with his maternal family, but it will 21 benefit him greatly to have a hands-on, available parent with the kind of routine that 22 Defendant has practiced with Evan during his timeshares in Las Vegas, but on a 23 weekly basis in New York.

24 b. Whether the motives of the relocating parent are honorable and not 25 designed to frustrate or defeat any visitation rights accorded to the non-relocating
26 parent. Defendant's motives are honorable, above all else, New York is and always 27 has been his home, but there are still other motivations reflected elsewhere herein
28 that are also honorable in Defendant's request for relocation.

1 c. Whether the relocating parent will comply with any substitute visitation
2 orders issued by the court if permission to relocate is granted. There was some 3 evidence that Defendant had violated the existing custody order by continuing to take 4 Evan to New York when Evan started kindergarten; however, this was not a
5 deprivation of Plaintiff's timeshare. The Court has no reason to believe that 6 Defendant will not comply with the visitation order.

7 d. Whether the motives of the non-relocating parent are honorable in 8 resisting the petition for permission to relocate or to what extent any opposition to the 9 petition for permission to relocate is intended to secure a financial advantage in the 10 form of ongoing support obligations or otherwise. The Court perceives that Plaintiff's 11 motives in resisting the relocation are likewise honorable. Her identity is as a mother, 12 and as she testified, she does not want that relationship to change.

13 e. Whether there will be a realistic opportunity for the non-relocating parent 14 to maintain a visitation schedule that will adequately foster and preserve the parental 15 relationship between the child and the non-relocating parent if permission to relocate 16 is granted. Here, there is a reasonable alternative visitation schedule as set forth in 17 the order below. The Court was pleased that, in closing argument, Defendant 18 conceded that Plaintiff and Evan needed to have a continuous, uninterrupted period in 19 the summer time. The Court understands Defendant's desire to enroll Evan in 20 summer camps and programs, but because Defendant sought primary custody during 21 the school year, all extracurricular activities cannot take a front seat to Evan's 22 relationship with his mother. During Plaintiff's timeshare, unless Plaintiff agrees to 23 putting Evan in said extracurricular activities, she is entitled to exercise the time in the 24 manner in which she pleases. If Evan's extracurricular activities suffer from her 25 choices to deny that involvement, that is a parenting decision she is entitled to make, if 26 she believes it is better for Evan, or for their relationship.

27 3. The burden to prove that relocation is in the best interest of the child is on the 28 parent seeking relocation. (NRS 125C.007(3).) As set forth above, Defendant met

1 that burden.

2 ORDER

3 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that the Parties shall continue to share joint legal 4 custody of Evan Daniel Ferraro, born September 30, 2008. Legal custody involves 5 having basic legal responsibility for the child and making major decisions concerning 6 the child such as their health, education, and religious upbringing. Legal custody
7 includes but is not necessarily limited to those items enumerated in the legal custody
8 provisions of the parties' Stipulation and Order Re: Parenting Plan filed November 30, 9 2012.

10 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Defendant's request for primary physical 11 custody of the minor child is GRANTED.

12 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Defendant's request to relocate to New York
13 with the minor child is GRANTED.

14 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Plaintiff is granted specified visitation as 15 follows:

16 Winter Break: In ODD years, Mom shall have Evan upon release from school
17 prior to the break until December 30th (Evan returns to New York on 12/30 in ODD 18 years). In EVEN years, Mom shall have Evan from December 26 to the day before 19 school resumes.

20 February Break: This period will begin upon the release of school prior to the 21 break and continue until the day before school resumes following the break. Mom
22 shall have Evan in even years and Dad shall have Evan in odd years. In odd years
23 when Evan is with Dad, if Evan is participating in a sports camp or tournament, Mom
24 may attend at Mom's expense.

25 April Break: This period will begin upon the release of school prior to the 26 break and continue until the day before school resumes following the break. Mom
27 shall have Evan every year.

28 Memorial Day Weekend: This period will begin upon release of school prior to

1 the break and continue until the day before school resumes following the break. Mom
2 shall have Evan in even years and Dad shall have Evan in odd years. However,
3 during even years, if permission is granted from Evan's school and there is no 4 substantial interference with school or extracurricular activities, then in order to 5 facilitate additional visitation with Mom, Evan shall be permitted to miss the Friday
6 before and the Tuesday after Memorial Day.

7 Summer Break: Mom shall have Evan from one week following Evan's
8 release from school through one week prior to Evan's return to school.

9 Columbus Day Weekend (October): This period will begin upon the release 10 of school prior to the break and continue until the day before school resumes following 11 the break. Mom shall have Evan for Columbus Day Weekend every year. If 12 permission is granted from Evan's school and there is no substantial interference with 13 extracurricular activities, then in order to facilitate additional visitation, Evan shall be 14 permitted to miss the Friday before and the Tuesday after Columbus Day.

15 Thanksgiving: This period will begin upon the release of school prior to the 16 break and continue until the day before school resumes following the break. Mom 17 shall have Evan in even years and Dad shall have Evan in odd years. If permission is 18 granted from Evan's school and there is no substantial interference with 19 extracurricular activities, then in order to facilitate additional visitation, Evan shall be 20 permitted to miss school Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday before Thanksgiving.

21 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Defendant shall pay all costs of transportation
22 for the foregoing visits. Plaintiff shall fly to New York to pick up Evan for her visits (but 23 Defendant will pay Plaintiff's airfare); and Defendant shall fly to Las Vegas to retrieve 24 Evan.

25 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Plaintiff may have additional visits with Evan in 26 New York at Plaintiff's own expense provided that Plaintiff gives Defendant two weeks' 27 advance notice and the visit does not interfere with any significant and/or important
28 events (i.e., once in a lifetime events, pre-arranged and non-refundable trips). If said

1 visit cannot be conducted within the period noticed by Plaintiff, an alternate visitation
2 shall take place on the next date chosen or designated by Plaintiff regardless of any 3 significant events. During such visits, Plaintiff is responsible to get Evan to and from 4 school and extracurricular activities. Such visits shall not be unreasonably denied due
5 to "preplanned Ferraro-family events," as such events are likely to be conducted 6 regularly.

7 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that each Party shall have unlimited telephone, 8 text, or FaceTime/Skype contact during their non-custodial time, with the 9 understanding that contact shall not unduly intrude on the other party's custodial time.
10 More specifically, the parents shall have communication with the child four days per 11 week, on a schedule to be determined and set in writing each quarter or semester
12 based on Evan's school and extra-curricular activity schedule. The parents will assure 13 that Evan is in a private location, free of distractions. The scheduled calls will be 14 planned for at least thirty minutes duration so that Evan can communicate with his 15 extended family members as well.

16 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, pursuant to Defendant's waiver of child support 17 from Plaintiff, the relative income of the parents, and Defendant's resources being 18 sufficient to meet the needs of the child, that Plaintiff shall pay no child support.

19 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Defendant shall provide health insurance for 20 the minor child and Defendant shall pay 100% of the premium for such health 21 insurance. The parties shall share all of out-of-pocket costs equally pursuant to the 22 30/30 rule, i.e., any unreimbursed medical, dental, optical, orthodontic or other health 23 related expense incurred for the benefit of the minor child is to be divided equally 24 between the parties. Either party incurring an out of pocket medical expenses for the 25 child shall provide a copy of the paid invoice/receipt to the other party within thirty days
26 of incurring such expenses, if not tendered with the thirty day period, the Court may 27 consider it as a waiver of reimbursement. The other party will then have thirty days 28 from receipt within which to dispute the expense in writing or reimburse the incurring

1 party for one-half of the out of pocket expense, if not disputed or paid within the thirty 2 day period the party may be subject to a finding of contempt and appropriate 3 sanctions.

4 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that each party shall bear their own attorney's fees
5 and costs.

6 This Court FINDS that because of the manner in which this case proceeded
7 and concluded on September 27, 2016 with post-trial motions, the child ended up
8 commencing school in Las Vegas for the 2016-2017 school year. While this Court
9 believes it is in the child's long term best interests to be in Defendant's primary care, it
10 does not believe that the disruption to the child's school at this juncture is in his best
11 interests. In this regard, the COURT ORDERS the parties should continue to follow 12 their current schedule, and commence their custodial plan as of one week after school
13 lets out, which means that Plaintiff will have the summer from one week after school 14 lets out until one week before school begins in New York. Defendant will have to notify 15 Plaintiff of the dates for when the child needs to be present in New York for his first 16 day of attendance or orientation, as the case may be.

17 NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the parties shall be required to submit the 18 information required to NRS 125B.055, NRS 125.130 and NRS 125.230 on a separate
19 form to the Court and to the Welfare Division of the Department of Human Resources 20 within ten (10) days of entry of the decree and within ten (10) days of any change in 21 the original form should any of that information change.

22 NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN of the following provision of NRS 125C.0045(6):

23 PENALTY FOR VIOLATION OF ORDER: THE ABDUCTION,
25 ORDER IS PUNISHABLE AS A CATEGORY D FELONY AS PROVIDED
26 IN NRS 193.130. NRS 200.359 provides that every person having a limited 27 right of custody to a child or any parent having no right of custody to the 28 child who willfully detains, conceals or removes the child from a parent, guardian or other person having lawful custody or a right of visitation of the child in violation of an order of this court, or removes the child from the jurisdiction of the court without the consent of either the court or all persons who have the right to custody or visitation is subject to being punished for a category D felony as provided in NRS 193.130.

1 NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the terms of the Hague Convention of 2 October 25, 1980, adopted by the 14th Session of the Hague Conference on Private 3 International Law apply if a parent abducts or wrongfully retains a child in a foreign 4 country. The Parties are also put on notice of the following provisions in NRS
5 125C.0045 (8):

6 If a parent of the child lives in a foreign country or has significant 7 commitments in a foreign country:

8 (a) The Parties may agree, and the court shall include in the order for 9 custody of the child, that the United States is the country of habitual 10 residence of the child for the purposes of applying the terms of the Hague
11 Convention as set forth in subsection 7.

12 (b) Upon motion of one of the Parties, the court may order the parent to 13 post a bond if the court determines that the parent poses an imminent risk 14 of wrongfully removing or concealing the child outside the country of 15 habitual residence. The bond must be in an amount determined by the 16 court and may be used only to pay for the cost of locating the child and 17 returning him to his habitual residence if the child is wrongfully removed 18 from or concealed outside the country of habitual residence. The fact that 19 a parent has significant commitments in a foreign country does not create 20 a presumption that the parent poses an imminent risk of wrongfully
21 removing or concealing the child.

22 NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN of the following provisions of NRS 125C.006 and 23 NRS 125C.0065:

24 The parties, and each of them, are hereby placed on notice that if primary 25 physical custody has been established pursuant to an order, judgment or 26 decree of a court or if joint physical custody has been established pursuant 27 to an order, judgment or decree of a court and the primary custodian or a 28 joint custodian intends to relocate his or her residence to a place outside 29 of this State or to a place within this State that is at such a distance that 30 would substantially impair the ability of the other parent to maintain a 31 meaningful relationship with the child and desires to take the child with him 32 or her, the relocating parent shall, before relocating: (a) attempt to obtain 33 the written consent of the non-relocating parent to relocate with the child; 34 and (b) if the non-relocating parent refuses to give that consent, petition the 35 court for permission to relocate with the child. The court may award 36 reasonable attorney's fees and costs to the relocating parent if the court
37 finds that the non-relocating parent refused to consent to the relocation 38 without having reasonable grounds for such refusal or for the purpose of 39 harassing the relocating parent. A parent who relocates with a child 40 pursuant to this section without the written consent of the other parent or 41 the permission of the court is subject to the provisions of NRS 200.359.

42 NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Parties are subject to the provisions of NRS
43 31A.010 et seq. and NRS 125.450 regarding the collection of delinquent child support

1 payments by wage withholding and assignment.

2 NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that either Party may request a review of child
3 support pursuant to NRS 125B.145, presently every three years or upon changed 4 circumstances.

5 IT IS SO ORDERED this 26th day of January, 2017.

JOURNAL ENTRIES

- PLAINTIFF'S MOTION TO SET ASIDE STIPULATION AND ORDER

Court Clerk, Carol Critchett, also present.

Defendant, Christopher Ferraro, not present.

Plaintiff stated, she was mislead into signing the stipulation agreement.

Court advised, the Plaintiff signed the agreement and initialed each and every page and had it notarized.

Plaintiff argued that she was harassed by the Defendant and his Attorneys, as to where most of the visitation would be taking place, and how often the minor child would be flying to New York to visit the Defendant.

Mr. Sachs stated the Plaintiff received the stipulation agreement on February 15, 2011, and signed it on March 7, 2011; further, Plaintiff voluntarily signed the agreement twice.

Plaintiff stated the Defendant has violated sixteen items in the stipulation. Plaintiff advised that the two (2) year old minor child will be going into therapy. Plaintiff indicated she has contacted Children's Protective Services (CPS) in New York, as well as here in Nevada, regarding the minor child coming back from Defendant's visitation screaming uncontrollably.

Court noted, as long as the Defendant follows the agreement and picks up and drops off the minor child at the specified visitation time, there should be no issues with the visitation time period.

Mr. Sachs requested the minor child be able to travel to New York and attend his aunt's wedding on July 16, 2011.

Court advised the Plaintiff that if the Defendant has violated the stipulation, she can file a motion and list the violations.

COURT STATED IT'S FINDINGS and ORDERED,

- 1) Plaintiff's MOTION TO SET ASIDE STIPULATION & ORDER is DENIED.
- 2) Plaintiff shall notify the Defendant within 24 hours if the minor child can attend his aunt's wedding in New York. If Plaintiff says no, Mr. Sachs shall file an ORDER SHORTENING TIME to request the COURT to allow the minor child attend his aunt's wedding in New York.
- 3) Mr. Sachs shall PREPARE THE ORDER.

- The court took the issue of Plaintiff's request to change the surname of the child to include her surname hyphenated with the father's surname under advisement. Defendant objects to the hyphenated surname proposed by the Plaintiff. In Magiera v Luera, 106 Nev. 775 (1990), the court held that the burden is on the party seeking the name change to prove, by clear and compelling evidence, that the substantial welfare of the child necessitates a name change. The Plaintiff made the request to change the surname of the child in open court at the outsourced evaluation return. The matter was not on calendar at the time Plaintiff made the request. Each counsel filed a short brief regarding their respective positions on the issue. The court notes that the briefs are not supported by affidavits from the parties. The court has insufficient information to determine whether the substantial welfare of the child necessitates a name change. The Plaintiff shall place this matter back on calendar by filing an appropriate Motion if she wishes this issue to be properly decided by the Court.

- As stated by the Court;

NRCP 1 and EDCR 1.10 states the procedure in district courts shall be administered to secure efficient, speedy, and inexpensive determinations in every action.

This Court having considered the matter and the temporary request made by Defendant to relocate with the parties' child to New York pending the evidentiary hearing in this matter, this Court was clear that it is not inclined to grant a temporary request to relocate due to the fact that it has not yet heard the matter on the merits. Thus, while Defendant made a compelling presentation, at this time it is not in the child's best interest to relocate him temporarily without knowing whether the move is permanent, as the potential always exists that the Court may ultimately find that the child should remain in Nevada with Plaintiff, and then he would have unnecessarily been uprooted in the interim.

As it pertains to the standard, this Court has evaluated the allegations of Plaintiff and Defendant, relating to the time share, and this Court has determined this also is a question of fact, which will need to be addressed at the evidentiary hearing and will apply the correct legal standard to the application for relocation. However, this Court will apply the legal standard of joint custodians if the time share of Defendant's is found to be accurate. If Plaintiff's time share is accurate, then this Court will apply the stricter standard of a non-custodial parent asking for primary custody and a relocation. This is a much more difficult prospect on which to prevail, as the legal standard for a change of custody under Ellis v. Carucci, 123 Nev. 145, 161 P.3d 239 (2007), is much greater. So this Court cautions Defendant that before he proceeds with this type of custody matter, that he consider his burden, in this regard.

NRCP 1 and EDCR 1.10 states the procedure in district courts shall be administered to secure efficient, speedy, and inexpensive determinations in every action. Pursuant to EDCR 2.23(c) and 5.11(e), this Court can consider a motion and issue a decision on the papers at any time without a hearing.

COURT, having read and considered Defendant s Motions in Limine Nos. 1 and 2, and Plaintiff's Oppositions and Countermotions thereto, FINDS and ORDERS as follows:

The Court reviewed Defendant's Motion in Limine #1 requesting to preclude any objections to the authenticity or genuineness of documents produced in discovery and FINDS as follows: the Court agrees, NRCP 16.2015(b)(5) requires that any objection be lodged within 21 days of the date of receipt, in writing, otherwise, the documents shall be presumed to be authentic and genuine, and shall not be excluded on those grounds. Based upon the representations of Defendant, and being there was no objection lodged pursuant to this rule, any such objections shall be prohibited at the time of trial. Therefore, Defendant's Motion is GRANTED insofar as the documents produced during discovery cannot be excluded on those grounds. This ruling does not preclude Plaintiff from raising any other valid evidentiary objections. IT IS SO ORDERED.

The Court having reviewed the history of this case and Defendant's Motion in Limine #2, which includes a request to preclude using any pleading, testimony, remarks, questions or arguments relative to the facts and circumstances existing between the parties prior to the last custody order of November 30, 2012, FINDS as follows: this Court will appropriately apply McMonigle v. McMonigle, to testimony, documentary evidence, and the like, relating to the facts and circumstances that pre-date the last custody order. As it pertains to any allegations of domestic violence, this Court also GRANTS Defendant's request to bar any and all allegations of domestic violence, prior to the date of the last custody order of November 30, 2012, unless it was unknown to Plaintiff (which means it could not have been perpetrated on Plaintiff), or unknown to the Court at the time of the last order, as prescribed by Castle v. Simmons. Thus, Court GRANTS Defendant's Motion in Limine and will instruct both parties, their counsel, and all witnesses called on their behalves, not to mention or refer to facts either, directly or indirectly, which occurred prior to November 30, 2012, other than those which fall within the exception under Castle v. Simmons, if any. If there is a dispute as to whether certain allegations were raised, Defendant should be prepared to direct the court to a cite in the record for when those incidents were brought to the court's attention. IT IS SO ORDERED.

COURT ORDERS, Plaintiff's Countermotion to attorney's fees and costs DEFERRED to the time of trial. COURT FURTHER ORDERS, the hearings currently scheduled for March 15, 2016 at 10:00 a.m. VACATED.

- DEFENDANT'S MOTION TO REOPEN TRIAL OR IN THE ALTERNATIVE FOR NEW TRIAL LIMITED TO HEAR TESTIMONY OF DESMOND NANCE...PLAINTIFF'S OPPOSITION AND COUNTERMOTION FOR ATTORNEY'S FEES AND OTHER RELATED MATTERS

Attorney Jason Naimi, Bar #9441, and co-counsel, Attorney Michelle Cooley, Bar #8992, present with Plaintiff.

Defendant appeared by telephone.

Arguments by Counsel regarding Defendant's request to reopen trial, attorney's fees, issues regarding written closing arguments and objections made to the closing arguments, and other related matters.

Attorney Wilson requested the trial be reopened to allow testimony by Desmond Nance due to text messages sent to Defendant by Desmond making suggestions things were going on in Plaintiff's household. Attorney Wilson requested she be given an opportunity to find Desmond and question him regarding those text messages.

Upon inquiry from the Court, Defendant indicated he has not heard from nor been able to get in contact with Desmond since the last text message.

Attorney Naimi represented Desmond is lashing out at Plaintiff, that Plaintiff disconnected Desmond's cell phone due to threatening text messages, and that Plaintiff believes Desmond is using drugs. Attorney Naimi also indicated a Temporary Protective Order (TPO) has been issued against Desmond in which they have been having issues with finding him to serve him with the TPO.

COURT ORDERED the following:

1. Attorney Naimi's request for Desmond Nance to be drug tested prior to being questions is DENIED due to this Court having no jurisdiction over Mr. Nance.
2. Counsel AGREE for Attorney Naimi's to strike portions of Defendant's objections that have been filed, providing Attorney Wilson with those portions he wishes to be stricken no later than 8/20/16. Attorney Wilson will then withdraw those portions she agrees to be stricken and file new objections no later than 8/24/16.
3. Attorney Wilson agrees to attempt to make contact with Desmond Nance and determine whether Desmond's testimony would be credible and/or worth going forward with reopening the trial by Friday, August 20, 2016. Attorney Naimi to consider providing Attorney Wilson with a list of friends and/or acquaintances they believe Desmond may be in contact with. Attorney Wilson to update the Court via a letter, copying Attorney Naimi, on whether they have made contact/found Desmond and whether or not they are withdrawing their request to re-open the trial and/or preparing to move forward on their request.
4. Attorney Naimi's request for attorney's fees is under advisement.

COURT FINDS, Defendant filed a Motion to Reopen Trial or, in the Alternative, for New Trial on July 21, 2016. Thereafter, Plaintiff filed an Opposition, Supplemental Opposition, and Countermotion. The matter came before the court for hearing on August 16, 2016, wherein the Court requested Counsel for Defendant to update the Court and Plaintiff's counsel, via a letter, as to whether she had made contact with and/or found Desmond and whether they were withdrawing or moving forward with their request to reopen trial. Said letter was received on August 19, 2016 and, upon further consideration, the Court FINDS and ORDERS as follows:

Ms. Wilson has twenty-eight (28) days to obtain Desmond's deposition (unless the date noticed is inconvenient for counsel and counsel stipulates to a different, and later date). The parties will then have fourteen (14) days to submit to the Court the transcript for publishing, unless for good cause it can be shown that the transcript is unable to be completed in that time frame. complete, each party will have seven (7) days to submit to the Court that portion of the transcript which he/she wants to be considered by the Court (or if the whole deposition, then it should be noted as such). Each side will have seven (7) days from receipt of the proposed testimony, to object in writing to that testimony considered objectionable, and the grounds for said objection; the Court will then read the question, without reading the answer, will consider the objection, and then rule. - NRCP 1 and EDCR 1.10 state the procedure in district courts shall be administered to secure efficient, speedy, and inexpensive determinations in every action.

The Court having considered the papers on file herein, the transcript of the record, the evidence presented at trial, which consists of Plaintiff's Exhibits 2-6, 16-18, 20-24, 30, 46-48, 55, 57, 61-65, 68, 69, 73, 74, 80, 81, Defendant's Exhibits A1, A2, B1, B2, B3, F2, G1, I, J, K1, K2, L1, M, N1, N2, N3, N4, N5, N7, P, testimony of witnesses presented by both parties, Closing Briefs, Objections to Closing Briefs, Motions to Strike, and Motions regarding Post-trial evidence relating to Desmond Nance, and good cause appearing therefore, FINDS AS FOLLOWS:

This Court hereby GRANTS the Defendant's Motion for Primary Custody and for Relocation to New York; after careful consideration of the evidence, this Court FINDS it appropriate to enter Defendant's FINDINGS OF FACT, CONCLUSIONS OF LAW, AND ORDER, subject to the modifications, additional findings, and deletions set forth herein below. The Court also considered, the Objections to Closing Briefs, and Motions to Strike, and will set forth herein below, the rulings on each party's requests.

In regards to Plaintiff's Objections to Defendant's Closing Brief, the COURT ORDERS AS FOLLOWS:

For purposes of this decision the Court will number the objections as set forth in the table of objections provided:

1. Objection sustained
2. Objection sustained
3. Objection sustained
4. Objection - sustained
5. Objection - sustained as to the representation of multiple schools but the Court notes there was resistance by mother to Plaintiff's request to send the child to private school, at least twice.
6. Objection sustained
7. Overruled

In regards to Defendant's Objections to Plaintiff's Closing Brief, the COURT ORDERS AS FOLLOWS: Overruled.

In regards to Plaintiff's Motion to Strike Portions of Defendant's Objections, the COURT ORDERS AS FOLLOWS: GRANTED as set forth in Plaintiff's Exhibit to Motion to Strike; the Court having considered the Plaintiff's request for attorney's fees for having to file the Motion to Strike, and to appear at the hearing on the matter, and the Court having considered the factors set forth in Brunzell v. Golden Gate National Bank, 85 Nev. 345 (1969) and Miller v. Wilfong, 121 Nev. 619 (2005), FINDS the following attorney's fees award is reasonable and was necessary to address said issue with the Court. The Court hereby awards the sum of $2,500 to Plaintiff's counsel for having to file the Motion to Strike Portions of Defendant's Objections.

In regards to the Motion to Reopen Trial or in Alternative to Hear Limited Testimony of Desmond Nance and Opposition thereto with Request for Attorney's fees, this Court having considered the Plaintiff's request for attorney's fees for having to file the Motion to Strike, and to appear at the hearing on the matter, and having considered the factors set forth in Brunzell v. Golden State, and Miller v. Wilfong, FINDS the following attorney's fees award is reasonable and was necessary to address said issue with the Court. The Court hereby awards the sum of $2,500 to Plaintiff for having to respond to the original motion, and to file the Motion to Strike the Notice as it pertained to Desmond Nance. Although this Court did not grant the Motion to Strike, this Court FINDS that the entire issue was precipitated by the request to reopen filed by Defendant and the representations made to this Court that the information was pertinent to the outcome of this case, to such an extent that he sought for the court to reopen the trial to allow for additional evidence. Based upon said representations of Defendant, this Court permitted him to proceed with obtaining said evidence, which unnecessarily multiplied the proceedings, only to result in no evidence offered at the end of the investigation. In this regard, the Court hereby awards the sum of $2,500 to Plaintiff's counsel.

Said $5,000 is hereby reduced to judgment, and collectible by any lawful means. Collection is hereby stayed for a period of 120 days, to allow Defendant the opportunity to pay the amount in full before said date, or establish an acceptable payment plan with Plaintiff's counsel.

This Court FINDS the following modifications shall be made to Defendant's proposed FINDINGS OF FACT, CONCLUSIONS OF LAW, AND ORDER:

Page 12, line 16, after "supported." Add - There is no evidence to suggest the tooth fairy gifts of any amounts Defendant provides to Evan are done with malicious intent toward Plaintiff or to "one up" Plaintiff. Court FINDS that Plaintiff seems to allow the differences in the parties' financial means to cloud her ability to co-parent and do what is best for Evan. This Court cautions this is not a competition, and often one parent is able to provide more money or financial means than the other, but that should not be taken personally by the other parent, nor should it allow those gestures to cloud their judgment while co-parenting.

Page 12, line 25, after the number 17. Add The Court disagrees with Plaintiff's assertion that Defendant does what he wants to do. This Court FINDS that each parent does what he or she wants to do while the child is in his/her care, because the parents have been unable to communicate productively and/or agree on what is best for Evan.

Page 14, line 10, add sentence, "This Court FINDS that Evan can benefit from Defendant's expertise in the sport, can benefit from the team sport atmosphere, and intense involvement from his father, and that the benefit outweighs the potential burden. This Court FINDS that Defendant appears mindful of Plaintiff's concerns regarding the dangers of hockey and other sports, given his own injuries. Court FINDS Defendant does not demonstrate behaviors or willingness to put his child in harm's way intentionally, but many team sports or any physical activity comes with the potential for injury. Defendant is CAUTIONED to be mindful of this and Plaintiff's concerns should be discussed openly and respectfully, as she is a joint legal custodian.

Page 14, line 21 and 22, combine FINDINGS n. and o. New FINDING o. shall be: Court FINDS Plaintiff's admitted history of failure to communicate regarding legal custody issues, and Defendant's confirmation of such, to be disconcerting because it is important to be a respectful and open-minded co-parent on these very subjective issues. Further, if Plaintiff is obstructionist and makes co-parenting difficult, Court FINDS that is not in the child's best interests. Court further FINDS that Defendant does not appear to exhibit the same behavior toward Plaintiff. This Court FINDS that disagreement is different than obstructing efforts made to better the child's life.

Page 16, line 7 - modify the first sentence to "All of that said, Nevada is a gaming state, and gambling is legal."

Page 16, line 23 - modify the last clause to read, "the Court finds the Defendant's choices and actions are more closely aligned with the bests interests of the child."

Page 28, line 20, after programs, modify the sentence to read, "but because Defendant sought primary custody during the school year, all extracurricular activities cannot take a front seat to Evan's relationship with his mother. During Plaintiff's timeshare, unless Plaintiff agrees to putting Evan in said extracurricular activities, she is entitled to exercise the time in the manner in which she pleases. If Evan's extracurricular activities suffer from her choices to deny that involvement, that is a parenting decision she is entitled to make, if she believes it is better for Evan, or for their relationship.

Page 29, line 11, change EVEN to ODD, and on line 12 change EVEN to ODD, and on line 13, change ODD to EVEN.

Page 29, line 22, delete "odd years and Dad shall have Evan in even years." Add, "every year." Delete "In even years when Evan is with Dad, if Evan is participating in a sports camp or tournament, Mom may attend at Mom's expense."

Page 30, line 14, change odd to even, and even to odd. (In essence, Mom shall have Evan in even years and Dad shall have Evan in odd years for Thanksgiving).

Page 30, line 24, delete "pre-planned Ferraro-family events." Add, significant and/or important events (i.e., once in a lifetime events, pre-arranged and non-refundable trips). If said visit cannot be conducted within the period noticed by Plaintiff, an alternate visitation shall take place on the next date chosen or designated by Plaintiff regardless of any significant events.

Page 30, line 26, add the sentence: Such visits shall not be unreasonably denied due to "pre-planned Ferraro-family events," as such events are likely to be conducted regularly.

This Court FINDS that because of the manner in which this case proceeded and concluded on September 27, 2016 with post trial motions, the child ended up commencing school in Las Vegas for the 2016-2017 school year. While this Court believes it is in the child's long term best interests to be in Defendant's primary care, it does not believe that the disruption to the child's school at this juncture is in his best interests. In this regard, the COURT ORDERS the parties should continue to follow their current schedule, and commence their custodial plan as of one week after school lets out, which means that Plaintiff will have the summer from one week after school lets out until one week before school begins in New York. Defendant will have to notify Plaintiff of the dates for when the child needs to be present in New York for his first day of attendance or orientation, as the case may be.

The COURT ORDERS Defendant to prepare and submit a proposed order consistent with this Decision.

The COURT ORDERS the Decision Hearing on January 5, 2017 shall be VACATED.

Journal Entry Details:

PLAINTIFF'S MOTION TO SET ASIDE STIPULATION AND ORDER Court Clerk, Carol Critchett, also present. Defendant, Christopher Ferraro, not present. Plaintiff stated, she was misled into signing the stipulation agreement. Court advised, the Plaintiff signed the agreement and initialed each and every page and had it notarized. Plaintiff argued that she was harassed by the Defendant and his Attorneys, as to where most of the visitation would be taking place, and how often the minor child would be flying to New York to visit the Defendant. Mr. Sachs stated the Plaintiff received the stipulation agreement on February 15, 2011, and signed it on March 7, 2011; further, Plaintiff voluntarily signed the agreement twice. Plaintiff stated the Defendant has violated sixteen items in the stipulation. Plaintiff advised that the two (2) year old minor child will be going into therapy. Plaintiff indicated she has contacted Children's Protective Services (CPS) in New York, as well as here in Nevada, regarding the minor child coming back from Defendant's visitation screaming uncontrollably. Court noted, as long as the Defendant follows the agreement and picks up and drops off the minor child at the specified visitation time, there should be no issues with the visitation time period. Mr. Sachs requested the minor child be able to travel to New York and attend his aunt's wedding on July 16, 2011. Court advised the Plaintiff that if the Defendant has violated the stipulation, she can file a motion and list the violations. COURT STATED IT'S FINDINGS and ORDERED, 1) Plaintiff's MOTION TO SET ASIDE STIPULATION & ORDER is DENIED. 2) Plaintiff shall notify the Defendant within 24 hours if the minor child can attend his aunt's wedding in New York. If Plaintiff says no, Mr. Sachs shall file an ORDER SHORTENING TIME to request the COURT to allow the minor child attend his aunt's wedding in New York. 3) Mr. Sachs shall PREPARE THE ORDER. ;

Defendant's visitations and payment of Dr. Paglini's costs. Court provided the internet website address for the University Of Nevada Las Vegas (UNLV) online parenting classes to both parties IN OPEN COURT. COURT ORDERED, Dr. Paglini's RECOMMENDATIONS are AFFIRMED and ADOPTED. DEFENDANT'S VISITATIONS shall TAKE PLACE in LAS VEGAS NEVADA for the next 4 MONTHS pending COMPLETION of EXTENSIVE PARENTING CLASSES. The parties shall ATTEND the ONLINE PARENTING CLASSES through the University Of Nevada Las Vegas (UNLV). The parties shall resolve their parenting issues through a PARENTING CO-COORDINATOR. The parties are referred to MARGARET PICKARD. If the parties do not wish to go forward with Ms. Pickard counsel shall CONFER to CHOOSE another PARENTING COORDINATOR. The parties shall work on their CO-PARENTING SKILLS with the PARENTING COORDINATOR. The parties shall CONSULT the PARENTING COORDINATOR regarding the ISSUES of the child's PRESCHOOL, COUNSELING and EXTRA CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES. Plaintiff shall PROVIDE the INFORMATION regarding the child's COUNSELING to Ms. Pickard through her counsel. After completion of the PARENTING CLASSES, and the parties having worked with the Parenting Co-Coordinator, Dr. Paglini's recommendations for the HOLIDAY VISITATIONS and DEFENDANT'S VISITATIONS shall GO FORWARD. The parties shall COMPLY with the JOINT LEGAL CUSTODY provisions. The parties shall COMMUNICATE by way of EMAIL for the CHILD'S ISSUES ONLY, except in case of an emergency. NEITHER PARTY, NOR their FAMILIES, shall DISPARAGE the OTHER PARENT in the PRESENCE of the CHILD. Counsel shall BRIEF the issue of the CHILD'S SURNAME HYPHENATION. The COURT shall ISSUE it's DECISION by APRIL 4, 2012. Counsel shall HOLD the DECREE OF DIVORCE pending the Court's DECISION about the child's surname. Mr. Goodman shall PREPARE the ORDER. Mr. Roy shall REVIEW the ORDER as to form and content then SIGN OFF. ;

 Minute Order - No Hearing Held;
 Journal Entry Details:
The court took the issue of Plaintiff's request to change the surname of the child to include her surname hyphenated with the father's surname under advisement. Defendant objects to the hyphenated surname proposed by the Plaintiff. In Magiera v Luera, 106 Nev. 775 (1990), the court held that the burden is on the party seeking the name change to prove, by clear and compelling evidence, that the substantial welfare of the child necessitates a name change. The Plaintiff made the request to change the surname of the child in open court at the outsourced evaluation return. The matter was not on calendar at the time Plaintiff made the request. Each counsel filed a short brief regarding their respective positions on the issue. The court notes that the briefs are not supported by affidavits from the parties. The court has insufficient information to determine whether the substantial welfare of the child necessitates a name change. The Plaintiff shall place this matter back on calendar by filing an appropriate Motion if she wishes this issue to be properly decided by the Court.;

 Minute Order (8:30 AM) (Judicial Officer: Gentile, Denise L.)

Journal Entry Details:

As stated by the Court; NRCP 1 and EDCR 1.10 states the procedure in district courts shall be administered to secure efficient, speedy, and inexpensive determinations in every action. This Court having considered the matter and the temporary request made by Defendant to relocate with the parties' child to New York pending the evidentiary hearing in this matter, this Court was clear that it is not inclined to grant a temporary request to relocate due to the fact that it has not yet heard the matter on the merits. Thus, while Defendant made a compelling presentation, at this time it is not in the child's best interest to relocate him temporarily without knowing whether the move is permanent, as the potential always exists that the Court may ultimately find that the child should remain in Nevada with Plaintiff, and then he would have unnecessarily been uprooted in the interim. As it pertains to the standard, this Court has evaluated the allegations of Plaintiff and Defendant, relating to the time share, and this Court has determined this also is a question of fact, which will need to be addressed at the evidentiary hearing and will apply the correct legal standard to the application for relocation. However, this Court will apply the legal standard of joint custodians if the time share of Defendant's is found to be accurate. If Plaintiff's time share is accurate, then this Court will apply the stricter standard of a non-custodial parent asking for primary custody and a relocation. This is a much more difficult prospect on which to prevail, as the legal standard for a change of custody under Ellis v. Carucci, 123 Nev. 145, 161 P.3d 239 (2007), is much greater. So this Court cautions Defendant that before he proceeds with this type of custody matter, that he consider his burden, in this regard. As stated by the Court; NRCP 1 and EDCR 1.10 states the procedure in district courts shall be administered to secure efficient, speedy, and inexpensive determinations in every action. Pursuant to EDCR 2.23(c) and 5.11(e), this Court can consider a motion and issue a decision on the papers at any time without a hearing. COURT, having read and considered Defendant's Motions in Limine Nos. 1 and 2, and Plaintiff's Oppositions and Countermotions thereto, FINDS and ORDERS as follows: The Court reviewed Defendant's Motion in Limine #1 requesting to preclude any objections to the authenticity or genuineness of documents produced in discovery and FINDS as follows: the Court agrees, NRCP 16.2015(b)(5) requires that any objection be lodged within 21 days of the date of receipt, in writing, otherwise, the documents shall be presumed to be authentic and genuine, and shall not be excluded on those grounds. Based upon the representations of Defendant, and being there was no objection lodged pursuant to this rule, any such objections shall be prohibited at the time of trial. Therefore, Defendant's Motion is GRANTED insofar as the documents produced during discovery cannot be excluded on those grounds. This ruling does not preclude Plaintiff from raising any other valid evidentiary objections. IT IS SO ORDERED. The Court having reviewed the history of this case and Defendant's Motion in Limine #2, which includes a request to preclude using any pleading, testimony, remarks, questions or arguments relative to the facts and circumstances existing between the parties prior to the last custody order of November 30, 2012, FINDS as follows: this Court will appropriately apply McMonigle v. McMonigle, to testimony, documentary evidence, and the like, relating to the facts and circumstances that pre-date the last custody order. As it pertains to any allegations of domestic violence, this Court also GRANTS Defendant's request to bar any and all allegations of domestic violence, prior to the date of the last custody order of November 30, 2012, unless it was unknown to Plaintiff (which means it could not have been perpetrated on Plaintiff), or unknown to the Court at the time of the last order, as prescribed by Castle v. Simmons. Thus, Court GRANTS Defendant's Motion in Limine and will instruct both parties, their counsel, and all witnesses called on their behalves, not to mention or refer to facts either, directly or indirectly, which occurred prior to November 30, 2012, other than those which fall within the exception under Castle v. Simmons, if any. If there is a dispute as to whether certain allegations were raised, Defendant should be prepared to direct the court to a cite in the record for when those incidents were brought to the court's attention. IT IS SO ORDERED. COURT ORDERS, Plaintiff's Countermotion to attorney's fees and costs DEFERRED to the time of trial. COURT FURTHER ORDERS, the hearings currently scheduled for March 15, 2016 at 10:00 a.m. VACATED. DEFENDANT'S MOTION TO REOPEN TRIAL OR IN THE ALTERNATIVE FOR NEW TRIAL LIMITED TO HEAR TESTIMONY OF DESMOND NANCE...PLAINTIFF'S OPPOSITION AND COUNTERMOTION FOR ATTORNEY'S FEES AND OTHER RELATED MATTERS Attorney Jason Naimi, Bar #9441, and co-counsel, Attorney Michelle Cooley, Bar #8992, present with Plaintiff. Defendant appeared by telephone. Arguments by Counsel regarding Defendant's request to reopen trial, attorney's fees, issues regarding written closing arguments and objections made to the closing arguments, and other related matters. Attorney Wilson requested the trial be reopened to allow testimony by Desmond Nance due to text messages sent to Defendant by Desmond making suggestions things were going on in Plaintiff's household. Attorney Wilson requested she be given an opportunity to find Desmond and question him regarding those text messages. Upon inquiry from the Court, Defendant indicated he has not heard from nor been able to get in contact with Desmond since the last text message. Attorney Naimi represented Desmond is lashing out at Plaintiff, that Plaintiff disconnected Desmond's cell phone due to threatening text messages, and that Plaintiff believes Desmond is using drugs. Attorney Naimi also indicated a Temporary Protective Order (TPO) has been issued against Desmond in which they have been having issues with finding him to serve him with the TPO. COURT ORDERED the following: 1. Attorney Naimi's request for Desmond Nance to be drug tested prior to being questions is DENIED due to this Court having no jurisdiction over Mr. Nance. 2. Counsel AGREE for Attorney Naimi's to strike portions of Defendant's objections that have been filed, providing Attorney Wilson with those portions he wishes to be stricken no later than 8/20/16. Attorney Wilson will then withdraw those portions she agrees to be stricken and file new objections no later than 8/24/16. 3. Attorney Wilson agrees to attempt to make contact with Desmond Nance and determine whether Desmond's testimony would be credible and/or worth going forward with reopening the trial by Friday, August 20, 2016. Attorney Naimi to consider providing Attorney Wilson with a list of friends and/or acquaintances they believe Desmond may be in contact with. Attorney Wilson to update the Court via a letter, copying Attorney Naimi, on whether they have made contact/found Desmond and whether or not they are withdrawing their request to re-open the trial and/or preparing to move forward on their request. 4. Attorney Naimi's request for attorney's fees is under advisement.;

NRCP 1 and EDCR 1.10 state the procedure in district courts shall be administered to secure efficient, speedy, and inexpensive determinations in every action. Pursuant to EDCR 2.23(c) and 5.11(e), this Court can consider a motion and issue a decision on the papers at any time without a hearing. COURT FINDS, Defendant filed a Motion to Reopen Trial or, in the Alternative, for New Trial on July 21, 2016. Thereafter, Plaintiff filed an Opposition, Supplemental Opposition, and Counter-motion. The matter came before the court for hearing on August 16, 2016, wherein the Court requested Counsel for Defendant to update the Court and Plaintiff's counsel, via a letter, as to whether she had made contact with and/or found Desmond and whether they were withdrawing or moving forward with their request to reopen trial. Said letter was received on August 19, 2016 and, upon further consideration, the Court FINDS and ORDERS as follows: Ms. Wilson has twenty-eight (28) days to obtain Desmond's deposition (unless the date noticed is inconvenient for counsel and counsel stipulates to a different, and later date). The parties will then have fourteen (14) days to submit to the Court the transcript for publishing, unless for good cause it can be shown that the transcript is unable to be completed in that time frame. Once the transcript is complete, each party will have seven (7) days to submit to the Court that portion of the transcript which he/she wants to be considered by the Court (or if the whole deposition, then it should be noted as such). Each side will have seven (7) days from receipt of the proposed testimony, to object in writing to that testimony considered objectionable, and the grounds for said objection; the Court will then read the question, without reading the answer, will consider the objection, and then rule. If the objection is sustained, the Court will not consider that portion of the testimony; if overruled, it will become part of the record. The Court will note which objections were sustained, if any, in its final decision. NRCP 1 and EDCR 1.10 state the procedure in district courts shall be administered to secure efficient, speedy, and inexpensive determinations in every action. The Court having considered the papers on file herein, the transcript of the record, the evidence presented at trial, which consists of Plaintiff's Exhibits 2-6, 16-18, 20-24, 30, 46-48, 55, 57, 61-65, 68, 69, 73, 74, 80, 81, Defendant's Exhibits A1, A2, B1, B2, B3, F2, G1, I, J, K1, K2, L1, M, N1, N2, N3, N4, N5, N7, P, testimony of witnesses presented by both parties, Closing Briefs, Objections to Closing Briefs, Motions to Strike, and Motions regarding Post-trial evidence relating to Desmond Nance, and good cause appearing therefore, FINDS AS FOLLOWS: This Court hereby GRANTS the Defendant's Motion for Primary Custody and for Relocation to New York; after careful consideration of the evidence, this Court FINDS it appropriate to enter Defendant's FINDINGS OF FACT, CONCLUSIONS OF LAW, AND ORDER, subject to the modifications, additional findings, and deletions set forth herein below. The Court also considered, the Objections to Closing Briefs, and Motions to Strike, and will set forth herein below, the rulings on each party's requests. In regards to Plaintiff's Objections to Defendant's Closing Brief, the COURT ORDERS AS FOLLOWS: For purposes of this decision the Court will number the objections as set forth in the table of objections provided: 1. Objection sustained 2. Objection sustained 3. Objection sustained 4. Objection - sustained 5. Objection - sustained as to the representation of multiple schools but the Court notes there was resistance by mother to Plaintiff's request to send the child to private school, at least twice. 6. Objection sustained 7. Overruled In regards to Defendant's Objections to Plaintiff's Closing Brief, the COURT ORDERS AS FOLLOWS: Overruled. In regards to Plaintiff's Motion to Strike Portions of Defendant's Objections, the COURT ORDERS AS FOLLOWS: GRANTED as set forth in Plaintiff's Exhibit to Motion to Strike; the Court having considered the Plaintiff's request for attorney's fees for having to file the Motion to Strike, and to appear at the hearing on the matter, and the Court having considered the factors set forth in Brunzell v. Golden Gate National Bank, 85 Nev. 345 (1969) and Miller v. Wilfong, 121 Nev. 619 (2005), FINDS the following attorney's fees award is reasonable and was necessary to address said issue with the Court. The Court hereby awards the sum of $2,500 to Plaintiff's counsel for having to file the Motion to Strike Portions of Defendant's Objections. In regards to the Motion to Reopen Trial or in Alternative to Hear Limited Testimony of Desmond Nance and Opposition thereto with Request for Attorney's fees, this Court having considered the Plaintiff's request for attorney's fees for having to file the Motion to Strike, and to appear at the hearing on the matter, and having considered the factors set forth in Brunzell v. Golden State, and Miller v. Wilfong, FINDS the following attorney's fees award is reasonable and was necessary to address said issue with the Court. The Court hereby awards the sum of $2,500 to Plaintiff for having to respond to the original motion, and to file the Motion to Strike the Notice as it pertained to Desmond Nance. Although this Court did not grant the Motion to Strike, this Court FINDS that the entire issue was precipitated by the request to reopen filed by Defendant and the representations made to this Court that the information was pertinent to the outcome of this case, to such an extent that he sought for the court to reopen the trial to allow for additional evidence. Based upon said representations of Defendant, this Court permitted him to proceed with obtaining said evidence, which unnecessarily multiplied the proceedings, only to result in no evidence offered at the end of the investigation. In this regard, the Court hereby awards the sum of $2,500 to Plaintiff's counsel. Said $5,000 is hereby reduced to judgment, and collectible by any lawful means. Collection is hereby stayed for a period of 120 days, to allow Defendant the opportunity to pay the amount in full before said date, or establish an acceptable payment plan with Plaintiff's counsel. This Court FINDS the following modifications shall be made to Defendant's proposed FINDINGS OF FACT, CONCLUSIONS OF LAW, AND ORDER: Page 12, line 7, after "it" - add, "does not appear to be created" and delete "not created" Page 12, line 16, after "supported." Add - There is no evidence to suggest the tooth fairy gifts of any amounts Defendant provides to Evan are done with malicious intent toward Plaintiff or to "one up" Plaintiff. Court FINDS that Plaintiff seems to allow the differences in the parties' financial means to cloud her ability to co-parent and do what is best for Evan. This Court cautions this is not a competition, and often one parent is able to provide more money or financial means than the other, but that should not be taken personally by the other parent, nor should it allow those gestures to cloud their judgment while co-parenting. Page 12, line 25, after the number 17. Add The Court disagrees with Plaintiff's assertion that Defendant does what he wants to do. This Court FINDS that each parent does what he or she wants to do while the child is in his/her care, because the parents have been unable to communicate productively and/or agree on what is best for Evan. Page 13, line 1 and 2 - delete the sentence starting with Plaintiff, and ending with wants. Page 14, line 10, add sentence, "This Court FINDS that Evan can benefit from Defendant's expertise in the sport, can benefit from the team sport atmosphere, and intense involvement from his father, and that the benefit outweighs the potential burden. This Court FINDS that Defendant appears mindful of Plaintiff's concerns regarding the dangers of hockey and other sports, given his own injuries. Court FINDS Defendant does not demonstrate behaviors or willingness to put his child in harm's way intentionally, but many team sports or any physical activity comes with the potential for injury. Defendant is CAUTIONED to be mindful of this and Plaintiff's concerns should be discussed openly and respectfully, as she is a joint legal custodian. Page 14, line 21 and 22, combine FINDINGS n. and o. New FINDING o. shall be: Court FINDS Plaintiff's admitted history of failure to communicate regarding legal custody issues, and Defendant's confirmation of such, to be disconcerting because it is important to be a respectful and open-minded co-parent on these very subjective issues. Further, if Plaintiff is obstructionist and makes co-parenting difficult, Court FINDS that is not in the child's best interests. Court further FINDS that Defendant does not appear to exhibit the same behavior toward Plaintiff. This Court FINDS that disagreement is different than obstructing efforts made to better the child's life. Page 16, line 7 - modify the first sentence to "All of that said, Nevada is a gaming state, and gambling is legal." Page 16, line 23 - modify the last clause to read, "the Court finds the Defendant's choices and actions are more closely aligned with the bests interests of the child." Page 27, line 22, change the word here to "Las Vegas" Page 28, line 20, after programs, modify the sentence to read, "but because Defendant sought primary custody during the school year, all extracurricular activities cannot take a front seat to Evan's relationship with his mother. During Plaintiff's timeshare, unless Plaintiff agrees to putting Evan in said extracurricular activities, she is entitled to exercise the time in the manner in which she pleases. If Evan's extracurricular activities suffer from her choices to deny that involvement, that is a parenting decision she is entitled to make, if she believes it is better for Evan, or for their relationship. Page 29, line 11, change EVEN to ODD, and on line 12 change EVEN to ODD, and on line 13, change ODD to EVEN. Page 29, line 22, delete "odd years and Dad shall have Evan in even years." Add, "every year." Delete "In even years when Evan is with Dad, if Evan is participating in a sports camp or tournament, Mom may attend at Mom's expense." Page 30, line 14, change odd to even, and even to odd. (In essence, Mom shall have Evan in even years and Dad shall have Evan in odd years for Thanksgiving). Page 30, line 24, delete "pre-planned Ferraro-family events." Add, significant and/or important events (i.e., once in a lifetime events, pre-arranged and non-refundable trips). If said visit cannot be conducted within the period noticed by Plaintiff, an alternate visitation shall take place on the next date chosen or designated by Plaintiff regardless of any significant events. Page 30, line 26, add the sentence: Such visits shall not be unreasonably denied due to "pre-planned Ferraro-family events," as such events are likely to be conducted regularly. Page 31, line 4, revise to say "based on Evan's school and extracurricular activity schedule." This Court FINDS that because of the manner in which this case proceeded and concluded on September 27, 2016 with post trial motions, the child ended up commencing school in Las Vegas for the 2016-2017 school year. While this Court believes it is in the child's long term best interests to be in Defendant's primary care, it does not believe that the disruption to the child's school at this juncture is in his best interests. In this regard, the COURT ORDERS the parties should continue to follow their current schedule, and commence their custodial plan as of one week after school lets out, which means that Plaintiff will have the summer from one week after school lets out until one week before school begins in New York. Defendant will have to notify Plaintiff of the dates for when the child needs to be present in New York for his first day of attendance or orientation, as the case may be. The COURT ORDERS Defendant to prepare and submit a proposed order consistent with this Decision. The COURT ORDERS the Decision Hearing on January 5, 2017 shall be VACATED. CLERK'S NOTE: A copy of this Minute Order was placed in Attorney Naimi and Attorney Wilson's attorney folders located in the Clerk's Office. ;

DEPARTMENT F

1 This Court hereby GRANTS the Defendant's Motion for Primary Custody and 2 for Relocation to New York; after careful consideration of the evidence, this Court
3 FINDS it appropriate to enter Defendant's FINDINGS OF FACT, CONCLUSIONS OF 4 LAW, AND ORDER, subject to the modifications, additional findings, and deletions set
5 forth in its minute order of January 5, 2017. The Court also considered, the Objections
6 to Closing Briefs, and Motions to Strike, and will set forth herein below, the rulings on 7 each party's requests.

8 In regards to Plaintiff's Objections to Defendant's Closing Brief, the COURT ORDERS
9 AS FOLLOWS:

10 For purposes of this decision the Court will number the objections as set forth in 11 the table of objections provided:

15 4. Objection - sustained

16 5. Objection - sustained as to the representation of multiple schools but the 17 Court notes there was resistance by mother to Plaintiff's request to send the child to 18 private school, at least twice.

20 7. Overruled

21 In regards to Defendant's Objections to Plaintiff's Closing Brief, the COURT
22 ORDERS AS FOLLOWS: Overruled.

23 In regards to Plaintiff's Motion to Strike Portions of Defendant's Objections, the 24 COURT ORDERS AS FOLLOWS: GRANTED as set forth in Plaintiff's Exhibit to 25 Motion to Strike; the Court having considered the Plaintiff's request for attorney's fees
26 for having to file the Motion to Strike, and to appear at the hearing on the matter, and 27 the Court having considered the factors set forth in Brunzell v. Golden Gate National 28 Bank, 85 Nev. 345 (1969) and Miller v. Wilfong, 121 Nev. 619 (2005), FINDS the

1 following attorney's fees award is reasonable and was necessary to address said
2 issue with the Court. The Court hereby awards the sum of $2,500 to Plaintiff's counsel
3 for having to file the Motion to Strike Portions of Defendant's Objections.

4 In regards to the Motion to Reopen Trial or in Alternative to Hear Limited
5 Testimony of Desmond Nance and Opposition thereto with Request for Attorney's 6 fees, this Court having considered the Plaintiff's request for attorney's fees for having 7 to file the Motion to Strike, and to appear at the hearing on the matter, and having 8 considered the factors set forth in Brunzell v. Golden State, and Miller v. Wilfong, 9 FINDS the following attorney's fees award is reasonable and was necessary to 10 address said issue with the Court. The Court hereby awards the sum of $2,500 to 11 Plaintiff for having to respond to the original motion, and to file the Motion to Strike the 12 Notice as it pertained to Desmond Nance. Although this Court did not grant the 13 Motion to Strike, this Court FINDS that the entire issue was precipitated by the request 14 to reopen filed by Defendant and the representations made to this Court that the 15 information was pertinent to the outcome of this case, to such an extent that he sought
16 for the court to reopen the trial to allow for additional evidence. Based upon said
17 representations of Defendant, this Court permitted him to proceed with obtaining said 18 evidence which unnecessarily multiplied the proceedings, only to result in no evidence 19 offered at the end of the investigation. In this regard, the Court hereby awards the 20 sum of $2,500 to Plaintiff's counsel.

21 Said $5,000 is hereby reduced to judgment, and collectible by any lawful 22 means. Collection is hereby stayed for a period of 120 days, to allow Defendant the 23 opportunity to pay the amount in full before said date, or establish an acceptable
24 payment plan with Plaintiff's counsel.

25 FINDINGS OF FACT

26 1. For six months prior to Defendant filing his motion for relocation on June
27 19, 2015, the minor child Evan Daniel Ferraro, born September 30, 2008 (now 7 28 years, 10 months) was a resident of the State of Nevada.

1 2. Defendant is a resident of Sound Beach, New York. V1:22:12-13. He 2 has lived there, in the same home where he grew up, for forty-three years with the 3 exception of times that he lived in other communities to attend school and play
4 hockey. V1:22, 27. Defendant attended university for about 1 ½ years, but left to play
5 hockey for the 1994 US Olympic hockey team and then professionally in the National 6 Hockey League. V1:22, 27. He has no plans to move from his current residence.
7 V1:22. He lives with his mother and twin brother. The residence is owned by 8 Defendant's mother. It is a 3,000 square foot ranch house with four bedrooms, three 9 bathrooms, on two acres of land with a fenced yard and in-ground pool. If his son is 10 relocated, then Defendant plans to install a sport court in the backyard. Evan has his 11 own bedroom. The neighborhood consists entirely of single family homes. V1:22-23.

12 3. Based on Defendant's testimony and Defendant's Exhibit G2 (flight 13 records), Evan has spent significant time at the Ferraro family home in New York.
14 From 2012 through 2014, he was there for Defendant's timeshare every month or 15 nearly every month, and he continued to visit routinely in 2015 and 2016. V1:23-26,
16 Ex. G2 at DEFT0358-0368. Defendant testified that while in New York, and in addition 17 to Evan's uncle and grandmother with whom Defendant resides, Evan routinely sees 18 his aunt and her husband, another uncle, Evan's own friends and other extended 19 family. V1:26, 44. Most of the family live and/or work within about five miles of 20 Defendant's home. V1:44-45. Evan sees his grandfather, aunt, uncle and cousins
21 several times per week, and some of them daily. V1:45-47. The Ferraros get together 22 for dinner, family functions, for Evan's extracurricular activities, birthdays and 23 barbeques. V1:47.

24 4. Defendant testified that Evan is bright, talented, special, gifted, "he is 25 my life." V1:48. During this testimony the Court observed the Defendant become 26 extremely emotional and have a hard time holding back tears. Defendant testified that 27 Evan is a straight A student, that he has a great personality, he is gifted with other 28 children, he is popular, a leader, children migrate to him and he is a great little athlete.

2 5. Defendant testified that Evan has a lot of friends from hockey and some 3 very good friends in New York, in particular Tommy and Neil Doyle, who Evan has 4 known since he was a baby, and Leila Pannacculli who Evan has known for three 5 years. V1:49. Over the recent break, Defendant put together a hockey tournament in 6 Connecticut with fifteen other children, and in July they will go to a hockey camp in 7 Minnesota, where the Doyle boys will be too. Id. When in New York, the kids all play 8 hockey together as well as have play dates, swimming, visiting the beach and going to 9 movies.

10 6. Defendant testified that Evan's time with him is very structured, and he 11 creates additional math, reading, writing and drawing assignments for Evan, even 12 when not in school, then there are a variety of extracurricular activities and sports to fill 13 out his day, including baseball, soccer, rollerblading, swimming, running, and mixed 14 martial arts training. V1:50-51. Defendant testified that on a typical school day, they 15 will go to the park before school if time allows; Defendant takes Evan to school and 16 Evan rides his scooter up to the school; Defendant returns at lunch time to volunteer 17 in the lunchroom and at recess; and after school, homework generally comes first and 18 then they do extracurricular activities. V1:74-75.

19 7. Defendant's exhibit J was admitted. V1:79-80. Defendant testified that 20 these are weekly progress reports from the last school year. V1:79. Two of three 21 progress reports were from a week that Evan was with Plaintiff, and those reports
22 show that during Defendant's timeshare, Evan stayed on task and followed direction,
23 whereas he did not do those things during Plaintiff's timeshare, and the teacher 24 commented during Defendant's timeshare that Evan was "much better this week with 25 talking/giggling." Ex. J.

26 8. Defendant's exhibit B was admitted. V1:80-82. Exhibit B1 and 2 are 27 photos of Evan during his Dad's timeshare and B3 is a video of Evan practicing 28 baseball and enjoying the level of activity in which he is engaged with his Dad.

1 9. Defendant's exhibit G was admitted. V1:83-85. Mr. Ferraro testified that 2 he created spreadsheets of his timeshare with Evan from 2013 to 2015 from his 3 personal calendars and flight records; however, he testified that the day-count on the 4 spreadsheet does not include every day of the timeshare, and if it did, then one day 5 would be added to each timeshare (twelve days to each year), giving him 155 days in 6 2013, 166 days in 2014 and 150 days in 2015. V1:83-87; see also Ex. G1. Defendant
7 testified that during timeshares commencing when Evan was in school, pick up was 8 from school at 3:21 p.m. and return was to school in the morning. When school is not 9 in session, he typically picks Evan up in the morning when his timeshare begins and 10 returns him in the after or evening that his timeshare ends. See e.g., Ex. A at 11 DEFT0211.

12 10. Defendant testified that if relocated to New York, then Evan would attend 13 the Rocky Point School District and all of the schools of that district are within two to 14 five miles of his home. V1:54-55. Defendant testified that he would personally take 15 Evan to and from school. V1:55. Defendant researched the school system to satisfy 16 himself that this was a good place for his son to go to school, he personally spoke to 17 the school principal and obtained a variety of information from her and he did internet
18 research on web sites for the New York State System of Education and the Annie E.
19 Casey Foundation. V1:55-59. The Court admitted Defendant's Exhibit F2 (V1:58-20 61), the New York State Education records, which state very low turn over rates for 21 teachers, that more than 80% of teachers in the elementary and middle schools have 22 master's degrees or doctorates, and average class sizes are 23-24 students.
23 Highschool graduation rates for male students in 2014 was 97%. Defendant's
24 statements regarding widespread knowledge of the deficiencies of Nevada schools 25 were objected to, but the unfortunate reality is that this is true and widely known in the 26 community and the Court can take judicial notice of the fact. The evidence supports 27 that Evan would be enrolling in a high-quality school district in New York.

28 11. Defendant testified as to the reasons he wants to relocate Evan to New

1 York, he said, "It's my home. It's my community. It's where I live. It's his friends. The 2 community relationships that I have as a hockey player and my family business for 3 almost 50 years and these community connections I will pass on to Evan. The school 4 systems, financial resources, to save on financial resources for my travels back and 5 forth to Las Vegas. I'd like to dedicate those resources solely to Evan and his future."
6 V1:64.

7 12. Defendant testified that relocation would improve Evan's life for mostly 8 the same reasons, it is the Defendant's home, and Evan "has tremendous 9 relationships there, friendships, he's got a stable home there in New York, he's got 10 stable friends, the school systems. My availability to Evan, I have a very flexible
11 schedule that I am with Evan virtually at all times, and community relationships that I 12 will pass along to Evan for his overall benefit and development." V1:69.

13 13. Defendant testified the relocation would benefit him personally by 14 allowing him to get back to work right away, earn a salary, and be able to dedicate
15 resources directly for Evan's benefit. Also Defendant's own parents are aging, and he 16 would like to be able to share his own life and Evan's with them. Defendant testified 17 his own mother is 70 and has some health issues. His father is 68 and healthy.
18 V1:70. Defendant testified that Ferraro Brothers Hockey is based in New York and 19 that is where the client base is, and he does not have the same kinds of relationships
20 in Las Vegas as he does in New York. V1:70.

21 14. Defendant testified that Plaintiff denies Evan opportunities to participate 22 in extracurricular activities and private school. V1:67. Defendant testified that he has 23 offered to pay for private school and a variety of extracurricular activities for Evan,
24 including hockey, soccer, and MMA, but that Plaintiff will not participate in these with 25 Evan during her own timeshare, which upsets Evan. V1:67. Defendant testified that 26 extracurricular activities are important because one learns "life skills," including:
27 "respect, preparation, dedication, commitment, working with others, taking instruction 28 from coaches, highs, lows, failures, rewards, successes, all of these are critical to life

1 and career. In fact, athletes are proven better students . . . and they are more prone
2 to stay away from drugs and alcohol and live a more focused, dedicated life." V1:67-3 68.

4 15. Defendant proposed a visitation schedule whereby they would alternate 5 and split the winter break, alternate Thanksgiving and the February, April and 6 Memorial day breaks, but in Defendant's years to have Evan during February and 7 April, he would invite Plaintiff to attend any sport camps or tournaments in which Evan
8 was participating. Plaintiff would also have Columbus weekend, every year and if no 9 interference with school or extracurricular activities, on the Memorial Day and 10 Columbus weekends, Evan could leave New York on Thursday and return on Tuesday
11 to create a full four day weekend with Plaintiff. Finally Defendant proposed that 12 summer be divided into three, three week intervals with Plaintiff having the first and 13 last intervals and Defendant having the middle interval. Defendant explained the 14 reason for the split being to allow Evan to participate in hockey camps, clinics and like 15 sports activities. Additionally, at Plaintiff's option, Defendant would help facilitate an 16 additional visits each month to be held in New York. Defendant would pay all airfare
17 for the Plaintiff's Christmas, February, April, Memorial Day, Summer, Columbus, and 18 Thanksgiving visits. Plaintiff would be responsible to pay costs of any additional visits, 19 but Defendant will waive child support to help her be able to do this. V1:71-74.

20 16. On co-parenting, Defendant testified that the parties had 'many 21 challenges from the start, but believes they were helped by parenting coordinator, 22 Margaret Pickard, and their current, respective counsel. Defendant testified that he 23 sees a pattern whereby he proposes something for Evan, Plaintiff says 'no,' he 24 attempts to persuade her by enumerating the benefits for Evan, and Plaintiff asks 25 Defendant to stop harassing her. V1:68. The emails produced and admitted in 26 Defendant's Exhibit A, tend to support Defendant's testimony. See e.g, Ex. A at 27 DEFT0138-42. 173-74, 198.

28 17. A co-parenting dispute arose when Evan was first eligible to start

1 kindergarten. V1:88-94. Evan's birthday falls on the kindergarten enrollment cut-off
2 date, which made him eligible to start kindergarten when he was four. Defendant
3 wanted to hold Evan back to the following year; Plaintiff did not want to hold him back.
4 V1:92-93. Defendant testified that he consulted teachers in Las Vegas and New York,
5 Margaret Pickard, who apparently had a son in a similar situation, and Judith Tolman,
6 and his conclusion was that Evan would benefit from another year of development,
7 maturity wise. V1:90. Defendant's Exhibit K, was admitted. V1:88, 93-94. It is a text
8 message from Judith Tolman to Defendant with a link to an article explaining that 9 studies have shown delayed kindergarten enrollment dramatically reduced ADHD in 10 children. V1:88-89.

11 18. Plaintiff testified that Nevada is Evan's home, but it is clear to the Court
12 that Evan has two homes.

13 19. With respect to his employment, Defendant testified that the partnership 14 group in which he was a 7.5% minority owner and for which he was working, filed 15 bankruptcy in September 2015. He was not responsible for financial management of 16 the partnership nor did he set his own salary. V1:28-29. He has not worked since the 17 bankruptcy was filed, but plans to reestablish Ferraro Brothers Hockey, an academy
18 that trains players from age six to NHL-level players. V1:28, 30. Defendant's brother 19 testified that Ferraro Brother's Hockey was in existence for eight years before they 20 began working with the bankrupt partnership. V1:232-233. Defendant and his brother 21 primarily work with players age 5 or 6 to 12. V1:30, 233. Historically, Ferraro Brothers
22 Hockey trains thousands of players annually and has a database of between 4,000
23 and 5,000 players. V1:31, 233.

24 20. During his unemployment, Defendant has relied on income from the NHL
25 Emergency Fund ($2,500 per month); a family real estate investment ($2,500 per 26 month); and repayment of a family loan ($2,500) per month. V1:31-33. Defendant is 27 uncertain what his future income with Ferraro Brother's Hockey will be; he thinks it 28 unlikely that he will earn as much as he did with Twin Rinks, but he also as the

1 opportunity to do as few or as many alumni events with the New York Rangers as he 2 chooses to earn additional income. He will also continue to receive payments from his 3 real estate investment from repayment of the family loan. V1:33-34. Defendant's 4 brother confirmed he would afford him such flexibility.

5 21. Defendant testified that he can create a work schedule around Evan
6 because he runs Ferraro Brothers Hockey with his twin brother who will run programs
7 while Defendant is attending to Evan. V1:34.

8 22. Defendant testified – consistent with his Financial Disclosure Form filed 9 January 11, 2016 – that his average monthly expenses to exercise his timeshare with 10 Evan are $6,233.33. (V1:35, 36, 43.) Defendant covers the deficit between his 11 income and expenses from money earned from Twin Rinks and those funds are being 12 depleted. V1:43-44.

13 23. Defendant testified that Evan missed two days of school during the first 14 grade during his timeshare, one-half day for an eye appointment set by Plaintiff, one-
15 half day to travel to Los Angeles for his uncle's birthday party, and one full day to 16 travel to New York for his cousin's sweet 16 party. Defendant testified that Plaintiff
17 was aware that Evan was missing school on these days for these reasons. V1:29.

18 24. Daniel Hungerford testified in Defendant's case in chief. V1:95-28. Mr.
19 Hungerford was Evan's school principal for kindergarten and first grade, and he 20 testified that Evan has never had any behavioral issues, has never been referred to 21 the school counselor or his office, and that Evan is "a good guy," "he behaves well at 22 school and attends in class," "behaviorally, academically, he's a model student."
23 V1:99-101. Principal Hungerford testified that he sees the children in his school daily 24 coming to and from school, in the hallways and in the classrooms; and before his 25 deposition, he also talked to a number of individuals at the school about Evan,
26 including Evan's teacher and the school counselor, and he reviewed Evan's school 27 records; there were no concerns about Evan, socially, academically, and in fact he 28 was doing very well with both. V1:98,111-14. Principal Hungerford could not recall

1 either parent coming to him with concerns about Evan's behavior or academic 2 performance at school, only the situation with the parents and the living situation.
3 V1:101-102. Principal Hungerford testified that he never had any concerns about 4 Evan advancing to the first grade, he never saw Evan engage in any unusual behavior
5 or chew his clothing, but he commented that that is not uncommon for elementary
6 school kids to chew things. V1:103. Principal Hungerford testified that he sees Mr.
7 Ferraro volunteering at the school "much more frequently than Ms. Nance." V1:125.

8 25. Peter Pannacciulli testified in Defendant's case in chief. V1:203-218.
9 Mr. Pannacciulli lives in New York; his nine year old daughter, Lila, was coached by 10 Defendant beginning in or about the Spring of 2014; around that time frame, Lila and 11 Evan met 'on the ice;' thereafter, Mr. Pannacciulli and the Defendant became friends.
12 Mr. Pannacciulli testified that Defendant is an excellent youth hockey coach, that the 13 kids connect with him, they react to what he says, whether good or bad, without 14 prejudice. Mr. Pannacciulli testified that he sees Defendant and Evan outside of 15 hockey every time Evan is in New York, usually multiple times, that they have play 16 dates and go to each other's houses. Mr. Pannacciulli described Evan's behavior as 17 "normal," and elaborated that he is respectful, he listens, he is a polite, well-mannered
18 kid. Mr. Pannacciulli testified that in addition to his own daughter, he spends time 19 around his sisters' children, there are five of them from ages 4 to 18, and he has not 20 observed Evan to be any more or less argumentative than these children; he has 21 never observed Evan to blame others for his behavior or refuse to do things he is 22 asked; he has never seen Evan bite his nails or chew his clothing. Mr. Pannacciulli
23 testified that Defendant does not talk about the Plaintiff nor has he seen Defendant do
24 anything to impede Evan's relationship with Plaintiff, on the contrary, he has observed
25 Defendant making sure that Evan contacts his mother.

26 26. Laura Bell-Doyle testified in Defendant's case in chief. V1:219-230. She 27 testified that she lives in New York, that she and her fiancée have two boys together – 28 Thomas age 10 and Neil age 6 – and their family are friends with Defendant and

1 Evan. The Doyles met Defendant about six years ago when Thomas started doing
2 hockey clinics with Defendant, and they met Evan when he was just about three or 3 four years old. When Evan is in New York, the families see each other almost daily, 4 doing a variety of activities, and both of her boys are friends with Evan; her youngest 5 calls Evan his "best friend." She testified that Thomas coached with Defendant for 6 about six years; during that time, she has had the opportunity to observe him as a
7 coach and her impression is that "he is all about the kids" and he, "Teaches my son 8 everything about hockey and respect and treats the kids as adults on the ice." She 9 testified that Evan is a very fun, loving child, respectful to all of her family members
10 and is outgoing. In addition to her own children, she sees others kids at their hockey
11 practices and at school functions, and in comparison to those other children, Ms.
12 Doyle does not find Evan to be any more or less distracted than other children, he 13 does not blame other people for his behavior or defy requests and he listens to her
14 very well; she has never seen him bite his nails or chew his clothing. If Defendant
15 resumes coaching in New York, her boys will resume coaching with him.

17 Ferraro is Defendant's twin brother, and their careers followed very similar trajectories.
18 V1:232, 243. Mr. Ferraro also played on the 1994 U.S. Olympic Hockey Team and 19 then went on to play professional hockey. V1:232. Mr. Ferraro testified that Ferraro
20 Brothers Hockey was in existence for about eight years before they joined the 21 complex that filed bankruptcy last year, and they train thousands of players annually,
22 aged 5 to 65, but their primary players are age 6 to 12. V1:232-233. Mr. Ferraro
23 testified that he is around for about 95% of Defendant's timeshare with Evan, and 24 describes himself as a "very committed uncle." V1:234. He describes Evan as "a very 25 charismatic, special boy. He has got a big heart, very confident, filled with a lot of 26 leadership. He just impresses me every day." V1:234. Mr. Ferraro testified that Evan 27 is not argumentative, he does not get annoyed, irritated, or blame others for his 28 misbehavior, which he says is "very minimal." V1:234-35. Mr. Ferraro's testimony

1 regarding family discipline of Evan tracked closely with Defendant's, and he testified it
2 is the same way they were raised. V1:236-37. Mr. Ferraro described the last 3 occasion during which he spent any substantial time with the Plaintiff, it was in New 4 York in 2014, Defendant had invited Sandra to visit with her other two children as well;
5 Mr. Ferraro said she was welcomed by the family and everyone was quite happy.
6 V1:237-38. Mr. Ferraro described another occasion when Plaintiff's older son visited 7 New York with Evan, and that he was "extremely happy, extremely confident, loves
8 New York . . . He seems like he is one of us when he is there with us. We get along 9 with him great." Mr. Ferraro testified that he saw Desmond just a few months before 10 the trial at Evan's school, he described that Desmond approached him with a big smile
11 and asked him how he was doing. V1:283. Desmond was actually wearing a Ferraro
12 Brother's t-shirt and they had a 'great' conversation. V1:238. Mr. Ferraro described
13 Defendant as an "all hands on" dad, great, committed, loving. V1:241. Mr. Ferraro's 14 testimony affirmed that Defendant has a great deal of flexibility in his schedule to be 15 present for Evan, and that the whole family supports him in that. V1:241.

16 28. Plaintiff, Sandra Nance testified. V2:94-156; V3:8-67. She is a resident
17 of Las Vegas. V2:92-93.

18 a. Plaintiff testified there were problems with the visitation schedule, 19 namely that when he started kindergarten he was not to travel to New York with 20 Defendant, but she said he traveled most of the school year. V2:97-98. Emails
21 between the parties and their parenting coordinator admitted with Defendant's exhibit
22 A, at DEFT0001-47, show that Defendant was trying to balance the competing
23 interests between Evan's home, family and activities in New York with Kindergarten, 24 and that he was taking measures to ensure that Evan would not fall behind in school 25 and in fact Evan never did fall behind in school and the principal had no concerns with 26 Evan's absences during Kindergarten.

27 b. Plaintiff said Defendant does not always tell her where he is traveling,
28 but emails produced in Defendant's Exhibit A, suggest he typically does. V2:101-02.

1 c. Plaintiff testified her concern about Evan's possible relocation is that she 2 will not have the same relationship she has now with him, and he will not have a
3 relationship with his maternal grandparents or siblings. V2:102 Evan has a brother
4 who is moving and a sister who is about to turn 14. V2:102; V:145.

5 d. Plaintiff believes that she does things to foster Evan's relationship with 6 Defendant but that it is not reciprocated. She feels that Defendant is always "one-7 upping" her. By way of example she said that Evan returns with shoes or games or 8 sports gear from his timeshare with Chris. V2:108. However, there is a provision in 9 the parenting plan (1.12) that says the parents will allow Evan to take his belongings
10 freely between households. It is not entirely clear, but it appears that Plaintiff tells 11 Evan to "Keep them in a bag until you go back with your dad." V2:108. The Court can 12 see how this could cause a problem, but it does not appear to be created by the 13 Defendant. Another example Plaintiff gave was that of the "Tooth Fairy." V2:108-09.
14 On cross-examination, it came out that Plaintiff had complained to the parenting
15 coordinator about this situation and received an email explanation that the "Tooth 16 Fairy" gave Evan $115; Evan was allowed to keep $15, but had to give the $100 bill to 17 his grandmother for his college fund. V3:29-31. The Court understands Plaintiff's 18 frustration, but Plaintiff did not acknowledge in her testimony that the specific 19 circumstances were already explained to her, that Evan was not actually getting the 20 large sums of money. The fact that Mrs. Ferraro is saving for her grandson's college 21 education is a laudable goal to be supported. There is no evidence to suggest the 22 tooth fairy gifts of any amounts Defendant provides to Evan are done with malicious 23 intent toward Plaintiff or to "one up" Plaintiff. Court FINDS that Plaintiff seems to allow 24 the differences in the parties' financial means to cloud her ability to co-parent and do
25 what is best for Evan. This Court cautions this is not a competition, and often one 26 parent is able to provide more money or financial means than the other, but that 27 should not be taken personally by the other parent, nor should it allow those gestures 28 to cloud their judgment while co-parenting.

1 e. Plaintiff testified that she gets her FaceTime visits with Evan but says
2 they are shorter duration than Defendant's. There was testimony from Defendant's
3 witness that he is diligent about making sure that Evan FaceTimes his mother, but it
4 will be critical that Defendant make sure Evan is in a quite and private place, without 5 distractions for FaceTime sessions of quality duration, not less than fifteen minutes,
6 ideally thirty or more so that Evan can FaceTime with his sister and grandparents too.

7 f. Plaintiff testified to co-parenting difficulties with Defendant, which she 8 attributed to feeling that she is co-parenting with his whole family and that it is "Chris's 9 way or no way" and that "He just does whatever he wants to do." V2:115-17. The 10 Court disagrees with Plaintiff's assertion that Defendant does what he wants to do.
11 This Court FINDS that each parent does what he or she wants to do while the child is 12 in his/her care, because the parents have been unable to communicate productively
13 and/or agree on what is best for Evan. However, the emails produced as Defendant's 14 Exhibit A, which are much more comprehensive than the limited emails produced by 15 Plaintiff, tell a different story. There are no emails from anyone other than Defendant, 16 and Plaintiff denies most everything Defendant requests. Defendant testified that he 17 thinks there is pattern: he asks, Plaintiff says "no," he gives benefits of the request, 18 Plaintiff says "no," and he lets it drop.

19 g. Plaintiff testified to injuries that Defendant sustained during his 20 professional hockey career. V2:120-25. However, Defendant stopped playing 21 professional hockey at or about the time that Evan was born; therefore, there was no
22 current testimony regarding these past injuries. She testified to another incident
23 when Defendant went to the emergency room, but was released and she did not say
24 when that was. V2:125-28. The Court is not concerned that either party has a health
25 condition that interfere's with their ability to parent Evan

26 h. Plaintiff testified to a couple of injuries that Evan has sustained in his 27 father's care (V2:131-132), but they seem like ordinary, childhood injuries and 28 mishaps, not the result of abuse or neglect.

1 i. Plaintiff testified that she lives with her parents because it allows her to 2 be a full-time mom, but also because, she "fears for her life" because, she said, "of 3 on-going threats, harassments, and problems that are going on with Chris." V2:155-
4 156. However, on cross-examination, she admitted that during her deposition when 5 she talked about living with her parents, she only indicated that she does not intend to 6 live with her parents forever and she intends to purchase her own home when she has 7 the resources to do so; she further admitted that she has not sought a protective order
8 against Defendant since 2010. V3:27-28. The Court does not find Plaintiff's 9 testimony, that she fears for her life, credible.

10 j. Plaintiff has an older son, Desmond who is nineteen. V3:13-14. Plaintiff
11 allowed him to transfer from traditional high school to an on-line home school program 12 at some point in his junior year. V3:14. She allowed him to take the program "at his 13 own pace," and he did not graduate on time. V3:14-15. During this time, Plaintiff 14 gave Desmond an ownership interest in her business. V3:16-17. Plaintiff said that 15 she allowed him to go at his own pace because of all he had been through, but she 16 admitted she never enrolled him in therapy. V3:16.

17 k. She does not allow Evan to play hockey during her timeshare. V3:22.
18 The Court appreciates that a parent can be concerned about their child playing certain 19 sports. However, by all accounts, Evan loves the game of hockey; it sounds like he is 20 already leading drills and assisting his dad and uncle on the ice. His father and his 21 uncle are former U.S. Olympians in hockey; they played in the National Hockey League.
22 Mr. Ferraro seems very clear that he does not want to his son to follow his path, but 23 he does want his son to pursue his passions and give him every advantage and 24 assistance in doing so. This Court FINDS that Evan can benefit from Defendant's 25 expertise in the sport, can benefit from the team sport atmosphere, and intense
26 involvement from his father, and that the benefit outweighs the potential burden. This 27 Court FINDS that Defendant appears mindful of Plaintiff's concerns regarding the 28 dangers of hockey and other sports, given his own injuries. Court FINDS Defendant

1 does not demonstrate behaviors or willingness to put his child in harm's way 2 intentionally; but many team sports or any physical activity comes with the potential for 3 injury. Defendant is CAUTIONED to be mindful of this and Plaintiff's concerns should 4 be discussed openly and respectfully, as she is a joint legal custodian.

5 l. Defendant offered to pay for Evan to attend private school, specifically 6 Challenger School, before Kindergarten, that they toured the school together, but 7 Plaintiff refused to allow Defendant to enroll Evan, for the reason Plaintiff thought that 8 the school was "too intense." V3:22-23. Plaintiff denied that Defendant renewed the 9 offer for Evan to attend private school before first grade (V3:22); however, Exhibit A, 10 DEFT0138 shows email correspondence in which Defendant renewed the offer and 11 Plaintiff again refused.

12 m. In the seven years since Evan was born, Plaintiff has lived in four 13 different residences. V3:23-24.

14 n. Plaintiff testified that she did not tell Defendant when Evan was missing 15 school. V3:32. Plaintiff testified that she does not always tell Defendant that she is 16 taking Evan to the doctor before she takes him. V3:32.

17 o. Court FINDS Plaintiff's admitted history of failure to communicate 18 regarding legal custody issues, and Defendant's confirmation of such, to be 19 disconcerting because it is important to be a respectful and open-minded co-parent on 20 these very subjective issues. Further, if Plaintiff is obstructionist and makes 21 co-parenting difficult, Court FINDS that is not in the child's best interests. Court further 22 FINDS that Defendant does not appear to exhibit the same behavior toward Plaintiff.
23 This Court FINDS that disagreement is different than obstructing efforts made to 24 better the child's life.

25 p. Within the last four years, Plaintiff has worked as a dealer of blackjack 26 and other casino games. V3:33. She denied that she ever asked a player who 27 presented a player card for identification. V3:33-34. Also, Plaintiff could not identify 28 any particular date that she allowed another person to use one of her own player's

1 cards. V3:36.

2 29. Defendant asked the Court to take judicial notice of Nevada Gaming
3 Control Board Regulation 5A.110 which states that a person who is issued a card for 4 interactive gaming must affirm that they will not allow another person to utilize their 5 card. V3:35. Specifically, Regulation 5A.110(3)(c) provides, " Before registering an 6 individual as an authorized player, the operator must have the individual affirm the 7 following . . . That the individual has been informed and has acknowledged that, as an 8 authorized player, they are prohibited from allowing any other person access to or use 9 of their interactive gaming account." The Court takes judicial notice of this regulation.

10 a. Testimony was taken from persons most knowledgeable from several 11 casinos (Casino PMKs). V1:131-202. The evidence showed that Plaintiff had player 12 cards from at least five (5) different casinos; therefore, she had to make the 13 affirmation required under Regulation 5A.110(3)(c) at least five times. Further, the 14 Casino PMKs variously testified it is casino policy: (1) that a player must play on their 15 own card (V1:146, 159, 175, 186, 197-98); (2) to request identification when players
16 win jackpots (V1:174); and (3) to request identification of players at tables (V1:175-76; 17 186). As between the Casino PMKs and Plaintiff who said as a dealer she "never"
18 had to ask a player who presented a player card for identification and could not 19 specify a single date on which someone else was allowed to use her card, the Court
20 believes the Casino PMKs. Presumptively then, the play on Plaintiff's player cards, as 21 reflected in the records admitted as Defendant's Exhibits N1 to N5 is Plaintiff's own
22 play. As set forth in the summaries admitted as Defendant's Exhibit N7 (V3:40-41), 23 since December 2012 through December 2015, Plaintiff logged over 1,231 hours on 24 her player cards, which averages to 33 hours per month; and in 2013 Plaintiff had 25 actual losses of $10,333.42, in 2014 Plaintiff had actual losses of $13,293.19, and in 26 2015 Plaintiff had actual losses of $10,664.64. (The Casino PMKs testified that 27 adjusted win/loss records represent actual wins or losses; V1:146, 156, 165, 183,
28 194.) Although it is not possible to say how much money Plaintiff actually wagered,

1 the coin in/coin out numbers are staggeringly high (2013 - $237,500.50/$196,627.10; 2 2014 - $209,949.72/$176,238.55; 2015 - $160,495.06/$147,017.46). Finally, in 3 Plaintiff's most recent FDF, filed on June 21, 2016, for the first time she included an 4 average monthly gambling income of $95.83, but she testified that she did not 5 consider the amount of money that she had actually wagered to earn those winnings.
6 V3:42-43. Her historical loss records do not support the claim that she actual earns 7 money gambling.

8 b. All of that said, Nevada is a gaming state, and gaming is legal. It does 9 not appear that Plaintiff can afford an average of $10,000.00 or more per year in 10 gaming losses, and Defendant argues that 33 hours a month could be spent in more 11 constructive ways, particularly when one's child is in school, but the key point for this 12 Court's consideration is whether Plaintiff's gaming activity affects the best interests of 13 Evan. Here, "the nature of the relationship of the child with each parent" is implicated.
14 Parents who work regularly set an example for their children. It is true that Defendant 15 has not worked since the fall of 2015, but those circumstances were unforeseen, and 16 it is clear that Defendant historically worked hard running a successful hockey
17 coaching program, instructing thousands of children a year, which Evan, as a child, 18 was and is in a unique position to watch his father do. Being a stay-at-home mother is 19 noble and it is work, and Plaintiff is to be commended for the work she does as a 20 mother; however, the Court is less convinced that this is a matter of choice than 21 circumstance. As between a parent who seems to have time to work while her child 22 is in school but does not, and a parent who spends his days and evenings coaching 23 children with his own son participating and watching on, the Court finds the 24 Defendant's choices and actions are more closely aligned with the best interests of the 25 child.

26 30. Rebecca Nance testified in Plaintiff's case in chief. V3:68-85. Mrs.
27 Nance is Plaintiff's mother. V3:68-69. She and her husband have lived with Plaintiff
28 and Plaintiff's three children since 2010. V3:69. She said that Evan has a loving

1 relationship with his mother and he is a very good kid. V3:69. She described all the 2 family relationships in the household and those with her other daughter and her
3 children who live in town as "close." V3:70-73. The family go together to go
4 swimming, to the park, to movies, and bowling. V3:70. She reported that Evan is 5 presently infatuated with baseball. V3:71. She said, "he rarely brings up hockey at 6 the house" and she could not say who Evan's favorite hockey team was. V3:83-84.
7 She said that when Evan FaceTimes with Defendant he is in his room for an hour or 8 an hour and half and apparently talking to all of the Ferraros. V3:75. She described 9 the relationship between Plaintiff and Defendant as strained. V3:75. Asked for 10 examples of what she meant by "strained," she instead talked about Plaintiff sending 11 pictures of Evan to Defendant, or working on Father's day projects with Evan. V3:75-
12 76. She testified that Sandra prepares the kids meals. V3:78. She testified that she 13 gambles, "a little bit," on "senior days" and uses Sandra's card so they can get points
14 to use the casino pool and comps for buffets. V3:79-80.

15 31. Judith Tolman testified in Plaintiff's case in chief. V3:86-149. She holds 16 a bachelor's degree and master's degree in social work; she obtained her Bachelor's 17 License of Social Work in 2009, her Master's License of Social Work in 2010 and her 18 Clinical License in 2014. V3:87. Initially she said she has worked as a therapist for 19 five years; however, on cross-examination she said it was more like 4 or 4 ½ years;
20 she works with children, adolescents and adults utilizing cognitive behavioral therapy.
21 V3:87-8; V3:126-27. Ms. Tolman did not testify as an expert witness.

22 a. Ms. Tolman began working with Evan in February 2013 when she was 23 still an intern. V3:89. Evan did not attend therapy for a period of several months
24 between 2013 and 2014 while the parties were getting along. V3:131; Ex. A at 25 DEFT0004, #2. In or around the fall of 2014, Plaintiff placed Evan back into therapy.
26 Ms. Tolman sees Evan every Wednesday except during Defendant's timeshare.
27 V1:75; V3:9; V90. Ms. Tolman sees Plaintiff when she brings Evan to therapy, and 28 Plaintiff sometimes participates in therapy. V3:89-90. It is rare that Plaintiff misses or

1 cancels a session, and when she does will generally ask for a make-up session.
2 V3:132. Defendant occasionally calls her by phone, and she has seen Defendant
3 only once or twice. V3:89-90. Ms. Tolman testified that she only reaches out to 4 Defendant "on occasion" and has only initiated contact with the Defendant in the last 5 year to conduct her annual reviews of Evan and to provide him literature regarding 6 delayed enrollment of children in kindergarten. V3:144. The only people Ms. Tolman
7 has ever talked to about Evan are Evan, the Plaintiff and the Defendant. V3:130.

8 b. Ms. Tolman testified that Oppositional Defiant Disorder (ODD) may 9 present in situations where a child does not want to do something, they may push 10 back or argue, they may yell, or throw themselves on the floor, and sometimes the 11 target is adults or authority figures, or the child may be annoying, irritable, or insist
12 upon getting their way. V3:102. Ms. Tolman testified that indicators of ADHD are not 13 paying close attention to detail, making careless mistakes, difficulty sustaining 14 attention, seeming not to listen, not following instructions, difficulty organizing tasks or 15 materials. V3:134. Ms. Tollman testified that there are two main components of 16 ADHD, there is an inattention component and a hyperactivity/impulsivity component.
17 V3:134, She further testified, to make the diagnosis you need to find six or more 18 criterion of each component and you need to find those in two or more settings.
19 V3:135. Ms. Tollman conceded that everyone in the courtroom has multiple of the 20 attributes that define ADHD, to greater and lesser degrees. V3:135. Ms. Tollman
21 testified that the settings in which she identified Evan as having the requisite number 22 of criterion in each component was by reports from the school, her own office, and 23 Plaintiff's home. V3:135. However, when pressed, she admitted that she did not talk 24 to anyone at the school, and she could not find the report on which she was relying in 25 her records. V3:135-37.

26 c. She was unaware that Evan has never been sent to the school
27 counselor. V3:138. She said that his behavior has been handled in the classroom, 28 but it is unclear how she would know that given she has never talked to anyone at the

1 school. V:138. From memory, she said the school report noted needs for 2 improvement in the areas of talking, distractibility, and staying in his seat, but admitted 3 a number of first graders exhibit such behaviors and do not have a diagnosis of and 4 would not be diagnosed with ADHD. V3:137-38. She admitted the treatment
5 recommendations of the National Institutes of Health and American Academy of 6 Pediatrics for children of Evan's age are medication and cognitive behavioral therapy
7 (CBT), and she has not recommended medication for Evan, only CBT. V3:138. Ms.
8 Tolman admitted that there is a CBT certification, but she does not have one. V3:141.
9 She believes it is possible that a parent can teach their child the same things that she 10 is teaching Evan. V3:145. This was Defendant's point, that he can and believes he 11 does teach Evan many of the same things Ms. Tolman does, but in different ways, 12 namely through having a structured, daily schedule and through extra-curricular 13 activities, many of which Defendant is personally coaching his son, whether formally or 14 informally.

15 d. Ms. Tolman thinks that it would benefit Evan to see her every week
16 because she says, "Evan struggles with meeting the expectations of each parent.
17 They have different expectations." V3:91. Ms. Tolman, was asked about the 18 behavioral expectations in Sandra's home and she talked about "traditional family 19 values" existing in Plaintiff's household. V3:91-92 However, she could not say what 20 the behavioral expectations were in Defendant's household. V3:92,146. And, Ms.
21 Tolman admitted that she does not have any direct knowledge of what goes on in Mr.
22 Ferraro's household. Moreover, the parties' testimony did not reflect that they have 23 different expectations of Evan or that Evan was not, in fact, meeting their 24 expectations. Again the testimony from every witness, was that Evan was well-25 behaved, respectful, excelling in school, and no one testified to any serious problems,
26 except Ms. Tolman. In deed, Plaintiff did not even say that Evan was behaving in a
27 way that was consistent with the behaviors of ADHD/ODD.

28 e. Ms. Tolman was asked if she has made suggestions to both parents as

1 to how they can address symptoms of ADHD in the home, but she did not answer the 2 question, she only talked about how she understands Plaintiff addresses Evan's
3 behaviors in her home. V3:116.

4 f. Ms. Tolman testified that the behavior Evan was exhibiting when Evan 5 began treatment with her was "chewing on a blanket, obviously it was a few years ago, 6 a blanket or the neck of his shirt, his sleeve that kind of thing" and "he would kind of 7 shut down sometimes because of anxiety." V3:100. However, several witnesses who 8 have known Evan all or most of his life – Defendant, his brother, and Ms. Doyle – and 9 witnesses who have known Evan since 2014 – Mr. Pannacciulli and Principal 10 Hungerford – all testified that they never observed or did not recall Evan doing this 11 kind of thing during Chris's timeshare or at school. And, no one testified that Evan 12 was shutting down or that Evan was anything other than an engaged and engaging 13 little boy; "outgoing" is how Ms. Doyle described him (she has known him since he was 14 about 3 or 4 years old) and his uncle described him as a "leader." Ms. Tolman stated
15 her recent evaluation put Evan's anxiety diagnosis in remission. V3:101.

16 g. Ms. Tolman testified that she has also diagnosed Evan with Oppositional
17 Defiant Disorder (ODD) and Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD) combined 18 presentation. V3:101. She testified that ODD cannot be "cured," that it is organic and 19 is caused by personality traits and a reaction to situations the child is in, but it can 20 improve with age. V3:101-02. She testified that ADHD presents in situations that 21 cause the symptoms. V3:102. Ms. Tolman testified that Evan symptoms include 22 getting angry, arguing, talking back, not doing what he is asked to and blaming others 23 for his problems, making careless mistakes, sloppy homework or handwriting, not 24 finishing chores or homework, not listening, trouble sustaining attention, or being 25 hyperfocused on something the child is actually interested in. V3:103-05. Defendant 26 testified that Evan does not exhibit these behaviors any more than the thousands of 27 children of Evan's age that he has observed during his coaching career. V1:76-77.
28 Similarly, Defendant's brother, Ms. Doyle, Mr. Pannacciulli, and Principal Hungerford

1 denied that these behaviors exist or that they exist in any greater degree than that of 2 the general population of children who are Evan's age; and they all get opportunity to 3 observe many children of Evan's age. Even Plaintiff's mother – Evan's maternal 4 grandmother – testified Evan is a "very good kid." Plaintiff did not testify much about 5 Evan's behavior.

6 h. Defendant testified that when Evan does misbehave, there is discussion, 7 positive examples are given, there is negotiation, compromise and Evan is given 8 opportunities for problem solving, V1:77-78. Defendant expressed his belief that it is 9 his job as a parent to teach his son these skills, not a therapist and that he believes
10 Plaintiff uses therapy as a substitute for parenting. V1:77.

11 i. Ms. Tolman's direct testimony was critical, perhaps even biased against,
12 Defendant, yet on cross-examination she admitted that she has no direct observation
13 or understanding from Mr. Ferraro of what happens or occurs in Mr. Ferraro's home.
14 V3:143-44, 147. She has never had a discussion with Defendant about the means of 15 discipline in his home. V3:149. She was not aware that Defendant uses a reward
16 system with Evan. V3:144. She was not aware that Defendant's method of discipline
17 is to discuss Evan's behaviors with him and give him choices. V3:144-45. Ms.
18 Tolman was asked if she would be surprised to learn that the symptoms she described 19 in Evan are not observed during Defendant's timeshare in a degree that is beyond that 20 of hundreds of children that Defendant coaches every year. V3:145. To that question
21 Ms. Tolman answered, "I don't know how he measures that so I can't judge it."
22 V3:145. But just a few questions earlier she admitted that it is possible that a person 23 who coaches thousands of children per year could develop an average measurement 24 of children's behavior. V3:143-44. The Court agrees that such a person can and will 25 develop such a measurement, and that Defendant and his brother can compare
26 Evan's behavior to those of the other children they coach to conclude that Evan's 27 behaviors are not out of the norm.

28 j. Ms. Tolman testified that Defendant did report to her that Evan exhibits

1 the symptoms of ODD (V3:103), but Ms. Tolman also testified that she is aware that
2 Defendant does not think that Evan qualifies for a mental health diagnosis. V3:102-
3 03. From his testimony it very clear that Defendant thinks the issue is one of degree
4 and on balance all witnesses agree that Evan is a very well behaved and respectful
5 child. Ms. Tolman speculated that there may be ADHD/ODD in the Ferraro household
6 and this may account for their belief that Evan's behavior is 'normal;' however, she 7 admitted that she is unaware as to whether any member of the Ferraro family has ever 8 attended therapy and she has made no direct observations of the Ferraro home.
9 V3:119, 143-44.

10 k. Ms. Tolman evaded giving any concrete benchmarks for the success or 11 failure of her own treatment of Evan or how long he should continue to be in weekly 12 therapy and said that a second opinion would usually only be sought if new behaviors
13 cropped up. V3:139-141. Ms. Tolman testified that she would not second guess her 14 own diagnosis even if the child's school principal had not identified any of the 15 behaviors she described in Evan. V3:143. This concerns the Court. It seems to this 16 Court that if a therapist thinks, as Ms. Tolman clearly does, that the buy-in and 17 participation of both parents is a key to the successful treatment of a child and the 18 therapist has been unable to accomplish that with one of the parents, then it would be 19 in the best interest of her patient to recommend a second opinion from a therapist
20 selected by both parents, but Ms. Tolman testified she has never recommended a 21 neuropsychic exam for Evan or sought a second opinion, nor has she ever considered 22 a differential diagnoses for Evan. V3:128, 133, 139-41.

23 CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

24 1. Nevada has subject matter jurisdiction over the minor child in 25 accordance with the Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction and Enforcement Act, which is 26 codified at Chapter 125A of the Nevada Revised Statutes, and the Court has personal 27 jurisdiction over the parties.

28 2. The court may modify or vacate a child custody order at any time during

1 a child's minority as appears in the child's best interest. (NRS 125C.0045(1)(a-b).)
2 When considering a motion to modify custody, the court must first determine the 3 actual physical custody timeshare that is in effect, regardless of what was stated in the 4 last child custody order. Rivero v. Rivero, 125 Nev. 410, 430, 215 P. 3d 213, 227
5 (2009). Different tests apply to modify custody depending on the current custody
6 arrangement. Joint physical custody may be modified or terminated if it is in the best
7 interest of the child. (NRS 125C.0045(2); see also, Truax v. Truax, 110 Nev. 473, 874
8 P.2d 10 (1994).) Primary physical custody may be modified only when "(1) there has 9 been a substantial change in circumstances affecting the welfare of the child, and (2)
10 the modification would serve the child's best interest." Ellis v. Carucci, 123 Nev. 145, 11 153, 161 P.3d 239, 244 (2007). However, "the child's best interest must be the 12 primary consideration for modifying custody and Rivero's 40-percent guideline shall 13 serve as a tool in determining what custody arrangement is in the child's best interest."
14 Bluestein v. Bluestein, __ Nev. __, 345 P.3d 1044, 1046 (2015) (emphasis added).
15 Since Rivero, Bluestein, and the commencement of this case, the Nevada Legislature
16 enacted NRS 125C.003(1)(a) which states in part that "An award of joint physical 17 custody is presumed not to be in the best interest of the child if . . . The court
18 determines by substantial evidence that a parent is unable to adequately care for a 19 minor child for at least 146 days of the year." If this rule applies in this context, which 20 the Court does not think it does, the Court does not think the issue has ever been that 21 Defendant was unable to care for Evan 146 days per year.

22 3. Here, the parties' post-Rivero parenting plan stated they would share
23 joint legal and joint physical custody of Evan ("Parenting Plan" at 2:4-5, 5:18-21.), 24 which is evidence that the parties themselves believed joint physical custody was in 25 Evan's interest and they did this even though the terms of the parenting plan, 26 arguably, did not give Defendant 146 days of timeshare every year. However, the 27 Rivero Court said, "In calculating the time during which a party has physical custody of 28 the child, the district court should look at the number of days during which a party

1 provided supervision of the child, the child resided with the party, and during which the 2 party made the day-to-day decisions regarding the child. The district court should not 3 focus on, for example, the exact number of hours the child was in the care of the 4 parent" Rivero v. Rivero, 125 Nev. at 225. Therefore, if as Defendant testified
5 at trial, the Court counts every day that Defendant had the child in his care, and not 6 just those days in which Defendant had the child overnight, then Defendant is well
7 over the 40% threshold in every year. Therefore, the Court finds that the parties do, as 8 a matter of law, exercise joint legal custody of Evan.

9 4. Nevertheless, and in an abundance of caution, the Court also finds that 10 the Defendant meets the additional burden under Ellis. Changed circumstances
11 affecting the welfare of the child are shown by: (a) Plaintiff maintaining Evan in weekly
12 therapy when there is very little, if any, evidence that Evan suffers behavioral issues
13 beyond those of an average, active and healthy first grader; (b) Evan is of an age 14 where extracurricular activities and socialization with his peers is important and 15 Plaintiff never fostered this until Defendant filed his motion (the first activity in which 16 she enrolled him was baseball in 2015); she denies him any opportunity to play
17 hockey during her timeshare, which is his father's sport and a sport that Evan loves;
18 (c) now that Evan is in grade school, school quality is important and the specific 19 school district that Evan will attend in New York is better than schools generally in Las 20 Vegas; (d) since the last custody order was entered, Plaintiff has failed to ensure her 21 oldest son graduated high school on time, allowing him to leave regular high school for 22 an on-line home school program, allowing him to do it at 'his own pace', and failing to 23 obtain resources to assist him when, by her own testimony, she believed he was 24 struggling; instead, she gave him an ownership interest in her business before he was 25 even done school; and (e) albeit of lesser importance than things effecting the 26 circumstances of the child, Defendant's circumstances have changed in that since the 27 parenting plan was entered, his second career has solidly established itself and his 28 client base in New York.

1 5. NRS 125C.007 sets forth the relocation factors to be weighed by court,
2 which were previously found in Schwartz v. Schwartz, 107 Nev. 378, 812 P.2d 1268
3 (1991); Jones v. Jones, 110 Nev. 1253, 885 P.2d 563 (1994); and Potter v. Potter,
4 121 Nev. 613, 119 P.3d 1246 (2005). NRS 125C.007(1)(a-c) requires the relocating
5 parent to demonstrate to the court that:

6 a. There exists a sensible, good-faith reason for the move, and the move is 7 not intended to deprive the non-relocating parent of his or her parenting time. Here, 8 the sensible good faith reasons include: allowing Defendant to reestablish his 9 business; reduce travel expenses to dedicate more financial resources to Evan; afford 10 Evan better educational and more extra-curricular opportunities than exist in Nevada, 11 whereas his mother resists sending Evan to better schools when presented the 12 opportunity, resists enrolling Evan in more sport-related activity even when Defendant 13 offers to pay, and she will not allow him to play hockey at all; and the network of 14 connections that Defendant can provide for his son by raising him in New York is a 15 unique and valuable in promoting Evan's long-term best interests.

16 b. The best interests of the child are served by allowing the relocating
17 parent to relocate with the child. Here, as set forth above, education, extra-curricular 18 activities, the guidance of a parent who has some unique skills derived from his 19 coaching career to augment his skills as a parent, and a fairly large and very close 20 family to support father and son, all serve Evan's best interest. Then too, there are 21 the best interest factors under NRS 125C.0035(4). Evan is not yet of sufficient age 22 and capacity to form an intelligent preference as to his physical custody; therefore, this 23 factor is inapplicable. There was not a lot of testimony as to which parent is more 24 likely to allow the child to have frequent associations and a continuing relationship with 25 the noncustodial parent; no one testified that they were deprived of their timeshare;
26 concern was raised over the duration of FaceTime visits but the Court believes that if 27 ordered, Defendant will comply. Although the Court wants to see more summer 28 visitation between Plaintiff and Evan than Defendant initially proposed, the Court is

1 impressed that Defendant is willing to share some of his time with Plaintiff, and waive
2 child support to help her potentially visit Evan in New York at still other times. This 3 may be difficult while Plaintiff's daughter is still in school, but Plaintiff's daughter is with 4 her father on weekends, and they do live with her grandparents; therefore, it seems 5 that there could be opportunities for Plaintiff to visit Evan in New York, and even when 6 her daughter graduates, Evan will still have six years of school remaining. The level of 7 conflict between the parents has moderated in recent years, mostly they have found 8 ways to avoid co-parenting, this is a neutral factor for the Court on relocation. The 9 ability of the parents to cooperate to meet the needs of the child, at present there is 10 just not much interaction, but cooperation is clearly difficult. If the parties were living in 11 the same community, the Court would not impose a primary physical custodian, but it 12 may not be a bad thing that it happens by default. Defendant very clearly wants to 13 provide every opportunity for his son that he can, but Plaintiff resists and oftentimes
14 denies those opportunities. Some testimony was given by Plaintiff on Defendant's
15 health, but it was old and the Court is not concerned for the health of either parent 16 being an issue in meeting Evan's best interests. As to the physical, developmental 17 and emotional needs of the child, the Court finds that both parents have met them to 18 this point, but questions Plaintiff's decision or perceived need to keep Evan in weekly 19 therapy; the Court questions the therapist in not obtaining a second opinion or 20 recommending a therapist with whom both parents felt they could work, and the Court
21 thinks that Defendant's strong commitment to his son and experience coaching
22 thousands of children over the years will serve Evan's needs very well. With respect
23 to the nature of the relationship of the child with each parent, the Court does not doubt 24 that there is a close bond between Evan and both of his parents, and both are 25 committed in their different ways; Plaintiff appears very maternal, while Defendant
26 appears to be both paternal and a mentor. Evan has two half siblings in Plaintiff's 27 household; a brother who is now emancipated and reportedly moving, and a sister
28 who will soon be fourteen and spends weekends with her father. These relationships

1 are important, and they can be maintained through Plaintiff's own visitation and
2 FaceTime. Evan should be permitted to communicate with his sister. The Court
3 understands that the parties made competing allegations of abuse or neglect dating 4 back to 2010, but there was no testimony of abuse or neglect by either parent since 5 the last custody order was entered. Nor has either parent committed any act of 6 abduction against the child or any other child since the last custody order was entered.

7 c. The child and the relocating parent will benefit from an actual advantage
8 as a result of the relocation. For the same reasons as set forth above, the Court finds 9 that there will be an actual advantage to Evan and the Defendant in relocating to New 10 York.

11 6. If a relocating parent demonstrates to the court the factors set forth in 12 NRS 125C.007(1) are met, then pursuant to NRS 125C.007(2)(a-f), the court must 13 weigh the following factors and the impact of each on the child, the relocating parent 14 and the non-relocating parent, including, without limitation, the extent to which the
16 are accommodated:

17 a. The extent to which the relocation is likely to improve the quality of life
18 for the child and the relocating parent. The Court finds that the improvement for both 19 Evan and Defendant will be quite significant. The improvement for Evan will be 20 tempered by the decreased frequency of contact with his maternal family, but it will
23 weekly basis in New York.

24 b. Whether the motives of the relocating parent are honorable and not 25 designed to frustrate or defeat any visitation rights accorded to the non-relocating
26 parent. Defendant's motives are honorable, above all else, New York is and always 27 has been his home, but there are still other motivations reflected elsewhere herein
28 that are also honorable in Defendant's request for relocation.

1 c. Whether the relocating parent will comply with any substitute visitation
2 orders issued by the court if permission to relocate is granted. There was some 3 evidence that Defendant had violated the existing custody order by continuing to take 4 Evan to New York when Evan started kindergarten; however, this was not a
5 deprivation of Plaintiff's timeshare. The Court has no reason to believe that 6 Defendant will not comply with the visitation order.

7 d. Whether the motives of the non-relocating parent are honorable in 8 resisting the petition for permission to relocate or to what extent any opposition to the 9 petition for permission to relocate is intended to secure a financial advantage in the 10 form of ongoing support obligations or otherwise. The Court perceives that Plaintiff's 11 motives in resisting the relocation are likewise honorable. Her identity is as a mother, 12 and as she testified, she does not want that relationship to change.

13 e. Whether there will be a realistic opportunity for the non-relocating parent 14 to maintain a visitation schedule that will adequately foster and preserve the parental 15 relationship between the child and the non-relocating parent if permission to relocate
16 is granted. Here, there is a reasonable alternative visitation schedule as set forth in 17 the order below. The Court was pleased that, in closing argument, Defendant 18 conceded that Plaintiff and Evan needed to have a continuous, uninterrupted period in 19 the summer time. The Court understands Defendant's desire to enroll Evan in
23 putting Evan in said extracurricular activities, she is entitled to exercise the time in the 24 manner in which she pleases. If Evan's extracurricular activities suffer from her 25 choices to deny that involvement, that is a parenting decision she is entitled to make, if 26 she believes it is better for Evan, or for their relationship.

28 parent seeking relocation. (NRS 125C.007(3).) As set forth above, Defendant met

1 that burden.

2 ORDER

3 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that the Parties shall continue to share joint legal 4 custody of Evan Daniel Ferraro, born September 30, 2008. Legal custody involves 5 having basic legal responsibility for the child and making major decisions concerning
6 the child such as their health, education, and religious upbringing. Legal custody
7 includes but is not necessarily limited to those items enumerated in the legal custody
8 provisions of the parties' Stipulation and Order Re: Parenting Plan filed November 30, 9 2012.

10 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Defendant's request for primary physical 11 custody of the minor child is GRANTED.

12 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Defendant's request to relocate to New York
13 with the minor child is GRANTED.

15 follows:

16 Winter Break: In ODD years, Mom shall have Evan upon release from school
17 prior to the break until December 30th (Evan returns to New York on 12/30 in ODD 18 years). In EVEN years, Mom shall have Evan from December 26 to the day before 19 school resumes.

20 February Break: This period will begin upon the release of school prior to the 21 break and continue until the day before school resumes following the break. Mom
22 shall have Evan in even years and Dad shall have Evan in odd years. In odd years
23 when Evan is with Dad, if Evan is participating in a sports camp or tournament, Mom
24 may attend at Mom's expense.

25 April Break: This period will begin upon the release of school prior to the 26 break and continue until the day before school resumes following the break. Mom
27 shall have Evan every year.

28 Memorial Day Weekend: This period will begin upon release of school prior to

1 the break and continue until the day before school resumes following the break. Mom
2 shall have Evan in even years and Dad shall have Evan in odd years. However,
3 during even years, if permission is granted from Evan's school and there is no 4 substantial interference with school or extracurricular activities, then in order to 5 facilitate additional visitation with Mom, Evan shall be permitted to miss the Friday
6 before and the Tuesday after Memorial Day.

7 Summer Break: Mom shall have Evan from one week following Evan's
8 release from school through one week prior to Evan's return to school.

9 Columbus Day Weekend (October): This period will begin upon the release
10 of school prior to the break and continue until the day before school resumes following 11 the break. Mom shall have Evan for Columbus Day Weekend every year. If 12 permission is granted from Evan's school and there is no substantial interference with 13 extracurricular activities, then in order to facilitate additional visitation, Evan shall be 14 permitted to miss the Friday before and the Tuesday after Columbus Day.

15 Thanksgiving: This period will begin upon the release of school prior to the 16 break and continue until the day before school resumes following the break. Mom
17 shall have Evan in even years and Dad shall have Evan in odd years. If permission is 18 granted from Evan's school and there is no substantial interference with 19 extracurricular activities, then in order to facilitate additional visitation, Evan shall be 20 permitted to miss school Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday before Thanksgiving.

21 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Defendant shall pay all costs of transportation
22 for the foregoing visits. Plaintiff shall fly to New York to pick up Evan for her visits (but 23 Defendant will pay Plaintiff's airfare); and Defendant shall fly to Las Vegas to retrieve
24 Evan.

25 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Plaintiff may have additional visits with Evan in 26 New York at Plaintiff's own expense provided that Plaintiff gives Defendant two weeks'
27 advance notice and the visit does not interfere with any significant and/or important
28 events (i.e., once in a lifetime events, pre-arranged and non-refundable trips). If said

1 visit cannot be conducted within the period noticed by Plaintiff, an alternate visitation
2 shall take place on the next date chosen or designated by Plaintiff regardless of any 3 significant events. During such visits, Plaintiff is responsible to get Evan to and from 4 school and extracurricular activities. Such visits shall not be unreasonably denied due
5 to "preplanned Ferraro-family events," as such events are likely to be conducted 6 regularly.

7 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that each Party shall have unlimited telephone, 8 text, or FaceTime/Skype contact during their non-custodial time, with the 9 understanding that contact shall not unduly intrude on the other party's custodial time.
10 More specifically, the parents shall have communication with the child four days per 11 week, on a schedule to be determined and set in writing each quarter or semester
12 based on Evan's school and extra-curricular activity schedule. The parents will assure 13 that Evan is in a private location, free of distractions. The scheduled calls will be 14 planned for at least thirty minutes duration so that Evan can communicate with his 15 extended family members as well.

16 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, pursuant to Defendant's waiver of child support 17 from Plaintiff, the relative income of the parents, and Defendant's resources being 18 sufficient to meet the needs of the child, that Plaintiff shall pay no child support.

19 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Defendant shall provide health insurance for 20 the minor child and Defendant shall pay 100% of the premium for such health 21 insurance. The parties shall share all of out-of-pocket costs equally pursuant to the 22 30/30 rule, i.e., any unreimbursed medical, dental, optical, orthodontic or other health 23 related expense incurred for the benefit of the minor child is to be divided equally 24 between the parties. Either party incurring an out of pocket medical expenses for the 25 child shall provide a copy of the paid invoice/receipt to the other party within thirty days
26 of incurring such expenses, if not tendered with the thirty day period, the Court may 27 consider it as a waiver of reimbursement. The other party will then have thirty days 28 from receipt within which to dispute the expense in writing or reimburse the incurring

1 party for one-half of the out of pocket expense, if not disputed or paid within the thirty 2 day period the party may be subject to a finding of contempt and appropriate 3 sanctions.

4 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that each party shall bear their own attorney's fees
5 and costs.

6 This Court FINDS that because of the manner in which this case proceeded
7 and concluded on September 27, 2016 with post-trial motions, the child ended up
8 commencing school in Las Vegas for the 2016-2017 school year. While this Court
9 believes it is in the child's long term best interests to be in Defendant's primary care, it
10 does not believe that the disruption to the child's school at this juncture is in his best
11 interests. In this regard, the COURT ORDERS the parties should continue to follow
12 their current schedule, and commence their custodial plan as of one week after school
13 lets out, which means that Plaintiff will have the summer from one week after school 14 lets out until one week before school begins in New York. Defendant will have to notify 15 Plaintiff of the dates for when the child needs to be present in New York for his first 16 day of attendance or orientation, as the case may be.

17 NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the parties shall be required to submit the 18 information required to NRS 125B.055, NRS 125.130 and NRS 125.230 on a separate
19 form to the Court and to the Welfare Division of the Department of Human Resources 20 within ten (10) days of entry of the decree and within ten (10) days of any change in 21 the original form should any of that information change.

22 NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN of the following provision of NRS 125C.0045(6):

25 ORDER IS PUNISHABLE AS A CATEGORY D FELONY AS PROVIDED
26 IN NRS 193.130. NRS 200.359 provides that every person having a limited 27 right of custody to a child or any parent having no right of custody to the 28 child who willfully detains, conceals or removes the child from a parent, guardian or other person having lawful custody or a right of visitation of the child in violation of an order of this court, or removes the child from the jurisdiction of the court without the consent of either the court or all persons who have the right to custody or visitation is subject to being punished for
a category D felony as provided in NRS 193.130.

1 NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the terms of the Hague Convention of 2 October 25, 1980, adopted by the 14th Session of the Hague Conference on Private 3 International Law apply if a parent abducts or wrongfully retains a child in a foreign 4 country. The Parties are also put on notice of the following provisions in NRS
5 125C.0045(8):

6 If a parent of the child lives in a foreign country or has significant 7 commitments in a foreign country:

8 (a) The Parties may agree, and the court shall include in the order for 9 custody of the child, that the United States is the country of habitual 10 residence of the child for the purposes of applying the terms of the Hague
11 Convention as set forth in subsection 7.

12 (b) Upon motion of one of the Parties, the court may order the parent to 13 post a bond if the court determines that the parent poses an imminent risk 14 of wrongfully removing or concealing the child outside the country of 15 habitual residence. The bond must be in an amount determined by the 16 court and may be used only to pay for the cost of locating the child and 17 returning him to his habitual residence if the child is wrongfully removed 18 from or concealed outside the country of habitual residence. The fact that 19 a parent has significant commitments in a foreign country does not create 20 a presumption that the parent poses an imminent risk of wrongfully
21 removing or concealing the child.

23 NRS 125C.0065:

24 The parties, and each of them, are hereby placed on notice that if primary 25 physical custody has been established pursuant to an order, judgment or 26 decree of a court or if joint physical custody has been established pursuant 27 to an order, judgment or decree of a court and the primary custodian or a 28 joint custodian intends to relocate his or her residence to a place outside 29 of this State or to a place within this State that is at such a distance that 30 would substantially impair the ability of the other parent to maintain a 31 meaningful relationship with the child and desires to take the child with him 32 or her, the relocating parent shall, before relocating: (a) attempt to obtain 33 the written consent of the non-relocating parent to relocate with the child; 34 and (b) if the non-relocating parent refuses to give that consent, petition the 35 court for permission to relocate with the child. The court may award
36 reasonable attorney's fees and costs to the relocating parent if the court
37 finds that the non-relocating parent refused to consent to the relocation 38 without having reasonable grounds for such refusal or for the purpose of 39 harassing the relocating parent. A parent who relocates with a child 40 pursuant to this section without the written consent of the other parent or 41 the permission of the court is subject to the provisions of NRS 200.359.

42 NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Parties are subject to the provisions of NRS
43 31A.010 et seq. and NRS 125.450 regarding the collection of delinquent child support

1 payments by wage withholding and assignment.

2 NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that either Party may request a review of child
3 support pursuant to NRS 125B.145, presently every three years or upon changed
4 circumstances.

5 IT IS SO ORDERED this 26th day of January, 2017.

10 Respectfully Submitted By

DEPARTMENT F

1 This Court hereby GRANTS the Defendant's Motion for Primary Custody and 2 for Relocation to New York; after careful consideration of the evidence, this Court
3 FINDS it appropriate to enter Defendant's FINDINGS OF FACT, CONCLUSIONS OF 4 LAW, AND ORDER, subject to the modifications, additional findings, and deletions set
5 forth in its minute order of January 5, 2017. The Court also considered, the Objections
6 to Closing Briefs, and Motions to Strike, and will set forth herein below, the rulings on 7 each party's requests.

8 In regards to Plaintiff's Objections to Defendant's Closing Brief, the COURT ORDERS
9 AS FOLLOWS:

10 For purposes of this decision the Court will number the objections as set forth in 11 the table of objections provided:

13 2. Objection - sustained

14 3. Objection - sustained

15 4. Objection - sustained

16 5. Objection - sustained as to the representation of multiple schools but the 17 Court notes there was resistance by mother to Plaintiff's request to send the child to 18 private school, at least twice.

19 6. Objection - sustained

20 7. Overruled

22 ORDERS AS FOLLOWS: Overruled.

23 In regards to Plaintiff's Motion to Strike Portions of Defendant's Objections, the 24 COURT ORDERS AS FOLLOWS: GRANTED as set forth in Plaintiff's Exhibit to 25 Motion to Strike; the Court having considered the Plaintiff's request for attorney's fees
26 for having to file the Motion to Strike, and to appear at the hearing on the matter, and
28 Bank, 85 Nev. 345 (1969) and Miller v. Wilfong, 121 Nev. 619 (2005), FINDS the

1 following attorney's fees award is reasonable and was necessary to address said
2 issue with the Court. The Court hereby awards the sum of $2,500 to Plaintiff's counsel
3 for having to file the Motion to Strike Portions of Defendant's Objections.

4 In regards to the Motion to Reopen Trial or in Alternative to Hear Limited
5 Testimony of Desmond Nance and Opposition thereto with Request for Attorney's 6 fees, this Court having considered the Plaintiff's request for attorney's fees for having 7 to file the Motion to Strike, and to appear at the hearing on the matter, and having 8 considered the factors set forth in Brunzell v. Golden State, and Miller v. Wilfong, 9 FINDS the following attorney's fees award is reasonable and was necessary to 10 address said issue with the Court. The Court hereby awards the sum of $2,500 to 11 Plaintiff for having to respond to the original motion, and to file the Motion to Strike the 12 Notice as it pertained to Desmond Nance. Although this Court did not grant the 13 Motion to Strike, this Court FINDS that the entire issue was precipitated by the request
14 to reopen filed by Defendant and the representations made to this Court that the 15 information was pertinent to the outcome of this case, to such an extent that he sought
16 for the court to reopen the trial to allow for additional evidence. Based upon said
17 representations of Defendant, this Court permitted him to proceed with obtaining said 18 evidence which unnecessarily multiplied the proceedings, only to result in no evidence
20 sum of $2,500 to Plaintiff's counsel.

21 Said $5,000 is hereby reduced to judgment, and collectible by any lawful 22 means. Collection is hereby stayed for a period of 120 days, to allow Defendant the 23 opportunity to pay the amount in full before said date, or establish an acceptable
24 payment plan with Plaintiff's counsel.

25 FINDINGS OF FACT

26 1. For six months prior to Defendant filing his motion for relocation on June
27 19, 2015, the minor child Evan Daniel Ferraro, born September 30, 2008 (now 7 28 years, 10 months) was a resident of the State of Nevada.

1 2. Defendant is a resident of Sound Beach, New York. V1:22:12-13. He 2 has lived there, in the same home where he grew up, for forty-three years with the 3 exception of times that he lived in other communities to attend school and play
4 hockey. V1:22, 27. Defendant attended university for about 1 ½ years, but left to play
5 hockey for the 1994 US Olympic hockey team and then professionally in the National 6 Hockey League. V1:22, 27. He has no plans to move from his current residence.
7 V1:22. He lives with his mother and twin brother. The residence is owned by 8 Defendant's mother. It is a 3,000 square foot ranch house with four bedrooms, three 9 bathrooms, on two acres of land with a fenced yard and in-ground pool. If his son is 10 relocated, then Defendant plans to install a sport court in the backyard. Evan has his 11 own bedroom. The neighborhood consists entirely of single family homes. V1:22-23.

12 3. Based on Defendant's testimony and Defendant's Exhibit G2 (flight 13 records), Evan has spent significant time at the Ferraro family home in New York.
14 From 2012 through 2014, he was there for Defendant's timeshare every month or 15 nearly every month, and he continued to visit routinely in 2015 and 2016. V1:23-26,
16 Ex. G2 at DEFT0358-0368. Defendant testified that while in New York, and in addition 17 to Evan's uncle and grandmother with whom Defendant resides, Evan routinely sees 18 his aunt and her husband, another uncle, Evan's own friends and other extended 19 family. V1:26, 44. Most of the family live and/or work within about five miles of 20 Defendant's home. V1:44-45. Evan sees his grandfather, aunt, uncle and cousins
21 several times per week, and some of them daily. V1:45-47. The Ferraros get together 22 for dinner, family functions, for Evan's extracurricular activities, birthdays and 23 barbeques. V1:47.

24 4. Defendant testified that Evan is bright, talented, special, gifted, "he is 25 my life." V1:48. During this testimony the Court observed the Defendant become 26 extremely emotional and have a hard time holding back tears. Defendant testified that 27 Evan is a straight A student, that he has a great personality, he is gifted with other 28 children, he is popular, a leader, children migrate to him and he is a great little athlete.

1 V1:48.

2 5. Defendant testified that Evan has a lot of friends from hockey and some 3 very good friends in New York, in particular Tommy and Neil Doyle, who Evan has 4 known since he was a baby, and Leila Pannacculli who Evan has known for three 5 years. V1:49. Over the recent break, Defendant put together a hockey tournament in 6 Connecticut with fifteen other children, and in July they will go to a hockey camp in 7 Minnesota, where the Doyle boys will be too. Id. When in New York, the kids all play 8 hockey together as well as have play dates, swimming, visiting the beach and going to 9 movies.

10 6. Defendant testified that Evan's time with him is very structured, and he 11 creates additional math, reading, writing and drawing assignments for Evan, even 12 when not in school, then there are a variety of extracurricular activities and sports to fill
13 out his day, including baseball, soccer, rollerblading, swimming, running, and mixed
14 martial arts training. V1:50-51. Defendant testified that on a typical school day, they 15 will go to the park before school if time allows; Defendant takes Evan to school and 16 Evan rides his scooter up to the school; Defendant returns at lunch time to volunteer 17 in the lunchroom and at recess; and after school, homework generally comes first and 18 then they do extracurricular activities. V1:74-75.

19 7. Defendant's exhibit J was admitted. V1:79-80. Defendant testified that 20 these are weekly progress reports from the last school year. V1:79. Two of three 21 progress reports were from a week that Evan was with Plaintiff, and those reports
22 show that during Defendant's timeshare, Evan stayed on task and followed direction,
23 whereas he did not do those things during Plaintiff's timeshare, and the teacher 24 commented during Defendant's timeshare that Evan was "much better this week with 25 talking/giggling." Ex. J.

26 8. Defendant's exhibit B was admitted. V1:80-82. Exhibit B1 and 2 are
28 baseball and enjoying the level of activity in which he is engaged with his Dad.

1 9. Defendant's exhibit G was admitted. V1:83-85. Mr. Ferraro testified that 2 he created spreadsheets of his timeshare with Evan from 2013 to 2015 from his 3 personal calendars and flight records; however, he testified that the day-count on the 4 spreadsheet does not include every day of the timeshare, and if it did, then one day 5 would be added to each timeshare (twelve days to each year), giving him 155 days in 6 2013, 166 days in 2014 and 150 days in 2015. V1:83-87; see also Ex. G1. Defendant
7 testified that during timeshares commencing when Evan was in school, pick up was 8 from school at 3:21 p.m. and return was to school in the morning. When school is not 9 in session, he typically picks Evan up in the morning when his timeshare begins and 10 returns him in the after or evening that his timeshare ends. See e.g., Ex. A at 11 DEFT0211.

12 10. Defendant testified that if relocated to New York, then Evan would attend 13 the Rocky Point School District and all of the schools of that district are within two to 14 five miles of his home. V1:54-55. Defendant testified that he would personally take 15 Evan to and from school. V1:55. Defendant researched the school system to satisfy 16 himself that this was a good place for his son to go to school, he personally spoke to 17 the school principal and obtained a variety of information from her and he did internet
18 research on web sites for the New York State System of Education and the Annie E.
19 Casey Foundation. V1:55-59. The Court admitted Defendant's Exhibit F2 (V1:58-20 61), the New York State Education records, which state very low turn over rates for 21 teachers, that more than 80% of teachers in the elementary and middle schools have 22 master's degrees or doctorates, and average class sizes are 23-24 students.
23 Highschool graduation rates for male students in 2014 was 97%. Defendant's
24 statements regarding widespread knowledge of the deficiencies of Nevada schools 25 were objected to, but the unfortunate reality is that this is true and widely known in the 26 community and the Court can take judicial notice of the fact. The evidence supports 27 that Evan would be enrolling in a high-quality school district in New York.

28 11. Defendant testified as to the reasons he wants to relocate Evan to New

1 York, he said, "It's my home. It's my community. It's where I live. It's his friends. The 2 community relationships that I have as a hockey player and my family business for 3 almost 50 years and these community connections I will pass on to Evan. The school 4 systems, financial resources, to save on financial resources for my travels back and 5 forth to Las Vegas. I'd like to dedicate those resources solely to Evan and his future."
6 V1:64.

7 12. Defendant testified that relocation would improve Evan's life for mostly 8 the same reasons, it is the Defendant's home, and Evan "has tremendous 9 relationships there, friendships, he's got a stable home there in New York, he's got 10 stable friends, the school systems. My availability to Evan, I have a very flexible
11 schedule that I am with Evan virtually at all times, and community relationships that I 12 will pass along to Evan for his overall benefit and development." V1:69.

13 13. Defendant testified the relocation would benefit him personally by 14 allowing him to get back to work right away, earn a salary, and be able to dedicate
15 resources directly for Evan's benefit. Also Defendant's own parents are aging, and he 16 would like to be able to share his own life and Evan's with them. Defendant testified
17 his own mother is 70 and has some health issues. His father is 68 and healthy.
18 V1:70. Defendant testified that Ferraro Brothers Hockey is based in New York and 19 that is where the client base is, and he does not have the same kinds of relationships
20 in Las Vegas as he does in New York. V1:70.

21 14. Defendant testified that Plaintiff denies Evan opportunities to participate 22 in extracurricular activities and private school. V1:67. Defendant testified that he has 23 offered to pay for private school and a variety of extracurricular activities for Evan,
24 including hockey, soccer, and MMA, but that Plaintiff will not participate in these with
26 extracurricular activities are important because one learns "life skills," including:
27 "respect, preparation, dedication, commitment, working with others, taking instruction 28 from coaches, highs, lows, failures, rewards, successes, all of these are critical to life

1 and career. In fact, athletes are proven better students . . . and they are more prone
2 to stay away from drugs and alcohol and live a more focused, dedicated life." V1:67-3 68.

4 15. Defendant proposed a visitation schedule whereby they would alternate 5 and split the winter break, alternate Thanksgiving and the February, April and 6 Memorial day breaks, but in Defendant's years to have Evan during February and 7 April, he would invite Plaintiff to attend any sport camps or tournaments in which Evan
8 was participating. Plaintiff would also have Columbus weekend, every year and if no 9 interference with school or extracurricular activities, on the Memorial Day and 10 Columbus weekends, Evan could leave New York on Thursday and return on Tuesday
11 to create a full four day weekend with Plaintiff. Finally Defendant proposed that 12 summer be divided into three, three week intervals with Plaintiff having the first and 13 last intervals and Defendant having the middle interval. Defendant explained the 14 reason for the split being to allow Evan to participate in hockey camps, clinics and like 15 sports activities. Additionally, at Plaintiff's option, Defendant would help facilitate an
17 for the Plaintiff's Christmas, February, April, Memorial Day, Summer, Columbus, and 18 Thanksgiving visits. Plaintiff would be responsible to pay costs of any additional visits,
19 but Defendant will waive child support to help her be able to do this. V1:71-74.

20 16. On co-parenting, Defendant testified that the parties had 'many 21 challenges from the start, but believes they were helped by parenting coordinator, 22 Margaret Pickard, and their current, respective counsel. Defendant testified that he 23 sees a pattern whereby he proposes something for Evan, Plaintiff says 'no,' he 24 attempts to persuade her by enumerating the benefits for Evan, and Plaintiff asks 25 Defendant to stop harassing her. V1:68. The emails produced and admitted in 26 Defendant's Exhibit A, tend to support Defendant's testimony. See e.g, Ex. A at 27 DEFT0138-42. 173-74, 198.

28 17. A co-parenting dispute arose when Evan was first eligible to start

1 kindergarten. V1:88-94. Evan's birthday falls on the kindergarten enrollment cut-off
2 date, which made him eligible to start kindergarten when he was four. Defendant
3 wanted to hold Evan back to the following year; Plaintiff did not want to hold him back.
4 V1:92-93. Defendant testified that he consulted teachers in Las Vegas and New York,
5 Margaret Pickard, who apparently had a son in a similar situation, and Judith Tolman,
6 and his conclusion was that Evan would benefit from another year of development,
7 maturity wise. V1:90. Defendant's Exhibit K, was admitted. V1:88, 93-94. It is a text
8 message from Judith Tolman to Defendant with a link to an article explaining that
10 children. V1:88-89.

11 18. Plaintiff testified that Nevada is Evan's home, but it is clear to the Court
12 that Evan has two homes.

13 19. With respect to his employment, Defendant testified that the partnership 14 group in which he was a 7.5% minority owner and for which he was working, filed 15 bankruptcy in September 2015. He was not responsible for financial management of 16 the partnership nor did he set his own salary. V1:28-29. He has not worked since the 17 bankruptcy was filed, but plans to reestablish Ferraro Brothers Hockey, an academy
18 that trains players from age six to NHL-level players. V1:28, 30. Defendant's brother 19 testified that Ferraro Brother's Hockey was in existence for eight years before they 20 began working with the bankrupt partnership. V1:232-233. Defendant and his brother
21 primarily work with players age 5 or 6 to 12. V1:30, 233. Historically, Ferraro Brothers
22 Hockey trains thousands of players annually and has a database of between 4,000
23 and 5,000 players. V1:31, 233.

24 20. During his unemployment, Defendant has relied on income from the NHL
25 Emergency Fund ($2,500 per month); a family real estate investment ($2,500 per 26 month); and repayment of a family loan ($2,500) per month. V1:31-33. Defendant is 27 uncertain what his future income with Ferraro Brother's Hockey will be; he thinks it 28 unlikely that he will earn as much as he did with Twin Rinks, but he also as the

1 opportunity to do as few or as many alumni events with the New York Rangers as he
2 chooses to earn additional income. He will also continue to receive payments from his
3 real estate investment from repayment of the family loan. V1:33-34. Defendant's 4 brother confirmed he would afford him such flexibility.

5 21. Defendant testified that he can create a work schedule around Evan
6 because he runs Ferraro Brothers Hockey with his twin brother who will run programs
7 while Defendant is attending to Evan. V1:34.

8 22. Defendant testified – consistent with his Financial Disclosure Form filed 9 January 11, 2016 – that his average monthly expenses to exercise his timeshare with 10 Evan are $6,233.33. (V1:35, 36, 43.) Defendant covers the deficit between his 11 income and expenses from money earned from Twin Rinks and those funds are being 12 depleted. V1:43-44.

13 23. Defendant testified that Evan missed two days of school during the first 14 grade during his timeshare, one-half day for an eye appointment set by Plaintiff, one-
15 half day to travel to Los Angeles for his uncle's birthday party, and one full day to 16 travel to New York for his cousin's sweet 16 party. Defendant testified that Plaintiff
17 was aware that Evan was missing school on these days for these reasons. V1:29.

18 24. Daniel Hungerford testified in Defendant's case in chief. V1:95-28. Mr.
19 Hungerford was Evan's school principal for kindergarten and first grade, and he 20 testified that Evan has never had any behavioral issues, has never been referred to 21 the school counselor or his office, and that Evan is "a good guy," "he behaves well at 22 school and attends in class," "behaviorally, academically, he's a model student."
23 V1:99-101. Principal Hungerford testified that he sees the children in his school daily 24 coming to and from school, in the hallways and in the classrooms; and before his 25 deposition, he also talked to a number of individuals at the school about Evan,
26 including Evan's teacher and the school counselor, and he reviewed Evan's school 27 records; there were no concerns about Evan, socially, academically, and in fact he 28 was doing very well with both. V1:98,111-14. Principal Hungerford could not recall

1 either parent coming to him with concerns about Evan's behavior or academic 2 performance at school, only the situation with the parents and the living situation.
3 V1:101-102. Principal Hungerford testified that he never had any concerns about 4 Evan advancing to the first grade, he never saw Evan engage in any unusual behavior
5 or chew his clothing, but he commented that that is not uncommon for elementary
6 school kids to chew things. V1:103. Principal Hungerford testified that he sees Mr.
7 Ferraro volunteering at the school "much more frequently than Ms. Nance." V1:125.

8 25. Peter Pannacciulli testified in Defendant's case in chief. V1:203-218.
9 Mr. Pannacciulli lives in New York; his nine year old daughter, Lila, was coached by 10 Defendant beginning in or about the Spring of 2014; around that time frame, Lila and 11 Evan met 'on the ice;' thereafter, Mr. Pannacciulli and the Defendant became friends.
12 Mr. Pannacciulli testified that Defendant is an excellent youth hockey coach, that the 13 kids connect with him, they react to what he says, whether good or bad, without 14 prejudice. Mr. Pannacciulli testified that he sees Defendant and Evan outside of 15 hockey every time Evan is in New York, usually multiple times, that they have play 16 dates and go to each other's houses. Mr. Pannacciulli described Evan's behavior as 17 "normal," and elaborated that he is respectful, he listens, he is a polite, well-mannered
18 kid. Mr. Pannacciulli testified that in addition to his own daughter, he spends time 19 around his sisters' children, there are five of them from ages 4 to 18, and he has not 20 observed Evan to be any more or less argumentative than these children; he has 21 never observed Evan to blame others for his behavior or refuse to do things he is 22 asked; he has never seen Evan bite his nails or chew his clothing. Mr. Pannacciulli
23 testified that Defendant does not talk about the Plaintiff nor has he seen Defendant do
24 anything to impede Evan's relationship with Plaintiff, on the contrary, he has observed
25 Defendant making sure that Evan contacts his mother.

26 26. Laura Bell-Doyle testified in Defendant's case in chief. V1:219-230. She 27 testified that she lives in New York, that she and her fiancée have two boys together –
28 Thomas age 10 and Neil age 6 – and their family are friends with Defendant and

1 Evan. The Doyles met Defendant about six years ago when Thomas started doing
2 hockey clinics with Defendant, and they met Evan when he was just about three or 3 four years old. When Evan is in New York, the families see each other almost daily, 4 doing a variety of activities, and both of her boys are friends with Evan; her youngest 5 calls Evan his "best friend." She testified that Thomas coached with Defendant for 6 about six years; during that time, she has had the opportunity to observe him as a
7 coach and her impression is that "he is all about the kids" and he, "Teaches my son 8 everything about hockey and respect and treats the kids as adults on the ice." She 9 testified that Evan is a very fun, loving child, respectful to all of her family members
10 and is outgoing. In addition to her own children, she sees others kids at their hockey
11 practices and at school functions, and in comparison to those other children, Ms.
12 Doyle does not find Evan to be any more or less distracted than other children, he 13 does not blame other people for his behavior or defy requests and he listens to her
14 very well; she has never seen him bite his nails or chew his clothing. If Defendant
15 resumes coaching in New York, her boys will resume coaching with him.

17 Ferraro is Defendant's twin brother, and their careers followed very similar trajectories.
18 V1:232, 243. Mr. Ferraro also played on the 1994 U.S. Olympic Hockey Team and 19 then went on to play professional hockey. V1:232. Mr. Ferraro testified that Ferraro
20 Brothers Hockey was in existence for about eight years before they joined the 21 complex that filed bankruptcy last year, and they train thousands of players annually,
22 aged 5 to 65, but their primary players are age 6 to 12. V1:232-233. Mr. Ferraro
23 testified that he is around for about 95% of Defendant's timeshare with Evan, and 24 describes himself as a "very committed uncle." V1:234. He describes Evan as "a very 25 charismatic, special boy. He has got a big heart, very confident, filled with a lot of 26 leadership. He just impresses me every day." V1:234. Mr. Ferraro testified that Evan
28 misbehavior, which he says is "very minimal." V1:234-35. Mr. Ferraro's testimony

1 regarding family discipline of Evan tracked closely with Defendant's, and he testified it
2 is the same way they were raised. V1:236-37. Mr. Ferraro described the last
3 occasion during which he spent any substantial time with the Plaintiff, it was in New 4 York in 2014, Defendant had invited Sandra to visit with her other two children as well;
5 Mr. Ferraro said she was welcomed by the family and everyone was quite happy.
6 V1:237-38. Mr. Ferraro described another occasion when Plaintiff's older son visited 7 New York with Evan, and that he was "extremely happy, extremely confident, loves
8 New York . . . He seems like he is one of us when he is there with us. We get along 9 with him great." Mr. Ferraro testified that he saw Desmond just a few months before
10 the trial at Evan's school, he described that Desmond approached him with a big smile
11 and asked him how he was doing. V1:283. Desmond was actually wearing a Ferraro
12 Brother's t-shirt and they had a 'great' conversation. V1:238. Mr. Ferraro described
13 Defendant as an "all hands on" dad, great, committed, loving. V1:241. Mr. Ferraro's 14 testimony affirmed that Defendant has a great deal of flexibility in his schedule to be 15 present for Evan, and that the whole family supports him in that. V1:241.

17 of Las Vegas. V2:92-93.

18 a. Plaintiff testified there were problems with the visitation schedule, 19 namely that when he started kindergarten he was not to travel to New York with 20 Defendant, but she said he traveled most of the school year. V2:97-98. Emails
21 between the parties and their parenting coordinator admitted with Defendant's exhibit
22 A, at DEFT0001-47, show that Defendant was trying to balance the competing
23 interests between Evan's home, family and activities in New York with Kindergarten, 24 and that he was taking measures to ensure that Evan would not fall behind in school
25 and in fact Evan never did fall behind in school and the principal had no concerns with 26 Evan's absences during Kindergarten.

27 b. Plaintiff said Defendant does not always tell her where he is traveling,
28 but emails produced in Defendant's Exhibit A, suggest he typically does. V2:101-02.

1 c. Plaintiff testified her concern about Evan's possible relocation is that she 2 will not have the same relationship she has now with him, and he will not have a
3 relationship with his maternal grandparents or siblings. V2:102 Evan has a brother
4 who is moving and a sister who is about to turn 14. V2:102; V:145.

5 d. Plaintiff believes that she does things to foster Evan's relationship with 6 Defendant but that it is not reciprocated. She feels that Defendant is always "one-
7 upping" her. By way of example she said that Evan returns with shoes or games or 8 sports gear from his timeshare with Chris. V2:108. However, there is a provision in 9 the parenting plan (1.12) that says the parents will allow Evan to take his belongings
10 freely between households. It is not entirely clear, but it appears that Plaintiff tells 11 Evan to "Keep them in a bag until you go back with your dad." V2:108. The Court can 12 see how this could cause a problem, but it does not appear to be created by the 13 Defendant. Another example Plaintiff gave was that of the "Tooth Fairy." V2:108-09.
14 On cross-examination, it came out that Plaintiff had complained to the parenting
15 coordinator about this situation and received an email explanation that the "Tooth 16 Fairy" gave Evan $115; Evan was allowed to keep $15, but had to give the $100 bill to 17 his grandmother for his college fund. V3:29-31. The Court understands Plaintiff's 18 frustration, but Plaintiff did not acknowledge in her testimony that the specific 19 circumstances were already explained to her, that Evan was not actually getting the 20 large sums of money. The fact that Mrs. Ferraro is saving for her grandson's college 21 education is a laudable goal to be supported. There is no evidence to suggest the 22 tooth fairy gifts of any amounts Defendant provides to Evan are done with malicious
23 intent toward Plaintiff or to "one up" Plaintiff. Court FINDS that Plaintiff seems to allow 24 the differences in the parties' financial means to cloud her ability to co-parent and do
25 what is best for Evan. This Court cautions this is not a competition, and often one 26 parent is able to provide more money or financial means than the other, but that 27 should not be taken personally by the other parent, nor should it allow those gestures 28 to cloud their judgment while co-parenting.

1 e. Plaintiff testified that she gets her FaceTime visits with Evan but says
2 they are shorter duration than Defendant's. There was testimony from Defendant's
3 witness that he is diligent about making sure that Evan FaceTimes his mother, but it
4 will be critical that Defendant make sure Evan is in a quite and private place, without 5 distractions for FaceTime sessions of quality duration, not less than fifteen minutes,
6 ideally thirty or more so that Evan can FaceTime with his sister and grandparents too.

7 f. Plaintiff testified to co-parenting difficulties with Defendant, which she 8 attributed to feeling that she is co-parenting with his whole family and that it is "Chris's 9 way or no way" and that "He just does whatever he wants to do." V2:115-17. The 10 Court disagrees with Plaintiff's assertion that Defendant does what he wants to do.
11 This Court FINDS that each parent does what he or she wants to do while the child is 12 in his/her care, because the parents have been unable to communicate productively
13 and/or agree on what is best for Evan. However, the emails produced as Defendant's 14 Exhibit A, which are much more comprehensive than the limited emails produced by 15 Plaintiff, tell a different story. There are no emails from anyone other than Defendant, 16 and Plaintiff denies most everything Defendant requests. Defendant testified that he 17 thinks there is pattern: he asks, Plaintiff says "no," he gives benefits of the request, 18 Plaintiff says "no," and he lets it drop.

20 professional hockey career. V2:120-25. However, Defendant stopped playing 21 professional hockey at or about the time that Evan was born; therefore, there was no
22 current testimony regarding these past injuries. She testified to another incident
23 when Defendant went to the emergency room, but was released and she did not say
24 when that was. V2:125-28. The Court is not concerned that either party has a health
25 condition that interfere's with their ability to parent Evan

26 h. Plaintiff testified to a couple of injuries that Evan has sustained in his 27 father's care (V2:131-132), but they seem like ordinary, childhood injuries and 28 mishaps, not the result of abuse or neglect.

1 i. Plaintiff testified that she lives with her parents because it allows her to 2 be a full-time mom, but also because, she "fears for her life" because, she said, "of
3 on-going threats, harassments, and problems that are going on with Chris." V2:155-
4 156. However, on cross-examination, she admitted that during her deposition when 5 she talked about living with her parents, she only indicated that she does not intend to 6 live with her parents forever and she intends to purchase her own home when she has 7 the resources to do so; she further admitted that she has not sought a protective order
8 against Defendant since 2010. V3:27-28. The Court does not find Plaintiff's 9 testimony, that she fears for her life, credible.

10 j. Plaintiff has an older son, Desmond who is nineteen. V3:13-14. Plaintiff
11 allowed him to transfer from traditional high school to an on-line home school program
12 at some point in his junior year. V3:14. She allowed him to take the program "at his 13 own pace," and he did not graduate on time. V3:14-15. During this time, Plaintiff
14 gave Desmond an ownership interest in her business. V3:16-17. Plaintiff said that 15 she allowed him to go at his own pace because of all he had been through, but she 16 admitted she never enrolled him in therapy. V3:16.

17 k. She does not allow Evan to play hockey during her timeshare. V3:22.
18 The Court appreciates that a parent can be concerned about their child playing certain 19 sports. However, by all accounts, Evan loves the game of hockey; it sounds like he is 20 already leading drills and assisting his dad and uncle on the ice. His father and his 21 uncle are former U.S. Olympians in hockey; they played in the National Hockey League.
22 Mr. Ferraro seems very clear that he does not want to his son to follow his path, but 23 he does want his son to pursue his passions and give him every advantage and 24 assistance in doing so. This Court FINDS that Evan can benefit from Defendant's 25 expertise in the sport, can benefit from the team sport atmosphere, and intense
26 involvement from his father, and that the benefit outweighs the potential burden. This 27 Court FINDS that Defendant appears mindful of Plaintiff's concerns regarding the 28 dangers of hockey and other sports, given his own injuries. Court FINDS Defendant

1 does not demonstrate behaviors or willingness to put his child in harm's way 2 intentionally; but many team sports or any physical activity comes with the potential for 3 injury. Defendant is CAUTIONED to be mindful of this and Plaintiff's concerns should 4 be discussed openly and respectfully, as she is a joint legal custodian.

5 l. Defendant offered to pay for Evan to attend private school, specifically 6 Challenger School, before Kindergarten, that they toured the school together, but 7 Plaintiff refused to allow Defendant to enroll Evan, for the reason Plaintiff thought that 8 the school was "too intense." V3:22-23. Plaintiff denied that Defendant renewed the 9 offer for Evan to attend private school before first grade (V3:22); however, Exhibit A, 10 DEFT0138 shows email correspondence in which Defendant renewed the offer and 11 Plaintiff again refused.

12 m. In the seven years since Evan was born, Plaintiff has lived in four 13 different residences. V3:23-24.

14 n. Plaintiff testified that she did not tell Defendant when Evan was missing 15 school. V3:32. Plaintiff testified that she does not always tell Defendant that she is 16 taking Evan to the doctor before she takes him. V3:32.

17 o. Court FINDS Plaintiff's admitted history of failure to communicate
18 regarding legal custody issues, and Defendant's confirmation of such, to be 19 disconcerting because it is important to be a respectful and open-minded co-parent on 20 these very subjective issues. Further, if Plaintiff is obstructionist and makes 21 co-parenting difficult, Court FINDS that is not in the child's best interests. Court further 22 FINDS that Defendant does not appear to exhibit the same behavior toward Plaintiff.
23 This Court FINDS that disagreement is different than obstructing efforts made to 24 better the child's life.

25 p. Within the last four years, Plaintiff has worked as a dealer of blackjack 26 and other casino games. V3:33. She denied that she ever asked a player who 27 presented a player card for identification. V3:33-34. Also, Plaintiff could not identify 28 any particular date that she allowed another person to use one of her own player's

1 cards. V3:36.

2 29. Defendant asked the Court to take judicial notice of Nevada Gaming
3 Control Board Regulation 5A.110 which states that a person who is issued a card for 4 interactive gaming must affirm that they will not allow another person to utilize their 5 card. V3:35. Specifically, Regulation 5A.110(3)(c) provides, " Before registering an 6 individual as an authorized player, the operator must have the individual affirm the 7 following . . . That the individual has been informed and has acknowledged that, as an 8 authorized player, they are prohibited from allowing any other person access to or use
9 of their interactive gaming account." The Court takes judicial notice of this regulation.

10 a. Testimony was taken from persons most knowledgeable from several 11 casinos (Casino PMKs). V1:131-202. The evidence showed that Plaintiff had player 12 cards from at least five (5) different casinos; therefore, she had to make the 13 affirmation required under Regulation 5A.110(3)(c) at least five times. Further, the 14 Casino PMKs variously testified it is casino policy: (1) that a player must play on their 15 own card (V1:146, 159, 175, 186, 197-98); (2) to request identification when players
16 win jackpots (V1:174); and (3) to request identification of players at tables (V1:175-76; 17 186). As between the Casino PMKs and Plaintiff who said as a dealer she "never"
18 had to ask a player who presented a player card for identification and could not 19 specify a single date on which someone else was allowed to use her card, the Court
20 believes the Casino PMKs. Presumptively then, the play on Plaintiff's player cards, as 21 reflected in the records admitted as Defendant's Exhibits N1 to N5 is Plaintiff's own
22 play. As set forth in the summaries admitted as Defendant's Exhibit N7 (V3:40-41), 23 since December 2012 through December 2015, Plaintiff logged over 1,231 hours on 24 her player cards, which averages to 33 hours per month; and in 2013 Plaintiff had 25 actual losses of $10,333.42, in 2014 Plaintiff had actual losses of $13,293.19, and in 26 2015 Plaintiff had actual losses of $10,664.64. (The Casino PMKs testified that 27 adjusted win/loss records represent actual wins or losses; V1:146, 156, 165, 183,
28 194.) Although it is not possible to say how much money Plaintiff actually wagered,

1 the coin in/coin out numbers are staggeringly high (2013 - $237,500.50/$196,627.10; 2 2014 - $209,949.72/$176,238.55; 2015 - $160,495.06/$147,017.46). Finally, in 3 Plaintiff's most recent FDF, filed on June 21, 2016, for the first time she included an 4 average monthly gambling income of $95.83, but she testified that she did not 5 consider the amount of money that she had actually wagered to earn those winnings.
6 V3:42-43. Her historical loss records do not support the claim that she actual earns
7 money gambling.

8 b. All of that said, Nevada is a gaming state, and gaming is legal. It does 9 not appear that Plaintiff can afford an average of $10,000.00 or more per year in 10 gaming losses, and Defendant argues that 33 hours a month could be spent in more 11 constructive ways, particularly when one's child is in school, but the key point for this 12 Court's consideration is whether Plaintiff's gaming activity affects the best interests of 13 Evan. Here, "the nature of the relationship of the child with each parent" is implicated.
14 Parents who work regularly set an example for their children. It is true that Defendant 15 has not worked since the fall of 2015, but those circumstances were unforeseen, and 16 it is clear that Defendant historically worked hard running a successful hockey
17 coaching program, instructing thousands of children a year, which Evan, as a child, 18 was and is in a unique position to watch his father do. Being a stay-at-home mother is 19 noble and it is work, and Plaintiff is to be commended for the work she does as a 20 mother; however, the Court is less convinced that this is a matter of choice than 21 circumstance. As between a parent who seems to have time to work while her child 22 is in school but does not, and a parent who spends his days and evenings coaching
23 children with his own son participating and watching on, the Court finds the 24 Defendant's choices and actions are more closely aligned with the best interests of the 25 child.

26 30. Rebecca Nance testified in Plaintiff's case in chief. V3:68-85. Mrs.
27 Nance is Plaintiff's mother. V3:68-69. She and her husband have lived with Plaintiff
28 and Plaintiff's three children since 2010. V3:69. She said that Evan has a loving

1 relationship with his mother and he is a very good kid. V3:69. She described all the 2 family relationships in the household and those with her other daughter and her
3 children who live in town as "close." V3:70-73. The family go together to go
4 swimming, to the park, to movies, and bowling. V3:70. She reported that Evan is 5 presently infatuated with baseball. V3:71. She said, "he rarely brings up hockey at 6 the house" and she could not say who Evan's favorite hockey team was. V3:83-84.
7 She said that when Evan FaceTimes with Defendant he is in his room for an hour or 8 an hour and half and apparently talking to all of the Ferraros. V3:75. She described 9 the relationship between Plaintiff and Defendant as strained. V3:75. Asked for 10 examples of what she meant by "strained," she instead talked about Plaintiff sending 11 pictures of Evan to Defendant, or working on Father's day projects with Evan. V3:75-
12 76. She testified that Sandra prepares the kids meals. V3:78. She testified that she 13 gambles, "a little bit," on "senior days" and uses Sandra's card so they can get points
14 to use the casino pool and comps for buffets. V3:79-80.

15 31. Judith Tolman testified in Plaintiff's case in chief. V3:86-149. She holds 16 a bachelor's degree and master's degree in social work; she obtained her Bachelor's 17 License of Social Work in 2009, her Master's License of Social Work in 2010 and her 18 Clinical License in 2014. V3:87. Initially she said she has worked as a therapist for 19 five years; however, on cross-examination she said it was more like 4 or 4 ½ years;
20 she works with children, adolescents and adults utilizing cognitive behavioral therapy.
21 V3:87-8; V3:126-27. Ms. Tolman did not testify as an expert witness.

22 a. Ms. Tolman began working with Evan in February 2013 when she was 23 still an intern. V3:89. Evan did not attend therapy for a period of several months
24 between 2013 and 2014 while the parties were getting along. V3:131; Ex. A at 25 DEFT0004, #2. In or around the fall of 2014, Plaintiff placed Evan back into therapy.
26 Ms. Tolman sees Evan every Wednesday except during Defendant's timeshare.
27 V1:75; V3:9; V90. Ms. Tolman sees Plaintiff when she brings Evan to therapy, and 28 Plaintiff sometimes participates in therapy. V3:89-90. It is rare that Plaintiff misses or

1 cancels a session, and when she does will generally ask for a make-up session.
2 V3:132. Defendant occasionally calls her by phone, and she has seen Defendant
3 only once or twice. V3:89-90. Ms. Tolman testified that she only reaches out to 4 Defendant "on occasion" and has only initiated contact with the Defendant in the last 5 year to conduct her annual reviews of Evan and to provide him literature regarding 6 delayed enrollment of children in kindergarten. V3:144. The only people Ms. Tolman
7 has ever talked to about Evan are Evan, the Plaintiff and the Defendant. V3:130.

8 b. Ms. Tolman testified that Oppositional Defiant Disorder (ODD) may 9 present in situations where a child does not want to do something, they may push 10 back or argue, they may yell, or throw themselves on the floor, and sometimes the 11 target is adults or authority figures, or the child may be annoying, irritable, or insist
12 upon getting their way. V3:102. Ms. Tolman testified that indicators of ADHD are not 13 paying close attention to detail, making careless mistakes, difficulty sustaining 14 attention, seeming not to listen, not following instructions, difficulty organizing tasks or 15 materials. V3:134. Ms. Tolman testified that there are two main components of 16 ADHD, there is an inattention component and a hyperactivity/impulsivity component.
17 V3:134. She further testified, to make the diagnosis you need to find six or more 18 criterion of each component and you need to find those in two or more settings.
19 V3:135. Ms. Tolman conceded that everyone in the courtroom has multiple of the 20 attributes that define ADHD, to greater and lesser degrees. V3:135. Ms. Tolman
21 testified that the settings in which she identified Evan as having the requisite number 22 of criterion in each component was by reports from the school, her own office, and 23 Plaintiff's home. V3:135. However, when pressed, she admitted that she did not talk 24 to anyone at the school, and she could not find the report on which she was relying in 25 her records. V3:135-37.

26 c. She was unaware that Evan has never been sent to the school
27 counselor. V3:138. She said that his behavior has been handled in the classroom, 28 but it is unclear how she would know that given she has never talked to anyone at the

1 school. V:138. From memory, she said the school report noted needs for 2 improvement in the areas of talking, distractibility, and staying in his seat, but admitted 3 a number of first graders exhibit such behaviors and do not have a diagnosis of and 4 would not be diagnosed with ADHD. V3:137-38. She admitted the treatment
5 recommendations of the National Institutes of Health and American Academy of 6 Pediatrics for children of Evan's age are medication and cognitive behavioral therapy
7 (CBT), and she has not recommended medication for Evan, only CBT. V3:138. Ms.
8 Tolman admitted that there is a CBT certification, but she does not have one. V3:141.
9 She believes it is possible that a parent can teach their child the same things that she 10 is teaching Evan. V3:145. This was Defendant's point, that he can and believes he 11 does teach Evan many of the same things Ms. Tolman does, but in different ways, 12 namely through having a structured, daily schedule and through extra-curricular 13 activities, many of which Defendant is personally coaching his son, whether formally or 14 informally.

15 d. Ms. Tolman thinks that it would benefit Evan to see her every week
16 because she says, "Evan struggles with meeting the expectations of each parent.
17 They have different expectations." V3:91. Ms. Tolman, was asked about the 18 behavioral expectations in Sandra's home and she talked about "traditional family 19 values" existing in Plaintiff's household. V3:91-92. However, she could not say what 20 the behavioral expectations were in Defendant's household. V3:92,146. And, Ms.
21 Tolman admitted that she does not have any direct knowledge of what goes on in Mr.
22 Ferraro's household. Moreover, the parties' testimony did not reflect that they have 23 different expectations of Evan or that Evan was not, in fact, meeting their 24 expectations. Again the testimony from every witness, was that Evan was well-25 behaved, respectful, excelling in school, and no one testified to any serious problems,
26 except Ms. Tolman. In deed, Plaintiff did not even say that Evan was behaving in a
27 way that was consistent with the behaviors of ADHD/ODD.

28 e. Ms. Tolman was asked if she has made suggestions to both parents as

1 to how they can address symptoms of ADHD in the home, but she did not answer the
2 question, she only talked about how she understands Plaintiff addresses Evan's
3 behaviors in her home. V3:116.

4 f. Ms. Tolman testified that the behavior Evan was exhibiting when Evan 5 began treatment with her was "chewing on a blanket, obviously it was a few years ago, 6 a blanket or the neck of his shirt, his sleeve that kind of thing" and "he would kind of 7 shut down sometimes because of anxiety." V3:100. However, several witnesses who 8 have known Evan all or most of his life – Defendant, his brother, and Ms. Doyle – and 9 witnesses who have known Evan since 2014 – Mr. Pannacciulli and Principal
10 Hungerford – all testified that they never observed or did not recall Evan doing this 11 kind of thing during Chris's timeshare or at school. And, no one testified that Evan 12 was shutting down or that Evan was anything other than an engaged and engaging 13 little boy; "outgoing" is how Ms. Doyle described him (she has known him since he was 14 about 3 or 4 years old) and his uncle described him as a "leader." Ms. Tolman stated
15 her recent evaluation put Evan's anxiety diagnosis in remission. V3:101.

16 g. Ms. Tolman testified that she has also diagnosed Evan with Oppositional
17 Defiant Disorder (ODD) and Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD) combined
18 presentation. V3:101. She testified that ODD cannot be "cured," that it is organic and 19 is caused by personality traits and a reaction to situations the child is in, but it can 20 improve with age. V3:101-02. She testified that ADHD presents in situations that 21 cause the symptoms. V3:102. Ms. Tolman testified that Evan symptoms include 22 getting angry, arguing, talking back, not doing what he is asked to and blaming others
23 for his problems, making careless mistakes, sloppy homework or handwriting, not 24 finishing chores or homework, not listening, trouble sustaining attention, or being 25 hyperfocused on something the child is actually interested in. V3:103-05. Defendant 26 testified that Evan does not exhibit these behaviors any more than the thousands of 27 children of Evan's age that he has observed during his coaching career. V1:76-77.
28 Similarly, Defendant's brother, Ms. Doyle, Mr. Pannacciulli, and Principal Hungerford

1 denied that these behaviors exist or that they exist in any greater degree than that of 2 the general population of children who are Evan's age; and they all get opportunity to 3 observe many children of Evan's age. Even Plaintiff's mother – Evan's maternal 4 grandmother – testified Evan is a "very good kid." Plaintiff did not testify much about 5 Evan's behavior.

6 h. Defendant testified that when Evan does misbehave, there is discussion,
7 positive examples are given, there is negotiation, compromise and Evan is given 8 opportunities for problem solving, V1:77-78. Defendant expressed his belief that it is 9 his job as a parent to teach his son these skills, not a therapist and that he believes
10 Plaintiff uses therapy as a substitute for parenting. V1:77.

11 i. Ms. Tolman's direct testimony was critical, perhaps even biased against,
12 Defendant, yet on cross-examination she admitted that she has no direct observation
13 or understanding from Mr. Ferraro of what happens or occurs in Mr. Ferraro's home.
14 V3:143-44, 147. She has never had a discussion with Defendant about the means of 15 discipline in his home. V3:149. She was not aware that Defendant uses a reward
16 system with Evan. V3:144. She was not aware that Defendant's method of discipline
17 is to discuss Evan's behaviors with him and give him choices. V3:144-45. Ms.
18 Tolman was asked if she would be surprised to learn that the symptoms she described 19 in Evan are not observed during Defendant's timeshare in a degree that is beyond that 20 of hundreds of children that Defendant coaches every year. V3:145. To that question
21 Ms. Tolman answered, "I don't know how he measures that so I can't judge it."
22 V3:145. But just a few questions earlier she admitted that it is possible that a person
23 who coaches thousands of children per year could develop an average measurement
24 of children's behavior. V3:143-44. The Court agrees that such a person can and will 25 develop such a measurement, and that Defendant and his brother can compare
26 Evan's behavior to those of the other children they coach to conclude that Evan's 27 behaviors are not out of the norm.

28 j. Ms. Tolman testified that Defendant did report to her that Evan exhibits

1 the symptoms of ODD (V3:103), but Ms. Tolman also testified that she is aware that
2 Defendant does not think that Evan qualifies for a mental health diagnosis. V3:102-
3 03. From his testimony it very clear that Defendant thinks the issue is one of degree
4 and on balance all witnesses agree that Evan is a very well behaved and respectful
5 child. Ms. Tolman speculated that there may be ADHD/ODD in the Ferraro household
6 and this may account for their belief that Evan's behavior is 'normal;' however, she 7 admitted that she is unaware as to whether any member of the Ferraro family has ever 8 attended therapy and she has made no direct observations of the Ferraro home.
9 V3:119, 143-44.

10 k. Ms. Tolman evaded giving any concrete benchmarks for the success or 11 failure of her own treatment of Evan or how long he should continue to be in weekly 12 therapy and said that a second opinion would usually only be sought if new behaviors
13 cropped up. V3:139-141. Ms. Tolman testified that she would not second guess her 14 own diagnosis even if the child's school principal had not identified any of the 15 behaviors she described in Evan. V3:143. This concerns the Court. It seems to this 16 Court that if a therapist thinks, as Ms. Tolman clearly does, that the buy-in and 17 participation of both parents is a key to the successful treatment of a child and the 18 therapist has been unable to accomplish that with one of the parents, then it would be 19 in the best interest of her patient to recommend a second opinion from a therapist
20 selected by both parents, but Ms. Tolman testified she has never recommended a 21 neuropsychic exam for Evan or sought a second opinion, nor has she ever considered 22 a differential diagnoses for Evan. V3:128, 133, 139-41.

23 CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

24 1. Nevada has subject matter jurisdiction over the minor child in 25 accordance with the Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction and Enforcement Act, which is 26 codified at Chapter 125A of the Nevada Revised Statutes, and the Court has personal 27 jurisdiction over the parties.

28 2. The court may modify or vacate a child custody order at any time during

1 a child's minority as appears in the child's best interest. (NRS 125C.0045(1)(a-b).)
2 When considering a motion to modify custody, the court must first determine the 3 actual physical custody timeshare that is in effect, regardless of what was stated in the 4 last child custody order. Rivero v. Rivero, 125 Nev. 410, 430, 215 P. 3d 213, 227
5 (2009). Different tests apply to modify custody depending on the current custody
6 arrangement. Joint physical custody may be modified or terminated if it is in the best
7 interest of the child. (NRS 125C.0045(2); see also, Truax v. Truax, 110 Nev. 473, 874
8 P.2d 10 (1994).) Primary physical custody may be modified only when "(1) there has 9 been a substantial change in circumstances affecting the welfare of the child, and (2)
10 the modification would serve the child's best interest." Ellis v. Carucci, 123 Nev. 145, 11 153, 161 P.3d 239, 244 (2007). However, "the child's best interest must be the 12 primary consideration for modifying custody and Rivero's 40-percent guideline shall 13 serve as a tool in determining what custody arrangement is in the child's best interest."
14 Bluestein v. Bluestein, ___ Nev. ___, 345 P.3d 1044, 1046 (2015) (emphasis added).
15 Since Rivero, Bluestein, and the commencement of this case, the Nevada Legislature
16 enacted NRS 125C.003(1)(a) which states in part that "An award of joint physical 17 custody is presumed not to be in the best interest of the child if . . . The court
18 determines by substantial evidence that a parent is unable to adequately care for a 19 minor child for at least 146 days of the year." If this rule applies in this context, which 20 the Court does not think it does, the Court does not think the issue has ever been that 21 Defendant was unable to care for Evan 146 days per year.

22 3. Here, the parties' post-Rivero parenting plan stated they would share
23 joint legal and joint physical custody of Evan ("Parenting Plan" at 2:4-5, 5:18-21.), 24 which is evidence that the parties themselves believed joint physical custody was in 25 Evan's interest and they did this even though the terms of the parenting plan, 26 arguably, did not give Defendant 146 days of timeshare every year. However, the 27 Rivero Court said, "In calculating the time during which a party has physical custody of 28 the child, the district court should look at the number of days during which a party

1 provided supervision of the child, the child resided with the party, and during which the 2 party made the day-to-day decisions regarding the child. The district court should not 3 focus on, for example, the exact number of hours the child was in the care of the 4 parent" Rivero v. Rivero, 125 Nev. at 225. Therefore, if as Defendant testified
5 at trial, the Court counts every day that Defendant had the child in his care, and not 6 just those days in which Defendant had the child overnight, then Defendant is well 7 over the 40% threshold in every year. Therefore, the Court finds that the parties do, as 8 a matter of law, exercise joint legal custody of Evan.

9 4. Nevertheless, and in an abundance of caution, the Court also finds that 10 the Defendant meets the additional burden under Ellis. Changed circumstances
11 affecting the welfare of the child are shown by: (a) Plaintiff maintaining Evan in weekly
12 therapy when there is very little, if any, evidence that Evan suffers behavioral issues
13 beyond those of an average, active and healthy first grader; (b) Evan is of an age 14 where extracurricular activities and socialization with his peers is important and 15 Plaintiff never fostered this until Defendant filed his motion (the first activity in which 16 she enrolled him was baseball in 2015); she denies him any opportunity to play
17 hockey during her timeshare, which is his father's sport and a sport that Evan loves;
18 (c) now that Evan is in grade school, school quality is important and the specific 19 school district that Evan will attend in New York is better than schools generally in Las 20 Vegas; (d) since the last custody order was entered, Plaintiff has failed to ensure her 21 oldest son graduated high school on time, allowing him to leave regular high school for 22 an on-line home school program, allowing him to do it at 'his own pace', and failing to 23 obtain resources to assist him when, by her own testimony, she believed he was 24 struggling; instead, she gave him an ownership interest in her business before he was 25 even done school; and (e) albeit of lesser importance than things effecting the 26 circumstances of the child, Defendant's circumstances have changed in that since the 27 parenting plan was entered, his second career has solidly established itself and his 28 client base in New York.

1 5. NRS 125C.007 sets forth the relocation factors to be weighed by court,
2 which were previously found in Schwartz v. Schwartz, 107 Nev. 378, 812 P.2d 1268
3 (1991); Jones v. Jones, 110 Nev. 1253, 885 P.2d 563 (1994); and Potter v. Potter,
4 121 Nev. 613, 119 P.3d 1246 (2005). NRS 125C.007(1)(a-c) requires the relocating
5 parent to demonstrate to the court that:

6 a. There exists a sensible, good-faith reason for the move, and the move is 7 not intended to deprive the non-relocating parent of his or her parenting time. Here, 8 the sensible good faith reasons include: allowing Defendant to reestablish his 9 business; reduce travel expenses to dedicate more financial resources to Evan; afford
10 Evan better educational and more extra-curricular opportunities than exist in Nevada, 11 whereas his mother resists sending Evan to better schools when presented the 12 opportunity, resists enrolling Evan in more sport-related activity even when Defendant 13 offers to pay, and she will not allow him to play hockey at all; and the network of 14 connections that Defendant can provide for his son by raising him in New York is a 15 unique and valuable in promoting Evan's long-term best interests.

16 b. The best interests of the child are served by allowing the relocating
17 parent to relocate with the child. Here, as set forth above, education, extra-curricular 18 activities, the guidance of a parent who has some unique skills derived from his 19 coaching career to augment his skills as a parent, and a fairly large and very close 20 family to support father and son, all serve Evan's best interest. Then too, there are 21 the best interest factors under NRS 125C.0035(4). Evan is not yet of sufficient age 22 and capacity to form an intelligent preference as to his physical custody; therefore, this 23 factor is inapplicable. There was not a lot of testimony as to which parent is more 24 likely to allow the child to have frequent associations and a continuing relationship with 25 the noncustodial parent; no one testified that they were deprived of their timeshare;
26 concern was raised over the duration of FaceTime visits but the Court believes that if 27 ordered, Defendant will comply. Although the Court wants to see more summer 28 visitation between Plaintiff and Evan than Defendant initially proposed, the Court is

1 impressed that Defendant is willing to share some of his time with Plaintiff, and waive
2 child support to help her potentially visit Evan in New York at still other times. This 3 may be difficult while Plaintiff's daughter is still in school, but Plaintiff's daughter is with 4 her father on weekends, and they do live with her grandparents; therefore, it seems 5 that there could be opportunities for Plaintiff to visit Evan in New York, and even when 6 her daughter graduates, Evan will still have six years of school remaining. The level of 7 conflict between the parents has moderated in recent years, mostly they have found 8 ways to avoid co-parenting, this is a neutral factor for the Court on relocation. The 9 ability of the parents to cooperate to meet the needs of the child, at present there is 10 just not much interaction, but cooperation is clearly difficult. If the parties were living in 11 the same community, the Court would not impose a primary physical custodian, but it 12 may not be a bad thing that it happens by default. Defendant very clearly wants to 13 provide every opportunity for his son that he can, but Plaintiff resists and oftentimes
14 denies those opportunities. Some testimony was given by Plaintiff on Defendant's
15 health, but it was old and the Court is not concerned for the health of either parent
16 being an issue in meeting Evan's best interests. As to the physical, developmental 17 and emotional needs of the child, the Court finds that both parents have met them to 18 this point, but questions Plaintiff's decision or perceived need to keep Evan in weekly 19 therapy; the Court questions the therapist in not obtaining a second opinion or 20 recommending a therapist with whom both parents felt they could work, and the Court
21 thinks that Defendant's strong commitment to his son and experience coaching
22 thousands of children over the years will serve Evan's needs very well. With respect
23 to the nature of the relationship of the child with each parent, the Court does not doubt 24 that there is a close bond between Evan and both of his parents, and both are 25 committed in their different ways; Plaintiff appears very maternal, while Defendant
26 appears to be both paternal and a mentor. Evan has two half siblings in Plaintiff's 27 household; a brother who is now emancipated and reportedly moving, and a sister 28 who will soon be fourteen and spends weekends with her father. These relationships
