3 THE COURT: So let me call State Department of Corrections versus 4 Ludwick. And I apologize for displacing everyone, but I want to make sure you have 5 all the time you need.

6 Come on forward, Counsel.

7 Appearances, please.

8 MS. DI SILVESTRO ALANIS: Good morning, Your Honor, Michelle Di 9 Silvestro Alanis on behalf of the State of Nevada Department of Corrections.

10 THE COURT: Thank you.

11 MR. LEVINE: Adam Levine, Bar Number 4673 for former correctional officer 12 Brian Ludwick.

13 THE COURT: Thank you. All right. And please, Ms. Di Silvestro Alanis, 14 please proceed.

15 MS. DI SILVESTRO ALANIS: Thank you, Your Honor. Your Honor, we're 16 here on our petition for our judicial review. Very briefly, on the facts of this case, Mr.
17 Ludwick was a correctional officer with the NDOC and on April 4th of 2015 he left his 18 assigned post without authorization. He was assigned to a unit that was one of the 19 largest units in that particular institution and housed about one-third of the inmates.
20 And he admits that he did leave his post.

21 He was ultimately terminated on December 28th of 2015 and a hearing 22 was held on -- in May of 2016 where there was substantial testimony that leaving a 23 post is a serious infraction, that officers are assigned to meet -- assigned to posts to 24 meet the safety and security of the institution. This could lower their response time 25 to any incidents that would arise, it causes accountability for the security of the 1 institution, knowing where an officer is at all times for the safety of that particular 2 officer, inmates, and other officers and staff.

3 NDOC feels and had determined that this type of offense is a Class 5 4 offense, which would warrant a termination. At the hearing the Hearing Officer 5 found that Mr. Ludwick did in fact engage in this conduct and committed the 6 violation. More importantly she found that he violated a very important safety and 7 security policy, but despite that she then ruled that the termination was too harsh 8 and gave him a -- and recommended a suspension.

9 We're filing this PJR for four reasons. We feel that the Hearing Officer 10 has clearly erred when she found that AR 229, NDOC's administrative regulation, 11 was invalid and she didn't rely on it in making her decision. The second reason is 12 we feel that she clearly erred when she substituted her judgment and determined 13 that a Class 5 offense should warrant a suspension versus a termination. And that 14 she clearly abused her discretion and failed to give the Dredge deference on this 15 decision. And fourth, that she clearly erred in reversing despite the substantial 16 evidence on the record.

17 Looking at our very first reason on AR 339 -- and I know we went into it 18 in great detail so I'll try to summarize it as best as possible.

19 THE COURT: That's fine.

20 MS. DI SILVESTRO ALANIS: First, you know, it's very interesting even why 21 she reached that decision to begin with because it's NDOC's position that in looking 22 at the AR 339 and going into the analysis she went into was completely outside of 23 her jurisdiction and scope. NDOC feels that AR 339 is a valid regulation. The 24 legislature has exempted NDOC from the APA and has dedicated NRS Chapter 209 25 to the administration of the prisons.

1 Further, the Nevada Constitution has created the Board of Prison
2 Commissioners and this board is heading NDOC and has supervision over all 3 matters relating to NDOC. In looking at Chapter 209, 209.111 gives the Board full 4 control of NDOC and specifically to regulate the number of officers and employees 5 and prescribe regulations for the business of NDOC. NRS 209.131 gives the 6 director the power to administer at the NDOC to supervise the administration of the 7 institution and to establish regulations with the approval of the Board.

8 We also have case law that clearly describes the powers of the Board 9 the director in administering NDOC specifically the Craig v. Hocker case that the 10 Board is to govern these matters due to the difficulties with prison administration.
11 AR 339 was presented to the Board for approval and it was approved. And there 12 was a great deal of time spent on this AR.

13 We cited that in our opening brief, went through all the minutes, it was 14 presented to the Board several times, there was testimony that this AR was given a 15 lot of consideration, that they drafted it in accordance with Chapter 284 and that it 16 was consistent with 284. They describe the process that employees had the 17 opportunity to review and provide comments on it.

18 And so it's not like this was just passed in a vacuum without any 19 consideration, there was great consideration given to AR 339. The employee does 20 not dispute this process or that AR 339 was approved by the Board and the -- you 21 know, the specific steps that went into that.

22 By making the Personnel Commission approve this regulation would 23 undermine this entire -- the entire purpose of the Board and the director's position.
24 We provided in our brief that one Hearing Officer -- while it's not, you know, 25 conclusive for Your Honor, but we do have a Hearing Officer that rejected this

1 argument and said that AR 339 is an enforceable, valid regulation.

2 Also, the employee did mention that in the Constitution there is a 3 conflicting article in the Constitution. However, as we provided in our reply brief, the 4 Constitution must be read -- the Nevada Constitution must be read as a whole and 5 should not be superseded but read in harmony.

6 Our second reason was that the Hearing Officer clearly erred in 7 exceeding her scope on making this decision. The Hearing Officer's position is to 8 determine just cause; whether just cause was there for this particular discipline.
9 And she is to look at the evidence and conclude that the good of the public was 10 served thereby. In determining just cause she should look at whether it's supported 11 by substantial evidence and whether the appointing authority reasonably believed 12 this to be true.

13 Only the appointing authority has the power to prescribe the appropriate 14 level of discipline. And as we described there was substantial evidence which 15 showed there was an investigation conducted by NDOC, by the inspector general's 16 office. Then we have testimony from the Warden and the Associate Warden on the 17 seriousness of this offense; that there was safety and security concerns raised by 18 this conduct.

19 We have AR 339 the determines that this particular type of conduct is a 20 Class 5 offense and the disciplinary chart that NDOC relies on calls it a Class 5 21 offense even for a first-time offense could be -- is terminable conduct because in 22 preparing the AR 339 they went through and gave various levels of -- various 23 offenses different levels. And so it can range from a Class 1 to Class 5, but clearly 24 they feel that this particular offense is serious and warrants a dismissal.

25 We also have testimony that this threatened the safety and security of 1 the institution. There was significant testimony on the process, what the Warden 2 considered, that she spoke to the director in making -- who ultimately made the 3 decision to terminate, that human resources also chimed in on this decision. And so 4 there was a lengthy process in determining whether or not the employee should 5 have been disciplined and whether or not he should receive a termination.

6 But despite all this the Hearing Officer found -- or I'm sorry, not despite.
7 She found that he committed the offense but felt that a suspension was more 8 appropriate and she cannot do this. She cannot step into the shoes of the 9 appointing authority. She's basically overstepped her bounds at that point.

10 The third reason was whether or not the Hearing Officer should have 11 given Dredge deference. Now these cases are still valid, they have not been 12 overruled. Dredge says that the appointing authority should be given deference 13 whenever security concerns are implicated. And the Jackson case further provides 14 that this exception is considered when there are -- when the facts indicate a clear 15 and serious security threat.

16 Again, here we have Mr. Ludwick who violated a serious security 17 violation. He left his assigned post without authorization. And the appointing 18 authority with their -- with his special expertise on the prison and prison 19 administration determined that this was a serious offense and that it should result in 20 a termination.

21 The facts indicated a clear and serious security threat because, again, 22 there was substantial evidence at this hearing through the testimony of the Warden, 23 who also testified regarding her discussions with the director. We have testimony 24 from the Associate Warden who was a supervisor at the time. There was testimony 25 on AR 339, that this was a Class 5 violation.

1 And while I know there's been some arguments made that a Class 5 2 violation does not mandate termination, again, in preparing this AR, NDOC has 3 determined this to be a serious offense and recommends a termination. There was 4 still an individual analysis conducted, there was still an investigation, there was still 5 discussion, and ultimately they determined that he should have been terminated.

6 And, again, the Hearing Officer found that he violated a very important 7 safety and security policy. So she essentially contradicts herself a bit in finding that 8 he -- in -- finding that he violated this important safety and security policy, but then 9 saying she doesn't need to consider Dredge deference or AR 339.

10 Lastly, we feel she erred in light of the reliable and probative and 11 substantial evidence on the record. Your Honor can set aside its decision where the 12 final decision is erroneous in light of this reliable, probative, and substantial 13 evidence. The substantial evidence is what one, which a reasonable mind might 14 accept as adequate to support the termination.

15 Again -- and I know we raised it in our reply brief and I'm sure Counsel 16 will have some comments on it but there was a recent appellate decision that the 17 proper standard is substantial evidence at these hearings, not a preponderance of 18 the evidence standard, which the Hearing Officer clearly stated in her decision. And 19 so she relied on the preponderance of the evidence standard and not the substantial 20 evidence standard.

21 In looking at the substantial evidence, again, not to be too repetitive 22 here, but we had substantial evidence on the safety and security threat. We heard 23 from the Warden, we heard from the now Associate Warden who was a supervisor 24 at the time, we had AR 339 showing that this was a serious offense. Every -- they 25 relied on AR 339 in making this determination.

1 But, again, despite all this evidence the Hearing Officer found that it
2 didn't warrant a termination. And so even though she found that he left his post 3 without authorization and this was a very important safety and security policy, 4 somehow she felt that a suspension would be more reasonable.

5 For these reasons we feel that our Petition for Judicial Review should 6 be granted and that Mr. Ludwick's Termination, or the decision of the Hearing 7 Officer should be reversed and Mr. Ludwick should be terminated.

8 THE COURT: Thank you. And the Opposition, Mr. Levine.

9 MR. LEVINE: Yes. Okay. First and foremost, the Hearing Officer did not find 10 that AR 339 was invalid as argued by NDOC. She ruled that she is not bound by it 11 because first and foremost it was not approved by the Personnel Commission as 12 NRS 284.150(2) makes it very clear that for members of the classified service, they 13 cannot be dismissed except in conformance with the statutes and the regulations 14 promulgated under Chapter 284. Those regs of course are promulgated by the 15 Personnel Commission.

16 Now, the legitimacy, the binding effect or nonbinding effect of AR 339 is 17 something of a red herring because AR 339 does not mandate termination. AR 18 339 -- and I quoted subsections 5 and 6 and from the regs, says very clearly it's a 19 recommended penalty.

20 It says: Appointing authorities and employees must recognize that the 21 penalty schedules cannot accurately, fairly, or consistently address every situation.
22 Appointing authorities must conduct an individual analysis of each employee for 23 each incident, and exercise the professional judgment when authorities and the 24 reviewers should need to rely solely on previously imposed or penalties nor quote 25 them as authority in penalty rationales. It must be remembered this is a historical 1 document of penalties, as such it may not reflect the appropriate penalty for the 2 misconduct.

3           It was never binding on anybody anyway. The regulation says this is 4 sort of a guide -- historical guide, but you got to look at the individual facts of the 5 case. But the Hearing Officer did get it right because regulation of the classified 6 service of the state of Nevada has been vested by the legislature exclusively in the 7 Personnel Commission, not the Nevada Board of Prison Commissioners.

8           Now, the reply brief erroneously argues that oh, this was approved. No, 9 it wasn't. If you look at the minutes, the Board of Prison Commissioners looked at 10 their own regs and said to themselves we think this in compliance with Chapter 284 11 and Chapter 289, the Peace Officer's Bill of Rights. They may believe that, but 12 they're not excused from the requirement to seek approval from the Personnel 13 Commission. But, again, it's something of a red herring because it's not binding.

14           The law is very, very clear. After the Dredge decision was decide the 15 Court revisited the issue in Knapp versus Department of Prisons, wherein they 16 adopted the wisdom of the dissent from Dredge and they said no, the dissent in 17 Dredge was correct; that Hearing Officers are to take a new and independent view 18 of the evidence. And the only time you defer to the appointing authority is if the 19 security of the institution is jeopardized.

20           And then within a year or two after Knapp they came back and clarified 21 in Jackson, the deferral doctrine for security violations is only to be used in the most 22 egregious of security violations and that the job protections of classified service are 23 not be undermined by light claims of oh, there's a security violation.

24           In this particular case, Officer Ludwick had been granted intermittent 25 FMLA leave to use as he needed it. He became ill. Federal law supersedes even

1 the Nevada Constitution, the Board of Prison Commissioners, Chapter 284. Federal 2 law governs. He had a right to that leave. He tried calling the shift commander's 3 office to say hey, I'm not feeling well, I can't stay on this post. Nobody answered.

4 So he walked 60 yards. Probably take him 10 seconds, 7 seconds if he 5 had to run back in an emergency, to the shift commander's office to find the shift 6 commander to say hey, I can't stay here. Wither you can transfer me to a less 7 intense post or I have to go home. Basically he said I can't put you on another post, 8 he's like then I have to go home and Lieutenant Piccinini said fine. And he went 9 home.

10 The Hearing Officer faulted him, not for abandoning his post but for not 11 making additional efforts before he left it to walk to down there, maybe making a 12 second or a third call. But he had a right to leave and NDOC could not hold him 13 there because he had been granted intermittent family medical leave.

14 Now let's be really clear, there was no substantial evidence of a 15 security violation. I introduced into evidence the adjudication of the investigator 16 general's report which was the evaluation and the determination made by Warden 17 Gentry.

18 And she wrote: It is recommended that Brian Ludwick receive a 19 specificity of charges consisting of one five-day suspension from state service in lieu 20 of a Class 5 dismissal of state service since there was no security breach resulting 21 from him leaving his post.

22 That was the finding of the Warden. There was no security breach.
23 And then the Hearing Officer, which I quoted on page 16 of my Opposition, made 24 the same finding, that there was no security breach.

25 For the following reasons this Hearing Officer finds the termination was 1 too harsh of a penalty. Mr. Ludwick had no prior discipline. The minimum penalty 2 permitted -- the minimum permitted staffing on the day in question was two officers.

3 Had there been a serious security risk by having less than the three scheduled 4 officers, presumably Lieutenant Piccinini would have assigned someone else to the 5 post after Mr. Ludwick was allowed to leave the institution on FMLA leave.

6 Where the Hearing Officer makes a determination based on the 7 evidence that there was no security breach, this Court is not permitted to substitute 8 its judgment for that finding on a contested issue of fact by the Hearing Officer. And 9 the Hearing Officer properly concluded, minimum staffing was met at all times, there 10 is no security breach, therefore, the Dredge deference does not apply. The case is 11 decided under Knapp. She determined that termination is too harsh of a penalty.

12 And, you know, quite frankly when the Warden writes hey, there's no 13 security breach, I think five days is appropriate, and the testimony was, when I 14 crossed her on it, well somebody in human resources made me change it, they don't 15 bring the person from human resources, the Hearing Officer got it right, Your Honor.

16 The decision was reasonable by the Hearing Officer. You cannot force 17 somebody to work when they're granted FMLA leave and in the absence of as 18 exclusion breach, much less the egregious breach required by Jackson, I believe 19 you have to affirm the decision.

20 THE COURT: My only question is whether or not the evidentiary standard 21 was appropriately applied. Was it -- should it have been substantial and was it 22 preponderance? And --

23 MR. LEVINE: No, it should not have been substantial --

24 THE COURT: And did the law change after this decision?

25 MR. LEVINE: No. First and foremost you're talking about -- the case that

1 they're citing afterwards is a Court of Appeals decision dealing with a license
2 revocation -- or a license penalty, okay? The series says in the absence of a statute
3 to the contrary, the preponderance standard must be used. It is the minimal 4 standard consistent with due process.

5 Now, in a licensing hearing you have the ability to use something less 6 because a license is a privilege, it is not a right. In this particular case, as a post-
7 probationary member of the classified service, Brian Ludwick had a property interest 8 in his employment, protected within the meaning of the due process clause of the 9 14th Amendment and he cannot be deprived of that by any standard less than a 10 preponderance of the evidence.

11 THE COURT: Thank you. And your response, please, Ms. Di Silvestro 12 Alanis.

13 MS. DI SILVESTRO ALANIS: Yes, Your Honor. I'm going to go a little 14 backwards here because you just asked the question --

15 THE COURT: Sure.

16 MS. DI SILVESTRO ALANIS: -- about the substantial evidence standards.
17 Again, the Hearing Officer did, and we cited to it in our reply brief, in Volume I, 18 pages 92 to 93: She held that the standard of proof in these administrative hearings 19 was preponderance of the evidence more probable than not.

20 And she cited that she relied on Nassiri. Then the Court of Appeals 21 decision did come out and specifically said -- and I think the licensing Opposing 22 Counsel's getting confused on because the Court of Appeals noted that: Nassiri 23 created confusion on the standard of proof. And that substantial evidence is 24 evidence that a reasonable mind could accept as adequately supporting the 25 agencies' conclusions.

1 We recognize that Nassiri may have caused confusion because it noted 2 the standard of proof was by preponderance of the evidence. But that was in 3 relation to the agency's determination for its licensing proceedings. Substantial 4 evidence is the proper standard of review to be used during the Hearing Officer's 5 review.

6 So we do feel that the incorrect standard of proof was used and 7 substantial evidence standard is a much lower standard than the preponderance of 8 evidence standard. So we do feel that she incorrectly applied the standards.

9 As far as the other points that Opposing Counsel made he said that 10 it -- AR 339 was not approved by the Board. Again, it's our position that AR 339
11 was approved by the Board of State Prison Commissioners. And the Hearing 12 Officer, he said she said that she was not bound by it. She did not rely on AR 339 at 13 all in making her decision. And so the Hearing Officer is to look at the evidence that 14 NDOC looked at in making the determination.

15 And there was testimony that NDOC relied on AR 339 in coming to this 16 decision. And so when she made her determination, the Hearing Officer said well, 17 I'm not going to rely or consider AR 339. And that was incorrect. She should have 18 looked to AR 339 because NDOC is a valid regulation and that's one of the things 19 they relied on in making their decision.

20 AR 339, Opposing Counsel said, does not mandate termination. And I 21 spent a great deal in our reply brief explaining the AR, the chart of discipline that's 22 recommended. AR 339 addresses about 170 different violations that an employee 23 can engage in -- inappropriate conduct. And then it goes through and addresses 24 whether or not it is a Class 1 offense, 2, 3, 4, or 5, and gives a range of penalties.

25 So it's not that all of them are addressed as a Class 5 offense and then

1 the hearing -- or and then the appointing authority is supposed to give discretion, 2 they already guide the appointing authority on what would be appropriate.

3 And as I said that Section 5 where they -- where they could have 4 discretion and use an individual analysis, the evidence did show that an individual 5 analysis was conducted. I'm not going to go through it again but essentially the 6 director went through -- we heard the evidence from the Warden and so forth that 7 this was a serious security threat.

8 Very briefly, Opposing Counsel discussed Dredge and that it's only in 9 the consideration of an egregious security violation. It is not the Hearing Officer to 10 determine whether or not this conduct is egregious or a safety and security violation.
11 That's why we have the director of the prison and the Board of Prison 12 Commissioners. A prison has very unique and difficult things to consider in its 13 administration.

14 And we have the testimony from the Warden and she also gave 15 testimony regarding her discussions with the director that they consider this to be a 16 serious security violation because leaving an assigned post can jeopardize the 17 safety of that officer who left his assigned post without authorization, other officers, 18 other staff, inmates, because anything could happen and now we have an officer 19 unaccounted for because they expect him to be in one location and he's not. So the 20 substantial evidence did support that there was a clear and serious security threat.

21 Again, the FMLA issue we feel is a red herring. The Hearing Officer did 22 not make this determination based on the FMLA. In fact, she said that while he was 23 there and had approved FMLA, he still had to comply with the rules of his employer 24 in seeking permission before he left his post. So when he left his post he was going 25 to talk to his supervisor that he wasn't feeling well and wanted to leave. He didn't

1 just have the authority to leave at any given time and the Hearing Officer said that 2 he should have complied with those policies.

3 Lastly, the adjudication report. Again, the adjudication report where 4 Warden Gentry originally talked about a five-day suspension is not a mandatory 5 portion of the process, nor is it binding. She is not the final decision maker. So after 6 the investigation happened with the Inspector General's office, the Warden then 7 looked at the investigator's comments and findings and adjudicated him and found 8 that he did in fact violate that policy and left his post without authorization.

9 And initially, yes, she wrote down I think a five-day suspension, but that 10 was before the specificity of charges was prepared, before she conducted her 11 analysis, before human resources was consulted, before the director then reviewed 12 it and gave his final determination. So it was in the very initial step in this process 13 and ultimately we have the evidence that the director determined this to be a serious 14 violation and felt that Mr. Ludwick leaving his assigned post without authorization 15 was terminable and he should be dismissed from state service. And we don't feel 16 that that adjudication report has any bearing on this decision.

17 So, again, Your Honor, we would ask that the Petition be granted and 18 the Hearing Officer's decision be reversed.

19 MR. LEVINE: It's not my intent to argue further, but simply to clarify the 20 record on something that she said which she attributed to me an incorrect argument.
21 She said that I argued that AR 339 was not approved by the Board of Prison
22 Commissioners, that's not what I said. I said it wasn't approved by the Nevada
23 Personnel Commission.

24 THE COURT: It was your Petition, you get the last word. Did you have a 25 response to that?

1 MS. DI SILVESTRO ALANIS: No, Your Honor, I'm okay.

2 THE COURT: Thank you both. This is the Petition for Review brought by the 3 State of Nevada Department of Corrections. The Petition for Review will be denied 4 for the following reasons. I find that the decision of the Hearing Officer was 5 reasonable given that the facts found by her supported the decision. I find there is 6 no clear error in the application of law. I find that the Hearing Officer did not exceed 7 her authority or abuse her discretion, nor do I find that her decision is arbitrary or 8 capricious.

9 I also find that the evidentiary standard used by the Hearing Officer was 10 sufficient to justify the result, given the facts of the pleadings. And that's after review 11 of all of the -- everything in this case. I read all of the briefs in all of the indexes.

12 So the Petition is denied. Mr. Levine to prepare the order. Ms. Di 13 Silvestro Alanis, do you wish to sign off on it?

14 MS. DI SILVESTRO ALANIS: Yes, Your Honor.

15 THE COURT: Then present an order that's agreed as to form and you can 16 incorporate by reference the findings on the record.

17 MR. LEVINE: Thank you, Your Honor.

18 THE COURT: Thank you both.

19 MS. DI SILVESTRO ALANIS: Thank you, Your Honor.

20 [Proceeding concluded at 9:58 a.m.]

21 ATTEST: I hereby certify that I have truly and correctly transcribed the 22 audio/visual recording in the above-entitled case.
