COTTER ("EC") EDWARD KANE ("KANE"), GUY ADAMS ("ADAMS"), DOUG McEACHERN ("McEACHERN"), TIM STOREY ("STOREY"), WILLIAM GOULD ("GOULD") and Nominal Defendant, READING INTERNATIONAL, INC. ("RDI") (collectively, "Defendants") produce and make available for inspection and copying the documents and things described herein, in accordance with the Definitions and Instructions set forth below, at the offices of Robertson & Associates, LLP, 32121 Lindero Canyon Road, Suite 200, Westlake Village, California 91361, within thirty (30) days of the date of service of this request.

INSTRUCTIONS

- 1. This Request for Production is a continuing request. You shall promptly produce any and all additional documents that are received, discovered or created after the time of the initial production.
- 2. This Request for Production applies to all documents in your possession, custody or control, and includes documents within the possession, custody or control of your partners, employees, agents, attorneys and representatives, wherever located, including but not limited to all documents obtained by Defendants.
- If you object to any request in part, you shall produce all responsive documents to which the objection does not apply.
- 4. If any documents are withheld from production on the alleged grounds of privilege or immunity (whether under common law, statute, or otherwise), each such document is to be identified by stating: (a) the identity of each person who prepared and/or signed the document; (b) the identity of each person designated as an addressee; (c) the identity of each person who received any copy of the document; (d) the date of the document; (e) the subject matter of the document; (f) the type of document; and (g) the basis for withholding the document.
- 5. If a document contains both privileged and non-privileged material, the non-privileged material must be disclosed to the fullest extent possible without thereby disclosing the privileged material. If a privilege is asserted with regard to part of the material contained in a document, the party claiming the privilege must clearly indicate the portions as to which the privilege is claimed. When a document has been redacted or altered in any fashion, identify as to each document the reason for the redaction or alteration, the date of the redaction or alteration, and the person performing the redaction or alteration. Any redaction must be clearly visible on the redacted documents.

- 6. In the event that any document called for by this Request for Production has been destroyed or discarded, that document is to be identified by stating; (a) any address or any addressee; (b) any indicated or blind copies; (c) the document's date, subject matter, number of pages, and attachments or appendices; (d) all persons to whom the document was distributed, shown or explained; (e) its date of destruction or discard, manner of destruction or discard, and reason for destruction or discard; (f) the persons who authorized and carried out such destruction or discard; and (g) whether any copies of the document presently exist and, if so, the name of the custodian of each copy.
- 7. Any copy of a document that varies in any way whatsoever from the original or from any other copy of the document, whether by reason of handwritten or other notation or any omission, shall constitute a separate document and must be produced, whether or not the original of such a document is within your possession, custody or control. A request for any document shall be deemed to include a request for all drafts thereof, and all revisions and modifications thereto, including any red-lined versions or document comparisons, in addition to the document itself. Each document is to be produced in its entirety, without abbreviation or expurgation.
- 8. In producing documents, all documents that are physically attached to each other when located for production shall be left so attached. Documents that are segregated or separated from other documents, whether by inclusion of binders, files, sub files or by use of dividers, tabs, or any other method, shall be left so segregated or separated. Documents shall be retained in the order in which they were maintained and in the file where found. If no documents exist that are responsive to a particular request, you shall so state in writing.

READING INTERNATIONAL, INC., a Nevada corporation,

Nominal Defendant.

Pursuant to Nevada Rules of Civil Procedure ("NRCP"), Reading International, Inc. ("RDI") by and through its counsel Greenberg Traurig, LLP hereby submits its Response to James Cotter, Jr.'s Request for Production of Documents.

DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 1:

All documents and communications created in or after June 2014 relating directly or indirectly to (a) nominal defendant RDI (except RDI) (b) the California Trust Action (defined in the Motion)(excluding pleadings), (c) the Nevada Probate Action (defined in the Motion)(excluding pleadings), (d) any consensual resolution or settlement agreement between JJC, on one hand, and either or both EC and MC, on the other hand or (e) control of the RDI Class B voting stock.

RESPONSE TO DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 1:

RDI has engaged in numerous conversations with counsel for James Cotter, Jr. and Intervening Plaintiffs regarding the status of production of documents. RDI hereby confirms that it has imaged RDI's server and the machines of all custodians the parties agreed upon. RDI worked with Plaintiff to reach a stipulation as to appropriate search terms and procedures for obtaining and producing responsive documents not otherwise subject to objections. The parties agreed upon search terms on September 16, 2015, and RDI instructed its document production vendor to run the search in accordance with that stipulation. Given that the parties also agreed to utilize predictive coding procedures in order to expedite the identification of responsive documents, RDI anticipates it will provide the first set of documents to Plaintiff to confirm responsive/non-responsive identification on or about Wednesday, September 23, 2015. Once an agreement can be reached regarding the responsive/nonresponsive designation in the first set of documents, and a protective order is stipulated to amongst all parties or put into place by the Court, RDI will complete the predictive coding process and will begin reviewing and producing RDI anticipates it can begin producing non-privileged and/or non-public material information beginning on Wednesday, September 30, 2015, if agreements discussed above can be promptly achieved.

In order to avoid any argument that RDI has waived any of its rights, RDI confirms it will produce responsive documents that are not otherwise subject to any privilege or protection allowed under Nevada law, including but not limited to attorney-client privileged communications, attorney work product, private, confidential or proprietary information, and/or non-public material information that SEC promulgated rules and regulations preclude from being disclosed to any party who may use that non-public material information in determining whether to trade RDI stock.

DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 2:

Any search by or for nominal defendant RDI for an executive with experience or expertise in real estate, including but not limited to a director of real estate.

RESPONSE TO DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 2:

Any minutes of nominal defendant RDI's Board of Directors and any committees thereof, whether draft, unapproved or approved by nominal defendant RDI's Board of Directors for any meeting in 2015.

RESPONSE TO DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 4:

RDI has engaged in numerous conversations with counsel for James Cotter, Jr. and Intervening Plaintiffs regarding the status of production of documents. RDI hereby confirms that it has imaged RDI's server and the machines of all custodians the parties agreed upon. RDI worked with Plaintiff to reach a stipulation as to appropriate search terms and procedures for obtaining and producing responsive documents not otherwise subject to objections. The parties agreed upon search terms on September 16, 2015, and RDI instructed its document production vendor to run the search in accordance with that stipulation. Given that the parties also agreed to utilize predictive coding procedures in order to expedite the identification of responsive documents, RDI anticipates it will provide the first set of documents to Plaintiff to confirm responsive/non-responsive identification on or about Wednesday, September 23, 2015. RDI anticipates it can begin producing non-privileged and/or non-public material information beginning on Wednesday, September 30, 2015, if agreements discussed above can be promptly achieved.

In order to avoid any argument that RDI has waived any of its rights, RDI confirms it will produce responsive documents that are not otherwise subject to any privilege or protection allowed under Nevada law, including but not limited to attorney-client privileged communications, attorney work product, private, confidential or proprietary information, and/or non-public material information that SEC promulgated rules and regulations preclude from being disclosed to any party who may use that non-public material information in determining whether to trade RDI stock.

DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 5:

All documents relating to nominal defendant RDI's public disclosures and SEC filings regarding the termination of JJC as President and CEO of nominal defendant RDI, the sought after resignation of JJC as a director of nominal defendant RDI, and any committee of nominal defendant RDI's Board of Directors formed, revived, changed or implemented in or after June 2014, including but not limited to the EC Committee (defined in the Motion), including all documents relating to any decision to not make any disclosure regarding any such committee.

READING INTERNATIONAL, INC., a Nevada corporation,

Nominal Defendant.

Pursuant to Nevada Rules of Civil Procedure ("NRCP"), Reading International, Inc. ("RDI") by and through its counsel Greenberg Traurig, LLP hereby submits its Response to T2 Partners Management, LP dba Kase Capital Management; T2 Accredited Fund, LP dba Kase Fund; T2 Qualified Fund, LP dba Kase Qualified Fund; Tilson Offshore Fund, LTD's; T2 Partners Management I, LLC dba Kase Management; T2 Partners Management Group, LLC dba Kase Group; JMG Capital Management, LLC; Pacific Capital Management, LLC's (collectively hereinafter referred to as the "T2 Group") Request for Production of Documents.

DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 1:

All documents upon which the Board of Directors relied upon in voting to terminate James J. Cotter, Jr. as President and CEO of RDI on June 12, 2015, including any documents evidencing what process, if any was used by the Board to evaluate James J. Cotter, Jr.'s performance as President and CEO of RDI and supporting the decision of Defendants Ellen Cotter, Margaret Cotter, Guy Adams, Edward Kane and Douglas McEachern to terminate Mr. Cotter, Jr.

RESPONSE TO DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 1:

RDI has engaged in numerous conversations with counsel for James Cotter, Jr. and the T2 Group regarding the status of production of documents. RDI hereby confirms that it has imaged RDI's server and the machines of all custodians the parties agreed upon. RDI worked with James Cotter, Jr. and the T2 Group to reach a stipulation as to appropriate search terms and procedures for obtaining and producing responsive documents not otherwise subject to objections. The parties agreed upon search terms on September 16, 2015, and RDI instructed its document production vendor to run the search in accordance with that stipulation. Given that the parties also agreed to utilize predictive coding procedures in order to expedite the identification of responsive documents, RDI anticipates it will provide the first set of documents to James Cotter, Jr. and the T2 Group to confirm responsive/non-responsive identification on or about Wednesday, September 23, 2015. Once an agreement can be reached regarding the responsive/nonresponsive designation in the first set of documents, and a protective order is stipulated to amongst all parties or put into place by the Court, RDI will complete the predictive coding process and will begin reviewing and producing non-privileged and/or non-public material information on a rolling basis. RDI anticipates it can begin producing non-privileged and/or non-public material information beginning on Wednesday, September 30, 2015, if agreements discussed above can be promptly achieved.

In order to avoid any argument that RDI has waived any of its rights, RDI confirms it will produce responsive documents that are not otherwise subject to any privilege or protection allowed under Nevada law, including but not limited to attorney-client privileged communications, attorney work product, private, confidential or proprietary information, and/or non-public material information that SEC promulgated rules and regulations preclude from being disclosed to any party who may use that non-public material information in determining whether to trade RDI stock.

DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 2:

All communications between Directors relating to the termination of James Cotter, Jr. which predated the Board's vote on June 12, 2015 to terminate him as President and CEO of RDI.

Pursuant to Nevada Rules of Civil Procedure ("NRCP"), Reading International, Inc. ("RDI") by and through its counsel Greenberg Traurig, LLP hereby submits this Supplemental Response to James Cotter, Jr.'s Request for Production of Documents.

DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 1:

All documents and communications created in or after June 2014 relating directly or indirectly to (a) nominal defendant RDI (except RDI) (b) the California Trust Action (defined in the Motion)(excluding pleadings), (c) the Nevada Probate Action (defined in the Motion)(excluding pleadings), (d) any consensual resolution or settlement agreement between JJC, on one hand, and either or both EC and MC, on the other hand or (e) control of the RDI Class B voting stock.

RESPONSE TO DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 1:

RDI has engaged in numerous conversations with counsel for James Cotter, Jr. and Intervening Plaintiffs regarding the status of production of documents. RDI hereby confirms that it has imaged RDI's server and the machines of all custodians the parties agreed upon. RDI worked with Plaintiff to reach a stipulation as to appropriate search terms and procedures for obtaining and producing responsive documents not otherwise subject to objections. The parties agreed upon search terms on September 16, 2015, and RDI instructed its document production vendor to run the search in accordance with that stipulation. Given that the parties also agreed to utilize predictive coding procedures in order to expedite the identification of responsive documents, RDI anticipates it will provide the first set of documents to Plaintiff to confirm responsive/non-responsive identification on or about Wednesday, September 23, 2015. Once an agreement can be reached regarding the responsive/nonresponsive designation in the first set of documents, and a protective order is stipulated to amongst all parties or put into place by the Court, RDI will complete the predictive coding process and will begin reviewing and producing non-privileged and/or non-public material information on a rolling basis. RDI anticipates it can begin producing non-privileged and/or non-public material information beginning on Wednesday, September 30, 2015, if agreements discussed above can be promptly achieved.

RG TRAURIG, LL.P hes Parkway, Suite 400 Norti gas, Nevada 89169 ne: (702) 792-3773 le: (702) 792-9002 A, attached hereto. These documents were produced with RDI's First Supplemental NRCP Rule 16.1 Initial Disclosures. As the document review and discovery process continues, this response may be supplemented.

DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 3:

Any committee or executive committee of the RDI Board of Directors, including any committee formed, revived, changed or implemented in or after June of 2015, including the EC Committee (as defined in the Motion), any decisions made by or issues presented to such committee and compensation of such committee members.

RESPONSE TO DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 3:

RDI has engaged in numerous conversations with counsel for James Cotter, Jr. and Intervening Plaintiffs regarding the status of production of documents. RDI hereby confirms that it has imaged RDI's server and the machines of all custodians the parties agreed upon. RDI worked with Plaintiff to reach a stipulation as to appropriate search terms and procedures for obtaining and producing responsive documents not otherwise subject to objections. The parties agreed upon search terms on September 16, 2015, and RDI instructed its document production vendor to run the search in accordance with that stipulation. Given that the parties also agreed to utilize predictive coding procedures in order to expedite the identification of responsive documents, RDI anticipates it will provide the first set of documents to Plaintiff to confirm responsive/non-responsive identification on or about Wednesday, September 23, 2015. Once an agreement can be reached regarding the responsive/nonresponsive designation in the first set of documents, and a protective order is stipulated to amongst all parties or put into place by the Court, RDI will complete the predictive coding process and will begin reviewing and producing non-privileged and/or non-public material information on a rolling basis. RDI anticipates it can begin producing non-privileged and/or non-public material information beginning on Wednesday, September 30, 2015, if agreements discussed above can be promptly achieved.

In order to avoid any argument that RDI has waived any of its rights, RDI confirms it will produce responsive documents that are not otherwise subject to any privilege or protection

Pursuant to Nevada Rules of Civil Procedure ("NRCP"), Reading International, Inc. ("RDI") by and through its counsel Greenberg Traurig, LLP hereby submits this Supplemental Response to James Cotter, Jr.'s Request for Production of Documents.

DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 1:

All documents and communications created in or after June 2014 relating directly or indirectly to (a) nominal defendant RDI (except RDI) (b) the California Trust Action (defined in the Motion)(excluding pleadings), (c) the Nevada Probate Action (defined in the Motion)(excluding pleadings), (d) any consensual resolution or settlement agreement between JJC, on one hand, and either or both EC and MC, on the other hand or (e) control of the RDI Class B voting stock.

RESPONSE TO DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 1:

RDI has engaged in numerous conversations with counsel for James Cotter, Jr. and Intervening Plaintiffs regarding the status of production of documents. RDI hereby confirms that it has imaged RDI's server and the machines of all custodians the parties agreed upon. RDI worked with Plaintiff to reach a stipulation as to appropriate search terms and procedures for obtaining and producing responsive documents not otherwise subject to objections. The parties agreed upon search terms on September 16, 2015, and RDI instructed its document production vendor to run the search in accordance with that stipulation. Given that the parties also agreed to utilize predictive coding procedures in order to expedite the identification of responsive documents, RDI anticipates it will provide the first set of documents to Plaintiff to confirm responsive/non-responsive identification on or about Wednesday, September 23, 2015. Once an agreement can be reached regarding the responsive/nonresponsive designation in the first set of documents, and a protective order is stipulated to amongst all parties or put into place by the Court, RDI will complete the predictive coding process and will begin reviewing and producing non-privileged and/or non-public material information on a rolling basis. RDI anticipates it can begin producing non-privileged and/or non-public material information beginning on Wednesday, September 30, 2015, if agreements discussed above can be promptly achieved.

LV 420571597v1

In order to avoid any argument that RDI has waived any of its rights, RDI confirms it will produce responsive documents that are not otherwise subject to any privilege or protection allowed under Nevada law, including but not limited to attorney-client privileged communications, attorney work product, private, confidential or proprietary information, and/or non-public material information that SEC promulgated rules and regulations preclude from being disclosed to any party who may use that non-public material information in determining whether to trade RDI stock.

FIRST SUPPLEMENTAL RESPONSE TO DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 1:

Pursuant to RDI's previous response above, RDI has prepared its first production of data and continues the review data and work with counsel regarding the predictive coding process. Please see documents identified by Production Nos. RDI0000037-RDI0000060; and RDI0000094-RDI0000095 produced with RDI's NRCP Rule 16.1 Initial Disclosures. As the document review and discovery process continues, this response may be supplemented.

SECOND SUPPLEMENTAL RESPONSE TO DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 1:

Please see documents identified in response to this request for production on Exhibit A, attached hereto. These documents were produced with RDI's First Supplemental NRCP Rule 16.1 Initial Disclosures. As the document review and discovery process continues, this response may be supplemented.

THIRD SUPPLEMENTAL RESPONSE TO DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 1:

Please see documents identified in response to this request for production on Exhibit B, attached hereto. These documents were produced with RDI's Second Supplemental NRCP Rule 16.1 Initial Disclosures. As the document review and discovery process continues, this response may be supplemented.

DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 2:

Any search by or for nominal defendant RDI for an executive with experience or expertise in real estate, including but not limited to a director of real estate.

FIRST SUPPLEMENTAL RESPONSE TO DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 4:

Pursuant to RDI's previous response above, RDI has prepared its first production of data and continues the review data and work with counsel regarding the predictive coding process. Please see documents identified by Production Nos. RDI0000001-RDI0000014; and RDI0000022-RDI0000036 produced with RDI's NRCP Rule 16.1 Initial Disclosures. As the document review and discovery process continues, this response may be supplemented.

SECOND SUPPLEMENTAL RESPONSE TO DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 4:

Please see documents identified in response to this request for production on Exhibit A, attached hereto. These documents were produced with RDI's First Supplemental NRCP Rule 16.1 Initial Disclosures. As the document review and discovery process continues, this response may be supplemented.

THIRD SUPPLEMENTAL RESPONSE TO DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 4:

Please see documents identified in response to this request for production on Exhibit B, attached hereto. These documents were produced with RDI's Second Supplemental NRCP Rule 16.1 Initial Disclosures. As the document review and discovery process continues, this response may be supplemented.

DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 5:

documents relating to any decision to not make any disclosure regarding any such committee.

RESPONSE TO DOCUMENT REQUEST NO. 5:

RDI has engaged in numerous conversations with counsel for James Cotter, Jr. and Intervening Plaintiffs regarding the status of production of documents. RDI hereby confirms that it has imaged RDI's server and the machines of all custodians the parties agreed upon. RDI worked with Plaintiff to reach a stipulation as to appropriate search terms and procedures for obtaining and producing responsive documents not otherwise subject to objections. The parties agreed upon search terms on September 16, 2015, and RDI instructed its document production vendor to run the search in accordance with that stipulation. Given that the parties also agreed to utilize predictive coding procedures in order to expedite the identification of responsive documents, RDI anticipates it will provide the first set of documents to Plaintiff to confirm responsive/non-responsive identification on or about Wednesday, September 23, 2015. Once an agreement can be reached regarding the responsive/nonresponsive designation in the first set of documents, and a protective order is stipulated to amongst all parties or put into place by the Court, RDI will complete the predictive coding process and will begin reviewing and producing non-privileged and/or non-public material information on a rolling basis. RDI anticipates it can begin producing non-privileged and/or non-public material information beginning on Wednesday, September 30, 2015, if agreements discussed above can be promptly achieved.

In order to avoid any argument that RDI has waived any of its rights, RDI confirms it will produce responsive documents that are not otherwise subject to any privilege or protection allowed under Nevada law, including but not limited to attorney-client privileged communications, attorney work product, private, confidential or proprietary information, and/or non-public material information that SEC promulgated rules and regulations preclude from being disclosed to any party who may use that non-public material information in determining whether to trade RDI stock.

Plaintiff James J. Cotter, Jr. ("Cotter") hereby submits his Reply to RDI's Opposition to Motion to Retax Costs. This Reply is based on papers and pleadings on file, the exhibits attached hereto, the following points and authorities, and any oral argument the Court may allow.

INTRODUCTION

RDI's thirty-page opposition and the untimely-filed 8-volume appendix thereto do not support its extraordinary $2.9 million cost bill. They confirm that the bill is exorbitant and unjust. RDI's opposition also confirms that counsel for RDI was manifestly conflicted when providing legal advice on ratification to the Special Independent Committee on December 21, 2017. RDI admits, and the bills show, that on December 7, 13, 15, 20, and 21, 2017, RDI's counsel was in California to prepare the two Cotter sisters—who were alleged to have breached their fiduciary duties to RDI—for trial. Opp'n at 28:6-12; id. Ex. 11 and EP 1607-1608; EP 1614; EP 468; EP 629-630; EP 632. RDI admits, and its cost bills show, that Greenberg Traurig played a lead role throughout this case and would have played a lead role at trial, Opp'n at 27 fn. 19, when its role as counsel to this nominal defendant should have been "wholly neutral" under the cases it cites. See, e.g., Swenson v. Thibaut, 250 SE 2d 279, 293-94 (N.C. App. 1978).

In its quest to justify and recover the outrageously unreasonable costs incurred by its conflicted counsel, RDI misrepresents Plaintiff's pleadings and the relief he sought in a dissembling effort to characterize its role as a third-party defendant. But unlike the third-party subcontractors in Copper Sands Homeowners v. Flamingo 94 Ltd., 335 P.3d 203, 206 (Nev. 2014)—who were "functionally adverse" to the plaintiff HOA even if not sued by it, because they built the allegedly defective development—RDI was functionally aligned with the Plaintiff: Plaintiff did not file any claims or seek damages against RDI. He sought damages on behalf of RDI. Mr.

$\begin{array}{c} MORRIS\ LAW\ GROUP \\ \text{411 E. Bonneville Ave., Ste. 360 \cdot Las Vegas, Nevada 89101} \\ \text{702/474-9400 \cdot FAX 702/474-9422} \end{array}$

Cotter's claims did not pose a "threat" to the corporation. He is not responsible for costs that were needlessly and recklessly incurred by the Cotter sisters' counsel to "protect" RDI against claims Plaintiff was not making against the company.

The untimely additional cost documents RDI filed display lavish and reckless spending by RDI's management under the guise of "trial costs." For example, $918 for a limousine ride from Los Angeles to Las Vegas for Ellen Cotter, EP 1899; a one-way $2,698 airfare from New York to Las Vegas for Margaret Cotter, EP 1978-79; $3,183 for "director rooms" at the Four Seasons—seven miles away from the courthouse, EP 1838, 1841; a $1,200 dinner for RDI's general counsel and the Cotter sisters at Nobu, Las Vegas—days after trial was continued, EP 2186; sixteen limousines (at $250 each) for transportation from and to the Four Seasons, EP 1894-99, and so on. RDI also seeks more than $15,000 for first-class travel and lodging at the Mandarin Oriental for its general counsel, including for hearings pertaining to the T2 plaintiffs or for dates when no hearings were held. E.g., EP 2028-30; EP 2034-2035; EP 2109-2110; EP 2118-2119; EP 2131-2132.1

RDI had the burden of proof to show that the punitive costs it seeks on behalf of itself and the individual defendants were actually, necessarily, and reasonably incurred. NRS 18.110(1). It purports to belatedly fulfill its burden by a 3500-page document dump that it characterizes as an appendix. Nothing in this late-filed dump or in the opposition that precedes it establishes anything other than that the Cotter sisters and their counsel indiscriminately spent almost $3 million in "costs" to "defend" nominal defendant RDI against claims the Plaintiff was not making against the company. Based on the "outrageously excessive" requested amount, and the absence of a good faith effort to exclude clearly excessive and unreasonable costs, the Court should use its discretion to deny RDI and the individual defendants all of their costs. Cf. Clemens v. New York Cent. Mut. Fire Ins. Co., No. 17-3150, __ F.3d __, 2018 WL 4344678, at *5 (3d Cir. Sept. 12, 2018) (holding that the district court had discretion to deny all attorneys' fees sought where the $900,000 requested was "outrageously excessive" and counsel failed to fulfil his duty to in good faith omit excessive and unnecessary hours).

II. ARGUMENT

A. RDI is a nominal defendant that did not prevail in this case.

It is not enough to be entitled to costs that RDI was a "party to this Litigation." Opp'n at 5. RDI must be the prevailing party under NRS 18.020. A nominal defendant cannot be a prevailing party because nominal implies "neutral." A neutral party is not "a prevailing party." The older cases RDI cites on page 6 of its Opposition establish this and illustrate why RDI is wrong in its assertion that it was "required" to defend against Plaintiff's claims.² For example, in Swenson v. Thibaut, 250 S.E. 2d 279 (N.C. App. 1978), the court held that where, as here, directors are alleged to have breached their fiduciary duties, the corporation named as a nominal defendant " 'is required to take and maintain a wholly neutral position taking sides neither with the complainant nor with the defending director.' " Id. at 293-94 (quoting Solimine v. Hollander, 129 N.J.Eq. 264, 19 A.2d 344 (1941)). As the Swenson court noted:

² RDI altogether ignored the more recent California cases cited by Plaintiff, such as Patrick v. Alacer Corp., 167 Cal. App. 4th 995, 1005, 84 Cal.Rptr.3d 642, 652 (2008), which extensively relies on Swenson and rejects the entirely of what RDI argues in its Opposition.

The anomaly of a corporation, in whose name and right a derivative action is brought, being allowed to defend itself against itself is apparent. It is particularly apparent in the situation, such as is found in the instant case, where the alleged wrongdoers are in control of the corporation.

Swenson, 250 S.E. 2d at 294.

In Solimine, the court held:

It is important to remember the true nature of a suit of this character. . . . While nominally the company is named as a defendant, actually and realistically it is the true complainant, for any avails realized from the litigation belong to it and it alone. The only circumstance under which the individual stockholder is permitted to bring the suit is either the refusal of those in control of the company to bring the proceeding or the fact that their relation to the subject of complaint is such that demand upon those in control to bring the suit would be futile. Whatever be the circumstances furnishing license to the individual stockholder to bring a class action of this kind, the fact remains that when suit is brought and determined on its merits the company must be treated in all respects, including liability for costs and counsel fees, as any other complainant in the ordinary cause.

129 N.J. Eq. at 265-66. (emphasis added).

Nat'l Bankers Life Ins. Co. v. Adler, 324 S.W.2d 35, 37 (Tex.Civ.App.1959), a case RDI relies on, holds likewise. Only "[i]f the derivative action threatens rather than advances the corporate interests, the corporation may actually defend the action," such as when a derivative plaintiff seeks to enjoin performance of a corporation's contract or seeks to appoint a receiver, which is not this case.

RDI could not unilaterally change its nominal status by answering the complaint filed on its behalf and thereafter joining in defendants' motions for summary judgment on the merits, as it did here. And the fact that RDI was required to remain neutral did not render RDI immune from discovery any more so than a third party subpoenaed for documents.

1. Plaintiff's lawsuit did not seek adverse relief against or threaten RDI.

RDI misrepresents and grossly overstates the relief sought by Plaintiff in this case. Plaintiff did not seek damages or injunctive relief against RDI but on behalf of RDI. See, e.g., June 12, 2015 Compl., on file ¶¶ 133-134; Oct. 22, 2015 Am. Compl., on file, ¶¶ 192-193 (" . . . the Company . . and other RDI shareholders have suffered . . . injury the Company, and other shareholders will suffer irreparable harm. . . . ") (emphasis added); see also Sept. 2, 2016 Second Am. Compl., on file at 45 ("RDI AND RDI SHAREHOLDERS ARE INJURED"); id. at 53, ¶ 202 ("unless such injunctive relief is granted, Plaintiff, the Company and other shareholders will suffer irreparable harm"); id. at 54 (Prayer for Relief, ¶ 5) ("For. . . damages incurred by RDI. . . . ") (emphasis added).

Plaintiff's second amended complaint did not seek reinstatement from RDI; it asked for relief against the individual directors and for an order that certain of their decisions were invalid. Second Am. Compl., on file at 54, Prayer for Relief ¶ 3(a)-(e). The only subsection in Plaintiff's Prayer for Relief that addresses RDI is ¶3(c), which asks "RDI and the individual defendants to make . . . corrective disclosures . . . in advance of RDI's 2017 ASM " Id. ¶ 3(c) (emphasis added). But this relief was ancillary and based on alleged conduct by the individual defendants. See id. ¶101. Regardless, however, a request for corrective disclosures is not a "threat" to RDI that justified RDI abandoning the "wholly neutral position" it was required to take. Moreover, this ancillary relief was not sought until September 2016, which does not justify the adversarial position RDI took from the inception of this case.

2. RDI was not "functionally adverse" to Plaintiff.

RDI's position is not comparable to that of the third-party subcontractors in Copper Sands Homeowners v. Flamingo 94 Ltd., 335 P.3d

$\begin{array}{c} \mathbf{MORRIS\ LAW\ GROUP} \\ \textbf{411\ E.\ Bonneville\ Ave.,\ STE.\ 360\cdot LAS\ VEGAS,\ NEVADA\ 89101} \\ \textbf{702/474-9400\cdot FAX\ 702/474-9422} \end{array}$

203, 206 (Nev. 2014). There, the plaintiff HOA sued the developer for construction defects, which prompted the developer to file a third-party complaint against the subcontractors who "essentially built the Copper Sands project." Id. at 206. The third-party subcontractors were deemed the prevailing parties when the plaintiff HOA lost its lawsuit, because their liability was contingent on the HOA's claims against the Developer. Id. at 206-07. In other words, the subcontractors were deemed "functionally adverse" to the plaintiff. Id. Here, by contrast, RDI was not "functionally adverse" to the plaintiff; it was aligned with him: RDI did not face liability if the individual defendants were found liable. On the contrary, if Plaintiff prevailed on his claims against the directors, then so did RDI.

Thus, RDI is not a prevailing party and not entitled to any costs.

B. RDI's duty to indemnify Gould does not toll his untimely cost bill.

RDI cites no legal authority for the proposition that its duty to indemnify Gould for costs somehow excuses Gould's failure to file a timely cost bill. The costs submitted on Mr. Gould's behalf are were filed more than six months later. Mr. Gould never moved for more time before he passed away, and costs can no longer be awarded to him. None of the costs should be allowed.³

C. RDI still did not explain or support why most of its filing fees were necessary or reasonable.⁴

Plaintiff's argument is not that RDI "did not 'need' to file the documents," as RDI contends on page 11 of its Opposition; the point is that ³ As stated in Plaintiff's principal Motion, any argument in this brief for a reduction or disallowance of Gould's costs is made strictly in the alternative, should the Court determine that Gould's cost bill is timely.

⁴ As stated in Plaintiff's principal Motion, this argument and those below with respect to RDI's cost items are made strictly in the alternative, should the Court determine that RDI is a prevailing party entitled to costs.

RDI was not allowed to defeat or defend this case by filing a motion to compel arbitration, an answer, or by repeatedly joining in the directors' dispositive motions on the merits in this derivative case. Patrick v. Alacer Corp., 167 Cal. App. 4th 995, 1005-09, 84 Cal.Rptr.3d 642, 652 (2008). This is why most of the filing fees RDI seeks to recoup are improper, unnecessary, and unreasonable—even assuming it was the "prevailing party," which it is not.

The Court should disallow a total of $3,046.49 of RDI's filing fees, which are comprised of: (1) $1,466.50 for RDI's seven joinders to the defendants' motions for summary judgment, EP0049-0051, EP 0053-54, EP 0056, EP 0059-60; (2) $1,534.49 for RDI's Motion to compel arbitration and Reply brief, EP 0003, EP 0012; (3) $17.50 for filings related to the T-2 Plaintiffs, such as RDI's joinder to defendants' Motion to Disqualify Intervening Plaintiffs, EP 0026, EP 0040, EP 0048, EP 0065-66; and (4) $28.00 for other improper and unnecessary filings, such as a jury demand, RDI's reply in support of its joinders to the Partial MSJs, and its joinders and replies in support of its joinders to defendants' motions in limine, EP 0001-0002, EP 0016, EP 0067-69, EP 0071-72. RDI is not entitled to these unnecessary and unwarranted costs.

D. RDI's $53,344.70 for deposition reporters' fees were unnecessary.

RDI mistakenly relies on a California procedural statute that has no application in this Court to justify its counsel attending and thereafter ordering each and every (certified) deposition transcript in a case in which RDI should have remained neutral. The standard under NRS 18.050 and NRS 18.020 is necessity and reasonableness. It was not necessary or reasonable for a nominal defendant like RDI to incur $53,344.70 in reporter and transcript fees; all of these costs should be disallowed.

MORRIS LAW GROUP 1 E. BONNEVILLE AVE., STE. 360 · LAS VEGAS, NEVADA 8910 · 702/474-9400 · FAX 702/474-9422

The court reporters who took the depositions in this case were hardly cheated: Plaintiff's counsel, Gould's counsel, and the Cotter sisters' counsel each ordered and paid for their separate copies. RDI's feigned concern for court reporters is also disingenuous: RDI's counsel apparently shared the transcripts it ordered from this Court's court reporter with the Cotter sisters' counsel without them paying Florence Hoyt for their own copy. See, e.g., EP 0290 (billing RDI and Plaintiff for cost of transcript of October 27, 2016 hearing); see Ex. A to Defendants' Supplement to Partial MSJs, on file (attaching excerpts of Oct. 27, 2016 Hearing Tr.). To be sure, Quinn Emanuel does not seek any costs for official court reporters' costs. See Cost Memo at 5 (chart).

E. Defendants' tepid arguments to justify their $1.4 million expert fees are unconvincing and lack merit.

RDI admits that the $1.4 million incurred in expert witness fees is "prohibitive." Opp'n at 13:27. RDI does not deny and thus admits that: (1) Klausner's $447,000 fees were grossly excessive given his limited task; (2) there was pervasive duplicate work performed by the numerous staff members who assisted the Cotter defendants' experts; (3) experts Roll and Klausner failed to describe the work they did; (4) the billing records show pervasive block-billing; (5) none of the Partial MSJs relied on expert testimony; (6) Gould by and large relied on fact testimony and the expert testimony of Plaintiff's expert, former Chief Judge Steele; (7) the Court did not rely on expert testimony in any of its MSJ rulings; and (8) Gould and the Cotter defendants "preemptively" retained two experts on corporate governance and one damages expert to prepare initial expert reports, even though Plaintiff carried the burden of proof on these matters, and Gould had already been found independent.

Although most—if not all—relevant factors set out in Frazier v. Drake, 357 P.3d 365, 377 (Nev. Ct. of App. 2015) thus weigh in favor of substantially reducing the expert fees, RDI nevertheless asks the Court to award it all $1.4 million in expert costs based on a rambling argument unsupported by any reference to the record. Opp'n at 14-16.⁵ RDI claims that Plaintiff did not prove the unreasonableness of its costs, id. at 16, but RDI had the burden to prove the costs were reasonable. Even so, Plaintiff more than supported his argument that the costs were *un*reasonable, including with some very specific references to the prohibitive expert bills. See Motion to Retax at 10-19.

None of RDI's conclusory arguments has merit. First, Plaintiff did not contend that his claims were "frivolous," as RDI states on page 14 of its Opposition; this was and has been the defendants' claim all along. It is defendants' oft-repeated argument that they always knew there was no basis for any of Plaintiff's claims and damages that cannot be reconciled with their purported need to retain five experts who collectively billed $1.4 million. Second, RDI admits that retaining an initial damages expert was wasteful, because it was not until defendants saw Duarte-Silva's report that they realized they needed yet another damages expert to respond to his other claims. Opp'n at 15. Third, there is no support whatsoever in Plaintiff's first or second amended complaint for RDI's argument that Plaintiff claimed $100 million in damages.⁶ Since RDI failed to meet its burden under NRS 18.005

⁵ RDI's counsel suggested that the Court ask Plaintiff what he paid in terms of expert fees. But it is not Plaintiff's burden to show that RDI's expert fees are reasonable compared to those incurred in similar cases. Moreover, the Court already knows that Plaintiff is disputing the expert fees billed by Finnerty and Duarte-Silva. The expert bills Plaintiff did not dispute are nowhere near as high as those of the defendants. Plaintiff paid former Chief Judge Steele $105,301 total for his report and testimony.

and NRS 18.110 that its costs were reasonable and necessary under the Frazier factors, the Court should use its discretion and substantially reduce them.

F. Quinn Emanuel did not explain that all of its copy costs ($11,550.84) were necessary and reasonable.

As the Nevada Supreme Court has held, counsel must "demonstrate how [copying] fees were necessary to and incurred in the present action." Cadle Co. v. Woods & Erickson, LLP, 345 P.3d 1049, 1054 (Nev. 2015) (internal quotation marks and citation omitted) (emphasis added); In Re Dish Network Deriv. Litig., 133 Nev. ___, 401 P.3d 1081, 1093 (2017) (holding same). "[D]ocumentation substantiating the reason for each copy 'is precisely what is required under Nevada law.' " Cadle Co., 345 P.3d at 1054 (quoting Vill. Builders 96, L.P. v. U.S. Labs., Inc., 121 Nev. 261, 276-77, 112 P.3d 1082, 1093 (2005))(emphasis added).

Here, Quinn Emanuel provided a declaration of counsel that the copy costs were necessary and reasonable and provided supporting documentation for the copy costs, but there is no evidence to support the need for 96,257 copies (based on $0.12 per page) in this case and the reasonableness of spending $11,550.84 for them. These copy costs should be reduced.

1. Gould ($4,782.06).

Based on $0.07 per page, Gould's copy costs represent 68,315 pages, which is an incredible amount of paper for a single defendant. Like counsel for the Cotter defendants, Gould's counsel did not show how and why and for what all of these copy costs were incurred.

G. The Cotter defendants did not demonstrate the urgency to support $3,067.34 in FedEx costs.

Mr. Searcy's supplemental declaration does not explain the urgency with respect to the mailings that would require using FedEx as opposed to regular or electronic mail. The Court should disallow all such RDI's argument that it was necessary for its counsel to attend the depositions to assert the company's privileges is nonsense. Under Las Vegas Sands Corp. v. Dist. Ct., 130 Nev. 656, 331 P.3d 905, 912 (2014) and CFTC v. Weintraub, 471 U.S. 343 (1985), "the power to waive the corporate attorney-client privilege rests with the corporation's management and is normally exercised by its officers and directors" who must "exercise the privilege in a manner consistent with their fiduciary duty to act in the best interests of the corporation and not of themselves as individuals." Weintraub, 471 U.S. at 348-49. The individual defendant directors thus have no right to waive the privilege if it suits their own interests, as RDI incredibly argues on page 18 of its Opposition. They must always consider the best interests of RDI. Weintraub, 471 U.S. at 348-49.

RDI's reliance on Las Vegas Sands Corp. v. Dist. Ct., 130 Nev. 656, 331 P.3d 905, 912 (2014) is also misplaced because there, a former employee/officer attempted to waive the privilege over the objections of current management. With the exception of former director Storey, no former members of the board were deposed who risked waiving RDI's privilege. But even that deposition could have been attended telephonically by RDI's counsel. There was no need for RDI to spend nearly as much for deposition travel costs ($24,000) as the Cotter defendants ($28,000) to attend depositions, nor was it reasonable to do so.

RDI's throwaway argument that deposition travel costs would have been higher if all parties had retained local counsel does not justify its own travel costs. Under the "general rule," plaintiffs have to appear for deposition in the state where they initiate the lawsuit. Okada v. Dist. Ct., 359 P.3d 1106, 1111 n. 5 (Nev. 2015). Thus, if Plaintiff had appeared for deposition in Nevada, RDI's counsel would not have incurred any travel costs. Moreover, when it comes to defendants' depositions, the first factor courts look at to determine where the deposition should take place is "(1) the location of counsel for the parties in the forum district. . . . " Id. at 1112 (quoting 7 James Wm. Moore et al., Moore's Federal Practice § 30.20(1)(b)(ii) (3d ed.2015)). Thus, if all counsel had been located in Las Vegas, Nevada, it would have been more reasonable and efficient to have the one deponent travel to Las Vegas, instead of three or four sets of counsel travel to the deponent's residence, as occurred here.

1. The Cotter defendants' expenses ($28,111) are excessive.

The Quinn Emanuel invoices show that their counsel consistently spent between 10% and 100% above the GSA government per diem rates that RDI refers to in its Opposition on page 20 fn. 11. For example, the GSA rates for New York are $291 per day for hotels and $74 per day for food. See https://www.gsa.gov/travel/plan-book/per-diem-rates/per-diem-rates-lookup. But in New York, counsel for the Cotter defendants often spent more than $600 on lodging and many bills for meals exceed $200 a day. E.g., EP 2841 ($662.16); EP 2844 ($644.21); EP 2846 ($643.21). The GSA rates for Las Vegas are $106 (hotel) and $64 (food). But Quinn Emanuel lawyers stayed at the Mandarin Oriental at four times this rate, e.g., MEP 399, and even the rooms at Golden Nugget were in the $200-$300-dollar range. MEP 400; see also EP 2245 (room upgrade $249); EP 2266 (same); EP 2509 (room upgrade to suite $278.18); EP 2537 ($402.76 room upgrade). These and all other excessive travel, lodging, and meal expenses should be substantially reduced, if allowed at all.

RDI's opposition also overlooks that Plaintiff is not challenging reasonable costs for food or taxis costs incurred by the Cotter defendants' counsel outside of Los Angeles; he is challenging all costs for food that Quinn Emanuel counsel would have had to pay for in any event for in-town depositions, which are unreasonable because counsel would have to incur such food and transportation costs "regardless of the litigation." Morris v. Belfor USA Group, Inc., 201 P.3d 1253, 1264 (Colo. Ct. Appeals, 7th Div. 2008). Yet, the Cotter defendants seek reimbursement for many lunches for their attorneys while defending or taking depositions in Los Angeles. E.g., MEP 389 (May 16-18, 2016; July 6, 2016) (Depositions of Ellen Cotter and Doug McEachern). The Quinn Emanuel attorneys also seek to recover hundreds of dollars in expensive "car service" to go from their homes to depositions taken in town. See MEP 383 ("work date" August 31, 2016) and MEP 386 ("work date" 5/19/2016) (depositions of Ellen Cotter and Robert Mayes); EP 2976, EP 3027, EP 3029. These are not necessary or reasonable taxable costs. The Court should not allow any of these costs.

2. Gould ($15,932.59)

Gould's counsel recognizes that she sought reimbursement for a first class $3,612.20 airfare ticket but RDI proposes to reduce this only by an arbitrary 25%. Opp'n at 21. A cost of $2,700 for an airfare ticket to go anywhere within the United States is still excessive. Not more than $700 should be allowed. Gould's counsel also admits that she could only provide back-up for $205.86 of the $473.94 sought for a December 31, 2016 trip. Bannett Decl. to Opp'n ¶2. Accordingly, only $205.86 should be allowed on this item. Unless all of Gould's costs are disallowed, as they should be, the Court should apply a 10-25% overall reduction on all travel expenses because they are unreasonable. E.g., EP 3323 ($656.43 per night); EP $628.89per night).

I. RDI did not prove the necessity or reasonableness of its outrageous Westlaw costs.

RDI still has not explained why and how it incurred 26 times more Westlaw research costs than defendant Gould and 7 times more than the Cotter defendants when it was a mere nominal defendant. RDI did not say what motion or which of its many joinders required it to spend between $1,500 and $6,000 each month on Westlaw, when these amounts approximate what Gould and the Cotter defendants incurred for Westlaw over the course of three years. Based on RDI's minimal role alone, the Court should reduce RDI's Westlaw bill to not more than $1,784.79—the amount incurred by Gould.

Should the Court be inclined to award RDI more, it should substantially reduce these costs for these reasons: First, RDI admits that it has no supporting backup information for $15,274.51 of its $47,324 in Westlaw research costs. Opp'n at 23 fn. 14; EP 1536 (billing starting at June 1, 2016). Second, the billing records it did produce do not prove that Greenberg Traurig ("GT") incurred all of its Westlaw costs in connection with this case.⁷ GT provided only printouts for charges per "client." EP 1536-1561. It provided no statements proving that these Westlaw charges were actually billed to RDI and pertained to its defense in this case. GT also represented RDI in the Los Angeles arbitration and did work for the Cotter sisters in the Los Angeles Trust litigation. The monthly Westlaw statements do not provide any detail to allow Plaintiff to verify costs that were necessarily incurred for this case. See e.g., EP 1536-1538 (listing only transactions without descriptions).⁸

⁷ It is hard to believe that a large, international law firm like Greenberg Traurig does not have a more cost-effective Westlaw plan.

Moreover, when comparing the monthly Westlaw charges to the case activity and papers filed by RDI in this case, it is clear that RDI's Westlaw bills are excessive, unrelated to Plaintiff's case, or both. In September 2015, RDI supposedly incurred $2,546.30 in Westlaw costs, MEP 040, but it filed just one joinder to defendants' motion to dismiss the T-2 Plaintiffs on September 14, 2015 (on file). Plaintiff should not have to pay for any costs incurred with the T2 Plaintiffs' case. In October 2015, RDI filed no motions, yet it claims to have incurred and seeks $2,065 in Westlaw costs. MEP 040. In November 2015, RDI filed a motion to dismiss Plaintiff's first amended complaint and incurred $5,085.51 in Westlaw costs. This is clearly excessive under any standards, especially when considering Gould's total research bill of $1,784.79. In May 2016, RDI's Westlaw bill was $2,423.50, MEP 041, but the motions it filed that month all related to the T2 plaintiffs. See May 25, 2016 Opposition to T2 Motion for Preliminary Injunction and May 24, 2015 Joinder to Motion to Disqualify T2 Plaintiffs, on file. In June, RDI did not file any motions but seeks $637 in Westlaw costs, and on July 27, 2016, RDI filed only a reply related to the T2 Plaintiffs' settlement but asks Plaintiff to pay for the $3,085.60 it incurred. MEP 041. In September 2016, RDI incurred $6,432.30, MEP 042; EP 1543, which it cannot justify based only on the many joinders it filed that month.

Without a showing that any of these Westlaw costs were actually incurred, reasonable, and necessary, they should be disallowed entirely.

1. Quinn Emanuel Westlaw costs.

Unlike RDI's Westlaw printouts, Quinn Emanuel's supporting documentation at least shows what its counsel used Westlaw for. See EP 2850-264 (Mathew Bender Treatise). The total cost, $6,612.00, is still excessive considering most of these costs were incurred in June 2015 alone, short period of time. E.g., EP 1538 (301 transactions).

using a database that was "off contract." Id. Thus, the Court should retax and reduce these costs as well.

The $902,000 incurred for E-discovery costs are prohibitive and largely unjustified.

RDI's recent motion papers and the billing records RDI belatedly produced confirm that there is no basis to award RDI anywhere near the $902,000 it incurred for its E-discovery costs.

> $902,000 is excessive given the size and scope of the case and the total documents produced.

In its Motion for Attorneys' fees, RDI admits that the defendants collectively produced only 27,000 documents representing 128,000 pages total in this case. See Motion for Attorneys' fees, on file, at 7:16-18. RDI itself produced only 71,599 pages of documents. See Motion to Retax, Ex. 4. By way of "comparison," the district court in CBT Flint Partners, LLC v. Return Path, Inc., 676 F. Supp. 2d 1376, 1380-81 (N.D. Georgia, 2009), vacated on other grounds, 654 F.3d 1353, 1361 (Fed. Cir. 2011) awarded less than $250,000 for E-discovery when 1.4 million documents were produced. In In re Dish Network, this Court allowed $151,000 for E-discovery for a production of 60,000 pages of documents related to Rule 56(f) discovery, In re Dish Network, 401 P.3d at 1093, but there, the records of 13 custodians had to be searched from three different servers and the records went back to 2008. See Special Litigation Committee of Dish Network Corporation's Answering Brief filed in NSC Case No. 69729, at p. 72 (citing to record evidence). Here, by contrast, Plaintiff's June 2015 complaint pertained to the events leading up to his June 2015 termination, which began no sooner than when Plaintiff was nominated CEO in 2014—less than a year earlier. There is no rhyme or reason why it was necessary or reasonable for RDI to upload almost 2 terabytes of data in August 2015, and incur $121,823.24 in processing fees and $45,089.75 in consulting fees in the process. See EP 0898

-0913; see also MEP 898-902. Certainly, Plaintiff's discovery requests served on August 14, 2015 did not seek the kitchen sink: rather, Plaintiff sought six categories of documents that were expressly limited to "documents created or dated on or after January 1, 2014 " See Exhibit 1 hereto at Reply Exhibit Page ("REP") 8-9. Plaintiff should not have to pay for this outrageous and unnecessary waste of money—especially when RDI consistently dragged its feet producing the relevant documents from it. See Exhibit 3 hereto at REP 64-71; REP 161-164 (listing detailing RDI's thirtyseven productions over the course of three years).

2. The billing records support that RDI seeks unrelated Ediscovery costs from Plaintiff.

The billing statements of Navigant strongly support that RDI used the electronic database unrelated litigation and unrelated aspects of this case but seeks to have Plaintiff pay for all of its costs. This is apparent from the fact that RDI chose a California-based vendor and uploaded almost 2 Terabytes of data despite the narrow scope of this case. EP 0898-0913. RDI ostensibly used the electronic database to respond to the discovery sought by the T-2 Plaintiffs, who asked for data going back to June 1, 2013. See Exhibit 2 hereto at REP42-62; Exhibit 3, REP84-93; REP106-123. There is other proof that RDI used the database for the employment arbitration and the California Trust litigation. See, e.g., EP 1183 (billing 1.5 hours for discussion with GT attorneys "RE Cotter Trust matter"); EP 1009 (billing 3.3) and 3.2 for predictive coding models for the "Reading International GT matter"). Akin Gump, which initially represented RDI in the employment arbitration, had early access to the database. EP 1257-58; EP 1203.

RDI made no effort to allocate the costs incurred in connection with Plaintiff's case from the other aspects of this and other cases. For this reason alone, the E-discovery costs should be drastically reduced, if not wholly disallowed.

The hundreds of thousands of dollars for consulting, 3. project management, and search fees are not specified.

Courts have disallowed electronic discovery consultancy costs where, as here, "the defendants hired experts at a huge hourly cost to search for and retrieve discoverable electronic documents." Klayman v. Freedom's Watch, Inc., No. 07-22433-CIV, 2008 WL 5111293, at *2 (S.D. Fla. Dec. 4, 2008). If E-discovery consultants perform work which in a "non-electronic document case . . . would be performed by paralegals and associate attorneys," they are not properly taxed as costs, id., and it would be unreasonable to award them. NRS 18.005.

Here, the Navigant invoices show hundreds of hours yielding a total of $455,129.40 in "consulting" and "project management" fees that are mostly block-billed and were billed at hourly rates between $225 and $350 per hour. EP 0893-1533. Plaintiff disputes the necessity of all such fees. But for the Court's reference, attached hereto as Exhibit 4 is a chart that details the main challenges and sets out the reasons why they are excessive and unreasonable. For example, Navigant staff spent thousands of dollars each month billing for "speaking to [unidentified] counsel." E.g., EP 898-0902 ($45,089.75 consulting fees); EP 0928-931 ($38,807.50 consulting fees; EP 1008-1011 ($50,786.25 in consulting fees and $40,610.25 in project management fees). Extensive searches were conducted, e.g., EP 1426-27 ($6,725.10). The extraordinary amount of initial consulting fees in 2015 were not the result of Plaintiff's document requests, see Ex. 1, but the direct result of RDI putting the equivalent of a 2 Terabyte document dump on Navigant's database. EP 0898-0913. All of these costs billed by the hour are more akin to attorney and paralegal time and should not be charged to Plaintiff under the umbrella of "costs."

RDI incurred excessive user fees and needless travel costs. 4.

Navigant even charged for travel fees, EP 1515 ($1,607.49 airfare and mileage), and had an excessive number of users with access to the database, each costing $75 per month. EP 955. Sometimes, RDI had as many as fifteen users. EP 976, 1008. Often there were nine users. E.g., EP 1040, 1052, 1075. All these aspects support a strong reduction of the Ediscovery costs.

K. The billing records do not make defendants' court travel costs necessary or reasonable.

RDI cites Johnson v. University College, 706 F.2d 1205, 1208 (11th Cir. 1983) to support defendants' travel costs, but that case was about attorneys' fees incurred by counsel while traveling, not travel costs, which are subject to the standards of NRS 18.005. The travel costs incurred here were not necessary or reasonable. For example, RDI does not explain the necessity of three GT attorneys traveling to California in August of 2015. Opp'n Ex. 11 (Coburn, Ferraro, and Bonner).

RDI also misses the point about Gould's counsel. Of course, Gould must be represented by local counsel in court. The point is that Gould chose two sets of out-of-town counsel: Not even his "local" counsel was truly local but had to travel from Reno, needlessly doubling the travel costs incurred for court.

1. RDI's billing records confirm that its counsel was conflicted when advising on ratification.

RDI now admits that its counsel traveled to California to prepare Ellen and Margaret Cotter for trial in December of 2017 while at the same time purportedly advising the independent committee on ratification; Opp'n 28:6-12; MEP 052-053 (travel and meetings on December 13, 15, 17, 20, 21). This proves RDI's counsel was conflicted on two levels: RDI's counsel represented the company—supposedly in a "wholly neutral way— while it also: (1) represented and advised the special independent committee on ratification; and (2) represented and advised the Cotter sisters for trial and general litigation purposes. Id. Putting aside the three different hats GT was wearing, these travel costs were also unreasonable considering the Cotter sisters were separately represented by counsel. None should be allowed.

2. RDI's company bills show that its officers were treating the litigation and trial like a party.

With the benefit of the underlying billing records and expense reports, it is now clear that RDI's management recklessly spent company funds on luxury accommodations and travel and that the $87,657.20 it seeks includes many charges unrelated to this case. Attached hereto as Exhibit 5 is a chart that includes all charges relative to this cost category that Plaintiff disputes, together with citations to the relevant appendix pages, and the reasons therefore.

To illustrate, consider just a few examples: RDI seeks $7,880 for a plane trip for director Storey in June 2015 that is related to a board meeting. EP 1653. Ellen Cotter seeks thousands of dollars for "court" when either no hearings took place or the hearings pertained to the T2 Plaintiffs. EP 1712-14; EP 1730-33; EP 1780-81; EP 1798-1800. Margaret Cotter booked a $2,698.30 ticket to Las Vegas on January 5, and a $2,228.30 return ticket to New York a few days later. EP 1978-80. Craig Thompkins, RDI's general counsel, who apparently lives in and commutes from Oregon, billed for flight changes, for phantom court hearings, for T2 Plaintiff hearings, and for inconsequential Rule 16 hearings—all first-class travel and stays at the Mandarin Oriental. E.g., EP 2010-2145. Ellen Cotter booked and paid for sixteen limousines for transportation from and to the Four Seasons hotel, EP 1894-1899, and traveled to and from Las Vegas in a limousine herself. EP 1899.

As stated in Plaintiff's initial Motion, there was no need to incur $6,099.27 for an executive office or $6,108.30 for temporary "housing" in Las Vegas for its general counsel, and a host of other "trial costs," which are still not described. These and other charges, such as the Office Depot charges ($800) for post-it notes are pure overhead costs that RDI and the Cotter defendants could have avoided by choosing local counsel.

Ouinn Emanuel's travel costs should be reduced. 3.

Quinn Emanuel provided proper documentation to support its $71,687.19 in costs for lodging and travel to court proceedings and client and witness meetings. But this does not change the fact that those costs were not by necessity but by choice because the Cotter sisters chose California counsel to defend them in a Nevada proceeding. Searcy Decl. ¶ 16 and Ex. 10 thereto. These documents also show (and confirm) that many of the costs that were actually incurred were excessive.

The three Cotter defendants did not need a 9-member trial team (with at least one member flying in from New York; the others from Los Angeles) that incurred tens of thousands of dollars for travel, transportation, and meals, even after trial was stayed on January 8. Id. at e.g., EP 0395-0396, EP 0403 (Yllen Cruz items).

There was no need for Christopher Crant, expert Foster's assistant, to travel to Las Vegas on December 5 and incur $2,288.51 in travel expenses before the summary judgment motions that did not rely on any of Foster's work, were decided.

There was no need for two QE attorneys to travel to a February 17, 2016 hearing on a (procedural) motion to compel, and stay at the Mandarin Oriental (in rooms costing $499 and $440, respectively)—six miles from the courthouse. Id. at EP 0399. Travel agent fees of $50 per ticket are excessive (compare GT rates of $30) given the already expensive $500-plus tickets. For all these reasons, none of these travel costs should be allowed.

Bird Marella's court travel costs should be disallowed.

As explained in the principal Motion, Gould retained two out-oftown law firms to represent him, both of which were required to travel to court. Gould's Reno attorneys incurred approximately $3,000 to travel to Las Vegas for hearings, EP 0419-420, whereas his California counsel incurred more than three times this amount ($11,000). If Gould's court travel costs are allowed at all, the Court should only allow the reasonable travel costs of one set of attorneys; not both. The Court should award no more than the $3,000 his Reno attorneys incurred.

L. Miscellaneous non-taxable costs.

RDI did not dispute that (1) $1,100 for two pro hac vice applications for Gould's California attorneys should be disallowed.

CONCLUSION III.

For the reasons set out above, the Court should use its discretion to: (1) disallow all costs claimed by RDI, which is not a prevailing party and as a nominal defendant did not need to defend itself against any claims; (2) disallow all Gould's costs as untimely; (3) disallow all Westlaw and Ediscovery costs that are insufficiently itemized or described; and (4) greatly reduce all categories of costs—including but not limited to those for expert witnesses, computerized legal research, E-discovery, deposition transcripts, travel expenses, lodging, temporary office, and residential space—because

LEWIS ROCA 3993 Howard Hughes Parkway Suite 600 ROTHGERBER Las Vegas, Nevada 89169

Plaintiff James J. Cotter, Jr. ("JJC" or "Plaintiff"), by and through his attorneys, Lewis Roca Rothgerber LLP, pursuant to Nevada Rule of Civil Procedure 34, hereby requests that defendants Ellen Cotter ("EC"), Margaret Cotter ("MC"), Edward Kane ("Kane"), Guy Adams ("Adams"), Doug McEachern ("McEachern"), Tim Storey ("Storey"), William Gould ("Gould") and nominal defendant Reading International, Inc. ("RDI") (collectively, "Defendants") produce and make available for inspection and copying the documents and things described herein, in accordance with the Definitions and Instructions set forth below, at the offices of Lewis Roca Rothgerber LLP, 3993 Howard Hughes Parkway, Suite 600, Las Vegas, Nevada 89169, within 30 days of the date of service of this request.

INSTRUCTIONS

- This Request for Production is a continuing request. You shall promptly produce any and all additional documents that are received, discovered or created after the time of the initial production.
- 2. This Request for Production applies to all documents in your possession, custody or control, and includes documents within the possession, custody or control of your partners, employees, agents, attorneys and representatives, wherever located, including but not limited to all documents obtained by Defendants.
- 3. If you object to any request in part, you shall produce all responsive documents to which the objection does not apply.
- 4. If any documents are withheld from production on the alleged grounds of privilege or immunity (whether under common law, statute, or otherwise), each such document is to be identified by stating: (a) the identity of each person who prepared and/or signed the document; (b) the identity of each person designated as an addressee; (c) the identity of each person who received any copy of the document; (d) the date of the document; (e) the subject matter of the document; (f) the type of document; and (g) the basis for withholding the document.
- 5. If a document contains both privileged and non-privileged material, the non-privileged material must be disclosed to the fullest extent possible without thereby disclosing the privileged material. If a privilege is asserted with regard to part of the material contained in a document, the party claiming the privilege must clearly indicate the portions as to which the privilege is claimed. When a document has been redacted or altered in any fashion, identify as to each document the reason for the redaction or alteration, the date of the redaction or alteration, and the person performing the redaction or alteration. Any redaction must be clearly visible on the redacted documents.

- 6. In the event that any document called for by this Request for Production has been destroyed or discarded, that document is to be identified by stating; (a) any address or any addressee; (b) any indicated or blind copies; (c) the document's date, subject matter, number of pages, and attachments or appendices; (d) all persons to whom the document was distributed, shown or explained; (e) its date of destruction or discard, manner of destruction or discard, and reason for destruction or discard; (f) the persons who authorized and carried out such destruction or discard; and (g) whether any copies of the document presently exist and, if so, the name of the custodian of each copy.
- 7. Any copy of a document that varies in any way whatsoever from the original or from any other copy of the document, whether by reason of handwritten or other notation or any omission, shall constitute a separate document and must be produced, whether or not the original of such a document is within your possession, custody or control. A request for any document shall be deemed to include a request for all drafts thereof, and all revisions and modifications thereto, including any red-lined versions or document comparisons, in addition to the document itself. Each document is to be produced in its entirety, without abbreviation or expurgation.
- 8. In producing documents, all documents that are physically attached to each other when located for production shall be left so attached. Documents that are segregated or separated from other documents, whether by inclusion of binders, files, subfiles or by use of dividers, tabs, or any other method, shall be left so segregated or separated. Documents shall be retained in the order in which they were maintained and in the file where found. If no documents exist that are responsive to a particular request, you shall so state in writing.
- 9. Electronic records and computerized information as well as documents stored electronically, including, but not limited to, electronic mail and draft documents, must be and copying the documents and things described herein, in accordance with the Definitions and Instructions set forth below, at the offices of Lewis Roca Rothgerber LLP, 3993 Howard Hughes Parkway, Suite 600, Las Vegas, Nevada 89169, within 30 days of the date of service of this request.

INSTRUCTIONS

- 1. This Request for Production is a continuing request. You shall promptly produce any and all additional documents that are received, discovered or created after the time of the initial production.
- This Request for Production applies to all documents in your possession, custody or 2. control, and includes documents within the possession, custody or control of your partners, employees, agents, attorneys and representatives, wherever located, including but not limited to all documents obtained by Defendants.
- 3. If you object to any request in part, you shall produce all responsive documents to which the objection does not apply.
- 4. If any documents are withheld from production on the alleged grounds of privilege or immunity (whether under common law, statute, or otherwise), each such document is to be identified by stating: (a) the identity of each person who prepared and/or signed the document; (b) the identity of each person designated as an addressee; (c) the identity of each person who received any copy of the document; (d) the date of the document; (e) the subject matter of the document; (f) the type of document; and (g) the basis for withholding the document.
- 5. If a document contains both privileged and non-privileged material, the nonprivileged material must be disclosed to the fullest extent possible without thereby disclosing the privileged material. If a privilege is asserted with regard to part of the material contained in a document, the party claiming the privilege must clearly indicate the portions as to which the privilege is claimed. When a document has been redacted or altered in any fashion, identify as to each document the reason for the redaction or alteration, the date of the redaction or alteration, and the person performing the redaction or alteration. Any redaction must be clearly visible on the redacted documents.

6. In the event that any document called for by this Request for Production has been destroyed or discarded, that document is to be identified by stating; (a) any address or any addressee; (b) any indicated or blind copies; (c) the document's date, subject matter, number of pages, and attachments or appendices; (d) all persons to whom the document was distributed, shown or explained; (e) its date of destruction or discard, manner of destruction or discard, and reason for destruction or discard; (f) the persons who authorized and carried out such destruction or discard; and (g) whether any copies of the document presently exist and, if so, the name of the custodian of each copy.

- 7. Any copy of a document that varies in any way whatsoever from the original or from any other copy of the document, whether by reason of handwritten or other notation or any omission, shall constitute a separate document and must be produced, whether or not the original of such a document is within your possession, custody or control. A request for any document shall be deemed to include a request for all drafts thereof, and all revisions and modifications thereto, including any red-lined versions or document comparisons, in addition to the document itself. Each document is to be produced in its entirety, without abbreviation or expurgation.
- 8. In producing documents, all documents that are physically attached to each other when located for production shall be left so attached. Documents that are segregated or separated from other documents, whether by inclusion of binders, files, subfiles or by use of dividers, tabs, or any other method, shall be left so segregated or separated. Documents shall be retained in the order in which they were maintained and in the file where found. If no documents exist that are responsive to a particular request, you shall so state in writing.
- 9. Electronic records and computerized information as well as documents stored electronically, including, but not limited to, electronic mail and draft documents, must be produced in electronic form in an intelligible format as well as in hard copy form, together with a description of the system from which it was derived sufficient to permit rendering the materials intelligible.

the person performing the redaction or alteration. Any redaction must be clearly visible on the redacted documents.

- In the event that any document called for by this Request for Production has been 6. destroyed or discarded, that document is to be identified by stating; (a) any address or any addressee; (b) any indicated or blind copies; (c) the document's date, subject matter, number of pages, and attachments or appendices; (d) all persons to whom the document was distributed, shown or explained; (e) its date of destruction or discard, manner of destruction or discard, and reason for destruction or discard; (f) the persons who authorized and carried out such destruction or discard; and (g) whether any copies of the document presently exist and, if so, the name of the custodian of each copy. -
- Any copy of a document that varies in any way whatsoever from the original or 7. from any other copy of the document, whether by reason of handwritten or other notation or any omission, shall constitute a separate document and must be produced, whether or not the original of such a document is within your possession, custody or control. A request for any document shall be deemed to include a request for all drafts thereof, and all revisions and modifications thereto, including any red-lined versions or document comparisons, in addition to the document itself. Each document is to be produced in its entirety, without abbreviation or expurgation.
- 8. In producing documents, all documents that are physically attached to each other when located for production shall be left so attached. Documents that are segregated or separated from other documents, whether by inclusion of binders, files, subfiles or by use of dividers, tabs, or any other method, shall be left so segregated or separated. Documents shall be retained in the order in which they were maintained and in the file where found. If no documents exist that are responsive to a particular request, you shall so state in writing.
- 9. Electronic records and computerized information as well as documents stored electronically, including, but not limited to, electronic mail and draft documents, must be produced in electronic form in an intelligible format as well as in hard copy form, together with a description of the system from which it was derived sufficient to permit rendering the materials intelligible.

("RDI") (collectively, "Defendants") produce and make available for inspection and copying the documents and things described herein, in accordance with the Definitions and Instructions set forth below, at the offices of Robertson & Associates, LLP, 3121 Lindero Canyon Rd, Suite 200, Westlake Village, California 91361, within 30 days of the date of service of this request.

INSTRUCTIONS

- 1. This Request for Production is a continuing request. You shall promptly produce any and all additional documents that are received, discovered or created after the time of the initial production.
- 2. This Request for Production applies to all documents in your possession, custody or control, and includes documents within the possession, custody or control of your partners, employees, agents, attorneys and representatives, wherever located, including but not limited to all documents obtained by Defendants.
- 3. If you object to any request in part, you shall produce all responsive documents to which the objection does not apply.
- 4. If any documents are withheld from production on the alleged grounds of privilege or immunity (whether under common law, statute, or otherwise), each such document is to be identified by stating: (a) the identity of each person who prepared and/or signed the document; (b) the identity of each person designated as an addressee; (c) the identity of each person who received any copy of the document; (d) the date of the document; (e) the subject matter of the document; (f) the type of document; and (g) the basis for withholding the document.
- 5. If a document contains both privileged and non-privileged material, the non-privileged material must be disclosed to the fullest extent possible without thereby disclosing the privileged material. If a privilege is asserted with regard to part of the material contained in a document, the party claiming the privilege must clearly indicate the portions as to which the privilege is claimed. When a document has been redacted or altered in any fashion, identify as to each document the reason for the redaction or alteration, the date of the redaction or alteration, and

- 6. In the event that any document called for by this Request for Production has been destroyed or discarded, that document is to be identified by stating; (a) any address or any addressee; (b) any indicated or blind copies; (c) the document's date, subject matter, number of pages, and attachments or appendices; (d) all persons to whom the document was distributed, shown or explained; (e) its date of destruction or discard, manner of destruction or discard, and reason for destruction or discard; (f) the persons who authorized and carried out such destruction or discard; and (g) whether any copies of the document presently exist and, if so, the name of the custodian of each copy.
- 7. Any copy of a document that varies in any way whatsoever from the original or from any other copy of the document, whether by reason of handwritten or other notation or any omission, shall constitute a separate document and must be produced, whether or not the original of such a document is within your possession, custody or control. A request for any document shall be deemed to include a request for all drafts thereof, and all revisions and modifications thereto, including any red-lined versions or document comparisons, in addition to the document itself. Each document is to be produced in its entirety, without abbreviation or expurgation.
- 8. In producing documents, all documents that are physically attached to each other when located for production shall be left so attached. Documents that are segregated or separated from other documents, whether by inclusion of binders, files, sub files or by use of dividers, tabs, or any other method, shall be left so segregated or separated. Documents shall be retained in the order in which they were maintained and in the file where found. If no documents exist that are responsive to a particular request, you shall so state in writing.
- 9. Electronic records and computerized information as well as documents stored electronically, including, but not limited to, electronic mail and draft documents, must be produced in electronic form in an intelligible format as well as in hard copy form, together with a description of the system from which it was derived sufficient to permit rendering the materials intelligible.

PLAINTIFF'S REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS

Plaintiff James J. Cotter, Jr. ("JJC" or "Plaintiff"), by and through his attorneys, Lewis Roca Rothgerber LLP, pursuant to Nevada Rule of Civil Procedure 34, hereby requests that defendants Ellen Cotter ("EC"), Margaret Cotter ("MC"), Edward Kane ("Kane"), Guy Adams ("Adams"), Doug McEachern ("McEachern"), Tim Storey ("Storey"), William Gould ("Gould") and nominal defendant Reading International, Inc. ("RDI") (collectively, "Defendants") produce and make available for inspection and copying the documents and things described herein, in accordance with the Definitions and Instructions set forth below, at the offices of Lewis Roca Rothgerber LLP, 3993 Howard Hughes Parkway, Suite 600, Las Vegas, Nevada 89169, within 30 days of the date of service of this request.

INSTRUCTIONS

- 1. This Request for Production is a continuing request. You shall promptly produce any and all additional documents that are received, discovered or created after the time of the initial production.
- 2. This Request for Production applies to all documents in your possession, custody or control, and includes documents within the possession, custody or control of your partners, employees, agents, attorneys and representatives, wherever located, including but not limited to all documents obtained by Defendants.
- 3. If you object to any request in part, you shall produce all responsive documents to which the objection does not apply.
- 4. If any documents are withheld from production on the alleged grounds of privilege or immunity (whether under common law, statute, or otherwise), each such document is to be identified by stating: (a) the identity of each person who prepared and/or signed the document; (b) the identity of each person designated as an addressee; (c) the identity of each person who received any copy of the document; (d) the date of the document; (e) the subject matter of the document; (f) the type of document; and (g) the basis for withholding the document.

As used herein, the term "Relate to," including but not limited to its various forms 16. such as "relating to," shall mean, consist of, refer to, reflect, or be in any way logically or factually connected with the matter discussed.

- 17. Whenever appropriate, the singular form of a word should be interpreted in the plural and vice versa. All words and phrases shall be construed as masculine, feminine, or neuter gender, according to the context. "And" as well as "or" shall be construed either disjunctively or conjunctively as necessary to bring within the scope of this request any information which might otherwise be construed to be outside the scope.
- "Person" means or refers to any individual, corporation, partnership, association, 18. organization and any other entity of any type and nature.
- "You" or "Your" means or refers to EC, MC, Kane, Adams, McEachern, Gould, 19. and/or nominal defendant RDI.
 - "Identify," when used in reference to a corporation, partnership, or entity, means: 20.
 - a) state its full name;
 - b) state its present or last-known address;
 - c) state the names and addresses of its directors, members, officers, directors, executives and/or shareholders, as appropriate;
 - d) set forth the state of its incorporation or formation, as appropriate;
 - describe its relationship, if any, to You; and
 - provide specific references to any and all contracts You had or have with the entity.
 - "Identify," when used in reference to a Document and/or Writing, means to: 21.
 - state the date of preparation, author, title (if any), subject matter, number of pages, and type of Document and/or Writing (e.g., contract, letter, reports, etc.) or some other means of distinguishing the Document and/or Writing;
 - b) Identify each and every Person who prepared or participated in the preparation of the Document and/or Writing;
 - c) Identify each and every Person who received an original or copy of the Document and/or Writing;
 - d) state the present location of the Document and/or Writing;
 - Identify each and every Person having custody or control of the

Document and/or Writing;

- f) state whether any copy of the Document and/or Writing is not identical to the original by reason of shorthand, translation or other written notes, initials, or any other modifications;
- g) state, if the Document and/or Writing has been destroyed, the circumstances surrounding the reason for the destruction; and
- h) Identify, if the Document and/or Writing has been destroyed, each and every Person who destroyed, or participated in, or ordered or suggested the destruction of it.
- 22. Unless otherwise indicated, each request calls for any and all documents created or dated on or after January 1, 2014, including all communications by, between, among, to or from any or all of Ellen Cotter ("EC"), Margaret Cotter ("MC"), Edward Kane ("Kane"), Guy Adams ("Adams"), Doug McEachern ("McEachern"), Tim Storey ("Storey"), William Gould ("Gould") and/or nominal defendant Reading International, Inc. ("RDI") (all as defined in the Motion to Expedite Discovery and Set a Hearing on Motion for Preliminary Injunction on Order Shortening Time (the "Motion")) or any agent of any or all of them.

REQUESTS FOR DOCUMENTS

- 1. All documents and communications created in or after June 2014 relating directly or indirectly to (a) nominal defendant RDI (except RDI), (b) the California Trust Action (defined in the Motion) (excluding pleadings), (c) the Nevada Probate Action (defined in the Motion) (excluding pleadings), (d) any consensual resolution or settlement agreement between JJC, on one hand, and either or both EC and MC, on the other hand or (e) control of the RDI Class B voting stock.
- 2. Any search by or for nominal defendant RDI for an executive with experience or expertise in real estate, including but not limited to a director of real estate.
- 3. Any committee or executive committee of the RDI Board of Directors, including any committee formed, revived, changed or implemented in or after June 2015, including the EC Committee (as defined in the Motion), any decisions made by or issues presented to such committee and compensation of such committee members.
 - 4. Any minutes of nominal defendant RDI's Board of Directors and any committees thereof, whether draft, unapproved or approved by nominal defendant RDI's Board of Directors, for any meeting in 2015.

- 5. All documents relating to nominal defendant RDI's public disclosures and SEC filings regarding the termination of JJC as President and CEO of nominal defendant RDI, the sought after resignation of JJC as a director of nominal defendant RDI, and any committee of nominal defendant RDI's Board of Directors formed, revived, changed or implemented in or after June 2014, including but not limited to the EC Committee (defined in the Motion), including all documents relating to any decision to not make any disclosure regarding any such committee.
- 6. The purchase or sale of RDI stock, whether by JJC and/or by any of the individual defendants, including the exercise or possible exercise of any options to purchase RDI stock, and including the purchase or repurchase by nominal defendant RDI of any shares or options nominal defendant RDI (including the date(s) and price(s) at which those securities were repurchased) whether pursuant to a formal stock buyback program or not, and any RDI practices or policies (whether implemented or proposed) with respect to thereto.

INSTRUCTIONS

This Request for Production is a continuing request. You shall promptly produce any and all additional documents that are received, discovered or created after the time of the initial production.

This Request for Production applies to all documents in your possession, custody or control, and includes documents within the possession, custody or control of your partners, employees, agents, attorneys and representatives, wherever located, including but not limited to all documents obtained by Defendant.

If you object to any request in part, you shall produce all responsive documents to which the objection does not apply.

If any documents are withheld from production on the alleged grounds of privilege or immunity (whether under common law, statute, or otherwise), each such document is to be identified by stating: (a) the identity of each person who prepared and/or signed the document; (b) the identity of each person designated as an addressee; (c) the identity of each person who received any copy of the document; (d) the date of the document; (e) the subject matter of the document; (f) the type of document; and (g) the basis for withholding the document.

If a document contains both privileged and non-privileged material, the non-privileged material must be disclosed to the fullest extent possible without thereby disclosing the privileged material. If a privilege is asserted with regard to part of the material contained in a document, the party claiming the privilege must clearly indicate the portions as to which the privilege is claimed. When a document has been redacted or altered in any fashion, identify as to each document the reason for the redaction or alteration, the date of the redaction or alteration, and the person performing the redaction or alteration. Any redaction must be clearly visible on the redacted documents.

In the event that any document called for by this Request for Production has been destroyed or discarded, that document is to be identified by stating; (a) any address or any addressee; (b) any indicated or blind copies; (c) the document's date, subject matter, number of pages, and attachments or appendices; (d) all persons to whom the document was distributed, shown or explained; (e) its date of destruction or discard, manner of destruction or discard, and reason for destruction or discard; (f) the persons who authorized and carried out such destruction or discard; and (g) whether any copies of the document presently exist and, if so, the name of the custodian of each copy.

Any copy of a document that varies in any way whatsoever from the original or from any other copy of the document, whether by reason of handwritten or other notation or any omission, shall constitute a separate document and must be produced, whether or not the original of such a document is within your possession, custody or control. A request for any document shall be deemed to include a request for all drafts thereof, and all revisions and modifications thereto, including any red-lined versions or document comparisons, in addition to the document itself. Each document is to be produced in its entirety, without abbreviation or expurgation.

In producing documents, all documents that are physically attached to each other when located for production shall be left so attached. Documents that are segregated or separated from other documents, whether by inclusion of binders, files, subfiles or by use of dividers, tabs, or any other method, shall be left so segregated or separated. Documents shall be retained in the order in which they were maintained and in the file where found. If no documents exist that are responsive to a particular request, you shall so state in writing.

Electronic records and computerized information as well as documents stored electronically, including, but not limited to, electronic mail and draft documents, must be produced in electronic form in an intelligible format as well as in hard copy form, together with a description of the system from which it was derived sufficient to permit rendering the materials intelligible.

DEFINITIONS

The following Definitions shall apply herein and to each Interrogatory:

- 1. "All," as used herein means "any and all" and "any" means "any and all."
- 2. "And/Or," as used herein, means either disjunctively or conjunctively as necessary to bring within the scope of the Interrogatory, all responses that might otherwise be construed to be outside of its scope.

received any copy of the document; (d) the date of the document; (e) the subject matter of the document; (f) the type of document; and (g) the basis for withholding the document.

If a document contains both privileged and non-privileged material, the non-privileged material must be disclosed to the fullest extent possible without thereby disclosing the privileged material. If a privilege is asserted with regard to part of the material contained in a document, the party claiming the privilege must clearly indicate the portions as to which the privilege is claimed. When a document has been redacted or altered in any fashion, identify as to each document the reason for the redaction or alteration, the date of the redaction or alteration, and the person performing the redaction or alteration. Any redaction must be clearly visible on the redacted documents.

In the event that any document called for by this Request for Production has been destroyed or discarded, that document is to be identified by stating; (a) any address or any addressee; (b) any indicated or blind copies; (c) the document's date, subject matter, number of pages, and attachments or appendices; (d) all persons to whom the document was distributed, shown or explained; (e) its date of destruction or discard, manner of destruction or discard, and reason for destruction or discard; (f) the persons who authorized and carried out such destruction or discard; and (g) whether any copies of the document presently exist and, if so, the name of the custodian of each copy.

Any copy of a document that varies in any way whatsoever from the original or from any other copy of the document, whether by reason of handwritten or other notation or any omission, shall constitute a separate document and must be produced, whether or not the original of such a document is within your possession, custody or control. A request for any document shall be deemed to include a request for all drafts thereof, and all revisions and modifications thereto, including any red-lined versions or document comparisons, in addition to the document itself. Each document is to be produced in its entirety, without abbreviation or expurgation.

In producing documents, all documents that are physically attached to each other when located for production shall be left so attached. Documents that are segregated or separated from other documents, whether by inclusion of binders, files, subfiles or by use of dividers, tabs, or any other method, shall be left so segregated or separated. Documents shall be retained in the order in which they were maintained and in the file where found. If no documents exist that are responsive to a particular request, you shall so state in writing.

Electronic records and computerized information as well as documents stored electronically, including, but not limited to, electronic mail and draft documents, must be produced in electronic form in an intelligible format as well as in hard copy form, together with a description of the system from which it was derived sufficient to permit rendering the materials intelligible.

DEFINITIONS

Case Number: A-15-719860-B Exhibit Page 3566

Plaintiff James J. Cotter, Jr. ("JJC" or "Plaintiff"), by and through his attorneys pursuant to Nevada Rule of Civil Procedure 34, hereby requests that nominal defendant Reading International, Inc. ("RDI") produce and make available for inspection and copying the documents and things described herein, in accordance with the Definitions and Instructions set forth below, at the offices of Morris Law Group, 411 E. Bonneville Ave., Ste. 360, Las Vegas, NV 89101 within 30 days of the date of service of this request.

INSTRUCTIONS

- 1. If any document responsive to this Request for Production has already been produced in this action, you are not required to produce it again.
- 2. This Request for Production is a continuing request. You shall promptly produce any and all additional documents that are received, discovered or created after the time of the initial production.
- 3. This Request for Production applies to all documents in your possession, custody or control, and includes documents within the possession, custody or control of your partners, employees, agents, attorneys and representatives, wherever located, including but not limited to all documents obtained by Defendants.
- 4. If you object to any request in part, you shall produce all responsive documents to which the objection does not apply.
- 5. If any documents are withheld from production on the alleged grounds of privilege or immunity (whether under common law, statute, or otherwise), each such document is to be identified by stating: (a) the identity of each person who prepared and/or signed the document; (b) the identity of each person designated as an addressee; (c) the identity of each person who received any copy of the document; (d) the date of the document; (e) the subject matter of the document; (f) the type of document; and (g) the basis for withholding the document.

1	LAS VEGAS, NEVADA, TUESDAY, AUGUST 30, 2016, 9:04 A.M.
2	(Court was called to order)
3	THE COURT: Cotter versus Cotter.
4	Mr. Ferrario's not coming today. We have capable
5	counsel in the room in his stead, and it will be shorter and
6	nicer and less sarcastic.
7	MS. HENDRICKS: And of course I have to text him
8	right now, tell him whether they're calling in. But I will
9	take the lead, Your Honor. I'll try to make this as easy on
10	you as I can.
11	THE COURT: So are you calling in, Kevin?
12	THE MARSHAL: Yes, Your Honor.
13	THE COURT: Thank you.
14	So he's part of the gathered throng on the phone?
15	MS. HENDRICKS: Yes.
16	THE COURT: All right. Mr. Krum, we'll identify
17	everybody, starting with you.
18	MR. KRUM: Good morning, Your Honor. Mark Krum for
19	plaintiff.
20	MS. HENDRICKS: Good morning, Your Honor. Kara
21	Hendricks on behalf of Reading International.
22	MR. SEARCY: Good morning, Your Honor. Marshall
23	Searcy for Michael Wrotniak, Judy Codding, Guy Adams, Ed Kane,
24	Doug McEachern, Margaret Cotter, and Ellen Cotter.
25	MR. JOHNSON: 'Morning, Your Honor. Stan Johnson on

1 behalf of the same defendants. THE COURT: Can those folks on the phone please --2 can those of you on the telephone please identify yourselves 3 4 for purposes of my record. 5 MR. ROBERTSON: Good morning, Your Honor. Alex 6 Robertson on behalf of the T2 intervening plaintiffs. 7 Shoshana Bannett on behalf of William MS. BANNETT: 8 Gould. Is there anybody else on the phone? 9 THE COURT: Were we expecting anybody else on the phone? 10 11 MS. HENDRICKS: Your Honor, Mr. Ferrario is an 12 [unintelligible] in Denver and may try to call in, but we can go ahead and get started. 13 14 THE COURT: All right. So, Mr. Krum, it's your 15 motion. Which one would you like me to --16 MR. KRUM: 17 THE COURT: I want to start with the motion to 18 permit certain discovery concerning the recent offer. 19 Remember you have 10 minutes for all your stuff. 20 MR. KRUM: Understood. Thank you, Your Honor. 21 Your Honor, the motion seeks limited expedited discovery regarding the recent offer and the bases for the 22 individual director defendants' responses to it. These issues 23 24 were briefed and argued in connection with the motion to compel Mr. McEachern to return and give testimony about the 25 bases upon which he responded in the manner in which he did to the offer, which motion Your Honor granted and admonished me that it was only with respect to the deposition, that as to this discovery I needed to file another motion.

These issues also were briefed and argued in connection with the motion for leave to amend, which you granted. I therefore am going to cut to the chase.

The second amended complaint contains new allegations about these recent events. We argued previously and we reiterate that the evidence, if it's obtained, we believe will show ongoing self dealing consistent with what was alleged in our prior first amended complaint. We also believe that it may well and probably will give rise to independent actionable conduct and claims.

Respectfully, plaintiff is entitled to discovery before trial. We've identified a limited set of documents concerning the offer and the directors' responses and the business plan. RDI has responded in their opposition and says there is no business plan. So we'll be able to work that out with far fewer documents. So it's a finite set of documents. We've asked for up to three hours with each of the director defendants. I don't anticipate needing that, but I don't want to reach 59 minutes and have a fight with somebody.

Unless Your Honor has questions about this -THE COURT: I don't.

MR. KRUM: Very well. Thank you.

THE COURT: Mr. Searcy.

MR. SEARCY: Your Honor, just three points that I'd like to make on this. First, the plaintiff shouldn't need discovery here. The issue in plaintiff's claim has to do with what was discussed at board of directors meetings concerning an unsolicited expression of interest. Plaintiff was present at those meetings. Plaintiff obtained the documents that were circulated at those meetings. Plaintiff knows what was said at those meetings.

What's really going on here, Your Honor, is that plaintiff is trying to push out the trial date in this matter by reopening discovery. Plaintiff has submitted a series of document requests. They're not conclusive, they're not all of what he's seeking. By his own words he's asking for at least six, possibly more depositions, he's asking for a third-party deposition. What plaintiff is doing here is seeking to reopen discovery entirely in this case. And, Your Honor, to that point in his effort to reopen discovery plaintiff didn't meet and confer. I received a letter, an email from plaintiff asking about the production of a small volume of documents. And I asked to schedule a call with plaintiff, because we're amenable to providing documents to plaintiff that are from those board of directors meetings. We think plaintiff already has it, but we'll provide them and we'll give them to him for the depositions that are remaining. But there's no reason to reopen discovery here. That's what plaintiff sought to do. He didn't meet and confer on that issue; he simply filed his motion on Wednesday after I sent him an email on Tuesday asking to meet and confer on Thursday.

So he hasn't complied with the rules here, he doesn't need the discovery. He's seeking to push the trial date back. The motion should be denied.

THE COURT: Thank you.

Ms. Hendricks.

MS. HENDRICKS: From the company's perspective, Your Honor, I think there's one thing that needs to be very clear here. The company has gone through a great amount of expense and had a heavy burden in this case in producing documents. We've twice had to go back and do electronic data pool. And I don't want this to be another situation where the company has to go back and do another electronic pool and we have to come with new search terms. It's a very burdensome process. Discovery is closed.

THE COURT: This is a really limited group of documents that he's asking for at this time, though.

MS. HENDRICKS: And if Your Honor is inclined to allow him to have limited documents, I would request that the order be clear that we don't have to do an electronic data pool and allow the directors and employees to self identify those documents. And, of course, the company could produce 1 the minutes related to the specific board meetings. 2 3 think it's very narrow, and I don't want this to turn into a 4 huge ordeal and cost and expense to the company unnecessarily. 5 And in regard to the depositions, too. We just 6 don't see any basis for all of the directors to be redeposed 7 for three hours each on what should really be a very narrow 8 and limited issue. 9 THE COURT: Thank you. 10 Mr. Krum. Thank you, Your Honor. The issue is what 11 MR. KRUM: 12 did each of the individual director defendants do, if anything, to undertake to make an informed, good-faith 13 response to the offer. Plaintiff attending a board of 14 15 directors meeting is not a substitute for counsel for 16 plaintiff obtaining documents and testimony. Thank you. The motion is granted in part. A 17 THE COURT: 18 30(b)(6) from the company related to the offer and the reasons it was not pursued may be taken not to exceed two hours. 19 20 the document requests that were attached may be responded to within 15 days, but no additional or third-party discovery 21 22 will occur. Your Honor, point of clarification. 23 MR. KRUM: 24 THE COURT: Yes. 25 We have three unfinished director MR. KRUM:

depositions.

THE COURT: You can ask the questions at the director depositions that are going on, but I'm not going to increase your time on them.

MR. KRUM: Very well. Thank you.

THE COURT: Okay. So do you want to go to your motion to compel related to the advice of counsel events?

MR. KRUM: Your Honor, on the motion to compel with respect to advice of counsel I have three points, timing, waiver, and the Garner Doctrine.

On timing there was no delay, much less bad-faith delay. We had depositions continuously from the end of April into mid July and therefore did not identify this issue until June when I was preparing to resume deposition for Kane or Adams or both. I intended to call the question at Mr. Adams's deposition on June 30, but it was postponed that morning due to a medical condition of Mr. Adams. That deposition hasn't concluded in part because disposition of this motion could change the scope of it.

We then lost about three weeks because an email I sent from my cell phone over the Fourth of July weekend with comments on a draft did not send. It's nobody's fault but mine. I didn't realize that till three weeks later. We prepared our draft on the 26th, we corresponded with counsel the 28th, they told us they disagreed. We couldn't get it done the next day.

Waiver. The oppositions mischaracterize the claims arising from the September 20, 2015, decision to authorize the exercise of this supposed option. The issue is not merely waste, it's also in fact fundamentally entrenchment, including in particular that there was no effort to make an informed, good-faith decision, best interests of the company by Mr. Adams and Mr. Kane. There's a long, long history here. I can't -- I don't have 20 minutes to talk about this, so I'm just going to say the record is amazing that they did, and this issue floating around since April and then expeditiously in two days' time made a decision in September.

When asked about the basis in which they made the challenged decision they volunteered that they relied on counsel. So the oppositions argue, well, they haven't specifically pled reliance of counsel as an affirmative defense. However, Your Honor, they did plead that they complied with the statute, 78.138, and the statute includes that a director may rely on the advice of counsel as to matters reasonably believed to be within that person's professional expertise. So they didn't just testify that they were privy to a communication. They testified they made a decision based on the advice of counsel. They raised the issue, we didn't raise it.

So the question is is this game playing that they haven't pleaded advice of counsel as an affirmative defense? Is this so we don't get discovery, we can't raise this in summary judgment and then we get blindsided at trial? The bottom line on this particular issue, Your Honor, is either they should turn over the attorney-client communications or they should have barred from asserting that reliance as a defense.

Now, the Garner Doctrine isn't a privilege issue in the sense that it's not about the scope of the privilege. The Nevada statute doesn't apply. The issue isn't raised as it is in the T&E litigation. It's raised in a complaint bringing derivative claims. So -- and the Sands case obviously is inapposite. You know that, and I know that. Comverge, the case they cite, is one in which the plaintiffs raised the issue. So short and simple point, they raised the issue, we didn't, and they can't have it both ways. Thank you, Your Honor.

MR. SEARCY: Your Honor, I'll skip to the merits very quickly on this motion. The defendants -- the director defendants never raised an advice of counsel defense. At the depositions that were cited to by Mr. Krum the defendants never sought to introduce any of the privileged information contained in any privileged communications in those depositions. In fact, they were specifically instructed not to answer. The facts are that my clients were asked if they sought advice of counsel, and, like careful directors in the midst of this controversy and dispute they did. They answered the foundational questions that they sought advice from attorneys. They didn't disclose that advice. We don't intend to disclose that advice at trial, Your Honor. We intend to maintain the privilege. So there's really no basis to compel -

THE COURT: So then you're not going to be able to say that they sought advice of counsel and relied upon it if you are not going to reveal the advice they received or the information that was given to them if it's part of the

THE COURT: You understand that; right? You can't -- you can't have it both ways, Mr. Searcy.

MR. SEARCY: No. And we're not seeking to have it both ways, Your Honor. But in terms of the foundational question that was asked of the directors, did you seek advice of counsel, they answered that question truthfully. If they're going to be asked that question at trial, then certainly they have to be able to answer that question as a yes foundationally if they're asked by plaintiff. We don't --

THE COURT: Okay. Let me --

MR. SEARCY: -- any intention.

THE COURT: Are you relying upon the advice counsel gave them for purposes of their making the decision related to that stock option?

MR. SEARCY: Your Honor, I think the answer is that the directors certainly considered that advice. We don't intend, however, to introduce that advice at trial. And we don't intend to say that --

THE COURT: That's not the issue, Mr. Searcy. Anything else?

MR. SEARCY: Your Honor, in addition to that the defendants here -- first of all, they haven't waived. Second of all, they couldn't waive even if they wanted to. The privilege belongs to the corporation.

THE COURT: Absolutely.

MR. SEARCY: Ms. Hendricks is going to address that issue momentarily, and I don't want to take too much of her time. But the fact of the matter is we don't intend to introduce the advice that was given to us at trial as part of the defense of the directors.

THE COURT: Okay. Ms. Hendricks, I understand it's the company's privilege, but they can't have it both ways.

MS. HENDRICKS: Well, Your Honor, I think we're missing a fundamental piece of this puzzle when we're talking about what's really at issue here. Because if you look at what's in the first amended complaint and if you look at the documents that have been filed in the probate case before Your Honor, plaintiff has repeatedly indicated that the estate held the right to that stock option. It was issued to Cotter, Sr., before his death. That is not at issue in this case.

Plaintiff has acknowledged the estate held the right to exercise that option. And that is really what we're looking at. And the questions that were posed to Kane and Adams in their deposition does the estate hold that option or not.

This is a personal issue for Cotter, Jr. This is not a derivative issue. And I think we create a dangerous slippery slope if we apply the Garner Doctrine and allow a waiver in this case, because Nevada has very limited exceptions to the privilege rule. Those are set out in statute. And what plaintiff is asking you to do is to create a new exception and say, hey, I'm a shareholder in this case so I'm entitled to the communication with counsel.

This is not an issue like the trademark cases where the advice of counsel provided a basis for them asserting a claim and is the fundamental part of the case. This is an issue that has been created by plaintiff. And, as we set out in our brief, we believe the privilege is held by the company. We've been very clear in protecting that privilege throughout the course of this case. And, again, it's not — it doesn't go to an issue other than a personal issue of plaintiff. It seems pretty simple to me here that, you know, plaintiff wants this information because he's trying to get control of the stock. The stock is in the probate, and Your Honor allowed the exercise of the stock to probate, and plaintiff has admitted that the estate held that right. So there's not any additional issues that are part of this derivative case that would give rise to a waiver of the attorney-client or entitle plaintiff to receive that information in this case, Your Honor.

THE COURT: To the extent any of the directors relied upon advice of counsel in performing their duties which are subject of the breach of fiduciary duty claim, which includes this, they can't also protect the communication even though it's the company's privilege. So you all have to make a decision.

So your motion's granted, Mr. Krum.

MR. KRUM: Thank you, Your Honor.

MS. HENDRICKS: Your Honor, if I can just seek clarification. The request was very broad in nature and also seeks work product information from counsel.

THE COURT: It's only the information that was provided to the board members in the course of their making their decision. That's all it is.

MS. HENDRICKS: Right.

THE COURT: Because the statute allows them protection when they rely upon advice of certain kinds of professionals even if that advice is wrong.

Understand, Your Honor. 1 MS. HENDRICKS: 2 THE COURT: But it doesn't mean that all of the thought processes of the lawyers necessarily will go in unless 3 that was delivered to the attorneys. 4 5 MS. HENDRICKS: Okay. Thank you for the 6 clarification. 7 MR. SEARCY: May I also seek some clarification? 8 Because this will impact the presentation at trial potentially, as well as how cross-examination of the directors 9 takes place. If, for example -- if plaintiff asks my 10 directors at trial, did you receive advice of counsel, is that 11 12 an objectionable question? Is he prevented from being able to 13 ask that question? 14 THE COURT: I do not know at this stage if the actions that your clients have taken related to the exercise 15 16 of the option was information directly related to the 17 communications from counsel. So it may be appropriate for a 18 motion in limine to not permit that to go to the jury, because it is not information for which you will be seeking protection 19 20 under the business judgment rule. Because that's where all this comes from, is the business judgment rule. 21 22 MR. SEARCY: I understand, Your Honor. 23 THE COURT: But I'm going to let him do the discovery. 24 25 MR. SEARCY: Well, I understand. I just want to understand the parameters as this goes forward. You're saying that because -- if the directors testify at trial that they received advice from counsel, not that they disclosed the substance of the communications, but saying that they received it, that that would be enough so that he's allowed to inquire into the substance of the communications?

THE COURT: If your clients are relying upon the business judgment rule to defend their decision and as part of their activities under the business judgment rule relied upon the advice of certain professionals in conducting themselves, the advice of certain professionals in conducting themselves, that advice is fair game. And I understand that that's a frustrating process for you, but that's the way the Nevada statute is written. You can't take advantage of that advice and then not tell anybody what it was.

MR. SEARCY: I understand, Your Honor. I think that there may be two separate issues. But I understand what Your Honor has said, and I don't want to belabor the issue now that the Court has spoken.

THE COURT: Okay. Anything else? Goodbye.

MR. KRUM: There's one more, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. KRUM: If I may ask how much time I have.

THE COURT: None.

MR. KRUM: No. Really?

MR. WONG: Four minutes, 38 seconds.

1 MR. KRUM: I've barely past halfway. I won't use it all, Your Honor, I promise. 2 Okay. Your Honor, this is the motion to seek 3 limited discovery --4 5 I've got it. THE COURT: -- in connection with the October 6 6 MR. KRUM: 7 hearing regarding the settlement. 8 THE COURT: I've got it. So in ruling on the motion on October 6th 9 MR. KRUM: the Court must consider the process by which the settlement 10 was procured, not only the terms of the settlement itself. 11 12 Does the record before the Court reflect a prima facie showing questioning the legitimacy of the process by which that 13 settlement was reached, including possibly that it was 14 collusive? Yes, I submit. First, the record provided by the 15 16 settling parties is completely devoid of information regarding 17 settlement negotiations. It therefore fails to show an arm's-18 length good-faith bargaining. That fact alone warrants 19 discovery about the process. Second, without getting ahead into the substantive 20 objections with respect to the settlement itself, it is 21 noteworthy for today's purposes that in exchange for literally 22 nothing the settling plaintiffs provided what appeared to be a 23 very broad release. Why? Well, the record provides no 24 answers. And there's an unsubstantiated conclusion by the plaintiffs themselves in a press release that says the board's going to take care of us. Well, this was by people who didn't know what the board was doing and not doing at the time they were negotiating a settlement. So for that independent reason, Your Honor, discovery regarding settlement negotiation is appropriate.

Third, as the Khan -- Khan, K-A-H-N -- case shows, in any circumstance in which a settlement is struck with only one of two or more sets of plaintiffs that fact alone gives rise to serious questions about collusion. In Khan the court scheduled a preliminary injunction hearing. It didn't grant one.

Finally, regretfully, I'm obliged to speak to the subject of trading in RDI stock. I was pleased that the individuals submitted declarations, and then I read them.

They do not speak to whether the individual plaintiffs traded in RDI stock the first 12 days of July, which presumably is when they were negotiating and finalizing the settlement agreement which was signed in the July 10 to 12 time frame and made public on July 12. And, likewise, the company doesn't address whether it bought stock in the market at that point in time. Two of the cases that the interested director defendants previously cited in their motion to disqualify, Netezza [phonetic] and Sample, were cases in which the shareholder plaintiffs got crosswise with the chancellor because in one or both of them they traded in the possession of information that a settlement agreement in principle had been reached before it was made public. So the failure to speak to that subject, regretfully, I think necessitates that discovery, as well. Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you.

Ms. Hendricks.

MS. HENDRICKS: Thank you, Your Honor. What I have not heard from plaintiff today or in the briefs that were filed is any reference to the caselaw on the issue of settlement negotiations. It is very clear that settlement negotiations are intended to be confidential. There's a wealth of caselaw. We cited it in our brief, and I'm not going to reiterate it as I speak today. But there is only one limited exception to that, and that would be if there were actually prima facie evidence of collusion. There is no prima facie evidence of collusion here. What plaintiff has done is created two issues that are both based on a false premise. First plaintiff provides you a snapshot for a limited trading period and says, well, look, there's a spike in trading, that must mean there was collusion. We set forth in our brief and explained that the daily volume of trading fluctuates, that the pattern of RDI trading is very similar to that of the NASDAQ trading, and the period that plaintiff tried to isolate and suggests indicates collusion is not a stand-out period.

In fact, January, when nothing was happening in this case, was a heavier trading period.

And I think the fact that we did receive declarations from the T2 plaintiffs indicating that for the period which plaintiff raised a question about that they did not trade is very significant, Your Honor. And the fact that plaintiff now wants to change the time period and wants declarations regarding different dates I think is telling as to the moving target that the parties are trying to face here.

The cases plaintiff cites don't support his position that he's entitled to communications with counsel and communications regarding what went into the settlement negotiations in this case. And the Khan case which he talks about is actually interesting. In that case the reason that some discovery was allowed is because that there was a concern that the settling plaintiffs were motivated by the prospect of a fee award and that attorneys were getting a huge fee award and there wasn't much going to the company. That is not the case that we have here. The parties have been very forthcoming about the settlement, the settlement agreement has been provided to the Court, it's posted on RDI's Website.

Additionally, we went to great lengths to prepare a detailed notice to all shareholders that explained the terms of the agreement and what went into the settlement itself.

RDI does get a benefit from the settlement. The fact that it does not have to advance costs to the individual defendants for their claims is significant, and the fact that they're not paying any attorney fees related to the award is also a significant factor. I know Mr. Robertson's on the phone, and he can address specific issues related to the T2 plaintiffs, but it's clear, Your Honor, that they don't have a right to the information that they're seeking.

THE COURT: Thank you, Ms. Hendricks.

Mr. Robertson, was there anything you wanted to add?

MR. ROBERTSON: Only that the declarations that we provided from the -- from my clients, Your Honor, addressed the two-week period that Mr. Krum identified in his moving papers. Now he's changing the timeline and says he wants to know about trading activity in July. That wasn't raised by him. It's just a fishing expedition. And the queues that were filed by RDI either the quarter before or the quarter after indicate that the company's repurchase program was consistent, there was no unusual activity to explain this, quote, "unusual trading period."

THE COURT: Thank you.

Mr. Krum, anything else?

MR. KRUM: Yes. Thank you, Your Honor.

The cases cited in the oppositions are inapposite. Some of them are beyond that. The interested director defendants cite a case called Lobatz [phonetic], but the opinion says, the issue's not before the court, it was raised below but not before the court.

The settlement issue is what the Court has to decide on October 6th. I don't need to belabor that. We're not talking about a settlement in the ordinary course of a lawsuit. We're talking about a settlement that's being submitted to the Court for approval.

As to the individuals I'm perfectly happy to receive a declaration about what their trading was. Presuming it's nothing, then I don't need to depose them about that. I'm fine with that. That doesn't change the fact that the record's devoid of information about the settlement process. And when you put that in the context of the terms of the settlement, how did they do this, how do they get there, how are they going to show the Court it was a good-faith arm's-length negotiation? They can't. And if they'd done so, I wouldn't have to have brought this motion. Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you.

The motion is denied. It's not appropriate to do the discovery that is being requested on the motion for approval of the class settlement.

Anything else?

MR. KRUM: Thank you, Your Honor.

Mark,

As I mentioned in court this morning, we have taken additional steps to search the data we have collected with the "new" search terms. Attached is the list of terms that we have been negotiating. We ran all of these terms except those listed in red (we feel the terms/phrases in red were covered with the previous list of terms we agreed to).

These hits (plus families) resulted in 30,171 documents. Our vendor de-duplicated and used an email threading analysis on these documents - and then we batched for review all documents with a predictive coding score of 70 or higher (same score we've been using throughout this litigation) for a count of 7,186 documents. We have a team reviewing these documents now and will produce non privileged responsive documents on a rolling basis.

Please let me know if you would like to discuss.

Kara,

This is confounding, to say the least.

It is apparent to us that the problematic search terms are largely terms we collectively modified and resolved months ago. "Cotter w/5 CEO" and "Cotter w/5 Chief Executive Officer" previously were refined and superseded by adding additional words to narrow them.

The same solutions obviously apply to "Ellen w/5 CEO" and "Ellen w/5 Chief Executive Officer," "interim w/5 CEO" and "interim w/5 Chief Executive Officer." We all know that the requests are directed at documents concerning Adams and/or Ellen becoming interim CEO. Simply combine the searches, meaning include "Ellen" and "Adams" with "interim" and "CEO."

As to Ellen and the CEO position, "Ellen" should be run w/2 of CEO and Chief Executive to reduce the number of hits. The same can be done to for what was run as "search w/5 CEO" and "search w/5 Chief Executive Officer," as well as "special w/5 committee" and "candidate w/5 director."

As far as other seemingly high hits, "experience w/5 real estate" and "Margaret w/5 real estate" also may be remedied by changing them to w/2 and/or adding search terms such as "director" and 'development," given that the Company at one point was searching to hire a "director of real estate" with real estate "development" experience.

It seems as though obvious search term to pull some of the same documents, namely, "Korn Ferry," "KF" and "KFI" also should be run.

I trust that much of this was done long ago and, if not, will be done promptly.

We ran the new proposed search terms and after duplicates were removed and threading analytics applied we still have over 50,000 documents that would need to be reviewed. I asked our vendor to prepare a summary of the information to aide further discussion and it is attached. You will see that the documents are separated into two categories, documents that we have already loaded into Relativity based on previous searches and documents that have not been loaded into Relativity. As such to fully understand the amount of data available, you have to look at both columns. Obviously, we need to prioritize and come up with a way to narrow this data down.

Please let me know when you are available to discuss.

In follow-up to my comments last night, attached are the search terms I propose having our vendor run. Again if we get a crazy amount of hits for a particular term or terms I would like to discuss the issue further prior to loading the data for review.

Mark,

Since we did not immediately hear from you, I had our vendor run the old search terms through the new data we collected and ran the predictive coding model. What this means is that we will be able to start reviewing the new data based on the original search terms and predictive coding model shortly. Based on the information I received today, there are approximately 6400 documents that meet this criteria. However, we are hoping that we can reduce the number further by electronically removing duplicates.

For your new requests and the new search terms, are there any date restrictions we can apply? I will remove the terms that are already captured and add the clarification provided below and instruct our vendor to run the searches. If we get a huge number of hits I would like have a further discussion regarding narrowing the requests before we start the review process. Please let me know if this is acceptable. I will also talk to the client about the Akin Gump engagement letter but suggest for now we do not include the related terms in our next search.

Kara,

I missed your email below over the holidays.

As to those instances in which you state "already captured," I understand that to be advice that the search has been done previously and you do not intend to do it again. We do not expect you to repeat searches. Provided that the entire database was searched.

As to the first one, "uncle" should suffice to obviate any overbreadth issues.

As to the search for which you suggest "take private," please add "go private."

On the Akin Gump search, we expect the engagement letter to be produced, along with nonprivileged communications. Given that you already logged many such documents, and given that we are prepared to narrow the time frame to cover particular events, we should be able to make this work. It may require a call. I can be available tomorrow morning.

Susman (or Sussman, if that is the correct spelling) needs to be captured. For the Company, it likely will produce little if anything.

Mark,

I wanted to follow-up regarding a couple of pending issues:

First, in regard to search terms and document review- please see our comments regarding the new search terms you proposed in the attached document. We believe some of your proposed terms are overly broad and/or were captured in the initial searches that were run. Please let me know if you would like to schedule a call to discuss. Additionally, for those that are not highlighted and where comments are not provided, we are willing to run the searches and see what we come up with. However, we are once again concerned about the number of hits that we will get and the amount of review time that will be necessary and reserve our right to try and further narrow the terms if necessary. Additionally, we would like to talk to you about the logistics associated with running searches on the original data that was collected and on the "new data" that we are in the process of collecting. Do you have some availability on Wednesday for a call?

Second, in response to your email below regarding privileged and redacted documents that Mr. Cotter was copied on, I do think that your concerns will be eliminated when the hard drive is provided to Mr. Cotter in the CA case. However, I have no new information on the status of confidentiality order in the CA action. As such, for documents that we collected electronically that are on our privilege log and that Mr. Cotter is named and/or copied on, we should be able to electronically identify those documents. With the understanding that we are not waiving and you will protect RDI's privilege as to the documents and your agreement not to disclose those documents to counsel for the interveners or other third parties we will provide such documents to you under separate cover. We anticipate doing another supplemental production this week to all parties in the litigation which will include a large supplement to our privilege log. After the supplemental production is served, I will have our paralegal switch her attention to this project.

The short answer, without looking back at any of the privilege logs or documents, is that documents have been withheld and logged and have been redacted based on claims of privilege even though Mr. Cotter was copied on the documents at the time.

My understanding is that you were looking for copies of emails and other communications that would be on Mr. Cotter's computer that we believe are privileged and thus if we provide a copy of what we imaged from his machine you would have the information you were looking for. I will go back and take a closer look at your prior correspondence with Lance. Are there specific documents from our privilege log and/or other information you are looking for?

Thanks for the prompt response.

Perhaps I am missing something, but I do not see what the California Trust Action has to do with an issue I have been discussing with GT attorneys for what surely is at least two months, namely, the fact that the Company and individual defendants have on the basis of claims of privilege by the Company withheld from my client documents and portions of documents to which he was and/or is privy as an officer, director or both. I have acknowledged in writing as requested by Lance that we understand that the Company claims privilege as to these documents and portions of documents, that it is the Company's privilege to claim, that my client cannot waive it and that he will not undertake to do so. Consistent with the foregoing, I have agreed not to disclose those documents or portions of documents, as the case may be, to counsel for the interveners. If I had been asked, I also would have affirmed that I will not share them with Mr. Cotter's counsel in the California Trust Action. With that as the context, why do my client and I need to wait on lawyers in another proceeding, the California Trust Action, for anything?

Separately, these documents are not found solely on the computer to which you refer. If the point of that reference is to insure that Mr. Cotter previously had access to the documents, I do not understand why, given that he remains a director. Please advise.

Thanks.

Mark,

In regard to providing a copy of the data that was imaged from Cotter Jr.'s work computer, we sent a letter to counsel in the CA Trust action on December 14th requesting that a protective order be put in place in CA so that T2 and others would not have access to the data we will be producing. We also spoke with Meg Lodsie who is counsel for Ellen and Margaret and she was going to circulate a proposed protective order that is similar to what we have in place in Nevada for signature. Unfortunately, we have not heard back. I have attached a copy of the letter that was sent hereto. If you could help facilitate getting the protective order in place it would be greatly appreciated. We should be in a position to turn over the data within a few days of receiving confirmation that a protective order is in place.

We are fine with providing additional time for the discovery responses and will calendar January 13th as the agreed upon due date.

Also, we have some comments regarding the new search terms you proposed and will be in touch shortly to discuss.

Kara,

In further response to your December 4 letter, please advise as to the status of the documents RDI will turn over to obviate the privilege issue, which is discussed in the paragraph of your letter beginning "First."

As to the document requests to which you have requested supplemental responses, thirty (30) days from your letter is January 3, the first day of business after the holidays. I can say with a high degree of confidence that we will need additional time, likely in the 10 day range. Please let me know if that is satisfactory.
