INFORMATION

CHRISTOPHER J. HICKS, District Attorney within and for the County of Washoe, State of Nevada, in the name and by the authority of the State of Nevada, informs the above entitled Court that FRANCISCO MERINO OJEDA, the defendant above named, has committed the crime of:

MURDER WITH THE USE OF A DEADLY WEAPON, a violation of NRS 200.010, NRS 200.030, and NRS 193.165, a felony, (F720) in the manner following:

That the said defendant, FRANCISCO MERINO OJEDA, on September 17 to September 23, 2004, or thereabout, and before the filing of this Information, at and within the County of Washoe, State

1 of Nevada, did willfully, unlawfully, and with malice aforethought, 2 deliberation, and premeditation, kill and murder Kyla Annan, a human 3 being, in that the defendant strangled the victim, and/or asphyxiated 4 the victim by compressing her chest or abdomen or using his hands or 5 arms to cover her mouth and nose, or the defendant killed the victim by 6 other unknown means, thereby inflicting mortal injuries upon Kyla Annan
7 from which she died between September 17, 2004, and September 23, 2004, 8 and the Defendant did use a deadly weapon in the commission of the 9 crime, which was a bat, rod, dowel, or electric cable, which the 10 defendant used to subdue and incapacitate Annan, and to cut off her 11 oxygen, by forcefully placing the implement across and pressing it 12 against her neck and throat or chest; or

13 That the defendant FRANCISCO MERINO OJEDA did willfully and 14 unlawfully kill Kyla Annan in the perpetration or attempted 15 perpetration of the felony crimes of burglary and/or sexual assault, 16 in that the killing occurred when the defendant entered Annan's
17 residence at 624 Quincy Street in Reno, with the intent to commit 18 sexual assault, assault and/or battery upon a person, sexual 19 penetration of a dead human body, or larceny therein, and thereafter 20 the defendant did beat and strike Annan about the face, head, and 21 extremities; did bite Annan about the breast; did use a deadly weapon, 22 which was a bat, rod, dowel, or electric cable, which the defendant 23 used to subdue and incapacitate Annan, and to cut off her oxygen, by 24 forcefully placing the implement across and pressing it against her 25 neck and throat or chest; did subject Annan to sexual penetration 26 against her will by forcibly causing her to submit to anal and/or

1 vaginal intercourse or did sexually penetrate Annan's dead body; and 2 did inflict mortal injuries upon Annan by strangling and/or 3 asphyxiating her, from which she died.

4 All of which is contrary to the form of the Statute in such 5 case made and provided, and against the peace and dignity of the 6 State of Nevada.

12 THE STATE OF NEVADA,

13 Plaintiff,

Case No. CR15-0829

14 v.

Dept. No. 6

15 FRANCISCO MERINO OJEDA,

16 Defendant.

17 _____/
18 GUILTY PLEA MEMORANDUM

19 1. I, FRANCISCO MERINO OJEDA, understand that I am 20 charged with the offense of: Murder of the First Degree, a violation 21 of NRS 200.010 and NRS 200.030, a category A felony.

22 2. I desire to enter a plea of guilty to the offense of 23 Murder of the First Degree, a violation of NRS 200.010 and NRS
24 200.030, a category A felony, as more fully alleged in the Amended 25 Information filed against me.

26 3. By entering my plea of guilty I know and understand that I am waiving the following constitutional rights:

A. I waive my privilege against self-incrimination.

B. I waive my right to trial by jury, at which trial the 1 State would have to prove my guilt of all elements of the offense

2 beyond a reasonable doubt.

3 C. I waive my right to confront my accusers, that is, the 4 right to confront and cross examine all witnesses who would testify 5 at trial.

6 D. I waive my right to subpoena witnesses for trial on my 7 behalf.

8 4. I understand the charge against me and that the 9 elements of the offense which the State would have to prove beyond a 10 reasonable doubt at trial are: That I, FRANCISCO MERINO OJEDA, on 11 September 17 to September 23, 2004, or thereabout, within Washoe 12 County, Nevada, did willfully, unlawfully, and with malice
13 aforethought, deliberation, and premeditation, kill and murder Kyla 14 Annan, a human being, in that I strangled the victim, and/or 15 asphyxiated the victim by compressing her chest or abdomen or using my 16 hands or arms to cover her mouth and nose, or I killed the victim by 17 other unknown means, thereby inflicting mortal injuries upon Kyla Annan 18 from which she died between September 17, 2004 and September 23, 2004; 19 or

20 That I did willfully and unlawfully kill Kyla Annan in the 21 perpetration or attempted perpetration of the felony crimes of 22 burglary and/or sexual assault, in that the killing occurred when I 23 entered Annan's residence at 624 Quincy Street in Reno, with the 24 intent to commit sexual assault, assault and/or battery upon a 25 person, or larceny therein, and thereafter I did beat and strike Annan 26 about the face, head, and extremities; did bite Annan about the breast;

1 did subject Annan to sexual penetration against her will by forcibly 2 causing her to submit to anal and/or vaginal intercourse or did 3 sexually penetrate Annan's dead body; and did inflict mortal injuries 4 upon Annan by strangling and/or asphyxiating her, from which she 5 died.

6 5. I understand that I admit the facts which support all 7 the elements of the offense by pleading guilty. I admit that the 8 State possesses sufficient evidence which would result in my 9 conviction. I have considered and discussed all possible defenses 10 and defense strategies with my counsel. I understand that I have the 11 right to appeal from adverse rulings on pretrial motions only if the 12 State and the Court consent to my right to appeal in a separate 13 written agreement. I understand that any substantive or procedural 14 pretrial issue(s) which could have been raised at trial are waived by 15 my plea.

16 6. I understand that the consequences of my plea of guilty 17 are that I may be imprisoned in the state prison: (1) For life
18 without the possibility of parole; (2) For life with the possibility 19 of parole, with eligibility for parole beginning when a minimum of 20 20 years has been served; or (3) For a definite term of 50 years, with 21 eligibility for parole beginning when a minimum of 20 years has been 22 served. I understand that I am not eligible for probation.

23 7. In exchange for my plea of guilty, the State, my 24 counsel and I have agreed to recommend the following: The State and 25 I will each be free to argue for an appropriate sentence. The State 26

1 will not file additional criminal charges or enhancements resulting 2 from the arrest in this case.

3 8. I understand that, even though the State and I have 4 reached this plea agreement, the State is reserving the right to 5 present arguments, facts, and/or witnesses at sentencing in support 6 of the plea agreement.

7 9. I also agree that I will make full restitution in this 8 matter, as determined by the Court. Where applicable, I additionally 9 understand and agree that I will be responsible for the repayment of 10 any costs incurred by the State or County in securing my return to 11 this jurisdiction.

12 10. I understand that the State, at their discretion, is 13 entitled to either withdraw from this agreement and proceed with the 14 prosecution of the original charges or be free to argue for an 15 appropriate sentence at the time of sentencing if I fail to appear at 16 any scheduled proceeding in this matter OR if prior to the date of my 17 sentencing I am arrested in any jurisdiction for a violation of law 18 OR if I have misrepresented my prior criminal history. I represent

19 that I do <sup>NOT</sup> have a prior criminal record, ~~which includes one felony~~ <sup>KH F.O.</sup> 20 ~~conviction.~~

21 I understand and agree that the occurrence of any of 22 these acts constitutes a material breach of my plea agreement with 23 the State. I further understand and agree that by the execution of 24 this agreement, I am waiving any right I may have to remand this matter to Justice Court should I later withdraw my plea.

25 11. I understand and agree that pursuant to the terms of 26 the plea agreement stated herein, any counts which are to be

1 dismissed and any other cases charged or uncharged which are either 2 to be dismissed or not pursued by the State, may be considered by the 3 court at the time of my sentencing.

4 12. I understand that the Court is not bound by the 5 agreement of the parties and that the matter of sentencing is to be 6 determined solely by the Court. I have discussed the charge, the 7 facts and the possible defenses with my attorney. All of the 8 foregoing rights, waiver of rights, elements, possible penalties, and 9 consequences, have been carefully explained to me by my attorney. My 10 attorney has not promised me anything not mentioned in this plea 11 memorandum, and, in particular, my attorney has not promised that I 12 will get any specific sentence. I am satisfied with my counsel's 13 advice and representation leading to this resolution of my case. I 14 am aware that if I am not satisfied with my counsel I should advise 15 the Court at this time. I believe that entering my plea is in my 16 best interest and that going to trial is not in my best interest. My 17 attorney has advised me that if I wish to appeal, any appeal, if 18 applicable to my case, must be filed within thirty days of my 19 sentence and/or judgment.

20 13. I understand that this plea and resulting conviction 21 will likely have adverse effects upon my residency in this country if 22 I am not a U. S. Citizen. I have discussed the effects my plea will 23 have upon my residency with my counsel.

24 14. I offer my plea freely, voluntarily, knowingly and 25 with full understanding of all matters set forth in the Amended 26 Information and in this Plea Memorandum. I have read this plea

1 memorandum completely and I understand everything contained within 2 it.

3 15. My plea of guilty is voluntary and is not the result 4 of any threats, coercion or promises of leniency.

5 16. I am signing this Plea Memorandum voluntarily with 6 advice of counsel, under no duress, coercion, or promises of 7 leniency.

8 17. I do hereby swear under penalty of perjury that all of 9 the assertions in this written plea agreement document are true.

11 AFFIRMATION PURSUANT TO NRS 239B.030

12 The undersigned does hereby affirm that the preceding 13 document does not contain the social security number of any person.

4 THE COURT: This is Case No. CR15-0829, state of Nevada
5 versus Francisco Merino Ojeda.

6 Good afternoon, Mr. Ojeda.

7 THE DEFENDANT: Good afternoon, Your Honor.

8 THE COURT: And the record will reflect that Mr. Ojeda 9 is here with a certified court interpreter.

10 And Miss Interpreter, have you had an opportunity to 11 speak with Mr. Ojeda today?

12 THE INTERPRETER: Yes, Your Honor, I have. This is the 13 interpreter speaking.

14 THE COURT: Have you had any difficulty understanding 15 him or conversing with him?

16 THE INTERPRETER: No, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: Please state your appearances.

18 MR. PRENGAMAN: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Luke 19 Prengaman for the State.

20 MS. HICKMAN: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Kate Hickman
21 on behalf of Mr. Ojeda.

22 THE COURT: As I indicated, this was the time set for 23 pretrial motions. We had an upcoming jury trial set for 24 September 10, 2018. I understand from my clerk that a guilty 25 plea memorandum has been entered into; is that correct?

1 MS. HICKMAN: That is correct.

2 THE COURT: And an amended information has been filed 3 or just provided to the Court, Mr. Prengaman?

4 MR. PRENGAMAN: Provided to be filed in open court, 5 Your Honor.

6 THE COURT: The minutes will reflect that the amended 7 information will be filed in this case.

8 Do you need a copy of it, Miss Hickman, or do you have 9 one?

10 MS. HICKMAN: Thank you, Your Honor. I am in receipt 11 of that amended information. Mr. Ojeda's name is correctly 12 spelled on line 12. We are familiar with what is in the amended 13 information.

14 THE COURT: If I can ask you just to slow down for the 15 interpreter.

16 MS. HICKMAN: We waive a formal reading and advisement.
17 In exchange for his pleading guilty, the parties will be free to 18 argue for an appropriate sentence.

19 I do have a signed guilty plea memo. There's one 20 correction on page 4. It was corrected via interlineation, and 21 all parties have initialed it. If I may approach. It is signed.

22 THE COURT: The record will reflect that Miss Hickman 23 has provided the Court with a copy of the guilty plea memorandum.
24 In reviewing it, I do see at page 4 the initials of both counsel 25 as well as Mr. Ojeda. And that will be entered into the minutes

1 that that is an appropriate interlineation.

2 All right. Would you please swear Mr. Ojeda.

3 (Defendant sworn.)

4 THE COURT: Mr. Ojeda, did you hear what your counsel 5 described as the negotiations in this case?

6 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: And did you agree with them?

8 THE DEFENDANT: Yes.

9 THE COURT: At any time during the course of this 10 canvass regarding your plea if you don't understand something, 11 please ask the interpreter to advise me. Okay?

12 THE DEFENDANT: Uh-huh. Okay. Thank you.

13 THE COURT: Is the language that you read, write, and 14 understand the best Spanish?

15 THE DEFENDANT: Yes.

16 THE COURT: Do you speak any English, sir?

17 THE DEFENDANT: No, very little.

18 THE COURT: How old are you?

19 THE DEFENDANT: 36.

20 THE COURT: How far did you get in school?

21 THE DEFENDANT: Sixth grade.

22 THE COURT: In this case the guilty plea memorandum is 23 written in English. And so were you able to read it or unable to 24 read it?

25 THE DEFENDANT: Yes.

1 THE COURT: You are unable to read it.

2 THE DEFENDANT: Is this the same one?

3 THE COURT: Yes. I'm going to ask the question next.
4 This is in English, so you were not able to read it in English; 5 is that correct?

6 THE DEFENDANT: But it was translated.

7 THE COURT: I'm going to ask you that next.

8 So you were able to fully discuss it with your counsel 9 and to read it with an interpreter; is that correct?

10 THE DEFENDANT: Yes.

11 THE COURT: After you had it read to you by an 12 interpreter, did you have any questions or did you have anything 13 you didn't understand?

14 THE DEFENDANT: No, everything is okay.

15 THE COURT: And you were able to address all of its 16 provisions with your counsel; is that correct?

17 THE DEFENDANT: Yes.

18 THE COURT: I'm turning to the last page of the guilty 19 plea memorandum, which is page 6. There's a line that says 20 defendant. I'm showing you that. Do you see it?

21 THE DEFENDANT: Uh-huh.

22 THE COURT: Is that a yes?

23 THE DEFENDANT: Yes.

24 THE COURT: Is that your signature, Mr. Ojeda?

25 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, Your Honor.

1 THE COURT: By signing this were you telling the Court, 2 one, that you complete understand the guilty plea memorandum?

3 THE DEFENDANT: Yes.

4 THE COURT: And two, that you agree with each and every 5 term and condition?

6 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Now, under your signature there's a line 8 that says translator/interpreter. Is that your signature, Miss 9 Interpreter?

10 THE INTERPRETER: Yes, Your Honor, it is.

11 THE COURT: And you were present when Mr. Ojeda signed 12 the document; is that right?

13 THE INTERPRETER: Yes, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: And it's one and the same as the document 15 that you interpreted, correct?

16 THE INTERPRETER: Yes, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: Mr. Ojeda, do you understand that by 18 pleading guilty you are giving up important constitutional 19 rights?

20 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I understand.

21 THE COURT: Do you understand that you are waiving your 22 right to go forward by jury trial?

23 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I understand.

24 THE COURT: You understand that the jury trial that is 25 presently set in this case will be vacated.

1 THE DEFENDANT: Yes.

2 THE COURT: Meaning that it will be taken off calendar.

3 THE DEFENDANT: Uh-huh, yes, it's okay.

4 THE COURT: Do you understand that you are waiving your 5 right to require the State to prove the charges against you 6 beyond a reasonable doubt?

7 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I understand.

8 THE COURT: Do you also understand that you are waiving 9 your right against self-incrimination?

10 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I understand.

11 THE COURT: What do you understand self-incrimination 12 to be?

13 THE DEFENDANT: That I am saying I'm guilty.

14 THE COURT: So you understand that by admitting these 15 charges you are in fact incriminating yourself.

16 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I understand.

17 THE COURT: Do you understand you are giving up your 18 right to cross-examine all of the State's witnesses?

19 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I understand.

20 THE COURT: Do you also understand you are giving up 21 your right to subpoena witnesses in and compel their attendance 22 in court at the time of trial?

23 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I understand, Your Honor.

24 THE COURT: Mr. Prengaman, would you please advise 25 Mr. Ojeda what the State would be prepared to prove beyond a

1 reasonable doubt if the case would go to trial, were to go to 2 trial. And for the record, you will be reading from the amended 3 information, correct?

4 MR. PRENGAMAN: Yes, Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: I just ask you to keep your pace slow 6 enough for the interpreter to fully hear Mr. Ojeda.

7 MR. PRENGAMAN: Mr. Ojeda, if this matter were to 8 proceed to trial, the State would prove beyond a reasonable doubt 9 that you, on or about September 17 to September 23, 2004, in 10 Washoe County, Nevada, did willfully unlawfully and with malice 11 aforethought, deliberation, and premeditation kill and murder
12 Kyla Annan, a human being, in that you strangled the victim 13 and/or asphyxiated the victim by compressing her chest or abdomen 14 or using your hands or arms to cover her mouth and nose, or you 15 killed the victim by other unknown means, thereby inflicting 16 mortal injuries upon Kyla Annan from which she died between 17 September 13 and September 23, 2004, or that you did willfully 18 and unlawfully kill Kyla Annan in the perpetration or attempted 19 perpetration of the felony crimes of burglary and/or sexual 20 assault, in that the killing occurred when you entered Annan's
21 residence at 624 Quincy Street in Reno with the intent to commit 22 sexual assault, assault and/or battery upon a person or larceny 23 therein, and thereafter you did beat and strike Annan about the 24 face, head, and extremities, did bite at and about the breast, 25 did subject Annan to sexual penetration against her will by

1 forcibly causing her to submit to anal and/or vaginal intercourse
2 or did sexually penetrate Annan's dead body and did inflict 3 mortal injuries on Annan upon by strangling and/or asphyxiating 4 her, from which she died.

5 THE COURT: Mr. Ojeda, do you understand the elements
6 the State was prepared to prove against you should this matter go 7 to trial?

8 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I understand, Your Honor.

9 THE COURT: You have reviewed the amended information 10 with your counsel, correct?

11 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, correct.

12 MS. HICKMAN: Sorry, if I may interject. It is charged 13 in the alternative. Mr. Ojeda would be, he has maintained that 14 it's the first of the second, that he didn't enter the house 15 under the felony murder rule, but both are in there.

16 THE COURT: Mr. Ojeda, you understand that the term 17 "or" is included in the amended information?

18 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I understand.

19 THE COURT: In other words, there's one set of elements 20 the State was prepared to prove or another set of elements.

21 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I understand.

22 THE COURT: Did you commit the crime with the intent as 23 described in the charges stated by the deputy district attorney 24 under one set of those elements?

25 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I understand.

1 THE COURT: So the answer is yes or no. Did you commit 2 the crime with the intent as described under the charges stated 3 by the deputy district attorney under one of those fact sets or 4 elements?

5 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, Your Honor. Yes, I understand.

6 THE COURT: So yes, you did commit the crime, correct?

7 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, Your Honor.

8 THE COURT: Do you understand as set forth in the 9 guilty plea memorandum and reviewed by both counsel that the 10 maximum penalty in this case for the crime to which you are 11 pleading is that you may be imprisoned in the Nevada Department 12 of Corrections, one, for life without the possibility of parole?
13 Do you understand that?

14 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I understand.

15 THE COURT: Or two, for life with the possibility of 16 parole with eligibility for parole beginning when a minimum of 20 17 years has been served.

18 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I understand, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: Or three, for a definite term of 50 years, 20 with eligibility for parole beginning when a minimum of 20 years 21 has been served.

22 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I understand.

23 THE COURT: And do you understand that you are not 24 eligible for probation?

25 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I understand.

1 THE COURT: And your counsel have talked to you about 2 the maximum and minimums, correct, that are available to the 3 Court for sentencing?

4 THE DEFENDANT: Yes.

5 THE COURT: And do you understand that the negotiations 6 in this case indicate that both parties will be free to argue to 7 the Court for an appropriate sentence?

8 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I understand.

9 THE COURT: And do you understand that the Court is not 10 bound by any arguments or recommendations that are made at the 11 time of sentencing, but the Court alone will determine your 12 sentence?

13 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I understand, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: And do you understand that may result in 15 your incarceration for life without the possibility of parole?

16 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I understand.

17 THE COURT: With all those rights in mind that you have 18 waived and all the information that I have provided you, 19 Mr. Ojeda, do you still wish to plead guilty?

20 THE DEFENDANT: Yes. Yes.

21 THE COURT: As you stand here today, do you have any 22 reservations about entry of your plea of guilt?

23 THE DEFENDANT: No.

24 THE COURT: Have you had sufficient time to fully 25 discuss this case with your attorney?

1 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: Are you satisfied with the representation 3 that's been provided to you by your attorney throughout this 4 entire proceeding, including today?

5 THE DEFENDANT: Yes.

6 THE COURT: Has anyone promised you anything in order 7 to get you to plead guilty?

8 THE DEFENDANT: No.

9 THE COURT: Has anyone threatened you or anyone close 10 to you in order to get you to plead guilty?

11 THE DEFENDANT: No.

12 THE COURT: Are you pleading guilty freely and 13 voluntarily?

14 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, Your Honor.

15 THE COURT: Are you under the influence of any alcohol 16 or drugs, or do you have any condition that would preclude you 17 from hearing me, understanding me, and understanding what's 18 happening to you today in court?

19 THE DEFENDANT: No.

20 THE COURT: Do you have any questions for me about 21 these proceedings, Mr. Ojeda?

22 THE DEFENDANT: No, Your Honor.

23 THE COURT: What is your plea to murder of the first 24 degree, a violation of NRS 200.010 and NRS 200.030?

25 THE DEFENDANT: What? I'm sorry.

1 THE COURT: Let me just say, what is your plea to 2 murder of the first degree?

3 THE DEFENDANT: Oh, guilty.

4 THE COURT: The Court finds that Mr. Ojeda fully 5 understands the guilty plea memorandum, understands what was 6 stated in the amended information and all of the information 7 that's been presented to the Court today, understands the nature 8 of the offense charged, the consequences of his plea, and he has 9 made a knowing, voluntary, and intelligent waiver of his 10 constitutional rights. The Court accepts his guilty plea, and we 11 will set a date for sentencing.

12 Before we set that date for sentencing, Mr. Ojeda, the 13 division of parole and probation will contact you, and they will 14 prepare a presentence investigation report. It's a report that 15 has a lot of information all about you that I read thoroughly 16 before sentencing. So it's very important that you cooperate 17 with them. Do you understand?

18 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I understand, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: And I'm ordering you to do that.

20 Counsel, have you consulted your respective calendars 21 and anyone else who wishes to appear, and do you have any 22 proposed dates?

23 MS. HICKMAN: Judge, we talked about October 12.

24 THE COURT: And how long do you need?

25 MS. HICKMAN: I anticipate a half day.

1 THE COURT: You have, you think yours is a half day or 2 less?

3 MR. PRENGAMAN: Your Honor, I don't think -- the State
4 will definitely have a presentation. I would suggest we just set 5 it for a day, so just in case.

6 THE COURT: Okay. And do you have a start time, or is 7 anyone traveling that needs to be here?

8 MR. PRENGAMAN: The State would have witnesses 9 traveling.

10 THE COURT: So would it be better to start at 10:00 or 11 start in the afternoon?

12 MR. PRENGAMAN: Your Honor, I think starting at 9:00 or 13 around that time would be sufficient.

14 THE COURT: What day of the week is that?

15 THE CLERK: That's a Friday.

16 THE COURT: Let's start at 9:30, just to make sure that 17 everyone is here, and we have an interpreter here.

18 So the Court will vacate the trial at this time. And I 19 don't have on here if we had another motion to confirm, but that 20 will be vacated. There's numerous, I issued an order because I 21 wanted to address all the pretrial motions today, and I believe 22 that order took it off of the submit list, but if it didn't, all 23 of your motions will be taken off the submit list.

24 The writ is still at the supreme court? And I don't 25 know whether they will still issue any type of decision on that,

1 so I suppose we will wait until sentencing, but for purposes of 2 this trial, it won't affect any of your trial actions on your 3 part.

4 Thank you very much. You have the amended information, 5 and that will be filed in.

6 Any questions or anything else to address, counsel?

7 MR. PRENGAMAN: Not for the State. Thank you, Your 8 Honor.

9 MS. HICKMAN: No.

10 THE COURT: Thank you. We will be in recess.

POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. EVIDENCE THAT MAY BE CONSIDERED AT SENTENCING

"Few limitations are imposed on a judge's right to consider evidence in imposing a sentence, and courts are generally free to consider information extraneous to the presentencing report. Possession of the fullest information possible concerning a defendant's life and characteristics is essential to the sentencing judge's task of determining the type and extent of punishment."<sup>1</sup> "The sentencing proceeding is not a second trial and the court is privileged to consider facts and circumstances which clearly would not be admissible at trial."<sup>2</sup> A defendant's character and history of criminal conduct are relevant to the determination of an appropriate sentence, and other criminal conduct, even conduct the defendant was never charged with or convicted of, is relevant and may be considered by the sentencing court.<sup>3</sup>

The United States Supreme Court's Williams v. New York<sup>4</sup> decision is the seminal case dealing with the broad amount of information a trial court is entitled to consider in imposing a sentence. It has been cited with approval in dozens of subsequent United States Supreme court decisions as well as in literally hundreds of other decisions from other federal and state appellate courts.<sup>5</sup> In Williams, the United State Supreme Court offered an extended discussion regarding the broad discretion trial judges have in admitting character evidence pertaining to the defendant:

Tribunals passing on the guilt of a defendant always have been hedged in by strict evidentiary procedural limitations. But both before and since the American colonies became a nation, courts in

This discretion enables the sentencing judge to consider a wide, largely unlimited variety of information to insure that the punishment fits not only the crime, but also the individual defendant").

State*, 92 Nev. 91, 93-94, 545 P.2d 1159, 1161 (1976) ("So long as the record does not demonstrate prejudice resulting from consideration of information or accusations founded on facts supported only by impalpable or highly suspect evidence, this court will refrain from interfering with the sentence imposed" (emphasis added)).

Cawley*, 648 P.2d 142, 144 (Arizona 1982).

1 this country and in England practiced a policy under which a 2 sentencing judge could exercise a wide discretion in the sources and 3 types of evidence used to assist him in determining the kind and 4 extent of punishment to be imposed within limits fixed by law. Out-5 of-court affidavits have been used frequently, and of course in the 6 smaller communities sentencing judges naturally have in mind their 7 knowledge of the personalities and backgrounds of convicted 8 offenders. A recent manifestation of the historical latitude allowed 9 sentencing judges appears in Rule 32 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, 18 U.S.C.A. That rule provides for consideration by federal judges of reports made by probation officers containing information about a convicted defendant, including such information
'as may be helpful in imposing sentence or in granting probation or in the correctional treatment of the defendant * * *.'

10 In addition to the historical basis for different evidentiary 11 rules governing trial and sentencing procedures there are sound 12 practical reasons for the distinction. In a trial before verdict the issue 13 is whether a defendant is guilty of having engaged in certain criminal 14 conduct of which he has been specifically accused. Rules of evidence 15 have been fashioned for criminal trials which narrowly confine the 16 trial contest to evidence that is strictly relevant to the particular 17 offense charged. These rules rest in part on a necessity to prevent a 18 time consuming and confusing trial of collateral issues. They were 19 also designed to prevent tribunals concerned solely with the issue of 20 guilt of a particular offense from being influenced to convict for that 21 offense by evidence that the defendant had habitually engaged in 22 other misconduct. A sentencing judge, however, is not confined to the 23 narrow issue of guilt. His task within fixed statutory or 24 constitutional limits is to determine the type and extent of 25 punishment after the issue of guilt has been determined. Highly 26 relevant-if not essential-to his selection of an appropriate sentence is 27 the possession of the fullest information possible concerning the 28 defendant's life and characteristics. And modern concepts 29 individualizing punishment have made it all the more necessary that a sentencing judge not be denied an opportunity to obtain pertinent information by a requirement of rigid adherence to restrictive rules of evidence properly applicable to the trial.<sup>6</sup>

The United States Supreme Court has also held that even evidence of a crime that was tried and resulted in acquittal may be admissible at a sentencing hearing so long as the

<sup>6</sup> Williams, 337 U.S. at 246-50, 69 S. Ct. at 1082-85. See also United States v. Tucker, 404 U.S. 443, 446, 92 S. Ct. 589 (1972) ("[B]efore making [a sentencing] determination, a judge may appropriately conduct an inquiry broad in scope, largely unlimited either as to the kind of information he may consider, or the source from which it may come").

1 evidence is relevant and reliable.<sup>7</sup> Additionally, “those courts of appeals that have decided 2 the issue – the Fourth, Sixth, Seventh, and Eleventh Circuits – have all held that 3 statements obtained by the police in violation of Miranda are admissible at sentencing, if 4 otherwise reliable.”<sup>8</sup>

5 As the Fourth Circuit has explained, although “statements obtained in violation 6 of Miranda are inadmissible in the government's case-in-chief,” this rule does 7 not inexorably apply in other contexts. Beyond the government's case-in-chief, 8 courts must balance “the deterrent effect expected to be achieved by extending 9 the Miranda exclusionary rule against the harm resulting from the exclusion of 10 reliable evidence from the truth-finding process.” At the sentencing phase, that 11 balance will “normally” tilt in favor of admitting “illegally obtained but reliable 12 evidence” because excluding the un-Mirandized statement “from the 13 government's case-in-chief at trial will provide ample deterrence against police misconduct,” and “the additional deterrent effect of excluding [the] evidence from sentencing usually would be minimal.” Significantly, “absent coercive tactics by police, there is nothing inherently unreliable about otherwise voluntary statements obtained in violation of Miranda and Edwards.”<sup>9</sup>

14 The Nevada legislature has also made clear that a broad amount of information may be 15 considered by the sentencing court. NRS 176.145(1)(a)(b) provides that the pre-sentence 16 report compiled to assist the judge at sentencing must contain information regarding the 17 prior criminal record of the defendant and “such information about his characteristics, his 18 financial condition, the circumstances effecting his behavior and the circumstances of the 19 offense, as may be helpful in imposing sentence.”

20 Thus, while evidence at trial is generally confined to the narrow issue of guilt or 21 innocence, evidence of a defendant's past misconduct, whether charged or uncharged, is 22 relevant to sentencing, because the defendant's character, past and present, is in issue.

comparison United States v. McCrory, 930 F.2d 63, 68-69 (D.C. Cir. 1991) (permitting consideration of evidence obtained in violation of the Fourth Amendment at sentencing)). Cf. Oregon v. Elstad, 470 U.S. 298, 29 307, 105 S. Ct. 1285 (1985) (“the Miranda presumption, though irrebuttable for purposes of the prosecution's case in chief, does not require that the statements and their fruits be discarded as inherently tainted”).

1 II. DEFENSE COUNSEL’S PERSONAL BELIEFS OR OPINIONS ABOUT THE 2 DEFENDANT ARE NOT EVIDENCE NOR WITHIN THE SCOPE OF PROPER 3 ARGUMENT

4 Statements, arguments, and personal opinions of counsel are not evidence, and “it is 5 improper for either the prosecutor or defense counsel to “ma[ke] statements as to facts not 6 proven” or to put his or her “personal knowledge and belief ... on the scales.”<sup>10</sup> 7 Additionally, neither prosecutor nor defense attorney can vouch for witnesses or refer to 8 matters outside the record evidence.<sup>11</sup>

9 The Defendant’s lawyer may attempt to offer personal anecdotes about representing 10 the defendant, or personal opinions or beliefs about his conduct or character. The State 11 will object to such personal anecdotes, opinions, or beliefs, as they exceed the scope of 12 proper argument, and, unless the attorney testifies as a witness at the hearing, address 13 matters not properly in evidence.<sup>12</sup>

14 III. EVIDENCE THE STATE WILL RELY UPON AT SENTENCING

15 A. Victim Kyla Annan

16 Kyla Anna was twenty-eight years old on the day the Defendant murdered her, which 17 was in September of 2004. She worked at Little Golden Goose preschool and lived alone at 18 624 Quincy Street in Reno. She had been dating Travis Miller. Travis was the one who 2006)).

21 <sup>10</sup> See Glover v. District Court, 125 Nev. 691, 705, 220 P.3d 684, 694 (2009) (“The prohibition against 22 arguing facts not in evidence applies to the prosecution and the defense alike. “[I]t is improper for either the 23 prosecutor or defense counsel to “ma[ke] statements as to facts not proven” or to put his or her “personal 24 knowledge and belief ... on the scales”) (quoting United States v. Hoffman, 964 F.2d 21, 24 (D.C. Cir. 1992)
(quoting United States v. Latimer, 511 F.2d 498, 503 (10th Cir.1975)) (emphasis added). See also Flanagan
v. State, 112 Nev. 1409, 1420, 930 P.2d 691, 698 (1996) (Referring to instruction of law that “[s]tatements, arguments and opinions of counsel are not evidence in the case”).

25 <sup>11</sup> Id.; Young v. District Court, 107 Nev. 642, 650, 818 P.2d 844, 849 (1991) (“Criminal defendants and their lawyers must abide by the rules that apply to other litigants”).

26 <sup>12</sup> For example, an anecdotal and opinion-laden statement like “every time I met with Francisco at the 27 jail, he was polite and expressed his desire to take responsibility for what he did – I could see how repentant 28 and remorseful he was, and if it was up to him, he would have pled guilty a year ago” would be improper 29 unless the lawyer testified as a witness. Absent actual testimony by the lawyer at the hearing, such a statement improperly refers to matters not evidence, improperly seeks to place the lawyer’s prestige, position, and reputation behind the defendant, and improperly puts defense counsel’s “personal knowledge and belief . . . on the scales.” Glover, 125 Nev. at 705, 220 P.3d at 694. This not only violates the rules, but because the underlying basis of the anecdote and opinion are not properly in evidence, it also unfairly prejudices the State’s ability to address and rebut the substance and credibility of the claims and opinions.

1 found Kyla's dead body. When he could not reach her on the phone and had received no 2 response to his messages, Travis went to Kyla's house to check on her. He called the police 3 after finding her dead.

28
29 <sup>13</sup> The photographs and documents included and attached to this Memorandum have been previously provided to the defense in discovery.

Pathologist Dr. Christie Elliott performed the autopsy on Kyla's body. Doctor Elliott concluded that "Kyla Annan, age 28 years, died of asphyxia due to manual strangulation. The autopsy also showed other blunt trauma."<sup>14</sup> Kyla, in other words, was beaten and strangled to death. Doctor Elliott documented the following injuries inflicted upon Kyla:

I. Evidence of strangulation:

- A. Fractures of right hyoid bone.
- B. Hemorrhage into anterior strap muscles of neck.
- C. Bilateral abrasions and contusions of neck.
- D. Bilateral petechial hemorrhages of sclera.

II. Evidence of blunt force injuries:

- A. Multiple abrasions and contusions of head, including forehead, eyes, nares, lips, cheeks, chin, and ears.
- B. Subgaleal hemorrhage.
- C. Bilateral temporalis muscle hemorrhage, greater on left than right.
- D. Multiple abrasions and contusions of torso, including shoulders, chest, back, and right hip.
- E. Partial bite mark of right breast.
- F. Multiple abrasions and contusions of upper and lower extremities.<sup>15</sup>

1 The area of the “partial bite mark of right breast” documented by Dr. Elliott was found
2 to contain the Defendant’s DNA. The Defendant also left his sperm in/on Kyla.<sup>16</sup>

3 The last time Kyla’s parents, Steve and Cheryl Annan, spoke to their daughter, it was 4 over the phone on the morning of Friday, September 17, 2004. Travis Miller last spoke to 5 Kyla that Friday night. Kyla was scheduled to work at Little Golden Goose daycare on 6 Monday, September 20, but did not show up and did not respond to her boss’s calls. Her 7 body was found on September 23.

8 B. The Defendant’s first attempt to rape Kyla Annan the week before he murdered 9 her.<sup>17</sup>

10 On September 13, 2004, the Defendant entered Kyla Annan’s house to rape her. He 11 entered at the back of her home just after midnight, and started removing his shirts on his 12 way to her bedroom.

13 Unbeknownst to the Defendant, Travis Miller was spending the night, and he was 14 asleep in bed with Kyla at the time. The Defendant entered Kyla’s room, approached the 15 bed, removed his undershirt, then put his hand over the mouth of the figure in the bed.
16 This happened to be Travis, however, who was sleeping on the side of the bed nearest the 17 Defendant. Travis woke up, and the Defendant fled. Travis saw only a figure in the dark 18 running out of the room, then heard the Defendant go out the back door.<sup>18</sup>

19 After calling the police, Travis and Kyla searched the house to see if anything was 20 missing. They found nothing missing, but did find two things that clearly conveyed the 21 Defendant’s intent: a white ribbed tank top undershirt that was at the foot of the bed and

23 <sup>16</sup> DNA Criminalist Dr. Brittany Baguley determined that the Defendant’s DNA profile matched DNA
24 from the sperm located on the rectal swabs taken from Kyla’s body and the DNA profile foreign to Kyla 25 Annan from the right breast swabs. See Report L4702-04-26,27,28 of DNA Criminalist Brittany Baguley, of Proceedings: Preliminary Hearing, May 28, 2015, at pp.9-40 (testimony of Travis Miller), attached as Exhibit 4.

27 <sup>18</sup> Id. During the Defendant’s extradition to Reno, he admitted to entering Kyla’s house on this prior 28 occasion and removing his shirt, stating that “I entered from the back side and I opened a door and I went in and, um, I took off my shirt that I had on.” He also told Det. Allen the following: “So I was there thinking whether to do it or not to do it, and in the end, I did go in and like I tried to grab her, but she moved and I 29 felt fear at that point. That’s when I ran.” See Transcript of Defendant’s Extradition Interview at pp.12-14 (a copy is attached as Exhibit 5).

1 a short sleeve collared button-down shirt that had been left on a sewing manikin in the 2 rear of the house near the rear door:

10 Neither shirt belonged to Kyla or Travis, and neither shirt had been there when they 11 went to bed. The Defendant's DNA was later linked to the white ribbed tank top 12 undershirt.<sup>19</sup>

13 C. The Defendant's return to Kyla's house to accomplish his goal.

14 Approximately a week after his aborted attempt to rape Kyla, the Defendant returned 15 to her residence to accomplish his goal. To avoid detection, the Defendant entered Kyla's 16 property/yard from the back by jumping over the fence around 2:00 a.m., then cased the 17 house by moving around it in a "U" pattern multiple times to determine who was home 18 and to find a way into the house.<sup>20</sup> The Defendant broke one of the window screens to 19 remove it, then entered through the window.<sup>21</sup>

20 The Defendant believed Kyla must have heard him entering, because she confronted 21 him in the hallway shortly after he had gotten into the house. Kyla "tried to defend 22 herself," but the Defendant subdued her by repeatedly beating and striking her, grabbing 23 her and throwing her on the bed, then using his body weight and fists to control her.<sup>22</sup> In 28 from the vantage point of an acquaintance's rental house that was across the street from Kyla's. See id. at 29 pp.10; 19-25.

Orange County interview, but later, while being extradited, he acknowledged beating Kyla after she tried to defend herself. See Transcript of Extradition Interview at pp.16-17.

1 the Defendant's words: "I then took off her underwear and I started to rape her."<sup>23</sup> The 2 Defendant assaulted Kyla both "vaginal and anal."<sup>24</sup> The Defendant claimed Kyla was not 3 moving at this point, and that this may occurred after Kyla had stopped breathing, 4 although he could not remember for sure.<sup>25</sup>

5 D. The Defendant's flight and ten years of freedom.

6 The Defendant went to work the next day after killing Kyla.<sup>26</sup> Two weeks later, fearful 7 of being apprehended, he fled to Santa Ana, California.<sup>27</sup> He began working and living his 8 life, including having a relationship with his girlfriend and having kids. After killing Kyla, 9 the Defendant enjoyed over a decade of freedom.

10 While the Defendant was free, Kyla's parents, family, friends, and loved ones were left 11 with the aftermath of his actions. They faced not only the loss of Kyla, who was in the 12 prime of her young life, and not only the knowledge that she spent her last minutes alive 13 in terror, being violated, beaten, and having her breath and life strangled out of her by a 14 predatory stranger in her own home. They were also left with the knowledge that the man 15 responsible had gotten away, and, as a decade wore on, with the appearance that he might 16 never be brought to justice.

17 After the Defendant fled, the police continued to investigate and follow any leads they 18 could identify. They interviewed and collected DNA samples from many individuals – the 19 report of then Detective Ron Chalmers, attached as Exhibit 8, is an example of the 20 investigation that continued after the Defendant fled from Nevada.

21 It was not a crisis of conscience that resulted in the identification and apprehension of 22 the Defendant in 2015. The Defendant never, in over ten years, came forward with the 23 truth due to any internal impetus based upon any sense of right, truth, or justice; he never 24 took, in the real sense, responsibility for what he had done. Instead, it was an informant 25 who came to the Reno Police Department in January of 2015 who tipped the police toward 26

1 the Defendant. By all indications, but for the informant, the Defendant would have been 2 content to live his life of freedom, to leave Kyla's murder unsolved, and to leave Kyla's 3 parents and family without closure or justice.

4 When the police contacted the Defendant on March 11, 2015, in California to ask him
5 about Kyla, his reaction was not to come clean – it was to lie. The Defendant denied 6 knowing or having seen Kyla, even after he was told that the police had DNA evidence, 7 and demanded to know who was accusing him. It was only after the police told the 8 Defendant they had a warrant for his arrest and began handcuffing him that he 9 acknowledged that he had killed Kyla, and in almost the same breath, offered drug use as 10 an excuse:

11 Chalmers: Tell him actually that I've got a warrant for his arrest.
12 Altamirano: (Look, we have a warrant for your arrest.)
13 Merino-Ojeda: Uh-huh. (That's fine.)
14 Altamirano: Okay.
15 Chalmers: We're going to go back and (inaudible)
16 Altamirano: (We'll talk more, okay.)
17 Merino-Ojeda: (I already. . .damn it. I...I already walked. It was me, man.)
18 Altamirano: (What?)
19 Merino-Ojeda: (Yes, it was me, man.)
20 Altamirano: He says it was him.
21 Merino-Ojeda: (There's no use.)
22 Altamirano: (What was...) 23 Merino-Ojeda: (I was also drugged up, you know. I was bad. I was admitted to the hospital for 24 drugs. I didn't know what I did.)
25 Altamirano: (Inaudible) that it was you?)
26 Merino-Ojeda: Hey...
27 Altamirano: Uh-huh.
28 Merino-Ojeda: (I killed her, man.)
29 Altamirano: He says, "I killed her."<sup>28</sup>

30 The excuse of drug use would be a refrain of the Defendant's throughout his interview 31 at the Orange County Sheriff's Office and during his discussion about Kyla's murder 32 during his extradition to Reno. Even if true, however, this has little mitigating weight in 33 this particular case. The Defendant acknowledged that he knew how drugs affected him, 34 and had reflected upon things he had done after using them.<sup>29</sup> If it is true that he chose to 35 use drugs the night he killed Kyla – whether or not he did so specifically to get up the 36 gumption to enter Kyla's home and rape her after his previous aborted attempt – that 29 <sup>28</sup> Transcript of Field Contact with Defendant at p.64 (Spanish omitted; translation from Spanish in parenthesis). A copy of this transcript is attached as Exhibit 7.

1 knowing choice to use drugs fails to diminish his responsibility for what he did. It 2 arguably aggravates what he did, as (if what he says is true) he chose to use a substance 3 he knew would increase the likelihood of the crimes being committed. The risk and 4 consequence of that knowing choice should fall on squarely on the Defendant, the 5 wrongdoer, not upon the victim and community by way of diminished punishment for the 6 wrongdoer's crime.

7 Additionally, the evidence in this case shows that the defendant's decisions and actions 8 were not the product of drug use, but of the Defendant's selfish desires and fact that he 9 was covetous of Kyla. The Defendant's aborted attempt to rape Kyla the week before he 10 killed her evinces that the intent and determination to act upon it were fully formed in the 11 Defendant's mind before he set foot in Kyla's home.<sup>30</sup>

12 IV. POSSIBLE UNTIMELY DISCLOSURE OF PSYCHOLOGICAL EVALUATION(S)

13 The defense sometimes obtains psychological evaluations of a defendant to be used at 14 sentencing. It is not uncommon for the defense to delay disclosure of such evaluations 15 until a day or so before sentencing, even when the report has been complete for weeks or 16 months.<sup>31</sup>

17 Some of these reports appear to contain very little application of science or expertise, 18 instead consisting mostly recitations of the defendant's versions and interpretations of 19 events, selective and uncorroborated self-reported anecdotes about the defendant's history, 20 and selected and uncorroborated anecdotes about the defendant's history elicited from 21 family members. However, because these things are recited under the auspices of an 22 expert witness, there can be a tendency to attach more weight to them than if the same 23 verbiage were delivered via actual testimony from the source witnesses. These reports also 24 sometimes refer to diagnoses, commonly substance-abuse and stress-related ones, and 25 they sometimes include citations to the DSM or other sources. Very often, the statements 26 included in the report have never been previously disclosed.

28 <sup>29</sup> See, e.g., Transcript of Orange County Interview at p.88.

29 <sup>30</sup> See, e.g., People v. Gerks, 153 N.E. 36, 38 (N.Y. 1926) (repetition of an act affords an "opportunity for reflection and for foresight of the consequences").

1 The State is entitled to fair notice and a fair opportunity to rebut such evidence, and 2 the tactic of deliberately delaying disclosure should not be allowed to deprive the State of a 3 meaningful opportunity to do so.<sup>32</sup> If a psychological evaluation or evaluations are 4 disclosed within a day or two of the sentencing in this case, the State will seek exclusion of 5 the report or alternative continuance to have a full and fair opportunity to address the 6 content of such a report. However, the State submits that the Court should lean toward 7 exclusion when victims have planned and scheduled to appear for sentencing and the 8 defense could have disclosed the report or reports earlier.

13 Plaintiff,

14 vs.

Case No. CR15-0829

15 FRANCISCO OJEDA,
16 Defendant.

17 18 OBJECTION TO THE STATE'S "SENTENCING MEMORANDUM" AND 19 MOTION FOR "SENTENCING MEMORANDUM" TO BE FILED AS A 20 CONFIDENTIAL DOCUMENT

21 Comes now, FRANCISCO OJEDA, by and through his attorney of record, 22 Katheryn Hickman, Chief Deputy Public Defender, and files this objection to the 23 State's "Sentencing Memorandum;" and Motion for the "Sentencing Memorandum" 24 to be filed as a Confidential Document.

26 STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The State filed its sentencing memorandum on December 12, 2018 at 3:30 p.m. The memorandum contains arguments regarding appropriate and inappropriate arguments the Court should or should not consider at sentencing, the State's interpretation of the crime, including the State's opinion of Mr. Ojeda's mental state, his personal thoughts, and his motivations during the commission of 1 the crime, and an objection to the “possible untimely disclosure of psychological 2 records.”

3 Generally, the State is correct in its citation to Williams v. New York, 337 4 U.S. 242, 69 S. Ct. 1529 (1949), in that the Court has broad discretion in 5 considering evidence that would not be admissible at trial at sentencing, and that 6 the same evidentiary rules are not applicable at a sentencing. It is important for 7 the Court to consider not just the facts of the crime that a defendant is being 8 sentenced for, but all mitigating factors such as education, reliability as a family 9 member, employee, employment, religious conversion or repentance, good behavior 10 in custody, medical conditions or factors, a troubled childhood, alcohol dependence, 11 cooperating in the criminal investigation leading to the conviction, and the effect 12 that the sentence will have on members of the defendant’s family and friends.
13 Leonard v. State, 117 Nev. 52 (2001); Thomas v. State, 122 Nev. 1361, 1366 (2006).

14 However, the State argues that it would be improper argument for defense 15 counsel to offer personal anecdotes, regarding the representation of a defendant at 16 sentencing, citing to Glover v. District Court, 125 Nev. 691, 220 P.3d 684 (2009).
17 Glover does not support the position that the State takes in its memorandum. In 18 fact, Glover does not address any issue regarding sentencing at all, in that it is 19 regarding a case that ended in a mistrial, due to defense counsel referencing 20 evidence that the Court had already ruled should not be referenced in front of a 21 jury. It is absolutely inapplicable to the case, or situation, argued by the State. The 22 same is true for the other three cases cited by the State in footnote 10. Defense 23 Counsel may offer the exact type of information the State attempts to preclude.

24 Next, the State presents “evidence the State will rely upon at sentencing.” It 25 is clear that this is the State’s interpretation of Mr. Ojeda’s mental state, and his 26 reasoning in committing the crime. There is no dispute regarding the violence and

1 brutality of this murder, and that Ms. Annan did not deserve what happened to 2 her. However, the State argues that Mr. Ojeda intended to rape Ms. Annan the 3 first time he entered the house, and then returned to complete that act. The State 4 uses select quotes from Mr. Ojeda's confessions to support this version of events.
5 Looking at the transcript as a whole, in conjunction with the interrogation of Mr.
6 Ojeda in Orange County, he tells the detectives what his intent was in entering 7 Ms. Annan's home, and the delusions he was having at that time. When 8 intoxicated, he believed that Ms. Annan wanted him to come into her home, and 9 that she was signaling to him that he should enter the house. His intention was to 10 have consensual sex with her, if he was reading her signals correctly, and if he 11 wasn't she would kick him out.

12         The State further argues that Mr. Ojeda's drug use, at the time of murder, 13 is not a mitigating factor that this court should consider. This is not true.
14 Intoxication at the time of the offense, even if not relieving or reducing liability in 15 the trial phase, is a valid and effective mitigating factor at sentencing. See 16 generally Hernandez v. State, 118 Nev. 513 (2002); see also Geary v. State, 110
17 Nev. 261, 269 (1994). There is no evidence, or reasonable argument that Mr. Ojeda 18 "chose to use a substance he knew would increase the likelihood of the crimes 19 being committed," or that he in some way was abusing massive amounts of drugs 20 to allow himself to commit this crime.

21         Finally, the State argues that a psychological evaluation may be untimely 22 filed, and should be excluded. There is no timeline, or disclosure requirement 23 regarding sentencing, and the psychological evaluation in this case was filed prior 24 to the State's sixteen-page sentencing memorandum. There is no law supporting 25 the exclusion of such a document. All the cases cited by the State refer to trial 26 disclosures. This is not the situation.

1 Finally, Mr. Ojeda would request that the Court order the State's 2 Sentencing Memorandum be filed Confidentially, as it contains medical records of 3 Ms. Annan, including both autopsy photos, and the autopsy protocol, and should 4 not be accessible to the general public.

4 THE COURT: Good morning everyone, please be seated.
5 This is the time set for -- are you ready? This is the time 6 set in case number CR15-0829, the State of Nevada versus 7 Francisco Merino Ojeda. This is the time set for sentencing.
8 State your appearances, please.

9 MS. HICKMAN: Kate Hickman on behalf of Mr. Ojeda who 10 is present in this, assisted by interpreter.

11 MR. PRENGAMAN: Luke Prengaman for the State.

12 P&P OFFICER KELLY: Barbara Kelly for the Division.

13 THE COURT: Good morning. Good morning, Mr. Ojeda.

14 THE DEFENDANT: Good morning, Your Honor.

15 THE COURT: And the record will reflect that we do 16 have two certified interpreters here to assist today.
17 Ms. Hickman if at anytime Mr. Ojeda is having difficulty with 18 the technology, would you notify the Court, and we will make 19 the appropriate adjustment. Now I understand you, I gave some 20 extra time this morning in order for you to go through and test 21 the computer. Everyone has done that, is that right?

22 MS. HICKMAN: Yes.

23 THE COURT: All right, before we go any further, I 24 want to hear from you from the State. Under Article 1, Section 25 8, which has now been amended under Section 8A under either

1 versions, has the State given notice of persons that would be 2 defined as victims family of this event?

3 MR. PRENGAMAN: Yes, they are present in the courtroom 4 today.

5 THE COURT: Okay. And, of course, since this matter
6 was pending, I just want to make sure that we all understand 7 the appropriate notice has been given. And secondly, in this 8 case while this matter was pending and prior to Mr. Ojeda's 9 entry of his plea, the State sought writ relief, either writ of 10 prohibition or mandamus against this Court and regarding the, 11 this Court's order on disclosure of jury venire member 12 information. It was filed in February 2017, I believe, and it 13 was heard January 2018. Recently the Supreme Court in case 14 number 72456, the State of Nevada versus the Second Judicial 15 District Court, an opinion was entered of Advanced Opinion 94 16 on December 6, 2018. This, obviously, was entered after 17 Mr. Ojeda entered his plea on August 7th, 2018, and I just want 18 to make sure that that has not affected or changed his desire 19 to enter a plea of guilty as he did.

20 MS. HICKMAN: It has not.

21 THE COURT: Okay, and he is ready to go forward?

22 MS. HICKMAN: He is.

23 THE COURT: In addition, this sentencing was 24 originally set for October 18, 2018, it was changed to 25 December 14, 2018. Now, I understand you have some matters you

1 want to address. Would you like to do that before or after I 2 get representations from Parole and Probation regarding the 3 PSI?

4 MS. HICKMAN: Whatever the Court prefers.

5 THE COURT: So I want to address to the Department of 6 Parole and Probation, the presentence investigation report in 7 this matter was prepared on September 14, 2018. It was filed
8 on September 25th, 2018. It indicates a credit for time served 9 have 1,312 days up until today. And in addition it reflects 10 extradition costs of $1,951.12. Are there any changes, 11 corrections or additions?

12 P&P OFFICER KELLY: Yes, Your Honor. We need to 13 update the credit for time served 1,375 days.

14 THE COURT: Through today's date? I misspoke, the 15 prior calculation was through October 12th.

16 P&P OFFICER KELLY: Correct.

17 THE COURT: And has any further information been 18 received regarding restitution?

19 P&P OFFICER KELLY: No, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: All right. Ms. Hickman, do you have any 21 changes, corrections, or additions to the presentence 22 investigation report?

23 MS. HICKMAN: Thank you, Judge. We are in receipt of 24 that presentence investigation report. I did review that with 25 Mr. Ojeda with the use of an interpreter. We don't have any 1 additions or corrections to make to that.

2 THE COURT: All right, and you stipulate to the 3 calculation of 1,375 days?

4 MS. HICKMAN: That's correct.

5 THE COURT: And my recollection of the negotiations 6 was that Mr. Ojeda would make full restitution in this matter.
7 I have no information about any restitution amounts be separate 8 and apart from extradition.

9 MR. PRENGAMAN: There is nothing.

10 THE COURT: All right. So for purposes of this 11 hearing and that agreement, there is no further information for 12 the Court to determine. With regard to extradition $1,951.12, 13 is the defendant stipulating to that amount?

14 MS. HICKMAN: He would.

15 THE COURT: All right. So let's move on to the fire 16 storm of filings that occurred before today. And I'm going to 17 describe it as a variable paperwork, and while I understand 18 that both parties are protecting their respective interests and 19 were upset about late filings, what was disregarded was my 20 staff and this Court and the time it takes to read all these 21 documents, and I'm going to indicate to you that you are lucky 22 that I am energetic and I have been up early and I have read 23 every single page as well as the cases that support your 24 positions. So I am ready to go forward but am not happy with 25 the position it placed my staff in yesterday. Do you

1 understand it won't happen again?

2 MS. HICKMAN: Absolutely, I apologize.

3 THE COURT: All right. So first I have reviewed the 4 12-12-2018 letters submitted by the defense to be considered at 5 sentencing. There was a series of letters. There were two I 6 believe that were translated. I don't have information on 7 whether they were translated accurately. And the second one 8 there was no signature, and I interpret it to be related to the 9 statement prior to that.

10 MS. HICKMAN: That's how we filed it is how it was 11 written in Spanish and then the translation that we had, so 12 we -- the translation was our translation and then the Spanish 13 written document was the original.

14 THE COURT: And is there any reason to believe that it 15 was not fully and accurately translated?

16 MS. HICKMAN: Not to my knowledge.

17 THE COURT: Okay, and Mr. Ojeda had an opportunity to 18 review all those letters?

19 MS. HICKMAN: He has.

20 THE COURT: All right, now, in addition I have the 21 photos that were submitted. I have them both in copy here and 22 as well on my monitor. The State sentencing memorandum that 23 was filed on 12-12, 2018, and I neglected to indicate also on 24 the same date was I think before those other documents was 25 Dr. Mahaffey's evaluation, and then yesterday the defendant's

1 objections to the State's sentencing memorandum and memorandum 2 for motion for sentencing memorandum to be filed as a
3 confidential document.

4 And lastly I received today the State's objection to 5 exhibits untimely disclosed and exceeding the scope of 6 allocution.

7 Are there any other documents that either party wanted 8 before the Court for purposes of sentencing? Other than what 9 you are going to present during the course of your argument?

10 MR. PRENGAMAN: No, not for the State.

11 MS. HICKMAN: No.

12 THE COURT: So first shall we address the defendant's 13 objection to the State's sentencing memorandum? You may 14 proceed.

15 MS. HICKMAN: Thank you, Judge. I don't have a lot to 16 add on top of what I put in here. Obviously, the State's 17 sentencing memorandum outlines what is not appropriate argument 18 for sentencing. I think it also ties in a lot to the objection 19 that was filed this morning. The State's memo recognizes that 20 the Court is given very broad discretion what it can hear 21 during the sentencing. The one objection I had, obviously, is 22 to the statements of defense counsel can make at sentencing.
23 The cases cited by the State don't support that. Those are 24 trial cases. The closing argument, where the defense attorney 25 routinely referenced a recorded police interview that would

1 have been self-serving hearsay despite being admonished over 2 and over to not do so. Obviously, at trial it would be 3 inappropriate for a defense attorney to say I know this person, 4 here are my impressions of him, but that is different at 5 sentencing.

6 The only other thing, obviously, is the State laid out 7 its argument as to the crime that happened and, obviously, 8 Mr. Ojeda has pled guilty to the crime. We don't dispute the 9 majority of the facts of the crime. Obviously, we have 10 different arguments as to why it happened. What was happening 11 in Mr. Ojeda's mind at the time. Just as the State has 12 arguments as to what they believe the evidence let's them 13 argue.

14 And then the only thing I would argue is that the 15 sentencing memo should be filed under seal given the nature of 16 the photos and the autopsy reports. I think those are 17 confidential documents and should not be accessible to the 18 general public.

19 THE COURT: So you concur that the Court has wide 20 discretion that it can consider at sentencing?

21 MS. HICKMAN: Absolutely.

22 THE COURT: Counsel.

23 MR. PRENGAMAN: Your Honor, as to the lawyer's 24 statements not evidence, the facts of the individual case I 25 cited are the issue as to proposition of law that where

1 statements are in evidence if they are not evidence at trial, 2 they are certainly not evidence at sentencing. A lawyer can't 3 come in and testify essentially. Testimony comes from the 4 witness stand, and the only exception -- there is few 5 exceptions to that. Victim impact statements being one, and 6 the defendant's allocution being the other. So in terms of the 7 type of representations I speak of there, I submit that the 8 law, well regarded, we instruct injuries in every trial that 9 lawyer's arguments aren't evidence. And they are not.

10 So my objection remains if counsel starts making 11 personal anecdotes or representations that is testimony 12 about --

13 THE COURT: So let's distill this down for a moment.
14 I only indicated I was talking about the defense's objections 15 to your sentencing memorandum. And it seems that you are 16 speaking as to your objection to the exhibits that were 17 untimely disclosed and exceeding the scope.

18 MR. PRENGAMAN: Then I, that's my fault for not being 19 clear. But I, in a nutshell, Your Honor, the proposition of 20 law which is Bedrock law, is that lawyer's statements are not 21 evidence. And that's my point is that counsel can't start 22 talking about the defendant or talk about things that she has 23 seen, heard, discussed with the defendant, that is testimony.
24 So if that is going to occur, I submit that that has to occur 25 from the witness stand. A lawyer cannot testify and provide

1 factual testimony. This is a sentencing. The rules of 2 evidence don't apply, but it is still an evidentiary hearing, 3 and I submit that if there is going to be any type of anecdotal 4 testimony from counsel, it has to be subject to the oath and 5 cross-examination. So that's the State's position based on 6 that objection that the defense made.

7 As to the request to seal, it should not be sealed.
8 This is a public record. If I mark autopsy photos in a trial, 9 or the autopsy protocol at trial, those are public documents.
10 The photos and documents I marked at the preliminary hearing in 11 this case are public documents. Any member of the public could 12 come and say I want to see the exhibits that were marked in 13 this case and those are public and they must be shown.

14 So there is no basis, certainly none that the defense 15 has standing to invoke to close those. And in fact our Supreme 16 Court is quite, I would say hostile towards sealing otherwise 17 public records without a strong basis of good cause for doing 18 so. So I would submit that that request to seal that should be 19 denied.

20 THE COURT: So what's the prejudice to the State? If 21 I were to stray your sentencing memorandum, because you can 22 introduce it all today, correct, and you can argue everything 23 in your sentencing memorandum.

24 MR. PRENGAMAN: Well, I could, Your Honor. I would 25 ask why would the court strike it? Why -- would you strike the

1 pleadings the defense filed in the case? Maybe I'm not 2 following that. The defense didn't ask to strike it, they just 3 asked for it to be sealed. So perhaps I'm not --

4 THE COURT: This indicated an objection, so I'm just 5 asking if there is any prejudice. It seems to me that 6 competing -- I understand what is argument and what is 7 evidence, and I looked at every one of those cases, and I 8 appreciate the distinction between trial and sentencing. I 9 also center on the fact that this Court has wide discretion, 10 and we don't have a jury here, and the Court is charged with 11 considering what is appropriate and not appropriate. I'm not 12 saying I'm going to strike anything. I was asking what the 13 prejudice is, because it seems to me whether or not it was 14 filed early it can still be raised today, correct?

15 MR. PRENGAMAN: Well, I think that's true, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: Right. And I have to sift through what is 17 appropriate to consider, whether it's her statements or any of 18 these documents. So I forego her both sides objection, because 19 I want to be as fully informed as I can be, and I don't want 20 any prejudice to accrue to a party. That being said, I am 21 denying any objections, and I'm considering this information, 22 because both parties have agreed that this Court has 23 discretion, and I will make, I'm taking all the appropriate 24 considerations under the Nevada Revised Statute for what I can 25 consider in sentencing and also case law. And so I am denying

1 the objections with regard to filing as a confidential
2 document. It's a public record. I understand the perception 3 that then the State can manipulate what is easier to find 4 online, but I'm, all of the exhibits would potentially be 5 public as well, and I'm denying that motion as well. I am 6 carefully considering everything, and I'm also understanding 7 this is a public forum and the documents filed are in public 8 forum. We have a wealth of people here, because this is a 9 proceeding that is a public proceeding.

10 In addition, I'm going to allow Dr. Mahaffey's 11 evaluation and her testimony. So that being said, are there 12 any other matters before we proceed from your side? I do just 13 want to make clear that I could not recall, I thought it was 14 the defendant that asked for a continuance from October to 15 December, and so he is waiving any objection under NRS 176.015 16 with regard to unreasonable delay, correct?

17 MS. HICKMAN: Correct.

18 THE COURT: Okay. Now, anything else that we need to 19 consider before you commence?

20 MS. HICKMAN: Not from me, Judge, but I think the 21 State has an objection to a video that we intend to show.

22 THE COURT: And have you met and conferred over that 23 to try to resolve or redact or correct?

24 MR. PRENGAMAN: Well, Your Honor, I just got it 25 yesterday mid afternoon, so that's part of my objection,

1 unfairness of the last minute and the State having to go
2 forward. Those are significant things, and I know the Court 3 has ruled on Mahaffey's report, but those are significant 4 documents and the Court mentioned the time it took your staff
5 and I feel the same. I mean I don't feel like I had a full 6 chance to go through Dr. Mahaffey's report in the full detail 7 that I would. So my objection is partially to the notice, the 8 late notice, especially when things have been available and 9 could have been turned over long ago, but in terms of the 10 content, I am objecting to his -- he does exceed his allocution 11 in the State's view having watched it last night. He does talk 12 about a number of things about the crime, about background, 13 about things that in my opinion clearly exceed the scope of 14 allocution.

15 THE COURT: So what's the prejudice to the State?

16 MR. PRENGAMAN: Well, Judge, one thing is that I can't 17 cross-examine him. And that's the heart of what the case law 18 talks about. Again, testimony from the witness stand. So the 19 defendant is allowed, he gets an exception to testifying so he 20 can give an allocution showing remorse. That's the purpose of 21 it. It's not to talk about the facts. It's not to get into 22 the underlying facts of the case. If he wants to do that, he 23 has to take the witness stand and I have the opportunity to 24 cross-examine him about those. So that is the prejudice to the 25 State is that he in the context of these out of court channels

1 he is getting to provide information that I can't test that any 2 other witness who testified would be subject to 3 cross-examination. So that's the prejudice to the State, Your 4 Honor.

5 THE COURT: But if I give you latitude to argue, I 6 mean you are very familiar with this case and all of the 7 evidence. If I give you latitude to argue to the Court 8 regardless of what is presented, doesn't that eliminate any 9 prejudice?

10 MR. PRENGAMAN: I would submit not, Your Honor. Well, 11 for one thing it's the law. It's the law and it should be 12 enforced.

13 THE COURT: But isn't a sentencing hearing much 14 different than a trial, and aren't the rules of evidence 15 relaxed in that sense?

16 MR. PRENGAMAN: They are, Your Honor, but nonetheless 17 testimony still is cross-examined. It's still subject to the 18 oath and cross-examination. And so even if I am given latitude 19 to argue, there is no replacement. He gets to say things, and 20 he has. He gets to say things there that I can't cross-examine 21 him about. There is some things that is inconsistent what he 22 said before. If he was on the witness stand, I would be able 23 to pursue that. I am forbidden to do that. This is getting 24 around basically protecting him from having to take the stand 25 and testify to the facts that he wants the Court to consider.

1 So that is the prejudice to the State. I should be able -- it 2 would be no different than me calling a witness and saying, 3 Judge, the defense can't cross-examine that witness. Prevent 4 them from cross-examining. What is really the harm. They will 5 get some latitude and argument, what's the big deal if they 6 don't get to cross-examine. I submit if you look at it from 7 that perspective, and there is no difference, you look at it in 8 that perspective, if the Court would find there is no way I 9 would let the State call a witness and not let that witness be 10 subject to cross-examination. It's no different just because 11 it's the State that happens to be making the motion based on 12 existing law.

13 THE COURT: All right, overruled. I'm going to allow 14 you to present it. Okay. So that being said, you may -- after 15 this discussion, I just want to clarify no additional changes 16 to the facts or anything else pursuant to Stockmeier, correct?

17 MS. HICKMAN: That's correct.

18 THE COURT: You may proceed.

19 THE CLERK: For the record, prior to the hearing I 20 marked Exhibit 1 through 38.

21 THE COURT: Thank you. Any objection to admissions of 22 those exhibits?

23 MS. HICKMAN: No.

24 THE COURT: They are admitted.

25 MS. HICKMAN: Thank you, Judge. What we're asking the 1 Court to do today is sentence Mr. Ojeda to a term of years in 2 the Nevada Department of Corrections. Do you mind if I -- I 3 can't see below me if I stay at the table.

4 THE COURT: That's fine.

5 MS. HICKMAN: Term of years in the Nevada Department 6 of Corrections. The Court, obviously --

7 THE INTERPRETER: I could not catch the term of the 8 years.

9 MS. HICKMAN: Just a term of years. The Court has the 10 option to sentence him to possible three sentences under the 11 plea. He entered, he pled guilty to first degree murder and 12 the Court can sentence him to a term of 50 years with parole 13 possible after 20 years, to life in prison with parole possible 14 after 20 years, or life without the possibility of parole. And 15 we are asking the Court to sentence him to the first one, which 16 would be 50 years in the Nevada Department of Corrections with 17 parole possible after 20 years.

18 We are here today because Mr. Ojeda pled guilty to 19 first degree murder. He has admitted what he did in this case.
20 He has shown his remorse for what he did in this case, and what 21 we are asking the Court for today in essence is the ability for 22 Mr. Ojeda and his family to move forward with hope, mercy, and 23 for the Court to recognize that Mr. Ojeda, who is the defendant 24 in this case and who the Court has to consider despite the 25 terrible acts in this case, is deserving of just an

1 opportunity, not a guarantee, but an opportunity that one day 2 he would be released from prison and he would be able to be 3 reunited with his family.

4 In this case, obviously, the State filed their 5 sentencing memorandum. I know that the Court read it, we read 6 it, and it lays out a number of facts in this case, and there 7 is nothing that we can say that neutralizes some of the 8 terrible facts of this case. The hard truth is of what 9 happened to Ms. Annan at the last moments of her life, but from 10 the very first interview that Mr. Ojeda gave to the police when 11 he was contacted in Orange County to today he has acknowledged 12 what he did. He has accepted responsibility, and he has 13 accepted the horrible nature of the crime that was inflicted on 14 her.

15 He doesn't remember all of it. He doesn't remember a 16 lot of the details of it. And I know that the Court during 17 litigation in this case has watched his interview, is familiar 18 with the things that he said. There were motions to suppress 19 both statements that he gave to the police, and the Court can 20 see in those interviews who Mr. Ojeda is today and the impact 21 that what he did, what he has carried with him for the years 22 since it happened. As I was preparing what I was going to say 23 today, one of the things --

24 THE COURT: Mr. Ojeda, can you hear now?

25 THE DEFENDANT: (Through interpreter) Yes, Your Honor.

1 THE COURT: Do you need anything repeated?

2 THE DEFENDANT: (Through interpreter) No, that's 3 fine, thank you.

4 THE COURT: Continue.

5 MS. HICKMAN: I kept thinking about in this job for 6 the Court, for the prosecutor, for me, all the tragedies that 7 we see every day and that there is some tragedies that the 8 criminal justice system can handle, can deal with, can help all 9 the parties move forward, and there is some that the criminal 10 justice system is so ill equipped to manage and mitigate 11 tragedies that happen. That as the years go by I feel, I think 12 that the tragedies keep getting compounded on as we litigate, 13 as we try to resolve cases, as we come to court, we leave 14 people like Mr. Ojeda, like Ms. Annan's family to deal with 15 their own senses of grief until the case is resolved.

16 There is no sentence that the Court can impose on 17 Mr. Ojeda that will bring back the life of Ms. Annan. There is 18 no sentence that the Court can impose on Mr. Ojeda so that it 19 will make it so that he doesn't miss the childhood of his 20 daughters. There is no way to do any of the things that both 21 parties ultimately would want in this Court.

22 The Court can't impose a sentence that would walk back 23 the actions, not of this man sitting here today, who he is, how 24 he has come in his life, but a much younger man who is addicted 25 to drugs, who obviously, did the worse thing he has ever done

1 in his life in 2004.

2 I want to take some time to tell the Court Mr. Ojeda's 3 story. He came to the United States when he was approximately 4 19 or 20 years old. And he came to join his brother and his 5 dad to be able to start working. By the time he came to the 6 United States he was already using drugs, and when he came to 7 Reno, he started to use drugs very heavily. He used 8 methamphetamine, alcohol, crack cocaine. He usually used it 9 daily unless he couldn't afford it, and he was sometimes using 10 it up to seven to ten times a day.

11 There were multiple times where he wouldn't sleep for 12 days at a time. And close in time to the time in this case he 13 overdosed, was taken to the hospital and had what sounded like 14 a stroke because of the amount of drugs he was using. That 15 didn't stop him. He was, obviously, addicted at that time. He 16 continued to use drugs, and, Judge, you see in Dr. Mahaffey's 17 report and in listening to Mr. Ojeda in his interviews, in the 18 statements he makes to Dr. Mahaffey, that at the time the crime 19 occurred when he would be using drugs, drinking alcohol, he had 20 these drug related perceptual distortions. And he had this 21 impression based on the drugs that he was using that there was 22 something about Ms. Annan that was calling to him that she 23 wanted him to come to his house, and then when he was sober he 24 would think that wasn't right, but when he was using he would 25 see there are ways that her curtains moved and things she was

1 calling to him, and he thought I would go into her house, I 2 would offer her drugs. If she wanted me there, that would be 3 something that would happen. If she didn't want me there, she 4 would just tell me and I would leave.

5 He perceived on the night that the crime happened that 6 the curtains were moving because he sat outside his uncle's 7 house that was across the street and he thought, yes, she is 8 calling to me, she wants me to come in. And it's important for 9 the Court to know at that time how intoxicated he was. How 10 much methamphetamine had affected him, and not that there is 11 anything that she did that invited him in, but that the 12 irrational thoughts that he made were irrationalized at that 13 time because of the level of intoxication that he had.

14 When sober Mr. Ojeda acknowledges that those are not 15 rational thoughts. Today he realizes no, she never called me 16 to her house, no, she never wanted me there. No, it wouldn't 17 have made any sense that I speaking Spanish and her speaking 18 English would have been able to communicate about why I was 19 there. But at the time that he committed the crime those 20 things made sense in his mind.

21 And, Judge, what I'm pointing out is irrational 22 thinking that is rationalized when somebody is under the 23 influence and the significant role that drugs played in this 24 case. Obviously, after this crime occurred he left Reno. He 25 went to Santa Ana where his family is. And the years that have

1 passed he has been stuck in this world of his own where he 2 knows what he did, where he suffers with what he did, and where 3 every day he had to confront who he was and the effects that it 4 would have on his family. He knew some day he would be sitting 5 here. He knew that his daughters would pay for his actions, 6 his wife, his family. He knew that when his daughters were 7 born he had a realization more so than he had before of how 8 terrible what he had done was, and he believed God gave him 9 four daughters so that he would know the suffering of her 10 family, so that he would know the fear and the danger that his 11 family would now face the rest of his life. And every time he 12 looked at his daughters he was reminded of what he did.

13 But in the years, and I keep saying ten years, because 14 he was arrested in 2015, but it is now almost 14 years since 15 the crime occurred, the Court can see who Mr. Ojeda really is 16 and the changes he has made in his life, and the Court can see 17 there is a seed of hope that there is a life and a family and 18 the opportunity to one day be part of the community can be 19 nurtured.

20 His four daughters and his wife are here today. His 21 oldest daughter is Itzel.

22 THE COURT: How do you spell that?

23 MS. HICKMAN: I-T-Z-E-L.

24 THE COURT: Thank you.

25 MS. HICKMAN: She was nine months old when his second

1 daughter Kimberly was born. His next daughter is Flor, 2 F-L-O-R, and his baby is Guadalupe, and all four of them are 3 here with their mother today.

4 THE COURT: And, counsel, I understood from my staff 5 that there was a motion to continue that you withdrew that and 6 am I correct in perceiving that everyone is here that you 7 wanted to be here that was the basis of that motion to continue 8 that you were concerned they could not get here?

9 MS. HICKMAN: That's correct, Judge, his family lives 10 in Santa Ana. He has a very wide family network. We 11 interviewed a number of them in Santa Ana because we knew it 12 would be difficult for many of them to all come, and that's what 13 is on the video that we will show. But his wife, his 14 daughters. His sister, Janet is here. His niece, Stephanie is 15 here. His nephew's wife Marayna, M-A-R-A-Y-N-A, is here. His 16 nephew, Alfredo. His nephew, Francisco. His niece, Dulce.
17 D-U-L-C-E, and his niece's husband, Ernesto are all here today.
18 They all came from Santa Ana last night. They were able to get 19 a ride and be here this morning.

20 THE COURT: Thank you for coming.

21 MS. HICKMAN: And, Judge, I did file some photos, and 22 I'm not going to show them all, because I think that the Court 23 looked at them, but I want to tell the Court a little bit about 24 who Mr. Ojeda is and his family, which is Exhibit 27. This is 25 Mr. Ojeda and his wife, his two daughters, Itzel and Kimberly,

1 at their baptism. And when you look at these photos, you can 2 almost see a change in Mr. Ojeda as his daughters were born and 3 as he starts to take care of his family.

4 This is Exhibit 29. This is him and his wife Maria 5 when she was pregnant with Itzel. Exhibit 28, this is Mr.
6 Ojeda, his wife, and his two oldest daughters at the fair in 7 Santa Ana. Exhibit 31, Mr. Ojeda holding his baby not for the 8 first time, that is his first baby. This is Exhibit 30, this 9 is Mr. Ojeda, his three oldest daughters. For the baptism of 10 Flor. And, Judge, this family that Mr. Ojeda has, these girls, 11 his wife, what he dedicated his life to when he went back to 12 Santa Ana was raising his family and being the type of person 13 who they can depend on. He is loved, he is cherished, he is 14 supported. Like we talked before, his family did everything 15 they could to be here today.

16 There is more people that support him that aren't 17 here. He has family in Mexico. He has family in Santa Ana. I 18 do have a couple people here today who would like to speak if I 19 could do that now.

20 THE COURT: Any objection, counsel, to that occurring?

21 MR. PRENGAMAN: No, Your Honor.

22 THE COURT: You may.

23 MS. HICKMAN: The first person is his wife Maria.

24 THE BAILIFF: Stand here, face the court clerk.

25 ///

MARIA IZQUIERTO

BEING FIRST DULY SWORN, WAS EXAMINED AND TESTIFIED AS FOLLOWS:

THE COURT: You may proceed.

MS. HICKMAN:

Q If you could state your first name and spell your last name.

(Following answers given through interpreter:)

A My name is Maria Izquierto.

Q Can you spell your last name for me?

A I-Z-Q-U-I-E-R-T-O.

Q Did you have a statement you wanted to make?

A Yes.

Q Go ahead.

THE INTERPRETER: May the interpreter request that the interpreter be moved closer to the microphone so the defendant can hear her in her own words?

THE COURT: Yes, pull forward a little bit.

THE WITNESS: Well, I, what I am hearing about him well, well, I recognize that because the ten years that he lived with us he was very good to us. He was very attend to us. Very responsible with us.

THE COURT: There is some Kleenex there if you need it.

THE WITNESS: And like I said, the years that he lived

1 with us he was very good to us. I mean I don't recognize what 2 I'm hearing about him, because he was, for my daughters and for 3 me he was give all his attention. He would take care of us a 4 lot.

5 MS. HICKMAN:

6 Q Do you have anything else you want to say?

7 A Well, no.

8 Q Thank you.

9 THE COURT: Mr. Prengaman, do you have any questions?

10 MR. PRENGAMAN: No, Your Honor.

11 THE COURT: You may step down.

12 MS. HICKMAN: Could I have a minute to speak with her?

13 THE COURT: Yes.

14 MS. HICKMAN: I want to call his oldest daughter 15 Itzel.

16 THE BAILIFF: Raise your right hand for the clerk, 17 please.

18 MAITZEL O.

19 BEING FIRST DULY SWORN, WAS EXAMINED AND TESTIFIED AS FOLLOWS: 20

21 THE COURT: You may proceed.

22 MS. HICKMAN:

23 Q Are you okay? Can you tell me your first name and 24 then just the first letter of your last name?

25 A My name is M-A-I-T-Z-E-L.

1 Q Can you spell your first name?

2 A M-A-I --

4 A T-Z-E-L.

5 Q Thank you. And Ms. Itzel, is Mr. Ojeda your dad?

6 A Yes.

7 Q Did you have something you wanted to say about him?

8 A I want to say, I just want to say that my dad was a 9 good guy and I never seen him do bad stuff. He always took 10 care of us.

11 Q While your dad has been in Reno, have you had the 12 opportunity to talk to him?

13 A (Witness nods head.)

14 Q Have you talked --

15 THE COURT: Just a moment. Take your time, but you 16 must answer out loud. The court reporter can't take down 17 shaking of heads so you need to answer out loud. Okay, so 18 answer her last question.

19 MS. HICKMAN:

20 Q Have you had a chance to talk to your dad?

21 A No.

22 Q Do you guys video screen chat with him?

23 A Yes.

24 Q How often?

25 A I think three times a month.

1           Q     About three times a month? And when you talk to him, 2 does he continue to act as a dad to you?

3           A     Yes.

4           Q     Does he -- do you tell him about your day?

5           A     Yes.

6           MS. HICKMAN: Thank you, Judge. I have nothing 7 further.

8           THE COURT: Mr. Prengaman, any questions?

9           MR. PRENGAMAN: No questions.

10          THE COURT: Thank you. You can step down.

11          MS. HICKMAN: Judge, I do have a video to present.
12 This has been admitted as Exhibit 38.

13                (Video played.)

14          MS. HICKMAN: Mr. Ojeda doesn't feel sorry for 15 himself. He doesn't feel that he doesn't deserve to be 16 punished. He doesn't feel anything for himself. The remorse 17 that he feels goes directly to Ms. Annan, to her family, and 18 the incredible guilt that he feels for his own family, for his 19 daughters, and from what his actions in 2004 will take away 20 from them for the rest of their life.

21                In the time between 2004 to when Mr. Ojeda was 22 arrested he raised a beautiful family. In the video there is a 23 portion where he is wearing the vest and he is hugging his 24 daughters. That was after his first interrogation in Orange 25 County when he says good-bye to his daughters, when he knows he

1 is being arrested, and he is telling them to be good, that he 2 is going away for a long time. That he loves them. And,
3 Judge, that was the last time he seen his daughters in person 4 until today. He has talked to them over the video screen but 5 today is the first time he has seen them in person since that 6 day.

7 Mr. Ojeda has been kind. He has been loving. He has 8 been a hard working man who has been employed doing a number of 9 things. The most recent was landscaping. He supported his 10 wife, he supported his girls and he has shown the Court who he 11 is, and he is not simply a person who was using drugs, who 12 killed Kyla Annan and who has no redeeming qualities.

13 He has shown us he is living not just as a productive 14 member of our society but is much more. He can be trusted to 15 make sure his daughters do well in school. To walk them home 16 from school, to tuck them in at night, and to kiss them good 17 night.

18 His wife is here and she can attest that he has been a 19 reliable and loving husband for all the years since this 20 happened. He is a family member. He is loved. He is an 21 employee that can be counted on, and he is a human being that 22 when he is not incarcerated, which he is going to be for a 23 significant period of time no matter what this Court does, but 24 when he is not, he is capable of following our social contract.
25 He is able to follow the law. He has stopped using drugs. He 1 can be part of society.

2 And I'm not asking the Court to set him free with a 3 minimal punishment. I'm not asking the Court to not punish him
4 for the acts that he did. The Court can see in the time 5 between when he said good-bye to his daughters in the video 6 until today that they have grown. They are different people.
7 They are not babies anymore, and every single day that he is 8 away from his family he is paying for what he did. His family 9 pays for what he did.

10 Being away from his daughters is punishment, and 11 that's the type of punishment that comes with doing something 12 that he did, and he understands that and he is taking 13 responsibility for that. In the minimum time that the Court 14 can give him, in 20 years his baby will be almost 30 years old.
15 He will have missed his children's childhoods because of what 16 he did, and he accepts that punishment and takes responsibility 17 for having to miss that. But what I'm asking the Court to do 18 is not just consider the facts of this crime, because like I 19 said earlier they are horrible, they are brutal, they are 20 terrible, and if we had been here in 2004, I think the 21 sentencing would be much different, but we're not. We are here 22 in 2018 with a man who has proved who he is, who he can be, and 23 what he will do once he has finished the punishment that he is 24 going to serve for the crime that he did.

25 So I'm asking the Court not just to consider that

1 crime but consider all the mitigation in the case. Consider 2 his remorse, consider his cooperation with the police.
3 Remember those videos the Court watched where he tells them 4 exactly what happened. He tells them what he remembers. He 5 tells them what he doesn't remember. When they remind him of 6 details, he says yes, I remember that. And he doesn't just 7 confess once, he confesses once in Orange County then on the 8 ride back up to Reno.

9 Remember in those videos the same thing I am telling 10 the Court here today, is that he is not sorry for himself, he 11 is sorry for his family, he is sorry for her family. Every day 12 he feels what he did. He had begged God for forgiveness. He 13 felt God sent him daughters so that he would fully understand 14 what he did.

15 Judge, what we are asking the Court to do is sentence 16 him in a way that honors the life that he took but also 17 nurtures the part of the criminal justice system that can 18 reflect the best, not just in Mr. Ojeda but in all of us, that 19 there is hope, there is mercy, and that if he is who he has 20 shown he can be, he will have the opportunity, again, not the 21 guarantee, but simply the opportunity to one day be reunited 22 with his family.

23 THE COURT: Thank you, counsel. We'll be in recess 24 for ten minutes.

25 (Break taken.)

1 THE COURT: Anything further, Ms. Hickman?

2 MS. HICKMAN: Nothing for me. I believe Mr. Ojeda has 3 a letter he would like to read.

4 THE COURT: Would you like to then proceed,
5 Mr. Prengaman?

6 MR. PRENGAMAN: I am happy to let him read it.

7 THE COURT: And his letter will be his right of 8 allocution at this time, correct?

9 MS. HICKMAN: Correct.

10 THE COURT: Please stand, sir. The law gives you the 11 opportunity to speak to the Court to tell me anything I should 12 consider before imposing sentence. Would you like to address 13 the Court, sir?

14 (Defendant speaking through interpreter:)

15 THE DEFENDANT: Yes.

16 THE COURT: You may. Just a moment. Go ahead. I 17 want to make sure that I get every single thing he is saying.

18 THE DEFENDANT: My name is Francisco Ojeda. I want 19 for you to take into account and analyze in great detail these 20 words that I'm writing at this time. It's something very 21 difficult to explain for me since at this time I'm going 22 through something that I never thought I would go through in my 23 life. I have been in this country for 15 years and my life 24 changed radically when I arrived in the City of Reno, Nevada.
25 I came with the hope of working to get ahead. To have

1 something saved up for when I would have my family.

2 I arrived in Reno. I started to work to get together
3 some money, a bit of money to help out my parents. Everything 4 was fine. And then the drugs started to influence my life
5 again. I started to isolate myself when I arrived. When I 6 would use drugs, my personality would change, my way of 7 thinking, I would react totally differently. I was destroying 8 myself, my life, my family, everything that was around me, and 9 I could not tell what was going on.

10 I came to realize what I had done too late. It was 11 like a dream I was living. I couldn't believe in fact, in 12 spite of what had happened I couldn't believe it. It was 13 difficult for me to understand the evil that I had committed.
14 That was when I moved to California with my sister. I started 15 to work again to help my parents. And so I met a marvelous 16 woman who is my wife. She has been a very important piece in 17 my life. Thanks to her advice and her words everything started 18 to change in my life.

19 Even greater was my surprise when she became pregnant 20 with my first daughter. At that moment is when I realized that 21 I had somebody to fight for, for whom to change, for whom to be 22 a different person. That person had arrived in my life. There 23 was somebody in my life now that way. My wife, my daughter, 24 thanks to them I started to get over my addiction to drugs.
25 And during one year, and in one year later my second daughter

1 arrived. I started to go to church. I got close to God, and 2 since then I have asked for forgiveness every day. There is 3 not a day that goes by that I do not ask for forgiveness for 4 what happened.

5 My third and fourth daughter arrived who are now at 6 the ages of 12, 11, 9, and 6. I feel so overjoyed to have a 7 family who is so marvelous, to have a wife who has been with me 8 throughout my good and bad moments of my live and has given me 9 such wonderful daughters. I have turned into a father, a 10 responsible hard worker. I even had two jobs to try to provide 11 the best for my family. There was now a reason to work hard 12 and fight for -- to fight for and make an effort.

13 Now at these moments of my life I don't know how I 14 would react if something were to happen to one of my daughters.
15 I don't know how I would think in this moment. I don't know 16 what I would do. I don't know how I would react. It would be 17 something very painful. Now that I'm a father I don't know if 18 I would be able to overcome such a great pain.

19 I know that my words are not going to change any of 20 what happened. Today I realize what a great pain I would feel 21 if I were to lose one of my daughters. I realize the pain that 22 I made them feel, the pain that they feel today. During this 23 time that I have been in prison I have had the time to think 24 that there is no way for them to be able to accept an I'm 25 sorry, forgive me, since I'm sorry and I forgive me do not

1 justify the loss of a loved one.

2 I have no words with which to say how I feel. But 3 today I am here to receive my punishment and to say that I am 4 very sorry for the wrong that I caused. I deeply ask for 5 forgiveness both to the parents and to justice.

6 I ask you, Madam Judge, to grant me an opportunity to 7 be anew with my family since in these last ten years my life
8 has changed and I have created a family.

9 This letter is addressed to the family. I want this 10 letter for you to take into consideration these words. They 11 are words that perhaps you will not accept words from somebody 12 who caused such a terrible ill upon your family. I don't know 13 if they will, if they are the right words, because for me it is 14 very difficult to address the parents since they are the most 15 affected people. I dared to write this letter to tell you and 16 let you know that I am profoundly remorseful for what happened.
17 I hope one day to be able to reach the forgiveness of God from 18 justice and especially yours. I know that the forgiveness that 19 I'm asking for does not justify the damage.

20 But at the time and moment that this, that this all 21 happened, I don't know what was going through my mind since I 22 was an alcoholic and a drug addict. I would like for you to 23 consider that throughout these ten years before my arrest my 24 life had radically changed. I met my wife, I have four 25 daughters, they are the ages of 12, 11, 9, and 6 years old. I

1 feel a great sadness for my daughters and my wife, that they,
2 without having anything to do with any of this, will have to 3 pay for the consequences of my actions. Since they will be 4 left alone, unprotected, without help. They will not have 5 their father when they will most need me. When they will most 6 need an unconditional support.

7 THE COURT: Any further words you would like to say?

8 THE DEFENDANT: There is a little bit left. Myself 9 today I am here in front of the judge and before you to receive 10 my punishment. I ask forgiveness, to ask you for forgiveness 11 and tell you how I feel. I ask for compassion so I may be 12 given an opportunity to be, to be able to be once again with my 13 family.

14 THE COURT: Anything else you would like to add, 15 Mr. Ojeda?

16 THE DEFENDANT: No, that I'm sorry that here I am so 17 that you can decide whatever it is that you are going to do.

18 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Prengaman.

19 MR. PRENGAMAN: Thank you, Your Honor. Your Honor, 20 the defendant does not deserve the chance at parole. Exhibits 21 No. 1 and 2 show Kyla Annan as she looked in 2004, 28 years 22 old. The photos show what the defendant did to her.
23 Exhibit 10, Exhibit 9 in her own home. Exhibit 11.
24 Exhibit 18. Exhibit 19. Your Honor, there are other photos 25 which have been admitted into evidence which I know the Court

1 will consider.

2           Your Honor on September 13th of 2004 this defendant 3 entered Kyla Annan's home. He entered her house at night. On 4 his way -- he went through a back door. On his way he stripped 5 off his shirt, he stripped off one shirt and left it in the 6 back area near where he made entry. He made his way to her 7 bedroom and as he got to the foot of her bed he stripped off 8 his undershirt and left it at the foot of the bed. He placed 9 his hand over the figure he saw in the bed, over the mouth, and 10 then realized that it was actually Kyla's boyfriend who 11 happened to be there unbeknown to him. So he ran, he left.
12 Travis Miller, Kyla's boyfriend at the time, woke up when he 13 felt the hand over his mouth, looked up to see a dark figure 14 leaving the residence. He ran out, followed to see where he 15 went, lost him. Then he and Kyla proceeded to search. They 16 are thinking it might be a robbery or burglary. They start 17 searching their residence. They find nothing missing, but they 18 find things that weren't there when they went to bed, the two 19 shirts.

20           Now, this defendant is linked, DNA is linked to the 21 shirt. We know in addition that he went into that house from 22 his own mouth. He talked about going in. He talked about 23 considering and deliberating on going in. In his interview 24 with the police when he was being extradited to Reno, when he 25 was talking about that prior incident, he said so I was there

1 thinking whether to do it or not to do it, and in the end I did 2 go in, and like I tried to grab her but she moved and I felt 3 fear at that point. That's when I ran.

4           So he ran. A week or so later, and we know that 5 Kyla's body was found on the 23rd, and sometime between the 6 20th and the 23rd, the last time anyone had talked to her, her 7 parents earlier in the day, that Friday, Travis later that 8 night, the last ones to talk to her alive. We know she was 9 expected at work the following Monday and never showed up. So 10 she died that weekend. She was killed that weekend.

11           We know that the defendant entered Kyla's residence 12 after casing it. He approached it around 2:00 a.m. He walked 13 around it multiple times checking to see if anyone was home, 14 who was home. He significantly, given what he would represent 15 that you have seen here in Court, significantly the back door 16 that he entered through before was locked, so he went around 17 the house and he found a window, and he had to actually break 18 the screen off to make entry into the residence.

19           He got in and he made his way. There is a sort of a 20 little hallway area leading to where the living room and 21 bedrooms are. Where he said he described she must have heard 22 me come in, because she confronted me there. She met me there 23 in that little hallway area. And he described that she tried 24 to defend herself. She had what he described as a bat, but 25 what we know was sort of a tape covered heavy piece of conduit

1 wire that her boyfriend had fastened to keep in the house. And 2 he easily disarmed her and he beat her. He took her, threw her 3 in the bed, in her own bed, in her own bedroom, and he 4 proceeded to beat her and rape her. And then killed her. He 5 strangled her. Face to face. His hand or hands on her throat.
6 And we know that it takes time to strangle somebody. It
7 doesn't happen in an instance. It's not like pulling a trigger 8 of a gun or stabbing somebody. It's more intimate than that, 9 because he is face to face with her watching her as the seconds 10 tick by that it takes to squeeze the life out of her. He 11 watches her go, and he leaves her there in her bed and takes 12 off.

13 Now, based on what you have heard today, the defense 14 has portrayed this as the defendant having irrational thoughts, 15 that it's due to drug use. That this is a drug induced 16 situation. And what you have been provided has been suggested 17 that because he was taking drugs, he had this on and off, and 18 that's actually how it's described in the paperwork, that it's 19 not a break with reality, because he is still in touch with 20 reality, but it's described as he uses drugs and he has this 21 described as an irrational thought that Kyla Annan actually 22 wants him, wants to have sex with him, is enticing him to come 23 over. And then when he is off of drugs he realizes that that 24 is wrong, that's wrong, that it's not true. And then he uses 25 drugs again, irrational thought process back on. And then off.

1 That's how it is literally described in the paperwork you have,
2 Your Honor. But what we do know about that, taking that for 3 the moment, for argument sake that that is what happened, 4 although I will submit to you the facts show a more rational 5 and reasonable explanation of what happened. But let's take 6 that. What we know is that he appreciated what drugs did to 7 him. We know that because he admitted what I just read to you.
8 I entered from the back side and I opened the door and I went 9 in and I took my shirt off that I -- the shirt that I had on.
10 So I was there thinking whether to do it or not to do it, and 11 in the end I did go in there and I tried to grab her. And he 12 talks about leaving the house and recognizing that that was 13 wrong. Recognizing that he shouldn't have done it. And yet he 14 goes back, and consider the irrational thought process, so the 15 explanation provided to you today is that he believed that she 16 wanted him, and so he goes into her house through the back door 17 late at night after midnight. All the lights are off. He 18 strips off his shirt, not as he described I wanted to talk to 19 her see, if she maybe she wanted to date me and we could do 20 some drugs. Strips off his shirt almost right away, because 21 that mannequin where he discarded it is pretty close to the 22 back door. Makes his way to the bedroom, goes to the foot of 23 the bed, and not in a conversational way but he puts his hand 24 over what he thinks at the time it's her mouth, and he would 25 have us based on what he provided in doing all of that he was

1 suffering under the irrational belief that all this was because 2 she wanted him. She wanted him to have sex with him.

3 But he leaves. He says he recognizes what he did was 4 wrong. He describes on page 88 of his interview with then 5 Sergeant Chalmers sometimes it would happen to me as I would do 6 things like this when I drink and use drugs and then later I 7 would react and I would say why did I do it, why did I do it.
8 Like when I am running shirtless. Like he is talking about the 9 prior incident where he left shirtless because he had taken off 10 his shirts, discarding it by Kyla's bed. I mean I would think 11 the fear of just to think that I was inside the house and to 12 touch someone, why am I doing this. Why do I do it. And I 13 would start to think about the way I would run through the city 14 shirtless.

15 So he certainly appreciated what he was doing was 16 wrong. And if you take the perspective of this irrational 17 thought process using methamphetamine, he certainly knew, as I 18 would suggest if he was using regularly as he claimed, as any 19 methamphetamine user knows, he knows what it does to him. But 20 he certainly knew exactly what it did to him on this occasion 21 because he acknowledged reflecting upon it.

22 Nonetheless, a week or so or not too much longer than 23 a week later he goes back to her house at 2:00 a.m. and again 24 from the irrational thought process it would be represented to 25 you that he believed she wanted to get together with him again.

1 And so he goes around 2:00 a.m. and he makes his way not 2 through the front but he goes around to the back. Makes his 3 way over a fence to get into the back part of her property.
4 Walks around the house, checks the back door, it's locked, and 5 again, he would have the Court believe that due to this 6 irrational thought process locked back door, she still wants me 7 to get in. So he goes around to he find a place to break and 8 breaks the screen so that he can climb into her house through 9 the window. Then he meets her, she confronts him. She heard 10 him, she confronts him with an item looking like a bat, and 11 again, he would have as has been represented to you that he 12 believed then that she still wanted him. That was some kind of 13 overture that he believed she still wants him. So then he 14 proceeds to strike her, disarm her, throw her into the bed and 15 beat her. And Your Honor knows from looking at the photos that 16 although he did talk about beating her, he massively downplayed 17 it every time he talked about it. Because this is what he did 18 to her as found by Dr. Christy Elliott.

19 So, in addition to the strangulation injuries, the 20 fracture to the hyoid bone, the hemorrhage to the strap muscles 21 of her neck, the bilateral abrasions you see in the pictures, 22 essentially the finger marks on the sides of her neck from 23 being strangled.

24 So in addition to that, the following. Multiple 25 abrasions and contusions of head, including forehead, eyes,

1 nose, lips, cheeks, chin, and ears. Subchorial hemorrhage in 2 the head. Bilateral temporalis muscle hemorrhage, greater on 3 left than right. Again, head injury. Multiple abrasions and 4 contusions of torso, including shoulders, chest, back, and 5 right hip. Partial bite mark of right breast. Multiple 6 abrasions and contusions of upper and lower extremities.

7           So you know from these photos that he didn't just 8 simply disarm her, he didn't as he would have the Court or has 9 been suggested in the documents you received, simply react. He 10 beat her into submission. And the last, how she spent her last 11 moments alive was being terrorized in her own home, violated 12 and then strangled face to face with this defendant.

13           And, Your Honor, for that he does not deserve the 14 opportunity to be on parole. He does not deserve the 15 opportunity. If you believe what has been represented about 16 the drug use, he does not deserve the opportunity at parole 17 because he knew what he was doing. He knew again in that 18 argument that using drugs would result in exactly what 19 happened. He, and from that perspective what we are talking 20 about is who, to whom do you assign the burden of the 21 defendant's drug use? Who suffers the burden? When a 22 defendant like this defendant uses drugs and then does a 23 violent crime or any crime, who do you assign the risk of that 24 drug use? Do you say well, sorry, victim, this defendant is 25 going to get a lighter sentence because he used drugs so less

1 justice for you, but don't worry, it's all because he was using 2 drugs at the time. Or do you assign the burden of that drug 3 use to the offender, the wrong doer. And I submit however you 4 answer that generally in this case, you assign it to this 5 defendant because he knew. Again, you accept everything that 6 has been represented in the defense argument to you and it
7 means he knew exactly what using drugs would result in. It 8 would result in him going into Kyla's house and sexually 9 assaulting her.

10 So where you assign that burden of that risk to this 11 defendant, because he knew exactly what he was doing, it is 12 like pointing a loaded gun, he knew exactly what he was doing 13 or what would happen if he used drugs.

14 Now, you heard from Dr. Piasecki on that video, I 15 submit that is entitled to very, very, very little weight.
16 It's not really consistent with what you see in the other 17 evaluation that you have. And Dr. Piasecki doesn't actually -- 18 she talks about some generalities, she doesn't actually tie it 19 to this defendant. We know you can test for injury or symptoms 20 of frontal lobe damage, obviously, if there were any tests done 21 they weren't reported. She suggests that somebody with frontal 22 lobe damage might be essentially a reckless danger that 23 essentially taking time off. And if you want to take that, 24 then I submit you should put this defendant in prison without 25 the possibility of parole to protect the community. Because

1 now again, there is not much reason to put a lot of weight in 2 what you heard on that part of that video, but if that's true, 3 you know that if he has got frontal lobe damage, nobody says he 4 does, that's just Dr. Piasecki saying people with that could do 5 this or that, but if you want to go down that road if he does, 6 you know what could happen should he act out on that, because 7 you have seen it and you should protect the community from 8 that. But, again, I submit that is entitled to very little 9 weight.

10 But there is a much more rational, reasonable 11 explanation for what happened, and it's just simply that this 12 defendant saw Kyla and he coveted her and he intended to have 13 sex with her against her will, and that's the reason that he 14 waited until night time and he went into her house on the 13th.
15 That's why he went in through the back door and that's why he 16 started taking off his shirts because he was going to sexually 17 assault her, stripping off his clothes, because he was going to 18 have sex with her. That's why he put his hand over the mouth 19 of the person that he thought was her. And when he saw that it 20 wasn't, it was a man, he ran. That's also why he came back a 21 week or so later and came back again surreptitiously 2:00 in 22 the morning, makes his way to the house, cases it, makes sure 23 the coast is clear, breaks a window to get in. That's because 24 he is going to follow through on what he didn't get to 25 accomplish the last time, and this time he does it. And he

1 does it and he subdues her. He severely beats her to subdue 2 her, and he doesn't leave a witness behind.

3 And, again, this strangling somebody is not like 4 pulling a trigger, it takes time. And he strangled the life 5 out of her while he watched the life go out of her right there 6 on top of her in her own bed.

7 Now, that's the rational, reasonable explanation of 8 what happened, he coveted Kyla and he took what he can't and 9 terrorized her to get it. He did one of the most horrible and 10 that word as used doesn't do justice what he did to another 11 human who had done nothing to him, who was really a bystander 12 for his conduct. For that the punishment for that, Your Honor, 13 should be life without the possibility of parole. Just for 14 that, but also considering everything else that goes along with 15 it. The loss to her family. Just knowing that she died, how 16 she died. But this defendant escaped. There is no witness, he 17 escaped, and he stayed, according to him in Reno for a short 18 time, realized the police were actively investigating around 19 Kyla's house and he fled to California and he stayed in 20 California for over ten years. He had over a decade of 21 freedom.

23 family, her parents, her boyfriend at the time, her loved ones, 24 aggravated what he had done in killing her. Not did they just 25 know how she died, how awful to lose a daughter, to lose a

1 loved one, but they know that the killer is out and that he is 2 not being brought to justice. And you heard it represented 3 that I think Ms. Hickman said it that every day that he was in 4 California living his life, having a job, even starting his own 5 business, that he was, he was suffering every day. Well, Your 6 Honor, who was really suffering was Kyla's parents and loved 7 ones. Because every day of that decade plus was another day 8 that there was no justice for them and that the longer time 9 went on, beginning to wonder if there ever will be justice, 10 will we ever get closer of knowing who did this to our 11 daughter. And even though it's not true justice of anything 12 that could replace what was done, at least the knowledge of 13 knowing that he is held accountable, that the law is going to 14 find him and hold him accountable.

15 Also the police, the police continued to investigate.
16 They investigated high and low. There was -- they used the 17 press to try to locate people who might be suspects, and over a 18 hundred DNA samples were gathered in the course of the 19 investigation to be tested just in the hope following up any 20 lead, no matter how slim. So while he was in California, the 21 police were working very hard to try to solve the crime. But 22 they couldn't because they -- he got out. No witness. They 23 had DNA evidence but no one to link it to.

24 So, again, it's been represented today that he was 25 remorseful, that while he was in California he was very 1 remorseful. But he didn't come forward. It was no crisis of 2 conscience that solved the case. He didn't come to Reno, admit 3 what he had done, he didn't do any of that. And I submit, Your 4 Honor, that's the real litmus test of remorse in this case.

5 I'm not saying it's easy in the sense that it is easy to -- 6 well, it is easier when you have been caught, when the police 7 have a strong case, when they have DNA, your DNA in and on the 8 victim. It's easy in that circumstance to feel remorse when 9 you are forced into it. It's easy to feel sorry, because you 10 are sorry. You are sorry you got caught. Sorry for yourself, 11 sorry for your family certainly, but it's not the same. It is 12 not the same feeling sorry when you have been caught, when you 13 your back is against the wall, when the police have you cold 14 because they have your DNA, your sperm on the victim. That's 15 not the same as feeling remorse and actually doing something 16 about it. Having an internal compass, a moral compass that 17 says I did wrong and I need to take responsibility. That's the 18 test of remorse. And that did not happen in this case. It was 19 an informant who came forward and pointed the police in 20 Mr. Ojeda's direction, and the police gathering a surreptitious 21 sample, the DNA sample that solved the case. It was not this 22 defendant.

23           The police then obtained an arrest warrant for the 24 defendant, based on the evidence they found when they had 25 linked his DNA, that surreptitious sample to the sperm, to the

1 shirt, DNA from the prior invasion, home invasion of, back on 2 the 13th. So they linked his DNA to that. And they went down 3 to speak to him, and the Court has heard hours of, in the 4 course of the case, the hours listening. You've seen the 5 interviews.

6 Now, it's been suggested in some of the paperwork that 7 this individual is not the highest functioning. I submit you 8 have seen evidence far to the contrary. He has his own 9 business. You saw him interact with the police. The first 10 contact he was -- it was at that, we were refer to it during 11 the litigation case, the field contact where he was not in 12 custody, he was working at his job. The police approached him 13 and had a lengthy conversation with him, and in the course of 14 that conversation they asked him about Kyla, they showed him a 15 picture. He lied. He said I don't know her, never seen her.
16 They told him that they had DNA from the person, and he again 17 going both to whether he had real remorse and how cagey he 18 could be, because he was very cagey in that interview, dodgey.
19 He was no dummy. He sparred so to speak with the police, 20 telling them you are free to go ahead and keep investigating, 21 try to get some investigation about who was accusing him. It 22 was not until the police then showed him we have a warrant for 23 your arrest and started to put him in handcuffs, he knew they 24 had his DNA, they had a warrant for him, and they started 25 putting him in handcuffs, and that's when he said you got me, I

1 did it. In almost the same breath gave his I was high, and 2 started in on saying I was drug induced. But again the test, 3 the reaction was not when the police approached him and showed 4 him Kyla's picture, I have been waiting for this day, here you 5 are, I did it, I need to take responsibility for it what I did.
6 None of that. He lied until the police cornered him and they 7 had him and then he talked. And he did talk. And, again, he 8 downplayed an awful lot. We know from the other evidence in 9 the case, he downplayed. He acknowledged what he had to, 10 because he knew they had his DNA. He knew where he left it.
11 But he certainly downplayed what he had done to Kyla.

12 So essentially, Your Honor, the defense has posed to 13 you two things. Said this has been drug induced, give him a 14 lighter sentence. You should not do that. The other thing 15 they said is look at the mitigation. The mitigation is that 16 while he had ten years of freedom, he had a family, he had a 17 job and they are essentially saying to you, Judge, give him a 18 lighter sentence because it's bad for his family. Give him 19 some hope. He built a family. Give him a lighter sentence.

20 Now, I'm not going to -- I'm not going to sit here and 21 say that every criminal, even murderers that they are a hundred 22 percent bad through and through. You can find redeeming 23 qualities in everyone, but that's not really the question here, 24 Your Honor. The question is when you talk about mitigation, 25 how does it mitigate? What is the relationship of what has

1 been represented as mitigation to the crime?

2           The relation is that the defendant should have been in 3 custody and in prison in 2004 after he did this to Kyla. He 4 should have been in prison then, but because he got away, he 5 was able to grab, really steal ten years of freedom. That's 6 really what happened. He stole ten years of freedom and 7 enjoyed that freedom at the expense of Kyla's parents and loved 8 ones. At the expense of the police really trying to solve the 9 crime. And really at the expense of this community, because 10 one of this community's daughters was brutally raped and 11 murdered in her own home and nobody had been apprehended for it 12 and that was an unsolved case.

13           He stole all that for ten years and he had a life.
14 Kyla did not have a life. Her parents were truly, that is the 15 true torture here when that word is used by you, truly tortured 16 during that time. Kyla's family suffered that whole time. But 17 he took that. That is being argued to you that you should 18 lighten his sentence because he took advantage of stealing that 19 time at everyone else's expense. And you should not do that, 20 Your Honor. You should give him life without parole because he 21 deserves it first and foremost for this crime, just for what he 22 did to this girl. He deserves it. If he was in prison then 23 and repented and changed his life, that would be great, but 24 anything you can say about him, the weight to assign to this as 25 a mitigating circumstance does not even come close, and I'm not

1 going to say there is no weight to be assigned, that there is 2 nothing there, but what I am telling the Court is that the 3 weight that should be assigned, the relationship of that to the 4 crime and whether it should lessen the sentence, it does not 5 even come close, it does not mitigate what he did far enough 6 down to give him an opportunity at parole.

7 And that's especially true, because he got, what he 8 got is priceless. He stole it, and he got ten years, over ten 9 years of freedom that he shouldn't have had. He got his parole 10 early in the prime of his life. He killed Kyla in the prime of 11 hers and he enjoyed a decade in the prime of his. So the 12 message that this Court should send is that if you do this, if 13 you turn this, one of this community's daughters into this, if 14 you force her to spend and force her family to know how she 15 spent the last time on this Earth alive, terrorized, subdued, 16 beaten, in pain, violated, the message that this Court sends 17 should be that you do this and you forfeit your own life. You 18 go to prison for life. We can't do to you what you did to this 19 girl, but you forfeit your life when you do something like that 20 to a fellow human being.

21 Your sentence, Your Honor, should also send the 22 message that drug abuse is not an excuse. That you don't get 23 to go out and make bad choices, especially when you know the 24 consequence of those choices, then come into Court and say, 25 Judge, give me a lighter sentence because this crime was the

1 result of my own bad choices. Your sentence should send the 2 opposite and send a message that you bear the burden, you the 3 wrongdoer bear the burden of your bad choices. If you choose 4 to use drugs, especially if you know what could happen, the 5 burden is assigned to you and no one else.

6 Now, the defendant also talked about his family, what 7 has happened to them. That's his fault. He did this to his 8 family. Now, again, I'm not saying he is not remorseful about 9 what happened. I think I have described the reasons for that.
10 Why it is not the true remorse, but I have no doubt that he is 11 sorry for his family and what has happened. No doubt. I have 12 no doubt what he has done to his family is sorry, but he did 13 it. But, again, what the defense is asking you because he did 14 something to harm his family situation, give this defendant a 15 lighter sentence. Take some time away from justice. Take some 16 time away from what the victims deserve and give that to the 17 defendant, because of what he did to his own family. And, 18 again, it is sad what he did, but that's something that he 19 inflicted and what should not come out of the justice that is 20 due for what he did.

21 And, Your Honor, the Court's sentence should also send 22 a message that you don't get a benefit if you run. If you flee 23 from justice, the message of getting parole, what that sends is 24 if you can get away and stay away long enough, when you end up 25 getting held responsible if you do, then you are going to get a

1 benefit out of that. And your sentence should not send that 2 message. It should send the message if you run, it doesn't 3 matter what you do, when you are caught, if you are caught, but 4 if the law catches up with you, you are going to be right back 5 where you were before, and you are going to get the sentence 6 you would have deserved if we caught you at the time and that's 7 what this Court's sentence should send. Loud and clear. You 8 don't get to benefit by your own bad choices. You don't get a 9 lesser sentence because you ran and stayed gone.

10 So Your Honor, the State is asking this Court, as is 11 P&P in their recommendation, to impose a sentence of live 12 without parole.

13 If I may I would like to call Cheryl Annan.

14 THE COURT: And I want to clarify one choice of words 15 that you were saying that he stole those ten years, but during 16 that, you are not inferring in any way that he was anything but 17 presumed innocent during that period of time, correct?

18 MR. PRENGAMAN: No. What I'm saying he should have 19 been in prison for what he did. He should have been punished 20 for what he did, because he ran, left no witness. He stole 21 that time in the sense it was borrowed time is maybe a better 22 word for the Court, he was on borrowed time. He shouldn't have 23 it. It wasn't his. He took it at a cost to the victims, to 24 the community. That's what I meant by that, Your Honor.

25 THE COURT: All right, thank you.

1           MR. PRENGAMAN: Only because we now know that he is 2 guilty, we now know looking back, we now know his DNA. So 3 that's all.

4           THE COURT: And counsel I would like you to approach 5 with those exhibits, and then I understand that you do wish to 6 call a person and you may proceed.

7           THE BAILIFF: Please raise your right hand.

8                               CHERYL ANNAN

11           MR. PRENGAMAN:

12           Q     Good morning. Could you please state your full name 13 for the record?

14           A     I am Cheryl Annan.

15           Q     And, Ms. Annan, are you Kyla's mother?

16           A     Yes, I am.

17           Q     Do you have a statement you would like to make to the 18 Court about the impact that her murder has had on you and your 19 family?

20           A     I would like to read what I wrote, yes.

21           Q     Please.

22           A     I am the proud mother of Kyla. The horrific way my 23 daughter was murdered in her own home and taken from us I feel 24 that my life has been torn apart and broken since 2004. I 25 begged that Kyla will get the justice she deserves. One who

1 initially takes the life of another should be made to forfeit
2 his own. Since the State will not carry out the death 3 sentence, life in prison without the possibility of parole is 4 appropriate. This will never bring back my baby or give me 5 closure. It will give me peace that she got some justice that 6 she deserves. I hope at the end of this hearing I will be 7 rewarded this for all the pain and suffering which Kyla and we 8 have endured. I will never see Kyla again or see her grand 9 babies, as that's what would have happened. Thank you for 10 listening.

11 THE COURT: Thank you.

12 MR. PRENGAMAN: I will call Steve Annan.

13 THE BAILIFF: Face the clerk and be sworn.

14 STEVEN ANNAN

15 BEING FIRST DULY SWORN, WAS EXAMINED AND TESTIFIED AS FOLLOWS: 16

17 MR. PRENGAMAN:

18 Q Would you please state your full name for the record?

19 A Steven Annan.

20 Q Mr. Annan, what is your relationship to Kyla?

21 A Her father.

22 Q Do you have a statement you would like to make to the 23 Court about the impact her murder has had on you and your 24 family?

1 Q Please.

2 A We received a form to complete, a victim impact 3 statement. The impact seemed to be mainly financial but this 4 is not about money at all. We suffer no significant financial 5 loss rather the toll was and is emotional and it was and 6 remains massive, continues to this day and likely continue for 7 the rest of our lives. Initially in 2004 and for a year or two 8 the effects were profound feelings of disorientation, pain, 9 guilt, even suicidal ideation. We felt that we had, had we 10 acted differently we might have saved Kyla. For example, we 11 were uncomfortable with the neighborhood where she lived but 12 she being a strong-willed young woman insisted that it was 13 okay. We experienced random breakdowns. We felt sadness 14 attacks for over a year, sudden feelings of melancholy and 15 bouts of crying. These tapered in intensity and mostly 16 subsided, then ten years later when the offender was 17 apprehended, another big thanks to the tireless efforts of Ron 18 Chalmers and others at the Reno PD, much of that emotional 19 turbulence was rekindled. We were greatly relieved and glad 20 that justice would be served, yet though this was supposed to 21 mean a sort of closure, it was also a reminder that Kyla was 22 still gone forever and no means of punishment could bring her 23 back.

24 Ultimately the responsibility for all of this loss and 25 turmoil as well as for the actual crime falls on Ojeda. We are

1 unopposed to capital punishment for crimes as egregious as this 2 one, but realize that in Nevada today would not be carried out.
3 The next most harsh sentence life in prison is the best choice.
4 We believe that one who intentionally and not in self-defense 5 takes the life of another should be made to forfeit his own 6 life. Consider also that Ojeda has already enjoyed a decade of 7 freedom from the time of the murder to the time of his 8 apprehension, the remainder of his life should be spent in 9 prison.

10 MR. PRENGAMAN: Thank you.

11 THE COURT: Anything further?

12 MR. PRENGAMAN: Nothing further for the State, Your 13 Honor.

14 THE COURT: Is there any reason why judgment should 15 not be imposed at this time?

16 MS. HICKMAN: No, Judge, thank you.

17 THE COURT: Mr. Ojeda, are you satisfied with the 18 representation that has been provided to you throughout this 19 entire proceeding, including today?

20 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, Your Honor.

21 THE COURT: Is there anything of mitigation that your 22 attorneys have not raised that you wish to raise?

23 THE WITNESS: No, everything is fine, Your Honor.

24 THE COURT: Do you need any time to speak with your 25 attorney before I impose sentence?

1           THE DEFENDANT: I don't think so, everything is all 2 right, Your Honor.

3           THE COURT: These facts are egregious, and I cannot 4 render a judgment without taking each and every fact into 5 consideration. Tragically drugs play a huge part in our 6 community, and it's clear they played a huge part in your life, 7 but it's not an excuse. This was a heinous crime and you 8 can't, or you claim you can't remember it. The facts, the 9 pictures, the terror that you invoked for Ms. Annan is 10 reprehensible, and I deeply looked for remorse, and what I 11 wrote down is what Mr. Prengaman said. As you stand here it's 12 forced remorse. You fled and now you claim you can't remember, 13 but looking at the facts, and what is compelling to this Court 14 is aside from a life you built, the love you have for your 15 children, the love for your wife, and the love that all them 16 have for you, you ran.

17           You were calculated in how you did this. It is beyond 18 belief how you would assess that this victim wanted you with 19 locked doors, standing in the hallway with what you thought was 20 a bat, what you knew was a weapon, and used against her at 2:00
21 in the morning. It is unbelievable she wanted you. You climb 22 in the window to get to her. You had time between the first 23 visit and the second visit. You had time during that period 24 that you weren't under the influence.

25           The letters say you are a good man. Your own

1 admission was you described yourself as a bad man. You are 2 correct, you are not going to see your daughters in person.
3 The Annans family can't see their daughter ever, and you are 4 sentenced to life without the possibility of parole.

5 Fees will be imposed of $25 administrative assessment
6 fee, $3 DNA administrative assessment, $500 attorney's fees, 7 $1,951.12 in extradition, $150 DNA fee. The presentence 8 investigation report indicates that it would be concurrent with 9 RCR 1687703. And you have credit for time served of 10 1,375 days. That's the order. Court will be in recess.

15 JUDGMENT OF CONVICTION

17 The Defendant, having entered a plea of guilty, and no legal reason or cause 18 existing to preclude entry of judgment against him, the Court rendered judgment as 19 follows:

20 1. Francisco Merino Ojeda, is guilty of the crime of Murder of the First 21 Degree, a violation of NRS 200.010 and NRS 200.030, a category A felony, as charged in 22 the Amended Information.

23 2. He is punished by:

24 a) Imprisonment in the Nevada Department of Corrections for a 25 term of life without the possibility of parole, to be served concurrently with the sentence 26 imposed in RCR16-87703, with credit for one thousand three hundred seventy-five (1375) 27 days time served.

28 b) Payment to the Clerk of the Second Judicial District Court of the following amounts:

- 1 1. Twenty-Five Dollar ($25.00) administrative assessment 2 fee; and
3 2. Three Dollar ($3.00) administrative assessment for 4 obtaining a biological specimen and conducting a genetic marker analysis; and 5 3. One Thousand Nine Hundred Fifty-One and 12/100ths 6 Dollars ($1,951.12) for extradition cost; and 7 4. Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) for legal representation; 8 and 9 5. One Hundred Fifty Dollar ($150.00) DNA Analysis fee.

10 Defendant shall submit to a DNA analysis to determine the presence of 11 genetic markers, if not previously ordered.

12 Any fine, fee or administrative assessment imposed upon the Defendant as 13 reflected in this Judgment of Conviction constitutes a lien, as defined in Nevada Revised 14 Statutes (NRS 176.275). Should the Defendant not pay these fines, fees, or assessments, 15 collection efforts may be undertaken.
