II. LEGAL ARGUMENT

Petitions for Extraordinary Writs are addressed to the sound discretion of the Supreme Court of Nevada and may issue when there is no plains, speedy, and adequate remedy at law,. See, State v. Second Judicial District Court ex. Rel. County of Washoe. 116 Nev. 953, 11 P.3d 1209 (2000).

A writ of mandamus is issued to compel performance of an act which the law especially enjoins as a duty resulting from an office, trust or station. See, Lewis v. Stewart, 96 nev. 846, 619 P.2d 1212 (1980).

A writ of mandamus ma issue to control arbitrary or capricious exercise of discretion. See, Barnes v. Eighth Judicial District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for Clark County, 103 Nev. 679, 748 P.2d 483 (1987).

This Court has also held that the action being sought to be compelled must be one already required By law. See, Mineral County v. State Department of Conservation and Natural Resources. 117 Nev. 235, 20 P.3d 800 (2001).

Mandamus is the appropriate vehicle for challenging contested orders entered by the District Court.

See, Angell v. Eighth judicial District Court In and For the County of Clark, 18 Nev. 923, 839 P.2d 1329, (1992).

It has also been held that a writ of mandamus is proper when the petitioner raises urgent and important issues(s) of law requiring clarification by the Supreme Court. See, Falcke v. Douglas County, 116 Nev. 583, 3 P.3d 661 (2000).

LAS VEGAS, NEVADA, TUESDAY, JUNE 2, 1981, 9:00 A.M.

THE COURT: Case number C52190, the State of Nevada vs. Joel Burkett, also known as Raymond Haire.

The record will show the presence of the defendant, in custody; the presence of counsel, James Buchanan; Ron Bloxham, Deputy District Attorney representing the State of Nevada.

This is the time set for the entry of judgment and imposition of sentence. Is the defendant ready to proceed at this time? Mr. Haire, have you read over the -- Mr. Burkett, have you read over the report? What is your right name? Raymond Haire, isn't it?

THE DEFENDANT: Joel Burkett.

THE COURT: Okay, Mr. Burkett, have you read over the report by the Department of Parole and Probation?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, sir, I have.

THE COURT: Do you know of any legal cause or reason why judgment should not be pronounced against you at this time?

THE DEFENDANT: Well, there's a few lies in there.

MR. BUCHANAN: We have no legal reason for judgment not be imposed at this time, your Honor. We have some comments on the contents of the probation report.

THE COURT: We'll get back to that.

Joel Burkett, by virtue of your verdict of the jury finding you guilty, you are hereby adjudged guilty to Count I, the crime of robbery and use of a deadly weapon in commission of a crime.

The Court hereby finds you guilty under Count II of the crimes of first degree kidnapping and use of a deadly weapon in commission of a crime.

The Court finds you guilty under Count III of the crime of sexual assault, a felony.

make?

Does the Department of Parole and Probation have anything further to state at this time?

MR. BLOXHAM: Your Honor, we don't have a representative from the Department of Parole and Probation here at this time.

(At this time, Mr. Baird entered the courtroom).

MR. BLOXHAM: Yes, we do.

THE COURT: Your name, sir?

MR. BAIRD: Frederic L. Baird.

THE COURT: Frederic L. Baird?

MR. BAIRD: Yes, sir.

THE COURT: The record will show the presence of Frederic L. Baird of the Department of Parole and Probation.

Do you have anything further to state at this time in the Joel Burkett case?

MR. BAIRD: Submitted, your Honor.

THE COURT: Does the District Attorney have any statements to MR. BLOXHAM: Yes, your Honor. We would like to make a few statements.

First of all, your Monor, on page 6 of the report, bottom paragraph, it talks about the victim. There was an attempt made on the 26th of May to contact the victim and have a statement of the victim included in the report. I notice the report was prepared the 27th of May. They made a phone call to the victim's mother-in-law asking the mother-in-law to have the victim get a hold of them.

I can inform the Court that the victim has no phone; that the mother-in-law lives clear across town; and I can assure you that if the victim were contacted and asked for a statement, that she would provide one. I don't believe it would stop sentencing today, though, because this Court did hear the trial. This Court did hear the victim's testimony from the stand.

Your Honor, as I approach this sentencing, I have to look at the defendant, and I have to compare him to a mad dog, your Honor, but there are some differences between the defendant Burkett and a mad dog. Your Honor, a mad dog has no choice in the way he acts. Joel Burkett, your Honor, has purposefully decided and chosen to act in the manner which he has.

Your Honor, a mad dog has no respect for other people's property. Joel Burkett has purposefully determined in the past, commit the crimes of grand larceny, petty larceny, burglary, robbery, auto theft, possession of stolen property. Your Honor, a mad dog has no respect for the people's dignity. Joel Burkett has purposefully determined on his own to ignore other people's dignity. The sex crimes he stands convicted of today bears record of that.

Your Honor, on page 10 of the report, it reflects that Joel Burkett shows no concern nor no sympathy for the victim in this particular crime -- very vicious crime. Your Honor, Mr. Burkett, Joel Burkett, has no respect for human life, just like a made dog.

Your Honor, the testimony this Court heard from the stand from the victim as to the facts of the case, what happened out in the desert, this victim -- I don't believe the defendant was bluffing when he attempted to find a place to bury the victim. Talked to his companion about killing the victim.

You know, there's an argument to be made -- well, he was just bluffing so she wouldn't report the crime. Your Honor, from the testimony that was adduced from the stand, I believe Joel Burkett was totally willing and totally prepared to go through with that killing, and only because of the other person present did the killing not occur.

Your Honor, Mr. Buchanan will argue to the Court, I am sure, that this young man -- he's nineteen years old, he's never convicted of any other adult crimes.

Your Honor, there's a good reason for that. This young man turned eighteen in the California Youth Authority. He turned nineteen in the California Youth Authority. He escaped November 29, 1980, and he was apprehended here in Las Vegas for these crimes December 19, 1980. He just didn't have a chance.

 Your Honor, talking about the California Youth Authority. His own statement reflected in the parole and probation report is he committed so many crimes, he'd been convicted of so many charges down there, he didn't even remember them all. He couldn't even list them all for the parole and probation people.

Your Honor, as this Court considers sentencing, it takes into account the character of the defendant, and it also takes into account the nature of the crime committed. This Court heard the testimony of Detective Leonard. He went over to the house where the defendant Burkett was staying, and he obtained some items.

One thing the Court may or may not have been aware of is the detective obtained some photographic albums, some photo albums from that house. I'd like, if I could, at this time to have the Court either review the photo albums, or at least a couple of the photographs reflecting Joel Burkett in the photo albums, pictures that come from the California Youth Authority while he was in there, if the Court is so inclined.

MR. BUCHANAN: Your Honor, we'd object to that. We haven't had the chance to review it. It's not in the probation report, hasn't been looked at by Parole and Probation. And I know what they're trying to show. They're trying to show this Nazi stuff and pictures.

I've seen them before, but I don't think that should be brought before sentencing. We don't come forth knowing that was going to be offered. I'd never seen the entire photograph album. It's been in custody.

There have been certain pictures that have been shown me by Detective Leonard, and I've seen those, and I don't feel they're appropriate at this time, and I feel they'd be prejudicial.

MR. BIOXHAM: Your Honor, the reason that I offer them is there's a couple of statements made in the report such as the guard in California has indicated this man is a member of the Nazi white power group in California, things like this. This supports and corroborates those statements.

I just don't want to have this Court reading over the report and saying, well, a number of these things are uncorroborated. We have some corroboration for some of the statements in the report. We offer them, if the Court chooses. If not, fine. We could move forth without —

THE COURT: I choose not.

MR. BLOXHAM: Okay, fine. Thank you.

Your Honor, what do we have when we consider the nature of the crime, the background of the defendant? We have a very violent, violent individual. His answer to all of these charges against him is, well, he's bitter toward the jury. He's bitter toward the victim. There's people that are conspiring to put him in jail and keep him there.

Your Honor, he blames everyone except who's really to blame, and that's himself.

Your Honor, Parole and Probation has done a good job in evaluating this defendant, comparing his background, looking at the crime, putting it all together, making a recommendation. They've made a very good recommendation. In fact, they recommended the maximum, with the exception of concurrent and consecutive time.

My understanding, they recommended thirty years on the robbery, consecutive to double life on the kidnapping, which are consecutive to each other, but then, as to the sexual assaults, consurrent — two sexual assaults to the kidnapping and robbery.

We'd ask the Court to consider that as the minimum, the minimum recommendation to be considered. The State asks that that be imposed, and we also ask the Court to consider perhaps a heavier sentence due to his—the defendant's—background, and the serious nature of this crime.

Thank you, your Honor.

THE COURT: Mr. Burkett, your attorney will have an opportunity to address this Court in your behalf. At this time, do you wish to make a statement in your own behalf or present any information in mitigation of punishment before sentence is pronounced?

THE DETENDANT: Yes, your Honor. You know, he's saying that they -- you know, the Probation Department checked me out real good.

В

Well, they said that -- on page 8 - I got three brothers in the California prison. I ain't even got three brothers, man, and -- and they're saying that I stole a radio in the jail and I was talking over the radio. And I didn't steal a radio. They're going to say that kind of stipulation against me, and I want to say I didn't steal, and I can prove it.

Got in the front that he's appointed to me. He's not appointed to me. So this Probation Department, they don't know nothing, man, they don't know nothing. They're going on what Detective Leonard said. This is supposed to be a P & P report, not from a detective that's got something against me, you know.

And he's talking about this girl getting up on the stand. She got right up on the stand and said I didn't even kidnap and rob her.

That's all I got to say, man.

THE COURT: Mr. Buchanan?

MR. BUCHANAN: Well, your Honor, I must say this report is probably one of the most negative I've ever read. And of course, as we know, during the trial there was some testimony or at least some evidence brought that when he came down here, that he was going to make a big disturbance. There was also some evidence brought out during the trial, or at least some conversation, that he was a very violent person and had to be watched very carefully.

But none of these things ever occurred. He's been in the Clark County Jail now since November. He's never had any incidents up there as far as fights or anything else, violence.

This Nazi white supremacy they've talked about over in California — didn't see none of this.

Now he appears and he appeared on the stand and he — this morning, there was this statement that Guy asked me for some kind of leniency the Court could make. But when I talked to him and when I see him, I see an eighteen-year-old boy who has not had quite as much bravado and macho as he does here in Court and as he did on the stand and as he did this night.

We went through a long jury trial on this. There was some evidence we presented, what I thought was a good case, as the jury evidently didn't believe he and his witnesses as to what happened. He's still protesting his immovence and stating that in the probation report, and has gone down that that girl was not kidnapped, she went voluntarily, and the rest.

We thought, of course, there was some evidence that the jury could have believed. They were out some five or six hours, and evidently they thought something.

Anyway, he stands here now with these counts that can go to life. Now, of course, we're not asking the Court for probation, because it's not even available, but before the Court gives some horrendous sentence, some stacked case back to back, life, robbery with use and so forth, I'd like to take into consideration that he is only nineteen, that at this point in his life, he has a lot of violence in himself, and he's shown that in the past. He'll probably show that for a while in the future.

But as they teach you in law school, they teach you in psychology and psychiatric evaluation of prisoners, after a while that burns out. Now, how long it will take Joel Burkett to burn out in the Nevada State Prison — that's one thing. But for the Court to impose some horrendous sentence on the first time that this person has been before the Court as an adult and being sentenced, we'd ask the Court to take that into consideration.

Now, this Court can stack a couple of these cases and make sure that he stays in prison for around five to ten years. I think ten years would have to be about the minimum that he could stay, under the case law here.

So what I'm asking the Court is not to stack these and go the life as they've recommended in the parole and probation report, but to give him some of these five-year terms back to back, which would insure that he is not eligible for probation for around ten years. In ten years, he'll be twenty-nine years old, and he'll spend most of the best years of his life in prison. And that, of course, will be at least a great inducement to come out and be a worthwhile citizen; but to take somebody at nineteen to twenty-nine and put them in prison I feel is punishment enough.

Now, at that point also they're going to have an evaluation of this prisoner in jail, see whether or not he burns out and so forth and whether or not he can be given probation, so they'll have a good indication. But I'd ask the Court to take into consideration the fact that he is nineteen, the fact that he is a violent person, but I think that can be corrected in prison, or at least thwarted over ten years, which is a long enough time for anyone, and to do it.

His parents have been here. His mother and family sat through the whole trial. His father's in the courtroom today. They've stood behind him, and -- and he has a problem with this Court, so I'd ask the Court to give him whatever leniency it can in the sentencing.

To characterize him as a mad dog, I don't know. Maybe his background, his upbringing, his treatment with the youth authorities, in being kicked out of school when he was in seventh grade contributed to all of this. But I think at this point that the Court can at least give him some leniency on his first offense.

THE COURT: Joel Burkett, in accord with the law of the State of Nevada, this Court does now sentence you to confinement for fifteen years in the Nevada State Prison for the crime of robbery in Count I; and does also sentence you to fifteen years in the Nevada State Prison for use of a deadly weapon in commission of a crime.

These two fifteen-year sentences under Count I shall run consecutively to each other.

Joel Burkett, in accord with the law of the State of Nevada, this Court does now sentence you to confinement for life in the Nevada State Prison for the crime of first degree kidnapping as set forth in Count II of the information in this case.

The Court imposes an additional sentence of life in the Nevada State Prison under Count II for use of a deadly weapon in commission of a crime.

These two sentences shall run concurrently -- excuse me -- shall run consecutively to each other and shall run consecutively to the fifteen-year sentences imposed under Count I.

Joel Burkett, in accord with the law of the State of Nevada, this Court does now sentence you to confinement for life in the Nevada State Prison for the crime of sexual assault, a felony, as set forth in Count LII.

The Court also sentences you to confinement for life in the Nevada State Prison for the crime of sexual assault, a felony, as set forth in Count IV.

These two life sentences shall run consecutively to each other but shall run concurrently with the sentences imposed in Count II of the information in this case.

MR. BUCHANAN: 'Thank you, your Honor.

MR. BLOXHAM: Your Honor, credit for time served I believe is reflected as 165 days. Is that correct?

THE COURT: The defendant is given credit for time served in the sum of 165 days.

MR. BLOXHAM: Your Honor, am I to understand that Count I, Count II are consecutive to each other, concurrent to three and four? That's just for clarification, for my sake.

MR. BUCHANAN: I think the sentencing was proper.

THE COURT: Fifteen, fifteen, life, life. And then you've got two more lifes to run concurrently with those counts.

We'll be in recess at this time for a few minutes.

ATTEST: Full, true and accurate transcript of proceedings.
