Counsel Nork offered Exhibit 18; counsel Anderson objected; objection overruled and Exhibit 18 shall be ADMITTED into evidence. Witness further cross examined. 10:14 a.m. - Court stood in recess. 10:33 a.m. – Court reconvened. Witness further cross examined. Counsel Nork offered Exhibit 19; counsel Anderson objected; objection overruled and Exhibit 19 shall be ADMITTED into evidence. Witness further cross examined: re-direct examined: re-cross examined: and excused. COURT advised respective counsel that the trial will now break for lunch, and will reconvene at 1:30 p.m. for counsel Anderson to present argument on his Rule 52 motion; closing arguments will be presented tomorrow morning, and the Court will most likely make a ruling tomorrow afternoon. Counsel Nork advised the Court that while he does not have a problem with the proposed timeline for the remainder of the trial, he wants the Court to be aware that his client has a flight out of the country tomorrow afternoon. COURT advised the parties that he understands Mr. Livadas and/or Mr. Skarpelos may have travel arrangements to leave the country tomorrow, and the Court will not be offended if they are not present.

CASE NO. CV15-02259 NEVADA AGENCY & TRANSFER CO. VS. WEISER ASSET ETAL

DATE, JUDGE OFFICERS OF	Pg. 2
COURT PRESENT	T APPEARANCES-HEARING
1/31/19	ONGOING BENCH TRIAL
HONORABLE	11:55 a.m. – Court stood in recess for lunch.
ELLIOTT A.	1:36 p.m. – Court reconvened.
SATTLER	Counsel Anderson made a motion pursuant to NRCP 52c, and he presented argument
DEPT. NO. 10	thereto.
M. Merkouris	Counsel Nork responded; and he further argued in opposition of counsel Anderson's
(Clerk)	motion.
T. Amundsen	Counsel Anderson replied; and he further argued in support of his Rule 52c motion.
(Reporter)	2:54 p.m. – Court stood in recess.
	3:20 p.m. – Court reconvened.
	COURT set forth findings of fact and conclusions of law; COURT DENIED counsel Anderson's motion.
	COURT FURTHER ORDERED: Closing arguments shall commence tomorrow,
February 1, 2019, at 9:00 a.m.
	Counsel Anderson advised the Court that there are some exhibits that need to be redacted, however he is not sure what the process should be for this, as some of exhibits in question have been admitted into evidence, and he does not know if redaction of an admitted exhibit is appropriate.
	COURT advised respective counsel that this Court would be more inclined to redact an exhibit, rather than sealing the entire document.
	COURT further advised respective counsel that the large pieces of easel paper drawn on by counsel Nork during the trial will be destroyed at the conclusion of closing arguments.
	3:38 p.m. – Court stood in recess for the evening, to reconvene tomorrow, February 1,
	2019, at 9:00 a.m.

So, it says "15000" and just the numbers, that it's not a currency behind it. It's just standing out there. Q. Why is that unusual? A. Because in banks you always fill out the complete numerical value even though it's 00 at the end. Q. Oh, okay. I see. So, your understanding from being involved with accounts is that in an ordinary statement you'd see the complete dollar or

In fact, I think Mr. Livadas testified that he filled this document out much, much later than the date that was written in on it, which is July 5th, 2013. In fact, I think I'll get into a little more detail tomorrow. I think the evidence actually shows it was completed after W.A.M. had already told NATCO that it was the owner. Skarpelos has never heard of Weiser Capital until after this lawsuit. I think the evidence shows that Mr. Livadas or he is Weiser Capital, I think he admitted, that he induced Mr. Skarpelos to sign these documents on the idea that there'd be a strategic investor involved and then went ahead and assigned the rights to the stock to himself without notifying Mr. Skarpelos. So, the express language of the contract says that it's, No. 1, subject to the terms set forth in this agreement and, No. 2, will be effective as of the closing date of September 30th, 2013, which Mr. Livadas wrote in himself without ever mentioning an April 2nd transaction. What page were you citing me to? I went and looked at it and it was kind of a head-scratcher and I thought I must have missed something. MR. NORK: The Mosley case, your Honor? THE COURT: Yes. It primarily discusses NRCP 25 and Nevada Rule of Civil Procedure 6. MR. NORK: Yes, your Honor, and my reference to Mosley was I think this is maybe why	2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22	and there's no page 272. THE COURT: I agree with you totally that unpublished decisions are not particularly helpful. I did also look at D.R. Horton vs. Eighth Judicial District, 123 Nevada 468, and you directed me to page 481 it's also located at 168 Pacific 3d 731 and, really, the only thing that they talk about there that is of some assistance to the court is a footnote. It's Footnote 32, the citation in the written portion of the pleading written portion of the case is, quote, In determining the reasonableness of a notice, a district court should keep in mind the judiciary's policy of maintaining judicial economy, the particular requirements and limitations set out in NRS Chapter 40 and the policy considerations discussed above. D.R. Horton is a construction defect case, as I'm sure the parties are aware given the reference to NRS Chapter 40. Footnote 32 is a citation that says, "See State vs. District Court, 121 Nevada 225 at page 234 to page 235, 112 Pacific 3d 1070 at page 1076, 2005 case, holding that "in

Exhibits 12 and 11, this is an email asking him to transfer money. He said there was an effort to transfer it, it got stuck because he forgot to put his sister's name on the wire transfer request and it didn't go through. Exhibit 18 is the same thing, a wire request in April of 2013 where bank information is provided to Mr. Livadas. And Exhibit 19 is the same thing the next month, providing bank information to Mr. Livadas. What we are asked to believe from Mr. Pedafronimos is that these wire requests, Exhibit 12 and 11, 18, and 19, they have nothing to do with the W.A.M. account that Mr. Skarpelos had, absolutely nothing. Instead, what these have to do with allegedly are an account that Mr. Livadas has nothing to do with Verdmont, but Mr. Livadas has nothing to do with Verdmont. He's not an owner, officer, he's not an account representative. There is no connection between Mr. Livadas and Verdmont. In fact, Mr. Pedafronimos testified that he didn't</pre>

11	And then he mentioned that that paragraph goes on to	11	So, I think where we are now is that W.A.M.

17	which specifically names Weiser Capital as the buyer	17	that could be is if it had been an intermediary,
18	of the stock, he said, with no confusion whatsoever,	18	which it alleges, and a beneficial owner of a stock

3	And what they're asking the Court to do is	3	There's no evidence that they've been damaged in the

12	And I think if this is really what W.A.M.	12	Mr. Skarpelos' case is rather simple. He
13	is claiming and they plead it right and they	13	was issued the shares in 2009 by Anavex and he's
14	asserted this claim from the beginning and offered	14	never been divested of ownership. He is, was, and
15	the right proof, that would have been the claim that	15	always has been the owner of the disputed stock at
16	they should have pursued. But what they've got is a	16	issue. The only way he would not be the owner is if
17	claim for damages based on, it sounds like, an	17	something happened, as W.A.M. or Weiser Capital

22	So, I think that's their ultimate problem,	22	Weiser admits that Mr. Skarpelos was the

I'll get to Mr. Walker's testimony a little later, but these types of shares require a number of things that haven't been even suggested that W.A.M. did in this case. And so I think testimony from Mr. Skarpelos, Mr. Lambros Pedafronimos, and Mr. Walker said you have to have an opinion of counsel because

All they've offered in support of that claim is a hodgepodge of random documents that are really dwarfed by the documents they did not produce. To me, as a Class 1 broker-regulated industry the documents that they did not produce in this case speak volumes over what they're trying to use to prove their case in evidence. What's missing is a large number of documents that would have been available to any legitimate institution in any legitimate transaction and just have not produced any of those. They rely almost exclusively on the testimony of Mr. Livadas, who admits that he was not involved in the operations of W.A.M. at the relevant time in 2011, '12 and '13. He has no clue about how, if at all, W.A.M. reported client transactions and he has no knowledge of their records. He's basing his testimony, your Honor, on reviewing a portion and I think he said that directly or a small part of the large number of what sounds like quite haphazardly kept documents in a storage unit somewhere in The Bahamas. There	2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23	documents aren't sorted by client transaction. And if I understood his testimony correctly, they're organized by transactions, so I don't know if that's numerically, sequentially, chronologically. There's no indication that anything they've produced was kept in any reliable method. And Mr. Nork went through quite a number of documents and exhibits and I'd like to discuss some that he did and some that are not mentioned by him. But Exhibit 1 is the stock certificate that was issued to Mr. Skarpelos for the stock at issue. And as Mr. Skarpelos pointed out and I think as Mr. Walker confirmed, these shares are restricted shares. They can't just be traded to anybody and they can't just be traded in any manner. I'll get to Mr. Walker's testimony a little later, but these types of shares require a number of things that haven't been even suggested that W.A.M. did in this case. And so I think testimony from Mr. Skarpelos, Mr. Lambros Pedafronimos, and Mr. Walker said you have to have an opinion of counsel because you have to have the particular type of seller,

So, the only person with access to those emails at that point or now is Mr. Livadas, who controlled the Bizex system. And so Mr. Livadas didn't produce any of the hundreds of emails that are supposedly in Exhibit 60 showing he was in frequent communication with Mr. Skarpelos. He testified he could have, and this is during the litigation. He pulled them up at request of Counsel. He could have clicked on any of them and printed them out and sent us all a copy. But that didn't happen. He took a screen shot and sent it to his counsel as the evidence that he's in frequent contact with Mr. Skarpelos. And so they're trying to make Mr. Skarpelos look suspicious when

He wasn't getting satisfactory answers from Mr. Livadas and so he canceled the stock. And I think the important thing to remember in conjunction with that is that when he was considering selling his stock in July of 2013, if a deal had come to fruition and gotten to the point where he could have written a stock certificate number in the power of attorney, he could have written in "Certificate 975." And Mr. Nork pointed out the lack of emails from Mr. Skarpelos to Mr. Livadas or W.A.M. saying, you know, anything about the stock transaction or the opening of the account,	5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22	MR. But on voir dire during my objection Mr. Livadas displayed an astonishing lack of knowledge on how W.A.M. tracked and reported client information from 2011 to 2013. And he said that there should be transaction records that demonstrate the transactions in Exhibit 44 but there are not. They should be there but they're not.

And if this was going to be a legitimate transaction ultimately, he would have used the kind of professor or lawyer that signed the Affidavit of Lost Certificate and notarized that, and that would have been the point at which the transaction would have been final. And Mr. Walker testified himself that he would not have relied upon the notary that was in Exhibit 30 and 35 because those are in Greek and they don't let NATCO know they're legitimate. Nothing in these emails from Exhibits 21 to 29 and 31 say anything about an April 2nd transaction. You never see Mr. Livadas saying, We've got the April 2nd deal done and now we're focusing on this part of it. There's just no reference to it at all. I think another indication of Mr. Skarpelos' intent that no deal be final is that he never sent the original notarized documents to	4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22	a bad businessman. And they kinda chuckle when they say, Well, he got duped in 2007, he got duped in 2009 three times, and here he goes again. Well, their accusation that Mr. Skarpelos may be a poor businessman I don't think is flattering to them. There's basically saying, Hey, I was able to dupe you once, dupe you twice, and here we go again. I don't think that that's an effective argument for them. And with Exhibit 44 I'm not even sure where to begin with this one. I understand it was admitted over objection, which I respect. But on voir dire during my objection Mr. Livadas displayed an astonishing lack of knowledge on how W.A.M. tracked and reported client information from 2011 to 2013. And he said that there should be transaction records that demonstrate the transactions in Exhibit 44 but there are not. They should be there but they're not. And in conjunction with that, we have to look at what happened in 2012. Really, the entire

He discussed that the stock sale conversation in March and April of 2013 prior to Mr. Skarpelos' surgery was very general. No specific figures were discussed and, again, Mr. Livadas never mentioned anything about an April 2nd transaction. I'd like to briefly address the Exhibit 59 that Weiser is using to, essentially, say that Mr. Pedafronimos was asking for money for Tom's heart surgery and that document does have in the subject line "Quadruple bypass." I think Mr. Pedafronimos said, I don't know why I would have written that and included the account information, but that's what it says. But if you look at Exhibit 59 just above the original email from Mr. Pedafronimos you can see that Mr. Livadas changed the subject line from "Quadruple bypass," and he puts in a specific dollar amount, $20,000 that

Mr. Livadas admitted that he hadn't reported this lawsuit between Weiser Asset Management and its client to securities regulators. So, I would argue, your Honor, if somehow the Court finds that there's a legitimate contract between Mr. Skarpelos and W.A.M. for the sale of stock to W.A.M., that it's illegal. In conclusion, your Honor, the three claims that Weiser has asserted are really all based on a contract that doesn't exist, hasn't been pleaded and	2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22	<pre>didn't get to yet. We talked a little bit earlier about fair notice and I think what he was suggesting in citing some of these authorities is that we inadvertently put the wrong date in there, that the case he cited, I think, was suggesting that somehow an inadvertent date was put in there. I don't think we're talking about inadvertence, your Honor. I think we're talking about a story being changed because it didn't work the first time. When they encountered a problem, the story changed. I don't think that Mr. Alvarez's letters to the filing of the answer and crossclaim that July 2013 was an inadvertent date. I think they figured out somehow that they couldn't make the July transaction work for them because it has no mention of an April 2nd transaction, no evidence of prior payment, and it's got an integration clause that would foreclose that argument. I think they had to come up with a new theory at trial and that's exactly what they did. One issue I want to touch on briefly is the statement by Mr. Nork and I think Mr. Livadas</pre>

They induced him to leave stock certificates, never confirmed his account opening, apparently conducted transactions on his behalf without authorized parties or signatures in apparent violations of anti-money-laundering laws. There's no records whatsoever at all to suggest that Mr. Skarpelos really had a negative balance. They executed a substantial trade without any documentation to demonstrate it and they, apparently, don't report to their clients as required by Bahamian securities laws.
