MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION

The stated purpose of Nevada’s Public Records Act (Nev. Rev. Stat. § 239.001 et seq., the “NPRA”) is to foster democratic principles by providing members of the public with access to governmental records. Nev. Rev. Stat. § 239.001(1). The NPRA’s provisions are designed to further that purpose—and this Court “must” interpret them in a manner that favors access. Nev. Rev. Stat. § 239.001(2) and (3). To ensure that governmental entities provide access to records and comply with the NPRA, the Act explicitly provides that if a governmental entity denies a request for records, a requester may petition the court for relief. Nev. Rev. Stat. § 239.011(1). And, the NPRA additionally provides that a prevailing requester is entitled to fees and costs. Nev. Rev. Stat. § 239.011(2).

This case started because the City of Henderson (“Henderson”) denied the Review-Journal’s request for public records regarding the extent of the business relationship between Henderson and a political consultant that got many Henderson leaders elected. Instead of allowing for transparency, Henderson threw up a roadblock by demanding exorbitant fees just to conduct a privilege review to determine whether it would even disclose the requested records. Because of Henderson’s denial of its public records request, the Review-Journal had to file suit to get records and, in so doing, caused Henderson to voluntarily produce a large swath of the requested records before the Court entered an order on the merits of the Review-Journal’s Petition for Writ of Mandamus. Subsequently, following two appeals and a limited order of remand from the Nevada Supreme Court, Henderson voluntarily produced additional records it had withheld from the Review-Journal pursuant to its assertion that the records were protected by the deliberate process privilege.

Under the plain language of the NPRA, the Review-Journal has “prevailed” in this litigation because although it did not obtain all the relief it requested, it succeeded in the most important aspect of the litigation: obtaining public records. Thus, the Review-Journal is entitled to an award of its costs and reasonable attorney’s fees, including the attorney’s fees it incurred on appeal.

II. RELEVANT FACTS AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

A. Henderson Denies Access to Public Records.

On October 4, 2016, the Review-Journal submitted a public records request to the City of Henderson pursuant to the NPRA seeking certain documents pertaining to the public relations/communications firm Trosper Communications and its principal, Elizabeth Trosper. (Exh. 1 to November 29, 2016, Petition (“Petition”), on file with this Court.) Trosper Communications had a contract with Henderson, and Trosper assisted with the campaigns of elected officials. (Id.)

Henderson did not provide records in response to the request. Instead, on October 11, 2016, Henderson indicated it required additional time to search for responsive documents but that, due to the time required to review the documents for privilege and confidentiality, it intended to charge the Review-Journal $5,787.89 for “extraordinary use” of Henderson personnel, citing Nev. Rev. Stat. § 239.055, Henderson Municipal Code 2.47.085 (the “Code”), and Henderson’s public records policy (the “Policy”). (Exh. 2 to Petition (October 11, 2016, email); see also Exh. 3 to Petition (Henderson Public Records Policy).) Henderson demanded a deposit of $2,893.94 just to continue its search for documents. (Exh. 2.)

Henderson claimed it was entitled to fees for any time in excess of thirty (30) minutes spent by City staff or any City contractor “to locate the requested public records, to review the records in order to determine whether any requested records are exempt from disclosure, to segregate exempt records, to supervise the requester’s inspection of original documents, to copy records, to certify records as true copies, and to send records by special or overnight methods such as express mail or overnight delivery.” (Exh. 3, p. 3, § V (Fees provision).)

B. The Review-Journal Petitions the District Court.

After attempts to negotiate access to the requested records proved unfruitful, the Review-Journal initiated legal action to the records on November 26, 2016. In its Petition, the Review-Journal demanded access to the public records Henderson wrongfully withheld. The Review-Journal also sought declaratory and injunctive relief to address the rights of the

1 parties and the applicability of Henderson’s Code and Policy. (See generally Petition.)

2 On December 20, 2016, Henderson produced a log of withheld records (Exh. 4 to 3 February 8, 2017, Amended Petition, on file with this Court), and subsequently produced
4 revised versions of the privilege log after the Review-Journal requested additional 5 information. (Exhs. 5 and 6 to Amended Petition.) The Review-Journal then amended its 6 Petition to address the privilege log, contending Henderson failed to provide sufficient bases
7 for withholding and redacting. (See generally Amended Petition.) In the Amended Petition, 8 the Review-Journal again asked the district court to order Henderson to “immediately make 9 available complete copies of all records requested.” (Amended Petition, p. 12:7-10.)

10 C. The Review-Journal Requested Copies of the Records After Henderson
11 Allowed for Inspection.

12 After the Review-Journal filed suit, counsel for the Review-Journal met and 13 conferred with Henderson City Attorneys and obtained an interim agreement to allow a 14 Review-Journal reporter to inspect the records while litigation was pending. (Exh. E to 15 Henderson’s (December 14, 2016, email from Review-Journal counsel summarizing meet 16 and confer discussion).) Counsel for the Review-Journal asked for electronic copies of the 17 records reviewed after the in-person inspection was conducted. (See Exh. 16 to Review-18 Journal’s March 23, 2017, Reply in support of its Amended Petition.) Henderson declined
19 this request. (Id.)

20 D. Henderson Finally Provides the Requested Copies Records Only at the 21 Hearing on the Amended Petition, and Only After Being Directed to Do
22 So by the Court

23 The district court conducted a hearing on the Review-Journal’s Amended Petition
24 on March 30, 2017. (See minutes and transcript of March 30, 2017, hearing, on file with this 25 Court.) During the hearing, counsel for Henderson finally agreed to provide the Review-26 Journal a USB drive with copies of the requested documents. (March 30, 2017, hearing
27 transcript, p. 8:8-10.) At the conclusion of the hearing, the district court directed Henderson 28 to provide the Review-Journal with a “USB drive with [the requested documents] on it.” (Id., p. 24:15-22.) Subsequently, on May 15, 2017, the district court entered an order denying the

1 Amended Petition as moot even though the Court had ordered the most significant relief
2 sought—access to the records. (See May 15, 2017, Notice of Entry of Order, on file with this 3 Court.)

4 E. The Review-Journal Sought Attorney’s Fees.

5 Because it obtained access to the records as a result of the litigation it initiated, the 6 Review-Journal filed a motion on June 1, 2017, pursuant to Nev. Rev. Stat. § 239.011(2)
7 seeking an award of $30,931.50 in attorney’s fees and $902.84 in costs. (See June 1, 2017,
8 Motion for Attorney’s Fees and Costs, on file with this Court.)

9 The district court conducted an initial hearing on that motion on August 3, 2017,
10 and heard argument. (See minutes and transcript of August 3, 2017, hearing, on file with this 11 Court.) Counsel for the Review-Journal stated the newspaper was willing to waive 12 approximately $350.00 in attorney’s fees for time expended by a law clerk, thereby reducing 13 the request for fees to approximately $30,581.50. (August 3, 2017, hearing transcript, pp.
14 21:9-22-10:7.) The district court did not rule on the Review-Journal’s motion at the August 15 3, 2017, hearing, instead instructing the parties to return a week later for its decision. (Id., 16 pp. 24:14-25:10.)

17 At the subsequent August 10, 2017, hearing, the district court found that the 18 Review-Journal was a prevailing party because it had obtained the requested records. (See 19 transcript of August 10, 2017, hearing (on file with this Court), p. 5:21-25.) The district court
20 stated it had considered the *Brunzell*¹ factors and arguments Henderson had made regarding 21 a reduced award for the work performed by Review-Journal counsel and had determined the 22 Review-Journal was entitled all its costs, but only $9,010.00 of the $30,931.50 requested
23 attorney’s fees. (Id., pp. 6:23-7:2.)

24 F. Appellate Proceedings

25 The Review-Journal appealed the district court’s denial of the Amended Petition, 26 and each party appealed the district court’s award of attorney’s fees. (See Nevada Supreme 27 Court Case No. 73287 (“Petition Appeal”) and Case No. 75407 (“Fees Appeal”).)

28 ¹ Brunzell v. Golden Gate National Bank, 85 Nev. 345, 349, 455 P.2d 31, 33 (1969).

1 In the Petition Appeal, on May 24, 2019, the Supreme Court issued an unpublished
2 disposition affirming in part and reversing in part the district court's denial of the Review-
3 Journal's Amended Petition. See Las Vegas Review-Journal v. City of Henderson, 441 P.3d
4 546, 2019 WL 2252868 (Nev. 2019) (unpublished). Relevant here, the Supreme Court agreed
5 with the Review-Journal's assertion that the district court had failed to consider whether 6 Henderson had proved by a preponderance of evidence that several documents it had 7 declined to disclose were properly withheld pursuant to the deliberative process privilege
8 and thus "that its interest in nondisclosure clearly outweighs the public's interest in access,"
9 and the Supreme Court therefore reversed and remanded the matter to this Court to conduct
10 that inquiry. Henderson, 2019 WL 2252868 at *4 (quotation omitted).

11 In the Fees Appeal, the Supreme Court entered another unpublished decision 12 reversing the district court's partial award of attorney's fees to the Review-Journal on 13 October 17, 2019. See City of Henderson v. Las Vegas Review-Journal, 450 P.3d 387, 2019
14 WL 5290874 (Nev. 2019) (unpublished) (Henderson II). Central to that reversal was the 15 Supreme Court's finding in the Petition Appeal that the district court had abused its discretion
16 in failing to conduct the appropriate analysis regarding the documents Henderson had 17 withheld pursuant to the deliberative process privilege. Henderson II, 2019 WL 5290874 at 18 *2. Because the Supreme Court had reversed the district court's order on that ground, the 19 Supreme Court concluded the Review-Journal "cannot be a 'prevailing party' as to that issue 20 before the action has proceeded to a final judgment." Id.; see also id. ("Because the sole 21 remaining issue that the LVRJ raised in its underlying action has not yet proceeded to a final 22 judgment, we conclude that the LVRJ is not a prevailing party.") (citations omitted).

23 G. Post-Appeal, Henderson Discloses Records Previously Withheld
24 Pursuant to the Deliberative Process Privilege.

25 On July 24, 2019, two months after the Supreme Court issued its opinion in the 26 Petition Appeal, Henderson provided the documents that were withheld pursuant to the 27 deliberative process privilege. (McLetchie Decl., ¶ 5.) Thus, the Review-Journal has now 28 prevailed in obtaining the last documents at issue in this case.

III. ARGUMENT

A. Under the Plain Language of the NPRA, the Review-Journal “Prevailed” in This Matter.

The NPRA provides that “all public books and public records of a governmental entity, the contents of which are not otherwise declared by law to be confidential, must be open at all times during office hours to inspection by any person.” Nev. Rev. Stat. § 239.010(1). The purpose animating this presumption of access to public records is to “foster democratic principles by providing members of the public with prompt access to inspect, copy, or receive a copy of public books and records to the extent permitted by law.” Nev. Rev. Stat. § 239.001(1); see also DR Partners v. Bd. of Cnty. Comm’rs of Clark Cnty., 116 Nev. 616, 622, 6 P.3d 465, 468 (2000) (“The purpose of the Act is to ensure the accountability of the government to the public by facilitating public access to vital information about governmental activities.”). Further, “[t]he provisions of [the NPRA] must be construed liberally to carry out this important purpose.” Nev. Rev. Stat. § 239.001(2).

Pursuant to Nev. Rev. Stat. § 239.011, if a governmental entity refuses to disclose public records, the requester may “apply to the district court in the county in which the book or record is located for an order” either permitting the requester to inspect or copy the records, or requiring the governmental entity to provide a copy of the records to the requester. Nev. Rev. Stat. § 239.011(1) (a) and (b). Further, “[i]f the requester prevails, the requester is entitled to recover his or her costs and reasonable attorney’s fees in the proceeding from the governmental entity whose officer has custody of the book or record.” Id.

The NPRA does not define “prevails” and, as such, the Court must interpret the plain language of the statute. See, e.g., Savage v. Pierson, 123 Nev. 86, 89, 157 P.3d 697, 699 (2007) (“When examining a statute, a purely legal inquiry, this court should ascribe to its words their plain meaning, unless this meaning was clearly not intended.”); see also S. Nevada Homebuilders Ass’n v. Clark County, 121 Nev. 446, 449, 117 P.3d 171, 173 (2005) (“When interpreting a statute, this court must give its terms their plain meaning, considering its provisions as a whole so as to read them in a way that would not render the words or phrases superfluous or a make a provision nugatory.”).

As the Nevada Supreme Court has explained, "...by its plain meaning, [Nev. Rev. Stat. § 239.011(2)] grants a requester who prevails in NPRA litigation the right to recover attorney fees and costs, without regard to whether the requester is to bear the costs of production." LVMPD v. Blackjack Bonding, 131 Nev. Adv. Op. 10, 343 P.3d 608, 615 (2015), reh'g denied (May 29, 2015), reconsideration en banc denied (July 6, 2015). The Supreme Court went on to explain that a party need only prevail on "any significant issue:"

A party prevails "if it succeeds on any significant issue in litigation which achieves some of the benefit it sought in bringing suit." Valley Elec. Ass'n v. Overfield, 121 Nev. 7, 10, 106 P.3d 1198, 1200 (2005) (emphasis added) (internal quotations omitted). To be a prevailing party, a party need not succeed on every issue. See Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 434, 103 S.Ct. 1933, 76 L.Ed.2d 40 (1983) (observing that "a plaintiff [can be] deemed 'prevailing' even though he succeeded on only some of his claims for relief").

Id. at 615; see also DR Partners v. Bd. of Cty. Comm'rs of Clark Cty., 116 Nev. 616, 628–29, 6 P.3d 465, 473 (2000) (reversing an order denying access and remanding to district court to award fees).²

Here, the Review-Journal had to seek judicial intervention to obtain the records Henderson was withholding. This is exactly what the NPRA created a judicial mechanism to achieve, and exactly what the attorney's fees provision of the NPRA is designed to compensate. As discussed above, the Review-Journal repeatedly requested copies of the withheld record, and Henderson would only begin searching for and reviewing responsive records upon payment of an illegal, exorbitant, and impermissible fee.³ Although the Review-Journal did not obtain all the information and relief it sought in this litigation,

² Other Nevada Supreme Court cases likewise make clear that a party who substantially prevailed is entitled to recoup all attorney's fees and costs, even if the party did not ultimately succeed on all claims. See, e.g., University of Nevada v. Tarkanian, 110 Nev. 581, 595-598, 879 P.2d 1180, 1189-90 (1994).

³ Counsel for the Review-Journal and Henderson City Attorney Josh Reid agreed to allow inspection of the requested records as an interim measure. Mr. Reid, however, refused to provide copies of the documents even in electronic form, and indicated that Henderson was "interested in having the courts provide clarity to the meaning and application of NRS 239.055." (Exh. 12 to Reply to Response to Amended Position, p. 5.)

Henderson did not produce a substantial amount of the records until after the Review-Journal submitted and fully briefed its Petition and Amended Petition, then prepared for and attended a hearing on the Amended Petition. Moreover, only following the Supreme Court’s partial reversal of this Court’s order denying the Review-Journal’s Amended Petition, did Henderson disclosed the public records it had withheld pursuant to the deliberative process privilege.

B. Other States Have Held That a Requester “Prevails” When a Governmental Entity Unilaterally Discloses Records After Litigation Has Commenced.

Other states with provisions similar to Nev. Rev. Stat. § 239.011(2) have held that a requester “prevails” for the purposes of an award of costs and attorney’s fees when a governmental entity releases previously withheld records after being haled into court. In Mason v. City of Hoboken, 951 A.2d 1017 (N.J., 2008), the New Jersey Supreme Court considered the application of the catalyst theory⁴ to the attorney’s fees provision in that state’s public records act, which contained broad language providing that “a requestor who prevails in any proceeding shall be entitled to a reasonable attorney’s fee.” Id. at 1031 (N.J. 2008) (emphasis added). In addition to the statute’s broad use of the term “prevails”—as opposed to the legal term of art “prevailing party”—the New Jersey Supreme Court found that “Plaintiff and amici rightly advance another reason why the catalyst theory should apply to OPRA: the potential for abuse should an agency deny access, vigorously defend against a lawsuit, and then unilaterally disclose the documents sought at the eleventh hour to avoid the entry of a court order and the resulting award of attorney’s fees.” Id. at 1031.

The Illinois Court of Appeals reached the same conclusion when assessing that state’s attorney’s fees provision, which contained similarly broad language: “[i]f a person seeking the right to inspect or receive a copy of public record prevails in a proceeding under this Section, the court shall award such person reasonable attorneys’ fees and costs.” Uptown People’s Law Ctr. v. Dep’t of Corr., 7 N.E.3d 102, 104 (Ill. Ct. App. 2014) (emphasis added).

1 Accordingly, the Illinois Court of Appeals confirmed that a judgment on the merits is not a 2 prerequisite to an award of attorney’s fees in public records litigation. Id.

3 The District of Columbia Court of Appeals reached the same conclusion in Frankel
4 v. Dist. of Columbia Office for Planning and Econ. Dev., 110 A.3d 553, 557 (D.C. Ct. App.
5 2015). In that case, the court found that the D.C. Council’s use of the phrase “prevails in 6 whole or in part”—as opposed to “prevailing party”— “suggests that the D.C. Council
7 intended to authorize attorney’s fees in [D.C.] FOIA cases more often than in other types of 8 cases.” Id. (emphasis added).

9 California has long recognized that the catalyst theory applies to its public records 10 act, which provides that a “court shall award court costs and reasonable attorney fees to the 11 plaintiff should the plaintiff prevail in litigation filed pursuant to this section.” See Belth v.
12 Garamendi, 232 Cal.App.3d 896, 902 (Cal. Ct. App. 1991) (“A plaintiff is considered the 13 prevailing party if his lawsuit motivated defendants to provide the primary relief sought or 14 activated them to modify their behavior, or if the litigation substantially contributed to or was 15 demonstrably influential in setting in motion the process which eventually achieved the 16 desired result.”) (internal citations omitted) (emphasis added).

17 C. The Review-Journal is Entitled to Its Reasonable Attorney’s Fees on 18 Appeal.

19 In addition to all costs and reasonable attorney’s fees incurred during the litigation
20 before this Court, the Review-Journal is also entitled to the reasonable attorney’s fees it
21 incurred in the Petition Appeal and the Fees Appeal. The NPRA explicitly provides that a 22 prevailing requester is “entitled to recover from the governmental entity that has legal 23 custody or control of the record his or her costs and reasonable attorney’s fees in the 24 proceeding.” Nev. Rev. Stat. § 239.011(2) (emphasis added).

25 Nothing within the plain language of Nev. Rev. Stat. § 239.011(2) limits attorney’s
26 fees to those incurred at the district court. See In re Estate of Miller, 125 Nev. 550, 555, 216
27 P.3d 239, 243 (2009) (holding that the fee-shifting provisions of Nev. R. Civ. P. 68 and Nev.
28 Rev. Stat. § 17.115, concerning offers of judgment, extend to fees and costs on appeal because “nothing in the language of NRCP 68 and NRS 17.115 suggests that their feeshifting provisions cease operation when the case leaves trial court”). Instead, construing Nev. Rev. Stat. § 239.011(2)’s costs and fees provision to include fees incurred on appeal is consistent with the intent of the provision: permitting members of the public to recoup the fees and costs they incurred to obtain public records that were wrongfully withheld by a governmental entity. Moreover, such an interpretation of the statute is consistent with the NPRA’s mandate that its provisions “must be construed liberally” to carry out the Act’s purpose: fostering democratic principles by providing prompt access to public records⁵, and that any exemptions must be “construed narrowly.”⁶

Given these explicit mandates from the Nevada Legislature, Nev. Rev. Stat. § 239.011(2) must be interpreted liberally to encompass attorney’s fees incurred on appeal. The entire purpose of § 239.011(2) is to make requesters whole after they have had to fight for access to public records that were improperly withheld. The costs associated with appellate litigation can be prohibitive, and requesters who have legitimate public records requests that are denied may simply give up if they are faced with the high costs of appeal with no possibility to recover those costs even if they prevail. Such a result would deter requesters from exercising their right to copy and inspect public records and thus directly work against the NPRA’s express purpose of fostering democratic principles. This would be an absurd result, which this Court must avoid. Tate v. State, Bd. of Med. Exam’rs, 131 Nev. 675, 678, 356 P.3d 506, 508 (2015) (“Statutes should be construed so as to avoid absurd results.”) (citation omitted). Accordingly, this Court must interpret Nev. Rev. Stat. § 239.011(2) liberally to include appellate fees incurred on appeal.

D. The Court Should Award the Review-Journal Attorney’s Fees in the Amount of $122,455.00.

1. The Review-Journal’s Attorney’s Fees Are Reasonable.

Any fee-setting inquiry begins with the calculation of the “lodestar,” the number of hours reasonably expended multiplied by a reasonable hourly rate. See, e.g., Blum v. Stenson, 465 U.S. 886, 896-97 (1984); accord Herbst v. Humana Health Ins. of Nevada, 105 Nev. 586, 590, 781 P.2d 762, 764 (1989). Relevant factors include the preclusion of other employment by the attorney due to acceptance of the case; time limitations imposed by the client or the circumstances; the amount involved and results obtained; the undesirability of the case; the nature and length of the professional relationship with the client; and awards in similar cases. Kerr v. Screen Extras Guild, Inc., 526 F.2d 67, 69-70 (9th Cir.1975). In most cases, the lodestar figure is a presumptively reasonable fee award. Camacho v. Bridgeport Financial, Inc., 523 F.3d 973, 978 (9th Cir. 2008).

⁵ Nev. Rev. Stat. § 239.001(2); see also Reno Newspapers, Inc. v. Gibbons, 127 Nev. 873, 878, 266 P.3d 623, 626 (2011) (holding that the NPRA “must be liberally construed to maximize the public’s right of access”).

⁶ Nev. Rev. Stat. § 239.001(3).

2. The Review-Journal is Entitled to a Full Award of its Reasonable Attorney's Fees for All the Work Performed by its Counsel.

As the Ninth Circuit has explained in the context of § 1983 cases, “where a plaintiff in a § 1983 action alleges multiple interrelated claims based on the same underlying facts, and some of those claims are frivolous and some are not, a court may award defendants attorney’s fees with respect to the frivolous claims only when those claims are not ‘intertwined.’” Tutor-Saliba Corp. v. City of Hailey, 452 F.3d 1055, 1063-64 (9th Cir. 2011); accord Fox v. Vice, 563 U.S. 826, 839-40 (2011) (discussing the “interrelated[ness]” of plaintiffs’ frivolous and non-frivolous claims); see also McCown v. City of Fontana, 711 F. Supp. 2d 1067, 1070 (C.D. Cal. 2010), aff’d, 464 F. App’x 577 (9th Cir. 2011) (holding that although the plaintiff’s claims involved “different legal theories against different defendants,” the court “should not attempt to divide the request for attorney’s fees on a claim by claim basis” because each of claims “arose from a common core of facts”); cf. Cain v. J.P. Prods., 11 F. App’x 714, 716 (9th Cir. 2001) (holding that, in the context of a Lanham Act case, “no apportionment was needed because the claims are so inextricably intertwined that even an estimated adjustment would be meaningless”) (citing Gracie v. Gracie, 217 F.3d 1060, 1068, (9th Cir.2000); other citation omitted).

The Review-Journal anticipates that Henderson will argue that it is not entitled to any award of attorney’s fees at all, and alternatively argue that any award should be reduced

1 to reflect that the Review-Journal did not obtain all of the relief it sought in its Amended
2 Petition. However, where, as here, the claims asserted by the Review-Journal in its petition
3 for a writ of mandamus and the work done to obtain disclosure of the records are so
4 interrelated that this Court should not separate those claims for the purposes of awarding 5 attorney's fees. The Review-Journal obtained access to the withheld records while the 6 litigation was pending before this Court by inspection and by receiving the USB drive from 7 Henderson after the hearing on the Review-Journal's Amended Petition, and received 8 additional previously withheld documents from Henderson after the conclusion of the 9 appeals.

10 The Review-Journal prevailed in this litigation by obtaining most of the records
11 Henderson had refused to disclose. Furthermore, the issues raised by the Review-Journal that 12 were not successful were not frivolous, and the work on those issues was all interrelated to 13 the ones on which the Review-Journal prevailed. See, e.g., Braunstein v. Arizona Dep't of 14 Transp., 683 F.3d 1177, 1187 (9th Cir. 2012). Accordingly, the Review-Journal is entitled to 15 an award of attorneys' fees for all the work performed in this case.

16 3. The Review-Journal Seeks Fees for a Reasonable Number of 17 Hours and Exercised Appropriate Billing Judgment.

18 Pursuant to Nev. R. Civ. P. 54(d)(2)(B), statements "swearing that the fees were 19 actually and necessarily incurred and were reasonable" are set forth in the attached 20 declaration of Margaret A. McLetchie ("McLetchie Decl.") and supported by the billings for 21 the Review-Journal's attorney fees and costs attached hereto as Exhibits 1, 2, and 3.

22 The litigation in this matter was complex and time-consuming. As detailed in the 23 prior Motion for Attorney's Fees and Costs filed with this Court, the Review-Journal met
24 and conferred extensively with Henderson City Attorneys regarding the records request—
25 both before and after filing the Petition in this matter. In addition, the Review-Journal was 26 obligated to brief the matter extensively before this Court, including amending the Petition
27 after receiving additional records and information from Henderson, filing extensive 28 pleadings in support of the Amended Petition, filing extensive pleadings in support of its prior Motion for Attorney’s Fees and Costs, and attending multiple hearings. In the Petition and Fees Appeals, the Review-Journal was again required to engage in extensive briefing, and counsel was required to dedicate substantial time to preparing for and arguing the Petition Appeal before the Supreme Court. In addition, on remand to this Court, counsel for the Review-Journal has been required to prepare for and attend additional hearings and has been obligated to submit this Motion.

The Review-Journal’s counsel exercised appropriate billing judgment and structured work on this case to maximize efficiencies, and the hours listed in the fee request are neither duplicative, unnecessary nor excessive. (Declaration of Margaret A. McLetchie at ¶¶ 7-8.) See also Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 434 (1983) (“Counsel for the prevailing party should make a good faith effort to exclude from a fee request hours that are excessive redundant, or otherwise unnecessary, just as a lawyer in private practice ethically is obligated to exclude such hours from his fee submission.”).

To keep billing as low as possible, attorney Alina Shell conducted work where appropriate. Further, counsel utilized a student law clerk and a paraprofessional to perform tasks such as research and organization to assure that attorneys with higher billing rates were not billing for tasks that lower billers could perform. (McLetchie Decl. at ¶¶ 7, 15.) Potentially duplicative or unnecessary time has not been included. (Id. at ¶ 8.) In all these ways, counsel for the Review-Journal has charged a reasonable and reduced rate for the attorneys’ time. (Id. at ¶ 16.) Counsel also exercised appropriate billing judgment by not including in this application certain time, even time which would likely be compensable. (Id. at ¶ 18.)

4. The Brunzell Factors

In addition to calculating the lodestar, a court must also consider the requested amount in light of the factors enumerated by the Nevada Supreme Court in Brunzell v. Golden Gate Nat. Bank, 85 Nev. 345, 455 P.2d 31 (1969). Pursuant to Brunzell, a court must consider four elements in determining the reasonable value of attorneys’ services:

- (1) the qualities of the advocate: his ability, his training, education, experience, professional standing and skill; (2) the character of the work to be done: its difficulty, its intricacy, its importance, time and skill required, the responsibility imposed and the prominence and character of the parties where they affect the importance of the litigation; (3) the work actually performed by the lawyer: the skill, time and attention given to the work; (4) the result: whether the attorney was successful and what benefits were derived.

Brunzell, 85 Nev. at 349, 455 P.2d at 33 (citation omitted); accord Shuette v. Beazer Homes Holding Corp., 121 Nev. 837, 864-65, 124 P.3d 530, 548-49 (2005).

a. The Advocates' Skills Support a High Award

In determining the reasonable value of an attorney's services, this Court must consider the qualities of the advocate, including ability, training, education, experience, professional standing, and skill. Brunzell, 85 Nev. at 349, 455 P.2d at 33.

Margaret A. McLetchie, working a total of 129.1 hours on this case, is the lead attorney at, and owner of, McLetchie Law, with almost 17 years of experience, and admitted to the bar in both California and Nevada. After working at a large corporate law firm in California, Ms. McLetchie became a Staff Attorney, then Legal Director of the American Civil Liberties Union of Nevada. While with the ACLU of Nevada, Ms. McLetchie litigated several complex civil rights cases, including cases focused on freedom of speech. Ms. McLetchie has extensive experience handling First Amendment cases, public records cases, court access cases, and similar matters. In 2018, Ms. McLetchie was named a First Amendment Champion by the Nevada Press Association in recognition of her years of efforts to further public access to records and protect the freedom of the press.⁷ Ms. McLetchie's work on this matter was billed at a rate of $450.00 per hour, for a total of $57,420.00.

Alina Shell, working a total of 168.6 hours on this case, is a senior attorney at McLetchie Law with over ten years of experience. Prior to transitioning into private practice, Ms. Shell was an attorney with the Federal Public Defender (FPD) for the District of Nevada. While employed by the FPD, Ms. Shell represented numerous defendants in a variety of criminal cases, including complex mortgage fraud and sentencing cases, and criminal cases

⁷ <https://www.reviewjournal.com/local/local-las-vegas/las-vegas-attorney-mcletchie-named-first-amendment-champion/>

1 implicating the First Amendment. Ms. Shell also wrote and argued several complex criminal 2 appeals before the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit. Since moving into 3 private practice, Ms. Shell has represented parties in state and federal court in a variety of 4 civil matters, including First Amendment, NPRA, court access, and defamation cases. Ms.
5 Shell's work in this matter was billed at a rate of $300.00 per hour, for a total of $50,370.00.

6 Leo S. Wolpert, working a total of 35.9 hours, is a research and writing attorney at 7 McLetchie Law. Mr. Wolpert is 2011 graduate of the University of Virginia School of Law
8 with seven years of legal experience, including experience with First Amendment and 9 defamation matters. Mr. Wolpert's time on this case was billed at a rate of $250.00 per hour,
10 for a total billed of $8,975.00.

11 Pharan Burchfield, working a total of 40.7 credited hours on this case, is a 12 paraprofessional at McLetchie Law. Ms. Burchfield has an associate's degree in paralegal 13 studies and has been a paralegal for five years. Ms. Burchfield's time on this case was billed 14 at the rate of $100.00 per hour, for a total billed of $4,050.00.

15 Lacey Ambro, working a total of 4.3 credited hours on this case, is a 16 paraprofessional at McLetchie Law with over seven years of experience in the legal field.
17 From 2007 to 2012, Ms. Ambro worked as a legal assistant at a firm specializing in medical 18 malpractice defense. Ms. Ambro has been employed at McLetchie Law as a legal assistant 19 since August 2017. Ms. Ambro's time on this case was billed at the rate of $100.00 per hour,
20 for a total billed of $430.00.

21 Gabriel Czap, working a total of 15.7 credited hours on this case, was a law clerk
22 at McLetchie Shell, while enrolled at the William S. Boyd Law School at the University of 23 Nevada Las Vegas. Mr. Czap's time on this case was billed at the rate of $125.00 per hour, 24 for a total billed of $1,087.50.

25 In addition, the Review-Journal utilized paraprofessional to perform administrative 26 tasks in this matter. Administrative tasks were billed at a rate of $50.00 per hour for 4.9
27 hours, for a total billed of $122.50.

28 ///

1 In sum, the attorneys and employees at McLetchie Law billed 399.2 hours on this
2 case, for a total of $122,455.00, at what would be a blended average of approximately 3 $306.00 per hour—well under market for the experience brought to bear on this action.
4 Reasonable costs for documents, filing fees, and the like were calculated for a total billed of 5 $1,336.50. With costs, the total billed for McLetchie Shell is $123,791.50. Further 6 qualification and qualities, along with an itemization of these bills are included in the 7 attached declaration of Ms. McLetchie and Exhibits 1, 2, and 3.

8 b. The Work Performed, Including Skill, Time, and Attention.

9 The work actually performed by the lawyer is relevant to the reasonableness of 10 attorneys' fees, including the skill, time, and attention given to the work. Brunzell, 85 Nev.
11 at 349, 455 P.2d at 33. As demonstrated by the billing statement attached in Exh. 1 and the 12 attached declaration of Ms. McLetchie, a substantial portion of the work in this case was 13 done by attorneys and paraprofessional staff with low billing rates. Counsel for the Review-
14 Journal fully briefed this matter, including filing a petition, amending that petition, fully 15 briefing its original Motion for Attorney's Fees and Costs, and fully briefing two appeals. In 16 addition, Ms. McLetchie was required to dedicate 29.5 hours to preparing for and 17 representing the Review-Journal at oral argument before the Nevada Supreme Court in the 18 Petition Appeal. (Exh. 2, LVRJ087-88 (documenting work performed by Ms. McLetchie in 19 preparing for and participating in oral argument).) Even though some of the work was done 20 by lower-billing attorneys and paraprofessional staff, Ms. McLetchie was still required to 21 analyze the research and apply it strategically to the various arguments posed by Henderson.

22 c. The Result.

23 Lastly, "the result: whether the attorney was successful and what benefits were 24 derived" is relevant to this inquiry. Brunzell, 85 Nev. at 349, 455 P.2d at 33. As noted above, 25 the Review-Journal prevailed in this matter because it succeeded in obtaining previously 26 withheld records from Henderson. Because each of these factors weighs in the Review-
27 Journal's favor, this Court should exercise its discretion and award the Review-Journal 28 reasonable attorneys' fees and costs in the sum of $123,791.50.

1 IV. CONCLUSION

2 For these reasons, and for the reasons set forth in the Review-Journal's original
3 June 1, 2017, Motion for Attorney's Fees and its supporting documentation, the Review-
4 Journal prevailed in this litigation pursuant to Nev. Rev. Stat. § 239.011(2) because it
5 achieved the most significant goal in this litigation: obtaining improperly withheld public
6 records from the City of Henderson. Accordingly, the Review Journal is entitled to an award
7 of its costs and reasonable attorney's fees.

1 DECLARATION OF MARGARET A. MCLEITCHIE

2 I, MARGARET A. MCLEITCHIE, declare, pursuant to Nev. Rev. Stat. § 53.330,
3 as follows:

4 1. I have personal knowledge of the facts set forth below, and, if called as a 5 witness, could testify to them.

6 2. I am an attorney duly licensed to practice law in Nevada.

7 3. I am the sole proprietor of the law firm of McLetchie Law and I am lead 8 counsel for the Las Vegas Review-Journal in Las Vegas Review-Journal v. City of 9 Henderson, Clark County District Court Case No. A-16-747289-W.

10 4. I am making this declaration to provide information justifying the fee and 11 costs request in this case, to authenticate documents attached as exhibits in support of 12 Petitioner Las Vegas Review-Journal's Motion for Attorney's Fees, and to verify factual
13 representations contained in the Motion.

14 5. On July 24, 2019, Assistant City Attorney Brian Reeve provided the 15 documents withheld under the deliberative process privilege.

16 6. The work performed by my firm is detailed in the summary attached to the 17 Motion as Exhibit 1 (organized by date) and Exhibit 2 (organized by biller). I certify that 18 this bill accurately reflects work by my firm. I manage work flow at my firm and routinely
19 review time entries made by other attorneys and staff at the firm, and attest that the entries 20 listed reflect work in fact conducted by my firm in this matter, less reductions made in the 21 spirit of cooperation.

22 7. I billed and structured my firm on this matter with an eye to avoiding 23 duplicative work and using lower billing attorneys (or staff people) wherever possible (both 24 within my firm and among co-counsel). At the time my office performed work in this matter, 25 I believed the work we were all doing was reasonably necessary to protect and further the 26 interests of this client.

27 8. As the partner at my firm responsible for this matter, I have carefully
28 reviewed the billing statement and corrected any errors. I also exercised my billing judgment

1 and deducted and/or removed a number of entries to err on the side of avoiding billing for 2 potentially duplicative work—and in the spirit of cooperation. The fee request in this matter
3 includes 129.1 hours at my rate ($450.00), which totals $57,420.00. (See Exhibit 2.)

4 9. The time spent on this case included in the fee request also includes time
5 for work performed by Ms. Shell. I routinely monitor the work performed by all people who 6 work at my firm, including Ms. Shell. For this case, I reviewed the time entry records for 7 Ms. Shell and reduced time entries as appropriate. (Id.) I am billing Ms. Shell at the current 8 rate of $300.00 per hour with some time entries reduced. (Id.) Thus, the reduced total for Ms.
9 Shell's time on this matter is $50,370.00. (Id.)

10 10. The time spent on this case for which I am seeking compensation also 11 includes work for Leo Wolpert as a research and writing attorney. I am billing Mr. Wolpert
12 at the current rate of $250.00. (Id.) I reviewed each of Mr. Wolpert's entries, resulting in a 13 total of 35.9 hours on this case. (Id.) Thus, the total for Mr. Wolpert's time I am seeking 14 compensation for is $8,975.00. (Id.)

15 11. The time spent on this case for which I am seeking compensation also 16 includes work for Gabriel Czop, a law clerk. I am billing Mr. Czop at the current rate of 17 $125.00. (Id.) I reviewed each of Mr. Czop's entries, resulting in a total of 15.7 with some 18 time entries reduced. (Id.) Thus, the total for Mr. Czop's time I am seeking compensation for 19 is $1,087.50. (Id.)

20 12. The time spent on this case for which I am seeking compensation also 21 includes work for Pharan Burchfield, my paralegal. I am billing Ms. Burchfield at the current 22 rate of $100.00. (Id.) I reviewed each of Ms. Burchfield's entries, resulting in a total of 40.7
23 hours with some time entries reduced. (Id.) Thus, the total for Ms. Burchfield's time I am
24 seeking compensation for is $4,050.00. (Id.)

25 13. The time spent on this case for which I am seeking compensation also 26 includes work for Lacey Ambro, my paralegal. I am billing Ms. Ambro at the current rate of 27 $100.00. (Id.) I reviewed each of Ms. Ambro's entries, resulting in a total of 4.3 hours on 28 this case. (Id.) Thus, the total for Ms. Ambro's time I am seeking compensation for is

1 $430.00. (Id.)

2 14. I exercised appropriate billing judgment and structured work on this case to 3 maximize efficiencies, and the hours listed in the fee request are neither duplicative,
4 unnecessary nor excessive.

5 15. To keep billing as low as possible, Ms. Shell conducted work where 6 appropriate. Further, I utilized a paraprofessional to perform tasks such as research and 7 organization to assure that attorneys with higher billing rates were not billing for tasks that 8 lower billers could perform.

9 16. The rates I billed in this matter are reasonable. I manage my firm, and set
10 the firm's billing rates, which exceed those charged in this matter. Further, the work 11 performed by my firm in this matter was more complex and required more specialized 12 expertise than in routine matters.

13 17. In all these ways, I have charged a reasonable and reduced rate for the 14 attorneys' time.

15 18. I exercised appropriate billing judgment by not including in this application 16 certain time, even time which would likely be compensable.

17 19. I am also seeking compensation for $1,336.55 of expenses reasonably and 18 necessarily incurred in this matter. (Attached as Exhibit 3.)

19 20. Finally, the description of fees and costs in this case also excludes all time
20 spent working on this Motion, or as will be necessary to Reply to any Opposition to this 21 Motion.

22 21. I certify and declare under the penalty of perjury under the law of the State
23 of Nevada that the foregoing is true and correct, and this declaration was executed at Las 24 Vegas, Nevada, the 6th day of February, 2020.

The visualization displays account data for Account: 1004815482. The primary vertical axis represents 'Account by Client by User by Day'. The horizontal axis is divided into several categories, each represented by a different color and pattern: Database Time (light blue), Transactions (dark blue), DocuLines (light green), Connect Time (light orange), Standard Charge (light yellow), Special Pricing Charge (light purple), and Total Charge (light pink). The data is presented as a grid of vertical bars and horizontal lines, with the height of the bars indicating the magnitude of the values. The 'Database Time' category shows the highest values, followed by 'Transactions' and 'DocuLines'. The 'Connect Time' category shows the lowest values. The 'Standard Charge' and 'Special Pricing Charge' categories show moderate values. The 'Total Charge' category shows the highest values, indicating the total cost of the account.
