Re: You may want to forward this to Parraguiré.

Subject: I noticed that my last two letters concerning the criminal case were diverted into a sealed case in which no action was taken. Please know this does not divert my course of action in any way. Tho I do have an update - I recently received word that the email has not yet been sent, but will be very, very soon. With logistical challenges making prison communications difficult, it is unknown when I will receive confirmation of the email. It seems only fair to keep the target date at the Sixth dependant upon confirmation. Until I receive this confirmation, I will refrain from doing anything too hasty.

You may have pondered how settling for the wrongful imprisonment doesn't exactly cover certain other issues that the State of Nevada is not willing to own up to. You might wonder 'what is to stop her from pursuing these issues once she's out?' I assure you I have zero desire to step one foot inside any government facility ever again after I step out of this one! I do understand your fears, but trust me - there is much more to fear at keeping me here. I understand your fears, and want to relieve them. It's all logistics. We're all intelligent people who can work out problems wisely over an off-the-record discussion. My course has not changed, and I'd like to go home now.
