13	Respondent.
14
15	Appellants Clement Muney and Chef Exec Suppliers, LLC (hereinafter collectively,
16	"Muney"), appellants in Supreme Court numbers 83641 and 83869, hereby move this court
17	for consolidation of those appeals on the grounds that the issues they present are interrelated
18	and, to a large extent, identical and that the appeals can be decided most efficiently if
19	consolidated. Appellant respectfully suggests that the briefing schedule set for the earlier of 20
21	appendix be presented to this Court, and that argument and all further aspects of the appeals
22	be consolidated. In support of this motion, Appellant respectfully states:
23		been assigned Supreme Court numbers 83641

Kees, entered November 16, 2021. This Order was predicated on the Judgment and Findings which are the subject of the first appeal.

5. The facts and issues presented by the second appeal are identical to, or interrelated with, the issues presented by the first appeal. If Judge Allf's Judgment falls on appeal, her award of attorney's fees will also fall. If the Judgment is sustained, however, Judge Allf's award of fees would still require review.

10 6. The documents filed in the District Court in connection with the subject of 11 the second appeal (#83869) are not voluminous and will not overburden the record in the 12 first appeal.

WHEREFORE, given all of the foregoing, it is in the interests of justice and judicial economy that the two appeals be consolidated, that the briefing schedule set for the earlier of the appeals be replaced by the schedule for the latter, that a single set of briefs and a single appendix be filed covering both appeals, and that argument and all future aspects of both appeals be hereafter consolidated.

DATED this 22nd day of February, 2022.
