Concern Process

Types of Complaints Formal Complaints

A complaint is a formal request to investigate allegations of non-compliance with a university policy, procedure, or statute. A formal complaint is a written statement, signed and verified under the penalty of perjury, by a complainant on forms provided by the university which alleges a specific university policy, procedure, or statute has been violated by a university employee

- All concerns or complaints should first be directed to the individual(s) involved in an attempt to resolve differences at the lowest level
- If the concern or complaint is unresolved, it is essential that the supervisor be included in the process
- If the concern or complaint cannot be resolved with the supervisor, you may address your concern or complaint through the following processes

nformal Complaints

Any complaint which does not meet the definition of a formal complaint shall be considered an informal complaint with resolution being attained at the lowest possible level.

Complaint Process

Not all complaints will require a formal investigation. Depending on the nature of the complaint, sometimes an informal and prompt inquiry provides the stakeholder all the information needed to accept the conclusion and resolution of their complaint. For example:

- Misunderstanding of university policy or procedure
- Lack of communication between parties (manager and subordinate or employee to employee)
- When the complainant is amenable to an informal resolution

Complaints requiring an investigation will be processed and investigated in accordance with the relevant university policy or procedure. Depending on the nature of the complaint, investigations may be referred to the appropriate university support liaison for help

EXHIBIT INDEX SHEET ADDITIONAL EXHIBIT TO SUR-REPLY RE: REPLY RE: DEFENDANT'S MOTION TO DISMISS

Exhibit 36- Plaintiff's medical records showing that:

- 1) Plaintiff has generalized anxiety disorder and obsessive compulsive disorder (conditions defendant knew about and mocked her for). Thus, according to the elements required to find outrageous conduct, Defendant "emotionally harmed a Plaintiff known to be especially vulnerable." (See SUR-REPLY RE: REPLY RE: DEFENDANT'S MOTION TO DISMISS, p. 13)
- 2) Plaintiff consulted with her physician about Defendant's conduct and reported that it had caused her to experience chest tightness and tachycardia/palpitations
- 3)Plaintiff took medication for these symptoms
- 4)Plaintiff had planned to take the taking the GRE (i.e. had discussed accommodation with her physician) but then didn't take it due to her distress from Defendant's harassment (and that which they incited)
- 5) Plaintiff does not have borderline personality disorder, a more severe and stigmatized disorder that people on Reddit were saying that she had based on Defendant's post. This too damaged her reputation.
- Plaintiff wants to clarify that the phrase "when Covid resolves" in her medical records was referring to the pandemic ending; Plaintiff has not had symptoms of nor tested positive for Covid, and she is fully vaccinated.

ERRATA FOR MOTION FOR LEAVE TO FILE A SUR-REPLY TO DEFENDANT'S MOTION TO DISMISS AND THE ATTACHED SUR-REPLY

The title of the motion should be "MOTION TO FILE A SUR-REPLY TO DEFENDANT'S REPLY RE: DEFENDANT'S MOTION TO DISMISS"

The first point of the motion should read, "That she admits that she does not even know whether it was Defendant that caused her harm " (Corrected from admits that does not even know...)

The sentence (p.10-11) should read "For example, they claimed that they 'kept an eye on these threads because Plaintiff said she wanted to sue them, (see exhibit 13) but they (Defendant) had obviously been following her accounts and saving her posts since she joined Reddit (or soon thereafter)--with the intention of harassing and libeling her."

The sentence "...nor did she ever reach out to Dr. Gallo outside of the UNLV..." (page 12/defamation) should read, "...nor did she ever reach out to Dr. Gallo outside of UNLV..."

Plaintiff also wants to clarify the use of the word "likely" in the sentence (p.12), "Therefore, Defendant likely knew…" Plaintiff believes that Defendant knew that his story was false, or at a minimum, acted with reckless disregard for the truth, and the word "likely" was used to convey that Plaintiff believes the former situation (knowing with certainty that his story was false) was more likely than "reckless disregard for the truth." She was not expressing doubt or uncertainty that she was defamed.

The second paragraph of page four should read, "Furthermore, even if any of Defendant's subsequent harassing comments would not be actionable if occurring once, as evidenced by the dates (not "date's) on Plaintiff's exhibits..."

The Declaration date should be "this 8th of December."

Vs. Hearing Requested

On Shortened Time

Peter Cooper Defendant

EX PARTE MOTION FOR CONTINUANCE (HEARING REQUESTED ON SHORTENED TIME)

COMES NOW, the PLAINTIFF in the above-entitled matter and moves this Honorable Court for an Order granting a continuance. This motion is brought in good faith and is based on the following:

- 1. There is a hearing currently scheduled in the above-referenced case on Jan. 4, 2022 at 9:00 a.m.
- 2. The other party will not agree to continue a hearing date because:

Defendant, through their attorney, states that any exhibits should have been filed at the time of the opposition, and that "The motion you have filed includes language that specifically attempts to counter our reply and is not solely a motion to include another exhibit or two."

3. I am requesting a change to the court date because:

The motion to file my sur-reply to Defendant's Reply Re: Defendant's Motion to Dismiss will be heard on January 20th, 2022, but the motion to dismiss is being heard on January 4.

The reason this sur-reply was needed was because in their Reply Re: Defendant's Motion To Dismiss, Defendant, through their attorney, made several false statements which misstated and misrepresented the arguments I presented in my opposition. Thus, this is new information that I had not had the chance to contest in the opposition.

I also could not file all my exhibits at the time of my opposition because 1) I was waiting on records from Reddit (which I'm still waiting on and wanted to show the Court that I am working with their attorneys to obtain them) and 2) I had to wait until after the Thanksgiving holiday to obtain the statement from UNLV's police services showing that they do not have records on me. I then experienced medical symptoms that impaired my ability to file my intended Supplemental Memorandum (see exhibit 21). Considering that Defendant is claiming that I literally (as defined by NRS 200.575) stalked my former professor, this exhibit is crucial to supporting my claim of libel per se.

4. If Granted, I ask the court to reschedule the court date to:

Any time after January 20, 2020, when the motion for leave to file my sur-reply will be heard

I respectfully request the Court continue the court date as requested above, and any other relief as the Court finds appropriate.

EXHIBIT 37 (Index Sheet) Reddit's Response

Exhibit 37: This is Reddit's latest response to Plaintiff, stating that they are "awaiting the outcome of the motion to dismiss before further action will be taken with respect to the subpoena."

Thus, if the case is continued, it seems like they will provide the requested basic subscriber information for both Defendant's main accounts and the troll accounts impersonating/mentioning UNLV faculty. If Defendant was behind these troll accounts, that will 1) further show intention to inflict emotional distress and 2) further show that they intentionally targeted a NV public institution. To clarify, Plaintiff is both certain and has ample evidence showing that Defendant was the one who created the libelous SRD post (accusing Plaintiff of stalking her former professor etc.). However, showing that Defendant was behind these troll accounts will significantly support Plaintiff's claims and is another reason why this case should not be dismissed.

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION

Plaintiff has done exactly what Defendant was worried about – filing frivolous motions once Plaintiff's arguments are examined and determined to be faulty. Now, having had the ability to oppose Defendant's motion to dismiss, Plaintiff is attempting to have another bite at the apple. Unfortunately for Plaintiff, such an attempt is not only improper, but procedurally barred. Plaintiff's attempt at delaying the hearing on Defendant's Motion to Dismiss is similarly flawed.

Through this Opposition, Defendant requests that the court deny the Plaintiff's frivolous motions, grant Defendant reasonable attorneys' fees as a sanction for Plaintiff's bad faith litigation tactics intended only to run up Defendant's costs, and strike Plaintiff's filings with prejudice.

A. Standard regarding Sur-Reply

Once a party files a motion, the adverse party may file an opposition, after which the movant may file a reply brief. See EDCR 2.20. "Any affidavit supporting a motion must be served with the motion." NRCP (6)(c)(2). "On motion and reasonable notice, the court may, on just terms, permit a party to serve a supplemental pleading setting out any transaction, occurrence, or event that happened after the date of the pleading to be supplemented" (emphasis added). NRCP 15(d). "By presenting to the court a pleading, written motion, or other paper ... an ...unrepresented party...certifies that... it is not being presented for any improper purpose, such as to harass, cause unnecessary delay, or needlessly increase the cost of litigation..." NRCP (11)(b)(1).

B. Standard regarding Continuance

"A request for a continuance is evaluated under the circumstances of each case; however, if the continuance was denied, the appellant must demonstrate that he or she was prejudiced by the district court's decision." Brown v. State, No. 53891, 2011 Nev. Unpub. LEXIS 1272, at *2 (Feb. 3, 2011) citing Higgs v. State, 126 Nev. 1, 9, 222 P.3d 648, 653 (2010) citing Rose v. State, 123 Nev. 194, 206, 163 P.3d 408, 416 (2007). "If a defendant fails to demonstrate that he was prejudiced by the denial of the continuance, then the district court's decision to deny the continuance is not an abuse of discretion." Higgs v. State, 126 Nev. 1, 9, 222 P.3d 648, 653 (2010).

III. SUR-REPLY TO REARGUE AN OPPOSITION IS IMPROPER

It is well established procedure that after a motion is filed, the non-movant files an opposition, followed by a reply brief by the movant. See EDCR 2.20. Civil procedure dictates that the non-movant can only file an argument after the reply if there is new information that could not have been argued in the opposition. See NRCP 15(d). Otherwise, a party can keep filing fugitive pleadings and increase the cost of litigation – as Plaintiff in this matter is doing.

Plaintiff cites a non-binding case from the Federal District Court of another jurisdiction, Lewis vs. Rumsfeld, 154 F. Supp 2d 56, 61 (D.D.C.2001), as a basis for having this Court grant the leave to file the sur-reply. Even assuming the case to be applicable, unfortunately for Plaintiff, in Lewis, the D.C. court denied Plaintiff's motion to file a sur-reply holding that:

"The plaintiff in her motion for leave to file a surreply fails to address any new matters presented by the defendants' reply. The plaintiff contends that the defendants have mischaracterized her position Because this contention does not involve a new matter but rather an alleged mischaracterization, the court denies the plaintiff's motion."

Lewis v. Rumsfeld, 154 F. Supp. 2d 56, 61 (D.D.C. 2001).

In this matter, Plaintiff is alleging exactly what the D.C. court stated is not a proper reason to file a sur-reply: that Defendant "misrepresented and mischaracterized several of Plaintiff's statements and arguments..." See Motion for Leave to File Sur-Reply, pg. 1, on file herein.

The only "new evidence" Plaintiff attempts to include is "her original abstract and proposal," which unfortunately has nothing to do with the motion to dismiss and the grounds therein – the motion to dismiss is not a motion based on evidence and the credibility thereof (unlike a motion for summary judgment), but rather a motion relying upon various precedence and rules of law to seek dismissal of this matter as a matter of law based on the allegations that Plaintiff herself has alleged in her Complaint.

As such, given that Plaintiff is not allowed to keep filing fugitive pleadings after the Defendant's reply brief is filed, given that Plaintiff is attempting to use 'mischaracterization' as grounds for sur-reply, given that such grounds (even in sister-jurisdictions that Plaintiff cites) are improper, and given that Plaintiff did not include any material information that was not available at the time of Plaintiff's opposition, Defendant requests that Plaintiff's frivolous motion to file a sur-reply be denied and stricken with prejudice.

IV. HEARING THIS MATTER, AS SCHEDULED, DOES NOT PREJUDICE PLAINTIFF

Plaintiff's ex parte motion for continuance relies essentially on the same allegations as her motion to file a sur-reply - that "Defendant...[in the reply brief] made several false statements which misstated and misrepresented the arguments [she] presented in [her] opposition. Thus, this is new information that [she] had not had the chance to contest in the opposition." See Ex Parte Motion for Continuance, pg. 2, on file herein. Plaintiff does not include any case law, statutory law, or any other basis to seek such a continuance. Id. Furthermore, Plaintiff does not demonstrate how the Plaintiff would be prejudiced by the denial of the continuance. See Higgs v. State.

Given that the Plaintiff's own cited case in her motion to leave to file the sur-reply has the holding against the Plaintiff from being granted leave of court, given that Plaintiff has failed to show how she would be prejudiced by not having the hearing continued, and given that Plaintiff is simply attempting to delay this matter and cause frivolous and fugitive filings, Defendant requests that this Court deny the Plaintiff's motion for continuance.

V. PLAINTIFF'S FRIVOLOUS FILINGS JUSTIFY GRANTING OF ATTORNEYS'

FEES TO DEFENDANT

Nevada Revised Statutes provide that "The Court may make an allowance of attorney's fees to a prevailing party ... when the Court finds that the claim...of the opposing party was brought or maintained without reasonable ground or to harass the prevailing party." Nev. Rev. Stat. § 18.010(2). "A claim is frivolous if it is utterly lacking in legal merit..." U.S. ex rel. J. Cooper & Associates, Inc. v. Bernard Hodes Group, Inc., 422 F. Supp. 2d 225, 238 (D.D.C. 2006). Additionally, a frivolous claim is the equivalent of a groundless claim. See United States v. Capener, 590 F.3d 1058, 1066 (9th Cir. 2010). Under Nevada law, a claim is frivolous if it is "not well grounded in fact and warranted either by existing law or by a good faith argument for the extension, modification, or reversal or existing law." Simonian v. U. and Community College System of Nevada, 122 Nev. 187, 196, 128 P.3d 1057, 1063 (2006).

In this matter, reasonable attorneys' fees should be provided to Defendant for having to respond to Plaintiff's frivolous motions.

First, Plaintiff's attempt to have continued bites at the apple and attempt to re-argue her positions, claiming Defendant's 'mischaracterization' of her argument, has been demonstrated to not be a valid reason to seek to file a sur-reply. In fact, the case Plaintiff cites, holds that a 'mischaracterization' argument is not a valid reason to file a sur-reply.

Second, Plaintiff's motion to seek continuance does not even attempt to mention any law upon which the motion should be granted and is therefore "not well grounded in fact and warranted...by existing law..." Id. As such, Plaintiff knew or should have known that her frivolous motion filings will result in attorneys' fees and costs to be incurred by the Defendant – costs that the Plaintiff should be responsible for.

Finally, Defendant, worried about Plaintiff's frivolous filings specifically included the following in the Reply to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss: "PURSUANT TO EDCR 2.20, DEFENDANT REQUESTS ANY FILINGS SUBMITTED BY PLAINTIFF AFTER THE SUBMISSSION OF THIS REPLY TO BE STRICKEN WITH PREJUDICE." As such, Plaintiff was very clearly on notice that she was not allowed to undertake frivolous filings and that should she do so, that the Defendant would seek any such filings to be stricken. Given that Plaintiff was on notice and still did file frivolous motions, Defendant requests such motions to be stricken with prejudice.

VI. CONCLUSION

Plaintiff is not allowed to keep filing documents/pleadings after a reply brief is filed.

Plaintiff's reason for such filings - alleged "mischaracterization" of Plaintiff's argument by Defendant - is, further, not a valid reason for such filings. Plaintiff's motion for continuance does not include any case law, statutory law, or any basis for the continuance to be granted.

Additionally, Plaintiff has not shown this court how failure to grant the motion for continuance would be prejudicial to the Plaintiff. As such, Plaintiff's motion for continuance should be denied.

Plaintiff was further on notice to not file the filings that Plaintiff has made and has been on notice that Defendant would seek to strike any such filings. Thus, given the frivolous nature of Plaintiff's motions, Defendant requests that the Court award the Defendant reasonable attorneys' fees in responding to Plaintiff's motions and to strike them with prejudice.

DEFENDANT HEREBY OJECTS TO PLAINTIFF RAISING ANY ISSUES IN HER REPLY BRIEFS THAT EXCEED THE SCOPE OF THIS OPPOSITION AND REQUESTS

THAT ANY SUCH ADDITIONAL ARGUMENTS OR ISSUES THAT EXCEED THE SCOPE OF THIS OPPOSITION BE DISREGARDED, STRICKEN, AND DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE. ("We ... decline to address several claims raised for the first time in [the] reply brief," McClain v. State, 133 Nev. 1048, 392 P.3d 165 (2017); "We need not consider [an] argument because it was raised for the first time in appellant's reply brief," Haynes v. Las Vegas Metro. Police Dep't, 2020 Nev. INTRODUCTION

In their opposition to Plaintiff's Leave to File Sur-Reply and Ex Parte Motion for Continuance, and throughout this lawsuit in general, Defendant, now through their attorney, Saigar Raich, Esq. of Raich Law PLLC, is exhibiting the same abusive and harassing behavior that led to this suit in the first place. They are making false statements, taking Plaintiff's words out of context, and are now abusing the court process in an attempt to prevent Plaintiff from presenting her arguments and case to this Court. For example, they preemptively requested that "ANY FILINGS SUBMITTED BY PLAINTIFF AFTER THE SUBMISSION OF THIS REPLY TO BE STRICKEN WITH PREJUDICE." (See Reply Re: Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, p9).

First, as Defendant's attorney acknowledged, "Once a party files a motion, the adverse party may file an opposition, after which the movant may file a reply brief. See EDCR 2.20" Thus, since they filed this opposition to my motion to file a sur-reply and ex parte motion for continuance, I have the right to file this reply.

Plaintiff reserves the right, here and throughout the case, to present and support her arguments and claims to the best of her ability, and to fully pursue this lawsuit, as is allowed by law/civil procedure. And that includes the right, when necessary, to file supplemental pleadings, sur-replies or additional motions, etc. If Defendant is worried about the costs of attorneys' fees or litigation, they should have thought about that before posting their libelous story re: Plaintiff (and UNLV) on Subredditdrama and then harassing her (and inciting others to do the same) for an extended time period—despite knowing that she suffered from an anxiety disorder.

In the following memorandum and points of authority, Plaintiff will address the issues Defendant has raised in their latest oppositions (to Plaintiff's leave to file sur-reply and ex parte motion for continuance) and further show this Court why the sur-reply and continuance of the Jan. 4th 2022 hearing (on Defendant's Motion to Dismiss) are necessary.

MEMORANDUM AND POINTS OF AUTHORITY

SUR-REPLY TO REARGUE AN OPPOSITION IS IMPROPER (PLAINTIFF'S REBUTTAL)

In Defendant's Opposition To Motion For Leave To File Sur-Reply To Defendant's Motion To Dismiss and Opposition to Ex Parte Motion for Continuance, they, through their attorney, claim that Plaintiff, in moving to file her sur-reply, is "attempting to have another bite at the apple" and increase litigation costs for Defendant. (See Opposition to Motion For Leave To File Sur Reply and Opposition to Ex Parte Motion for Continuance p. 1-5)

However, that is not the case. In their reply Re: Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, Defendant, through their attorney, presented new information that was not included in their original motion.

For example, In their motion to dismiss, Defendant's attorney never claimed that Plaintiff was unsure of Defendant's identity. In fact, at multiple points, he clearly acknowledged that

Defendant made the libelous post which Plaintiff is suing over. For example, at one point he stated "Even assuming Plaintiff's allegations as true, Defendant's post concerned issues of a public institution (UNLV)..." (Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, p 11). That is just one example, but throughout the brief, there was no dispute over Defendant's identity. However, in their reply to Plaintiff's opposition to their motion to dismiss they raised this new issue of Defendant's identity (claiming that Plaintiff only suspected Defendant to be the one who libeled had harassed her on Reddit). Essentially, they claimed (for the first time) that Plaintiff was not even sure if she was suing the right person. Therefore, Plaintiff felt obligated to respond and present ample evidence that Defendant is indeed the same Peter Cooper that libeled and harassed her on Reddit. (See exhibits 21-28 and Motion for Leave to File Sur-Reply to Defendant's Motion To Dismiss p.5-6). Had Plaintiff not moved the court to file a sur-reply, and if this Court hears Defendant's motion to dismiss without seeing this evidence, it prejudices Plaintiff because, one, a Court is certainly more likely to dismiss a case if a Plaintiff is not even sure that they're suing the right person. (Defendant, again, was trying to make it appear that Plaintiff was unsure of Defendant's identity.)

In Plaintiff's original opposition, she also said that she was waiting on Reddit to provide the basic subscriber information of certain troll accounts-accounts impersonating UNLV faculty-that she suspects to be Defendant. (Again, the term suspects referred to these troll accounts; there was never any uncertainty regarding Defendant's identity or that they libeled and harassed her from their main accounts). At the time of filing her original Opposition to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, she anticipated having this information before the January 4th hearing. (See Opposition to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, p2 and exhibit 16). Then, when Defendant, through their attorney, filed their reply: re: Defendant's Motion To Dismiss, Plaintiff still had not received these records from Reddit. Therefore, she wanted to demonstrate to this honorable Court that she was making a good faith effort to obtain these records, as it is crucial in further supporting her claim of intentional infliction of emotional distress and demonstrating why NV jurisdiction is indeed proper. After all, if Defendant was behind these troll accounts harassing Plaintiff under UNLV faculty names, that is certainly behavior targeted against NV (and intending to inflict emotional distress against Plaintiff). Since, however, Defendant filed their reply before she had these records, she needed to include exhibit 22 in her sur-reply to show that she was working on getting this information. (See exhibit 22 and Motion to File Sur-Reply to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss).

Reddit has since responded and said that they are awaiting the outcome of the motion to dismiss before further action will be taken with respect to the subpoena." (See Exhibit 37) This implies that they will provide the requested information if the case is not dismissed. Since this information was not available at the time of Plaintiff's Opposition to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, it complies with NRCP 15 (d). "On motion and reasonable notice the court may on just terms, permit a party to serve as supplemental pleading setting out any transaction, occurrence, or event that happened after the date of the pleading to be supplemented." (See Defendant's Opposition Re: Surreply and Ex Parte Motion, p2)

As stated in Plaintiff's Motion to File a Sur-Reply, part of the reason for her intended supplemental memorandum/pleading was because she had to wait on UNLV's police services to search their records, and then she had to wait until the records clerk returned from an extended holiday vacation before receiving their statement (that they have no records on her). This too is in compliance with NRCP 15(d) (see above paragraph). As stated in her Motion For Leave To File Sur-Reply To Defendant's Motion To Dismiss, she was also incapacitated by certain medical symptoms which further delayed her filing the supplmental memorandum (see exhibit 21). Before she could file the supplemental memorandum, however, Defendant filed their Reply to her Opposition (re: the motion to dismiss) and presented the new issues (listed above and more of which will be discussed in this brief). Thus, since she never had the chance to file the supplemental memorandum, Plaintiff combined the information she would have included in it with her sur-reply. This is not, as Defendant, through their attorney claims ''attempting to have another bite at the apple.''

Furthermore, here is another example of Defendant's false and misleading statements. In their Opposition re: Surreply and Continuance, they, through their attorney claimed that "the only 'new evidence' Plaintiff attempts to include is her 'original abstract and proposal,' which unfortunately has nothing to do with the motion to dismiss and the grounds therein..." (See Opposition re: Surreply and Continuance, p4). First, this is clearly not the only new evidence Plaintiff provided; she also provided a statement by UNLV police services showing that they did not have records on her (see exhibit 30 and above paragraph). In Defendant's Reply Re: Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, they claim that "...the opposition does not even attempt to state that Plaintiff's allegations have met the elements of defamation as required in Nevada." (See Reply RE: Motion to Dismiss p.5). This raised a new issue, since they initially claimed that "Plaintiff's posts and communications with UNLV were their basis for Defendant to seek dismissal for failure to state a claim (see Motion to Dismiss p. 7)."

However, by stating in their Reply Re: Defendant's motion to dismiss that Plaintiff does not even attempt to state that her allegations have met the elements of defamation as required in NV, Defendant was stating a new basis for their dismissal— that Plaintiff's allegations instead did not meet Nevada's required elements of Defamation. As Defendant pointed out, the first required general element of a defamation claim in NV is "a false and defamatory statement by [a] defendant concerning the Plaintiff..." Pegasus v. Reno Newspapers Inc., 118 Nev. 706, 718, 57 P. 3d 82, 90 (2002). Defendant's main and most egregious/damaging allegation against Plaintiff was that she stalked her former professor, Dr. Marcia Gallo, who was still teaching at UNLV during the period that Defendant claimed Plaintiff engaged in this alleged "stalking." Thus, the surest way for Plaintiff to demonstrate that this allegation is false and defamatory was to obtain a statement from UNLV's police services showing that they had no records on her—and she had to wait for these records, plus there was a delay due her medical symptoms (see exhibits 30 and 21).

Also, Defendant has not even attempted to argue that they used the term "stalking" hyperbolically, plus they clearly presented their story as statements of fact and made specific and demonstrably false claims (i.e. that Plaintiff kept bombarding Dr. Gallo with messages).

Thus, Plaintiff not only needed the opportunity to prove these claims were false (hence exhibit 30), but to prevent Defendant from changing course and arguing that they used the term stalking hyperbolically (after citing NRS 200.575) Plaintiff needed to point out the specific false statements of facts (i.e. bombarding Dr. Gallo with messages etc.) and demonstrate the other 3 elements of defamation. (See Motion for Leave to File Sur-Reply To Defendant's Motion To Dismiss, p. 9-13, Claims For Relief For Defamation) Again, in their Reply Re: Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, Defendant stated a different basis for dismiss for "failure to state a claim."

Getting back to the proposal abstract, despite Defendant's assertion that it has "nothing to do with the motion to dismiss," since Defendant is now claiming that Plaintiff has "not even attempted to meet the elements of defamation," Plaintiff has the right to counter that assertion. Again, defamation is fundamentally based on the falsity of a Defendant's statements/allegations. Thus, in order to even begin to meet the elements of defamation, first and foremost, a Plaintiff must show that the allegations in question are false. In addition to alleging that Plaintiff stalked (as defined by NRS 200. 575) Dr. Marcia Gallo, her former UNLV history professor, Defendant also alleged that this stalking ultimately stemmed from Plaintiff's failure to coerce Dr. Gallo to assist with her oral history project. Specifically, they claimed that Plaintiff told her [Dr. Gallo] that "they would collaborate on it [the project]." Even this allegation alone could and did damage Plaintiff's reputation and grad school prospects, as it makes her seem demanding and difficult to work with (at the very least...not to mention the "stalking" allegation). Thus, by adding exhibit 33, Plaintiff leaves no room for doubt that that allegation is entirely false.

Next, in their Reply Re: Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, Defendant claimed that Plaintiff "does not even know that admissions officials at UNLV and UNR saw her posts." In their initial Motion to dismiss, however, they never challenged Plaintiff's claim that UNR officials saw Plaintiff's posts. Also, Plaintiff, at the time of her Opposition to Defendant's Motion To Dismiss, had not yet had the previously mentioned conversation with Dr. Linda Curcio-Nagy, History Professor and Assistant Dean of UNR's Liberal Arts College. (See Plaintiffs Leave to File Sur-Reply to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss p.8) Furthermore, in Plaintiff's initial email to Dr. Emily Hobson, her preferred graduate advisor at UNR, when she mentioned that Dr. Gallo inspired her into her intended field (History of Sexuality/20th Century History), Dr. Hobson replied "I absolutely understand your admiration for Dr. Gallo." (This email is on Plaintiff's old student account, which is now closed.) Thus, Plaintiff believes this alludes to Dr. Hobson seeing the libelous SRD post. Afterwards, Dr. Hobson stopped communicating with Plaintiff. However, after Plaintiff mentioned the situation (Dr. Hobson not speaking to Plaintiff) to Dr. Curcio-Nagy, she subsequently received a reply from Dr. Hobson (to a follow-up email)--declining to advise her if she reapplied in 2020.

Also, in their Reply Re: Plaintiff's Opposition to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, Defendant additionally argued that Plaintiff did not know whether UNLV admissions officials saw Defendant's libelous post, but Plaintiff was claiming special damages based on her rejection from UNR. Thus, here was another example of Defendant's fabrications, though it still presented new information that Plaintiff had not previously had the chance to address. Plaintiff was also worried that Defendant, given their history of fabrication and twisting her words, was going to claim that Plaintiff was unsure whether any official at UNLV saw Defendant's SRD post. Again, Debra Pierushka, UNLV's Assistant General Counsel explicitly told Plaintiff that she had seen the libelous SRD post (and, in turn, Plaintiff's "social media activity" [see Complaint, paragraph 33]) and that this post was the reason for this cease and desist letter. (See Motion for Leave to File Sur-Reply To Defendant's Motion To Dismiss, p8). Again, in their initial motion to dismiss, Defendant, through their attorney, did not dispute that admissions officials (at either university) saw Defendant's libelous content.

Finally, in their Reply Re: Plaintiff's Opposition to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss (pgs. 2-5), Defendant claimed that "Jurisdiction Over Defendant is Improper Just because Plaintiff Was In NV When She Read The Online Post." Plaintiff, however, never claimed that NV had jurisdiction based on her merely being present in the state, thus, this too was new information that Plaintiff asked for leave to reply to. (See Attached Sur-Reply to Plaintiff's Leave to File Sur-Reply to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss p. 7-9, Jurisdiction) Also, the conversation with Dr. Curcio-Nagy, is further evidence of a "local, on-the-ground response" sufficient to establish jurisdiction based on social media contact. (See Motion for Leave To File Sur-Reply To Defendant's Motion to Dismiss p.8 and Vangheluwe, 365 F. Supp. 3d at 880). Since Plaintiff had not spoken to Dr. Curcio-Nagy at the time of filing her original opposition to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, this is an event that happened "after the date of the pleading." Plaintiff was also waiting on Reddit's response, which she did not have at the time of her original opposition. (see p.3 of this brief) It should be noted, however, that Defendant has not once denied being behind the troll accounts harassing Plaintiff by impersonating UNLV faculty.

HEARING THIS MATTER, AS SCHEDULED, DOES INDEED PREJUDICE PLAINTIFF

In Defendant's Opposition to Motion For Leave To Flle Sur-Reply To Defendant's Motion to Dismiss and Opposition to Ex Parte Motion For Continuance, they, through their attorney, state that "Plaintiff does not demonstrate how the Plaintiff would be prejudiced by the denial of the continuance." As demonstrated above, Plaintiff would be prejudiced by the denial because Defendant's reply presented information and arguments that Plaintiff had not previously had the chance to contest. This includes claims that she was unsure that she was suing the right person, that she was unsure that UNR (and UNLV) officials saw/knew about the libelous content, that she had not attempted to state that her allegations meet the elements for defamation, and that she was arguing for NV to have jurisdiction over this matter only because she was in NV when she read the defamatory content about herself. (See above section).

Defendant also asserts that Plaintiff "did not state any case law, statutory law or any other basis to seek such a continuance." According to NV R. Prac. Eight Judi. District, however, "A party may file an ex parte motion to continue a hearing, explaining why it could not be obtained by stipulation." Rule 5.515 - Stipulations and motions to continue or vacate a hearing, Nev. R. Prac. Eighth. Judi. Dist. Ct. 5.515 Plaintiff did, in her ex parte motion to continue hearing, explain why it could not not be obtained by stipulation. (See Ex Parte motion p.1)

Once again, it would prejudice Plaintiff to have the motion for dismissal heard before the motion to file her sur-reply since, as explained in this reply, its purpose was to counter new information that Defendant presented in his reply to her opposition to their motion to dismiss.

OBJECTION TO GRANTING ATTORNEYS' FEES TO DEFENDANT

Defendant's request for Plaintiff to pay his attorneys fees was an attempt to harass her. Here is a perfect example of his intention to inflict emotional distress on Plaintiff; he made that threat knowing about Plaintiff's anxiety disorder and heart murmur (see exhibit 36/Plaintiff's medical records).

First of all, as Defendant's attorney should know, one cannot simply request, in a reply, for an opponent to be sanctioned. Nor can one make a general request for all future filings by an opposing party to be stricken with prejudice. According to NV Rules of Civil procedure, Rule 11b (2): "A motion for sanctions must be separately filed from any motion and must describe the specific conduct that allegedly violates rule 11(b)" Similarly, the court may act on a motion to strike "made by a party either before responding to the pleading or, if a response is not allowed, within 21 day after being served with the pleading." (NV Rules of Civil Procedure 12(f)(2)) Motions to strike, however, are requests that a judge strike part of a pleading—not blanket, preemptive requests to strike all subsequent filings from an opposing party. Also, Defendant, through their attorney, did not even bother filing the appropriate motions for requests they were seeking, nor did they attempt to demonstrate that Plaintiff's motion for leave to file her sur-reply and ex parte motion for continuance were frivolous. This confirms that these "requests" were nothing more than attempts to inflict further emotional distress on Plaintiff.

All they argued was that she was "attempting to have another bite at the apple" and that her ex parte motion for continuance was not based on any law. However, Simonian vs. U. and Community College Systems of NV, the case cited by Defendant's attorney, states "Under Nevada Law, a claim is frivolous if is not well-grounded in fact and warranted either by existing law or by good faith argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law." (See Opposition Re: Surreply and Continuance). Plaintiff's motions and claims were warranted by existing law (which she clarified in this reply), and she made good faith arguments as to why her sur-reply was necessary and why the Jan. 4th hearing on Defendant's Motion to Dismiss should be continued.

Essentially, Defendant, through their attorney, provided new information/arguments in his reply to Plaintiff's Opposition to their Motion to Dismiss, and now wants Plaintiff to pay his attorney fees just for responding. Moreover, although new issues were raised and new arguments presented, Defendant does not deny making false statements in their reply (or throughout the case) or mischaracterizing Plaintiff's argument.

Defendant, through their attorney, is also claiming that Plaintiff should have known that "her frivolous motion filings will result in attorneys' fees and costs to be incurred by Defendant." (See Opposition to Sur-Reply p.6) Again, as stated in the introduction to this opposition, these costs are something they should have considered before posting their libelous SRD post and harassing Plaintiff—to the point of disrupting her life and causing her to experience physical symptoms of stress. They also voluntarily accepted their attorney's rate of service in exchange for his representation; if Defendant will not pay those fees, that is an issue between them and their attorney. Plaintiff is not responsible for paying those bills.

Based on Defendant's failure to file a responsive pleading to Plaintiff's complaint, their attempt to preemptively have all Plaintiff's filings struck, their failure to even file the appropriate motions for their own requests, and their request for Plaintiff to pay their attorneys fees, it is evident that they through their attorney, are abusing court process to harass Plaintiff and avoid paying their own attorney fees.

CONCLUSION

Defendant, through their attorney, raised new issues and arguments in their reply to Plaintiff's Opposition to their Motion to Dismiss. First, after acknowledging that Defendant was the same Peter Cooper who libeled and harassed Plaintiff, they, in their reply to her Opposition to their Motion to Dismiss, accused her of being uncertain whether she was suing the right person. Thus, Plaintiff provided exhibits (see exhibits 21-28) and rebutted this claim in her sur-reply, which she attached to her motion for leave to file it.

Next, they changed their reasoning for seeking dismissal. They first claimed that "Plaintiff's posts and communications with UNLV" were the basis for seeking dismissal for failure to state a claim, and then afterwards claimed that the reason was that Plaintiff had "not even attempted to show that her allegations have the required elements for a defamation claim." Thus, she had to address this new basis for dismissal in her sur-reply. She had also been waiting on a statement from UNLV police services saying that they do not have any records on her. Since Defendant is accusing her of stalking her professor in the most literal sense of the word (as defined by NRS 200.575), this exhibit is crucial in supporting her defamation claim. Plaintiff also experienced medical symptoms which further delayed her filing her exhibits and intended supplemental memorandum, and just as she was going to file them, Defendant filed their reply to her Opposition to their Motion to Dismiss. Thus, Plaintiff was not "attempting to re-argue her positions" but combining the information from the intended supplemental memorandum and sur-reply into one brief. It is ironic that Defendant would make such an accusation when they were supposedly worried about Plaintiff filing excessive motions.

They also claimed, for the first time, that Plaintiff was unsure whether UNR (and UNLV) admissions officials saw Defendant's libelous SRD post. Thus, a sur-reply was necessary to address that new issue.

Additionally, Defendant claimed that Plaintiff's argument for jurisdiction was that she was merely present in NV when she read Defendant's libelous content about herself. They even compared it to suing a Defendant in a Swiss Court just because one was vacationing in Switzerland when they read such libelous content. Plaintiff, however, never made such an argument and did not want to let Defendant, through their attorney, twist her words to make it appear that this was indeed her argument. Had they addressed her actual arguments and not tried to make it sound like she was making a different argument than she had, then it would be unnecessary to include this issue in her sur-reply. Again, however, Plaintiff never based her jurisdiction argument on merely being present in NV but explained how the effects test established by Caulder vs. Jones would give NV jurisdiction. (See Plaintiff's Opposition to Defendant's Motion To Dismiss p3) She also showed how Defendant deliberately targeted NV both by the content of their libelous posts (allowing the public to believe that UNLV allowed a faculty member to be stalked) and by his harassment of her.

Plaintiff, at the time of her opposition, was also awaiting a response from Reddit regarding records she had requested from them. These records include the basic subscriber information to troll accounts impersonating UNLV faculty. Crucially, Defendant has not denied being behind these accounts, though Plaintiff wanted definitive proof that they were. This would not only help her emotional distress claim but would further show that Defendant targeted the state of NV by 1) harassing Plaintiff using the names of UNLV faculty (Dr. Marcia Gallo and Fawn Douglas, an Art Professor at UNLV at the time) and 2) by further highlighting that the alleged events in his libelous story took place at UNLV (where they allegedly allowed a professor to be stalked by a former student).

The standard for filing a sur-ply is "whether the party making the motion would be unable to contest matters presented to the court for the first time in the opposing party's reply." Lewis v. Rumsfeld, 154 F. As demonstrated in this reply, Defendant, in their reply Re: Plaintiff's Opposition to Defendant's Motion To Dismiss, introduced new matters that Plaintiff was unable to previously contest. Most outrageously, however, when Plaintiff attempted to contest these new matters, they requested that she pay their attorneys' fees! Moreover, they didn't even bother to file a motion for this request. Instead, they tried to make one summary "request" to have all Plaintiff's filings "disregarded and stricken with prejudice" and to have Plaintiff sanctioned just for asking for leave to respond to these matters—that they themselves introduced in their Reply to Plaintiff's Opposition to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss.

Finally, since the hearing on Plaintiff's sur-reply falls after the hearing on Defendant's motion to dismiss, and since it would, for the reasons stated above, prejudice her for the Court to hear the motion to Dismiss before seeing/deciding whether to Grant the sur-reply, her ex parte motion for continuance should be granted.

Plaintiff hereby asks this honorable court to DENY DEFENDANT'S MOTION TO DISMISS, DENY THEIR "REQUEST" FOR PLAINTIFF'S MOTIONS AND FILINGS TO BE DISREGARDED AND STRICKEN WITH PREJUDICE, DENY THEIR "REQUEST" FOR PLAINTIFF TO PAY (ANY OF) THEIR

ATTORNEY FEES, AND GRANT PLAINTIFF'S LEAVE TO FILE HER SUR-REPLY AND CONTINUE THE JAN. 4th HEARING.

INTRODUCTION

In their opposition to Plaintiff's Leave to File Sur-Reply and Ex Parte Motion for Continuance, and throughout this lawsuit in general, Defendant, now through their attorney, Saigar Raich, Esq. of Raich Law PLLC, is exhibiting the same abusive and harassing behavior that led to this suit in the first place. They are making false statements, taking Plaintiff's words out of context, and are now abusing the court process in an attempt to prevent Plaintiff from presenting her arguments and case to this Court. For example, they preemptively requested that "ANY FILINGS SUBMITTED BY PLAINTIFF AFTER THE SUBMISSION OF THIS REPLY TO BE STRICKEN WITH PREJUDICE." (See Reply Re: Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, p9).

First, as Defendant's attorney acknowledged, "Once a party files a motion, the adverse party may file an opposition, after which the movant may file a reply brief. See EDCR 2.20" Thus, since they filed this opposition to my motion to file a sur-reply and ex parte motion for continuance, I have the right to file this reply.

Plaintiff reserves the right, here and throughout the case, to present and support her arguments and claims to the best of her ability, and to fully pursue this lawsuit, as is allowed by law/civil procedure. And that includes the right, when necessary, to file supplemental pleadings, sur-replies or additional motions, etc. If Defendant is worried about the costs of attorneys' fees or litigation, they should have thought about that before posting their libelous story re: Plaintiff (and UNLV) on Subredditdrama and then harassing her (and inciting others to do the same) for an extended time period—despite knowing that she suffered from an anxiety disorder.

In the following memorandum and points of authority, Plaintiff will address the issues Defendant has raised in their latest oppositions (to Plaintiff's leave to file sur-reply and ex parte motion for continuance) and further show this Court why the sur-reply and continuance of the Jan. 4th 2022 hearing (on Defendant's Motion to Dismiss) are necessary.

MEMORANDUM AND POINTS OF AUTHORITY

SUR-REPLY TO REARGUE AN OPPOSITION IS IMPROPER (PLAINTIFF'S REBUTTAL)

In Defendant's Opposition To Motion For Leave To File Sur-Reply To Defendant's Motion To Dismiss and Opposition to Ex Parte Motion for Continuance, they, through their attorney, claim that Plaintiff, in moving to file her sur-reply, is "attempting to have another bite at the apple" and increase litigation costs for Defendant. (See Opposition to Motion For Leave To File Sur Reply and Opposition to Ex Parte Motion for Continuance p. 1-5)

However, that is not the case. In their reply Re: Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, Defendant, through their attorney, presented new information that was not included in their original motion.

For example, In their motion to dismiss, Defendant's attorney never claimed that Plaintiff was unsure of Defendant's identity. In fact, at multiple points, he clearly acknowledged that

Defendant made the libelous post which Plaintiff is suing over. For example, at one point he stated "Even assuming Plaintiff's allegations as true, Defendant's post concerned issues of a public institution (UNLV)..." (Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, p 11). That is just one example, but throughout the brief, there was no dispute over Defendant's identity. However, in their reply to Plaintiff's opposition to their motion to dismiss they raised this new issue of Defendant's identity (claiming that Plaintiff only suspected Defendant to be the one who libeled had harassed her on Reddit). Essentially, they claimed (for the first time) that Plaintiff was not even sure if she was suing the right person. Therefore, Plaintiff felt obligated to respond and present ample evidence that Defendant is indeed the same Peter Cooper that libeled and harassed her on Reddit. (See exhibits 21-28 and Motion for Leave to File Sur-Reply to Defendant's Motion To Dismiss p.5-6). Had Plaintiff not moved the court to file a sur-reply, and if this Court hears Defendant's motion to dismiss without seeing this evidence, it prejudices Plaintiff because, one, a Court is certainly more likely to dismiss a case if a Plaintiff is not even sure that they're suing the right person. (Defendant, again, was trying to make it appear that Plaintiff was unsure of Defendant's identity.)

In Plaintiff's original opposition, she also said that she was waiting on Reddit to provide the basic subscriber information of certain troll accounts-accounts impersonating UNLV faculty-that she suspects to be Defendant. (Again, the term suspects referred to these troll accounts; there was never any uncertainty regarding Defendant's identity or that they libeled and harassed her from their main accounts). At the time of filing her original Opposition to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, she anticipated having this information before the January 4th hearing. (See Opposition to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, p2 and exhibit 16). Then, when Defendant, through their attorney, filed their reply: re: Defendant's Motion To Dismiss, Plaintiff still had not received these records from Reddit. Therefore, she wanted to demonstrate to this honorable Court that she was making a good faith effort to obtain these records, as it is crucial in further supporting her claim of intentional infliction of emotional distress and demonstrating why NV jurisdiction is indeed proper. After all, if Defendant was behind these troll accounts harassing Plaintiff under UNLV faculty names, that is certainly behavior targeted against NV (and intending to inflict emotional distress against Plaintiff). Since, however, Defendant filed their reply before she had these records, she needed to include exhibit 22 in her sur-reply to show that she was working on getting this information. (See exhibit 22 and Motion to File Sur-Reply to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss).

Reddit has since responded and said that they are awaiting the outcome of the motion to dismiss before further action will be taken with respect to the subpoena." (See Exhibit 37) This implies that they will provide the requested information if the case is not dismissed. Since this information was not available at the time of Plaintiff's Opposition to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, it complies with NRCP 15 (d). "On motion and reasonable notice the court may on just terms, permit a party to serve as supplemental pleading setting out any transaction, occurrence, or event that happened after the date of the pleading to be supplemented." (See Defendant's Opposition Re: Surreply and Ex Parte Motion, p2)

As stated in Plaintiff's Motion to File a Sur-Reply, part of the reason for her intended supplemental memorandum/pleading was because she had to wait on UNLV's police services to search their records, and then she had to wait until the records clerk returned from an extended holiday vacation before receiving their statement (that they have no records on her). This too is in compliance with NRCP 15(d) (see above paragraph). As stated in her Motion For Leave To File Sur-Reply To Defendant's Motion To Dismiss, she was also incapacitated by certain medical symptoms which further delayed her filing the supplmental memorandum (see exhibit 21). Before she could file the supplemental memorandum, however, Defendant filed their Reply to her Opposition (re: the motion to dismiss) and presented the new issues (listed above and more of which will be discussed in this brief). Thus, since she never had the chance to file the supplemental memorandum, Plaintiff combined the information she would have included in it with her sur-reply. This is not, as Defendant, through their attorney claims ''attempting to have another bite at the apple.''

Furthermore, here is another example of Defendant's false and misleading statements. In their Opposition re: Surreply and Continuance, they, through their attorney claimed that "the only 'new evidence' Plaintiff attempts to include is her 'original abstract and proposal,' which unfortunately has nothing to do with the motion to dismiss and the grounds therein..." (See Opposition re: Surreply and Continuance, p4). First, this is clearly not the only new evidence Plaintiff provided; she also provided a statement by UNLV police services showing that they did not have records on her (see exhibit 30 and above paragraph). In Defendant's Reply Re: Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, they claim that "...the opposition does not even attempt to state that Plaintiff's allegations have met the elements of defamation as required in Nevada." (See Reply RE: Motion to Dismiss p.5). This raised a new issue, since they initially claimed that "Plaintiff's posts and communications with UNLV were their basis for Defendant to seek dismissal for failure to state a claim (see Motion to Dismiss p. 7)."

However, by stating in their Reply Re: Defendant's motion to dismiss that Plaintiff does not even attempt to state that her allegations have met the elements of defamation as required in NV, Defendant was stating a new basis for their dismissal— that Plaintiff's allegations instead did not meet Nevada's required elements of Defamation. As Defendant pointed out, the first required general element of a defamation claim in NV is "a false and defamatory statement by [a] defendant concerning the Plaintiff..." Pegasus v. Reno Newspapers Inc., 118 Nev. 706, 718, 57 P. 3d 82, 90 (2002). Defendant's main and most egregious/damaging allegation against Plaintiff was that she stalked her former professor, Dr. Marcia Gallo, who was still teaching at UNLV during the period that Defendant claimed Plaintiff engaged in this alleged "stalking." Thus, the surest way for Plaintiff to demonstrate that this allegation is false and defamatory was to obtain a statement from UNLV's police services showing that they had no records on her—and she had to wait for these records, plus there was a delay due her medical symptoms (see exhibits 30 and 21).

Also, Defendant has not even attempted to argue that they used the term "stalking" hyperbolically, plus they clearly presented their story as statements of fact and made specific and demonstrably false claims (i.e. that Plaintiff kept bombarding Dr. Gallo with messages).

Thus, Plaintiff not only needed the opportunity to prove these claims were false (hence exhibit 30), but to prevent Defendant from changing course and arguing that they used the term stalking hyperbolically (after citing NRS 200.575) Plaintiff needed to point out the specific false statements of facts (i.e. bombarding Dr. Gallo with messages etc.) and demonstrate the other 3 elements of defamation. (See Motion for Leave to File Sur-Reply To Defendant's Motion To Dismiss, p. 9-13, Claims For Relief For Defamation) Again, in their Reply Re: Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, Defendant stated a different basis for dismiss for "failure to state a claim."

Getting back to the proposal abstract, despite Defendant's assertion that it has "nothing to do with the motion to dismiss," since Defendant is now claiming that Plaintiff has "not even attempted to meet the elements of defamation," Plaintiff has the right to counter that assertion. Again, defamation is fundamentally based on the falsity of a Defendant's statements/allegations. Thus, in order to even begin to meet the elements of defamation, first and foremost, a Plaintiff must show that the allegations in question are false. In addition to alleging that Plaintiff stalked (as defined by NRS 200. 575) Dr. Marcia Gallo, her former UNLV history professor, Defendant also alleged that this stalking ultimately stemmed from Plaintiff's failure to coerce Dr. Gallo to assist with her oral history project. Specifically, they claimed that Plaintiff told her [Dr. Gallo] that "they would collaborate on it [the project]." Even this allegation alone could and did damage Plaintiff's reputation and grad school prospects, as it makes her seem demanding and difficult to work with (at the very least...not to mention the "stalking" allegation). Thus, by adding exhibit 33, Plaintiff leaves no room for doubt that that allegation is entirely false.

Next, in their Reply Re: Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, Defendant claimed that Plaintiff "does not even know that admissions officials at UNLV and UNR saw her posts." In their initial Motion to dismiss, however, they never challenged Plaintiff's claim that UNR officials saw Plaintiff's posts. Also, Plaintiff, at the time of her Opposition to Defendant's Motion To Dismiss, had not yet had the previously mentioned conversation with Dr. Linda Curcio-Nagy, History Professor and Assistant Dean of UNR's Liberal Arts College. (See Plaintiffs Leave to File Sur-Reply to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss p.8) Furthermore, in Plaintiff's initial email to Dr. Emily Hobson, her preferred graduate advisor at UNR, when she mentioned that Dr. Gallo inspired her into her intended field (History of Sexuality/20th Century History), Dr. Hobson replied "I absolutely understand your admiration for Dr. Gallo." (This email is on Plaintiff's old student account, which is now closed.) Thus, Plaintiff believes this alludes to Dr. Hobson seeing the libelous SRD post. Afterwards, Dr. Hobson stopped communicating with Plaintiff. However, after Plaintiff mentioned the situation (Dr. Hobson not speaking to Plaintiff) to Dr. Curcio-Nagy, she subsequently received a reply from Dr. Hobson (to a follow-up email)--declining to advise her if she reapplied in 2022.

Also, in their Reply Re: Plaintiff's Opposition to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, Defendant additionally argued that Plaintiff did not know whether UNLV admissions officials saw Defendant's libelous post, but Plaintiff was claiming special damages based on her rejection from UNR. Thus, here was another example of Defendant's fabrications, though it still presented new information that Plaintiff had not previously had the chance to address. Plaintiff was also worried that Defendant, given their history of fabrication and twisting her words, was going to claim that Plaintiff was unsure whether any official at UNLV saw Defendant's SRD post. Again, Debra Pierushka, UNLV's Assistant General Counsel explicitly told Plaintiff that she had seen the libelous SRD post (and, in turn, Plaintiff's "social media activity" [see Complaint, paragraph 33]) and that this post was the reason for this cease and desist letter. (See Motion for Leave to File Sur-Reply To Defendant's Motion To Dismiss, p8). Again, in their initial motion to dismiss, Defendant, through their attorney, did not dispute that admissions officials (at either university) saw Defendant's libelous content.

Finally, in their Reply Re: Plaintiff's Opposition to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss (pgs. 2-5), Defendant claimed that "Jurisdiction Over Defendant is Improper Just because Plaintiff Was In NV When She Read The Online Post." Plaintiff, however, never claimed that NV had jurisdiction based on her merely being present in the state, thus, this too was new information that Plaintiff asked for leave to reply to. (See Attached Sur-Reply to Plaintiff's Leave to File Sur-Reply to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss p. 7-9, Jurisdiction) Also, the conversation with Dr. Curcio-Nagy, is further evidence of a "local, on-the-ground response" sufficient to establish jurisdiction based on social media contact. (See Motion for Leave To File Sur-Reply To Defendant's Motion to Dismiss p.8 and Vangheluwe, 365 F. Supp. 3d at 880). Since Plaintiff had not spoken to Dr. Curcio-Nagy at the time of filing her original opposition to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, this is an event that happened "after the date of the pleading." Plaintiff was also waiting on Reddit's response, which she did not have at the time of her original opposition. (see p.3 of this brief) It should be noted, however, that Defendant has not once denied being behind the troll accounts harassing Plaintiff by impersonating UNLV faculty.

HEARING THIS MATTER, AS SCHEDULED, DOES INDEED PREJUDICE PLAINTIFF

In Defendant's Opposition to Motion For Leave To Flle Sur-Reply To Defendant's Motion to Dismiss and Opposition to Ex Parte Motion For Continuance, they, through their attorney, state that "Plaintiff does not demonstrate how the Plaintiff would be prejudiced by the denial of the continuance." As demonstrated above, Plaintiff would be prejudiced by the denial because Defendant's reply presented information and arguments that Plaintiff had not previously had the chance to contest. This includes claims that she was unsure that she was suing the right person, that she was unsure that UNR (and UNLV) officials saw/knew about the libelous content, that she had not attempted to state that her allegations meet the elements for defamation, and that she was arguing for NV to have jurisdiction over this matter only because she was in NV when she read the defamatory content about herself. (See above section).

Defendant also asserts that Plaintiff "did not state any case law, statutory law or any other basis to seek such a continuance." According to NV R. Prac. Eight Judi. District, however, "A party may file an ex parte motion to continue a hearing, explaining why it could not be obtained by stipulation." Rule 5.515 - Stipulations and motions to continue or vacate a hearing, Nev. R. Prac. Eighth. Judi. Dist. Ct. 5.515 Plaintiff did, in her ex parte motion to continue hearing, explain why it could not not be obtained by stipulation. (See Ex Parte motion p.1)

Once again, it would prejudice Plaintiff to have the motion for dismissal heard before the motion to file her sur-reply since, as explained in this reply, its purpose was to counter new information that Defendant presented in his reply to her opposition to their motion to dismiss.

OBJECTION TO GRANTING ATTORNEYS' FEES TO DEFENDANT

Defendant's request for Plaintiff to pay his attorneys fees was an attempt to harass her. Here is a perfect example of his intention to inflict emotional distress on Plaintiff; he made that threat knowing about Plaintiff's anxiety disorder and heart murmur (see exhibit 36/Plaintiff's medical records).

First of all, as Defendant's attorney should know, one cannot simply request, in a reply, for the opposition to be sanctioned. Nor can one make a general request for all future filings by an opposing party to be stricken with prejudice. According to NV Rules of Civil procedure, Rule 11b (2): "A motion for sanctions must be separately filed from any motion and must describe the specific conduct that allegedly violates rule 11(b)" Similarly, the court may act on a motion to strike "made by a party either before responding to the pleading or, if a response is not allowed, within 21 day after being served with the pleading." (NV Rules of Civil Procedure 12(f)(2)) Motions to strike, however, are requests that a judge strike part of a pleading—not blanket, preemptive requests to strike all subsequent filings from an opposing party. Also, Defendant, through their attorney, did not even bother filing the appropriate motions for requests they were seeking, nor did they attempt to demonstrate that Plaintiff's motion for leave to file her sur-reply and ex parte motion for continuance were frivolous. This confirms that these "requests" were nothing more than attempts to inflict further emotional distress on Plaintiff.

All they argued was that she was "attempting to have another bite at the apple" and that her ex parte motion for continuance was not based on any law. However, Simonian vs. U. and Community College Systems of NV, the case cited by Defendant's attorney, states "Under Nevada Law, a claim is frivolous if is not well-grounded in fact and warranted either by existing law or by good faith argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law." (See Opposition Re: Surreply and Continuance). Plaintiff's motions and claims were warranted by existing law (which she clarified in this reply), and she made good faith arguments as to why her sur-reply was necessary and why the Jan. 4th hearing on Defendant's Motion to Dismiss should be continued.

Essentially, Defendant, through their attorney, provided new information/arguments in his reply to Plaintiff's Opposition to their Motion to Dismiss, and now wants Plaintiff to pay his attorney fees just for responding. Moreover, although new issues were raised and new arguments presented, Defendant does not deny making false statements in their reply (or throughout the case) or mischaracterizing Plaintiff's argument.

Defendant, through their attorney, is also claiming that Plaintiff should have known that "her frivolous motion filings will result in attorneys' fees and costs to be incurred by Defendant." (See Opposition to Sur-Reply p.6) Again, as stated in the introduction to this opposition, these costs are something they should have considered before posting their libelous SRD post and harassing Plaintiff—to the point of disrupting her life and causing her to experience physical symptoms of stress. They also voluntarily accepted their attorney's rate of service in exchange for his representation; if Defendant will not pay those fees, that is an issue between them and their attorney. Plaintiff is not responsible for paying those bills.

Based on Defendant's failure to file a responsive pleading to Plaintiff's complaint, their attempt to preemptively have all Plaintiff's filings struck, their failure to even file the appropriate motions for their own requests, and their request for Plaintiff to pay their attorneys fees, it is evident that they through their attorney, are abusing court process to harass Plaintiff and avoid paying their own attorney fees.

CONCLUSION

Defendant, through their attorney, raised new issues and arguments in their reply to Plaintiff's Opposition to their Motion to Dismiss. First, after acknowledging that Defendant was the same Peter Cooper who libeled and harassed Plaintiff, they, in their reply to her Opposition to their Motion to Dismiss, accused her of being uncertain whether she was suing the right person. Thus, Plaintiff provided exhibits (see exhibits 21-28) and rebutted this claim in her sur-reply, which she attached to her motion for leave to file it.

Next, they changed their reasoning for seeking dismissal. They first claimed that "Plaintiff's posts and communications with UNLV" were the basis for seeking dismissal for failure to state a claim, and then afterwards claimed that the reason was that Plaintiff had "not even attempted to show that her allegations have the required elements for a defamation claim." Thus, she had to address this new basis for dismissal in her sur-reply. She had also been waiting on a statement from UNLV police services saying that they do not have any records on her. Since Defendant is accusing her of stalking her professor in the most literal sense of the word (as defined by NRS 200.575), this exhibit is crucial in supporting her defamation claim. Plaintiff also experienced medical symptoms which further delayed her filing her exhibits and intended supplemental memorandum, and just as she was going to file them, Defendant filed their reply to her Opposition to their Motion to Dismiss. Thus, Plaintiff was not "attempting to re-argue her positions" but combining the information from the intended supplemental memorandum and sur-reply into one brief. It is ironic that Defendant would make such an accusation when they were supposedly worried about Plaintiff filing excessive motions.

They also claimed, for the first time, that Plaintiff was unsure whether UNR (and UNLV) admissions officials saw Defendant's libelous SRD post. Thus, a sur-reply was necessary to address that new issue.

Additionally, Defendant claimed that Plaintiff's argument for jurisdiction was that she was merely present in NV when she read Defendant's libelous content about herself. They even compared it to suing a Defendant in a Swiss Court just because one was vacationing in Switzerland when they read such libelous content. Plaintiff, however, never made such an argument and did not want to let Defendant, through their attorney, twist her words to make it appear that this was indeed her argument. Had they addressed her actual arguments and not tried to make it sound like she was making a different argument than she had, then it would be unnecessary to include this issue in her sur-reply. Again, however, Plaintiff never based her jurisdiction argument on merely being present in NV but explained how the effects test established by Caulder vs. Jones would give NV jurisdiction. (See Plaintiff's Opposition to Defendant's Motion To Dismiss p3) She also showed how Defendant deliberately targeted NV both by the content of their libelous posts (allowing the public to believe that UNLV allowed a faculty member to be stalked) and by his harassment of her.

Plaintiff, at the time of her opposition, was also awaiting a response from Reddit regarding records she had requested from them. These records include the basic subscriber information to troll accounts impersonating UNLV faculty. Crucially, Defendant has not denied being behind these accounts, though Plaintiff wanted definitive proof that they were. This would not only help her emotional distress claim but would further show that Defendant targeted the state of NV by 1) harassing Plaintiff using the names of UNLV faculty (Dr. Marcia Gallo and Fawn Douglas, an Art Professor at UNLV at the time) and 2) by further highlighting that the alleged events in his libelous story took place at UNLV (where they allegedly allowed a professor to be stalked by a former student).

The standard for filing a sur-ply is "whether the party making the motion would be unable to contest matters presented to the court for the first time in the opposing party's reply." Lewis v. Rumsfeld, 154 F. As demonstrated in this reply, Defendant, in their reply Re: Plaintiff's Opposition to Defendant's Motion To Dismiss, introduced new matters that Plaintiff was unable to previously contest. Most outrageously, however, when Plaintiff attempted to contest these new matters, they requested that she pay their attorneys' fees! Moreover, they didn't even bother to file a motion for this request. Instead, they tried to make one summary "request" to have all Plaintiff's filings "disregarded and stricken with prejudice" and to have Plaintiff sanctioned just for asking for leave to respond to these matters—that they themselves introduced in their Reply to Plaintiff's Opposition to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss.

Finally, since the hearing on Plaintiff's sur-reply falls after the hearing on Defendant's motion to dismiss, and since it would, for the reasons stated above, prejudice her for the Court to hear the motion to Dismiss before seeing/deciding whether to Grant the sur-reply, her ex parte motion for continuance should be granted.

Plaintiff hereby asks this honorable court to DENY DEFENDANT'S MOTION TO DISMISS, DENY THEIR "REQUEST" FOR PLAINTIFF'S MOTIONS AND FILINGS TO BE DISREGARDED AND STRICKEN WITH PREJUDICE, DENY THEIR "REQUEST" FOR PLAINTIFF TO PAY (ANY OF) THEIR

MOTION FOR LEAVE TO AMEND COMPLAINT

Peter Cooper Defendant

Plaintiff LISA BRESLAW ("BRESLAW" or "PLAINTIFF") hereby files the Motion for Leave to file her attached Amended Complaint. This motion is made and based upon the pleadings and papers on file, the attached memorandum and points of authorities, and any oral argument that the court may entertain at the time of hearing on this matter.

MEMORANDUM AND POINTS OF AUTHORITIES

INTRODUCTION:

Plaintiff filed her original complaint against Defendant, Peter Cooper, on July, 15th, 2021 and a conforming summons was issued on 7/20/2021. At that time, Plaintiff did not know Defendant's location, and on 9/30/21, her motion for alternative service was denied on the grounds that, at that time, the attached exhibits were "insufficient to establish that Defendant is associated with the alleged social media accounts." (See Court Minutes on file, 9/30/21) Plaintiff then spent months hiring multiple private investigators and a local process server, Genice Rojas, in an attempt to locate and serve Defendant. Several attempts were made by these investigators to contact Defendant over social media, but Defendant refused to respond to them. After considerable effort and expense to Plaintiff, Defendant was finally located at the University of Colorado, Boulder. Plaintiff then hired Colorado Investigator Jan Payne, who told Plaintiff that she had found Defendant's address. However, there was still the obstacle of serving Defendant in a secure building. Plaintiff nonetheless had paid for a service attempt on campus-set for a fews days later. Before that attempt could be made, however, Plaintiff was informed by Genice Rojas that Defendant had accepted service through his attorney, Sagar Raich. On October 27, 2021, Defendant was served. Plaintiff cancelled the campus service attempt and was given a partial refund.

On November, 2, 2021, Defendant, through their attorney, Sagar Raich, Esq., filed a motion to dismiss for "lack of personal jurisdiction," failure to state a claim," and "protected speech." However, Defendant has still not filed a responsive pleading. Therefore, Plaintiff wishes to amend the complaint to address these issues, add the claim of "Portrayal in a False Light," and add the court costs and costs of investigators/process servers to the relief she seeks.

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS OF AUTHORITIES

According to NRCP 15(a)(2), if not amended within 21 days of either a responsive pleading or service of motion 12 (b) (e) or (f), a party may "amend its pleading only with the opposing party's written consent or the court's leave. The court should freely give leave when justice so requires."

Also, "An amendment to a pleading relates back to the date of the original pleading when:(1) the amendment asserts a claim or defense that arose out of the conduct, transaction, or occurrence set out-or attempted to be set out- in the original pleading." (NRCP C[1])

Finally, the factual contentions have evidentiary support or, if specifically so identified, will likely have evidentiary support after a reasonable opportunity for further investigation or discovery(FRCP C[3])

JUSTIFICATION

Justice is so required here because: 1) It is not being presented for any improper purpose, such as to harass, cause unnecessary delay, or needlessly increase the cost of litigation (FRCP 11[b].)

Plaintiff is amending her complaint to address deficiencies claimed by Defendant through their attorney. All the new facts and claims arose out of the "conduct, transaction, or occurrence set out-or attempted to be set out- in the original pleading." The reason Plaintiff did not file this leave earlier is because she was worried that their attorney would not accept service of the amended complaint. Given the extraordinary difficulty she had serving them and the fact that they're living on an enormous, secure college campus (where service would be difficult), she feared having to start the process over—and possibly not being able to serve them again. Even in their reply to her opposition to their motion to dismiss, their attorney (wrongly/falsely) alleged that "Plaintiff admits that she does not even know whether it was Defendant who caused her harm..." (See Reply Re: Defendant's Motion to Dismiss p.2) Thus, her fears were not unfounded or unreasonable. However, in her motion to file her sur-reply, Plaintiff provided this Court with ample evidence (much more than she had at the time of her motion for alternative service) of Defendant's identity and location (see exhibits 21-29). Thus, if their attorney refused to accept service of the amended complaint, Plaintiff believes she would still be able to serve them now.

Her request for Defendant to pay for her court costs and investigator /process service is also just since it was Defendant's actions that caused this suit in the first place, plus their refusal to be served resulted in additional expenses for Plaintiff. Also, granting this motion would not prejudice Defendant.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

In her amended complaint, Plaintiff would like to first clarify how Defendant deliberately targeted the State of Nevada in their libelous post and harassment of Plaintiff. Again, although Defendant used the term "retired," Dr. Gallo, as Plaintiff had stated in the posts Defendant linked in his libelous content, was teaching part-time at UNLV during the time they claimed Plaintiff "stalked" her. UNLV, however, still has a duty of care to part-time faculty members and employees, especially regarding their safety. Thus, by claiming that Plaintiff "stalked her retired professor," Defendant had stated that UNLV allowed a faculty member, whom they had a duty of care to, to be stalked. Furthemore, Defendant knew, based on Plaintiff's username and the troll accounts appearing with UNLV faculty members names in them, that the alleged events he was describing happened at UNLV. Plaintiff believes Defendant to have been behind some of these troll accounts, and she is awaiting records from Reddit for confirmation. Defendant was also explicitly told by the South Yorkshire Police, when they warned them to stop harassing Plaintiff, that she resided in Las Vegas.

Next, In her original complaint, Plaintiff said that "she was accused of the crime of stalking." However, she would like to cite the specific defamatory statements Defendant made in their libelous post.

They were (in order of appearance).

- "It descends from a student making a misstep due to poor judgment and anxiety down to OP stalking her retired professor with whom she has become completely obsessed." (
- "...so she applies a proposal for a conference, gets accepted, and then tells her professor about it and that they would collaborate on it."
- "...as OP already knew at that point, the professor was retiring after that semester."

"She doesn't get the response she wants, so she feels that the chair was negligent, and gets the provost, Board of Regents, and faculty senate involved in an attempt to have the chair and the dean demoted." (Plaintiff never tried to have the Dean, Dr. Jennifer Keene, demoted.)

"She's convinced she can make up to her and be the professor's friend." Plaintiff said that she would like to have stayed in touch with Dr. Gallo, but not that they would be close friends. She even acknowledged, in a post Defendant linked, that as much as she would have liked to have kept in touch, given their limited interactions etc., Dr. Gallo probably was not interested in having any personal relationship with her. In the context of Defendant's libelous post, that statement makes Plaintiff sound delusional and more like someone who would stalk a former professor. (see exhibit 18/limerence post)

"The retired professor is ignoring all of her messages, but she just keeps trying to get in touch. She even asks legaladvice "is this stalking?", they say "yes", and she continues to try to contact this poor woman she tried (and failed miserably) to ruin the career of for no reason." (Plaintiff, again, was contacting UNLV administration to retract the grievance; she was not contacting Dr. Gallo directly. She also did not set out to ruin Dr. Gallo's career. Again, UNLV mishandled the matter by either not following their stated policy of trying to first have the parties resolve their issue or by lying to Plaintiff about the grievance's existence."

Since Defendant took posts that Plaintiff had actually made [and deleted] and deliberately misconstrued/ created a false context for them (in a way that gave people a negative and inaccurate impression of her), she also wants to add the claim of portrayal in a false light.

Additionally, Defendant should have to pay Plaintiff's court costs and the costs of all the private investigators/process servers she hired. Had Defendant responded to the initial attempts to contact him and agreed to be served, Plaintiff would not have incurred those fees. Plaintiff could not have listed those fees in her initial complaint since she could not predict how much it would cost to find and serve Defendant.

VS.

Peter Cooper Defendant

FIRST AMENDED COMPLAINT

Plaintiff, LISA BRESLAW, in proper person, complains against Defendant, Peter COOPER, as follows:

I. PARTIES

- 1. Plaintiff, LISA BRESLAW, (hereinafter, "Plaintiff") is an individual who is currently, and who was at all relevant times herein, a resident of the State of Nevada, County of Clark, City of Las Vegas.
- 2. Defendant, PETER COOPER, (Hereinafter "Defendant") is a US citizen who resided in Sheffield UK and Reading UK at the relevant times herein. Defendant has a history of frequent moving, and not long after moving to Reading, was posting about moving back to the US. He first moved to Boston, where he stayed with his parents, and then moved two more times, according to his posts. He is now living on campus at the University of Colorado, Boulder.

II. FACTS

- 1. Defendant identified as male at the time of the relevant torts, then identified as nonbinary, and now, based on their Reddit activity, feels like they may be transgender. To Plaintiff's knowledge, however, their preferred pronouns are still "they" and "them," so Plaintiff will continue using these pronouns when referencing Defendant, unless she learns of a change in this preference.
- 2. Plaintiff graduated magna cum laude from the University of Nevada Las Vegas on December 15, 2018. She had a 3.93 cumulative GPA, 4.0 History gpa, and completed six graduate-level history classes. Prior to the facts stated below, she had no prior conflict with faculty nor any conduct issues.
- 3. Plaintiff has generalized anxiety disorder/obsessive compulsive disorder, is afraid of flying, and fears germs. These phobias have worsened during the pandemic, and traveling out of state/country to sue Defendant would be a significant hardship for Plaintiff. Her GAD/OCD diagnosis is medically documented (see exhibit 21).
- 4. Around February or March of 2019, Plaintiff submitted a proposal to the Oral History Association for presentation at their 2019 annual conference in Salt Lake City. On April 15, she was notified that her proposal was accepted. This was her first submission to an academic conference and would have simultaneously been the first one she attended.
- 5. In late April of 2019, Plaintiff emailed her former history professor, Dr. Marcia Gallo, politely asking if she knew anyone who would be interested in participating as a narrator/interviewee in this oral history project. She did not, however, tell her that "they would collaborate on it," or in any way demand or imply that she would assist. (See exhibits 1 and 33, Plaintiff believes UNLV to have the original email.)
- 6. Dr. Gallo replied to this email, declining to assist, on the grounds that (in summary) Plaintiff lacked the proper background and experience in oral history to present a project at a conference. Plaintiff, however, perceived the tone of this reply as "curt." She then agreed to withdraw the proposal from the conference, and explained to Dr. Gallo that, in order to demonstrate her ability to handle a significant project, she would still like to complete it without presenting it at the conference. In this email, she said that "any assistance would be appreciated," but again, she did not "tell" Dr. Gallo that "they would collaborate on it." (See exhibit 3)
- 7. Prior to the "curt" response, Plaintiff believed herself to have a good rapport with Dr. Gallo. (See exhibit 2)
- 8. When Dr. Gallo did not reply to Plaintiff's subsequent email within 24 hours (as she normally did) Plaintiff emailed UNLV's History Department Chair, Dr. Andrew Kirk, regarding Dr. Gallo's "tone" on a few other occasions, the lack of response to the previous email, and expressed feeling anxious over Dr. Gallo's seeming change in attitude toward her. (UNLV has a record of this email.) Plaintiff was not retaliating against Dr. Gallo for not assisting with her project but was concerned about this seeming change in attitude.

- 9. UNLV's policy regarding such situations stipulates that attempts should be made to resolve concerns at "the lowest possible level," ideally between the parties themselves, before a formal complaint is filed. (See exhibit 32) However, On May 16, 2019, Dr. Kirk emailed Plaintiff stating that he had "discussed the matter at length" with the Dean and Associate Dean of the Liberal Arts College (Drs. Jennifer Keene and John Tuman, respectively), "reported Plaintiff's "complaint" to Student Affairs, and told Plaintiff that "her grievances" were being "taken very seriously" and "formally recorded." (See exhibit 4)
- 10. Plaintiff then wanted to see these records to find out why Dr. Gallo had been upset with her. She first emailed Dean Keene, who denied there being any documentation of the grievance, but referred her to the Office of Registrar in case she wanted to examine her education records. She was eventually directed to the correct person within the Registrar's Office (Jennifer Drennen) and examined the requested records. These consisted of some email exchanges between Dr. Kirk and Dr. Gallo in which Dr. Gallo's stated reason for declining to assist with the project was consistent with what she had initially told Plaintiff (i.e. lack of oral history training and not having consulted with faculty before asking for assistance). Dr. Kirk had also requested a phone conversation with her, and while Plaintiff does not know what was said, Dr. Gallo replied (in the email)"I am stunned that she is accusing me of somehow causing harm." (Plaintiff had mentioned her anxiety being triggered but did not accuse Dr. Gallo of inflicting any other "harm.")
- 11. After seeing these records, Plaintiff wished to retract the grievance, and met with Dean Keene some time around June or July of 2019 in order to do so. Dean Keene, however, denied the meeting with Dr. Kirk and again denied the "grievance" (i.e. there being a record of Plaintiff's "complaint" against Dr. Gallo). She also told Plaintiff that she had spoken to Dr. Gallo about the situation and that Dr. Gallo was not angry or upset with her. She even told Plaintiff that she may contact her (Dr. Gallo) for a letter of recommendation for graduate school. (Dean Keene later denied this conversation as well.)
- 12. In December of 2018, Dr. Gallo permitted Plaintiff to "contact her in the future re: grad school applications." (See exhibit 5)
- 13. After Dean Keene's reassurances, Plaintiff emailed Dr. Gallo an apology letter around July 31, 2019, and included a request for a graduate school letter of recommendation. This act does not count as stalking or harassment under Nevada law.
- 14. Dr. Gallo did not reply to this email.
- 15. Dr. Gallo was teaching part-time at UNLV at this time due to being in the process of phase-in retirement. However, she was still considered an employee of UNLV, and they had a duty of care to her. She did not officially retire from UNLV until July of 2020.

- 16. When Dr. Gallo did not respond to Plaintiff's apology/reference letter request, Plaintiff began contacting various UNLV offices and administrators. These correspondences included the Disability Resource Center, Student Affairs, Human Resources, Dean Keene, Dr. Christopher Heavy (Vice Provost), Dr. Marta Meana (then acting President) and Assistant General Counsel, Debra Pieruschka. She was not, however, directly contacting Dr. Gallo.
- 17. In addition to wanting to retract the grievance against Dr. Gallo, she also wanted to file a complaint against Dr. Kirk for his negligence in handling the situation. (He either unnecessarily escalated the matter or lied to Plaintiff about the formal grievance.) Plaintiff, to her knowledge, did not specifically request that Dean Keene be demoted. She did, however, complain about the University to the Board of Regents over the matter.
- 18. After repeatedly being told by UNLV administration that "the matter was closed," Plaintiff began posting about the situation on Reddit (under the username Gemini725). Gemini is Plaintiff's Zodiac sign and 725 was used to indicate a Las Vegas area code.
- 19. Defendant had been following Plaintiff's Reddit account during this period and saving her posts.
- 20. On December 16, 2019 Defendant created a defamatory post on r/subredditdrama, a subreddit with nearly one million viewers, called University Student Makes a dumb decision regarding her professor when applying to graduate school, descends over the course of three months into an obsessive stalker who's turned an entire faculty against her. This post alleges that Plaintiff "told her professor that they would collaborate on the project," got the "Provost, Faculty Senate, and the Board of Regents involved in having both Dr. Kirk and Dean Keene demote, and then stalked Dr. Gallo. They specifically alleged that, "The retired professor is ignoring all of her messages, but she just keeps trying to get in touch. She even asks legaladvice "is this stalking?", they say "yes", and she continues to try to contact this poor woman she tried (and failed miserably) to ruin the career of for no reason." (see exhibit 6)
- 21. Defendant Also mocked Plaintiff's anxiety disorder both the post itself and the comment sections. (see exhibit 6)
- 22. Plaintiff is easily identifiable by this post. Defendant, for example, mentioned a specific situation unique to Plaintiff (that anyone involved would have recognized if they saw Defendant's post), listed Plaintiff's gender and age (37 is an uncommon age of university attendance), described a combination of unusually personality traits (anxiety, fear of germs, not wanting to relocate etc.), and detailed Plaintiff's anxiety over her paper, her grade on it (A-), etc. The combination of this information, together with her username (indicating a Las Vegas area code and a narrow range of birthdates), again, makes her easily recognizable.
- 23. On Dec. 16th, soon after Defendant published their libelous post re: Plaintiff, a Redditor alerted her to it. Plaintiff then deleted her posts.

- 24. Defendant immediately retrieved them using removeddit links, and edited the post to let everyone know that the removeddit links had been added.
- 25. Defendant continued harassing Plaintiff across Reddit from both their then main accounts, u/thestickystickman, and at least one other account, u/DovahzulsABadConlang, which they later revealed was them. (see exhibit 7 and 13) For example, they would deliberately provoke Plaintiff by condescendingly telling her to "stop" and responding "lol" when she expressed feeling bullied by them and reporting their harassment to US law enforcement. They even followed her onto a new account she made to escape their harassment (and that which she incited) and responded, "Gemini. It's time to stop," when she inquired about suing them. They would also share the libelous SRD post on Plaintiff's posting threads (see exhibit 8, "Oh, it gets worse" comment by DovahzulsABadConlang; it's a link to the libelous post), mock Plaintiff's anxiety by feigning distress over professors not responding to them or the tone of their responses (see exhibit 8) and continued referring to plaintiff as a "stalker" (and variations such as a "creepy" or "mentally unstable stalker" etc.)
- 26. Exhibit 8 is not the entirety of Defendant's harassment. Their post also incited a countless number of others to harass her. Some of this harassment was from troll accounts impersonating UNLV faculty members—using their names as usernames. One account, for example, was called "glasses_of_gallo." Another was "not_gallo" and another "paintings_of_fawns." Plaintiff suspects that Defendant was behind these accounts since the usernames were consistent with their love of wordplay and the writing style seemed like them. For example, the u/paintings_of_fawns account (named for then UNLV Art Professor Fawn Douglas whom Plaintiff stayed with for a few days) called her a "creepy stalker." Plaintiff has requested the basic subscriber information from these accounts from Reddit . (See subpoena Duces Tecum and exhibits 22 and 37)
- 27. In April of 2019, Plaintiff learned Defendant's identity and reported them to the South Yorkshire police for harassment and malicious communications. Because Plaintiff resided in the US, they would not formally prosecute Defendant. However, they did warn Defendant to stop harassing Plaintiff. (see exhibits 9 and 10)
- 28. Defendant then created another account and created a post on r/LegalAdvice titled, Received a message from the South Yorkshire Police informing me about apparent harassment of a woman from Las Vegas on Reddit, what does this mean and what do I do? In this same post, he shared his libelous post and told the sub that Plaintiff "stalked her professor." (See exhibit 13)
- 29. The next day, they posted an update in which they confirmed that the warning was real. In this update, they also referred to Plaintiff as a "mentally unstable" stalker and said "...fortunately, she lives on the other side of the world from me." (See exhibit 10) They later moved within less than a 2 hour flight from her.

- 30. Even after confirming the warning's legitimacy with the South Yorkshire Police, they continued to mock Plaintiff, reference and share their libelous SRD post, and would laugh at and brag about having the police called on them For example, they added the banner, Unironically had the police called on me bcof an SRD post to the post.
- 31. Within a few months, Defendant created another account, u/Asticky_ and continued this harassment. After learning that Plaintiff had reported their harassment to the graduate schools they applied to (and showing them the police warning for them to stop), they deleted the contents of this account. (see exhibit 11)
- 32. In February of 2020 Plaintiff received a cease and desist letter from UNLV, requesting that she stop trying to retract the grievance and instructed her to direct all communications with UNLV to Debra Pieruscka, their assistant general counsel. This letter was for contacting administration to retract the grievance, not for directly contacting Dr. Gallo. (See exhibit 19) The letter also said "This letter is not intended as, and may not be construed to be, a complete recitation of facts and circumstances surrounding this matter." (See exhibit 19). Plaintiff then called Debra to ask what "facts" she was referring to, and Debra told Plaintiff that she had seen her activity on Reddit (clearly referring to the posts linked in the SRD post). Plaintiff fell silent at that point and agreed to abide by the cease and desist letter.
- 33. At no point was Plaintiff criminally charged with stalking, nor were any civil actions taken against her. Plaintiff has since obtain a police statement from UNLV's police services confirming that they had no records on her. (See exhibit 30)
- 34. Even over a year after the libelous SRD post re: Plaintiff was published, people continued sharing it and asking for updates on her.
- 35. Around February 1, 2021, Plaintiff applied to the University of Nevada Reno (UNR) for a Masters of Arts degree in history. The minimum requirements for acceptance into the program were a 2.75 GPA, 2 reference letters, and a statement of purpose "discussing your interests and plans for study and professional work." The GRE requirement was waived in 2021, and Plaintiff did not take it. Plaintiff applied with a 3.93 GPA, 6 graduate level credits (2 courses), and a statement of purpose detailing how her research interest fit into the program. She also had two supportive letters of recommendation from community college professors at CSN, but because of the cease and desist letter, did not not have any letters from UNLV professors.
- 36. Prior to applying, Plaintiff had contacted UNR history professor, Dr. Emily Hobson, about potentially advising her. In this letter, Plaintiff mentioned that Dr. Gallo had inspired her into her intended subfields (History of Sexuality/20th Century History). To that Dr. Hobson replied "I absolutely understand your admiration for Dr. Gallo." After that initial email exchange, Dr. Hobson stopped speaking to Plaintiff. Then, on March 16th, 2021, Plaintiff was notified of her rejection from UNR.

- 37. When she initially followed up with their Graduate Program Director, Dr. Edward "Ned" Schoolman, he initially said that it was due to "faculty leaves, budget cuts, etc." However, Dr. Hobson, in her initial email correspondence with Plaintiff, indicated that she was accepting students. In fact, she seemed to like Plaintiff's research proposal. (This email was on Plaintiff's old UNLV student account which is now closed.)
- 38. After filing this lawsuit, Plaintiff again contacted UNR to get more information about her rejection. After being ignored by Dr. Schoolman, she contacted the Dean's Office (of UNR's College of Liberal Arts), and eventually spoke to Dr. Linda Curcio-Nagy, their assistant dean and professor of history. Dr. Curcio said that not having reference letters from upper division professors was a red flag, and she discouraged Plaintiff from reapplying. Plaintiff also mentioned Dr. Hobson ignoring her and told Dr. Curcio that she had a screenshot of the unanswered email, which she would be using as an exhibit in a defamation suit against a 3rd party. Dr. Hobson then replied to the email (after Plaintiff's exchange with Dr. Curcio), declining to advise Plaintiff if she reapplied.
- 39. Plaintiff is humiliated by the defamatory Subreddidrama post, which portrays her as an "insane" student who first tried to coerce Dr. Gallo to work on a project with her (by telling her that "they would collaborate on it") and then "stalked" her, "thinking that she would make this up to her and become her best friend etc."
- 40. Plaintiff has become distrustful of people because of the harassment Defendant incited against her. For example, she always wonders whether anyone she meets or interacts with in real life could have been one of her online harassers.
- 41. Plaintiff feels that she can never have a dignified professional image because of that libelous post.
- 42. Defendant's post and harassment caused Plaintiff to experience physical symptoms such as chest tightness, tachycardia, and general distress. Plaintiff took anxiety medication to help with these symptoms (see exhibit 36)

III. CLAIMS FOR RELIEF

A. LIBEL PER SE

- 43. Defendant made false statements of fact against Plaintiff. They were:
- "It descends from a student making a misstep due to poor judgment and anxiety down to OP stalking her retired professor with whom she has become completely obsessed."
- "...so she applies a proposal for a conference, gets accepted, and then tells her professor about it and that they would collaborate on it."

"...as OP already knew at that point, the professor was retiring after that semester."

"She doesn't get the response she wants, so she feels that the chair was negligent, and gets the provost, Board of Regents, and faculty senate involved in an attempt to have the chair and the dean demoted." (Plaintiff never tried to have the Dean, Dr. Jennifer Keene, demoted.)

"She's convinced she can make up to her and be the professor's friend."

"The retired professor is ignoring all of her messages, but she just keeps trying to get in touch. She even asks legaladvice "is this stalking?", they say "yes", and she continues to try to contact this poor woman she tried (and failed miserably) to ruin the career of for no reason."

- 42. All of Defendant' allegations relate to Plaintiff's profession/education and make her less likely to be accepted into a graduate program.
- 43. Defendant made an unprivileged publication to millions of people.
- 44. As a result of these statements, Plaintiff 1) Received a cease and desist letter from UNLV and 2) Was rejected from UNR.

B. PORTRAYAL IN A FALSE LIGHT

- 45. Defendant took posts that Plaintiff had made (and deleted) and used them to give the public the false impression that she engaged in the behavior detailed above and in his libelous SRD post.
- 46. This false impression (detailed above) would be highly offensive to a reasonable person.

C. INTENTIONAL INFLICTION OF EMOTIONAL DISTRESS

- 47. Defendant's conduct was extreme and outrageous
- 48. Defendant intended to cause or acted with reckless disregard for the truth. This is evident based on the platform they shared their libelous post on (SRD), their continuous sharing it, their subsequent harassment, and the fact that their defamatory statements contradict the information Plaintiff shared in her posts.
- 49. Defendant made his defamatory post knowing that Plaintiff had an anxiety disorder, and he even mocked her for it.
- 50. As a proximate result of such conduct, Plaintiff suffered severe emotional distress. This included humiliation, loss of dignity, and experiencing physical symptoms of stress (i.e. chest tightness etc.)

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff prays for the following relief:

- 1. An injunction for the libelous subredditdrama post to be removed. Defendant should have to incur the full monetary cost of this removal, including future subpoenas to Reddit etc.
- 2. An injunction for a restraining order to prevent further harassment from Defendant, especially since they now know Plaintiff's identity and location.
- 3. For special damages of $19, 200 for the lost opportunity to attend UNR. This amount is equivalent to the $9,600 prorated annual graduate assistantship salary at the minimum of 10 hours a week. The program Plaintiff applied to takes an average of two years to complete, thus, at a minimum, she would have earned $19,200 over those two years.
- 4. For general damages for past, present, and future pain and suffering (and other damages) in excess of $15,000.
- 5. For $1, 164 in investigator/process server fees and court costs. (An exhibit documenting these costs will later be provided.)
- 6. For such other and further relief as this court deems just and equitable.

EXHIBIT "A" NEVADA RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE

Rule 45

(c) Protection of persons subject to subpoena.

- (1) A party or an attorney responsible for the issuance and service of a subpoena shall take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to that subpoena. The court on behalf of which the subpoena was issued shall enforce this duty and impose upon the party or attorney in breach of this duty an appropriate sanction, which may include, but is not limited to, lost earnings and a reasonable attorney's fee.
- (2) (A) A person commanded to produce and permit inspection and copying of designated books, papers, documents or tangible things, or inspection of premises need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless commanded to appear for deposition, hearing or trial.
- (B) Subject to paragraph (d)(2) of this rule, a person commanded to produce and permit inspection and copying may, within 14 days after service of the subpoena or before the time specified for compliance if such time is less than 14 days after service, serve upon the party or attorney designated in the subpoena written objection to inspection or copying of any or all of the designated materials or of the premises. If objection is made, the party serving the subpoena shall not be entitled to inspect and copy the materials or inspect the premises except pursuant to an order of the court by which the subpoena was issued. If objection has been made, the party serving the subpoena may, upon notice to the person commanded to produce, move at any time for an order to compel the production. Such an order to compel production shall protect any person who is not a party or an officer of a party from significant expense resulting from the inspection and copying commanded.
- (3) (A) On timely motion, the court by which a subpoena was issued shall quash or modify the subpoena if it fails to allow reasonable time for compliance;

- (ii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to travel to a place more than 100 miles from the place where that person resides, is employed or regularly transacts business in person, except that such a person may in order to attend trial be commanded to travel from any such place within the state in which the trial is held, or
- (iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter and no exception or waive applies, or
 - (iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) If a subpoena

(i) requires disclosure of a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information, or

(ii) requires disclosure of an unretained expert's opinion or information not describing specific events or occurrences in dispute and resulting from the expert's study made not at the request of any party, the court may, to protect a person subject to or affected by the subpoena, quash or modify the subpoena or, if the party in whose behalf the subpoena is issued shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship and assures that the person to whom the subpoena is addressed will be reasonably compensated, the court may order appearance or production only upon specified conditions.

(d) Duties in responding to subpoena.

- (1) A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents shall produce them as they are kept in the usual course of business or shall organize and label them to correspond with the categories in the demand.
- (2) When information subject to a subpoena is withheld on a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial preparation materials, the claim shall be made expressly and shall be supported by a description of the nature of the documents, communications, or things not produced that is sufficient to enable the demanding party to contest the claim.

Paragraph 3: See exhibit 36 (Plaintiff's medical records, which document her GAD/OCD.)

Paragraph 10: (Clarification) At the time of her "complaint" to Dr. Kirk, Plaintiff did not specify that she had an anxiety disorder; she only expressed becoming anxious over Dr. Gallo's "tone." Thus, in retracting the grievance, she disclosed her anxiety disorder to several administrators and staff in an attempt to mitigate any consequences to Dr. Gallo.

Paragraph 11: (Clarification) Dean Keene denied the conversation she supposedly had with Dr. Gallo (described in the paragraph). She, to Plaintiff's knowledge, has not denied having this conversation with Plaintiff (telling Plaintiff she spoke to Dr. Gallo and knew she [Dr. Gallo] was not upset with her etc.).

Paragraph 22: unusual (not unusually) personality traits

Paragraph 25: "They even followed her onto a new account she made to escape their harassment (and that which Defendant incited). The pronoun "she" [instead of "Defendant" or "they"] was an error, not a reference to Plaintiff.

Paragraph 26:: "For example, the u/paintings_of_fawns account (named for then UNLV Art Professor, Fawn Douglas, whom Plaintiff stayed with for a few days) called her a "scary stalker." (Plaintiff initially typed "creepy stalker," though Defendant called her "creepy" at other points in his harassment. Plaintiff, however, still believes this account was theirs.) Again, she is trying to get the records for this account from Reddit.

Paragraph 34: (See exhibit 12)

Paragraph 45:(Clarification) Although Defendant shared his libelous post with millions of people on r/subredditdrama (and throughout Reddit), he also, as stated in the post itself, knew that Plaintiff wanted to attend grad school and have an academic career in Las Vegas. This was another example of targeting NV.

Paragraph 48: continuously (not continuous)

*In the "prayer for relief" section: Plaintiff has subsequently recalculated the receipts in exhibit 8, and it comes to $1,378. Plaintiff asks that Defendant pays all further court costs for this suit as well.

Prayer for relief section #2: "An injunction for a restraining order to prevent further harassment from Defendant, especially since they now know Plaintiff's identity and location." By "location," Plaintiff meant that Defendant now has her address. They were aware of her location at the time they made their post and prior to her filing this suit (as exhibit 13 also indicates).

ERRATA FOR AMENDED COMPLAINT

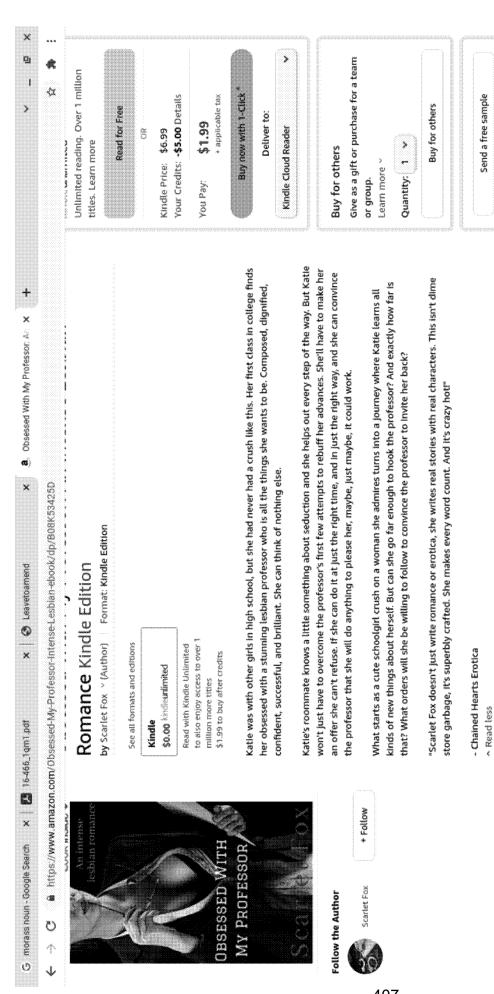

Exhibit Index Sheet for Exhibits 40-41

Exhibit 40: Obsessed With My Professor: An Intense Lesbian Romance This novel, published in Sept. of 2020, and written by Las Vegas author Scarlett Fox (pen name), came up in a google search for "woman obsessed with her professor Las Vegas." Based on the plot summary, available content, as well as the timing of publication (Sept. 2020), it is based on the Defendant's defamatory post. Even the dialogue is nearly identical to Plaintiff's posts/comments, with only minor details changed, and there is the same 30 year age gap between "Katie" (the main character) and "Dr. Marin," the professor she pursues (apparently based on Plaintiff's description of Dr. Gallo). Additionally, Katie's "pink and blue hair" probably referenced Plaintiff's bisexuality. (Pink and Blue are the main colors of the bi flag, and Plaintiff was posting on r/bisexual at this time, questioning her sexuality).

This is further proof of Defendant's post having "local, on the ground effects" in Las Vegas. And again, Defendant knew Plaintiff resided in Las Vegas, and even shared his defamatory post in another post explicitly mentioning that Plaintiff lived here. (See exhibit 13)

Exhibit 41: This is another example of Defendant's harassment. Here, nine months after publishing his defamatory post, and even after the police warning, he continued mocking Plaintiff (i.e. feigning distress over professors not responding to him).

MOTION TO VACATE ORDER OF DISMISSAL/ MOTION TO STAY ORDER OF DISMISSAL

Plaintiff LISA BRESLAW ("BRESLAW" or "PLAINTIFF") hereby files this motion to vacate the order of dismissal entered on Jan. 6, 2022. If, however, this honorable Court will not vacate the dismissal, Plaintiff asks that it stay the order of dismissal while her appeal to the NV Supreme Court is pending. This motion is made and based upon the pleadings and papers on file, the attached memorandum of points and authorities, and any oral argument that the Court may entertain at the time of hearing on this matter.

Introduction

On Jan 4, 2022 at 9:00 am, Plaintiff LISA BRELAW ("Plaintiff"), pro so, and Defendant Peter Cooper ("Defendant"), through their attorney SAGAR RAISCH, ESQ. came for hearing before the Court on Defendant's Motion to Dismiss. Defendant, through their attorney, claimed that dismissal was proper due "lack of personal jurisdiction," "failure to state a claim," and "protected speech." Retired Judge David Barker (filling in for the honorable Moncia Trujillo) granted the dismissal based on, in his opinion, "lack of personal jursidiction." On January 6, 2022, the order for the dismissal was entered (see Notice of Entry and Order), and on that same day of January 6, 2022, Plaintiff filed a notice of appeal and is in the process of appealing the order (of dismissal) to the Nevada Supreme Court. (See Notice of Appeal). For the reasons detailed below, Plaintiff is requesting to vacate the order of dismissal. If, however, the dismissal is not vacated, Plaintiff requests that the order to dismiss be "stayed" while the appeal is pending.

Memorandum and Points of Authority

 Pursuant to NRCP 60(b)(1), the district court may "provide relief from a final judgement, order or proceeding" based on a showing of "mistake, inadvertance, surprise or excusable neglect"

There were several errors in the Order (of Dismissal) itself. First, on the first page of the Notice of Entry of Order, it says, "Please take notice that on Jan. 6, 2022 an order was filed in which the Court granted Plaintiff's Motion to Dismiss..." It was the Defendant who filed the motion to Dismiss. Plaintiff opposed that motion.

Next, it was not specified whether the Order (of Dismissal) was dismissed with or without Prejudice. (Plaintiff opposes it either way.)

Additionally, the order states "...the court heard arguments for failure to state a claim as well as arguments re: NRS 4.650, but Dismissal of the matter is warranted for failure of this Court to be able to exercise personal jurisdiction over the Defendant." (Order [of dismissal]) However, it is not specified as to whether the dismissal was granted in part or in full. For example, could Plaintiff and parties involved assume that Plaintiff succeeded in stating her claims and that Defendant's defamatory post did not qualify as "fair comment" under NRS 4.650? Alternatively, if the motion to dismiss was granted in full, it is not apparent by the language which focuses on lack of personal jurisdiction.

Finally, neither the Order nor Entry of Order specify what the order is for. The Order is titled Order an Entry of Order titled Entry of Order. Thus, an order which does not specify what the order is for should be vacated.

Next, pursuant to NRCP (60)(b) (3) the district court may provide relief from a final judgment or order for reasons of fraud (whether previously called intrinsic or extrinsic), misrepresentation, or misconduct by an opposing party;

Defendant's attorney in this matter has made egregiously and blatantly false statements throughout this case (in both their briefs and at the January 4th hearing). Specifically, he claimed that Plaintiff was unsure if she was suing the right person, that she has admitted to harassing UNLV employees and faculty, that she was unsure whether officials at UNLV and UNR saw the defamatory content, and that her argument for jurisdiction was merely that she was present in NV when she read the defamatory content. Plaintiff wanted to address these false statements in a sur-reply, but that hearing (set for Jan. 20th, 2022) was vacated at the Jan. 4th hearing when the case was dismissed. (See Motion For Leave to File Sur-Reply in the case file).

Furthermore, at the January 4th hearing (in front of Judge Barker and a [virtual] room of approx. 20 attorneys), Defendant's attorney accused Plaintiff of harassing Defendant and claimed that Defendant was asking Reddit "I'm being harassed by Plaintiff, what should I do?" That statement in itself was defamatory and blatantly untrue. Plaintiff (nervous during her first hearing [that wasn't ex parte] in her first lawsuit) was explaining that Defendant created a post where they specifically mentioned that Plaintiff was in Las Vegas (in the title) and then proceeded to share the libelous post and accuse her of stalking her UNLV professor in this same post. (See exhibit 13). (This was to support one of her arguments for personal jurisdiction.)

These are misrepresentations (and possibly even count as misconduct) from Defendant's counsel, and Plaintiff would like to point these falsehoods out to the court. This alone is reason to vacate /grant relief from the dismissal. Plaintiff had provided several additional exhibits to prove these statements false (i.e. evidence of Defendant's identity [even though they accepted service of the complaint] etc.), but the subsequent hearing for the sur-reply was vacated as was the motion to amend the complaint

Legal Arguments for the Order (of Dismissal) To Be Vacated

Calder

In addition to the above arguments, Plaintiff wishes to present the legal arguments for this honorable court to vacate the order of dismissal. As stated above, this case was dismissed based on "lack of personal jurisdiction." In her opposition (see Opposition to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss), Plaintiff cited Calder vs. Jones, arguing that under the Calder "effects test" Nevada would have personal and/or specific jurisdiction over Defendant. (see Opposition to Motion to Dismiss p. 3 and p.7 of Motion for Leave to File Sur-Reply to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss)

In Walden vs. Fiore, the Supreme Court explained that "they key to the Calder decision was "reputational-based 'effects' of the libel. (E'Cassanova vs. Morrow, 2021 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 33257) Under this ruling, NV would have jurisdiction over Defendant, because they knew (based on Plaintiff's posts) that she was planning on applying exclusively to graduate programs in NV (which is only UNLV and UNR). Graduate admissions, however, are not only based on academic qualifications but also largely on an applicant's reputation/character. Defendant certainly must have understood that accusing Plaintiff of stalking a (UNLV) professor, trying to force this professor to collaborate on a project, and then frivolously having administration demoted would damage her reputation in NV. (Again, NV was the only place she wanted to attend graduate school—which Defendant was aware of.) Thus, in addition to the reason's mentioned in her opposition (and sur-reply), Plaintiff feels Calder should have indeed been applied to her case.

Vangheluwe

In Plaintiff's Opposition, she also cited Vangheluwe (see Opposition to Motion to Dismiss), specifically regarding "geographical hashtags," in which social media contacts alone justify personal jurisdiction over a nonresident. Two points were brought up in this regard. First was the "725" in Plaintiff's Reddit username u/Gemini725. As mentioned in the opposition, Redditors (including Defendant) quickly figured out that Plaintiff was in Las Vegas, as was evidenced by multiple troll accounts appearing with Dr. Gallo's and other UNLV faculty members' names in them. The biggest clue that Plaintiff was in Las Vegas came from her username. At the hearing, the honorable Judge David Barker retorted that 702 is the Las Vegas area code, but as Plaintiff tried pointing out, 725 is also a NV/Las Vegas area code. (If one googles the number 725, for example, the first entry says "Area code 725 serves Las Vegas, NV and the surrounding areas." Plus, this was the first 3 digits/area code of Plaintiff's previous phone number.) Thus whether Defendant was behind those troll accounts or merely saw them, they knew Plaintiff was in Las Vegas when they made their libelous post, and also knew (based on Plaintiff's posts/comments) that she had planned to apply only to graduate programs in Las Vegas (UNLV and UNR). Furthermore, not only did Defendant know that Plaintiff wanted to attend graduate programs in NV but additionally knew that she didn't want to relocate for any reason (as they mocked her for).

Next, Defendant made a post titled Received a message from the South Yorkshire Police informing me about apparent harassment of a woman from Las Vegas on Reddit, what does this mean and what do I do? In this same post, they shared the libelous post and accused Plaintiff of stalking her professor. They wrote, "Several months ago, I submitted a post to /r/SubredditDrama about a woman in the US who stalked her professor and made a lengthy series of posts to academic subreddits about it." (See exhibit 13) Based on the title of this post, by "women in the US," they clearly referred to Las Vegas, and as Plaintiff mentioned in the opposition, the sur-reply, and her motion to amend complaint, the corollary of Defendant's post was that UNLV allowed a faculty member to be stalked. Thus, by sharing the defamatory post in a post explicitly naming Las Vegas, and by sharing that Plaintiff didn't want to leave her city etc., they specifically and intentionally damaged her reputation in NV.

Again, enough information was provided in the defamatory post to identify Plaintiff by, and Debra Pieruschka, UNLV's Assistant Gen. Counsel told Plaintiff in a phone conversation that she had seen this defamatory post. (See Opposition to Defendant's motion to Dismiss, p. 3) Thus, Plaintiff is certain that she was identifiable and identified by the post. As she said in the Jan. 4th hearing, "That is not speculation or a hypothesis." (That Debra Pieruschka and other UNLV faculty/officials saw that defamatory content and understood it to be about Plaintiff.) (See Opposition to Motion to dismiss p. 3, Motion to File Sur-Reply, p7 and Leave to Amend Complaint p11).

The Vangheluwe case, which Plaintiff had cited in her opposition, was not even addressed at the Jan. 4th, 2022 hearing, however.

Nevada's Long-Arm Statute 14.065

Finally, Plaintiff believes that NV's long-arm statute (see Defendant's Motion to Dismiss p 3) indeed establishes personal and/or specific jurisdiction over Defendant. (NV long-arm statute 14.065 Exercise of jurisdiction on any basis consistent with state and federal constitutions;)

Neither the NV or US Constitution prohibits NV jurisdiction overDefendant in this matter.

Defendant's attorney also stated in his motion to Dismiss, citing Arbella Mu. INs. Co. Vs. Dist. Ct., 134 P. 3d 710, 122, "specific personal jurisdiction exists when...1) defendant affirmatively directs conduct towards the forum state and 2) the cause of action arises from that purposeful contact with the forum or conduct targeting the forum." "Finally, ...a court must consider whether requiring the defendant to appear in the action would be reasonable."

As Plaintiff pointed out in her opposition motion (and throughout the case), Defendant did not libel Plaintiff over her private activities but accused her of stalking a UNLV professor, whom UNLV had a duty of care to. Thus, by alleging that Plaintiff was stalking this professor, they were alleging that UNLV allowed a faculty member's safety and well-being to be jeopardized. This is certainly conduct targeting the forum.

Effects Doctrine

As mentioned in Plaintiff's Opposition to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, The Effects Doctrine asserts that "activities abroad, even those of foreign citizens, may be regulated because of their impact on interest within the territorial state's domain." First, Defendant was not even a "foreign citizen." They were a US citizen (they retained US citizenship while in the UK and voted in US elections) posting their defenatory content and harassing Plaintiff on a Platform owned by a US company. And as stated above and throughout this case, this defenatory content was not only about Plaintiff but UNLV, a NV public institution (i.e. it alleges that they allowed an employee to be stalked). In addition to harming Plaintiff's reputation in NV, this post also deters both students and faculty from applying to study and/or work at UNLV, thereby financially harming the institution. People, for example, do not wish to study or work at an institution that would jeopardize their safety or well-being in any way.

Furthermore, as Plaintiff pointed out at the Jan. 4th hearing on Defendant's motion to Dismiss, UNLV has an international reputation, with a substantial number of international students and faculty (i.e. their hospitality and tourism programs are world-renowned). Thus, even setting aside the fact that Defendant posted the defamatory content on a US platform, their defamatory post, even if it had only been seen in the UK (which was certainly not the case) still deterred potential students (and faculty) from attending UNLV.

There's also the fact that right after Plaintiff learned Defendant's identity (i.e. when she contacted the Police in April of 2020), Defendant left Sheffield. They were then living in Reading, which is 135 miles away from Sheffield and part of another county/jurisdiction. They did not even intend to stay in Reading, however, and soon stated their plans to move back to the US. Essentially, the only connection Defendant's defamatory post has to the UK is that Defendant wrote it when physically present there. Furthermore, Defendant was already in the US when Plaintiff sued them, and Plaintiff was within the statute of limitations for the torts she was suing for. Thus, at the time the suit commenced (again, within the statute of limitations), the UK no longer had jurisdiction over Defendant. Moreover, he moved multiple times in the US, from Boston to Colorado.

Reasonableness Factor in Establishing Personal Jurisdiction

Consistent with the reasonableness factor in establishing jurisdiction, it is certainly reasonable for a NV Court to establish jurisdiction over a Defendant when : A) Defendant intentionally harmed the reputation of a NV resident knowing that they only wanted to attend graduate school in NV, and knowing that reputation/character is a significant factor in grad school admissions. (Defendant themself is pursuing an academic career.)

- B) When the totality of the damage sustained by Plaintiff occurred exclusively in NV. Again, this includes both her personal and professional reputation (which are based in NV)being damaged, the financial loss of not being accepted to UNR (not to mention the long-term financial loss of being able to obtain her career goal because of Defendant's defamatory post), and the emotional damage caused by the fact that the people whom it would most embarrass her to see the defamatory post (and her being trolled etc), many whom did indeed see it (as confirmed by Debra Pieruschka), were NV residents and/or had substantial affiliation with NV (i.e. being connected to UNLV). She was also mocked in a novel published by a Las Vegas Author (See Exhibits 40-41 Obsessed With My Professor, an Intense Lesbian Romance)
- C) When the alleged activity that she was accused of (stalking a UNLV professor) not only occurred in NV but implicated the negligence of a NV public institution (UNLV allowing Dr. Gallo to be stalked)
- D) When the defamatory content was based exclusively on NV sources (Plaintiff's posts).

E) When Plaintiff has consistently been a Resident of NV throughout the entire time of the tort. (She has been a resident of NV for nearly 12 years and has not even traveled out of state since moving here) She is certainly not, however, arguing that jurisdiction is based on merely being physically present in NV at the time of reading the defamatory post about herself.

F)When the tort involved not a single defamatory post but extensive unwanted contact with Plaintiff, a NV resident

- G) When Defendant could not face any punishment or accountability for their torts against Plaintiff in the UK because of her US residence. (See exhibits 9-10, police warning)
- H) When Plaintiff furthermore has medical conditions (anxiety/fear of flying etc.) that would impose significant hardship for her to travel out of state/country to sue Defendant, and when Defendant is no longer even residing in the jurisdiction that the tort began in (when the first published their libelous post).

MOTION TO STAY ORDER OF DISMISSAL

In the case that this honorable court will not vacate the Order (of Dismissal), Plaintiff asks that it be "stayed" pending appeal by the NV Supreme Court.

Memorandum and Points of Authority

According to Nevada Rules of Appellate Procedure (NRAP 8 (1)(a)) "A party must ordinarily move first in the district court for the following relief: (A) a stay of the judgment or order of proceedings in a district court pending appeal or resolution of a petition to the Supreme Court or Court of Appeals for an extraordinary writ."

CONCLUSION:

On Jan. 6, 2022, Defendant's Motion to Dismiss was granted. However, there were several errors in both the Order and Order of Entry that would make dismissal improper. Furthemore, Defendant's Attorney, throughout this case and pertaining to this matter, has engaged in misconduct (in the form of stating deliberate falsehoods and misrepresentations, some in themselves libelous) which further cements the need to vacate the dismissal. Moreover, dismissal is improper as shown in the laws, statues, and cases, cited above. All of these sources were cited in Plaintiff's opposition; these are not new sources added to reargue the case. Plaintiff did, however, move the court to amend her complaint to correct deficiencies cited by the Defendant, but that motion was vacated in the "Order" (of Dismissal). Again, Plaintiff (pro-se) should have the opportunity to correct any deficiencies in the initial complaint. (Including those related to establishing jurisdiction). However, based on the order, it is unclear whether the dismissal was also based on "failure to state a claim," and "protected speech." It seems that it was not, but in the case that it was, Plaintiff should have the opportunity to amend the complaint to correct them. For these reasons, and based on the pleadings and papers on file, the attached memorandum of points and authorities, and any oral argument that the Court may entertain at the time of hearing on this matter, the ORDER (OF DISMISSAL) SHOULD BE VACATED. If, however, the court will not vacate the dismissal, Defendant's Motion to Stay Order (Of Dismissal) should be granted pending appeal to the NV Supreme Court.

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION

Plaintiff, in what is now a pattern, continues to file frivolous and vexatious motions, forcing the Defendant to incur costs for no reason other than harassment. The Court, having reviewed all the filings, having heard from Plaintiff (individually) and Defendant (via counsel) in Court, and having asked questions to the Plaintiff in Court, ruled in favor of the Defendant in dismissing the matter for lack of personal jurisdiction. Plaintiff, not happy with the decision, is now attempting to vacate the Order on the basis of NRCP Rule 60, without meeting the rigorous standard of the same. Defendant, by and through the opposition herein, demonstrates the baselessness of Plaintiff's motion.

The basis of Plaintiff's motion is the fact that counsel for Defendant pointed out to the Court of the facts Plaintiff admitted – that the Defendant was not in Nevada – or even the United States – throughout the timeframe applicable to the Complaint. The Plaintiff has also filed (prior to filing her motion), the Notice of Appeal. As such, the Plaintiff's current motion is frivolous, vexatious, and in bad faith and is meant solely to cause Defendant to incur attorneys' fees. Due to the multitudes of filings by the Plaintiff to date, due to her admittance of the facts as stated in the prior issued Order of this Court, and due to the frivolous nature of Plaintiff's current motion,

Defendant requests that the Court grant the Defendant attorneys' fees in having to respond to the motion via this Opposition and attending any hearing relevant thereto and that the Court prevent the Plaintiff from continuing to file baseless filings requiring Defendant to respond and incur attorneys' fees for the same.

II. APPLICABLE STANDARD

A. Standard regarding Vacating Judgments

Under NRCP 60(b), "the court may relieve a party or its legal representative from a final judgment, order, or proceeding for [certain] reasons" which the Plaintiff relies on. Plaintiff specifically is relying on NRCP 60(b)(1) and 60(b)(3) which provide that the court may relieve a party from the judgment for "mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect" (NRCP 60(b)(1)) or "fraud (whether previously called intrinsic or extrinsic), misrepresentation, or misconduct by an opposing party" (NRCP 60(b)(3)).

"Motions under Rule 60(b) are addressed to the sound discretion of the trial court and the exercise of discretion by the trial court in granting or denying such motions is not to be disturbed on appeal absent an abuse of discretion" (emphasis added). Heard v. Fisher's & Cobb Sales & Distribs., 88 Nev. 566, 568, 502 P.2d 104, 105 (1972) citing Ogle v. Miller, 87 Nev. 573, 491 P.2d 40 (1971); and citing Minton v. Roliff, 86 Nev. 478, 471 P.2d 209 (1970); and citing Lentz v. Boles, 84 Nev. 197, 438 P.2d 254 (1968); and citing Hotel Last Frontier Corp. v. Frontier Properties, Inc., 79 Nev. 150, 380 P.2d 293 (1963); and citing Blakeney v. Fremont Hotel Inc., 77 Nev. 191, 360 P.2d 1039 (1961); and citing Bryant v. Gibbs, 69 Nev. 167, 243 P.2d 1050 (1952).

B. Standard regarding Frivolous Motions

Nevada Revised Statutes provide that "The Court may make an allowance of attorney's fees to a prevailing party ... when the Court finds that the claim...of the opposing party was brought or maintained without reasonable ground or to harass the prevailing party." Nev. Rev. Stat. § 18.010(2). "A claim is frivolous if it is utterly lacking in legal merit..." U.S. ex rel. J. Cooper & Associates, Inc. v. Bernard Hodes Group, Inc., 422 F. Supp. 2d 225, 238 (D.D.C. 2006). Additionally, a frivolous claim is the equivalent of a groundless claim. See United States v. Capener, 590 F.3d 1058, 1066 (9th Cir. 2010). Under Nevada law, a claim is frivolous if it is "not well grounded in fact and warranted either by existing law or by a good faith argument for the extension, modification, or reversal or existing law." Simonian v. U. and Community College System of Nevada, 122 Nev. 187, 196, 128 P.3d 1057, 1063 (2006).

III. APPLYING THE NEVADA STANDARD REGARDING NRCP 60, IT IS CLEAR THAT THE COURT DID NOT ABUSE ITS DISCRETION IN DISMISSING THE COMPLAINT FOR LACK OF PERSONAL JURISDICTION

Plaintiff cites NRCP 60 and attempts to rely on NRCP 60 to state that the Order stated Plaintiff's Motion to Dismiss when the order was supposed to state Defendant's Motion to Dismiss. Nevada law is very clear on this issue:

NRCP 60(a) allows that "[c]lerical mistakes in judgments, orders, or other parts of the record . . . may be corrected by the court at any time of its own initiative... and a "clerical error" is "a mistake in writing or copying" that cannot "be attributed to the exercise of judicial consideration or discretion." Mich. Geosearch, Inc. v. Prosperity Bancshares, Inc., 130 Nev.

1217 (2014) citing Marble v. Wright (In re Humboldt River Sys.), 77 Nev. 244, 248, 362 P.2d 265, 267 (1961). An error in a party name may be a "clerical error" where it is so diminutive that a defendant "could not possibly have been misled." See Reno Elec. Works v. U.S. Fid. & Guar. Co., 43 Nev. 191, 194, 183 P. 386, 387 (1919).

In this matter, it is clear that the motion to dismiss was filed by the Defendant – Plaintiff admits that "It was the Defendant who filed the motion to Dismiss. Plaintiff opposed the motion." See Motion to Vacate, pg. 2, on file herein. Thus, the error in the party name is a "clerical error" where the Plaintiff "could not possibly have been misled" and as such does NOT justify vacating of the Court's dismissal of the Plaintiff's Complaint.

Plaintiff thereafter relies on NRCP 60(b)(3) to state that "Defendant's attorney... has made ... false statements" and that "Defendant's attorney...claimed that Defendant asked Reddit 'I'm being harassed by Plaintiff, what should I do?'." Id at pg. 2. Essentially, Plaintiff attempts to state that the Defendant's quoting from Plaintiff's own filings and pleadings are misrepresentations because they don't help her case and seeks vacating of the order on such a basis under NRCP 60(b)(3). What Plaintiff failed to state truthfully in her motion was the fact that the presiding judge asked Plaintiff questions regarding the Defendant's location and Plaintiff admitted that Defendant was in the United Kingdom throughout the time frame complained of in the Complaint. As such, the Court dismissed the matter based on the filings, pleadings, oral arguments, and questions that the Plaintiff herself answered in open court, not on grounds of fraud, misrepresentation, or misconduct.

Finally, it is clear that "motions under Rule 60(b) are addressed to the sound discretion of the trial court and the exercise of discretion by the trial court in granting or denying such motions is not to be disturbed on appeal absent an abuse of discretion" (emphasis added). Heard v. Fisher's & Cobb Sales & Distribs., 88 Nev. 566, 568, 502 P.2d 104, 105 (1972). In this matter, the court did not abuse its discretion and the Plaintiff's motion to vacate does not mention any factors, facts, or any claims regarding the same. As such, the motion to vacate should be dismissed.

III. ALTERNATIVE REQUEST FOR STAY IS IRRELEVANT

Plaintiff, in the alternative, requests the court to stay the Order dismissing the case against the Plaintiff. Such a request is not relevant given the nature of the judgment in this matter – dismissal for lack of personal jurisdiction.

Under NRAP 8(a)(1):

A party must ordinarily move first in the district court for the following relief:

- (A) a stay of the judgment or order of, or proceedings in, a district court pending appeal or resolution of a petition to the Supreme Court or Court of Appeals for an extraordinary writ;
 - (B) approval of a supersedeas bond; or
- (C) an order suspending, modifying, restoring or granting an injunction while an appeal or original writ petition is pending.

In this matter, there is no stay required and/or otherwise appropriate as there is no judgment against the Plaintiff that the Order for dismissal provides. Additionally, there is no bond and there is no injunction pending appeal. As such, the request for stay should be denied as moot.

IV. PLAINTIFF'S FRIVOLOUS MOTION WAS FILED TO HARASS, ESPECIALLY GIVEN THAT PLAINTIFF ALREADY FILED A NOTICE TO APPEAL BEFORE SHE FILED THE PRESENT MOTION

The order and the notice of entry of order dismissing the matter were filed on January 6, 2022. Plaintiff filed her notice of appeal on January 6, 2022 as well. Then, after filing her notice of appeal, Plaintiff filed her frivolous motion on January 10, 2022 asking the Court to vacate the order dismissing the case. See docket.

In this case, Plaintiff has repeatedly attempted to have continued bites at the apple and attempt to re-argue her positions, has filed more than 60-70 bogus filings, has cited to non-binding or inapplicable law, and has done so with the intent of having Defendant incur attorneys' fees. Due to the improper conduct of the Plaintiff, Defendant requests the granting of attorneys' fees.

"The Court may make an allowance of attorney's fees to a prevailing party ... when the Court finds that the claim... of the opposing party was brought or maintained without reasonable ground or to harass the prevailing party." Nev. Rev. Stat. § 18.010(2). "A claim is frivolous if it is utterly lacking in legal merit..." U.S. ex rel. J. Cooper & Associates, Inc. v. Bernard Hodes Group, Inc., 422 F. Supp. 2d 225, 238 (D.D.C. 2006). Additionally, a frivolous claim is the equivalent of a groundless claim. See United States v. Capener, 590 F.3d 1058, 1066 (9th Cir. 2010). Under Nevada law, a claim is frivolous if it is "not well grounded in fact and warranted either by existing law or by a good faith argument for the extension, modification, or reversal or existing law." Simonian v. U. and Community College System of Nevada, 122 Nev. 187, 196, 128 P.3d 1057, 1063 (2006).

In this matter, the Court specifically asked Plaintiff questions in open court – Plaintiff answered them (that Defendant didn't live in the United States), and filed the motion to vacate simply because she did not like the result – the Court ruling properly that a Defendant not living in the United States through the duration of the allegations in the Complaint, could not lead to the Court exercising personal jurisdiction over the Defendant. Plaintiff therefore filed a groundless claim via her motion, thereby justifying the grant of attorneys' fees with the amount of attorneys' fees based on affidavit of Defendant's counsel to be submitted after the granting of this Countermotion.

V. DEFENDANT REQUESTS THAT PLAINTIFF BE PREVENTED FROM ANY ADDITIONAL FILINGS DUE THE VEXATIOUS NATURE OF PLAINTIFF'S FILINGS

Defendant requests that this Court prevent the Plaintiff from being allowed to undertake bogus motions and filings, simply to run up costs for the Defendant.

"A 'vexatious litigant' is one 'who repeatedly files frivolous lawsuits' ... [and] in order to deter such conduct, [the Supreme Court] has approved of the use of sanctions, including limiting by order a vexatious litigant's right to access the courts. Peck v. Crouser, 129 Nev. 120, 18|| 122-23, 295 P.3d 586, 587 (2013) quoting Jordan v. State, Dep't of Motor Vehicles, 121 Nev. 44, 58-60, 110 P.3d 30, 41-42 (2005), abrogated on other grounds by Buzz Stew, LLC v. City of N. Las Vegas, 124 Nev. 224, 228 n.6, [*123] 181 P.3d 670, 672 n.6 (2008).

"Restrictions imposed by vexatious litigant orders may include prohibiting the litigant from filing future actions against a particular party or barring the litigant from filing any new action without first demonstrating to the court that the proposed case is not frivolous." Id.

In this case, the Plaintiff has kept filing motion after motion, exhibit after exhibit, and filing after filing for the sole purpose of harassing the Defendant and to have the Defendant incur unnecessary attorneys' fees. Plaintiff's motions are consistently not supported by law and when they are supported by some law are supported by non-binding law. Plaintiff blames everyone in the case - Defendant, counsel, the Court, Reddit, unknown individuals online, UNLV, etc. except herself, for her problems.

While Defendant, Defendant's counsel, and the Court may have had sympathy for Plaintiff based on her allegations, Plaintiff's repeated use of the judicial system to harass and vex the Defendant justifies Court intervention to prevent exactly the type of harassing filings and 10 motions that not just justify granting of attorneys' fees, but also allow for this Court to prevent the Plaintiff from undertaking any additional filings in this matter under the Peck standard cited herein.

Based on the foregoing, Defendant requests that the Court not allow Plaintiff to be allowed to file any additional filings in this matter.

VI. CONCLUSION

Plaintiff's frivolous motion asks the Court to vacate the judgment on grounds of mistake and fraud, when both are not present. Additionally, Plaintiff fails to show how the court abused its discretion in granting the dismissal. As such, the Plaintiff's frivolous motion should be denied.

Furthermore, the request to stay the order is moot and should therefore be denied as well. Due to the Plaintiff's repeated frivolous filings, Defendant requests attorneys' fees – based on affidavit of counsel to be submitted should the counter motion be granted.

Additionally, Defendant requests an Order preventing Plaintiff from filing frivolous filings of the sort that she has repeatedly been filing in this matter. THE COURT: All right. Do I have counsel for the defendant, Peter Cooper, present remotely?

MR. RAICH: Yes. Good morning, Your Honor. Sagar Raich on behalf of Peter Cooper.

THE COURT: Thank you. This is time set

Defendant's Motion to Dismiss under 12(b)(2), 12(b)(6), under Rule 12. Counsel, you have the floor. I've reviewed the Motions, the -- and Opposition. Let's build a record here. You have the floor.

MR. RAICH: Thank you, Your Honor.

As Your Honor read from the facts, I'll just briefly state those. This case involves a fact pattern where the plaintiff, you know, was a UNLV student, had a lot of issues with UNLV and its professors, to a point — these issues blew up to a point where UNLV sent plaintiff a cease and desist to stop harassing the professors.

Plaintiff, thereafter, turned to an online platform called Reddit. Reddit is a pretty large platform. I believe it's the seventh most visited site in the U.S. Got half a billion users. It's a massive website that people can just post content on. And what plaintiff did, after she went through these issues at UNLV, and this is based on the plaintiff's own allegations in the Complaint. She went online, posted on Reddit all of the issues that happened. Thereafter, defendant allegedly saw those posts that she made, the plaintiff made, and reposted those on Reddit.

Now, the plaintiff, thereafter, removed those posts and applied for graduate entrance to UNR. Now, the plaintiff believes that the admissions committee at UNR reviewed the Reddit post that the defendant reposted and, based on that basis, she didn't get into UNR. And, you know, there — those are basically the factual allegations. And that — that's led to the plaintiff filing this Complaint, alleging two causes of action against the defendant. The first one is libel per se, so defamation. And the second is intentional infliction of emotional distress.

Now, the defendant has filed the Motion to Dismiss, which, you know, generally, Motions to Dismiss are disfavored. Defendant understands that. In a case where the plaintiff is representing herself, that surely might be more so the case. However, in this case, there's a lot of ground. There's a lot of evidence that's presented in the plaintiff's own Complaint, a lot of allegations made, that justify dismissal. And there are four main reasons, Your Honor. And I'll go through each one, one by one.

The first one, which is actually a dispositive reason, is that the Complaint should be dismissed for the defendant to not be under the personal jurisdiction of this Court. The plaintiff alleges -- and, again, everything in the Complaint must be assumed to be true, and the plaintiff alleges in the Complaint that the defendant, when he reposted the plaintiff's posts, and when he and the plaintiff had a tiff online, that the plaintiff was in the U.S. but that the defendant was in the U.K. So, the plaintiff admits that the defendant was not in Nevada and that he really did have minimum contacts with Nevada.

The plaintiff then also admits that she doesn't even know whether it's the defendant in this matter who actually engaged in confrontation with her online. She says that she sent out subpoenas to Reddit. She doesn't even know whether it's the defendant. So, she's suing a person in Nevada court, not knowing whether that person was the one who she engaged in the online debate with. And, admitting that even if it was him, that he was in the United Kingdom.

Now, that is certainly way above and beyond the traditional personal jurisdiction guidelines that Nevada follows, fair play, substantial justice would certainly be violated to try to have somebody drug into court when the plaintiff posts something online, has a tiff with the defendant, who doesn't even live in the country, let alone the state.

All right. The defendant's -- the plaintiff's Opposition, rather, mentioned the Calder standard. Pretty famous standard. I'm not going to go into the case too much. I'm sure Your Honor has heard it a million times, but this is not a Calder type of case. Calder was where a Florida magazine, who had a bunch of subscribers, the most — millions of subscribers in California, had an article about a celebrity and a celebrity said: Oh, I was defamed. And the Court held that case can go forward. This is not the Calder case. This is a UNLV grad student, essentially suing an undergraduate kid who lived in the U.K. at the time these alleged posts were made.

So, the personal jurisdiction issue, Your Honor, is dispositive in that under 12(b)(2), we -- it's pretty clear that Nevada wouldn't have jurisdiction under the defendant. However, given that the plaintiff is representing herself, the defendant has got to step beyond and, even assuming personal jurisdiction, the plaintiff still has failed to state a claim. And those -- that's a two-sided analysis. So, the first one, the libel per se claim, requires that there be false and defamatory statements, that are unprivileged, that somehow indicate that the defendant would be at fault for posting, and that the plaintiff suffered actual or personal damages.

The liable claim fails, Your Honor, because the plaintiff admits that she was the one who made these posts online. How can I go and say I'm Joe Schmoe, somebody looks at me and says, oh, you're saying you're Joe Schmoe, and me saying, oh, I'm going to sue you, you just called me Joe Schmoe. That's essentially what's happening here. The plaintiff's suing the defendant for repeating what she said. If the plaintiff didn't want half a billion people in the world to know her problems, she shouldn't have posted them online.

And I'm not discounting her problems. I'm sure that she is frustrated by not getting into grad school. I'm sure it must be frustrating to have education and not be able to take it further. I get that. But the defendant is not the right party to sue when the plaintiff herself goes and makes posts online, because the defendant wouldn't know those posts are untrue. The defendant wouldn't be able to distinguish whether the plaintiff is lying or not and then be expected to be haled into court by a plaintiff for defamation, for repeating her own statements.

Finally, the damages here are very, very thin,

Your Honor, thinnest that they can be because the plaintiff assumes that it is the defendant's reposting that UNR saw, and that because of those reposting that UNR saw, UNR didn't let her in. So, there are a lot of possibility and hypotheses that are presented in the Complaint, which is -even though Nevada is a notice-pleading state, there's still a notice-pleading requirement. And to say that the damages may have occurred because of a defendant's conduct, allege -- admittedly by the plaintiff in her Complaint, would require dismissal, at least for the libel claim regarding failing to prove a claim.

The second claim that the plaintiff has made in this matter, Your Honor, is the intentional infliction of emotional distress. That requires that the defendant's extreme and outrageous conduct and is saying things and doing things that would be beyond the norm for a reasonable person to view. In this case, Your Honor, repeating what the plaintiff has said is not extreme or outrageous. If the plaintiff was so distraught with the information that was posted online, she shouldn't have posted it online in the first place.

She then engaged in multiple discussions with multiple people, all of whom she believes to be the defendant in this case, and who she's admitted she doesn't even know whether it is the defendant or not. So, --

MS. BRESLAW: That's not true. That's not true.

MR. RAICH: Assuming -- Ms. Breslaw, I'll give you a chance to speak right after me. I won't interrupt you as well.

So, assuming, Your Honor, that everything in the Complaint is true, the Complaint fails to state a claim for both libel and intentional infliction of emotional distress.

Now, again, because the defendant -- or the plaintiff is representing herself, we want to give the Court more than enough reason to dismiss this matter. And, so, while the personal jurisdiction issue is dispositive, while the failure to state a claim is dispositive, the defendant has gone one step further and analyzed NRS 41.650, which specifically provides that if a communication is made in good faith on an issue of public concern, that communication is a protected communication.

In this case, Your Honor, the plaintiff's Complaint, as well as a slew of filings that were the plaintiff's and made after, admit that the allegations that are made, that the issues between the plaintiff and the defendant that were discussed online, were all regarding UNLV, UNLV professors, UNLV policies. And, given that UNLV is a public institution, and the plaintiff herself goes into how public UNLV is as an institution and — it justifies a dismissal because, under NRS 41.560, these are issues of public concern. The fact that plaintiff thereafter posted them on Reddit, which is a massive online platform, she took an issue of public concern and put it in another public domain. And, so, this would be a protected speech under NRS 41.650.

So, I don't want to take up too much of the Court's time. I know Your Honor's read this. I'll just sum everything up really quickly. The plaintiff is alleging that she believes it's the defendant that talked to her online, that reposted her post. She doesn't know for sure. But what she does know for sure is, regardless, whatever the defendant did post, he posted when he was in the U.K. So, personal jurisdiction issue is resolved.

The second is that the defendant -- the plaintiff has failed to state a claim for libel and intentional infliction of emotional distress because the plaintiff herself made these posts that the defendant reposted.

Again, based on plaintiff's allegations in the Complaint.

And, finally, the plaintiff has failed to show why the reposting by the defendant wouldn't be protected speech under NRS 41.650 because the defendant has shown through the pleadings that this is a matter of public concern as a matter of law.

Finally, Your Honor, this is quick note. The plaintiff -- I'm not sure if Your Honor's seen the docket. Plaintiff has filed Motion after Motion, Exhibit after Exhibit. There's been over 50, 60, 70 filings that the plaintiff has made so far. Plaintiff is a vexatious litigant in this matter, Your Honor. After the Motion to Dismiss was filed, an Opposition was filed, the plaintiff - the defendant replied to that Opposition and then the plaintiff just kept filing Motions for Sur-Reply, and Motions, and Exhibits, and Erratas, and she's drug this matter out a lot and it's cost the defendant a lot of money so far. The defendant is a college student. Plaintiff admits and knows that he's just a college student. But the plaintiff is pushing this, and pushing this, and pushing this, and taking her frustrations out on the defendant.

Now, again, like I said, I understand the frustration. The defendant is simply not the right party to take those frustrations out and to drag through court for reposting what the plaintiff herself posted.

So, therefore, Your Honor, if Your Honor has any questions, I would like to answer those at this point.

But, with that, I'll rest and reserve some time for reply.

THE COURT: Opposition. Ms. Breslaw, you have the floor.

MS. BRESLAW: Yes. Yes. Okay. First, I'd like to address I am absolutely 100 percent sure that my defendant is Peter Cooper. There was never any doubt that this was him. Even -- I submit a lot of exhibits with evidence that I've had private investigators verify his identity. He shared pictures of himself, for example, on Reddit. I had those matched. He posted his name on Reddit, by the way. He -- a private investigator was able to match those pictures to pictures of him mentioned by name with his family. We found a family social media. My process server actually contacted his grandfather. There's -- I mean, a lot of this is in the exhibits. There's no doubt that this is Peter Cooper.

What I said there was certain troll accounts. He harassed me from multiple accounts. On Reddit, there were, like, these troll accounts mentioning UNLV faculty by name. The professor — there were people pretending to be the professor I fell out with. There were — and I suspected those accounts were him [indiscernible] as well. But, at a minimum, there were two accounts that I am certain were him. There was, like I said, never—ending doubt. He's admitted this was him. He was contacted by the police in April 2020, warned to stop harassing me, and then he continued. So, again, there is no uncertainty about his identity.

For good measure, I --

THE COURT: Ms. Breslaw, stop for a second. Stop for a second.

MS. BRESLAW: Sure. Sure.

THE COURT: If I understand the briefly correctly, the police you're talking about are in the U.K. Is that correct?

MS. BRESLAW: Yes. I contacted the U.S. police as well but they told me they don't really -- social media harassment here is a civil matter, so they really would not

1 address it. I e-mailed the police in the U.K. --2 THE COURT: Ms. Breslaw, address the 12(b)(2), 3 personal jurisdiction --4 MS. BRESLAW: Okay. 5 THE COURT: -- issues that defense counsel has indicated. If Mr. Cooper is --7 MS. BRESLAW: Okay. 8 THE COURT: -- a resident of or citizen from the United Kingdom, and residing in the United Kingdom, how 9 10 does a State Court in Nevada have jurisdiction over him? Well, first, he was a U.S. citizen, 11 MS. BRESLAW: but I read there's something called the effects doctrine, 12 13 where if someone, like, -- interferes with, like, state --I'm sorry. Like, I -- if I'm understanding correct, like, 14 if they interfere with, like, state activities, they can be 15 16 held accountable in the foreign country. 17 THE COURT: Okay. 18 MS. It's --4 THE COURT: -- page -- or paragraph 1 of your Opposition where you talk about the 51st conference, the 369 5 6 -- the Tokyo Report under the International Law --7 MS. BRESLAW: Yeah, yeah. 8 THE COURT: -- Association Report. That's --9 MS. BRESLAW: Yes. 10 THE COURT: I've got to be honest with you, Ms. Breslaw. That's not real powerful. I'm a State Court 11 Judge. Right? I look for personal jurisdiction. I look 12 13 for the ability for you to prosecute and for an accused to defend an action in this jurisdiction. Hard to do when 14 everything points me to the fact that he doesn't live here. 15 16 MS. BRESLAW: No. I understand --17 THE COURT: And I'm not a Federal Court Judge. 18 don't have diversity jurisdiction. I have -- I'm limited 19 in that respect. You -- I hope you appreciate that. MS. BRESLAW: No, I do. Maybe this could be 20 transferred to Federal Court then if that's the appropriate 21 22 jurisdiction? He targeted the --23 THE COURT: That's --24 MS. BRESLAW: -- state of Nevada. He specifically

-- he accused me of stalking a UNLV professor and he even alleged that this went on for months. Implicit in that is that UNLV was allowing this professor to be stalked. And I feel that's target -- that is targeting, not just to me, but the state. UNLV is a well-known institution. People come from all over the world to -- on certain programs there like their -- I think tourism and hospitality.

He even mentioned that I was in Las Vegas because the police contacted him and he made a post where he mentioned that I was in Las Vegas and then he shared his libelous post. So, he knew I was in Nevada. He knew he was targeting UNLV.

THE COURT: All right. Let's move forward to the 12(b)(6) issues. We've -- I addressed to my satisfaction the 12(b)(2).

In the action, the defendant is asserting that you failed to state a claim under libel per se because the statements made by your own -- in your own Complaint are basically your statements that were just reposted. What is your response to that?

MS. BRESLAW: Okay. First, he -- I did post -- I did make certain posts and he did not merely just repost these posts. He -- I actually wanted to amend the Complaint to add portrayal in a false light. He took posts -- like an innocuous posts that I had made and he used them to -- he, like, supported -- he used these posts to support this narrative that I was stalking this professor. That's just the main claim. I actually went in the Motion to Amend and went point by point on each thing that he said that was defamatory. He said that I tried to -- that I told this professor that we would collaborate on a project. That, after she refused, I started stalking her, that I tried to have the dean fired. None of that was true.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. BRESLAW: And he, like, --

THE COURT: All right.

MS. BRESLAW: Anyone can say, like a -- anyone can say something or write something, and then you put it into another context, and it looks like they said something else. And, because of that post, which somehow got back to -- I was very identifiable. He put a lot of information. And I include in my user name, had 725 in it. So, everyone knew right away that this was happening in Las Vegas.

THE COURT: Well, my zip code [sic] is 702. I don't know what your zip code is -- or your area --

MS. BRESLAW: Yeah, no. It's 70 -- my old phone number was a 725. It's a Henderson area code, but everyone was able, from that 725, to know that this was happening in Las Vegas.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. BRESLAW: So, I'm sorry. I lost my train of thought.

So, yes, he took these posts that I had made.

Nowhere -- I shared them in Exhibit 18, I think, nowhere did I say I was stalking -- I was not stalking. I was not contacting the professor. What happened was I -- I wanted to retract a complaint. I never really wanted filed. Like I said, in the Complaint, UNLV specifically their department -- their history department chair really mishandled this whole situation. And I was upset about it. So, I made these innocuous posts just asking people, like, for perspective. Why was this situation handled this way? I was really upset about falling out with a professor. And [inaudible] --

THE COURT RECORDER: Oh, she cut out, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Ms. -- well, I don't know what to do.

It's on here.

THE COURT RECORDER: She can't hear. I mean, she's gone. She needs to reload.

MS. BRESLAW: [Inaudible] going to different levels of administration and saying, like, -- you know, I was -- there was a misunderstanding.

THE COURT: Ms. Breslaw.

MS. BRESLAW: I never wanted to --

THE COURT: Ms. Breslaw, take a --

MS. BRESLAW: Yeah.

THE COURT: -- moment, please.

MS. BRESLAW: Okay.

THE COURT: Your technology faltered there for about 15, 20 seconds. All right?

MS. BRESLAW: Oh, okay.

THE COURT: We lost your signal. So, you need to understand that whatever you said, say in the last half a minute, we didn't hear and isn't on the record.

MS. BRESLAW: Okay, Your Honor.

THE COURT: So if there's something that -- all right.

MS. BRESLAW: Okay. I'll --

THE COURT: So you know that. Okay.

MS. BRESLAW: I'll start it again. All right. So, I'll start again.

I was posting on Reddit. Again, I was basically just saying how upset I was over the situation with the professor. I was asking for, like, perspective on, like, academic stuff. You know, why would they handle this this way, etcetera. And defendant took those posts and he linked them. And he created a story around my post that made it sound like I was stalking this professor. And that was absolutely not true. I obviously wasn't stalking her. I had -- I wasn't even contacting her. I was just like contacting UNLV administration, saying, like, -- you know, like, there was a misunderstanding. I never wanted a complaint filed, etcetera. I was never contacting the professor. I was not harassing anyone.

I didn't even receive the cease and desist letter until defendant posted that post on Reddit. And I -- when I talked to Debra, as soon as she sent me that cease and desist letter, you may see it on there. It's Exhibit 19. It said: This is not to be construed as all the facts and circumstances around that matter. Something to that effect. And I called to find out what she meant and she specifically told me that she had seen this Reddit activity, that she had seen that Reddit post.

And, I mean, how could -- I mean, think of all the students that must have social media accounts and how did this get back to UNLV's general counsel? Just after -- and, again, she -- I want to be clear. She did tell me that she saw it. I'm not surmising this. I'm not -- it's not like a hypothesis. I'm -- she explicitly said that she saw that post and she knew -- I mean, she obviously knew that it was me. That's why I got the cease and desist. And I didn't -- I was just really stunned. I didn't follow-up with her after that. I just, like, I fell silent. And I just kind of agreed to abide by the cease and desist. But there's no doubt that I was identified, that the school was identified, and that this activity was targeting UNLV.

Again, I had people figure -- I had that 725 in my username. The police told defendant that I was in Las Vegas and he made a post. I think it's Exhibit 13, saying that, you know, that I received these reports from -- for harassment by a woman in Las Vegas. What should I do? And then, in that post, he shared the [indiscernible] Reddit drama post, which it accuses me of stalking the professor.

And, again, implicit in that was that UNLV was allowing the faculty member to be stalked. And that was just one of numerous allegations. Again, there is -- I listed them out. I would like to amend the Complaint. And I would also like to add the claim of portrayal in a false light.

THE COURT: All right. I appreciate your position.

Any reply?

MR. RAICH: Yes, Your Honor. A couple of things.

On the personal jurisdiction matter, I think the plaintiff admitted that he was in the U.K. for the duration of the Complaint -- or at least duration of the time frame in which the Complaint alleges its facts.

The second thing is the plaintiff also stated that she didn't contact UNLV or its professors, but the issue that it looks like plaintiff has is with UNLV. I mean, the -- it got to a point where the UNLV general counsel sent a student a cease and desist. They don't just -- at least I don't believe they would just do that willy-nilly. It would take a lot of conflict between the student and UNLV for the UNLV general counsel to step in and send them a cease and desist for harassing the professors and staff. So, -- and this is, again, based on the plaintiff's own Complaint.

The plaintiff included a lot of exhibits and things. This is not a summary judgment motion. This is a Motion to Dismiss. So, the defendant is relying solely on plaintiff's Complaint and the allegations made therein.

Now, the plaintiff also admitted that she's the one who posted the issues that she was having with UNLV on Reddit. And to then say that the defendant is responsible because the defendant thereafter engaged in some sort of alleged conversation with the plaintiff to a point where plaintiff started harassing the defendant. And the plaintiff just admitted that the defendant made a post saying: What should I do, she's harassing me?

MS. BRESLAW: No, no.

MR. RAICH: And then posted that online.

And, so, based on kind of the facts that the plaintiff has alleged in the Complaint, as well as those that have been presented in front of Your Honor today, dismissal is justified for personal jurisdiction grounds for the failure to meet to the elements for libel and intentional infliction of emotional distress, and if the Court was to go forward thereunder NRS 41.650.

So, Your Honor, the defendant would like to ask the Court to dismiss the case and to dismiss any pending other Motions as moot. There are a couple of Motions set forth for the Motion for Sur-Reply and to Amend. But, given where we are, given the plaintiff's own allegations as plead in the Complaint, amending the Complaint and adding more facts or causes of action won't change the fact that the Court doesn't have jurisdiction for this defendant.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. RAICH: So, with that, Your Honor we'd like to request the Court dismiss the matter and dismiss any pending Motions as moot.

THE COURT: Thank you. I appreciate the argument from both sides.

I have reviewed the totality of the Motions and, having listened to argument, I believe the Motion to Dismiss is well taken pursuant to 12(b)(2). So, I'm going to grant on those grounds. I'm going to direct defense counsel to prepare an Order consistent with that decision.

All right? And future Motions are vacated.

THE CLERK: So those Motions --

THE COURT: Yeah, they're --

MS. BRESLAW: Can I say one more thing?

THE COURT: Ms. Breslaw, you've had your day.

I've entered the decision. I appreciate your passion in the effort, but I think personal jurisdiction, and the lack thereof, is sufficient grounds to warrant a granting of this Motion. So, that's my decision.

Thank you, all.

MEMORANDUM AND POINTS OF AUTHORITIES

INTRODUCTION

Plaintiff is a woman who was only trying to peacefully use Reddit when her life and career/education were upended by Defendant, a then 21-year-old male who maliciously accused her of stalking a UNLV professor, trying to force this professor to collaborate on a project with her, and then frivolously trying have UNLV administrators demoted. They then made repeated, unwanted contact with Plaintiff and continued harassing her despite a police warning to stop. Because of Defendant's tortious conduct, Plaintiff has not only suffered severe emotional trauma but now cannot attend graduate school in NV, which Defendant knew at the time was the only state she wanted to attend school and live/build her career in. Plaintiff then, in a timely manner (within the statute of limitations), filed this lawsuit in order to seek relief for the harm and injuries Defendant had caused her. However, the case was wrongly dismissed, and despite investing considerable time, energy, and money into this lawsuit, she was denied her "day in court." Meanwhile, Defendant has not been held in any way accountable for the harm he has caused Plaintiff, and Plaintiff continues suffering damages.

Defendant, through their attorney, Sagar Raich, Esq., is now (again) attempting to paint Plaintiff as a "vexatious" litigant and, after all their abusive and tortious conduct toward her, even has the audacity to request that she pay their attorneys fees. This in itself is further harassment by the Defendant. Below, Plaintiff will reply to Defendant's opposition to her motion to vacate/motion to stay order of dismissal (supporting her arguments with the applicable laws and standards), and oppose their countermotion for attorney fees and injunction from further filings. She additionally needs to file for leave to file a 2nd amended complaint, since Reddit has now removed the libelous content. (It has already caused her substantial and lasting damage, but she no longer needs an injunction to have it removed; she now needs an injunction to prevent Defendant from reposting it.)

APPLICABLE LAWS AND STANDARDS

In their opposition to Plaintiff's Motion to Vacate the Order (of Dismissal), and throughout this case, Defendant, through their attorney, has repeatedly pointed out that they were "not in Nevada" at the time they published their libelous post (and began harassing Plaintiff). However, physical presence in the state is not required to establish personal jurisdiction over a Defendant. Plaintiff again refers to Calder vs. Jones (See Opposition to Motion to Dismiss p.3 and Motion to Vacate Order of Dismissal p. 3-4). In Calder, the Court even agreed that neither petitioner's contacts with California would ordinarily be sufficient for an assertion of jurisdiction there [465 U.S. 783, 787]. Perkins vs. Benguet Mining Co342 U.S. 437 (1952) had previously permitted general jurisdiction only when the defendant's contacts with the forum were "continuous and" systematic." Calder, however, established that personal jurisdiction in defamation cases could be based on where the effects were most felt.

In the January 4th (2022) hearing on Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, Defendant's Attorney pointed out that Shirley Jones, Respondent in Calder vs. Jones was a television actress in California. However, one does not need to be a celebrity in order to have their reputation based in a specific state. As mentioned in Plaintiff's Motion to Vacate Order (of Dismissal), and as Defendant knew when they published their libelous post, graduate school admissions are significantly based on an applicant's reputation and that Plaintiff exclusively intended to apply to NV schools. They also intentionally targeted NV by alleging that UNLV allowed a faculty member to be stalked.

In Walden vs. Fiore, the NV Supreme Court explained that "reputation based effects' were the key in the Calder decision. (E'Cassanova vs. Morrow, 2021 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 33257) However, unlike the Walden case, where there was no question that the conduct giving rise to the litigation took place in Atlanta, Plaintiff's reputational and emotional injuries undoubtedly took place in NV. (See Motion to Vacate p. 6-7) The Supreme Court in Walden even wrote, "In any event, this case does not present the very different questions whether and how a defendant's virtual "presence" and conduct translate into "contacts" with a particular state."

As is consistent with the principle of factoring reasonableness into jurisdiction, personal jurisdiction standards must evolve and adapt to each era. The idea of minimum contacts was itself an adaptation to changing times. In International Shoe Co. vs. Washington the Court acknowledged that "as the variety and effectiveness of forms of notice have increased, the requirement of a physical presence within a territory to exercise jurisdiction should be relaxed." Prior to International Shoe, jurisdiction was based on Peynover vs. Neff, where a state could not exert jurisdiction over an individual outside of its territory.(2 Pennoyer v. Neff, 95 U.S. 714, 733 (1878). In the 20th century, however, the Court recognized that people were becoming more mobile and that there was an increased need to establish jurisdiction over non-residents.

Similarly, Courts in the 21st Century must recognize the unique challenge that social media presents to traditional jurisdiction standards, especially regarding defamation. Unlike in the 20th century, the time of Calder, defamation no longer primarily involves celebrities or public figures being defamed by journalists, and on public social media platforms such as Reddit, one is statistically more likely to be defamed by a nonresident than someone from within their own state. Social media venues are also much more "omnipresent" than print media. Subredditdrama, for example, functions largely like a tabloid magazine, but the content is instantly accessible to anyone, anywhere. (They currently have 826, 000 subscribers, and this only includes the people who actively follow the site.) Thus, if jurisdictional standards are not flexible and reasonable enough to adapt to this and similar platforms, as this case demonstrates, anyone can have their reputation, career, and emotional well-being destroyed by a perfect stranger without recourse.
