Nevada S. Ct. Case #82881

Recommendation of Sanctions Against Respondents' Counsel:

Respondents and their counsel (Jared Anderson, Esq.) did fully participate in the actual Zoom Settlement Conference itself, and the conduct at issue did not affect that aspect of the proceedings or cause the failure to reach a settlement. However, Respondents' counsel engaged in a persistent pattern of non-responsiveness including not timely responding to E-Mails (including for scheduling) from the Settlement Judge, failure to provide a minimal confidential settlement brief despite request, and failure to provide a signed (by anyone) conference attendance sheet despite requests from the SJ both before and even after the Zoom conference.

It is suggested that a relatively modest sanction in the amount of $500.00 pertaining to this appeal may result in improved cooperation with the next Settlement Judge on the next appeal proceeding and thereby potentially avoid more serious sanctions.
