Part II Certification

Under penalties of perjury, I certify that:

1. The number shown on this form is my correct taxpayer identification number (or I am waiting for a number to be issued to me), and
2. I am not subject to backup withholding because: (a) I am exempt from backup withholding, or (b) I have not been notified by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) that I am subject to backup withholding as a result of a failure to report all interest or dividends, or (c) the IRS has notified me that I am no longer subject to backup withholding, and
3. I am a U.S. citizen or other U.S. person (defined below).

Certification instructions. You must cross out item 2 above if you have been notified by the IRS that you are currently subject to backup withholding because you have failed to report all interest and dividends on your tax return. For real estate transactions, item 2 does not apply. For mortgage interest paid, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, contributions to an individual retirement arrangement (IRA), and generally, payments other than interest and dividends, you are not required to sign the Certification, but you must provide your correct TIN. See the instructions on page 4.

General Instructions

Section references are to the Internal Revenue Code unless otherwise noted.

Purpose of Form

A person who is required to file an information return with the IRS must obtain your correct taxpayer identification number (TIN) to report, for example, income paid to you, real estate transactions, mortgage interest you paid, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, or contributions you made to an IRA.

Use Form W-9 only if you are a U.S. person (including a resident alien), to provide your correct TIN to the person requesting it (the requester) and, when applicable, to:

1. Certify that the TIN you are giving is correct (or you are waiting for a number to be issued),

2. Certify that you are not subject to backup withholding, or

3. Claim exemption from backup withholding if you are a U.S. exempt payee. If applicable, you are also certifying that as a U.S. person, your allocable share of any partnership income from a U.S. trade or business is not subject to the withholding tax on foreign partners' share of effectively connected income.

Note. If a requester gives you a form other than Form W-9 to request your TIN, you must use the requester's form if it is substantially similar to this Form W-9.

Definition of a U.S. person. For federal tax purposes, you are considered a U.S. person if you are:

- An individual who is a U.S. citizen or U.S. resident alien,
- A partnership, corporation, company, or association created or organized in the United States or under the laws of the United States,
- An estate (other than a foreign estate), or
- A domestic trust (as defined in Regulations section 301.7701-7).

Special rules for partnerships. Partnerships that conduct a trade or business in the United States are generally required to pay a withholding tax on any foreign partners' share of income from such business. Further, in certain cases where a Form W-9 has not been received, a partnership is required to presume that a partner is a foreign person, and pay the withholding tax. Therefore, if you are a U.S. person that is a partner in a partnership conducting a trade or business in the United States, provide Form W-9 to the partnership to establish your U.S. status and avoid withholding on your share of partnership income.

The person who gives Form W-9 to the partnership for purposes of establishing its U.S. status and avoiding withholding on its allocable share of net income from the partnership conducting a trade or business in the United States is in the following cases:

- The U.S. owner of a disregarded entity and not the entity,

RE: Laudig v Lands Inc DBA Springstone Lakes Montessori School – Rebuttal Report

Dear Mr. Schnitzer:

Please accept this as my rebuttal expert report regarding and injury Jasmine Laudig suffered while attending the Springstone Lakes Montessori School located at 2750 Lake Sahara Drive in Las Vegas NV. The injury occurred on February 12th 2017. It is believed Jasmine fell in the vicinity of a chain link fence with shade screening attached which is adjacent to a concrete walking area while playing on the outdoors area. Jasmine was treated at Summerlin Hospital.

I have reviewed the July 19th, 2021 Report of Findings prepared by Rimkus Consulting Group, Inc. specifically prepared by Daniel S. Grant.

Mr. Grant referenced the photo taken at the alleged location of the incident on the date of the incident.

A photograph taken of the Incident location (Figure 2) was included in the Incident report and was taken at the time of the Incident. The Incident report was signed by Mr. Laudig.

PHELPS REBUTTAL 000001

He then states later in his report and in his conclusions the following:

- The chain-link fabric and wire ties at the fence near the Incident location were trimmed and bent in a manner to prevent injury at the time of the Incident (Figure 2).

3. The chain link fabric and wire ties at the fence near the Incident location were trimmed and bent in a manner to prevent injury at the time of the Incident.

It would be difficult to determine, based on the photograph refenced, what the condition of the wire ties are as they appear to be covered by the chain link fabric that is loose at the bottom of the fencing. The loose fabric at the bottom of the could be concealing the wire tie condition.

It appears that Mr. Grant omits or ignores the current condition of the wire ties at the property as observed at our site visit. This is the same site visit that was performed by Mr. Grant. It also appears that the condition of the fencing at the incident location has been altered. The photo taken at the time of the original incident show that there was a mesh fabric over the fencing. The current condition of the chain link fence shows that plastic slats have been installed and the mesh has been removed. In addition, the current condition of chain link fence at the alleged location of the incident is in need of repair and maintenance. Below are the photographs taken by PCG on May 10th 2021 at the alleged location of the incident referenced above which show that a wire tie was not bent or trimmed in a manner to prevent injury and in need of repair.

Later on page 10 of Mr. Grants report he states the following statements

8.2.1 Consumer Safety – For fence applications where pedestrians may be in contact with the fence, such as play areas, sports field, play courts, and swimming pools, wire ties shall be trimmed and bent in such a manner as to avoid injury to pedestrians in contact with the fence.

9.4 Place the fabric by securing one end, applying sufficient tension to remove all slack before making attachment elsewhere. Tighten the fabric to provide a smooth uniform appearance free from sag.

It appears that Mr. Grant omits or ignores the current condition of the fencing as observed during the site visit of the Springstone Lakes Montessori School. Multiple locations were observed to have exposed wire ties and sagging or loose fabric which create a hazardous condition at the property. Below are the photographs taken by PCG on May 10th 2021.

The Following was observed at the May 10, 2021 site inspection performed by Mr. Grant:

fence at the incident location was approximately 9 feet long and did not have a line post (Photograph 3). Terminal posts were installed at the fence section corners adjacent to the Incident location. The chain-link fabric had was smooth, uniform, and tight, and was attached to the rail at less than 24-inch intervals.

It appears that Mr. Grant omits or ignores the current condition of the chain link fabric at the property as observed at our site visit. The chain link fabric was loose and blowing in the wind. This is not smooth, uniform, or tight as stated by Mr. Grant. Below are the photographs taken by PCG on May 10th 2021.

The Following was observed at the May 10, 2021 preformed by Mr. Grant:

posts (Photograph 4). The wire ties were trimmed and bent downward. The chain-link fabric was wrapped around vertical rails. The vertical rails were attached to the terminal posts. The chain-link fabric terminated at the top and bottom fence rails (Photograph 5). The secured wire between the chain-link fabric and the rails

It appears that Mr. Grant omits or ignores the current condition of the wire ties and fabric ties at the property as observed at our site visit. There are some wire ties that are not trimmed or bent downward. The plastic zip ties used to secure the mesh fabric to the chain link fencing is also not trimmed. Both of these conditions continue to create a hazardous condition. Below are the photographs taken by PCG on May 10th 2021.

Conclusions and Opinions:

Based on the current condition of the chain link fence, mesh fabric, and attachment methods, it appears that Mr. Grant has omitted or ignored multiple hazardous conditions that are currently present in the fencing system today. The fence construction falls below the standard of care. Mr. Grant stated in his conclusion that the fence at the incident location was properly installed and met the standard of care. It appears that Mr. Grant has omitted or ignored wire ties and connections that are not installed per his stated standards. The condition of the chain link fence as of May 10th 2021 continues to create a hazardous condition. The chain link fencing at the alleged location has been altered since the incident occurred and has not been properly maintained. A reasonable person would have expected, after the incident with Jasmine Laudig, that the Springstone Lakes Montessori School would have engaged a licensed fence contractor to mitigate any hazardous conditions present. It is obvious that this did not occur.

Discovery is ongoing in this matter. No other expert reports have been produced and no site inspections have been scheduled. I reserved my right to supplement this report after the aforementioned have been undertaken.

Sincerely yours,

R.P. Phelps, signed electronically

THE SCHNITZER LAW FIRM

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION AND FACTUAL BACKGROUND

This case involves what should be a simple trip and fall.

Plaintiff anticipates waiving, as items of special damages, some of the amount of her past medical expenses incurred for the care and treatment of the injuries related to the subject incident. Similarly, Plaintiff also has a pending motion seeking summary judgment on some of her medical specials. While there will be evidence of the medical care Plaintiff received after the fall, she likely will not pursue all damages related to medical specials and/or some of them may already be decided by the Court. Plaintiff's pain and suffering damages will be proven by her own testimony, the testimony of lay witnesses, and expert witness testimony.

For the medical specials that Plaintiff is not claiming, or those the Court grants, those bills, the amounts of the bills, and the fact that some of those medical bills may have been paid by collateral sources, are irrelevant to the facts at issue at trial. There is no logical connection between the amounts billed or paid for medical services and the pain and suffering that resulted from Plaintiff's injuries. The amounts billed—including documents such as billing statements or invoices—have no "tendency to make the existence of any fact that is of consequence to the determination of the action more probable or less probable than it would be without the evidence." NRS 48.015. Therefore, those amounts, and those billing documents are irrelevant and inadmissible.

Therefore, Plaintiff requests that all bills and amounts that Plaintiff waives in the pretrial memorandum related to her past treatment, and those that the Court grants as part of Plaintiff's pending motion, be excluded and that Defendants, defense counsel, and all witnesses, including experts, be precluded from mentioning, referencing, or commenting on the amounts of the waived or granted past medical special damages. They should also be precluded from arguing any waived past medical special damages are unreasonable. Further, Plaintiffs request that Defendants, defense counsel, and all witnesses be precluded from using Plaintiff's waived past medical specials as a measure of his pain and suffering damages.

II. STANDARD FOR MOTION IN LIMINE

The primary purpose of a Motion in Limine is to prevent prejudice at trial. Hess v. Inland Asphalt Co., 1990 U. S. Dist Lexis 6465, 1990-1 Trade Cases (CCH) P68,954 (E.D. Wash., Feb. 20, 1990). Such motions are designed to simplify the trial and avoid prejudice that often occurs when a party is forced to object in front of the jury to the introduction of evidence. Fenimore v. Drake Construction Co., 87 Wn.2d 85, 549 P.2d 483 (1976).

Motions in Limine in Nevada are governed by NRS 47.080 and EDCR 2.47. NRS. 47.080 provides:

> "In jury cases, hearings on preliminary questions of admissibility, offers of proof in narrative or question and answer form, and statements of the judges showing the character of the evidence shall to the extent practicable unless further restricted by NRS 47.0090, be conducted out of the hearing of the jury, to prevent the suggestion of inadmissible evidence."

NRS 48.205(2) provides that "[e]vidence that is not relevant is not admissible." Relevant evidence is:

> "[e]vidence having a tendency to make the existence of any fact that is of consequence to the determination of the action more or less probable than it would be without be the evidence."

NRS 48.015.

NRS 48.035 restricts the admission of relevant evidence in certain circumstances:

> 1. Although relevant, evidence is not admissible if its probative value is substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice, of confusion of the issues, or of misleading the jury.
> 2. Although relevant, evidence may be excluded if its probative value is substantially outweighed by considerations of undue delay, waste of time, or needless presentation of cumulative evidence."

Therefore, evidence that is unfairly prejudicial must be excluded even when it is relevant. Givens v. State, 99 Nev. 50, 657 P.2d 97 (1983).

III. LEGAL ARGUMENT

A. ANY OF PLAINTIFF'S PAST MEDICAL BILLS THAT ARE WAIVED ARE IRRELEVANT AND INADMISSIBLE UNDER NRS 48.015

The Nevada Supreme Court has "long held that 'in actions for damages in which the law provides no legal rule of measurement it is the special province of the jury to determine the amount that ought to be allowed….'" Stackiewicz v. Nissan Motor Corp., 100 Nev. 443, 454-55, 686 P.2d 925, 932 (1984). It has further noted that "the elements of pain and suffering are wholly subjective. It can hardly be denied that, because of their very nature, a determination of their monetary compensation falls peculiarly within the province of the jury…." Id.; see also Wyeth v. Rowatt, 126 Nev. 446, 471, 244 P.3d 765, 782 (2010) ("Damages for pain and suffering are peculiarly within the jury's province").

While the Nevada Supreme Court has not specifically ruled on the issue of the relevancy of medical bills to pain and suffering[1], its insistence that damages for pain and suffering are strictly for the jury to consider comports with the law of other jurisdictions. See, e.g., Martin v. Soblotney, 502 Pa. 418, 466 A.2d 1022 (1983) (holding the amount of money expended on medical treatment and related expenses has no relevance or correlation to the extent of pain and suffering); LaBar v. McDonald, 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 9641 (E.D. Pa. Jan. 27, 2012) ("medical expenses incurred are not relevant to establish the severity of the injuries sustained"); Payne v. Wyeth Pharmaceuticals, Inc., 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 91849 (E.D. Va. Nov. 12, 2008) (holding plaintiff's medical bills were irrelevant as to plaintiff's pain and suffering); Roark v. Wal-Mart La., LLC, 2012, U.S. Dist. LEXIS 69830 (D. La. May 18, 2012) ("The primary factors in assessing quantum for [physical pain and suffering] are the severity and duration of the pain and suffering"); Harper v. Bolton, 239 S.C. 541, 124 S.E.2d 54 (1962) ("Damages for pain and suffering are unliquidated and indeterminate in character and the assessment of unliquidated damages must rest in the sound discretion of the jury, controlled by the discretion of the trial judge. Pain and suffering have no market price.")

[1] However, Nevada's wrongful death statute appears to recognize that damages for pain or suffering have no correlation to medical bills. NRS 41.085 allows an heir to bring a wrongful death suit and the statute expressly allows for the heir to sue for "pain, suffering, or disfigurement of the decedent." NRS 41.08(4). However, "special damages, such as medical expenses, which the decedent incurred or sustained before the decedent's death" are reserved solely for the estate of the decedent. NRS 41.085(5)(a). The heir cannot sue for these damages on behalf of the heir. In other words, the heir can bring suit for pain, suffering, or disfigurement of the decedent without having to bring suit for medical expenses incurred by the decedent.

In Payne, the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia provided a thorough, and instructive analysis of this issue. Payne, the plaintiff in that case, had filed for Chapter 7 bankruptcy nine months after being involved in an automobile collision with a vehicle owned by Wyeth Pharmaceuticals. Id. Payne listed his pre-bankruptcy petition medical bills in his bankruptcy schedules, and Wyeth alleged that Payne omitted some of his pre-bankruptcy petition medical bills. Id. The bankruptcy court discharged Payne's debt on April 7, 2008, approximately a month after Payne filed the personal injury suit against Wyeth. Id. Payne intended to move his medical bills into evidence, and Wyeth moved in limine to have them excluded on the grounds that they were not relevant to prove pain and suffering. In its opinion, the Payne court held that the medical bills are not relevant to pain and suffering. In reaching this conclusion, the Court is persuaded by the analysis of Carlson v. Bubash, 639 A.2d 458, 462 (Pa. 1994). As that court reasoned:

> It is immediately apparent that there is no logical or experiential correlation between the monetary value of medical services required to treat a given injury and the quantum of pain and suffering endured as a result of that injury. First, the mere dollar amount assigned to medical services masks the difference in severity between various types of injuries. A very painful injury may be untreatable, or, on the other hand, may require simpler and less costly treatment than a less painful one. The same disparity in treatment may exist between different but equally painful injuries. Second, given identical injuries, the method or extent of treatment sought by the patient or prescribed by the physician may vary from patient to patient and from physician to physician. Third, even where injury and treatment are identical, the reasonable value of that treatment may vary considerably depending upon the medical facility and community in which care is provided and the rates of physicians and other health care personnel involved. Finally, even given identical injuries, treatment and cost, the fact remains that pain is subjective and varies from individual to individual.

> Furthermore, "a single figure representing the total amount of an individual's medical bills does not demonstrate the number of times the person received treatment or the nature of the treatment." Barkley, 595 S.E.2d at 274-75 (Kinser, J., concurring in part and dissenting in part) ("In some instances, one noninvasive diagnostic test can cost as much as many visits to a physical therapist or chiropractor."). Therefore, the medical bills have no tendency to establish Payne's claim that he experienced pain and suffering as a result of the accident. The Court accordingly holds that the medical bills are inadmissible pursuant to Fed. R. Evid.

Id. In the instant case, as in Payne, Plaintiff's medical bills have no tendency to establish his claim that he experienced pain and suffering as a result of the crash. Plaintiff anticipates waiving some of the medical specials claimed in her disclosures and does not intend to seek recovery for any such waived expenses incurred for his past medical treatment and does not intend to introduce his medical bills for such waived specials into evidence. Similarly, some may be granted by summary judgment. Therefore, Defendants have no reason to seek to introduce Plaintiff's waived past medical bills or the awarded medical bills or their amounts. This evidence in no way supports any of Defendant's affirmative defenses and Defendant cannot present evidence that Plaintiff's past medical bills are unreasonable. Therefore, any of Plaintiff's waived past medical bills should be excluded from introduction at trial.

B. EVEN IF PLAINTIFF'S MEDICAL BILLS THAT ARE WAIVED OR GRANTED ARE SOMEHOW RELEVANT, THE INTRODUCTION OF ANY WAIVED MEDICAL BILLS SHOULD BE PRECLUDED UNDER NRS 48.035

Even if this Court concludes Plaintiff's waived medical bills or granted medical bills are somehow relevant to the issues at trial, this Court should still preclude them pursuant to NRS 48.035 as any probative value they have is "substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of the issues, or misleading the jury." The Payne court addressed this issue as well:

> Even if the Court were to conclude the medical bills are relevant and admissible, the medical bills are nevertheless inadmissible pursuant to Fed. R. Evid. 403. "Although relevant, evidence may be excluded if its probative value is substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of the issues, or misleading the jury, or by considerations of undue delay, waste of time, or needless presentation of cumulative evidence." Fed. R. Evid. 403. Here, there is a substantial possibility of jury confusion if the medical bills were introduced to prove pain and suffering. The jury may be tempted to treat the medical bills as recoverable special damages rather than to only assess the medical bills as evidence that Payne experienced pain and suffering. The jury may also be confused by the medical bills' characterization of the treatment Payne allegedly underwent because the treatment is described in the bills in summary, imprecise terms. These ill-defined terms, presented right beside their cost in dollar figures, with little explanation to guide the jury, would unfairly prejudice Wyeth Pharmaceuticals. To cure this prejudice, and thus to > clarify the meaning of the terms in the medical bills, Payne would likely have to call a witness from each medical office from which a bill was issued to testify regarding, among other things, the terms in the bill and whether a doctor or administrator labeled the procedures and treatments. Such a process could unduly delay the trial. Furthermore, introduction of the medical bills into evidence would be overly cumulative: whatever tendency they would have to prove pain and suffering may already be amply demonstrated by other, more probative evidence, such as the testimony of Payne and his doctors. On the other side of the scale, the medical bills are of limited probative value for many of the reasons discussed in the relevance analysis, supra. For all these reasons individually, and for all of them together, the Court holds that Payne's medical bills fail Rule 403 analysis and are therefore inadmissible to prove pain and suffering.

Payne, 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 91849 (emphasis added) (footnote omitted). Because Plaintiff's waived medical bills or granted bills would not be claimed as damages at trial, and there would be no jury instruction about them, their introduction into evidence will confuse the jury about the true issues they will have to decide.

As in Payne, introducing waived medical expenses or granted medical expenses would unfairly and unduly prejudice Plaintiffs because of the risk that the jurors would substitute the waived or granted bill for the amounts for pain and suffering. There is also a substantial risk that the jury would improperly attempt to use the waived or granted medical expenses and the amount of waived or granted medical care Plaintiff received after the incident as a basis to establish his pain or suffering damages. As recognized by the court in Payne, "there is no logical or experiential correlation between the monetary value of medical services required to treat a given injury and the quantum of pain and suffering endured as a result of that injury." Id. at ¶ 6.

In addition to being precluded from introducing Plaintiff's waived or granted medical bills, or the amounts of the waived or granted bills, Defendant should be precluded from making any statements, suggestions or arguments that the jury should base their damage award for Plaintiff's pain or suffering on the value or cost of the medical care he received following the incident. Allowing the jury to hear evidence about Plaintiff's waived or granted medical bills would only confuse and mislead the jury. Therefore, even if this Court determines Plaintiff's waived or granted bills are somehow relevant, any reference to those medical bills and amounts should nevertheless be precluded under NRS 48.035.
