3	THE COURT: Okay. Then let's go then to page 6-7.
4	And this is John Dattala versus Eustachius Bursey.
5	And let's start with plaintiff's counsel. Your
6	appearances for the record, please.
7	MR. CHILDS: Benjamin Childs, 3946, for the
8	plaintiff. And Mr. Dattala is present in my office.
9	THE COURT: Okay. Good morning, Mr. Childs, and good
10	morning Mr. Dattala.
11	MR. CHILDS: Good morning.
12	THE PLAINTIFF: Good morning.
13	THE COURT: Okay. And for the defense?
14	MR. BALL: Good morning, Your Honor. Zach Ball for
15	Precision Assets as defendant, counterclaimant and
16	cross-claimant against Bursey.
17	THE COURT: Okay. Good morning, Mr. Ball.
18	MR. LANCASTER: Good morning, Your Honor. Aaron
19	Lancaster on behalf of WFG National Title. I also have my
20	client representative that's present.
21	THE COURT: Okay. Very good. Thank you.
22	MR. BENEDICT: Good morning, Your Honor. John
23	Benedict on behalf of with defendant Acry and Precision Assets
24	as cross-claimants against WFG.
25	THE COURT: Okay. Good morning, Mr. Benedict.

All right. So I am spending the afternoon doing motions in limine. I don't know -- I believe that

Mr. (indiscernible) sent you an e-mail to let you know that.

Okay. So I'm ready to hear the motions.

Why don't we start with -- we only have one other case. It's Mr. -- it's three cases, but it's about attorneys' fees.

And by the way, since I have you, and I know that you -- just to let you know that it appears -- there was a training recently by the commissioners, the ADR Commissioner and the new one Jay Young. And it appears that the Supreme Court is becoming -- or our understanding is that, through them, that the Supreme Court is being more observant with respect to the -- all of the factors in attorneys' fees; right, when you're doing that. They need to be more detailed. And also for costs, pursuant to Cadle.

So I know that, believe me, it's so funny because I'm more like a big picture person. I've had my own law firm, and I think that frankly that Cadle is extremely onerous, that —but what can we do, it's the law; right? So I just thought I'd give you a heads up, not that you don't do that, but since this is fairly new that they're starting to be — it's my understanding they're starting to pay more attention to it or, you know, focus on it. I thought I'd just let you know.

All right. So let's go on with -- let's start with -- let's start with WFG National Title Insurance Company's claims, we believe that a lot of the claims that are involved involved with is a lot more detailed than our specific claims quiet-title action. The second one is a declaratory relief.

didn't respond to those. So we assumed that -- well, they're unopposed as of right now which makes sense because WFG doesn't claim any interest into it. So I assume that we can stipulate or at least agree on the record that those claims are not

Your Honor, because I believe Mr. Childs is shaking his head

He has a couple of causes of action that have been

We've addressed both of those in our MSJ. Plaintiff at Precision -- Precision's motion for summary judgment is asserted against us: His first cause of action is a

MR. CHILDS: Benjamin Childs.

MR. CHILDS: Yeah.

We can handle that in piecemeal if you would like,

THE COURT: Why don't we -- I need your name for the

JD Reporting, Indattal v. Precision Assets et al 5 Case # 84762

1	No, I agree. I don't know. I just didn't designate
2	who the parties were in the cause of action or in the cause
3	of action for the declaratory relief
4	THE COURT: Okay. And I
5	MR. CHILDS: and the quiet title.
6	And, yes, WFG I believe doesn't have any, that I know
7	of, claim of an interest in the subject property. So and I
8	apologize for that. He's I agree with Mr. Lancaster on
9	those two issues.
10	THE COURT: Okay. All right.
11	Mr. Benedict, Mr. Ball, do you have anything that
12	you'd like to add at this time? Even though I understand it's
13	between the other two parties, but this is all sort of, you
14	know, there's a lot of overlap in some ways.
15	MR. BALL: This is Zach Ball. Nothing to add.
16	THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.
17	Mr. Benedict.
18	MR. BENEDICT: John Benedict. Nothing to add, Your
19	Honor.
20	THE COURT: Okay. Very good.
21	So all right. So please go on, Mr. Lancaster.
22	MR. LANCASTER: Thank you, Your Honor.
23	So plaintiff's next cause of action is negligence per
24	se related to WFG and Lillian Medina, who's also a named
25	defendant in this action. She's not present here today is my

1 understanding.

But stepping back, this litigation revolves around two different properties. So there's the 50 Sacramento property, and then there's the neighboring property, which is 59 Sacramento.

THE COURT: There were three at some point, weren't there?

MR. LANCASTER: Correct, Your Honor. That third one I believe has been resolved.

THE COURT: Right. Okay.

MR. LANCASTER: And there's no additional issues related to that property and my client and the plaintiff.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. LANCASTER: And so Ms. Medina, there's no involvement related to the 50 Sacramento. So her involvement is going to be specifically related to 59 Sacramento. And so WFG was the escrow agent as well as the title agent that handled the transaction between the Bursey to Precision Assets. Through that transaction, WFG had retained the services of a third-party service provider Simple Signings, LLC. And this was related to getting an affidavit of grantor notarized.

You're going to hear a lot about, and I'm sure you've read a lot about what this affidavit of grantor is. To identify what it is, is it's an affidavit by the person or entity that's conveying away title saying that they don't have any additional interest in the property. And this is a specific document that WFG -- it's an internal document -- that doesn't affect title. It's for them to create an assurance for them to go forward with their title insurance and ensuring the title.

And so WFG retained simple signings, provided simple signings with the affidavit of grantor, asked them to have it notarized. Simple Signings engaged one of their third-party independent contractors, which was Lillian Medina in this case, and assigned her the task of going forward and getting that affidavit of grantor notarized and executed.

There was no employee-employer relationship there. None is asserted in the opposition. In the complaint it was asserted in that manner, but the opposition doesn't address that.

So what plaintiff is seeking to do, because there's some allegations that there was some mishandlings and misdealings related to the execution of that affidavit of grantor, they're trying to assign vicariously that liability to WFG related to the actions of Ms. Medina.

And so the theories that plaintiff sets forth is, one, they look at respondent superior, which we've identified in our moving papers and identified that there must be an employee-employer relationship there. There's certainly none there. There's no evidence. In fact, there's -- all the

1 evidence is contrary to it.

Ms. Medina testified that she was a third party to Simple Signings. Simple Signings was a third-party service provider to WFG. There's no payment that was made from WFG or even the title funds to Ms. Medina. It went through Simple Signings. So there's no dispute as to the employee-employer relationship, but Nevada law clearly provides that under that employee-employer relationship for that liability to be theory and that doctrine that you have to have an vicariously assigned to WFG, which doesn't happen.

And so in the opposition, plaintiff hinges and argues related to agent and principal relationship. Nevada law is clear on that point as well. If you look at the Hunter Mining Lab case by the Supreme Court, it identifies that an agency relationship, the principal possesses the right to control the agent's conduct, and it also identifies that the principal of the agency, however, does not mean that an agency relationship exists every time one party has a contractual right to control some aspect of another party's business.

So there was no right or obligation for WFG to control any activity of Medina. In fact, they had no idea who Lillian Medina was prior to or after — until after the documents were signed and issues started arising related to those documents signed. WFG didn't have any ability to hire her, to fire her, to tell her how to perform her functions.

1	Their limited role was to provide them with the documents to be
2	notarized. This happens in thousands of transactions every
3	day. They didn't didn't provide any additional instruction,
4	or there's no evidence of any control that has to be evidenced
5	in order for that employee or employer relationship or
6	excuse me, the agent-principal relationship to be granted.
7	Because there was no agency relationship, and she
8	didn't set herself out as an employee of WFG, there's no
9	ability to vicariously hold that WFG would be liable for her
10	conduct and her actions.

If you go on and look at NRS 240.15, and this is related to even a closer relationship. This is an employee-employer relationship, and that statute says the employer --

THE COURT: I'm sorry. Counsel, forgive me. I just need to catch this really quickly. Okay?

MR. LANCASTER: Absolutely.

(Pause in the proceedings.)

THE COURT: Please go on, Mr. Lancaster. Sorry about that. We're back on the record.

MR. LANCASTER: No problem. Thank you, Your Honor.

So I was discussing NRS 240.15, and this identifies liability related to an employee-employer relationship and a Notary Public. So it states that the employer of a Notary Public is liable for the damages proximately caused by the

1	misconduct of the Notary Public if, A, the Notary Public was
2	acting within the scope of his or her employment at the time
3	the Notary Public engaged in the misconduct; and, B, the
4	employer was or of the Notary Public consented to the
5	misconduct of the Notary Public. There's certainly not any
6	facts to show that there's no employee-employer relationship,
7	which would be closer to it than the relationship that we have
8	here. But even if there were, there has to be evidence showing
9	that WFG consented to the misconduct of the Notary Public. And
10	the record shows that there was no communication with
11	Ms. Medina and WFG until after the escrow was closed.
12	And then finally, plaintiff's last cause of action
13	asserted against WFG is related to failure to supervise,
14	inadequate training and education.

And Nevada law is very clear that there has to be an employer-employee relationship there. Plaintiff doesn't identify any contrary law.

THE COURT: I'm so sorry. I apologize. I'll be right back.

(Video interference) based upon Nevada law and plaintiff's cause of action for failure to supervise, inadequately train and educate, there must be that employer-employee relationship, which certainly is not the case here, and there's no Nevada law saying that even if there was an agent-principal relationship, which we dispute vigorously, that the obligation to supervise, train and educate is not there.

And if the Court has any questions for me --

THE COURT: I don't.

MR. LANCASTER: Thank you.

THE COURT: No questions.

Okay. I'd like to hear from plaintiff, Mr. Childs.

MR. CHILDS: Thank you. Benjamin Childs.

So the first thing to keep in mind is that this is a summary judgment motion. So all factual inferences are in favor of the nonmoving party.

THE COURT: I understand.

MR. CHILDS: Which is my -- yeah, which is my client, Mr. Dattala.

And what it boils down to, and I think I briefed it pretty well in the opposition is that agency is a question of fact for the jury. So it's not ripe for summary judgment. I mean, I allege, and I quoted from the Second Amended Complaint: Medina was employed and/or the agent of WFG and was within the scope of her employment or agency relationship.

And this is the lady that went out to, she says, and got my client's signature on a couple of affidavits, and Mr. Bursey's signature, and then there's a dispute about whether she has the signature in her notary book. She initially stated that she didn't. And then all of a sudden it showed up. And so she was obviously their agent, but regardless of obvious or not, that's a factual question — that's a factual question for the jury.

And I briefed it very well, I think. And I think the seminal case is, give me a second -- McCrosky versus Carson Tahoe Regional Medical Center. It's a 2017 case, and it just goes into, And it's reasonable for the patient to assume that the doctor is an agent of the hospital. So this is an agency scenario. And the doctor has apparent authority, can make the hospital vicariously liable for the doctor's action. Whether an ostensible, and I'm reading from my quote on page 4 of my opposition, which is quoting that case:

"Whether an ostensible agency relationship exists is genuinely a question of fact for the jury if the facts showing the existence of agency are disputed or if conflicting inferences can be drawn from the facts."

Which is where we are here.

And then there's a 1996 case, Footnote 3,

Schlotfeldt -- and I don't know how you pronounce it -- versus Charter Hospital of Las Vegas, a 1996 case. This is at the top of page 4, Footnote 3, Whether agency did exist or not is determined -- and cannot -- let's make this real clear: Whether agency did exist cannot be determined as a matter of law, cannot be determined as a matter of law. And we're at a summary judgment hearing. So this is something that the jury needs to decide.

So I went over what Medina was, you know, supposedly did, and quoted from her deposition. These were -- WFG gave her documents to purportedly go out and have signed, and these are forms that were given to her, and she didn't have any authority to change any of them.

And then the cause of action for inadequate training is derivative of agency.

So they're citing the statute about the notary, if the notary is an employee. And again, when I filed the amended complaint, none of this was really that -- strike that, the initial complaint, none of this was really that clear. So now I agree that it doesn't appear that Medina was an employee -or employee relationship with WFG, but she certainly was an agent, principal-agent relationship with WFG, and it cannot be determined as a matter of law. So this has to be a fact for the jury, and it would be invading the province of the jury to make a decision at this point.

So do you have any questions, Judge?

I think it's been well briefed by both sides.

3

THE COURT: No. I don't have any questions right now, Mr. Childs.

4

5

Mr. Lancaster, would you like to respond to 6

Mr. Childs, especially his last argument, please.

7

MR. LANCASTER: Yes. Briefly, Your Honor.

8

So the standard related to summary judgment, which we cited in our reply, is that there are no genuine issues as to any material fact, and the movant is entitled to judgment as a 10

evidence is such that a rational trier of fact could return a matter of law. And a factual dispute is genuine when the 13 verdict to the nonmoving party.

14

Mr. Childs is essentially arguing that whenever you assert an agency relationship, it automatically goes to trial.

15

It doesn't matter what the facts say. It's going to trial.

16

Because the Judge can't touch it.

18 absolutely clear that there was no relationship between the two

We look at the facts in this case. It's clear, 19 20

besides this case related to the doctor in the hospital that

21 said that the doctor had apparent authority. There is independent contractors to go and fulfill that.

22

certainly no apparent authority by Ms. Medina. She wasn't provided the documents. The documents were provided to Simple

23

24

Simple Signing then enlisted one of their third-party Signing.

25

And so certainly we don't believe that there's an agency-principal relationship. They didn't even know -- WFG had no knowledge of Lillian Medina, no communication with Lillian Medina, no control. So the Court goes and identifies what they have to actually show to carry at least their requirement to show that there's a genuine issue of material fact, and they failed to do that.

Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Lancaster.

Well, I've reviewed, and, frankly, I agree. I don't believe that there's sufficient, you know, I understand what the standard for a motion for summary judgment is, and I don't believe that there's any evidence that would place Ms. Medina in -- as an agent of WFG. Okay. In this Court's view, she was not an employee of WFG. WFG did not provide training or supervision concerning her notary activities. No employee-employer relationship between WFG and Medina exists. So no liability can attach to WFG.

I think Ms. Medina is an independent contractor, and I don't believe that any of the rights or obligations of the employer relationship or even an agency relationship are met. So I — this Court grants WFG's motion for summary judgment against plaintiff concerning Ms. Medina.

All right. Let's move on to the next one.

Okay. The next one -- I've numbered them. So the

1 next one --

MR. CHILDS: Judge, I apologize. This is Benjamin Childs. Can I just point out one thing before we move on?

THE COURT: You can point it out, but I've made my decision.

Go ahead, Mr. Childs.

MR. CHILDS: If you look at Exhibit 9, interrogatory 12, their response to interrogatories, Lillian Medina is an independent notary, slash, signing agent, and WFG has no responsibility to supervise her actions. They're saying she's an agent. Those are their words, signing agent. It's the very last — it's the very last page, second, third to last page of my opposition. So they — they use the word agent, but so I understand you've made your decision. That's one of — I just want to make that clear on the record. It's obviously in the record. It's, like, attached. So thank you.

THE COURT: Mr. Lancaster's?

MR. LANCASTER: No. She was a signing agent as a third-party independent contractor. That was her job. That was her title as an independent contractor of Simple Signings.

WFG --

THE COURT: I agree with that. And I think it's substance over form. And I don't believe that that agent, that name there or that word where Mr. Childs is, you know, directing us has to do with the agency relationship, the classic agency relationship that is the subject of this first motion for summary judgment. So this is granted.

And let's go on to the second one, please. This is WFG's Motion for Summary Judgment Against Defendant Precision Assets.

Let's keep going.

MR. CHILDS: Can there be some Rule 54 --

THE COURT: Mr. Childs, you're not going to be able to just scream things out. I know that this is informal, and I have to answer the phone every few minutes because we have homicides out there. But the truth is -- for the search warrants. But the truth is you can't just start screaming in the middle of court.

MR. CHILDS: No, I'm asking if there could be some Rule 54 certification. Because this is the only --

THE COURT: Let's take this as -- let's take this as Let's go to the second one. The second one is WFG's Motion for Summary Judgment Against Defendant Precision Assets.

Go on, Mr. Lancaster.

MR. LANCASTER: Yes. Thank you, Your Honor.

So Precision Assets asserts nine different causes of action, and they fall into two categories. The first category is related to title and escrow claims. The second category is related to title insurance defense claims. And so I'll handle those separately to try and make it a little bit easier to

1 | swallow.

So related to title and escrow claims, as previously stated, WFG was the escrow agent, title agent on behalf of Precision Assets and Bursey as escrow parties related to the 59 Sacramento and 50 Sacramento properties.

Throughout that handling of escrows, there was constant communications. There's no doubt that these were relatively quick transactions in the scope of what the industry standard is. They were — they were not quick transactions related to a buy and sell and flip scenario. So one thing to keep in mind throughout this is that Precision Assets is a sophisticated buyer. They buy properties. They sell properties. They flip properties. They do over a hundred of these types of transactions a year. So they are certainly experienced in the arena.

Related to what WFG's responsibility is to both Bursey and Precision as parties to an escrow is Nevada law is clear is that escrow instructions control the parties' rights in defined escrow agent's duties. So that's the general idea and the general rule related to what those obligations and roles are.

There's a limited duty that Nevada courts have also identified. And that's a duty to disclose facts concerning actual fraud of which the agent is actually aware. And so I want to break that a little bit down in that that duty is met when the escrow agent discloses those facts. They don't have any obligation to provide legal analysis of it or business analysis related to those facts. Their duty and their obligation is purely to disclose, and that's what they've done in this case. And one additional point that Nevada law has held is that there's no duty to investigate to discover facts.

And so throughout the process of the escrow transaction, Precision Assets identifies what they couch as red flags. And these are related to Dattala being the immediate owner of the property prior to Bursey. And if this Court remembers, this is a transaction where Bursey sold the properties to Precision. So Bursey's acquired the properties from Dattala, and then Bursey turned around, sold them on to Precision. And so that red flag was disclosed to Precision Assets. They were fully aware that Dattala was on title. They provided him with a preliminary title report showing that he was the title owner of the property. Certainly they can't say that they were not disclosed of that information or the facts.

Additionally, on the 50 Sacramento property, there was a deed of trust that was between Dattala and Bursey. That was identified in the preliminary title report. It was also identified that there would have to be a release of that deed of trust, which happened prior to or outside of escrow. WFG didn't have any involvement in that deed of trust, and Precision was aware of the deed of trust because it identified it on the preliminary title report. And that preliminary title report was reviewed, and it was signed by Precision.

The deed to Bursey from Dattala related to the 59 Sacramento, happened immediately before the closing of the 59 Sacramento transaction and escrow; however, Precision was fully aware of that recording. There's e-mail exchanges that we identified that we provided that shows that Precision was aware of this deed from Dattala to Bursey prior to the closing of the 59 Sacramento.

And then the affidavits grantor and Precision identifies these in their opposition as red flags. Well, there was an affidavit of grantor related to the 50 Sacramento property; however — and that's the one that Precision says WFG e-mailed it to Bursey, and then Bursey had it notarized and signed by Dattala. And they said that that was not proper. However, nobody is disputing that Dattala signed that. So no one is disputing the factual issues related to that affidavit of grantor.

The 59 Sacramento affidavit of grantor is the one that we just discussed with Lillian Medina. This is one where WFG retained independent third-party Simple Signings to have that affidavit of grantor executed and notarized. And they were not aware of any issues related to that affidavit of grantor until after the closing of this 59 Sacramento property.

Additionally, those affidavits of grantor, like I previously stated, they don't affect title. And Precision testified that they don't review affidavits of grantor. If you look at the actual language in the affidavits of grantor, it says that,

The undersigned makes this declaration for the purpose of inducing WFG to issue policies of title insurance knowing that WFG will be issuing such policies of title insurance in reliance upon the truth and accuracy of the statement in this declaration.

This is the document that WFG has signed to try to provide additional assurances to them that when they issue title insurance policies and coverage, then they are going to be protected or at least that the title is properly transferred.

Obviously there's issues related to that, but that's WFG's internal document. It has nothing to do with the transfer of title. Precision testified they don't rely upon them. They don't review these. So it's certainly not a red flag that would amount to any type of negligence on behalf of WFG.

And all of the different items that WFG -- or sorry, that Precision Assets identifies as red flags, they had knowledge of. They either had knowledge of, or they are not red flags at all. And so we believe that there's not any issues related to the handling of those -- of the escrow transactions.

And so would the Court like me to move on to the title insurance defense claim or just handle those --

THE COURT: No. We're going through this right now so I --

MR. LANCASTER: Okay.

THE COURT: -- from counsel, please. Thank you.

MR. LANCASTER: Yes. So I'll continue with the title insurance defense claims.

So the paramount issue related to the title insurance defense claims is the relationship between WFG and the counsel that it retains on behalf of the insureds. In this case, Dattala originally asserted its first cause of action -- or first complaint, and it did not identify WFG. WFG, under the terms of the title policy retained Wolfe & Wyman to act as counsel for Precision Assets related to the Dattala claims.

Subsequently, Dattala asserted his First Amended Complaint naming WFG, and we've just gone through those causes of action.

At that point, Precision reached out and requested that it be provided an opportunity to have its own independent counsel of its own choosing retained.

Well, Nevada law is very clear on this issue as to when a title insurance or an insurer is required to provide independent counsel. And the first step that they have to meet is there has to be a conflict of interest between the parties. And if you look at this case, the interests of WFG and Precision Assets are directly aligned. They are disputing Dattala's claims related to title. If Precision Assets defeats plaintiff's claims, WFG will have completely defended the title pursuant to the title policies.

The actual causes of action asserted by Dattala against WFG have nothing to do with title. We just identified that. There were the original claims of quiet title and declaratory relief were agreed by the parties that they were not asserted against WFG.

And the additional issue related to a conflict is related to if there's a coverage issue, meaning that the Courts will look at and say does the outcome of the litigation also effect coverage under the claims, and that's not the case here at all. The outcome of the case against WFG would have no issue related to -- or have any effect on the coverage and the title claims under that policy. So WFG couldn't influence the litigation to result in an actual coverage issue that WFG wouldn't be responsible for.

That's not the facts of the case, and that's what the Hansen Court in -- the Nevada Supreme Court in Hansen identifies. They state that we further conclude that an insurer is only, only obligated to provide independent counsel when the insured's and the insurer's legal interests actually conflicts. So that's certainly not the case here. They don't conflict. They're actually in alignment.

If you look -- let me identify -- the Hansen Court goes on to identify joint representation is permissible as long as any conflict remains speculative; and for independent counsel to be required, the conflict of interest must be significant, not merely theoretical, actual, not merely potential.

So here we certainly believe that not only is there no conflict between WFG and Precision Assets related to Dattala's claims, but they're in alignment because if Precision Asset is successful in its defense of the title policy, then WFG has met its title obligations under the title policies.

Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Counsel, Mr. Benedict.

MR. BENEDICT: Good morning, yes.

THE COURT: Good morning.

MR. BENEDICT: Good morning, Your Honor. John Benedict, 5581, on behalf of Precision Assets as cross-claimant.

Your Honor, I take great solace in the fact that the Court reads everything thoroughly. I've had that experience with you. So I'm certainly not going to just restate my briefs.

2 p
3 b
4 t

But I think I have read them thoroughly in preparation for this hearing, and I think they clearly -- the brief clearly raises a myriad of questions of fact on both the title and escrow handling as well as the claims handling. That is supported by evidence, admissions from Jenine Santos, who is the claims -- strike that, the title officer on this matter, the escrow officer rather, and by Dawn Weller, from their deposition.

So we have a myriad of questions of facts addressing the title and escrow first. We supported our motion not only with that evidence, not only with internal communications from within WFG, not only with Ms. Santos's own testimony, but with the expert's opinion of (video interference) was 40 years (video interference).

What counsel asked the Court to determine as a matter of law is that, one, the only thing that matters is the insurance contract. That's the title policy, and that's wrong as a matter of law. And, two, there are no questions of fact that everything that they did here was proper and that no reasonable jury could conclude otherwise. That is also untrue.

Mr. Blecker (phonetic) points out, and we attached his opinion and I've highlighted some of his conclusions in the brief at page 9 and 10 of the briefs in point after point from him, but there are a number of things that they did wrong in the claims handling. Let me be specific.

Mr. Lancaster raises really two points to ask you to determine as a matter of law that there can be no causes of action left for Precision Assets on the claims handling -- or strike that, on the title and escrow; however, one of those points is just blatantly not true, and that is that the affidavit of grantor has no impact on the title.

Ms. Santos, and I quote her in her deposition on page 62, line 2 through 25, says specifically, Title will not close or insure the property without the affidavit of grantor.

So, Your Honor, what's missing here, and I hope I articulated it well enough in the moving papers, it is this — our affirmative claims for mishandling the title and escrow are based on the contract we bargained for. Yes, Precision Assets is a sophisticated buyer. There's no doubt. We've never disputed that. It's smart enough to bargain for a third party escrow holder and title insurance to ensure that this kind of thing doesn't happen in its number of transactions.

What the moving papers try to do is turn Precision

Assets into its own insurer and its own escrow handlers saying, well, we gave you this stuff, so you should have figured it out. Well, there's two problems with that.

One, the contract says they're going to meet all conditions precedent to provide — to provide Precision Assets with clear title. They clearly didn't do that here given the number of alleged forgeries and problems with the handling,

1 | number one.

Number two, the contract also says that they will act, you know, as a neutral party on behalf of both parties. It was never disclosed to Precision Assets that the way that WFG was going about clearing title before they insure title to us was to then fill in the affidavit of grantor after the fact. Let me repeat that.

That document which Ms. Santos testified is required before they're able to close escrow was purportedly signed and notarized by Mr. Dattala, but she filled it in. And the reason that WF -- that Precision Assets, one of the reasons that Precision Assets is sued and is not -- and is alleged not to be a bona fide purchaser is because that document cannot be true. It was allegedly notarized on April the 7th for a transaction that didn't occur until April the 8th. And that's an impossibility.

So Ms. Santos admitted in her deposition that she was the one that filled that in. So that in and of itself is enough to raise questions of facts to the jury for mishandling of title and escrow.

Secondly, and along that same lines, Ms. Santos was forthright in her testimony that she sent the buyer -- strike that. She sent the seller, who had monetary gain, who would gain monetarily, Mr. Bursey, out with the documents to get notarized. So she both had him get the notary, record the 1 documents and then accepted them.

The reason for an affidavit of grantor is because it's an uninsured deed in the title. And my client has a right to rely upon its contract upon the WFG's statutory duties, which they're ignoring; statutory duties for an escrow officer and a title officer, and both their internal policies and their common law obligations as are set forth in Mr. Blecker's report and in our summary judgment. My client is entitled to rely upon that in signing off at closing on clear — on what has been represented to be clear title. And when that title is not clear and my client is forced to go through what's now two and a half years of litigation with its property tied up, WFG is responsible for all that proximately flows from that. And those damages have been documents exchanged in discovery and will be presented at trial.

Mr. Lancaster refers to a preliminary title report. Think about that in context. I know the Court is experienced with real estate transactions. Preliminary title reports come because that is what the snapshot of the title is at that time, and it is title and escrow's job to get that title cleared.

So for Mr. Lancaster to point to an April 8th or before April 8th -- excuse me, an April 8th preliminary title report for a transaction that closed on the 15th and to identify in his reply a number of exceptions to title, that it was incumbent upon WFG to legally and properly clear before closing, and to say, ha, ha, got you, we gave you all that stuff that went with that preliminary title report, and therefore, you can't sue us; that is just dead wrong, Your Honor.

It defeats a third-party title and escrow company. It defeats the contract. It defeats the obligations under Nevada law, under the NRS. It defeats the common law obligations of proper handling because it is the title and escrow company's obligation to clear those things before issuing clear title. And if there is something that comes up and it cannot clear those things, as Mr. Blecker points out, it is — and its contract states, it is its absolute duty to inquire of the parties if they're willing to go forward with the transaction given the known facts.

I disagree vehemently with Mr. Lancaster that there was ongoing and constant communications here. There were not. Ms. Santos testified unequivocally that she never contacted, never was in contact with anyone at Precision Assets for purposes of any of these issues.

So what we have is a property on April 8th and a two-week escrow that is in the name of John Dattala. There is nothing unusual or untoward about that.

In the course of the next week before closing, WFG is charged with the legal obligation to clear title in a nonnegligent manner, without accepting forged documents, poor 24 25 recordings and marking up after the fact an affidavit of grantor. And when it doesn't do that, it is not only a breach of contract, it is negligence, and the causes of actions raise a myriad of facts supported by admissions from the WFG, supported by the law and supported by the expert opinion of Mr. Blecker.

And I would simply also adjust the Court -- or refer the Court to Mr. Lancaster citing the Mark Properties One and Two cases. He does not cite those in full. His limited position is that one must be -- that the escrow agent must be fully aware of the fraud before it has any duty to obligate. And he goes on to say, well, there's no duty to investigate. have two rebuttal points on that.

First, the escrow agent cannot create the circumstance of fraud, which Ms. Santos did here by allowing the buyer who has an interest in the transaction to go out and procure all the documents that were going to be needed to clear title. She did that. She admitted that she did that. There's no disputed fact that she did that.

Secondly, the case says, and I'm going to try to pull up the language, the case says,

> That an escrow agent may not close its eyes in the face of known facts, known facts, and console itself with the thought that no one has yet confessed fraud. Although not required to investigate when the agent is aware of facts and circumstances that a reasonable escrow agent would perceive as, quote, evidence of fraud, then there is then a duty to disclose.

So I want to be clear. Ms. Santos created the situation by negligently having Mr. Bursey, who stood to make money from this transaction, be the one to get the documents signed, notarized and recorded. She enabled that fraud. She knew of those facts, she alone, and she never disclosed them to Precision Assets. That enough, I believe, will ultimately carry our burden at trial, but certainly, respectfully, is enough to surpass summary judgment.

If there's no questions on that portion, Your Honor, I'll turn to the claims handling.

THE COURT: Okay. That's good. Thank you, Mr. Benedict.

Go ahead, Counsel.

MR. BENEDICT: No, wait, yeah, so I would like to address the claims handling --

THE COURT: Okay. Very good.

MR. BENEDICT: Thank you.

So the second part of Mr. Lancaster's argument is that there are no questions of fact related to the claims handling. And that too ignores both the facts, the expert opinion, the admissions and the law.

So we've supported our opposition with admissions from the deposition of Dawn Weller, who is their third-party designee as the person most knowledgeable who also is the first party claims handler. So she has the direct knowledge of the information here. And we quoted her extensively in our -- excuse me, in our opposition.

Secondly, we supported the opposition with the conclusions of a very esteemed expert, especially in our local community, Professor Jeffrey Stempel, who went into great detail about all of the conflicts of interest that existed that triggered a right under Hansen to independent counsel. And those have not been rebutted. Certainly, and I don't want to mislead the Court, WFG has submitted a counter-expert opinion; however, that just highlights the fact that at a minimum there are questions of fact.

And thirdly, the timing sequence I think is important, Your Honor, and Mr. Lancaster just kind of glossed over it.

So there was the original complaint, and then very quickly, so that was May 7th, from memory, of '19, and very quickly thereafter certainly by July, Mr. Childs had filed a first amended complaint which named WFG. And right from the get go, WFG was named for negligence per se, poor claims handling as the agent of the notaries were employees or agents, et cetera.

And so I acknowledge that today the Court has ruled that they weren't, but the Court has the benefit of two years of discovery and, you know, briefed out motions for summary judgment. But in July of and August of 2019, it was clear that if the allegations were true against WFG, there was a conflict of interests. And therefore, because the allegations were made and its interests could be put ahead of its insured, there was an obligation under <code>Hansen -- State Farm/Hansen</code> to provide for independent counsel.

We did not ask for independent counsel upon the filing of the complaint. We did not ask for independent counsel until after the depositions of the notaries, which in the context were still alleged to be the agents of WFG where as we quoted its own lawyer said that Ms. Medina had handled the notary responsibilities improperly and that there was going to be issues that arose from that. And at that point, it was clear that there was a conflict of interest, that WFG had an incentive to protect its own interests over its insureds.

And Mr. Lancaster can say that those interests are aligned all he wants, but I would like to draw a fine point for the Court on this.

My client is in the business of selling homes quickly. It does not hold harmless for what's going on 30 months. Ms. Weller testified she knew full well that my client was in the flipping business, and she knew full well, and my clients, and we cited the evidence repeatedly told WFG that they were being injured by the fact that this case was going on, and they couldn't because of the lis pendens sell either 50 or 59 Sacramento. That's undisputed. WFG was fully aware.

WFG took the position that, well, however long it takes, our only duty is to clear title, and we're going to do that. And we were saying all along, no, you're damaging us. And so beginning in November of '19 and into the first part of 2020, not only did we communicate that we were being damaged and that we needed -- Precision needed its own counsel, which would have been me, who I've represented them for over 10 years.

We also asked that various causes of action be brought on its behalf, and Precision was ignored. And then worse, WFG brought causes of actions back against Dattala and ultimately Bursey, that it thought benefited it while ignoring the causes of action that would have benefited Precision Assets, another direct conflict.

And then finally, we attached my May of 2020 letter, which I think, Your Honor, respectfully, is as unequivocal as possible to point out there is a direct conflict; there has been a direct conflict; and quoting State Farm that we are entitled to — that Precision is entitled to counsel of its choice at its — at the insurance company's cost and that that's what the law says and so forth.

1 So to say, well, on the one hand well, you know, 2 State Farm doesn't really apply to us in the title business is 3 incorrect. And to say there has to be an unequivocal direct conflict of interest is also incorrect. Mr. -- Professor 4 5 Stempel gives a number of examples supporting that and says, 6 look, that conflict was so direct it was not proper for that 7 joint law firm to go on to continue to represent both WFG and 8 Precision for as long as it did. So you have a breach there, 9 and you have a breach by not presenting counsel, by not paying for and allowing for independent counsel. 10

And, Your Honor, at a minimum, we believe very strongly that these arguments and the law are going to carry the day at trial.

But at a minimum, on both the title and escrow handling as well as the claims handling, we respectfully submit that there are a number of questions of fact, as I've just highlighted some in my argument, but are more detailed and supported by evidence and admissions in the oppositions of summary judgment.

Thank you. And I'll be happy to answer any questions the Court has.

THE COURT: Okay. I don't have any questions right now, Mr. Benedict.

Mr. Lancaster, please.

MR. LANCASTER: Yes. Thank you, Your Honor.

I wanted to go back and address the issues related to 1 2 the affidavit of grantor. And what opposing counsel fails to 3 clearly identify is that there are two, two different 4 affidavits of grantor. One of those is a document that was 5 sent to Bursey, which I identified that, that nobody is 6 disputing any issues related to that document. Dattala is not 7 saying he didn't sign it. And so there's no issues related to 8 it. Just because Precision Assets thinks that it's not within 9 the industry standards that WFG sent it to Bursey to have this 10 document executed, well, the document was executed, and there's 11 no issues regarding whether it was properly done so. And so there's no damages or issues related to that affidavit.

The other affidavit related to 59 Sacramento and Lillian Medina, the WFG inserted recording information into that document.

And step back again, remember, Precision Assets testified that it doesn't review and it doesn't rely upon these documents. When I say that these affidavits don't affect title, there's nothing that transfers upon the execution of these documents. As I read what the actual document says, these are for the benefit of WFG.

What counsel tries to confuse the Court with is related to what title insurance is. And it's not to say you're going to get a perfect title every time. No. The policy and title insurance is to protect against losses for defects in the title. And so that's exactly what happened here is that there was a claim made on the title policy. WFG accepted that without -- didn't do a reservation of rights related to it, accepted that claim and came in and defended Precision related to that policy.

Moving on to the preliminary title report. Opposing counsel tries to just wash away what this is. This is a document that clearly identified what the prior -- or what the current situation was, and that's what Precision is arguing that it wasn't aware of. It's saying that, well, we didn't know that Dattala was out there. We didn't know that there was this deed of trust that was recorded between Bursey and Dattala. All of that was clearly identified in that document.

Precision identified -- or didn't identify, excuse me, that they executed documents saying that they had reviewed related to utility bills and water bills that had Dattala's name on it. So they certainly were aware that Dattala was a party in this case.

And you don't hear opposing counsel identify any facts that we didn't already address because there are not red flagged issues that they didn't know. And what they try to say is well, we may have known it, but you should have done more. Well, that's not what Nevada law says. We've got to remember exactly what the obligation and the duty of the title insurance company is, and it's that limited duty to disclose these facts,

1 and it did that.

And now Precision is saying, well, I mean, yeah, we're sophisticated, but are we supposed to read these documents? Well, yeah. Are you supposed to make your own independent decision? Yes, if you have questions legally, then the title policies and the escrow documents say we're not your attorneys. Go and find somebody that'll answer these questions if you have them related to these disclosures, but they cannot come back now and say that they weren't disclosed to them, that they weren't aware of them.

Opposing counsel talks related to his expert report as though it is fact. It's not. There's rebuttal. Our rebuttal evidence that identifies, you know, the issues related to that expert report, but you can't come in and say, well, these are the issues of fact because our expert says so. No. They have an obligation to come in, identify issues of fact, and we've gone through in our reply to their opposition, addressed each of the factual issues that they state would prevent summary judgment, and we addressed it. We identified that there's not a genuine issue of material fact related to that.

And then moving on to the claims handling issues. Counsel admits exactly that when Dattala filed its first amended complaint against WFG, the claims were speculative. They thought that there would be an issue there.

But let's look at what Hansen, which is Nevada law. Joint representation is permissible as long as any conflict remains speculative. So for independent counsel to be required, the conflicts of interest must be significant. They must not merely be theoretical. They must be actual, not merely potential. That's exactly what he just identified and agreed.

Yeah, when they submitted that claim against WFG, those were potential. They were speculative. But the Court has determined here today that they weren't warranted. And so we believe that WFG's interest and Precision Assets' interests were aligned in the fact that they were trying to resolve the litigation, and they were trying to identify clear title. Or if there was not clear title, then the title insurance, the policy, is to be there for the protection of losses due to title.

So the whole premise related to Precision Assets' issues is because it is in the business of a quick flip. Well, title insurance policy doesn't qualify and doesn't protect and guarantee you're going to have perfect title. You're going to be able to do a quick flip on this property, and you're going to be able to continue with your business model.

What it does say is this is our belief of the policy and the title issues. And if there's losses related to the title, then we have an insurance policy here. But that's what the litigation is about.

If Precision Assets is successful in its claims

ر related to Dattala and identifies that there's not any title defects, then Precision doesn't have a loss underneath the title policy.

Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Lancaster, I'm going to -- no one is calling me, but I need to take just like a three to five minute comfort break. Okay.

MR. LANCASTER: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: And my team too. Thank you.

(Proceedings recessed at 11:26 a.m., until 11:37 a.m.)

THE COURT: I've reviewed this several times and then I've heard argument. So with respect to WSG's Motion for Summary Judgment Against Defendant Precision Assets, this Court is going -- this Court denies that.

And the reason for that is -- are many. So dividing this in between the title and escrows and then come the claims, I mean, there's a lot of testimony from Ms. Santos, I believe, that there wasn't -- there wasn't enough going on to do -- to conduct a proper escrow. And I'm going to adopt some of Mr. Benedict's information in his opposition, and I think that that absolutely places you over a motion for summary judgment burden where a trier of fact should take a look at that.

With respect to the claims, the, you know, the professor -- let me look at my notes -- Professor Stempel, 2 3 concerning the issue, you know, it appears that a jury could or could not decide, or a trier of fact could or could not decide that there were significant conflicts in the claim handling. One, you know, having the same attorney, I don't -- I think it's for the jury to decide when the conflict --

There's just a lot of facts that are in conflict in this motion for summary judgment, and I don't think in good stead that I can decide this as a Court. I think that I would be overstepping my boundaries if I were to make a decision on this except for deny it so that the jury can hear it, okay.

So when this order is prepared, you know, well, I would direct each one of you, but I want to make sure that everything is very thorough and detailed, please. All right. And that goes to Mr. Lancaster for WSG's motion for summary judgment against plaintiffs as well.

Okay. So and I think that's the reason, and I don't know, I never talked to anyone outside of, being with everyone all together, no ex parte here, but I can see that that's one of the issues that presents possibly defendants their counterclaims.

But anyway, there's just too much. There is a significant amount of material issues of fact that are in controversy here, and for that reason this Court denies this motion.

I	All light. Now we're going to go to Number 5. This
2	is how I have them. This is Defendant Counterclaimant
3	Precision Assets motion for summary judgment.
4	MR. BALL: Thank you, Your Honor. Zach Ball
5	representing Precision Assets on that exciting motion.
6	THE COURT: Okay. Go on, Mr. Ball. And I don't know
7	if
8	MR. BALL: Thank you.
9	THE COURT: Then I have next, just so all of you
LO	know, Precision's motion to expunge deed of trust and 11	Precision's motion to expunge lis pendens. And then there's
L2	one more.
L3	UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: I think that's all.
L4	THE COURT: I think that's it. Okay. I just wanted
L5	to make sure that I have everything.
L6	Okay. Please go on, Mr. Ball.
L7	MR. BALL: Thank you, Your Honor.
L8	By my calculation we've been going for a good amount
L9	here. I believe that all the facts have been properly laid
20	out, not only at this time but given the numerous hearings this
21	Court has heard.
22	I'd like to just jump to setting this up for our
23	motion and specifically our motion for summary judgment is
24	requesting that the Court find that Precision Assets has a bona fide purchaser status here. And that's broken into two

1 distinct factors.

Precision need show that it purchased the properties for valuable consideration, which it did, 59 and 50 Sacramento Drive; and that it did so without notice of a competing or superior interest (video interference) property.

As this Court's aware, it has already heard portions of this argument. It was a January hearing in which the Court specifically ruled as to genuine issues of material fact, not as to the first for valuable consideration, but as to the second, constructive notice, actual knowledge and other factors.

Since that time, we've had some changes in the case. Specifically discovery was -- remained -- seven months of discovery was remaining. Discovery is now closed. We've had expert opinions. And really we've had some clarification as to what has happened in the facts.

As (video interference), all discovery has come in, and no more discovery can be admitted. We have a real clarity as to what's happened here.

And we wagered a guess as to what the opposition would be, and it was so, specifically that Precision Assets should have been aware of certain red flags, that term again today, that should have made it aware and thus dispute its qualification as not being on actual or constructive notice.

But if we look at each one of those alleged red flags that plaintiff alleges, none of them are indicative that Bursey was perpetrating a fraud, except in hindsight and with the benefit of additional information.

The primary red flag is timing of Precision's purchase of the assignment of contract from a nonparty HCO Residential. This distracts from the status of title. At the time of purchase by Precision, Bursey was the owner of both 50 and 59 Sacramento properties. And we'll get into that continuously throughout this argument is that there's a big issue with what was allegedly at issue on preliminary title reports and what happened thereafter when title was clear, and the purchase took place.

The assignment of contract agreements are with nonparty HCO Residential. They were not with Bursey or That's an additional argument. And with those two Dattala. arguments, Dattala seeks to infer that Precision should have conducted more research into Dattala's ownership of the property, disregarding the recorded documents, once again, at the time of purchase from Bursey, indicating that title to the 50 and 59 Sacramento properties had transferred, albeit recently, from Dattala to Bursey.

Dattala references these preliminary title reports containing a reference to 50 Sacramento being vested in Bursey and the preliminary title report for both 50 and 59 Sacramento properties showing sewer and tax records in Dattala's name.

Once again, a red herring diversion from the relevant information in the recorded documents.

The amendment to the preliminary title report specifically hold the title was proper. It was transferred and was clear at the time of transfer. The outstanding trash and tax liens were disclosed as a component of the preliminary title reports. These were in Dattala's name, admittedly, as a prior owner, but that's not surprising. That's not reason for further investigation by Precision. If that were the case, if these alleged red flags were a true issue, then this would negate bona fide purchaser status not only for my client but for numerous other transactions going forward, and that's simply not the case. These are red herrings, and it should be ignored by the Court.

Once again, as a final argument, we hear Precision Assets, LLC, that's not an issue. The Court has already ruled on that. That's an issue still ongoing within the motions in limine that we understand the Court will rule on shortly.

And as we look to the opposition, it's unfortunate that Dattala recycles so much of the opposition already filed, but really it gives us the clarity. Precision was a bona fide purchaser. And as we sit back, we can clearly see why. Specifically, the burden of proof rests with the plaintiff to prove good title itself.

Moreover, there's a presumption in favor of the record title owner. That's Breliant versus Preferred Equity Corp., 112 Nevada at 669. So that is, as we talk burdens, the burden of plaintiff going forward here. Bona fide purchaser of a legal title is not affected by any latent equity founded either on a trust, encumbrance or otherwise of which he has no notice, actual or constructive.

Dattala makes no arguments against Precision having paid valuable consideration, deliberately ignoring that analysis. So once again, we come to this realization. All that is at issue are these alleged red flags, which we submit we've adequately explained and set forth.

Precision can satisfy notice inquiry by showing they relied on the public records to insure the title of the property was not an issue. And Nevada imparts noticed a property in the grantor grantee index. And that's exactly what they've done here. Clear title was provided at the time of closing, and it was provided to precision. These issues came up later on.

We also look towards this alleged argument as to changes in NRS 111.180. Much of the opposition is made of that argument. That argument only applies if there's ambiguity within the statute. The statute is written clear. It is written broad. It does not specifically apply nor can it be isolated to foreclosure sales. And so we submit that the bona fide purchaser statute and the accompanying case law since 2000 -- 2013 on specifically allows for a finding of this Court 1 2 of bona fide purchaser status. 3 Lastly, WSG, it's argued in the opposition that the 4 knowledge of WSG should be imparted to Precision. That's not 5 the case. A title company conducting a title search on behalf 6 of a lender was not the lender's agent and thus its 7 constructive notice could not be imputed to the lender. 8 Huntington versus MILA, 119 Nevada, 355. Nevada law does not 9 allow any alleged notice that WSG had to be imputed to 10 Precision. 11 With that, Your Honor, we would request that summary 12 judgment be granted. 13 Thank you. 14 THE COURT: Thank you. 15 Mr. Childs. 16 I don't believe we've heard from Mr. Bursey, have we? 17 Mr. Ball, have we heard from --18 MR. BALL: I have not heard from Mr. Bursey. 19 THE COURT: Okay. I just wanted to double check, 20 okay. 21 All right. Mr. Childs. 22 MR. CHILDS: Along that line, I did try to call him. 23 When was it, John, last week, after the calendar call, just to -- because we brought that up at the calendar call.

So I've tried to communicate to him.

Thank you for doing that, Mr. Childs. I 1 THE COURT: 2 appreciate it. I really do. 3 MR. CHILDS: Yet, of course, he gets all the -- he 4 gets everything that's filed. So... 5 I came up with a couple more statutes after I 6 submitted my opposition, and I want to just read those into the 7 record. I know they're not in the pleadings, but NRS 11.025 --8 THE COURT: Wait. Mr. Childs, you want to read 9 something into the record that's not in the pleadings? 10 MR. CHILDS: Yeah. 11 THE COURT: Okay. Well, that's not really how this 12 I mean, I don't want to be the other attorney here, but I do have -- I am the person who's the gatekeeper, and if this 13 14 was not in your pleadings, I don't believe I can entertain it 15 during these motions, Mr. Childs. 16 MR. CHILDS: I disagree with you, but, okay. 17 So on page 17. 18 UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Your Honor, for the --19 MR. BALL: I apologize. I interrupted. 20 MR. CHILDS: On page 17 of my opposition, I cite to 21 the U.S. Bank National Association case that a void sale in 22 contracts with a voidable sale defeats the competing title of 23 even a bona fide purchaser for value. I mean, their big 24 argument is this 11, 111, 180 and just arguing, well, we're a bona fide purchaser. We paid value, but there's a factual question of whether they had actual knowledge, and I don't believe they did. So that's not my argument, constructive knowledge of or reasonable cause to know there exists a defect in or adverse rights title or interest to the real property — to the real property. So any — none of those happened that they're a bona fide purchaser.

And they say why is it being recycled? I can't change the facts. The facts are what they are, and I cited all of these notices that they had. And then my client is essentially the victim of a criminal act, and I think it's undisputed at this point that Mr. Bursey took a document that he signed for a different reason, and this is what Bonita Spencer testified to on -- my client signed some documents on April 5th, 2019, that were not the documents that were recorded.

And simply saying, well, we didn't have any notice of that because they're in the public record, it's a void sale. The sale is void. How much more void can you get than the actual forged documents that are in the public -- that are recorded. So it's void, and so that's defeats the competing title of a bona fide purchaser for value.

And I don't have a countermotion for summary judgment or declaratory relief. So talking about my burden, the plaintiff doesn't have a burden. I'm opposing. All I have to do is come up with facts or a finding that all facts taken in light of all inferences in favor of the nonmoving party, which is my client, that there's a factual dispute, and I can't believe that we're still arguing about whether there's a factual dispute or not. There is a factual dispute, and I can go through them again, and I probably should.

The property was occupied by a tenant.

(Indiscernible) assignment of a purchase contract, and there was reasonable — the counter movant. The movant in this case was on notice of all facts that are inspection of the property. So and I have pictures that I've attached that were provided by Precision about what it looked like when they moved in.

Stuffed with my client's personal property. And then he had no idea that this had been sold. He goes over there. Hey, what's going on. Yeah, this is my house now get your stuff out of the dumpster. And I've attached my client's affidavit, which clearly sets that — sets that forth.

Let's see here.

And again, I've [video interference] all of these red flags, and I'm saying that these are -- it's not a red herring. These are creating factual issues that need to be addressed by the jury. This is not ripe for summary judgment.

If you look at the -- Mr. Benedict talked about this. This is a problem where they have an affidavit without an attachment of grantor dated April 7th for a transaction that took place on April 8th, and there's no document attached to it. That's a problem.

And again, this is why they have title — this is why they have title insurance. I mean, my client was unaware of any of this. So this is a quick sale from HCO, Bursey to HCO, and then they assigned it. And they paid $95,000 for it. They paid Bursey $95,000. HCO got 15,000. This is dated April 1st, and they sold it on April 12th, eleven days before the assignment. And it discusses the tenants residing in the property. And again, all these red flags with these — the sewer bill was in my client's name. The property bill is in my client's name. There's a tenant, and we get into the deed to Precision Assets, LLC, which is a separate issue, and then all these things are assigned to a different company than the current plaintiff.

The preliminary title report had the property vested in Eustachius Bursey on March 19th when his deed wasn't even recorded until April 8th. This is the deed that Bonita Spencer, who is the notary, testified was not the document that she notarized, the document that was recorded. So clear fraud, which is why this U.S. Bank 2019 case is so important because a void sale defeats even a bona fide purchaser for value. And we're at the summary judgment stage. I mean, obviously that's a question of fact.

So let's see here.

Bursey was not the title owner when he signed -- when he gave the assignment to Precision on 50 Sacramento on April 1st. The deed was recorded after that. And then the tax, again, that's for 50 Sacramento. Now, for 59 Sacramento, my client's name is on the property tax records and same issue with the assignment from HCO, and the personal property being in the property. So nobody is contacting my client.

And amazingly, Santos -- Jenine Santos takes the position that, well, we never heard from Dattala. Well, how would they know to hear from Dattala. What did they -- what did they do to contact Dattala to notify him? I don't know what the whole conspiratorial thing was, but obviously they don't want to notify Dattala either because then he would say, well, what are you talking about? I did not agree to sell this property. I haven't been paid yet. He did agree to sell it, but he hadn't been paid.

And then Bursey obtained a fraudulent reconveyance and a fraudulent deed to 50 Sacramento, which we're going to address this deed of trust in the next motion, but -- and then recorded it without -- without of course not notifying Dattala. He's the victim of the fraud.

Now, I don't know why they're blowing him off. This is a sophisticated purchaser. I think I attached the affidavit or the deposition transcript of Mr. Siegel (phonetic), that they buy and sell 600 properties a year -- or 300 properties a year, 600 in two years. They don't get a seller -- a real property seller disclosure form. That's required by statute. Why didn't they get that from Bursey. That's another red flag that there's something not kosher here. 4

5

So the law is clear that a void sale defeats a summary -- a bona fide purchaser. And the reason I went into that legislative history is because the statute was changed based on the foreclosure statute or the foreclosure crisis in 2008. And I have it right there in the assembly committee notes that this is the reason why we're changing the bona fide purchaser statute. I mean, that's why it was changed. been the same statute since 1960, and there hasn't been one case on it. So it seems to be very clear that when there's fraud in the chain of title, the thief doesn't convey good title, and so the person that receives the title doesn't have good title, and that's what the quiet-title action is about.

I also rebutted their arguments about this Shadow Wood Homeowners Association. That was before the revision of the statute, and it's very narrow, and it doesn't favor the bona fide purchaser statute of the defendant. And I'm looking at page 4 of my opposition. It's simply that a Court can grant equitable relief from a defective homeowners association lien. And this is one of the cases that led to the modification of the NRS 111.180. So they're relying on a case that was decided on the previous statute, and the statute was changed essentially for that based on that case.

The other problem they have is, as far as quiet title issues go, they don't have any admissible evidence of their vesting deed. They filed their own motion in limine to exclude their vesting deed. They don't have any -- they don't have any admissible evidence that they're the owner. And I address -- I addressed that.

This is their own motion in limine to not -- to exclude evidence of anything to do that says Precision Assets, LLC, which is their vesting deed. So my client is the only one that has any evidence of ownership. And again, the deed to Bursey is not going to be admissible because that's a fraudulent document, and he doesn't have the original.

So I can't believe that we're even arguing about whether there's a genuine issue of material fact. There's all kinds of issues of material fact that the jury needs to make findings, and then this is a blended case. And then the Court will issue decisions based on the findings of the jury, but there are all kinds of disputed facts, and I've -- I beat a dead horse trying to set forth all of the facts, and the special verdict form is obviously going to be kind of an interesting thing to craft, but they're going -- the jury is going to have to make findings about all of these issues.

And then for Precision to come in and just say there's a bona fide purchaser statute, is not appropriate. If you look at NRS 111.175, and I'm looking at page 16 of my

1	opposition, conveyances made to default prior or subsequent
2	purchasers are void. I mean, that's what happened here. There
3	is a conveyance made to defraud by Bursey. I got that.
4	They're not the ones that did it, but this statute is clear.
5	Conveyances made to defraud prior or subsequent purchasers,
6	which Precision was a subsequent purchaser from Bursey, are
7	void. And then this U.S. Bank case, which is a 2019 case, says
8	that a void sale defeats competing title of even a bona fide
9	purchaser for value.
10	So the statute is clear, and the case applies

So the statute is clear, and the case applies -that's applying the statute is clear, and so, obviously, they're not -- their bona fide purchaser is not going to stand up legally in Nevada anyway.

And so do you have any questions, Judge? Because I think I have really set forth why we have to have a trial.

THE COURT: Just give me a moment, Mr. Childs. Let me write this --

MR. CHILDS: Sure.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Ball.

MR. BENEDICT: Your Honor. I'm sorry to interrupt. This is John Benedict.

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. BENEDICT: I filed a joinder in this motion on behalf of Acry.

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. BENEDICT: May I have a quick moment to

2 respond --

d --

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. BENEDICT: -- Court. And then Mr. Ball can take it?

THE COURT: Yes. Absolutely. Thank you. Thank you for the reminder, Counsel.

MR. BENEDICT: Okay. I'll be brief.

Mr. Childs's argument was made in August of 2019 and then again in January of 2021, I believe. And with the whole thing of, well, you denied the summary judgments at that time on the basis. Well, discovery could lead us into a location. A location could be either — it could be fraud and conspiracy.

If you look at the complaints, it's alleged on a conspiratorial basis that Precision was in the midst of it. But the truth of the matter is the evidence shows, by admission from Mr. Dattala and admission from Mr. Bursey that neither of them ever communicated with anyone from Precision Assets, period. Neither of them ever communicated with anyone from Acry Development, who is an investor along with Precision in the 50 Sacramento property.

So there is no connection whatsoever, no direct path, no information, no communication, not a single e-mail, not a single document connecting Mr. Dattala and Mr. Bursey to either Precision or Acry. So there is no -- Mr. Childs concedes that there's no actual knowledge. There's no constructive knowledge of anything under the bona fide purchaser statute because there can't be because the documents were recorded showing in time for closing that Mr. Bursey was the owner, et cetera. So that leaves reasonable cause to know something.

And in August of 2019, when there were all these what turned out to be baseless allegations made --

THE COURT: Excuse me, Mr. Benedict. Mr. Benedict, this is Judge Escobar. I'd like you to start that argument again. I think I missed a couple of sentences. So you discussed about not having actual knowledge.

MR. BENEDICT: Yes. Okay. Fair enough.

So Mr. Childs concedes in his argument and in his papers that there's no actual knowledge of any problem or anything of record to Precision Assets and by analogy or through Precision Assets to Acry Development. That's the first prong of the BFP statute.

The second prong of the BFP statute deals with constructive knowledge. And there's no constructive knowledge to anything to Precision Assets because there's nothing of record that would've put a reasonable party on notice of a problem. All that was on record was proper transfer deeds, reconveyances and so forth that now they're asserting are frauds or misstated documents or whatever, but were in the public record, and that gives the person constructive notice.

Constructive notice for the bona fide purchaser statute is something of record, that a buyer didn't know about. That defeats the BFP, not something that was of record that looks proper and then someone alleges after the fact is improper.

So that leaves simply the reasonable -- did Precision or Acry have reasonable cause to know that there was a problem? And that's where what Mr. Ball focused on is extremely important, that the knowledge of what WSG had or knew is not imputed to Precision Assets or to Acry. And the admissions from Mr. Dattala in his deposition and from Mr. Bursey in his deposition is they never had any communications whatsoever with either Precision or with Acry. There was never an e-mail, never a conversation, never anything. So all of those allegations about, you know, conspiracy and so forth turned out to be from two years ago, flatly untrue. And so what the -- the big white elephant in the room for Mr. Childs's argument is Mr. Bursey.

Mr. Childs would like the Court's sympathy to say, well, gosh, I'm left as a victim. I'm left without a remedy. But that ignores the fact that the perpetrator here, if it turns out that what Mr. Dattala says is true, turns out to be true is Mr. Bursey.

And what do we know about that? We know that the Court has already granted one judgment on behalf of Mr. Bursey, and there's vehicles by which Mr. Dattala can amend that judgment or prove up or whatever he wants to prove up as to these two properties for his damages. So he's not left without a remedy.

What he did is he chose to do business with the wrong person. It's two and a half years later. He hasn't raised a single question of fact that ties Precision Assets or Acry to that transaction at all. That sophisticated buyer and its investor went to title and escrow to avoid this very thing. Title and escrow gave a title policy, not ever putting Precision or Acry on notice that there was any issue. There's no link. There's no imputing what WFG knew to Precision or Acry. And therefore all of the stuff, all of the purported red flags were to be cleared at title.

All the things that Mr. Childs points to (video interference) Mr. Ball appropriately says are standard operating procedure. Yes, the tax bill was in Dattala's name preclosing until — until it got updated after that transfer. The sewer bill, same thing. Those are very common things, and Mr. Siegel testified in his deposition that none of that raised him any kind of concern, both because it was how things worked in the various transactions he had been involved in, and he had title in escrow to clear all those things.

So when you stand it on his head, it's a different case (video interference) discovery here, you know, potentially two weeks away from trial, Judge, as to what they don't have. 1 2 What they don't have is any connection or any 3 imputation or actual knowledge to Precision Assets or to Acry, which would defeat the bona fide purchaser. 4 5 Thank you for allowing me to speak. 6 MR. BALL: Thank you, Your Honor. 7 You know, I appreciate Mr. Benedict's comments. I 8 join in them. 9 You know, in addition, I want to talk about and go 10 through those points made by plaintiff's counsel. 11 It was first pointed out that these facts are what 12 they are, and that's, once again, exactly where we're at. 13 Discovery is closed. We have a finite amount --14 THE COURT: Forgive me. 15 MR. BALL: -- amount of facts, and I think this Court 16 is --17 THE COURT: Mr. Ball, this is Judge Escobar. I am so 18 Will you please start your argument again, and I -sorry. 19 MR. BALL: That's no problem. 20 THE COURT: I'm sorry. Thank you. 21 No problem, Your Honor. MR. BALL: 22 Just once again I want to join in those comments made 23 by Mr. Benedict. I appreciate those. I know he detailed that 24 and other comments in the joinder he filed. 25 I want to rebut and go through those comments made by plaintiff's counsel. They're specifically in the order that they were presented.

We heard that the facts are what they are, and that's exactly where we're at today. As I mentioned, we have a finite amount of facts, and the Court's in very good position to have rulings that it's already made today on the summary judgment case ending motions. The purpose of that really is just that. We're at the end of this. We believe the Court can dispose of this, the claims we've set forth by granting our motion.

And more importantly, I think we can look at it in hindsight and see that all of us, I don't think there's a single attorney or client that can look at the actions of Mr. Bursey and feel good about those. But that's really where that liability ends. That's not Precision. As was pointed out by Mr. Benedict, there was not a conspiracy that was promulgated between these parties. Precision's adjudications with these two buyer and seller parties has been nothing, not only minimal, but nothing, and they qualify for that bona fide purchaser statute.

More importantly, the case law that I pointed out, at some point plaintiff must prove good title. This is the time. They're at the end of their case. There are motions filed that could end the case for plaintiff, and we submit that the good skills of Mr. Childs, those should have come out, and the only thing I can think of is that they just don't exist and that we're at this crossroads where the opposition does not adequately oppose the motion, and the motion should be granted.

I want to talk about this voided sale language. That's correct. I agree with the case law cited in the opposition; however, the facts are different here.

If you go through the Second Amended Complaint allegation by allegation, you'll see that the forgery portions are not (indiscernible) from the transfer of the title. We can go through them now, but I submit to you that the Second Amended Complaint, upon close review, forgery is not as to operative documents transferring title. We heard about the affidavit of grantor. We've heard about related documents, but we did not hear about the transfer of title.

And as Mr. Childs pointed out, plaintiff agreed to sell this property. There was a dispute. There were money issues, but those issues go to Mr. Bursey. They don't go to Precision. This is a money issue case.

Moreover, we heard some real vague claims that they do affect title. We don't see those though, and that's a very important distinction here.

As to, you know, the title insurance, you know, that's simply a, once again a red herring. You know, we've seen a lot of that. This is a red herring that simply should not be paid attention to. The Court is well aware of how the policy works after today's argument.

And really the merits of the case, the merits of Precision Assets defense carry the day, and we submit and request humbly that the motion be granted.

And if there's any questions, we can answer those. Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: I'll be with you in just a moment, Counsel.

(Pause in the proceedings.)

THE COURT: All right. I just want you to know that I -- this is Judge Escobar. We can go back on the record.

This is a very difficult case for me because, you know, I feel that it's just -- the outcome is difficult. I have to be fair. That's an oath I took. So my thoughts are this. Okay.

First of all, this was not purchased by way of a quit claim deed; right? I mean, we've already heard that Precision and also or, you know, whatever the relationship with Acry is that they went through the title company WSG National Title. The record, you know, the record statute is very important in not just Nevada but in California and other places.

There was nothing there that I've seen that would indicate -- so we'll start with it. Okay. There's nothing there to indicate that somebody else owned this property when they purchased it, when Precision purchased it. I think it's very, very difficult because, you know, I find that,

Mr. Bursey, and it appears from everything that I've read and everything that I've heard throughout, I don't know, has it been several years now? It's a June '19 case. We've had significant motion practice on this.

It sounds like Mr. Bursey was supposed to purchase this on behalf of Mr. Dattala, or they had some sort of understanding. And Mr. Bursey obviously didn't follow through. He hasn't even made it to court. Okay. So regrettably, I don't have him in this case. But I do agree that, you know — I can't give legal advice, but I do agree that there may be a way for Mr. Dattala, since Mr. Ball brought that up or Mr. Benedict brought that up, I'm just stating something that the lawyer said. Okay. He may have some recourse there.

But I don't see where any actual knowledge would have occurred. And I've also thought about the utility issue. All right. Just because someone is paying utilities, that doesn't mean its knowledge of another owner. It really isn't. I have a place in Delmar right now that's leased, and the tenant pays for all the utilities and everything else. So. And that doesn't — that's not the type of notice that you would need in order to take you out of a bona fide purchaser status in this Court's opinion. I don't see where the actual knowledge comes from. I don't think that payment of utilities or whatever it was that was discussed would charge anyone with constructive knowledge. There's no record.

There's nothing recorded for actual knowledge. I don't see how they would know -- why they would have construction knowledge -- forgive me, constructive knowledge, nor would -- why would they -- what tells us if there was reasonable cause for them to know there was a problem? I just don't see those facts anywhere in these pleadings. And I think that it may be because of the situation or the relationship with Mr. Bursey. I think that's what it may be.

But I don't believe that I should, you know, even if somebody else is paying the water, the electricity, the gas, whatever, it's not enough. And this was not a quit claim deed sale. This was, you know, a sale that went through exactly what you're supposed to go through when you purchase property. Even if you are a sophisticated buyer or not; right? Either way.

I don't see with respect to actual knowledge, constructive knowledge or reasonable cause to know that there was a problem that anyone, whether they were a sophisticated or not at the time of the sale would reach any of those three that would take you out of bona fide purchaser. I just don't see it.

And to let this go on to trial over something that I haven't seen evidence. And, you know, sometimes is very difficult for me to make a decision, not because I don't know what the decision should be. Sometimes I have to be honest with you. The consequences I'm not fond of. I feel very badly for Mr. Dattala and the situation with Mr. Bursey. But I still have to follow the law, and before me, and I think Mr. Childs has done a very good job. But I think that the problem lies elsewhere.

So I'm going -- let me just make sure I say this the right way -- grant Precision Assets and -- is it Acry's motion for summary judgment? I don't --

MR. CHILDS: (Indiscernible.)

THE COURT: I'm sorry?

MR. CHILDS: This is Ben Childs.

It was just Precision Assets's motion. Acry joined.

THE COURT: Okay. So I am -- thank you, for correcting that, Mr. Childs.

Then I grant -- I'm going to grant, for the reason that I've indicated, I mean, I'm just glossing it, but I could tell you that I've read so much in this case, and my sense is that it's a shame that this is the result. Okay. And that doesn't mean that I have anything against your client, Mr. Ball. Please don't take that personally, but I feel very badly for Mr. Dattala. Maybe as a Judge I shouldn't, but I do. I'm not going to pretend.

And but it sounds, legally, if I follow the -- you know, I have to use -- I have to use my legal mind here, and I don't think there's enough here to take this to -- with respect to these things, you know, to take -- to allow that part to go on because there was -- there has been evidence that there was, you know, that Precision purchased it for valuable consideration, and I don't see any evidence that rises to actual constructive or the possibility that a reasonable cause to know that there was a problem. I just don't see it.

And, you know, so that's why I'm going to -- that's why I grant this. It boils down to notice, and I just don't see, for the reasons I've just stated, how that would take, even if they're sophisticated, the plaintiffs out of -- forgive me, Precision Assets out of the bona fide purchaser category. I don't see how that would happen with what's in front of me.

And also, I also -- I've already granted a motion against Mr. Bursey; correct, or summary judgment?

MR. CHILDS: On the one --

THE COURT: Mr. Childs --

MR. CHILDS: On the one property. That's why I tried to get a default entered, and I address it in my motion in limine.

So I would raise an issue about Lillian Medina and Mr. Bursey because they didn't file a pretrial memo. They weren't at calendar call. But no, there's never -- there's nothing with Mr. Bursey about these two -- the two remaining properties.

THE COURT: Okay.

opposed.

Oh, no, I opposed -- I opposed both of 1 MR. CHILDS: 2 The lis pendens you pretty much took care of with this those. 3 decision, but the deed of trust is a totally separate issue. 4 THE COURT: Well, I would -- I do see that it was 5 opposed. And you --6 MR. CHILDS: I have a countermotion. 7 THE COURT: -- have a countermotion. That's correct. 8 So let's hold that -- let's put those aside right now, and I'd 9 like to hear your countermotion, Mr. Childs. 10 MR. CHILDS: Okay. Give me a second to pull it up. 11 A lot of moving parts here. 12 THE COURT: I understand, believe me. It's okay. 13 And thank you to my team for being so patient. 14 MR. CHILDS: Well, the countermotion is for 15 reformation because we've got an admission by Mr. Dattala. 16 think even the Court today that my client intended to sell the 17 property to Bursey, and I attached the purchase agreement that 18 Mr. Bursey is the one that drafted the deed of trust itself and 19 recorded it. And so if the intention was --20 So I don't even know why they brought this up, 21 because they've insured over it, and so apparently it's an 22 admission on their part that this deed of trust is a problem, 23 is an encumbrance. Otherwise they wouldn't be -- it would be a frivolous motion.

It is an encumbrance on this piece of property on the title to 50 Sacramento. And the sale was to be by warranty deed or deed of trust, and I attached a copy of the purchase agreement. And so if the deed of trust is an encumbrance on the property, I have a countermotion to reform it, and Bursey hasn't opposed it. It was a transfer.

And so it's -- they've acknowledged that it's an active encumbrance, and, if their position is true, that he's entitled to reformation under the Lattin case, and I quoted the Lattin case. Let me get that up here. L-a-t-t-i-n, which allows the Court to reform documents if there's a mutual mistake, and it's unrebutted by Mr. Bursey anyway that my client thought it was a sale, and he never got paid.

So it should still -- and this was -- the reconveyance was recorded by this activity with Mr. Bursey and the notary Bonita Spencer that testified that the reconveyance that Mr. Bursey recorded on April 8th was not the document that she notarized. So it's a unreconveyed deed of trust that's outstanding. And the title company insured over it. But apparently because of this existing motion, it must be an encumbrance. So if it is an encumbrance, it should be reformed to reflect that it was a sale, and I attached a copy of the purchase agreement as Exhibit 9.

And if you look at, I think it's page 3, it's page 4 of the document in the Exhibit 9, but it's missing pages 1 and 2. And it says seller to convey title to buyer by warranty, deed or deed of trust. And that's what reformation is. That's why that Lattin case specifically says that the Court has authority and shall — I believe it's mandatory — reform contracts to reflect the intent of the parties, and that was the intent of the parties. It's a 1959 case. It's on page 8 of my opposition. Our courts — and I'm just going to read from the quote.

It is undisputed that our courts will, which is the mandatory, will reform contracts and deed -- and deeds in accordance with the true intention of the parties when their intention has been frustrated by a mistake.

And so this was a deed of trust that was recorded, and it was supposed to be a conveyance, and it's clear that the purchase agreement intended it to be a conveyance, and the purchase agreement states that.

So I would ask that it be reformed to be a conveyance to Mr. Dattala. That's my counter. That's my countermotion. That's all I have unless you have some questions.

THE COURT: I'm sorry. Mr. Childs, so you're saying -- this was your countermotion; right?

MR. CHILDS: Yes, ma'am. Yes, ma'am.

THE COURT: That the deed of trust, that a deed of trust should be reformed?

MR. CHILDS: Yes.

THE COURT: All right. Let's see. There's been so many different motions that I -- I think, Counsel, Mr. Ball. 1 2 MR. BALL: Yes, Your Honor. 3 THE COURT: Do you have something to add? 4 MR. BALL: Yes. I can speak to that. 5 It's concerning --6 MR. CHILDS: And I object to that because --7 THE COURT: One second. 8 MR. CHILDS: Was the countermotion objected to? I 9 don't think the -- I don't think the countermotion was opposed. 10 MR. BALL: It was, Your Honor, specifically on 11 page 5 of 7 of our reply, title heading Reformation of the Deed 12 of Trust is Futile. THE COURT: Will you please -- will you please make, 13 14 for me, a clear record, Mr. Ball. 15 MR. BALL: Yes, Your Honor. 16 This at this point with the Court's ruling it made 17 just a moment ago, it is really just a matter of cleaning up 18 title to the property. There's a deed of trust. It does not 19 have a promissory note. 20 We cited within our motion case law that specifically 21 holds that a deed of trust's purpose is to encumber title to 22 real property as to a debt, as was stated within both the buyer 23 and seller, Dattala and Bursey's deposition and written 24 discovery responses, both testified that there was never a promissory note and thus no debt to be secured.

It's very concerning because now we have a document that is a fugitive document on the title of this property that needs to be cleaned up.

That was not opposed. That case law was not directly opposed in plaintiff's opposition. And so the concern there has been what's the purpose of the requested changes to that document. And that request, as we just heard, is to not only clean that up, but I believe, and forgive me if I'm misquoting, but the plaintiff seeks the transfer of title. That would go -- and transfer of title back to himself, and that would go directly in opposition to what the Court has already ruled. And it's a convoluting of the record even more so than has already happened.

Plaintiff's effort to reform the 2018 deed of trust only underscores that this deed of trust is invalid and should be expunded by this Court's order. And that's what we're requesting, Your Honor.

MR. BENEDICT: Your Honor, this is John Benedict. Acry filed a joinder if I may address the Court?

THE COURT: I'm sorry. I was muted.

Please go on, Mr. Benedict.

MR. BENEDICT: Thank you. Again, being brief and just adding to Mr. Ball's argument, which I adopt.

What Mr. Childs argues is a backdoor way to get title back to the property or to continue to encumber it. But what he also acknowledges in his argument are twofold.

One, this is another issue between Dattala and Bursey for which Dattala has rights and remedies, number one.

And Number 2, Mr. Childs acknowledges that there was a reconveyance of this deed of trust. He may believe it's a forgery, but for the same reasons you just granted the summary judgment in favor of Precision Assets and Acry, that reconveyance again would be an issue between Mr. Dattala and Mr. Bursey and not some acknowledgment or admission by any of the other parties -- Precision, Acry, and I don't speak for WSG, but WSG -- that, you know, once a reconveyance was entitled, that trust deed was gone as far as the folks concerned, and it's just an attenuated backdoor effort to undo what the Court just did with the summary judgment motion.

And, you know, we joined in Mr. Ball's, you know, arguments that there was no place in the title for that deed of trust. It was improper, and we repeat that here. But even more so given the summary judgment.

Thank you.

THE COURT: I'll be right with you.

All right. You know, I'm sorry. This has just gone so long, but it is -- there's so much to this case. All right. So I'm looking at --

Mr. Childs, can you hear me?

MR. CHILDS: Yes, I can.

THE COURT: Okay. So I'm looking at this, and there is no promissory note attached to this deed of trust; is that correct?

MR. CHILDS: Yes. That's why I moved for reformation.

THE COURT: Right. But I think that that promissory note would only help you with respect to Mr. Bursey.

Mr. Dattala with respect to Mr. Bursey. Mr. Childs.

MR. CHILDS: There isn't a promissory note. I acknowledge that. I'm just pointing out I don't even know why they brought it up because they have insured over it. But if they wanted to bring it up and talk about this is still an encumbrance on our title, then it should be a conveyance, which will — obviously has never been — has never been dealt with.

That's my only point, Judge, is if they're saying that it's still an encumbrance on their title, that it needs to be reformed because the intent was to be a conveyance. That seems to be undisputed or unrebutted anyway. That's my point. So it should be reformed under that Lattin case.

THE COURT: Mr. Ball.

MR. BALL: Your Honor, that is absolutely refuted. You know, this is, again, as Mr. Benedict pointed out, an attempt at the 12th hour, too late at this point in the hearing today, to claim an interest in a property which the Court has already ruled against. It's improper.

This would otherwise just be part of an order to expunge that portion of the record, and we submit that, you know, there's just simply no reason to reform the deed of trust. It's not part of the complaint or the Second Amended Complaint as a request for relief and should be denied, and we respectfully request that our motion be granted so that we can have clear title.

THE COURT: All right. I'm going to -- I'm going to be consistent in my decision. It looks to me like a -- so if there is a promissory note, and I understand, Mr. Childs, what you are saying, that you want it reformed, but I'm not going to do that because in this Court's view the evidence is the plaintiff is a bona fide purchaser.

So I'm going to go ahead and grant and expunge the deed of trust and also the lis pendens. And that's -- for the reasons that I've enunciated and that are in all of the pleadings that are consistent with the plaintiffs, you know, being bona fide purchasers.

And this is really, really terrible, that we don't have Mr. Bursey here and that he, you know -- but it is what it is.

I am going to go ahead and that's the order.

1 54(b) certification.

THE COURT: On what?

MR. CHILDS: Well, on for, like, WSG's summary judgment motion against my client, I think that's ripe. And now this summary judgment — or the summary judgment by Precision because now my client doesn't have any further causes of action against Precision or Acry. So I think that's ripe for 54(b) certification. And every motion that was heard today. It makes sense. I mean —

MR. BENEDICT: Your Honor, John Benedict if I may.

THE COURT: Yes. Go on, Mr. Benedict.

Oh, wait, am I on? Yes, go ahead. You can hear me.

MR. BENEDICT: I can hear you.

I can't from memory cite chapter and verse, but the 54(b) certification was significantly limited, both by rule and Supreme Court decision. And so I'm not asking the Court to prejudge. I'm just asking that the Court review it via a written submitted motion.

THE COURT: I would actually -- I was just going to ask you to please, and I can hear it on an order shortening time so that I have enough time to read it and really internalize it. I'm very open to it, but I need to make sure that I have the right law and that everything is correct. Okay. So.

MR. CHILDS: It will be --

THE COURT: So I would like you to all work together, please, Mr. Ball, Mr. Benedict, Mr. Lancaster and Mr. Childs with respect to the 54(b) certification. And, you know, I am just, you know, as counsel indicated, Mr. Benedict and Mr. Ball, you know, that may be something, I don't know, it can go to the Supreme Court, and they can overturn me if that's necessary. Or it may place you in a better situation with respect to Mr. Dattala, Mr. Childs, or your client as --

MR. CHILDS: Yeah, Bursey. It's so confusing.

THE COURT: I'm so sorry. Yes.

MR. CHILDS: Judge, I know.

THE COURT: Bursey, yes.

I've been trying to do search warrants at the same time because there's honestly, all of us -- and there's no one -- I mean, everyone is so busy that there's not like -- I was designated a year ago. I was very busy, and I was hearing things. You know I've heard things through the entire pandemic, but right now it's even busier for a civil department. It's interesting.

MR. CHILDS: Judge, my question is I don't mind filing a motion for a 54(b) certification, but I don't want to wait until there's written orders. I mean, I can file it this afternoon or tomorrow.

THE COURT: I would -- right. Take a look at the rule. I will too, and then I'd like you to meet with Mr. Ball

1 and Mr. Lancaster and Mr. Benedict. If you can give Mr. Childs 2 a few minutes so you can all talk about this, please and maybe 3 it will save us some time. Okay. 4 MR. CHILDS: Okay. 5 THE COURT: All right. Thank you. Have a great day. 6 MR. CHILDS: Thank you for your time, Judge. That's 7 extremely --8 MR. BALL: Thank you, Your Honor. 9 MR. CHILDS: -- draining. 10 (Proceedings concluded at 12:51 p.m.) 11 -000-12 ATTEST: I do hereby certify that I have truly and correctly transcribed the audio/video proceedings in the above-entitled 13 14 case to the best of my ability. 15 16 17 Dana L. DEFENDANT ACRY DEVELOPMENT LLC'S JOINDER TO DEFENDANT/COUNTERCLAIMANT PRECISION ASSETS OPPOSITION TO PLAINTIFF'S MOTION FOR RECONSIDERATION

ALL PENDING MOTIONS

APPEARANCES:

FOR JOHN DATTALA: BENJAMIN B. CHILDS, ESQ.

FOR PRECISION ASSETS: ZACHARY T. BALL, ESQ.

FOR WFG NATIONAL TITLE: AARON D. LANCASTER, ESQ.

RECORDED BY: STACEY RAY, COURT RECORDER TRANSCRIBED BY: JD REPORTING, INC.

1	LAS VEGAS, CLARK COUNTY, NEVADA, NOVEMBER 16, 2021, 10:23 A.M.
2	* * * *
3	THE COURT: All right. This is John Dattala versus
4	Eustachius Bursey.
5	I believe Mr. Childs is here on behalf of Mr. Dattala
6	with Mr. Dattala; is that correct?
7	MR. CHILDS: Yes. That's correct.
8	THE COURT: Good morning.
9	MR. CHILDS: Good morning.
10	THE COURT: Okay. And I believe Mr. Ball is here on
11	behalf of Precision Assets; is that correct? Good morning,
12	Mr. Ball.
13	MR. BALL: Yes. Good morning.
14	THE COURT: Okay. Do I have anyone else?
15	MR. LANCASTER: Yeah, Aaron Lancaster on behalf of
16	WFG National Title.
17	THE COURT: Okay. Good morning, Mr. Lancaster.
18	All right. This is plaintiff Dattala's motion for
19	reconsideration. I've reviewed this thoroughly.
20	I'll let you make a record, Mr. Childs.
21	And actually, just for the record, on today's
22	calendar is page, 6, 7, 11 and 12. Because I also have I
23	don't know how you pronounce it Acry Development, LLC,'s
24	joinder to defendant and counterclaimant Precision Assets
25	opposition to plaintiff's motion for reconsideration.

MR. CHILDS: So this is a final appealable order, and 1

THE COURT: Yes. Go on. Go on.

the timing is fortuitous because the appeal time ran out yesterday, 30 days from October 15th, 2021. It was actually on Saturday or Sunday, 31 days in October. So I waited until midnight yesterday. This has not been appealed. So final appealable order with findings that has not been appealed.

In my right hand is a written order that was entered on -- that's the basis of this motion for reconsideration.

That's an interim order. That cannot be appealed yet. It can be modified or changed at any time based on new findings, new facts. So in the appealable order, which has not been appealed -- so it's final now; these facts are final -- there are specific factual findings about the title to this case now.

It has to do with two pieces of property. One is 50 Sacramento, and one is 59 Sacramento, Las Vegas, Nevada.

think it's 89110. So these facts are now set forth in a final appealable order, which is not been appealed. So these are final.

And the facts essentially -- I could go through and read them. I attached, I highlighted the findings of fact that have been entered, and the sum total is that Mr. Bursey obtained his title, his deed from Mr. Dattala by fraud. So that deed to Mr. Bursey from Mr. Dattala is void. And so the findings are based not only on the fact that Bursey has not denied them, and I'm reading from the filed findings of fact, conclusions of law now on page 2. These are now established facts based not only on the fact that Bursey has not denied them but also based on the sworn testimony of Dattala to the Court on October 13th and the documentary exhibits admitted into evidence on October 13th.

2 cc 3 fa 4 th

Again, everybody had notice of this trial. So they can't be arguing later that there's any due process issue.

Because they choose not to participate, that's on them.

So just going through on page 4, it goes into the representations that were made to obtain by Bursey the documents that he recorded affecting the title to 50 Sacramento and 59 Sacramento. And at the time he made those representations, and I'm reading from page 4 of the finding of fact, conclusions of law that was filed on October 15th, 2021. Bursey made those representations to induce Dattala to enter into sales agreements for the 59 Sacramento property. Bursey's representations on March 19th, 2019, and March 27th, 2019, that Bursey needed to fix the 50 Sacramento property so he could bring it up to code, and that they had this child on the way in September were false.

When he made those representations, Bursey notes those representations were false, and Bursey made his representations to induce Dattala to enter into sales agreements for the 59 Sacramento property. Bursey did not intend to purchase the 59 Sacramento property for $220,000. At 1 2 the time he presented Dattala with what was purported to be a 3 $10,000 earnest money deposit on April 19, 2019. 4 Bursey knew that he did not intend to purchase the 5 59 Sacramento property for $220,000 at the time he presented 6 Dattala with a deed of trust. 7 THE COURT: Mr. Childs. 8 MR. CHILDS: Yeah? THE COURT: I'm going to stop you there because I 9 10 know what my order says. 11 MR. CHILDS: Okay. So that's all in the record. 12 THE COURT: I've got quite a few other cases. 13 don't want to be disrespectful, but I need to make sure that we 14 don't have people waiting all day, and I'm quite aware of the 15 order. 16

So if you would please go on.

MR. CHILDS: Okay. So that's all in the record.

THE COURT: Yes.

17

19 20

21

22

23

24

25

MR. CHILDS: It's undisputed that these are facts now, appealable that have not been appealed. They're final facts.

So contrast that to the interim order. least a question of, which precludes summary judgment because this interim order is a summary judgment order. So based on the findings that are final, Dattala can file his own summary judgment order now, and perhaps he will.

2

Anyway, going into the law.

3

THE COURT: That's not why we're here today, are we, Mr. Childs?

4 5

MR. CHILDS: No. No. I'm just --

6

THE COURT: Okay. Let's go on --

7

(Indiscernible -- simultaneous speech) --

8

MR. CHILDS: -- summary judgment order cannot stand.

9

THE COURT: Mr. Childs, I am a very respectful person, but I need to make sure you stay on track, please.

10

11

MR. CHILDS: Okay.

12

THE COURT: All right. Go on.

13

MR. CHILDS: Yeah, their summary judgment order can't

And so every conveyance declared to be void by the 14

So I quoted the statutes that (indiscernible) void

15 against purchasers are void against their heirs and assigns.

16

It's NRS 111.025.

17

18 provisions of this chapter as against purchasers, which would be Bursey, shall equally be void again as against the heirs, successors and personal representatives and assigns of such person. Which Bursey's person that he sold it to, which is 22

19

20

21

Precision.

23

And then NRS 111.175, which was not addressed in this interim order, even though I brought it up in the opposition and at the hearing, conveyances made to default prior or subsequent purchasers are void. Every conveyance of an estate or an interest in land and every (video interference) charge upon land made and created with the intent to defraud prior to or subsequent purchasers for a valuable consideration of the same lands as against such purchasers shall be void. So Dattala's transfer to Bursey is void. It's right in this final findings.

And then also, again, back on the summary judgment order, because this is a motion to reconsider, certificates of acknowledgment and record may be rebutted. Neither the certificate of acknowledgment nor the proof of conveyance shall be conclusive, but the same may be rebutted.

So my client now has facts that are final that rebut the facts upon which this interim order is based. So that's just the reason why the interim order needs to be set aside.

Now, the opposition filed by Mr. Ball is talking about evidence and NRS 52.125, certified copies of public records, which is this final order, your own order, is admissible. So new evidence, and it's not inadmissible because it's hearsay because it's a public record.

So records of documents affecting interest in property are admissible, and this is again the final order. I keep holding up the final order for the record. The final order that was filed October 15th, 2021.

So what Precision did -- so I patiently waited (video interference) 30 day appeal period, which entered yesterday at 1 2 midnight. 3 THE COURT: Okay. MR. CHILDS: Because under Rule 62. 4 5 Mr. Childs, we've already discussed that. THE COURT: Please move on. I am not trying to --6 7 MR. CHILDS: No --8 THE COURT: -- you did discuss your waiting and so 9 I'd like you to please continue. 10 MR. CHILDS: Well, under Rule 62, you can't execute 11 any judgment for 30 days after notice of written order. 12 did it. They went and recorded theirs on October 25th. 13 not even a final order. So at this point we have a final 14 appealable order which has not been appealed which contains 15 facts which preclude the summary judgment which was issued at 16 the hearing, and the time escapes me when the hearing was. 17 So their summary judgment cannot stand at this point. 18 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. 19 Mr. Ball. 20 MR. BALL: Thank you, Your Honor. I'll be brief. 21 You know, this is, in fact, an order that dealt with 22 defendants, not Precision Assets. And really you can draw a straight line between the Second Amended Complaint, the judgment that my client filed in this exact issue and the operative complaint in this matter, the two motions for summary judgment that came out of that along with the findings of facts and conclusions of law against Bursey and Medina in favor of John Dattala. The issue that we're hearing a lot about today.

And in that, nowhere in that does it claim that in the Second Amended Complaint, the various other documents, nowhere in that does it claim that this was nothing more than a financial fraud. In fact, the findings of facts and conclusions of law specifically sate the word fraud five times. And you can go through, and if you look at each instance of fraud, in speaking about this, there was an agreement between the parties to allow this property to be sold.

There was a disagreement as to the terms of that, and it resulted in what it resulted in, but none of that affects my client. None of it, we submit, is relevant here. The Court has already ruled on that. All of this was in front of the Court prior to this alleged final order — or I shouldn't say alleged. It is a final order. And the Court still made the decision in favor of my clients as to three motions for summary judgment which — motions, which turned into our submitted order.

Importantly, even the statute itself, there's three statutes mixed in the motion for reconsideration. The second, NRS 111.175 was listed in the opposition to motion for summary judgment. That's really the operative, you know, best argument made in the opposition as to -- or made in the motion for

1 reconsideration. Based on that, you know, we submit that this 2 shouldn't -- this is not new evidence. This is not a clearly 3 erroneous decision, and based upon that, we would request that 4 the Court deny the motion. 5 And just by way of housekeeping, Your Honor, 6 Mr. Benedict did inform -- he reached out to me ahead of the 7 hearing and let me know that he had a family emergency, and he 8 will not be in attendance today. 9 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you for the information. Ι 10 hope everything is well with his family. 11 All right. Mr. Childs. 12 MR. CHILDS: Your Honor, does Mr. Lancaster want to 13 say something --14 THE COURT: Oh, I'm sorry. Forgive me. 15 Mr. Lancaster. 16 Thank you. 17 MR. LANCASTER: Thank you, Your Honor. All I do is 18 agree with what Mr. Ball has said on the record and join his 19 oral comments. 20 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Lancaster. 21 Now, Mr. Childs. 22 MR. CHILDS: It's obviously new facts, Judge, because 23 the summary judgment motion was sometime in September. These facts came out on -- or they're final now on October 13th.

THE COURT: Why are they new facts, Mr. Childs?

MR. CHILDS: Because they certainly preclude summary 2 judgment because they specifically state that Bursey 3 obtained -- when the hearing happened in September, it was just speculation about what was going to happen at the trial. Now, 5 there's an undisputed fact that Bursey obtained his title by 6 fraud. So it's a fact. At the time it was speculation, and 7 you said, well, it's -- you don't have any evidence of it, but 8 It's a fact. This is an undisputed fact now. now I do. 9 That's why it's a new fact.

I brought it up at the summary judgment hearing, and it didn't work. You made a finding that -- now, you're finding from the -- let me get the actual date, Judge, September 28th, from the September 28th hearing, you made a finding that's directly contradicted by facts now. These are admissible, undisputed unappealed, final facts that were not in existence on September 28th. They were just speculation.

THE COURT: All right. I'm just going to take a very quick recess. Excuse me a moment. I'll be right back.

(Proceedings recessed at 10:40 a.m., until 10:49 a.m.)

THE COURT: Okay. This is Judge Escobar. I'm back. I took a quick recess so that I could try to understand what is -- what Mr. Childs' arguments are. And even though I read them.

So here are my thoughts on this, okay. When Mr. Bursey was defaulted by this Court, it was a sanction.

had to do with his not participating in this -- in this case. It was a default judgment. And the motion for summary judgment preempts the motions in limine and whatever it is that was out there.

When this Court made a finding of fraud, it was after the motion for summary judgment, and we still have the (video interference) law in Nevada. Before the findings of fraud, this Court found that Precision was a bona fide purchaser, and as far as I know, even with the -- I know it's a different issue, but even with the NRS 116 cases, we still have bona fide purchasers, and that is what I believe Mr.-- Precision to be.

Now, I agree with you. I agree with Mr. Childs's arguments that there's fraud, but I believe that the issue, in this Court's view, since you were bringing up the -- you've brought up the chronologically these hearings and so fourth, Mr. Childs, is that your -- your client, Mr. Dattala, has recourse against Mr. Bursey and against Ms. Medina, not Precision Assets. I believe that they were a bona fide purchaser, and I decided that before the prove-up hearing.

So I don't believe just from a (video interference) perspective — these were my notes yesterday when I was studying, we did have a prove-up hearing, and it had to do with Mr. Bursey and Ms. Medina, and Mr. Dattala was there, but it had nothing to do with Precision Assets.

And with respect to a motion for reconsideration or -- I don't believe that the plaintiff meets this. I don't believe that this Court -- and believe me, if I believe I was clearly erroneous, I have no ego in this. My hope is to follow the law, and that's because that's the oath I took.

One, I don't believe my decision was clearly -- this Court's decision was clearly erroneous.

I don't believe there was any intervening change in controlling law or that any of these (indiscernible), and no difference or substantially different evidence has been presented, and I don't believe there's been a change in circumstance, nor is it a manifest injustice because Mr. Dattala has Ms. Medina and Mr. Bursey to look to.

So again, Precision asset was found to be a bona fide purchaser, and this Court, after everything I've read, does not believe that Precision Assets had knowledge or notice that plaintiff claimed an interest in either of the two properties it purchased from Mr. Bursey.

So for that reason, this Court -- this Court denies plaintiff's motion for reconsideration.

Let's see. Mr. Ball, will you -- I'd like you to please prepare an order with the details and the chronology that's discussed.

As to form and content, please make sure that Mr. Childs and Mr. Lancaster have an opportunity to take a look at it as to form and content.

And also, please submit that in Microsoft Word and 1 2 PDF format to the Department 14 inbox. 3 And I hope -- I hope that you have a great 4 Thanksgiving. Okay. Have a great day. 5 MR. BALL: Thank you, Your Honor. 6 MR. CHILDS: I wanted to be clear there --7 MR. LANCASTER: Thank you, Your Honor. 8 THE COURT: Mr. Childs, we're done. We're done. 9 Okay. I mean, you know that this case is done, and I (video 10 interference) -- well, I'm not encouraging it, but whatever, if 11 you think you need to discuss something else, I think I've just 12 made myself clear, and we need to move forward on the other 13 cases. 14 But I hope you do have a great Thanksgiving. 15 MR. CHILDS: You too. 16 THE COURT: Thank you. 17 (Proceedings concluded at 10:54 a.m.) 18 -000-19 ATTEST: I do hereby certify that I have truly and correctly 20 transcribed the audio/video proceedings in the above-entitled 21 case to the best of my ability. 22 P. 4	THE MARSHAL: From our 10:00 a.m. civil law and motion
5	calendar, we will be calling page 4, case number A-19-794335-C, John
6	Dattala versus Eustachius Bursey.
7	THE COURT: Okay. Let me just get there. All right. Very
8	good. I'd like your appearances for the record. Mr. Childs, I see you.
9	Good morning.
10	MR. CHILDS: Good morning. Benjamin Childs for the
11	Plaintiff, 3946.
12	THE COURT: Okay. And Mr. Ball, go ahead, I see you as
13	well.
14	MR. BALL: Thank you. Zach Ball, 8364 for Precision.
15	THE COURT: I don't know if I see anyone else. Is there
16	anyone else present?
17	MR. BENEDICT: Yes, Your Honor.
18	MS. MILLER: Yes. Good morning, Your Honor.
19	THE COURT: Yes. Go on. Ms. Miller?
20	MS. MILLER: Sorry, Your Honor. Yes. Good morning, Your
21	Honor. Christina Miller on behalf of WFG National Title, Bar number
22	12448.
23	THE COURT: Okay. Very good. Thank you. And
24	MR. BENEDICT: And good morning, Your Honor. John
25	Benedict, 5581, on behalf of Precision Assets, Cross Claimant.

THE COURT: Good morning, Mr. Benedict. I feel like, aside from Mr. Childs, you're the other person that I see quite often here -MR. BENEDICT: It's my pleasure.

THE COURT: -- because, I think, of this case. But anyway, -- all right. So this is Plaintiff's motion for declaratory relief.

Mr. Childs, I have to tell you that I've reviewed this thoroughly, and I'm concerned that you're even filing this motion. But I want you, just for the record, you know how straightforward I am, please go on and -- and discuss -- well, we possibly discussed, I don't know, I don't want to exaggerate, three to four times before. Go on.

MR. CHILDS: Yeah. This is a case that's covered by statute and these statutes have never been addressed by the Court ever. It's 11 -- 111.025 and 111.175, that a deed that's obtained by fraud is void as to that purchaser and all subsequent -- all subsequent purchasers. So there's the final conclusions of -- finding of fact, conclusions of law that the deed to the two subject properties were acquired by Bursey by fraud, and so all subsequent -- that deed to him and all subsequent deeds are void.

And then I just emphasize that later judgments control earlier judgments, 'cause their defenses or responses -- well, there was a summary judgment order, but that was before there were these final findings of facts, conclusions of law that was -- that were entered in, I think, October 30th or -- the date escapes me. But they also bring up that -- make an argument that Rule 11 -- strike that -- Rule 57 doesn't allow declaratory relief and that's obviously not true; I cited Rule 57.

And then I had a case just yesterday that was resolved by declaratory relief where in Thorton versus Weston, that could've been resolved by summary judgment, but it was resolved by a declaratory relief motion.

So I'm, frankly, just making a record to exhaust the remedies to make sure that everything's clear for review. And I'm -- it's crystal clear to me. This 111.025, just seems like there shouldn't even be an argument, at this point, but I can see what's happening. And so in my reply, I cited several other cases, from other courts, that this is just a normal thing. That if there's a void deed in the chain of title, you don't just keep on going and say, well, this person is a bona fide purchaser because they paid cash. It doesn't make any difference because there's a void deed in the chain of title.

So I agree with you, Judge, I don't think I need to beat it to death anymore. I just have -- want to make sure that it's clear; I've exhausted all remedies and made the record. Thank you.

THE COURT: Before we go on, I just want to remind you, Mr. Childs, that we spent the better part of a court day, almost a full court day, together with my staff, of course, in court, and you -- there were default judgments against Mr. Bursey and Ms. Medina for $355,000.00 -- five hundred and -- $355,533.00 that you -- that your clients were awarded in compensatory damages, and $1,066,599.00 in treble damages. And it appears that your clients have been well compensated for the relief that you -- that you requested and the relief that is proper under your request. But -- but we'll talk about that later.

Mr. Ball.

MR. BALL: Thank you, Your Honor.

I believe the Court's already properly stated and Mr. Childs, at the end of his argument, mentioned not to beat a dead horse, but yet here we are. This motion, if you look at the motion and reply and you compare it to the previous pleadings on file with the court, those -- they are the same or nearly identical arguments. Admittedly, somewhat refined but the same or identical. And yet here we are on a motion that has -- these arguments have already been ruled against by the court, and we're here today in a similar fashion. I can understand that a need to exhaust, but this is, you know, one bridge too far that we would submit. These arguments have already been ruled against, and we set forth all the legal reasoning why the court should deny them. And we request the Court --

THE COURT: I'd like you to make a record of that. I'd like you to make a record of the legal reasoning, please, Mr. Ball.

MR. BALL: -- I will do so, Your Honor.

There's three main reasons. Plaintiff cannot obtain the release sought without a proper summary judgment motion pursuant to Rule 56. I understand that's been argued against, by Mr. Childs, but we cited specific case law and reasoning as to why this -- why this is such a case and why it's procedurally in error even with a motion for summary judgment under Rule 56. This is already -- the Court's already ruled on this and that we should go forward with appellant remedies which Plaintiff has already sought.

Second, is that there's already been an election of remedies.

And as this Court's mentioned, there was a $355,000 judgment in compensatory damages, treble damages in over a million, and we submit, at this point, that it can't -- double recovery is not possible. That election of remedies already exist. And, as you stated, Plaintiff has been well compensated at least in a judgment form. Collection is always a question going forward.

And secondly, or third point, Your Honor, these findings of fact, I think most important point, these findings of fact apply to Defendants Bursey and Medina only. There's specific case law on that. In the reply, it specifically states on page 6 of 8, lines 1 through 3, that counsel for Precision, Acrylic Development, and WFG were all present at the trial. Technically, that is correct. However, for these claims, Precision, being represented by myself in the specific claim we represent, were not present; and that's a continued representation in these pleadings that, you know, it's not correct. I wasn't present because the summary judgment had already been granted, and this was essentially a prove-up hearing which this Courts already mentioned and remembers well. The better part of a judicial day.

So based upon that, Your Honor, we submit that this motion, like the previous motion in nearly identical format just with a different setting of legal argument and rules, should be denied.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

Mister -- Ms. Miller do you have anything to add? I know this isn't, necessarily, you know, your on-point issue, but anything to add?

MS. MILLER: No. Thank you, Your Honor. I'll just note very

1	quickly that on behalf of WFG, we did file a joinder to Precision Assets'
2	opposition so I also join in Mr. Ball's argument to the Court this morning.
3	THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. And Mr. Benedict?
4	MR. BENEDICT: Your Honor, I'd like to correct my
5	appearance to the extent this has anything to do with Acry; I'm
6	appearing on behalf of Acry. My position is, Acry's been dismissed with
7	summary judgment order and judgment. But just in case, as far as
8	Precision as a Cross Claimant, we join in the arguments that've been
9	made.
0	And I would just point out, to make the record as thorough as
1	possible, this was also fully vetted the exact same issues were fully
2	vetted on a motion for reconsideration which I believe is the appropriate
3	method to have challenged the summary judgment order and not this
4	vehicle.
5	THE COURT: We've already we've I'm sorry I believe
6	we've already I've already heard a motion for reconsideration.
7	Correct?
8	MR. BENEDICT: You have. You've heard a motion for
9	MR. BALL: Correct, Your Honor.
20	MR. BENEDICT: reconsideration from Mr. Childs on this
21	THE COURT: Yes.
22	MR. BENEDICT: very issue, and you denied it.
23	THE COURT: That is correct. All right. Thank you very
24	much.

Ball.

MR. CHILDS: It's never been addressed. 111.025 and 111.175, right in the motion hearing -- I have the transcript. I'm asking the Court -- you have -- if you're gonna make that order, you need to address those statutes, and they were never addressed. It's never -- it's never been addressed. And as to this LoMastro argument about we were at the trial but we left, LoMastro -- they're citing it for the exact opposite of what LoMastro says. And that's why, in my reply, I just changed the name from the name in the LoMastro case to Precision Assets; they were there and they had notice. So the finding of fact, conclusion of law is binding on them. So that's all I have, Judge. Unless you have some specific questions.

THE COURT: I do.

MR. CHILDS: Okay.

THE COURT: I want to hear -- I want to hear from -- from Mr.

Mr. Ball, with respect to Mr. Childs' arguments on the not having addressed these -- these statutes, I'd like to hear -- in addition to what we've discussed, I'd like to hear what you think.

MR. BALL: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: It's my thought that there are only two parties that were defaulted, Mr. Bursey and Ms. Medina. So it may only apply -- it only applies to them, but I'd like to hear what, you know, your reaction to that and what your thoughts are.

MR. BALL: Thank you, Your Honor.

Essentially, it's that not every argument is going to be addressed in the order, understanding that we get to the same basis, dismissal of my client Precision Assets as Defendant and Counter Claimant. We get to the same basis based on those arguments. And while it may be a desire or even a perceived need for Plaintiff to have an exhaustive analysis in their order of statutes, I believe we get to the same place. And it's concerning, too, in a sense that, you know, we don't quite understand -- these additional arguments are not needed, and we get to the same place. I'll leave it at that.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BENEDICT: Your Honor, this is John Benedict, if I may add on behalf of my client, Acry.

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. BENEDICT: I think the Court has already determined that and the case law supports that the findings of fact and conclusions of law only pertain to the two parties that were the default prove-up, Medina and Bursey. What Mr. Childs, I think is mixing his arguments, is that the Court has found, in the motion for summary judgment, that Precision Assets was a bona fide purchaser and that there was no question of fact that established that. And the Court went through a number of reasons why that was true which are part of the transcript and part of the order on the summary judgment.

So the Court has -- the Court has addressed the BFP argument after, for the record, denying two motions where we tried one as a motion to dismiss as well as a later summary judgment. So it wasn't like the Court, you know, granted this out of the box. It was only at the conclusion of discovery that the Court made a finding that Precision Assets was a bona fide purchaser for various reasons.

What Mr. Childs is doing now is raising an issue that was available to him at the summary judgment level, and he is trying to get the Court, in a motion for reconsideration context, in essence, to readdress something that was addressed properly in the summary judgment motion, by my review of things. And that is improper under the Jolley Urga case. There has not been an interim change in the law. That is not the basis that he's asked the Court to reconsider or to make a declaration of relief. Those statutes have been in place, and he has argued them throughout the case. He lost and he is taking a writ to the Supreme Court to state that he shouldn't have lost. But to say that the bona fide purchaser has not been addressed by the Court, is factually incorrect, and the record will bear that out.

THE COURT: Thank you very much.

MR. CHILDS: That's not -- that's not what I'm saying.

THE COURT: Mr. Childs, before you speak, now I'm going to call on you. Go ahead.

MR. CHILDS: No. I'm saying that the 111.025 and the 111.175 statutes have not been addressed. Not that the bona fide purchaser hasn't been addressed; I acknowledge that. My point is that these two statutes overrule, but they apply, even if there is a bona fide purchaser. And there was a new fact that came about, after this finding of fact and conclusions of law was filed, about the fraudulent obtaining of the deed. And it was not -- and it was not appealed, so that's a final fact now.

And the other -- that summary judgment order, it is an interim order. And later judgments control over earlier judgements. So I'm not saying that the bona fide purchaser wasn't adjudicated. My point is that 111.025 and 111.175 apply even to bona fide purchasers; that's my point. And that has never been addressed, and I've asked it to be -- I've asked it to be addressed several times.

THE COURT: I'm sorry to delay this if you're on here -- MR. CHILDS: That's all I have.

THE COURT: -- waiting for your cases, but I would like to hear with -- I understand what you've just discussed with me, what you just discussed with this Court, Mr. Ball and Mr. Benedict, but I would like to hear what you -- your thoughts are on these statutes and what Mr. Childs is saying.

MR. BALL: Thank you, Your Honor.

If you look at both of those, they are directly in the context of a bona fide purchaser. And, again, I don't believe that the analysis needs to be so explicit as to interact with or discuss 025 and 175 within Chapter 111. It's a analysis that is already been determined by the Court. The Court has given a detailed ruling which is in the form of order at least in a minute order at a minimum. And to go through this because it's an additional argument is concerning. We already get there. And as Mr. Benedict pointed out, this is not the proper vehicle to do so. That argument was left at the disposal of Plaintiff in earlier motion practice.

THE COURT: Okay. Very good. Mr. Childs, I heard what you

1	have to say that we haven't specifically discussed 111.025, 111.175.
2	Mr. Ball, I'd like you to prepare a very detailed order.
3	This Court denies Plaintiff's motion for declaratory relief. I do
4	believe that this is I understand what Mr. Childs is saying, but I do
5	believe this is an attempt, a second attempt at an order for
6	reconsideration. It just keeps coming. But I would like you to analyze
7	the statutes as well, and be very detailed about the entire background of
8	this case and so forth. I'd like to be sure that you share that with all
9	counsel and that Mr. Childs has a take a has a chance to take look at
10	it as to form and content. And I'd like that usually its 14 days. It's
11	going to be a little bit detailed. If it needs to be a little bit longer I
12	understand. Okay.
13	MR. BALL: No problem. Understood, Your Honor.
14	THE COURT: Have a great day everyone and be safe out
15	there.
16	MR. CHILDS: Thank you, Judge.
17	MR. BALL: Thank you, Your Honor.
18	THE COURT: You're very welcome.
19	MR. CHILDS: I'm not upset. I'm not upset. I want to be clear
20	on the record. I'm just
21	THE COURT: No, Mr. Childs.
22	MR. CHILDS: Thank you.
23	THE COURT: It's never anything personal, Mr. Childs.
24	MR. CHILDS: Thank you.
25	THE COURT: I think you realize in this Court,
- 1	I and the second

1	MR. CHILDS: Thank you.
2	THE COURT: I don't take things personally nor do I expect
3	the attorneys to.
4	MR. CHILDS: Exactly.
5	THE COURT: That's not why I'm here.
6	MR. CHILDS: I know.
7	THE COURT: This is not a black robe thing. I respect
8	everyone and just, you know, sometimes I have to make decisions that
9	don't like. Other times, but I really believe that what I've discussed
0	with you and what we've discussed today is correct, and I'm and I'm
1	glad you're not upset and neither am I. All right?
2	MR. CHILDS: Thank you.
3	THE COURT: So everyone, I do not have buttons to push
4	with regard to being on the bench. It just doesn't happen.
5	MR. CHILDS: No problem.
6	THE COURT: Maybe it's because I was a therapist for five
7	and-a-half years before I went to law school. Anyway, let's move on to
8	the next case. I hope you all have a great day.
9	MR. BENEDICT: Thank you, Judge. You too. Thank you.

5	THE COURT: Okay. Page 4. This is John Dattala versus
6	Eustachius Bursey. And let's start with, Mr. Childs, are you there?
7	MR. CHILDS: Yes. Benjamin Childs for the Plaintiff and Mr.
8	Dattala is here too.
9	THE COURT: Okay.
10	[Indiscernible simultaneous speaking]
11	THE COURT: Good morning, Mr. Childs. I think I speak to
12	you more than most attorneys these days. I think that they've they're
13	actually sending me either this is I think one of this is on one case or
14	we have many cases. I'm not sure.

22	MR. BALL: Good. Thank you.
23	THE COURT: Okay. And who else do I have on this case?
24	Mr. Benedict I see you. Good morning.
25	MR. BENEDICT: Good morning, Your Honor.

1	THE COURT: All right. And Ms. Miller, good morning. You're
2	here on I guess I should make a proper record. Mr. Childs, you're
3	here for Mr. Dattala. Mr. Ball for Precision Assets. Correct?
4	MR. BALL: Correct.
5	THE COURT: Mr. Benedict for Acry Development LLC. Ms.
6	Miller for WFG National Title Trust Insurance Company. Good morning.
7	MS. MILLER: Good morning, Your Honor.
8	THE COURT: There's a couple let's see. Ms. Chapman's
9	here on a different case. All right. This is Mr. Dattala's motion for
10	reconsideration. Have I already heard this, Mr. Childs?
11	MR. CHILDS: No. The previous one was on regarding a in

13	THE COURT: Okay. No. I It's almost
14	MR. CHILDS: That was on the
15	THE COURT: I'm not I'm not a sarcastic person. I
16	I'm I but I was being a little bit facetious.
17	MR. CHILDS: Oh. Okay.
18	THE COURT: I feel like I'm reading the same thing over and
19	over again. All right.
20	MR. CHILDS: Well, the basis
21	THE COURT: Go ahead and make a record for the basis, Mr.
22	Childs.
23	MR. CHILDS: Well, the basis the basis for the motion for
24	reconsideration is the same. The law's the same.
25	THE COURT: Okay. Why don't you state that succinctly, please.

MR. CHILDS: Well, they need -- well, now you're calling my bluff. Let me -- let me get in here. The -- it's a local rule about reconsideration and two point -- EDCR 2.24 and case law's, essentially, that you need either a new facts or --

THE COURT: Let me read it for you.

MR. CHILDS: Okay. I'm -- thanks.

THE COURT: Okay. Because I didn't get -- I don't see a lot of it there. One, is there is a manifest error of law or fact upon which the -- upon which the order is based and in this case it's WFG. Two, there's newly discovered or previously unavailable evidence. Three, there exists manifest injustice. Or four, there's an intervene change in controlling law. All right. And let me hear what you have to say about that. I've reviewed it. I just want you to make a record please.

MR. CHILDS: Okay. Well, obviously, there's a new fact because I went and got an affidavit from Mr. Bursey, which I filed on December 8th, the same day that I got the declaration. And he -- and this issue is whether Lillian Medina was an agent of WFG. That's the order that's being reconsidered. There was a summary judgment with a finding -- and I'm not gonna go over what happened prior, but the finding was that Lillian Medina was not an agent of WFG [indiscernible -- audio malfunction] there was no material facts creating an issue of fact for the trier of fact -- for the jury.

THE COURT: Okay. Thanks.

MR. CHILDS: So I went on December 8th -- Mr. Bursey's now in the Clark County Detention Center, and he signed a declaration, which I filed, saying that Lillian Medina was representing that -- and I'll read it. She was representing WFG and was there on behalf of WFG. Ms. Medina had documents with her that she had been provided, and prepared, by WFG. And this was April 29th, 2019. So that's a new fact that's pretty clear there is a factual dispute.

And the real problem is that there was a finding of fact conclusions of law that was filed on October 15th that was served on everybody. The appeal time has run so this is a final fact. And it said, there's a finding of fact that Lillian Medina is and at all times was a resident of Clark County, Nevada. During all times relevant hereto was employed and or, or being the key word, the agent of WFG and was within her scope of employment or her [indiscernible -- audio malfunction] relationship in performing the acts described below. So, --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. CHILDS: -- obviously, the prior summary judgment motion was an inconsistent finding of fact based on the October 15, 2021 findings of fact, that there is an internally inconsistent and contradictory finding of fact which would mean there is -- there is a dispute of fact. So that needs to be addressed. And --

THE COURT: All right.

MR. CHILDS: -- determination of agency is a question of fact and I quoted that case. I can quote it --

THE COURT: No. I -- you made your record. Thank you very much. I'd like to hear from Counsel please. Ms. Miller.

 MS. MILLER: Thank you, Your Honor. I'm not going to regurgitate what's in our opposition. It's substantially similar to the identical arguments that this Court considered and denied in Plaintiff's motion for reconsideration of the order in favor of Precision Assets. But what I would like to add, Your Honor, a couple things that are problematic about the reply, and I would ask that you disregard almost in its entirety at this point.

There are two Nevada Court of Appeal unpublished opinions that are cited and relied upon in the reply. And pursuant to Nevada Rule of Appellate Procedure 36, Subsection (c)(2), unpublished decisions of the Court of Appeals are not citable for any purpose. Because of that I'd ask that the Court disregard those citations and all of the arguments that relies on those citations.

Secondly, Your Honor, this declaration of Mr. Bursey, it's produced well after discovery closed. There's no explanation as to why this declaration could not have been obtained earlier. And more importantly the declaration and the statements about Ms. Medina's alleged representation that she's an employee of WFG, that's inadmissible hearsay. So at the summary judgment and following on a reconsideration of summary judgment, pursuant to NRCP 56, this Court really can only consider evidence that's admissible into the record.

This Court's already considered admissible evidence pursuant to deposition testimony from Ms. Medina directly stating that she's an independent contractor she's not an employee of WFG, nor is she an employee of Simple Signings that brought her on to notarize the documents. So again, Your Honor, there's nothing there that warrants reconsideration.

As you noted with the four reconsideration factors, Mr. Bursey's declaration is not newly discovered evidence. It could've been obtained in the discovery period. It wasn't and this Court shouldn't tolerate inadmissible hearsay at the reconsideration stage well after discovery closed and after the summary judgment briefing. There's also no argument of a change in controlling law, there's no argument of manifest error or manifest injustice pursuant to the summary judgment in favor of WFG.

And lastly, Your Honor, the LoMastro decision that we cited in our opposition, controls here. And that expressly says that a default judgment obtained against a party cannot be used against that codefendant who has appeared in the litigation, who's answered the complaint and denied the factual allegations, and, also, presented admissible evidence contradicting and proving false those factual allegations. And, Your Honor, unless you have any questions for me, I don't have anything further.

THE COURT: No. I think you've made a very clear record, Ms. Miller. Is there anything you would like to add, Mr. Ball, Mr. Benedict?

MR. BALL: Nothing to add, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Benedict.

MR. BENEDICT: Thank you, Your Honor. Nothing to add.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much. Mr. Childs, quick --

THE COURT: -- reply. Quick reply. Go ahead.

MR. CHILDS: Yeah. Hearsay --

MR. CHILDS: -- hearsay of a party is admissible.

THE COURT: Okay. Here, let me just tell you, I have reviewed this thoroughly, I believe that -- actually she's much more eloquent than I am today. I -- I'm going to -- this Court denies Plaintiff -- Mr. Dattala's motion for reconsideration. I do believe -- this Court believes that this declaration was, you know, to obtain this information or this evidence was discoverable, and it just comes at a very late time. I also agree with the analysis of the four factors that have just been represented by Ms. Miller.

And -- so I am -- I am going to adopt those factors because I want to keep moving. But, believe me, I've given every case thought.

And also with the LoMastro decision.

And I'd like you please, Ms. Miller, to provide this Court with a very detailed -- very detailed order and ask -- please make sure that Mr. Childs has a chance to see it as to form and substance. And please provide that to this Court, Department 14, in Microsoft Word and also in PDF format.

This is -- I'm surprised that I even have this, frankly. You have a right to move forward on reconsideration, Mr. Childs, on behalf of your client, but I honestly think that your theory, while I appreciate unique theories, I think it's not -- there's not really a basis for that here. So that's the answer and I hope all of you have a great holiday season.

1	Okay.
2	MR. CHILDS: You too and I
3	THE COURT: And be safe.
4	MS. MILLER: Thank you, Your Honor.
5	MR. BALL: Thank you, Your Honor.
6	THE COURT: Thank you.
7	MR. BENEDICT: Happy Holidays, Judge.

23	THE COURT: Okay. Very good. Thank you. And
24	MR. BENEDICT: And good morning, Your Honor. John
25	Benedict, 5581, on behalf of Precision Assets, Cross Claimant.

 THE COURT: Good morning, Mr. Benedict. I feel like, aside from Mr. Childs, you're the other person that I see quite often here -MR. BENEDICT: It's my pleasure.

THE COURT: -- because, I think, of this case. But anyway, -- all right. So this is Plaintiff's motion for declaratory relief.

Mr. Childs, I have to tell you that I've reviewed this thoroughly, and I'm concerned that you're even filing this motion. But I want you, just for the record, you know how straightforward I am, please go on and -- and discuss -- well, we possibly discussed, I don't know, I don't want to exaggerate, three to four times before. Go on.

MR. CHILDS: Yeah. This is a case that's covered by statute and these statutes have never been addressed by the Court ever. It's 11 -- 111.025 and 111.175, that a deed that's obtained by fraud is void as to that purchaser and all subsequent -- all subsequent purchasers. So there's the final conclusions of -- finding of fact, conclusions of law that the deed to the two subject properties were acquired by Bursey by fraud, and so all subsequent -- that deed to him and all subsequent deeds are void.

And then I just emphasize that later judgments control earlier judgments, 'cause their defenses or responses -- well, there was a summary judgment order, but that was before there were these final findings of facts, conclusions of law that was -- that were entered in, I think, October 30th or -- the date escapes me. But they also bring up that -- make an argument that Rule 11 -- strike that -- Rule 57 doesn't allow declaratory relief and that's obviously not true; I cited Rule 57.

11

14 15

16

17 18

19 20

23

And then I had a case just yesterday that was resolved by declaratory relief where in Thorton versus Weston, that could've been resolved by summary judgment, but it was resolved by a declaratory relief motion.

So I'm, frankly, just making a record to exhaust the remedies to make sure that everything's clear for review. And I'm -- it's crystal clear to me. This 111.025, just seems like there shouldn't even be an argument, at this point, but I can see what's happening. And so in my reply, I cited several other cases, from other courts, that this is just a normal thing. That if there's a void deed in the chain of title, you don't just keep on going and say, well, this person is a bona fide purchaser because they paid cash. It doesn't make any difference because there's a void deed in the chain of title.

So I agree with you, Judge, I don't think I need to beat it to death anymore. I just have -- want to make sure that it's clear; I've exhausted all remedies and made the record. Thank you.

THE COURT: Before we go on, I just want to remind you, Mr. Childs, that we spent the better part of a court day, almost a full court day, together with my staff, of course, in court, and you -- there were default judgments against Mr. Bursey and Ms. Medina for $355,000.00 -- five hundred and -- $355,533.00 that you -- that your clients were awarded in compensatory damages, and $1,066,599.00 in treble damages. And it appears that your clients have been well compensated for the relief that you -- that you requested and the relief that is proper under your request. But -- but we'll talk about that later.

Mr. Ball.

MR. BALL: Thank you, Your Honor.

I believe the Court's already properly stated and Mr. Childs, at the end of his argument, mentioned not to beat a dead horse, but yet here we are. This motion, if you look at the motion and reply and you compare it to the previous pleadings on file with the court, those -- they are the same or nearly identical arguments. Admittedly, somewhat refined but the same or identical. And yet here we are on a motion that has -- these arguments have already been ruled against by the court, and we're here today in a similar fashion. I can understand that a need to exhaust, but this is, you know, one bridge too far that we would submit. These arguments have already been ruled against, and we set forth all the legal reasoning why the court should deny them. And we request the Court --

THE COURT: I'd like you to make a record of that. I'd like you to make a record of the legal reasoning, please, Mr. Ball.

MR. BALL: -- I will do so, Your Honor.

There's three main reasons. Plaintiff cannot obtain the release sought without a proper summary judgment motion pursuant to Rule 56. I understand that's been argued against, by Mr. Childs, but we cited specific case law and reasoning as to why this -- why this is such a case and why it's procedurally in error even with a motion for summary judgment under Rule 56. This is already -- the Court's already ruled on this and that we should go forward with appellant remedies which Plaintiff has already sought.

Second, is that there's already been an election of remedies.

And as this Court's mentioned, there was a $355,000 judgment in compensatory damages, treble damages in over a million, and we submit, at this point, that it can't -- double recovery is not possible. That election of remedies already exist. And, as you stated, Plaintiff has been well compensated at least in a judgment form. Collection is always a question going forward.

And secondly, or third point, Your Honor, these findings of fact, I think most important point, these findings of fact apply to Defendants Bursey and Medina only. There's specific case law on that. In the reply, it specifically states on page 6 of 8, lines 1 through 3, that counsel for Precision, Acrylic Development, and WFG were all present at the trial. Technically, that is correct. However, for these claims, Precision, being represented by myself in the specific claim we represent, were not present; and that's a continued representation in these pleadings that, you know, it's not correct. I wasn't present because the summary judgment had already been granted, and this was essentially a prove-up hearing which this Courts already mentioned and remembers well. The better part of a judicial day.

So based upon that, Your Honor, we submit that this motion, like the previous motion in nearly identical format just with a different setting of legal argument and rules, should be denied.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

Mister -- Ms. Miller do you have anything to add? I know this isn't, necessarily, you know, your on-point issue, but anything to add?

MS. MILLER: No. Thank you, Your Honor. I'll just note very

1	quickly that on behalf of WFG, we did file a joinder to Precision Assets'
2	opposition so I also join in Mr. Ball's argument to the Court this morning.
3	THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. And Mr. Benedict?
4	MR. BENEDICT: Your Honor, I'd like to correct my
5	appearance to the extent this has anything to do with Acry; I'm
6	appearing on behalf of Acry. My position is, Acry's been dismissed with
7	summary judgment order and judgment. But just in case, as far as
8	Precision as a Cross Claimant, we join in the arguments that've been
9	made.
0	And I would just point out, to make the record as thorough as
1	possible, this was also fully vetted the exact same issues were fully
2	vetted on a motion for reconsideration which I believe is the appropriate
3	method to have challenged the summary judgment order and not this
4	vehicle.
5	THE COURT: We've already we've I'm sorry I believe
6	we've already I've already heard a motion for reconsideration.
7	Correct?
8	MR. BENEDICT: You have. You've heard a motion for
9	MR. BALL: Correct, Your Honor.
20	MR. BENEDICT: reconsideration from Mr. Childs on this
21	THE COURT: Yes.
22	MR. BENEDICT: very issue, and you denied it.
23	THE COURT: That is correct. All right. Thank you very
24	much.
25	Mr. Childs.

MR. CHILDS: It's never been addressed. 111.025 and 111.175, right in the motion hearing -- I have the transcript. I'm asking the Court -- you have -- if you're gonna make that order, you need to address those statutes, and they were never addressed. It's never -- it's never been addressed. And as to this LoMastro argument about we were at the trial but we left, LoMastro -- they're citing it for the exact opposite of what LoMastro says. And that's why, in my reply, I just changed the name from the name in the LoMastro case to Precision Assets; they were there and they had notice. So the finding of fact, conclusion of law is binding on them. So that's all I have, Judge. Unless you have some specific questions.

THE COURT: I do.

MR. CHILDS: Okay.

THE COURT: I want to hear -- I want to hear from -- from Mr. Ball.

Mr. Ball, with respect to Mr. Childs' arguments on the not having addressed these -- these statutes, I'd like to hear -- in addition to what we've discussed, I'd like to hear what you think.

MR. BALL: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: It's my thought that there are only two parties that were defaulted, Mr. Bursey and Ms. Medina. So it may only apply -- it only applies to them, but I'd like to hear what, you know, your reaction to that and what your thoughts are.

MR. BALL: Thank you, Your Honor.

Essentially, it's that not every argument is going to be addressed in the order, understanding that we get to the same basis, dismissal of my client Precision Assets as Defendant and Counter Claimant. We get to the same basis based on those arguments. And while it may be a desire or even a perceived need for Plaintiff to have an exhaustive analysis in their order of statutes, I believe we get to the same place. And it's concerning, too, in a sense that, you know, we don't quite understand -- these additional arguments are not needed, and we get to the same place. I'll leave it at that.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BENEDICT: Your Honor, this is John Benedict, if I may add on behalf of my client, Acry.

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. BENEDICT: I think the Court has already determined that and the case law supports that the findings of fact and conclusions of law only pertain to the two parties that were the default prove-up, Medina and Bursey. What Mr. Childs, I think is mixing his arguments, is that the Court has found, in the motion for summary judgment, that Precision Assets was a bona fide purchaser and that there was no question of fact that established that. And the Court went through a number of reasons why that was true which are part of the transcript and part of the order on the summary judgment.

So the Court has -- the Court has addressed the BFP argument after, for the record, denying two motions where we tried one as a motion to dismiss as well as a later summary judgment. So it wasn't like the Court, you know, granted this out of the box. It was only at the conclusion of discovery that the Court made a finding that Precision Assets was a bona fide purchaser for various reasons.

What Mr. Childs is doing now is raising an issue that was available to him at the summary judgment level, and he is trying to get the Court, in a motion for reconsideration context, in essence, to readdress something that was addressed properly in the summary judgment motion, by my review of things. And that is improper under the Jolley Urga case. There has not been an interim change in the law. That is not the basis that he's asked the Court to reconsider or to make a declaration of relief. Those statutes have been in place, and he has argued them throughout the case. He lost and he is taking a writ to the Supreme Court to state that he shouldn't have lost. But to say that the bona fide purchaser has not been addressed by the Court, is factually incorrect, and the record will bear that out.

THE COURT: Thank you very much.

MR. CHILDS: That's not -- that's not what I'm saying.

THE COURT: Mr. Childs, before you speak, now I'm going to call on you. Go ahead.

MR. CHILDS: No. I'm saying that the 111.025 and the 111.175 statutes have not been addressed. Not that the bona fide purchaser hasn't been addressed; I acknowledge that. My point is that these two statutes overrule, but they apply, even if there is a bona fide purchaser. And there was a new fact that came about, after this finding of fact and conclusions of law was filed, about the fraudulent obtaining of the deed. And it was not -- and it was not appealed, so that's a final fact now.

And the other -- that summary judgment order, it is an interim order. And later judgments control over earlier judgements. So I'm not saying that the bona fide purchaser wasn't adjudicated. My point is that 111.025 and 111.175 apply even to bona fide purchasers; that's my point. And that has never been addressed, and I've asked it to be -- I've asked it to be addressed several times.

THE COURT: I'm sorry to delay this if you're on here -MR. CHILDS: That's all I have.

THE COURT: -- waiting for your cases, but I would like to hear with -- I understand what you've just discussed with me, what you just discussed with this Court, Mr. Ball and Mr. Benedict, but I would like to hear what you -- your thoughts are on these statutes and what Mr. Childs is saying.

MR. BALL: Thank you, Your Honor.

If you look at both of those, they are directly in the context of a bona fide purchaser. And, again, I don't believe that the analysis needs to be so explicit as to interact with or discuss 025 and 175 within Chapter 111. It's a analysis that is already been determined by the Court. The Court has given a detailed ruling which is in the form of order at least in a minute order at a minimum. And to go through this because it's an additional argument is concerning. We already get there. And as Mr. Benedict pointed out, this is not the proper vehicle to do so. That argument was left at the disposal of Plaintiff in earlier motion practice.

THE COURT: Okay. Very good. Mr. Childs, I heard what you

1	have to say that we haven't specifically discussed 111.025, 111.175.
2	Mr. Ball, I'd like you to prepare a very detailed order.
3	This Court denies Plaintiff's motion for declaratory relief. I do
4	believe that this is I understand what Mr. Childs is saying, but I do
5	believe this is an attempt, a second attempt at an order for
6	reconsideration. It just keeps coming. But I would like you to analyze
7	the statutes as well, and be very detailed about the entire background of
8	this case and so forth. I'd like to be sure that you share that with all
9	counsel and that Mr. Childs has a take a has a chance to take look at
10	it as to form and content. And I'd like that usually its 14 days. It's
11	going to be a little bit detailed. If it needs to be a little bit longer I
12	understand. Okay.
13	MR. BALL: No problem. Understood, Your Honor.
14	THE COURT: Have a great day everyone and be safe out
15	there.
16	MR. CHILDS: Thank you, Judge.
17	MR. BALL: Thank you, Your Honor.
18	THE COURT: You're very welcome.
19	MR. CHILDS: I'm not upset. I'm not upset. I want to be clear
20	on the record. I'm just
21	THE COURT: No, Mr. Childs.
22	MR. CHILDS: Thank you.
23	THE COURT: It's never anything personal, Mr. Childs.
24	MR. CHILDS: Thank you.
25	THE COURT: I think you realize in this Court,
- 1	I and the second

1	MR. CHILDS: Thank you.
2	THE COURT: I don't take things personally nor do I expect
3	the attorneys to.
4	MR. CHILDS: Exactly.
5	THE COURT: That's not why I'm here.
6	MR. CHILDS: I know.
7	THE COURT: This is not a black robe thing. I respect
8	everyone and just, you know, sometimes I have to make decisions that
9	don't like. Other times, but I really believe that what I've discussed
0	with you and what we've discussed today is correct, and I'm and I'm
1	glad you're not upset and neither am I. All right?
2	MR. CHILDS: Thank you.
3	THE COURT: So everyone, I do not have buttons to push
4	with regard to being on the bench. It just doesn't happen.
5	MR. CHILDS: No problem.
6	THE COURT: Maybe it's because I was a therapist for five
7	and-a-half years before I went to law school. Anyway, let's move on to
8	the next case. I hope you all have a great day.
9	MR. BENEDICT: Thank you, Judge. You too. Thank you.
