ORDER DIRECTING SUPPLEMENT TO PETITION AND IMPOSING TEMPORARY STAY

This original, emergency petition for a writ of prohibition or mandamus challenges a district court order refusing to stay enforcement of attorney fees and costs awards in a divorce decree pending appeal.

Generally, writ relief is available only when there is no plain, adequate, and speedy legal remedy. Pan v. Eighth Judicial Dist. Court, 120 Nev. 222, 224, 88 P.3d 840, 841 (2004); NRS 34.170; NRS 34.330. Here, petitioner acknowledges this standard in his petition but fails to address whether he lacks an adequate legal remedy, given that he may move for a stay in any appeal from the decree.¹ Nelson v. Heer, 121 Nev. 832, 122 P.3d 1252 (2005), as modified (Jan. 25, 2006); NRAP 8. Accordingly, petitioner shall have 7 days from the date of this order to file and serve a supplement to his petition, no longer than 5 pages, addressing whether the ability to move for a stay motion in any appeal precludes writ relief.

Further, as the decree directs that that the subject amounts be paid within 5 days, we conclude that a temporary stay is appropriate pending our receipt and consideration of petitioner's supplement. Accordingly, we temporarily stay enforcement of the portions of the divorce decree awarding real party in interest attorney fees and costs and directing that funds be disbursed from the trust account to pay those fees and costs. Real party in interest may file and serve any response, no longer than 5 pages, to the supplement and temporary stay within 7 days from when petitioner's supplement is served.

It is so ORDERED.
