1 193.330, 193.165 - NOC 50121). The State requested a conditional dismissal of Count 8—2 OWNERSHIP OR POSSESSION OF FIREARM BY PROHIBITED PERSON (Category B
3 Felony - NRS 202.360 - NOC 51460).

4 On October 19, 2017, Petitioner was adjudged guilty and sentenced as follows: as to 5 Count 1 a minimum of twenty-four (24) months and a maximum of seventy-two (72) months
6 in the Nevada Department of Corrections; as to Count 2—life with the eligibility for parole 7 after five (5) years with a consecutive term of a minimum of sixty (60) months and a maximum 8 of one hundred eighty (180) months for the use of a deadly weapon in the Nevada Department
9 of Corrections to run concurrent with count 1; as to Count 3—to a minimum of twelve (12)
10 months and a maximum of seventy-two (72) months in the Nevada Department of Corrections
11 to run consecutive to Count 2; as to Count 5—life with the eligibility to parole after two (2)
12 years to run consecutive to Count 3 in the Nevada Department of Corrections. Petitioner 13 received nine hundred twenty-eight (928) days credit for time served. Counts 4, 6, and 7 were 14 dismissed and Count 8 was conditionally dismissed. Additionally, this Court ordered a special 15 sentence of lifetime supervision to commence upon release from any term of probation, parole, 16 or imprisonment. Further, Petitioner was ordered to register as a sex offender in accordance 17 with NRS 199D.460 within 48 hours of release.

18 Petitioner's Judgment of Conviction was filed on October 31, 2017.

19 On November 13, 2017, Petitioner filed a Notice of Appeal. On April 12, 2019, the 20 Nevada Supreme Court affirmed Petitioner's judgment of conviction. Remittitur issued on 21 May 7, 2019.

22 On May 27, 2020, Petitioner filed a Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus. Also on May 23 27, 2020, Petitioner filed a Motion to Withhold Judgment on Petition for Writ of habeas 24 Corpus and Motion for Appointment of Attorney. On July 6, 2020, the State filed its Response.
25 On August 18, 2020, this Court granted Petitioner's Motion to Withhold Judgment on Petition
26 for Writ of Habeas Corpus and allowed Petitioner to file a Supplemental Petition by October 27 20, 2020. Also on August 18, 2020, this Court denied Petitioner's Motion for Appointment of 28 Counsel without prejudice and articulated that if issues were unduly complex counsel

1 appointment would be considered. Petitioner never filed a Supplemental Petition.

2 Defendant acting pro per could not file Supplementary Points and Authorities by the 3 October 20, 2020 date and on January 19, 2020, the Court denied the Petition and ordered
4 Findings of Fact, Conclusions of Law and Order, which denied the Petition. Defendant then 5 appealed the Order denying his Post-Conviction Petition, filing a Pro Per Notice of Appeal on 6 February 26, 2021. On February 17, 2022, the Supreme Court reversed the District Court's 7 denial of Defendant's Petition and remanded to District Court for appointment of counsel in 8 case number 82637. Counsel Terrence M. Jackson, Esq. was appointed on March 10, 2022 to 9 represent Calvin Thomas Elam on further post-conviction proceedings. On March 15, 2022, 10 the Nevada Supreme Court reversed the District Court's decision and remanded the case to 11 appoint post-conviction counsel and allow Petitioner to file a supplement to his original 12 Petition. On June 9, 2022, Defendant through counsel filed Supplemental Points and 13 Authorities to his Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus in case number A-20-815585-W. On 14 August 11, 2022, the State filed its Response to Petitioner's Supplement to his Petition for 15 Writ of Habeas Corpus. On August 17, 2022 Petitioner filed his Reply.

16 FACTUAL BACKGROUND

17 The following was taken from Petitioner's Presentence Investigation Report ("PSI"):

18 On March 10, 2015, a detective was dispatched to a kidnap call at an 19 apartment complex. The details of the call stated that the victim was 20 kidnapped at a nearby apartment and had escaped her captors. Upon arrival, the detective began an investigation and interviewed the victim.

21 The victim related that she has lived in this neighborhood for the past 22 three months. On this date, she was walking her dog and stopped over at a friend's house. While there, she saw a neighbor, later identified 23 as the defendant Calvin Thomas Elam, who recently had his pit bull dogs stolen. The defendant waved her over to his apartment next door, and she voluntarily went inside.

24 As she waited in the kitchen, the defendant walked to the back of his apartment, came back to the kitchen and told her, "Turn around, put 25 your hands behind your back and get on your knees." She complied, and he bound her hands behind her back with some cords and some 26 plastic material. He next bound her feet together and then he hog tied her feet to her hands and put her face down on the kitchen floor.

1 After tying her up, the defendant began to accuse her of stealing his 2 dogs. When she denied taking his dogs, the defendant began to accuse 3 her of knowing who took his dogs. He then retrieved a shotgun, put 4 the barrel into her mouth and continued to accuse her of knowing who 5 stole his dogs. When she told him it may have been a local thief by 6 the name of RJ, he put toilet paper in her mouth to gag her and put 7 tape around her head to hold the toilet paper in. He then covered her 8 head with some sort of towel, and her vision was partially obscured.

9 During this ordeal, the victim related that a female, the mother of the 10 defendant's child, was in the apartment, as well as three other females.
11 An unidentified male suspect also arrived and accused her of lying 12 and told her that they were going to get to the bottom of it. The mother 13 of the defendant's child left and did not return.

14 While everyone was there, the defendant told her to pull her shorts
15 down; and as she was scared, she pulled her shorts and underwear 16 down to her ankles. The defendant and the unidentified male then 17 beat her approximately twenty-five times with a belt. The male then 18 stated, "I know what she wants," and he grabbed a wood handled 19 broom and tapped it on her buttocks. The victim believed the male 20 was going to penetrate her with the broom handle and sexually assault
21 her with it. She saw one of the three female was filming the assault 22 with her cell phone.

23 Moments later, the unidentified male got a stun gun, put it up to her 24 eyes and told her, "I'll put your eye out." He then electrocuted her six 25 or seven times with the stun gun all over her body to include her neck, 26 back, legs and arms. The victim tried to play dead so that the violence 27 would stop; and while doing this, the male asked, "Is she dead?" The 28 defendant replied, "Taze her one more time." The defendant told the male that his kids were going to be home from school and that he would have them play outside. He also told the male that he would take care of the victim later.

The victim stayed on the kitchen floor for a minute and then tried to make an escape. She was able to get to her feet, made it to the door and fell to the outside. She made to an alley while still hog tied and had her shorts down around her ankles. She fell to the ground; but her friend came to her aid, cut the cords off of her wrists and ankles and took the gag out of her mouth. Two other witnesses saw the victim bound and gagged and coming out from the defendant's apartment, and they corroborated the victim's statement. After she was set free, the victim saw the defendant and two women standing outside the defendant's apartment and laughing at her.

Detectives conducted a traffic stop on a vehicle occupied by the two females. Detectives learned that one of the females had a key to the defendant's apartment, and they were presumably going to clean up the evidence there. One female told the detective that the defendant was at her apartment where he was later taken into custody.

1 The defendant denied committing the offense or the victim coming
2 inside his apartment. He, however, stated that he yelled at the victim 3 to come over to his door where he questioned her about his missing 4 dogs. When asked, he admitted to having a shotgun in his home and moving it because his kids were coming. He stated he moved the shotgun by the door.

5 During the course of the investigation, detectives learned that the defendant's pit bulls were taken by animal control on March 8, 2015.

7 ANALYSIS

8 I. PETITIONER'S PETITION IS PROCEDURALLY BARRED

9 A. Application of Procedural Bars is Mandatory

10 The Nevada Supreme Court has held that courts have a duty to consider whether a 11 defendant's post-conviction petition claims are procedurally barred. State v. Eighth Judicial 12 Dist. Court (Riker), 121 Nev. 225, 231, 112 P.3d 1070, 1074 (2005). The Riker Court found 13 that "[a]pplication of the statutory procedural default rules to post-conviction habeas petitions 14 is mandatory," noting:

15 Habeas corpus petitions that are filed many years after conviction are 16 an unreasonable burden on the criminal justice system. The necessity 17 for a workable system dictates that there must exist a time when a criminal conviction is final.

18 Id. Additionally, the Court noted that procedural bars "cannot be ignored [by the District 19 Court] when properly raised by the State." Id. at 233, 112 P.3d at 1075. Ignoring these 20 procedural bars is an arbitrary and unreasonable exercise of discretion. Id. at 234, 112 P.3d at 21 1076. The Nevada Supreme Court has granted no discretion to District Courts regarding 22 whether to apply the statutory procedural bars; the rules must be applied.

23 This position was reaffirmed in State v. Greene, 129 Nev. 559, 307 P.3d 322 (2013).
24 There the Court ruled that the defendant's petition was "untimely, successive, and an abuse of 25 the writ" and that the defendant failed to show good cause and actual prejudice. Id. at 324, 307
26 P.3d at 326. Accordingly, the Court reversed the District Court and ordered the defendant's 27 petition dismissed pursuant to the procedural bars. Id. at 324, 307 P.3d at 322-23. The 28 procedural bars are so fundamental to the post-conviction process that they must be applied

1 by this Court even if not raised by the State. See Riker, 121 Nev. at 231, 112 P.3d at 1074.
2 Parties cannot stipulate to waive the procedural default rules. State v. Haberstroh, 119 Nev.
3 173, 180-81, 69 P.3d 676, 681-82 (2003).

4 B. Any Substantive Claims Were Waived

5 NRS 34.810(1) reads:

6 The court shall dismiss a petition if the court determines that:

7 (a) The petitioner's conviction was upon a plea of guilty or guilty but 8 mentally ill and the petition is not based upon an allegation that the 9 plea was involuntarily or unknowingly or that the plea was entered without effective assistance of counsel.

10 (b) The petitioner's conviction was the result of a trial and the grounds for the petition could have been:

11 ...

12 (2) Raised in a direct appeal or a prior petition for a writ of habeas corpus or postconviction relief.

13 The Nevada Supreme Court has held that "challenges to the validity of a guilty plea 14 and claims of ineffective assistance of trial and appellate counsel must first be pursued in post-15 conviction proceedings.... [A]ll other claims that are appropriate for a direct appeal must be 16 pursued on direct appeal, or they will be considered waived in subsequent proceedings."
17 Franklin v. State, 110 Nev. 750, 752, 877 P.2d 1058, 1059 (1994) (emphasis added)
18 (disapproved on other grounds by Thomas v. State, 115 Nev. 148, 979 P.2d 222 (1999)). "A 19 court must dismiss a habeas petition if it presents claims that either were or could have been 20 presented in an earlier proceeding, unless the court finds both cause for failing to present the 21 claims earlier or for raising them again and actual prejudice to the petitioner." Evans v. State, 22 117 Nev. 609, 646-47, 29 P.3d 498, 523 (2001).

23 Further, substantive claims are beyond the scope of habeas and waived. NRS
24 34.724(2)(a); Id. at 646-47, 29 P.3d 498, 523; Franklin, 110 Nev. at 752, 877 P.2d at 1059.

25 Petitioner brought substantive claims that should have been raised on direct appeal. In 26 Ground Two of the Petition, Petitioner alleged that his conviction is unsupported by sufficient 27 evidence. Pet. at 7-7A. Such a substantive claim was waived for failure to bring it on direct 28 appeal. Further, to the extent this Court would read Ground Three of the Petition as a claim of 1 prosecutorial misconduct, it is also substantive and should have been raised on direct appeal.

2 C. Petitioner's Petition is Time-Barred

3 Petitioner's Petition is time-barred pursuant to NRS 34.726(1):

4 Unless there is good cause shown for delay, a petition that challenges 5 the validity of a judgment or sentence must be filed within 1 year of 6 the entry of the judgment of conviction or, if an appeal has been taken 7 from the judgment, within 1 year after the Supreme Court issues its 8 remittitur. For the purposes of this subsection, good cause for delay 9 exists if the petitioner demonstrates to the satisfaction of the court:

10 (a) That the delay is not the fault of the petitioner; and 11 (b) That dismissal of the petition as untimely will unduly prejudice 12 the petitioner.

13 The Nevada Supreme Court has held that NRS 34.726 should be construed by its plain 14 meaning. Pellegrini v. State, 117 Nev. 860, 873–74, 34 P.3d 519, 528 (2001). Per the language 15 of the statute, the statutory one-year time bar begins to run from the filing date of a judgment 16 of conviction or remittitur from a timely direct appeal. Dickerson v. State, 114 Nev. 1084, 17 1087, 967 P.2d 1132, 1133–34 (1998).

18 The one-year time limit for preparing petitions for post-conviction relief under NRS 19 34.726 is strictly applied. In Gonzales v. State, 118 Nev. 590, 596, 53 P.3d 901, 904 (2002), 20 the Nevada Supreme Court rejected a habeas petition that was filed two (2) days late despite 21 evidence presented by the defendant that he purchased postage through the prison and mailed 22 the petition within the one-year time limit.

23 Remittitur issued from Petitioner's direct appeal on May 7, 2019. Therefore, Petitioner 24 had until May 7, 2020, to file a timely habeas petition. Petitioner filed his Petition on May 27, 25 2020, in excess of the one-year deadline. Accordingly, this Court denies the Petition as it is 26 time-barred.

27 II. PETITIONER HAS FAILED TO PROVIDE GOOD CAUSE TO OVERCOME
28 THE PROCEDURAL BAR

To avoid procedural default, a defendant has the burden of pleading and proving specific facts that demonstrate good cause for his failure to present his claim in earlier proceedings or to otherwise comply with the statutory requirements, and that he will be unduly

1 prejudiced if the petition is dismissed. NRS 34.726(1)(a); see Hogan v. Warden, 109 Nev. 952,
2 959–60, 860 P.2d 710, 715–16 (1993); Phelps v. Nevada Dep’t of Prisons, 104 Nev. 656, 659, 3 764 P.2d 1303, 1305 (1988). “A court must dismiss a habeas petition if it presents claims that 4 either were or could have been presented in an earlier proceeding, unless the court finds both 5 cause for failing to present the claims earlier or for raising them again and actual prejudice to 6 the petitioner.” Evans, 117 Nev. at 646–47, 29 P.3d at 523 (emphasis added).

7 “To establish good cause, petitioners must show that an impediment external to the 8 defense prevented their compliance with the applicable procedural rule.” Clem v. State, 119
9 Nev. 615, 621, 81 P.3d 521, 525 (2003) (emphasis added); see Hathaway v. State, 119 Nev.
10 248, 251, 71 P.3d 503, 506 (2003); Pellegrini, 117 Nev. at 887, 34 P.3d at 537. “A qualifying 11 impediment might be shown where the factual or legal basis for a claim was not reasonably 12 available at the time of default.” Clem v. State, 119 Nev. 615, 621, 81 P.3d 521, 525 (2003).
13 The Court continued, “petitioners cannot attempt to manufacture good cause[.]” Id. at 621, 81
14 P.3d at 526. Examples of good cause include interference by state officials and the previous 15 unavailability of a legal or factual basis. See State v. Huebler, 128 Nev. 192, 198 275 P.3d 91, 16 95 (2012). Clearly, any delay in the filing of the petition must not be the fault of the petitioner.
17 NRS 34.726(1)(a).

18 Additionally, “bare” and “naked” allegations are not sufficient to warrant post-19 conviction relief, nor are those belied and repelled by the record. Hargrove v. State, 100 Nev.
20 498, 502, 686 P.2d 222, 225 (1984). A petitioner for post-conviction relief cannot rely on 21 conclusory claims for relief but must make specific factual allegations that if true would entitle
22 him to relief. Colwell v. State, 118 Nev. 807, 59 P.3d 463 (2002) (citing Evans v. State, 117
23 Nev. 609, 621, 28 P.3d 498, 507 (2001)).

24 This Court finds Petitioner has failed to establish the existence of an impediment 25 external to the defense that prevented him from bringing these claims in accordance with the 26 mandatory deadline. Further, all facts and law necessary were available for Petitioner to bring 27 these claims in a timely habeas Petition. Given Petitioner’s failure to show good cause for his 28 delay in filing, this Court concludes consideration of this issue here.

1     III.    PETITIONER HAS FAILED TO ESTABLISH PREJUDICE TO OVERCOME
2     THE PROCEDURAL BAR

3           To establish prejudice, the defendant must show “not merely that the errors of [the 4     proceedings] created possibility of prejudice, but that they worked to his actual and substantial 5     disadvantage, in affecting the state proceedings with error of constitutional dimensions.”
6     Hogan v. Warden, 109 Nev. 952, 960, 860 P.2d 710, 716 (1993) (quoting United States v.
7     Fraday, 456 U.S. 152, 170, 102 S. Ct. 1584, 1596 (1982)). To find good cause there must be a 8     “substantial reason; one that affords a legal excuse.” Hathaway v. State, 119 Nev. 248, 252, 9     71 P.3d 503, 506 (2003) (quoting Colley v. State, 105 Nev. 235, 236, 773 P.2d 1229, 1230
10    (1989)). Clearly, any delay in the filing of the petition must not be the fault of the petitioner.
11    NRS 34.726(1)(a).

12           Given that Petitioner’s underlying complaints are meritless, this Court finds Petitioner 13    is unable to establish the requisite prejudice for discounting his procedural default.

14           A. Petitioner Did Not Receive Ineffective Assistance of Counsel

15           The Sixth Amendment to the United States Constitution provides that, “[i]n all criminal 16    prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right . . . to have the Assistance of Counsel for his 17    defense.” The United States Supreme Court has long recognized that “the right to counsel is 18    the right to the effective assistance of counsel.” Strickland v. Washington, 466 U.S. 668, 686, 19    104 S. Ct. 2052, 2063 (1984); see also State v. Love, 109 Nev. 1136, 1138, 865 P.2d 322, 323 20    (1993).

21           To prevail on a claim of ineffective assistance of trial counsel, a defendant must prove 22    he was denied “reasonably effective assistance” of counsel by satisfying the two-prong test of 23    Strickland, 466 U.S. at 686-87, 104 S. Ct. at 2063–64. See also Love, 109 Nev. at 1138, 865
24    P.2d at 323. Under the Strickland test, a defendant must show first that his counsel's 25    representation fell below an objective standard of reasonableness, and second, that but for 26    counsel's errors, there is a reasonable probability that the result of the proceedings would have 27    been different. 466 U.S. at 687–88, 694, 104 S. Ct. at 2065, 2068; Warden, Nevada State
28    Prison v. Lyons, 100 Nev. 430, 432, 683 P.2d 504, 505 (1984) (adopting the Strickland two-

1 part test). “[T]here is no reason for a court deciding an ineffective assistance claim to approach
2 the inquiry in the same order or even to address both components of the inquiry if the defendant
3 makes an insufficient showing on one.” Strickland, 466 U.S. at 697, 104 S. Ct. at 2069.

4 The court begins with the presumption of effectiveness and then must determine 5 whether the defendant has demonstrated by a preponderance of the evidence that counsel was 6 ineffective. Means v. State, 120 Nev. 1001, 1011, 103 P.3d 25, 32 (2004). “Effective counsel 7 does not mean errorless counsel, but rather counsel whose assistance is ‘[w]ithin the range of 8 competence demanded of attorneys in criminal cases.’” Jackson v. Warden, 91 Nev.
9 430, 432, 537 P.2d 473, 474 (1975).

10 Counsel cannot be ineffective for failing to make futile objections or arguments. See 11 Ennis v. State, 122 Nev. 694, 706, 137 P.3d 1095, 1103 (2006). Trial counsel has the 12 “immediate and ultimate responsibility of deciding if and when to object, which witnesses, if 13 any, to call, and what defenses to develop.” Rhyne v. State, 118 Nev. 1, 8, 38 P.3d 163, 167 14 (2002).

15 Based on the above law, the role of a court in considering allegations of ineffective 16 assistance of counsel is “not to pass upon the merits of the action not taken but to determine 17 whether, under the particular facts and circumstances of the case, trial counsel failed to render 18 reasonably effective assistance.” Donovan v. State, 94 Nev. 671, 675, 584 P.2d 708, 711
19 (1978). This analysis does not mean that the court should “second guess reasoned choices 20 between trial tactics nor does it mean that defense counsel, to protect himself against 21 allegations of inadequacy, must make every conceivable motion no matter how remote the 22 possibilities are of success.” Id. To be effective, the Constitution “does not require that counsel
23 do what is impossible or unethical. If there is no bona fide defense to the charge, counsel 24 cannot create one and may disserve the interests of his client by attempting a useless charade.”
25 United States v. Cronin, 466 U.S. 648, 657 n.19, 104 S. Ct. 2039, 2046 n.19 (1984).

26 “There are countless ways to provide effective assistance in any given case. Even the 27 best criminal defense attorneys would not defend a particular client in the same way.”
28 Strickland, 466 U.S. at 689, 104 S. Ct. at 689. “Strategic choices made by counsel after

1 thoroughly investigating the plausible options are almost unchallengeable.” Dawson v. State, 2 108 Nev. 112, 117, 825 P.2d 593, 596 (1992); see also Ford v. State, 105 Nev. 850, 853, 784
3 P.2d 951, 953 (1989). In essence, the court must “judge the reasonableness of counsel’s
4 challenged conduct on the facts of the particular case, viewed as of the time of counsel’s
5 conduct.” Strickland, 466 U.S. at 690, 104 S. Ct. at 2066.

6 When a conviction is the result of a guilty plea, a defendant must show that there is a 7 “reasonable probability that, but for counsel’s errors, he would not have pleaded guilty and 8 would have insisted on going to trial.” Hill v. Lockhart, 474 U.S. 52, 59, 106 S.Ct. 366, 370
9 (1985) (emphasis added); see also Kirksey v. State, 112 Nev. 980, 988, 923 P.2d 1102, 1107 10 (1996); Molina v. State, 120 Nev. 185, 190-91, 87 P.3d 533, 537 (2004).

11 Even if a defendant can demonstrate that his counsel’s representation fell below an 12 objective standard of reasonableness, he must still demonstrate prejudice and show a 13 reasonable probability that, but for counsel’s errors, the result of the trial would have been 14 different. McNelton v. State, 115 Nev. 396, 403, 990 P.2d 1263, 1268 (1999) (citing 15 Strickland, 466 U.S. at 687, 104 S. Ct. at 2064). “A reasonable probability is a probability 16 sufficient to undermine confidence in the outcome.” Id. (citing Strickland, 466 U.S. at 687-89, 17 694, 104 S. Ct. at 2064–65, 2068).

18 The Nevada Supreme Court has held “that a habeas corpus petitioner must prove the 19 disputed factual allegations underlying his ineffective assistance claim by a preponderance of 20 the evidence.” Means v. State, 120 Nev. 1001, 1012, 103 P.3d 25, 33 (2004). Furthermore, 21 claims of ineffective assistance of counsel asserted in a petition for post-conviction relief must 22 be supported with specific factual allegations, which if true, would entitle the petitioner to 23 relief. Hargrove v. State, 100 Nev. 498, 502, 686 P.2d 222, 225 (1984). “Bare” and “naked”
24 allegations are not sufficient, nor are those belied and repelled by the record. Id. NRS
25 34.735(6) states in relevant part, “[Petitioner] must allege specific facts supporting the claims 26 in the petition[.] . . . Failure to allege specific facts rather than just conclusions may cause your 27 petition to be dismissed.” (emphasis added).

1           1. Counsel Was Not Ineffective in Not Moving for Dismissal of the Complaint

2           Petitioner alleged in Ground One of the Petition that counsel was ineffective for failing 3 to move to dismiss the complaint on the basis of insufficient evidence produced at trial. Pet.
4 at 6. Counsel cannot be ineffective for failing to make futile objections or arguments. See 5 Ennis v. State, 122 Nev. 694, 706, 137 P.3d 1095, 1103 (2006). The remedy for a finding of 6 insufficient evidence presented at trial is not a striking of the indictment, but an acquittal.
7 Evans v. State, 112 Nev. 1172, 1193, 926 P.2d 265, 279 (1996) (stating: “where there is 8 insufficient evidence to support a conviction, the trial judge may set aside a jury verdict of 9 guilty and enter a judgment of acquittal.”); NRS 175.381. This Court therefore finds 10 Petitioner’s claim asserts that counsel was ineffective for failure to move for an acquittal under 11 NRS 175.381.

12           “In reviewing a claim of insufficient evidence, the relevant inquiry is ‘whether, after 13 reviewing the evidence in the light most favorable to the prosecution, any rational trier of fact 14 could have found the essential elements of the crime beyond a reasonable doubt.’” Origel-15 Candid v. State, 114 Nev. 378, 381, 956 P.2d 1378, 1380 (1998), (quoting Koza v. State, 100
16 Nev. 245, 250, 681 P.2d 44, 47 (1984)). “Clearly, this standard does not allow the district court 17 to act as a “thirteenth juror” and reevaluate the evidence and the credibility of the witnesses.”
18 Evans v. State, 112 Nev. 1172, 1193, 926 P.2d 265, 279 (1996).

19           A Motion for Acquittal due to insufficiency of the evidence would have been futile in 20 the instant case. As the Nevada Supreme Court noted when affirming Petitioner’s sentence, 21 there was “overwhelming evidence that supported the jury’s verdict, which included
22 eyewitness and independent witness testimony, DNA evidence, physical injuries on the victim, 23 and recovery of items used to bind and gag the victim.” Order of Affirmance, at 3. Therefore, 24 such a motion would have been futile. Under Ennis, counsel has no obligation to raise futile 25 motions.

26           Further, even if counsel’s decision to not raise this motion had been unreasonable, 27 Petitioner was not prejudiced. As the Nevada Supreme Court held when affirming Petitioner’s 28 conviction, there was such overwhelming evidence of Petitioner’s guilt introduced at trial that

1 it was not plain error for the Court to allow alleged prior bad act evidence to be admitted.
2 Given that the standard for prejudice under ineffective assistance of counsel is the same as the 3 standard for plain error review, Petitioner thus cannot demonstrate that he was prejudiced by 4 his counsel's actions. See Gordon v. United States, 518 F.3d 1291, 1300 (11th Cir. 2008). As 5 such, this Court cannot find Petitioner's counsel to have been ineffective and this claim is 6 denied.

7 Likewise, Petitioner's related claim under Ground Two of the Petition that his 8 conviction is invalid because of insufficient evidence is similarly without merit. Petitioner's 9 chief complaint seems to be that the evidence admitted regarding his intent was insufficient to 10 warrant a conviction for first degree kidnapping. However, first degree kidnapping is defined 11 as "a person who willfully seizes, confines, inveigles, entices, decoys, abducts, conceals, 12 kidnaps, or carries away a person ... for the purpose of committing sexual assault... or for the 13 purpose of killing the person or inflicting substantial bodily harm." NRS 200.310. Further, the 14 State admitted evidence that Petitioner hogtied the victim, beat her, and placed a shotgun in 15 her mouth. Jury Trial Day 3: June 21, 2017, at 33-36, filed February 13, 2018. Petitioner
16 further angled a broomstick towards the victim's anal opening, as if to stick the broom handle
17 in the victim's anal opening. Id. As such, and consistent with the Supreme Court of Nevada's
18 holding, there is no doubt that sufficient evidence was introduced against Petitioner to support 19 his conviction of first-degree kidnapping.

20 As such, this claim is without merit. Given the claim is meritless, denial thereof could 21 not prejudice Petitioner. Since Petitioner would not be prejudiced by this claim's denial, nor 22 has he shown good cause sufficient to overcome the procedural bars (see Section I(B)), this 23 claim is denied under NRS 34.810.

24 2. Counsel was not ineffective for failing to investigate

25 Petitioner's Supplement alleged counsel was ineffective for failing to "contact a 26 necessary accident reconstruction expert to challenge the State's expert witness." Supp. at 6.
27 However, his claim fails for multiple reasons.

1 First, this claim is a bare and naked assertion. Hargrove, 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 2 225. While Petitioner cites legal authority, Petitioner asserts only that counsel should have 3 investigated and contacted an expert, while offering no justification for the assertion.
4 Petitioner vaguely argues “to challenge the State’s expert witness,” but does not state how an 5 expert for the defense would have challenged the State’s witness, what portion of the testimony
6 was challengeable, or how he would have benefitted from his own expert witness. Petitioner 7 fails to specifically demonstrate what a better investigation would have discovered or how it
8 would have benefitted him. Molina, 120 Nev. at 190-91, 87 P.3d at 537. This claim is a bare 9 and naked assertion that demands summary denial.

10 Second, which witness to call is a virtually unchallengeable strategic decision.
11 “Strategic choices made by counsel after thoroughly investigating the plausible options are 12 almost unchallengeable.” Dawson v. State, 108 Nev. 112, 117, 825 P.2d 593, 596 (1992); see 13 also Ford v. State, 105 Nev. 850, 853, 784 P.2d 951, 953 (1989). In essence, the court must 14 “judge the reasonableness of counsel’s challenged conduct on the facts of the particular case, 15 viewed as of the time of counsel’s conduct.” Strickland, 466 U.S. at 690, 104 S. Ct. at 2066.
16 Trial counsel has the “immediate and ultimate responsibility of deciding if and when to object, 17 which witnesses, if any, to call, and what defenses to develop.” Rhyne v. State, 118 Nev. 1, 8, 18 38 P.3d 163, 167 (2002). Petitioner has failed to demonstrate why this does not constitute a 19 strategic decision, but instead merely provides a one-sentence claim that “[t]his was not a 20 strategic decision.” See Petition at 6-7. Therefore, Petitioner has failed to establish grounds 21 for this Court to deviate from the presumption that this decision is nearly unchallengeable.
22 Accordingly, this claim is denied.

23 3. Counsel Was Not Ineffective for Failing to File Motions

24 i. Motion to suppress

25 Petitioner claimed in his Supplement counsel was ineffective for failing to file a motion
26 to suppress his statements to police. Supp. At 7. However, this claim is belied by the record 27 because his statements to police were voluntary. Thus, any motions specifically arguing “fruit 28 of the poisonous tree” violations of Miranda v. Arizona, 384 U.S. 436, 86 S. Ct. 1602 (1966),

1 would have been futile. Therefore, counsel could not have been ineffective for this failure.

2 The Fifth Amendment of the United States Constitution affords an individual the right 3 to be informed, prior to custodial interrogation, that:

4 [H]e has the right to remain silent, that anything he says can be used 5 against him in a court of law, that he has the right to the presence of 6 an attorney, and that if he cannot afford an attorney, one will be appointed to him prior to any questioning if he so desires.

7 Miranda v. Arizona, 384 U.S. 436, 479, 86 S. Ct. 1602, 1630 (1966). Miranda's procedural 8 safeguards are only prophylactic in nature, designed to advise suspects of their rights, and "not 9 themselves rights protected by the Constitution." Michigan v. Tucker, 417 U.S. 433, 444, 94
10 S. Ct. 2357, 2364 (1974).

11 The United States Supreme Court has held that Miranda does not require some 12 "talismanic incantation." California v. Prysock, 453 U.S. 355, 360, 101 S. Ct. 2806, 2809
13 (1981) (per curiam). Rather, the warning need only "reasonably convey to a suspect his rights
14 as required by Miranda." Florida v. Powell, 559 U.S. 50, 60, 130 S. Ct. 1195, 1204 (2010)
15 (internal quotations omitted). Thus, the Supreme Court has instructed reviewing courts that 16 they need not examine the warning rigidly "as if construing a will or defining the terms of an 17 easement." Duckworth v. Eagan, 492 U.S. 195, 203, 109 S. Ct. 2875, 2880 (1989).

18 To be admissible, a confession must be made voluntarily. Passama v. State, 103 Nev.
19 212, 213, 735 P.2d 321, 322 (1987). To be voluntary, the confession must be made as the 20 result of a "rational intellect and a free will." Id. The question in each case is whether the 21 defendant's will was overborne when he confessed. Id. at 214, 735 P.2d at 323. Once the issue 22 of voluntariness is raised, the burden of proving voluntariness is on the State, by a 23 preponderance of the evidence. Quiriconi v. State, 96 Nev. 766, 772, 616 P.2d 1111, 1114 24 (1980).

25 To determine whether a confession is voluntary, the court considers the totality of the 26 circumstances. Passama, 103 Nev. at 213, 735 P.2d at 322. Factors include: "the youth of the 27 accused; his lack of education or his low intelligence; the lack of any advice of constitutional 28 rights; the length of detention; the repeated and prolonged nature of questioning; and the use

1 of physical punishment such as the deprivation of food or sleep.” Id. A lower than average
2 intelligence does not, however, render a confession involuntary. Young v. State, 103 Nev. 233, 3 235, 737 P.2d 512, 514 (1987) (citing Ogden v. State, 96 Nev. 258, 607 P.2d 576 (1980)). Nor 4 do personality disorders, or a desire to please authority figures. Steese, 114 Nev. at 488, 960
5 P.2d at 327.

6 First, Petitioner’s claims are bare and naked. Hargrove, 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 7 225. Petitioner makes only general claims that his “statements were involuntary because they 8 were the result of hostile and coercive interrogation.” Pet. at 7-9. He did not state what the 9 officers did to intimidate him, or how their interrogation was hostile and coercive, let alone so 10 hostile and coercive that it violated his constitutional rights. The only factually specific 11 assertion to support his claim is that he was secretly recorded. Pet. at 8-9. However, Petitioner 12 failed to explain how covertly recording him created an intense and hostile interrogation 13 environment or how his ignorance of being recorded amounts to a waiver of his rights through 14 threats or trickery. Therefore, Petitioner’s claim is denied as bare and naked under Hargrove.

15 Second, Petitioner Supplement cited NRS 200.640, claiming the statute “limits the use 16 of unauthorized wire or radio communication.” Supp. at 8-9. He claimed that the detective 17 violated this statute by taping the interview. Yet, in this claim, Petitioner appears to have 18 sought to mislead this Court. The plain language of NRS 200.640 prohibits individuals from 19 tapping into the wire or radio communication facilities of a communications business without 20 the consent of the business. See State v. Allen, 119 Nev. 166, 170-171, 69 P.3d 232, 235
21 (2003). Petitioner offered no statute or case law for interpreting NRS 200.640 to limit the use
22 of recording devices by police during interviews. Therefore, the true limitation of this statute 23 has no bearing on the instant case.

24 Third, whether Petitioner was informed the interview was being recorded does not 25 entitle him to suppression of his statement on either Miranda or voluntariness grounds. Courts
26 have held that defendants do not have a reasonable expectation of privacy, under the Fourth 27 Amendment, in the back of police cars or at police stations. See, United States v. McKinnon, 28 985 F.2d 525 (11th Cir. 1993); People v. Califano, 5. Cal. App. 3rd 476, 85 Cal. Rptr. 292

1 (1970). Petitioner certainly had no reasonable expectation of privacy within the police car or 2 while speaking with detectives in an interview room.

3 Fourth, Petitioner claimed he involuntarily waived his Miranda rights and was likely 4 “threatened, tricked, or cajoled” into waiving his rights. Supp. at 7-9. The totality of the 5 evidence supports the claim that his statements were made voluntarily and intelligently.
6 During trial, Petitioner’s statement was played for the jury and the transcription of Petitioner’s
7 voluntary statement, State’s Exhibit #71, was projected for the jury so they could read along 8 as the audio was played. Trial Transcript (“TT”) Day 4 at 10-11. State’s Exhibit #71 was 9 Weirauch and Petitioner speaking on March 10, 2015, at 2300 hours:

10 Q: Okay. Okay, Calvin. I’m going to read you something. Okay?

11 A: Yes sir.

12 Q: Calvin, you have the right to remain silent. Anything you say can 13 be used against you in a court of law. You have the right to the 14 presence of an attorney. If you cannot afford an attorney, one will be 15 appointed to you before questioning. Do you understand these rights?

16 A: Yes sir.

17 Petitioner’s Voluntary Statement from 3/10/2015 at 2<sup>1</sup>. Petitioner did not cite any portion of 18 his statement as evidence that his statements were involuntary. Accordingly, the totality of the 19 evidence, including his voluntary statement, supports the fact that his statement was voluntary.
20 As such, this Court finds counsel was not ineffective for failing to file what would have been 21 a futile motion to suppress.

22 Lastly, counsel was not ineffective because the confession could not legitimately be 23 suppressed. Counsel moved for suppression of Petitioner’s statements under a stronger theory.
24 The following exchange happened with Detective Weirauch on the witness stand during a 25 hearing outside the presence of the jury:

26 <sup>1</sup> Petitioner failed to cite to this transcript in his brief. Therefore, this Court presumes that the Miranda warning did 27 adequately inform Petitioner of his rights to an attorney, and Petitioner waived his rights knowingly and voluntarily. See 28 Sasser v. State, 324 P.3d 1221, 1225 (2014) (citing Riggins v. State, 107 Nev. 178, 182, 808 P.2d 535, 538 (1991) (concluding that if materials are not included in the record, the missing materials “are presumed to support the district court’s decision.”)

1 THE COURT: Was the card the standard-issue card that was 2 carried by Metro officers at that time?
3 THE WITNESS: Yes, it was.
4 THE COURT: Okay. And now they've given you another
5 different card. Is that what's happened?
6 THE WITNESS: Yes.
7 THE COURT: Okay.
8 CROSS-EXAMINATION
9 BY MR. ERICSSON:
10 Q: And Detective—and you are a detective, correct?
11 A: Yes, I am.
12 Q: What is the difference with the card that you now carry 13 compared to the one you had back in March of 2015?
14 A: I believe they added one more line for us to read off of.
15 Q: And can you pull out the card that you currently carry.
16 A: Yeah.
17 Q: Do you have that there?
18 A: Yes.
19 Q: For the record, can you just read the card that you currently 20 carry.
21 A: You have the right to remain silent. Anything you say can be 22 used against you in a court of law. You have the right to consult 23 with an attorney before questioning. You have the right to the 24 presence of an attorney during questioning. If you cannot 25 afford an attorney, one will be appointed to you before 26 questioning. Do you understand these rights.
27 Q: Thank you. And what is the additional line to your belief that 28 has been added to the card now compared to the one you carried in March of 2015?
MS. LUZAICH: Objection. Relevance.
THE COURT: Overruled.
THE WITNESS: It's—I'm assuming it's all worded the same. It's one of these two lines right here, the third or fourth line.
MR. ERICSSON: And, Your Honor, may I approach and—

1 THE COURT: Sure.

2 THE WITNESS: I think it's—I think it's this one they added right

3 here. You have the right to consult with an

4 attorney before questioning as opposed to before

5 it might have just been you have the right to the

6 presence of an attorney during questioning. I

7 don't think they added that one.

8 BY MR. ERICSSON:

9 Q: Okay. So to your knowledge, the new line on this card is the 10 line that reads—

11 A: Go ahead. It's this third one right here I believe is the one that 12 they added is you have the right to consult with an attorney

13 before questioning.

14 THE COURT: I think that's right.

15 THE WITNESS: I think.

16 BY MR. ERICSSON:

17 Q: Okay. So to your knowledge, you did not provide Mr. Elam

18 with that sentence when you gave him a Miranda warning back

19 in—

20 A: No, I wouldn't have. I would've read it just verbatim off the 21 card of the day.

22 MR. ERICSSON: Thank you. Your Honor, I've been doing a fair

23 amount of litigation in federal court on that issue.

24 I would move to prevent to [sic] the statement

25 being introduced in this trial. I think that that is a

26 necessary warning for it to be an effective

27 Miranda warning, and since that was not given—

28 THE COURT: Ms. Luzaich.

MS. LUZAICH: The United States Supreme Court disagrees with that. It was one bad ruling in federal court that I believe may have either since been overruled or something like that, but the United States

Supreme Court doesn't agree, and neither does the Nevada Supreme Court.

THE COURT: Anything else, Mr. Ericsson?

MR. ERICSSON: No. And this is—obviously I'm first time learning that he's got a different card. So, you know, whatever your ruling is now I—I may—

THE COURT: Well, yeah—

1 MR. ERICSSON: --may supplement tomorrow.

2 THE COURT: --it's denied. I mean, I think the reason they have 3 the new card is to address that issue to the extent 4 some judges may be granting those motions or 5 what have you. That doesn't mean that it was 6 wrong before. I think they just changed the cards 7 because various opinions. So the request is 8 denied.

9 TT Day 3 at 177-181.

10 Counsel advanced a stronger argument than what would have been a bare and naked 11 motion to suppress with no evidence that his statement was involuntary to support it. Given 12 that counsel cannot be ineffective for failing to file futile motions, this Court denies this claim.

13 ii. Motion to dismiss weapon enhancement

14 Petitioner's Supplement claimed counsel was ineffective for failing to file a "motion to 15 strike the deadly weapon enhancement" because a broomstick should not be considered a 16 deadly weapon. Supp. at 9-11. However, Petitioner's claim is belied by the record.

17 Petitioner cited the "inherently dangerous" test from Zgombic v. State, 106 Nev. 571, 18 798 P.2d 548 (1990) as the test for whether something could be considered a deadly weapon.
19 Pet. at 10-11. However, Petitioner failed to cite controlling law. Petitioner appears unaware of 20 the legislative amendment of the test for a deadly weapon from inherently dangerous to the 21 functionality test. NRS 193.165(6)(b). Thomas v. State, 114 Nev. 1127, 1146, Footnote 4, 967
22 P.2d 1123, Footnote 4 (1998). NRS 193.165(6)(b) defines a deadly weapon as "[a]ny weapon, 23 device, instrument, material or substance which under the circumstances in which it is used, 24 attempted to be used or threatened to be used, is readily capable of causing substantial bodily 25 harm or death."

26 A broomstick indeed satisfies the definition of a deadly weapon in this case due to the 27 Petitioner's manner of usage. NRS 193.165(6)(b). Petitioner tied up the victim with fabric and 28 tape, put tape over her mouth, beat her with a belt, then pulled her pants down and angled the broomstick as if to penetrate her anus with it. TT Day 3 at 35-36. While there was no evidence at trial that Petitioner ultimately penetrated the victim with the broomstick, if he had, he almost certainly would have caused substantial bodily injury. See NRS 193.165(6)(b). The statute

1 thus requires the Petitioner, not to have in fact penetrated the victim, but rather only to have 2 threatened to do so, which he did. Specifically, the victim testified:

3 THE STATE ...How did he use [the broomstick]?

4 THE VICTIM He – the – he used it – the top of it, he used it to 5 touch me with.

6 THE STATE Where did he touch you with it?

7 THE VICTIM On my butt area.

8 TT Day 3 at 42-43. Therefore, the evidence presented at trial satisfied the statutory 9 requirement for a deadly weapon. Consequently, any motion to dismiss the weapon 10 enhancement would have been futile, and counsel may not be found ineffective for failing to 11 file one. Accordingly, Petitioner's claim is denied.

12 iii. Motion for sequestered voir dire

13 Petitioner's Supplement alleged his trial counsel was ineffective for failing to file a 14 Motion for Sequestered Voir Dire because "numerous jurors had been victim of sexual assault 15 or had close friends or family members who had been the victims of sexual crimes or crimes
16 of violence." Supp. at 13-15.

17 The district court has discretion in deciding a request for individual voir dire. See 18 Haynes v. State, 103 Nev. 309, 316, 739 P.2d 497, 501 (1987); see also Mu'Min v. Virginia, 19 500 U.S. 415, 427, 114 L. Ed. 2d 493, 111 S. Ct. 1899 (1991). Absent an abuse of discretion 20 or a showing of prejudice to the defendant, this court will not disturb the district court's 21 decision. Haynes, 103 Nev. at 316, 739 P.2d at 501. Counsel cannot be ineffective for failing 22 to make futile objections or arguments. Ennis, 122 Nev. at 706, 137 P.3d at 1103.

23 Petitioner's claim that trial counsel was ineffective for failing to request a sequestered
24 jury during voir dire is meritless. The voir dire process is at the discretion of the trial court.
25 Sequestering a jury during voir dire places a heavy burden on judicial economy and is utilized
26 only where absolutely necessary. Any request to sequester a jury without a compelling reason 27 would have been denied. Petitioner has not offered any compelling reasons that would have 28 caused this Court to order a sequestered voir dire. Petitioner has simply surmised that some of

1 the prospective jurors tainted the entire pool by sharing that they had previous encounters with 2 violence in the presence of other potential jurors. Pet at 13-15. Petitioner did not state how this 3 prejudiced other prospective jurors or why any prospective juror's articulation of a past history 4 of violence would prejudice a potential juror in this case.

5 Leonard v. State, 117 Nev. 53, 64, 17 P.3d 397, 404 (2001), noted the lack of prejudice 6 due to collective voir dire when all jurors with potential bias or knowledge were not 7 empaneled. Petitioner failed to even make a showing of the kind presented in Leonard, where 8 there was extensive pretrial publicity and thus potential bias. Id. To the contrary, there is no 9 merit to his claim. Petitioner has not shown that any of the jurors who heard his case were 10 biased against him, let alone that the statements by other prospective jurors had any effect on 11 the empaneled jurors in this case.

12 This claim is insufficient to support the position that this Court would have granted a 13 request to sequester the voir dire process. Petitioner's counsel cannot be ineffective for failing 14 to file a futile motion so his claim must be denied. Ennis, 122 Nev. at 706, 137 P.3d at 1103.

15 iv. Counsel did not fail to subject the case to a meaningful adversary process

16 Petitioner next argues that counsel was ineffective for failing to (1) do any pretrial
17 investigation; (2) failing to file the following motions: Motion to Strike Aggravators, Motion
18 to Exclude Argument Constituting Prosecutorial Misconduct; Motion to Suppress Evidence; 19 Motion in Limine to Preclude Admission of Prejudicial Evidence; Motion to Dismiss For 20 Insufficient Information Charging Petitioner; (3) failure to object to damaging and prejudicial 21 statements during closing arguments; and (4) failure to call any witnesses on Petitioner's 22 behalf.

23 Each of these allegations is a bare and naked claim suitable only for summary dismissal 24 pursuant to Hargrove. In regard to the failure to investigate claim, Petitioner does not even 25 allege, much less show, what a better investigation would have turned up. Pursuant to Molina 26 v. State, such a claim cannot support post-conviction relief. 120 Nev. 185, 192, 87 P.3d 533, 27 538 (2004) (stating that a defendant who contends his attorney was ineffective because he did 28 not adequately investigate must show how a better investigation would have rendered a more

1 favorable outcome probable).

2       Regarding the various motions Petitioner alleges his counsel should have filed, 3 Petitioner has neither alleged nor shown that any of these motions would have been successful.
4 For some of these motions, Petitioner has only offered bare and naked assertions that counsel
5 not filing them constitutes ineffective assistance of counsel. For example, Petitioner claims 6 that his counsel should have filed a motion to suppress evidence. But he does not even 7 articulate what evidence he claims should have been suppressed. On other motions, there was 8 clearly no legal grounds to bring the motion (such as the motion to exclude argument
9 constituting prosecutorial misconduct). Given that Petitioner has not alleged any grounds
10 claiming why these Motions would have been successful, counsel's decision not to file them 11 cannot constitute ineffective assistance of counsel.

12       Regarding counsel's alleged failure to object to prejudicial statements, Petitioner has 13 not identified what statements he now complains of. To the extent he is referring to the 14 statements he alleged constituted prosecutorial conduct under Ground Three of the pro per 15 pleading, as noted elsewhere in this order counsel cannot be found ineffective for not objecting
16 to these statements. As such, this claim is either meritless or a bare and naked allegation 17 suitable only for summary dismissal. Hargrove, 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 225.

18       Similarly, Petitioner's claim that counsel was ineffective for failing to call any 19 witnesses on his behalf is a bare and naked allegation suitable only for summary dismissal.
20 Petitioner does not articulate what witnesses were available to be called, why they should have 21 been called, or how they would have assisted his case.

22       Further, even if Petitioner had alleged enough facts for this Court to consider whether 23 it was unreasonable for counsel to engage in these courses of conduct, Petitioner would be 24 unable to establish that any of these decisions would have prejudiced him at trial. As the 25 Nevada Supreme Court held when affirming Petitioner's conviction, there was such 26 overwhelming evidence of Petitioner's guilt introduced at trial that it was not plain error for 27 the Court to allow alleged prior bad act evidence to be admitted. Given that the standard for 28 prejudice under ineffective assistance of counsel is the same as the standard for plain error

1 review, Petitioner cannot then demonstrate that he was prejudiced by his counsel's
2 actions. Gordon v. United States, 518 F.3d 1291, 1300 (11th Cir. 2008). Therefore, counsel
3 cannot be found ineffective for any of the reasons articulated in this section, and these claims 4 should be denied.

5 4. Counsel Was Not Ineffective for Failure to Utilize a Jury Selection Expert

6 Petitioner's Supplement claimed his trial counsel was ineffective for failing to retain a 7 "Jury Selection Expert" to assist in preparing voir dire questions and providing a profile of 8 favorable jurors. Supp. at 12-13. However, Petitioner never stated with any specificity how a 9 jury selection expert would have been helpful beyond a vague and unsupported insistence that 10 counsel should have consulted an expert. Petitioner failed to show how such an expert would 11 have led to a different result regarding specific venire persons in his case. Petitioner's claim 12 is devoid of all specific factual reference to venire persons. Therefore, Petitioner's claim is not 13 cognizable and is suitable only for summary denial pursuant to Hargrove.

14 5. Counsel Was Not Ineffective for Not Objecting to Prosecutor's Comments

15 Petitioner's Petition claimed his counsel was ineffective for failing to object to alleged 16 prosecutorial misconduct. Pet. at 8-8D. However, Petitioner failed to assert a single 17 meritorious claim of prosecutorial misconduct, and his counsel cannot be ineffective for failing 18 to raise a claim in futility.

19 Counsel cannot be ineffective for failing to make futile objections or arguments. See 20 Ennis v. State, 122 Nev. 694, 706, 137 P.3d 1095, 1103 (2006). Trial counsel has the 21 "immediate and ultimate responsibility of deciding if and when to object, which witnesses, if 22 any, to call, and what defenses to develop." Rhyne v. State, 118 Nev. 1, 8, 38 P.3d 163, 167 23 (2002).

24 In resolving claims of prosecutorial misconduct, the Court undertakes a two-step 25 analysis: determining whether the comments were improper; and deciding whether the 26 comments were sufficient to deny the defendant a fair trial. Valdez v. State, 124 Nev. 1172, 27 1188. As to the first factor, argument is not misconduct unless "the remarks ... were 'patently 28 prejudicial.'" Riker v. State, 111 Nev. 1316, 1328, 905 P.2d 706, 713 (1995) (quoting Libby

1 v. State, 109 Nev. 905, 911, 859 P.2d 1050, 1054 (1993)). While a prosecutor may not make 2 disparaging comments about defense counsel pursuant to Butler, 120 Nev. 898, 102 P.3d 84, 3 “statements by a prosecutor, in argument, ... made as a deduction or conclusion from the 4 evidence introduced in the trial are permissible and unobjectionable.” Parker v. State, 109 Nev.
5 383, 392, 849 P.2d 1062, 1068 (1993) (quoting Collins v. State, 87 Nev. 436, 439, 488 P.2d 6 544, 545 (1971)). The prosecution may also respond to defense’s arguments and 7 characterization of the evidence. See Williams v. State, 113 Nev. 1008, 1018-19, 945 P.2d
8 438, 444-45 (1997), receded from on other grounds, Byford v. State, 116 Nev. 215, 994 P.2d 9 700 (2000). A prosecutor may also offer commentary on the evidence that is supported by the 10 record. Rose v. State, 123 Nev. 194, 163 P.3d 408 (2007), rehearing denied (Dec. 6, 2007), 11 reconsideration en banc denied (Mar. 6, 2008), cert. den., 555 U.S. 847, 129 S.Ct. 95 (2008).
12 The Court views the statements in context, and will not lightly overturn a jury’s verdict based 13 upon a prosecutor’s statements. Byars v. State, 130 Nev. 848, 865 (2014). Normally, the 14 defendant must show that an error was prejudicial in order to establish that it affected 15 substantial rights. Gallego v. State, 117 Nev. 348, 365 (2001).

16 With respect to the second step, this Court will not reverse if the misconduct was 17 harmless error. Valdez, 124 Nev. at 1188. The proper standard of harmless error review
18 depends on whether the prosecutorial misconduct is of a constitutional dimension. Id. at 1188-
19 89. Misconduct may be constitutional if a prosecutor comments on the exercise of a 20 constitutional right, or the misconduct “so infected the trial with unfairness as to make the 21 resulting conviction a denial of due process.” Id. 124 Nev. at 1189 (quoting Darden v.
22 Wainright, 477 U.S. 168, 181 (1986)). When the misconduct is of constitutional dimension, 23 this Court will reverse unless the State demonstrates that the error did not contribute to the 24 verdict. Id. 124 Nev. at 1189. When the misconduct is not of constitutional dimension, this 25 Court “will reverse only if the error substantially affects the jury’s verdict.” Id.

26 The State is permitted to offer commentary on the evidence that is supported by the 27 record. Rose, 123 Nev. at 209, 163 P.3d at 418. In Rose, the prosecutor called the appellant a 28 predator for using his daughter as a lure to reach other victims, but the Nevada Supreme Court

1 accepted it as appropriate commentary supported by the evidence and as insufficiently
2 prejudicial to warrant relief. Rose, 123 Nev. at 209–10, 163 P.3d at 418–19.

3 Further, the State may respond to defense theories and arguments. Williams v. State, 4 113 Nev. 1008, 1018-19 (1997). This includes commenting on a defendant's failure to 5 substantiate his theory. Colley v. State, 98 Nev. 14, 16 (1982); See also Bridges v. State, 116
6 Nev. 752, 762 (2000), citing State v. Green, 81 Nev. 173, 176 (1965) ("The prosecutor had a
7 right to comment upon the testimony and to ask the jury to draw inferences from the evidence, 8 and has the right to state fully his views as to what the evidence shows."). Further, if the 9 defendant presents a theory of defense, but fails to present evidence thereon, the State may 10 comment upon the failure to support the supposed theory. Evans v. State, 117 Nev. 609, 630-
11 631 (2001); see McNelson v. State, 115 Nev. 396, 408–09 (1999).

12 Petitioner's pro per pleading objected to four different statements as alleged 13 prosecutorial misconduct to which his counsel should have objected. Petitioner first took issue 14 with the State claiming during closing argument that: "The purpose was to either inflict 15 substantial bodily harm or kill her -- so first -- first degree kidnapping was met." Pet. at 8; Jury 16 Trial Day 6: June 26, 2017, at 118, filed February 13, 2018. In context, the State's statement 17 was as follows:

18 All of this demonstrates the fact that she was hogtied, kidnapped. So 19 for what purpose? Was it to inflict substantial bodily harm? To kill 20 her? To sexually assault? You heard the defendant was angry she said.
21 When he brought her into the apartment, everything was fine, and then 22 all of a sudden his body language changed. His demeanor changed.
23 He got loud. He got mean, and ultimately she was beat. She was beat with a belt. She was beat with a broom. She was beat with a -- or she was stunned. She had the shotgun in her mouth. What do you think the purpose was? The purpose was to either inflict substantial bodily harm or kill her, and then you heard about the broomstick. So first -- first-degree kidnapping was met.

24 Jury Trial Day 6: June 26, 2017, at 118, filed February 13, 2018. The state's argument was 25 clearly a commentary on the evidence adduced at trial. The State was arguing that Petitioner's 26 intent could be deduced from the actions he undertook while he had the victim hogtied. Such 27 a commentary is proper during closing arguments, and is not prosecutorial misconduct.

1           Petitioner next takes issue with the State allegedly offering an incorrect definition of 2 Battery with Intent to Commit Sexual Assault. Petitioner references page 125 and 128 of Jury
3 Trial Day 6: June 26, 2017 and claims that the State defined Battery With Intent to Commit
4 Sexual Assault as

5                     The fact that she is physically restrained substantially increased her 6                     risk of potentially death or substantial bodily harm because she can't 7                     get out.

8                     ... So the putting her down, whacking her with the broomstick and the 9                     putting the broomstick up at her butt, Battery With the Intent to 10                    Commit a Sexual Assault.

11           Pet. at 8-A; Jury Trial Day 6: June 26, 2017 at 124-25, 128 respectively.

12           As to the first statement, the State was not discussing the crime of Battery With Intent 13 to Commit Sexual Assault. The State was arguing that Petitioner could be found guilty of both 14 Kidnapping in the first-degree and Sexual Assault if the victim is physically restrained, and 15 such restraint substantially increases the risk of harm. Jury Trial Day 6: June 26, 2017 at 124-
16 25. Essentially, the State was arguing that given the facts of the case, the jury could find that 17 Petitioner had committed kidnapping in the first degree by substantially increasing the risk of 18 substantially bodily harm, and also find that Petitioner had committed Sexual Assault by 19 penetrating Petitioner with a broomstick. Id. Further, nowhere in the excerpt does the State 20 define any of these offenses. In fact, the State made regular mention to the jury instructions
21 that properly defined these offenses. Id. As such, Petitioner's notion that the State incorrectly 22 defined Battery with Intent to Commit Sexual Assault is belied by the record.

23           Regarding the second statement, the State was not defining Battery With Intent to 24 Commit Sexual Assault. In fact, the State specifically referenced the jury to Jury Instruction 25 17 for a statement of the law regarding this crime. Id. at 128. The State was arguing that these 26 were the actions that constituted Battery with Intent to Commit Sexual Assault. Given that 27 proof of these actions had been admitted at trial, the State was entitled to argue that the 28 evidence satisfied the elements of the crime charged.

1           Petitioner further takes issue with the State claiming “the fact that she is physically
2 restrained substantially increases her risk of potentially death or substantial bodily harm.” Pet.
3 at 8-B; Jury Trial Day 6: June 26, 2017 at 124-25. Such a statement was clearly a commentary
4 on the evidence. Pursuant to Rose v. State, 123 Nev. 194, 209, 163 P.3d 408, 418 (2007), such 5 a statement does not establish prosecutorial misconduct.

6           Given that trial counsel has the ultimate responsibility of deciding what objections to 7 make, and that none of the statements Petitioner here complains of constituted prosecutorial
8 misconduct, it was not unreasonable for Petitioner’s counsel to not object to these statements.

9           Further, even if counsel’s decision had been unreasonable, Petitioner was not 10 prejudiced. As the Nevada Supreme Court held when affirming Petitioner’s conviction, there 11 was such overwhelming evidence of Petitioner’s guilt introduced at trial that it was not plain 12 error for the Court to allow alleged prior bad act evidence to be admitted. Given that the 13 standard for prejudice under ineffective assistance of counsel is the same as the standard for 14 plain error review, Petitioner cannot then demonstrate that he was prejudiced by his counsel’s 15 actions. See Gordon v. United States, 518 F.3d 1291, 1300 (11th Cir. 2008). As such, 16 Petitioner’s counsel cannot be found ineffective and this claim should be denied.

17           Petitioner’s Supplement further claimed his counsel was ineffective for failing to object 18 to alleged additional instances of prosecutorial misconduct during closing argument. Supp. at 19 15-17. Here too, Petitioner failed to put forth any meritorious claim of prosecutorial 20 misconduct, and his counsel cannot be ineffective for failing to raise a claim in futility.

21           Petitioner alleged three instances of improper argument during closing argument that 22 trial counsel was ineffective for failing to object to. In the first and second claims in the 23 Supplement, Petitioner submits the prosecutor stated her personal opinion regarding whether 24 the victim was hogtied, and what Petitioner’s intent was. Supp. at 15-16. A review of the 25 record shows the prosecutor did not state her personal opinion or belief in either instance. As 26 to both claims, the prosecutor argued the evidence. The prosecutor argued that based on the 27 evidence, Petitioner hogtied the victim and when Petitioner beat her with a belt and a 28 broomstick, Petitioner intended to inflict substantial bodily harm. TT Day 6 at 117-118. All of

1 these facts were in evidence. Statements by a prosecutor, in argument, made as a deduction or 2 conclusion from the evidence introduced in the trial are permissible and unobjectionable.
3 Parker v. State, 109 Nev. 383, 392, 849 P.2d 1062, 1068 (1993). It was then up to the jury to 4 weigh the evidence and decide whether it was Petitioner in the videos or not. Jackson v.
5 Virginia, 443 U.S. 307, 319, 99 S. Ct. 2781, 2789 (1979). It is by no means improper for the 6 State to argue that a defendant committed a crime based on the evidence. Thus, the State's 7 arguments made in closing were made as a conclusion from the evidence presented at trial and 8 were unobjectionable pursuant to Parker.

9 The Supplement's third claim asserted the prosecutor "misstated or oversimplified the 10 law regarding accomplice liability or the legal liability as co-conspirator," when the prosecutor 11 argued that Petitioner was liable for using a deadly weapon, even though someone else was 12 actually the person who used the stun gun. Supp. at 16. However, this claim should be denied 13 because it is without merit.

14 First, the claim is belied by the record. The portion of the prosecutor's closing argument 15 Petitioner complains about is:

16 So an unarmed offender uses a deadly weapon when the unarmed
17 offender is liable for the offense, so specifically, you know, the stun 18 gun. The Defendant is liable for the offense...So if you believe that it was the other person who used the stun gun, the Defendant is still liable for the use of that deadly weapon.

19 TT Day 6 at 123.

20 This is exactly what jury instruction number fourteen (14) says.

21 If more than one person commits a crime, and one of them uses a 22 deadly weapon in the commission of that crime, each may be 23 convicted of using the deadly weapon even though he did not personally himself use the weapon.

24 An unarmed offender "uses" a deadly weapon when the unarmed 25 offender is liable for the offense, another person liable for the offense is armed with and uses a deadly weapon in the commission of the 26 deadly weapon.

1 Jury Instruction No. 14. The prosecutor's statement was a correct statement of law. Therefore, 2 the claim is belied by the record and only suitable for summary denial under Hargrove. 100
3 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 225.

4 Regardless, in all three claims, the record shows that each alleged mistake was 5 insufficiently prejudicial to warrant reversal in light of the overwhelming evidence of guilt, as 6 found by the appellate court on direct appeal. There, the Court said, "[w]e conclude that there 7 was no plain error given the overwhelming evidence that supported the jury's verdict, which 8 included eyewitness and independent witness testimony, DNA evidence, physical injuries on 9 the victim, and recovery of the items used to bind and gag the victim." Order of Affirmance 10 at 3. Therefore, Petitioner fails to show prejudice.

11 Lastly, when to object is a virtually unchallengeable strategic judgment. Ennis, 122 12 Nev. at 706, 137 P.3d at 1103. Trial counsel has the "immediate and ultimate responsibility of 13 deciding if and when to object, which witnesses, if any, to call, and what defenses to develop."
14 Rhyne v. State, 118 Nev. 1, 8, 38 P.3d 163, 167 (2002). Even if there was a legitimate 15 objection, which as addressed above there was not, counsel may have made the strategic 16 decision not to object so as not to draw attention to the prosecutor's arguments and thereby 17 exacerbate any potential prejudice. Counsel cannot be ineffective for making a strategic 18 decision not to object and counsel cannot be ineffective for failing to offer futile objections.
19 Ennis, 122 Nev. at 706, 137 P.3d at 1103. Therefore, Petitioner's claims fail and should be 20 denied accordingly.

21 6. Failure to Request a Jury Instruction

22 Petitioner further argued in Ground Three of his Petition that counsel was ineffective 23 for not requesting a jury instruction defining the necessary elements of substantial bodily 24 harm. Pet at 8-C. Petitioner alleged it was unreasonable for his counsel to not request an 25 instruction reflecting this standard because the State had charged him with Battery with Intent
26 to Commit Sexual Assault, which the State could not prove without showing that the crime 27 resulted in substantial bodily harm. Id.

1           However, this assertion is fallacious. In fact, a review of NRS 200.400(4)(b)-(c) reveals 2   that an individual may be convicted of Battery with Intent to Commit Sexual Assault even 3   when no substantial bodily harm occurs. In fact, the charging document reflects that Petitioner
4   was charged only with Battery with Intent to Commit Sexual Assault, not Battery with Intent
5   to Commit Sexual Assault Resulting in Substantial Bodily Harm. See Indictment. Petitioner's 6   sentence for this crime (life with the eligibility to parole after two (2) years) also reflects that 7   he was convicted only of Battery with Intent to Commit Sexual Assault, not Battery with Intent
8   to Commit Sexual Assault Resulting in Substantial Bodily Harm. See NRS 200.400(4); 9   Recorder's Transcript Re: Sentencing, at 8, October 19, 2017. Thus, Petitioner's counsel had 10   no cause to request the jury instruction in question. Counsel's refrain from issuing this request 11   was accordingly not unreasonable.

12           Moreover, even if counsel's decision had been unreasonable, Petitioner was not 13   prejudiced. As the Nevada Supreme Court held when affirming Petitioner's conviction, there
14   was such overwhelming evidence of Petitioner's guilt introduced at trial that it was not plain 15   error for the Court to allow alleged prior bad act evidence to be admitted. Given that the 16   standard for prejudice under ineffective assistance of counsel is the same as the standard for 17   plain error review, Petitioner is unable to demonstrate that he was prejudiced by his counsel's 18   actions. See Gordon v. United States, 518 F.3d 1291, 1300 (11th Cir. 2008). As such, this 19   Court cannot find Petitioner's counsel was ineffective on this basis, and this claim is denied.

20           7. Counsel's Closing Argument Advanced a Clear Theory of the Case

21           Petitioner's Supplement claimed counsel was ineffective for failing to have a "clear 22   theory of the case for an acquittal" during their "very short" closing argument. Supp. at 18-19.
23   However, Petitioner's claim is without merit because it is belied by the record.

24           First, of note, Petitioner failed to clarify how counsel's closing argument was "very 25   short." Supp. at 18-19. He failed to state what counsel should have argued or what other 26   evidence he should have argued during closing. Moreover, counsel's closing argument 27   spanned roughly fifteen (15) pages of trial transcript. TT Day 6 at 133-145. Therefore, his 28   claim that the closing argument was too short is bare and naked, suitable only for summary

1 denial. Hargrove, 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 225.

2 Regardless, counsel's theory during closing argument was straightforward: the victim 3 was not credible because she was a drug user who was using drugs at the time, and because 4 she offered multiple versions of her story that she could not keep straight. TT Day 6 at 133-
5 145. This is consistent with defense counsel's argued theory during opening statements. There, 6 counsel told the jury that they were going to hear about the multiple statements the victim 7 made every time she spoke about the incident, and how each statement would be different 8 from the last. TT Day 2 at 191-192. Counsel even stated, "it is my very sincere belief that you 9 will determine that Arrie is not telling the truth of what happened that day." Id. Therefore, the 10 record clearly indicates that counsel's defense theory, which was consistently argued 11 throughout the trial, was the victim was not credible. Having found this claim is belied by the 12 record, this claim is denied.

13 8. The Evidence Presented at Trial Was Overwhelming

14 Petitioner's Supplement asserted that a deficient trial performance resulted in 15 Petitioner's conviction despite the State's failure to meet its burden of proving the crime
16 beyond a reasonable doubt. Supp. at 18-20.

17 First, Petitioner's contention is devoid of reference to any facts in this case. Petitioner 18 failed to make any specific reference to what part of counsel's argument or trial strategy was 19 deficient, or what defenses they should have presented at trial. Therefore, it is a naked assertion 20 that should be summarily denied. Hargrove, 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 225.

21 Second, the evidence at trial was overwhelming, thus Petitioner's claim is belied by the 22 record. "When reviewing a criminal conviction for sufficiency of the evidence, this Court 23 determines whether any rational trier of fact could have found the essential elements of the 24 crime beyond a reasonable doubt when viewing the evidence in the light most favorable to the 25 prosecution." Brass v. State, 128 Nev. 748, 752, 291 P.3d 145, 149-50 (2012) (internal 26 citations omitted). When there is substantial evidence in support, the jury's verdict will not be 27 disturbed on appeal. Id. A court may not reweigh the evidence or evaluate the credibility of 28 witnesses because that is the responsibility of the trier of fact. McNair v. State, 108 Nev. 53,

1 56, 825 P.2d 571, 573 (1992). Further, circumstantial evidence alone may support a
2 conviction. Collman v. State, 116 Nev. 687, 711, 7 P.3d 426, 441 (2000) (citing Deveroux v.
3 State, 96 Nev. 388, 391, 610 P.2d 722, 724 (1980)).

4       Petitioner's conviction was not the result of ineffective assistance of counsel. Petitioner
5 was convicted because the evidence in this case was overwhelming. At trial, the victim 6 testified and gave specific details about exactly what happened during the incident, including 7 the fact that Petitioner tied her up, tased her, beat her with a belt, put a broom handle between 8 the cheeks of her buttocks as if he was going to penetrate her with it, and videotaped the entire 9 incident. TT Day 3 at 33-46. The victim had a bruised lip and injuries on her legs when the 10 police met her, and the photographs of her injuries were presented at trial. TT Day 3 at 58-59.
11 Witnesses testified at trial that they saw the victim come out of Petitioner's apartment with her 12 arms and legs tied, fabric wrapped around her mouth, her pants pulled down, and she was 13 begging them to call the police. TT Day 3 at 200-202. Another witness testified at trial that 14 before he saw the victim come out of the apartment, he saw a black male and three (3) women 15 come out of Petitioner's apartment. TT Day 4 at 25-26. This matched the description that the 16 victim gave when she testified she heard a male and three (3) women in the apartment with 17 Petitioner when she was tied up. TT Day 3 at 36. The witness also testified he had seen the 18 male with Petitioner before. TT Day 4 at 26. Inside Petitioner's apartment, detectives found a 19 shotgun, tape, a broom, and a black and brown leather belt. TT Day 3 at 156.

20       The evidence at trial was overwhelming. Every piece of evidence and every witness 21 who testified supported the victim's version of events. Ultimately, the victim was correctly
22 found to be credible, and all of the evidence presented at trial supported Petitioner's
23 conviction. Therefore, this Court should not disturb the jury's conviction and Petitioner's 24 claim is denied.

25       Furthermore, as the Nevada Supreme Court noted when affirming Petitioner's sentence, 26 there was "overwhelming evidence that supported the jury's verdict, which included
27 eyewitness and independent witness testimony, DNA evidence, physical injuries on the victim, 28 and recovery of items used to bind and gag the victim." Order of Affirmance at 3. This finding

1 is law of the case and as such, this Court can do nothing but deny his sufficiency of the 2 evidence claim. Re-litigation of this issue is precluded by the doctrine of res judicata. Exec.
3 Mgmt. v. Ticor Titles Ins. Co., 114 Nev. 823, 834, 963 P.2d 465, 473 (1998) (citing Univ. of 4 Nev. v. Tarkanian, 110 Nev. 581, 598, 879 P.2d 1180, 1191 (1994)). “The doctrine is intended 5 to prevent multiple litigation causing vexation and expense to the parties and wasted judicial 6 resources...” Id.; see also Mason v. State, 206 S.W.3d 869, 875 (Ark. 2005) (recognizing the 7 doctrine’s availability in the criminal context); York v. State, 342 S.W. 3d 528, 553 (Tex.
8 Crim. App. 2011); Bell v. City of Boise, 993 F.Supp.2d 1237 (D. Idaho 2014) (finding res
9 judicata applies in both civil and criminal contexts). Therefore, the claim must be denied.

10 9. Counsel Was Not Ineffective at Sentencing

11 Petitioner’s Supplement claimed counsel was ineffective at sentencing and this 12 somehow caused the Court to sentence Petitioner to a cruel and unusual sentence in violation 13 of his constitutional rights. Supp. at 20-22. However, Petitioner’s claim is bare, naked, and 14 without merit. Hargrove, 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 225. Therefore, it must be denied.

15 The Eighth Amendment to the United States Constitution as well as Article 1, Section 16 6 of the Nevada Constitution prohibit the imposition of cruel and unusual punishment. The 17 Nevada Supreme Court has stated that “[a] sentence within the statutory limits is not ‘cruel 18 and unusual punishment unless the statute fixing punishment is unconstitutional or the 19 sentence is so unreasonably disproportionate to the offense as to shock the conscience.’” 20 Allred v. State, 120 Nev. 410, 92 P.2d 1246, 1253 (2004) (quoting Blume v. State, 112 Nev.
21 472, 475, 915 P.2d 282, 284 (1996) (quoting Culverson v. State, 95 Nev. 95 Nev. 433, 435, 22 596 P.2d 220, 221-22 (1979).

23 Additionally, the Nevada Supreme Court has granted district courts “wide discretion” 24 in sentencing decisions, and these are not to be disturbed “[s]o long as the record does not 25 demonstrate prejudice resulting from consideration of information or accusations founded on 26 facts supported only by impalpable or highly suspect evidence.” Allred, 120 Nev. at 410, 92
27 P.2d at 1253 (quoting Silks v. State, 92 Nev. 91, 94, 545 P.2d 1159, 1161 (1976)). A sentencing 28 judge is permitted broad discretion in imposing a sentence and absent an abuse of discretion,

1 the district court's determination will not be disturbed on appeal. Randell v. State, 109 Nev. 5, 2 846 P.2d 278 (1993) (citing Deveroux v. State, 96 Nev. 388, 610 P.2d 722 (1980)). As long 3 as the sentence is within the limits set by the legislature, a sentence will normally not be 4 considered cruel and unusual. Glegola v. State, 110 Nev. 344, 871 P.2d 950 (1994).

5 Petitioner's sentence is not "so unreasonably disproportionate to the offense as to shock 6 the conscience." Allred, 120 Nev. 410, 92 P.2d at 1253. Petitioner was sentenced to an 7 aggregate total a minimum of thirteen (13) years in the Nevada Department of Corrections, 8 and a maximum of life imprisonment. Transcript from Sentencing ("Sentencing") at 8. This 9 sentence was appropriate in light of the facts of this case. At trial, the victim testified that 10 Petitioner told her to get on her knees and then tied her up with electrical cords and tape. TT
11 Day 3 at 33. He tied her hands behind her back and tied them to her feet. Id. Then, he put a 12 double-barrel shotgun in her mouth and said "Bitch, it's not a game." TT Day 3 at 34. After 13 that, he shoved "stuff" in her mouth and down her throat. TT Day 3 at 35. The entire time, 14 Petitioner antagonized the victim telling her that she stole his dogs and repeatedly beat her 15 with a belt. TT Day 3 at 35-36. He also shocked her with a taser. TT Day 3 at 40. As if beating 16 her was not enough, he then pulled her pants down, grabbed a broom, and angled the handle
17 to "stick it in [her] anal." Id. The victim eventually passed out due to trauma. TT Day 3 at TT
18 Day 3 at 42. Petitioner and his friends videotaped the entire incident, laughing and tormenting
19 the victim the entire time. TT Day 3 at 46. The sentence in this case was not unreasonably 20 disproportionate to the offense. In fact, the sentence was warranted in light of the facts of the 21 case. Petitioner fails to show that the sentence was so disproportionate as to shock the 22 conscience and his claim must be denied.

23 Therefore, the record shows the sentence was appropriate and thus insufficiently 24 prejudicial to warrant ignoring Petitioner's procedural defaults. As such, his claim must be 25 denied.

10. Appellate Counsel Was Not Ineffective

Petitioner claimed in his Supplement that appellate counsel was ineffective for failing to raise the following claims: 1) whether there was insufficient evidence of guilt as to the kidnapping count; 2) whether there was insufficient evidence of guilt of battery with intent to commit sexual assault; and 3) whether he was prejudiced by the favorable plea negotiations the State offered to the victim. Supp. at 22-25. However, Petitioner's claims should be denied because they are bare, naked, and belied by the record.

There is a strong presumption that appellate counsel's performance was reasonable and fell within "the wide range of reasonable professional assistance." See United States v. Aguirre, 912 F.2d 555, 560 (2nd Cir. 1990); citing Strickland, 466 U.S. at 689; 104 S. Ct. at 2065. The United States Supreme Court has held that there is a constitutional right to effective assistance of counsel in a direct appeal from a judgment of conviction. Evitts v. Lucey, 469 U.S. 387, 396-97, 105 S. Ct. 830, 835-37 (1985); see also Burke v. State, 110 Nev. 1366, 1368, 887 P.2d 267, 268 (1994). This Court has held that all appeals must be "pursued in a manner meeting high standards of diligence, professionalism and competence." Burke, 110 Nev. at 1368, 887 P.2d at 268.

A claim of ineffective assistance of appellate counsel must satisfy the two-prong test set forth by Strickland. Kirksey v. State, 112 Nev. 980, 998, 923 P.2d 1102, 1114 (1996). To satisfy Strickland's second prong, the defendant must show the omitted issue would have had a reasonable probability of success on appeal. Duhamel v. Collins, 955 F.2d 962, 967 (5th Cir. 1992); Heath, 941 F.2d at 1132; Lara v. State, 120 Nev. 177, 184, 87 P.3d 528, 532 (2004); Kirksey, 112 Nev. at 498, 923 P.2d at 1114.

Appellate counsel is not required to raise every issue that a defendant felt was pertinent to the case. The professional diligence and competence required on appeal involves "winnowing out weaker arguments on appeal and focusing on one central issue if possible, or at most on a few key issues." Jones v. Barnes, 463 U.S. 745, 751-52, 103 S. Ct. 3308, 3313 (1983). In particular, a "brief that raises every colorable issue runs the risk of burying good arguments . . . in a verbal mound made up of strong and weak contentions." Id. at 753, 103 S.

1 Ct. at 3313. For judges to second-guess reasonable professional judgments and impose on 2 appointed counsel a duty to raise every 'colorable' claim suggested by a client would disserve
3 the very goal of vigorous and effective advocacy." Id. at 754, 103 S. Ct. at 3314. The Nevada 4 Supreme Court has similarly concluded that appellate counsel may well be more effective by 5 not raising every conceivable issue on appeal. Ford, 105 Nev. at 853, 784 P.2d at 953.

6 The defendant has the ultimate authority to make fundamental decisions regarding his 7 case. Jones, 463 U.S. at 751, 103 S. Ct. at 3312. However, the defendant does not have a 8 constitutional right to "compel appointed counsel to press nonfrivolous points requested by 9 the client, if counsel, as a matter of professional judgment, decides not to present those points."
10 Id.

11 First, each of Petitioner's assertions are bare and naked and should be summarily denied 12 pursuant to Hargrove. 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 225. Petitioner does not apply law to the 13 facts of this case to show how the evidence was insufficient. Nor does he explain how he was 14 prejudiced by any favorable plea negotiations the victim allegedly received. Therefore, these 15 claims are devoid of any argument supported by specific facts and are bare and naked.

16 Second, as to the insufficient evidence claims, Petitioner's claims are belied by the 17 record and suitable only for summary denial under Hargrove. 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 18 225. Petitioner's claim that counsel was ineffective for failing to raise the claim that there was 19 insufficient evidence of guilt as to the kidnapping charge is belied by the record. Kidnapping 20 is defined as:

21 A person who willfully seizes, confines...abducts, conceals, kidnaps, 22 or carries away a person by any means whatsoever with the intent to 23 hold or detain...or for the purpose of committing sexual assault...or for the purpose of killing the person or inflicting substantial bodily harm upon the person.

24 NRS 200.310.

25 Here, there was substantial evidence of kidnapping. At trial, the victim testified that 26 Petitioner told her to come into his apartment, then forced her to her knees and tied up her 27 hands, feet, and mouth. TT Day 3 at 33. Witnesses testified that they found the victim with her 28 hands, feet, and mouth bound and that she was begging them to call the police. TT Day 3 at

1 200-202. The tape that Petitioner used to tie up the victim was found at Petitioner's apartment.
2 TT Day 3 at 156. Lastly, the victim had injuries consistent with being tied up. TT Day 3 at 3 139.

4 There was sufficient evidence that Petitioner kidnapped the victim presented at trial. It 5 is clear Petitioner lured her into his apartment, then tied her up, beat her, and videotaped it to 6 get revenge for allegedly stealing his dogs. Appellate counsel did not have to raise an 7 insufficient evidence claim as to the kidnapping charge because counsel is not required to raise 8 futile arguments. Ennis, 122 Nev. at 706, 137 P.3d at 1103. Therefore, Petitioner's claim is 9 denied.

10 Next, Petitioner claims his counsel was ineffective for failing to argue there was 11 insufficient evidence of battery with intent to commit sexual assault. Petitioner's claim is 12 belied by the record.

13 A battery is defined as any willful and unlawful use of force or violence upon another 14 person. NRS 200.400. However, "Battery with intent to commit sexual assault includes a 15 specific intent element and does not include the element of penetration, whereas sexual assault
16 does not include the element of intent but does include the element of penetration." Howard 17 v. State, 129 Nev. 1123; NRS 200.366; NRS 200.400. At trial, the victim testified while she 18 was tied up, Petitioner pulled her pants down and placed the handle of a broomstick between 19 the cheeks of her buttocks as if he was going to penetrate her anus with it. TT Day 3 at 43-44.
20 When witnesses found her, her pants were pulled down exposing her buttocks. TT Day 3 at 21 200-202.

22 The State was not required to prove that the broomstick ultimately penetrated the 23 victim's anus, just that Petitioner intended to commit a sexual assault. As stated above, 24 Petitioner pulled the victim's pants down and placed a broomstick between her buttock's 25 cheeks. There is no other intent to commit that kind of act other than sexual assault. There was 26 substantial evidence that Petitioner committed a battery with intent to commit a sexual assault.
27 Therefore, there was no reason for appellate counsel to raise a futile claim. Ennis, 122 Nev. at 28 706, 137 P.3d at 1103. Therefore, Petitioner's claim should be denied.

1 Lastly, Petitioner claims his counsel was ineffective for failing to raise the claim that 2 Petitioner was prejudiced by the favorable plea negotiations offered by the State to the victim.
3 Pet. at 23. However, this claim is bare and naked because Petitioner does not state how the 4 negotiations were favorable or how those negotiations caused any prejudice to Petitioner.
5 Further, this claim is belied by the record. At trial, referring to the victim's ongoing criminal 6 case, the victim testified:

7 THE STATE And when you were negotiating that case, do you 8 know if – did they talk to you about testifying in this case against Mr. Elam?

9 WEBSTER: Not at all.

10 THE STATE: Okay. Did you have your attorney talk to the 11 prosecutor on that other case about the case you 12 have with Mr. Elam?

13 WEBSTER: No.

14 THE STATE: No. And did it come up in any way that you were a victim in this case here?

15 WEBSTER: No, sir.

16 THE STATE: Okay. Have you been told that if you come in and 17 testify against Mr. Elam that that will help you in 18 the case that you have being brought against you?

19 WEBSTER: No, not at all.

20 TT Day 3 at 11-12.

21 Counsel cannot be ineffective for failing to raise a claim that is bare, naked, and belied 22 by the record. Ennis, 122 Nev. at 706, 137 P.3d at 1103. Regardless, appellate counsel is most 23 effective when weeding out weaker issues in order to keep the attention on the stronger issues.
24 Jones v. Barnes, 463 U.S. 745, 751-52, 103 S. Ct. 3308, 3313 (1983). Petitioner's claim is 25 therefore without merit and is denied.

1           B. There is No Cumulative Error in Habeas Review

2           Through his Supplement, Petitioner asserted a claim of cumulative error in the context
3 of ineffective assistance of counsel. Supp. at 27-28. However, since Petitioner failed to 4 demonstrate any error, his cumulative error argument is meritless.

5           The Nevada Supreme Court has not endorsed application of its direct appeal cumulative
6 error standard to the post-conviction Strickland context. McConnell v. State, 125 Nev. 243, 7 259, 212 P.3d 307, 318 (2009). Nor should cumulative error apply on post-conviction review.
8 Middleton v. Roper, 455 F.3d 838, 851 (8th Cir. 2006), cert. denied, 549 U.S. 1134, 1275 S.
9 Ct. 980 (2007) (“a habeas petitioner cannot build a showing of prejudice on series of errors, 10 none of which would by itself meet the prejudice test.”)

11           Nevertheless, even where available a cumulative error finding in the context of a 12 Strickland claim is extraordinarily rare and requires an extensive aggregation of errors. See, 13 e.g., Harris By and through Ramseyer v. Wood, 64 F.3d 1432, 1438 (9th Cir. 1995). In fact, 14 logic dictates that there can be no cumulative error where the defendant fails to demonstrate 15 any single violation of Strickland. See Turner v. Quarterman, 481 F.3d 292, 301 (5th Cir.
16 2007) (“where individual allegations of error are not of constitutional stature or are not errors, 17 there is ‘nothing to cumulate.’”) (quoting Yohey v. Collins, 985 F.2d 222, 229 (5th Cir. 1993));
18 Hughes v. Epps, 694 F.Supp.2d 533, 563 (N.D. Miss. 2010) (citing Leal v. Dretke, 428 F.3d 19 543, 552-53 (5th Cir. 2005)). Because Petitioner has not demonstrated any claim warrants
20 relief under Strickland, there is nothing to cumulate. Therefore, Petitioner’s cumulative error
21 claim is denied.

22           Petitioner failed to demonstrate cumulative error sufficient to warrant reversal. In 23 addressing a claim of cumulative error, the relevant factors are: 1) whether the issue of guilt 24 is close; 2) the quantity and character of the error; and 3) the gravity of the crime charged.
25 Mulder v. State, 116 Nev. 1, 17, 992 P.2d 845, 854-5 (2000). As discussed supra, the issue of 26 guilt was not close as the evidence against Petitioner was overwhelming.

27    //

28    //

1 The Mulder factors do not warrant a finding of cumulative error. First, the issue of guilt
2 in the instant case was not close; as discussed, the evidence was immense and compelling. As 3 the Nevada Supreme Court noted when it affirmed Petitioner's judgment of conviction, there 4 was "overwhelming evidence that supported the jury's verdict." Order of Affirmance, at 3.
5 Second, the gravity of the crime charged was severe, as Petitioner was charged with multiple 6 counts in connection with a first-degree kidnapping. Third, there was no individual error in 7 the underlying proceedings, and as such, there is no error to cumulate. Finally, even under the 8 theory that some of or all Petitioner's allegations of deficiency have merit, he has failed to 9 establish that, when aggregated, the errors deprived him of a reasonable likelihood of a more 10 favorable trial outcome. Therefore, even if counsel was in any way deficient, there is no 11 reasonable probability that Petitioner would have received a better result but for the alleged 12 deficiencies. Accordingly, this claim is denied.

13 IV. PETITIONER IS NOT ENTITLED TO AN EVIDENTIARY HEARING

14 In his Petition, Petitioner claimed he is entitled to an evidentiary hearing because he raised 15 factual claims "which, if true, entitled him to an evidentiary hearing." Pet. 25-27. However, 16 an evidentiary hearing is not required.

17 NRS 34.770 determines when a defendant is entitled to an evidentiary hearing. It reads:

18 1. The judge or justice, upon review of the return, answer and all 19 supporting documents which are filed, shall determine whether an 20 evidentiary hearing is required. A petitioner must not be discharged or committed to the custody of a person other than the respondent unless an evidentiary hearing is held.

21 2. If the judge or justice determines that the petitioner is not entitled 22 to relief and an evidentiary hearing is not required, he shall dismiss the petition without a hearing.

23 3. If the judge or justice determines that an evidentiary hearing is 24 required, he shall grant the writ and shall set a date for the hearing.

25 The Nevada Supreme Court has held that if a petition can be resolved without 26 expanding the record, then no evidentiary hearing is necessary. Marshall v. State, 110 Nev.
27 1328, 885 P.2d 603 (1994); Mann v. State, 118 Nev. 351, 356, 46 P.3d 1228, 1231 (2002). A 28 defendant is entitled to an evidentiary hearing if his petition is supported by specific factual

1 allegations, which, if true, would entitle him to relief unless the factual allegations are repelled
2 by the record. Marshall, 110 Nev. at 1331, 885 P.2d at 605; see also Hargrove v. State, 100
3 Nev. 498, 503, 686 P.2d 222, 225 (1984) (holding that “[a] defendant seeking post-conviction
4 relief is not entitled to an evidentiary hearing on factual allegations belied or repelled by the 5 record”). “A claim is ‘belied’ when it is contradicted or proven to be false by the record as it 6 existed at the time the claim was made.” Mann, 118 Nev. at 354, 46 P.3d at 1230 (2002). It is 7 improper to hold an evidentiary hearing simply to make a complete record. See State v. Eighth
8 Judicial Dist. Court, 121 Nev. 225, 234, 112 P.3d 1070, 1076 (2005) (“The district court 9 considered itself the ‘equivalent of . . . the trial judge’ and consequently wanted ‘to make as 10 complete a record as possible.’ This is an incorrect basis for an evidentiary hearing.”).

11 Further, the United States Supreme Court has held that an evidentiary hearing is not 12 required simply because counsel’s actions are challenged as being unreasonable strategic 13 decisions. Harrington v. Richter, 131 S. Ct. 770, 788 (2011). Although courts may not indulge 14 post hoc rationalization for counsel’s decision making that contradicts the available evidence 15 of counsel’s actions, neither may they insist counsel confirm every aspect of the strategic basis 16 for his or her actions. Id. There is a “strong presumption” that counsel’s attention to certain 17 issues to the exclusion of others reflects trial tactics rather than “sheer neglect.” Id. (citing 18 Yarborough v. Gentry, 540 U.S. 1, 124 S. Ct. 1 (2003)). Strickland calls for an inquiry in the 19 objective reasonableness of counsel’s performance, not counsel’s subjective state of mind. 466
20 U.S. 668, 688, 104 S. Ct. 2052, 2065 (1994).

21 Here, Petitioner has offered no factual allegations which, even if true, would entitle him 22 to relief. All Petitioner’s claims amount to either bare and naked allegations or assertions that 23 counsel had the duty to file frivolous motions. Further, Petitioner is unable to overcome the 24 fact that he cannot show he was prejudiced by counsel’s conduct on any of these grounds 25 because the evidence of guilt admitted against him was overwhelming. See Order of 26 Affirmance, at 3. As such, there is no need to expand the record, and Petitioner’s request for 27 an evidentiary hearing is denied.

ORDER

It is HEREBY ORDERED that Petitioner's Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus (Post-Conviction) and supplements thereto and Request for Evidentiary Hearing are DENIED.

Journal Entry Details:

*Upon the Court's inquiry as to the Defendant's presence, Mr. Jackson indicated he believed the Deft. was in the Nevada Department of Corrections. The State has no objection to waiving his presence. Court waived the Defendant's presence. The Court noted it had reviewed the written pleadings and welcomed arguments. Mr. Jackson argued the State was arguing under the procedural bar, further arguing is a weak argument. Mr. Jackson represented the Defendant had good cause for his delay, noting the normal difficulties of filing while being incarcerated. Mr. Jackson requested the Court rule on the merits, and requested an Evidentiary Hearing be set. The State argued the procedural bars and ruled are in place for a reason and no good cause has been shown. The Court advised it was going to rule on the merits, and not withstanding the late petition, the Court cannot find good cause exhibits. The Court further advised it would be denying motion for all of the reasons set forth in the State's detailed response. COURT ORDERED the Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus is DENIED WITHOUT PREJUDICE. COURT DIRECTED the State to prepare a detailed order. Mr. Jackson noted he would be retiring within the coming weeks, and wanted to ensure the Defendant's rights to an appeal are protected. Colloquy. 1 PROCEDURAL HISTORY

2 On April 17, 2015, Petitioner was indicted by way of grand jury as follows: one (1)
3 count of CONSPIRACY TO COMMIT KIDNAPPING (Category B Felony – NRS 200.310, 4 199.480 – NOC 50087); one (1) count of FIRST DEGREE KIDNAPPING WITH USE OF A 5 DEADLY WEAPON (Category A Felony – NRS 200.310, 200.320, 193.165 – NOC 50055); 6 one (1) count of ASSAULT WITH A DEADLY WEAPON (Category B Felony – NRS 7 200.471 – NOC 50201); one (1) count of UNLAWFUL USE OF AN ELECTRONIC STUN 8 DEVICE (Category B Felony – NRS 202.357 – NOC 51508); one (1) count of BATTERY
9 WITH INTENT TO COMMIT SEXUAL ASSAULT (Category A Felony – NRS 200.400.4 – 10 NOC 50157); one (1) count of SEXUAL ASSAULT WITH USE OF A DEADLY WEAPON 11 (Category A Felony – NRS 200.364, 200.366, 193.165 – NOC 50097); one (1) count of 12 ATTEMPT SEXUAL ASSAULT WITH USE OF A DEADLY WEAPON (Category B 13 Felony – NRS 200.364, 200.366, 193.330, 193.165 – NOC 50121); and one (1) count of
15 Felony – NRS 202.360 – NOC 51460).

16 Petitioner's jury trial started on June 19, 2017 and ended on June 27, 2017. The jury 17 found Petitioner guilty of Count 1— CONSPIRACY TO COMMIT KIDNAPPING (Category 18 B Felony - NRS 200.310, 200.320, 199.480 - NOC 50087), guilty of Count 2—FIRST 19 DEGREE KIDNAPPING WITH USE OF A DEADLY WEAPON (Category A Felony - NRS 20 200.310, 200.320, 193.165 - NOC 50055), Count 3—ASSAULT WITH A DEADLY 21 WEAPON (Category B Felony - NRS 200.471 - NOC 50201), and Count 5— BATTERY
23 NOC 50157).

24 The jury found Petitioner not guilty of Count 4—UNLAWFUL USE OF AN 25 ELECTRONIC STUN DEVICE (Category B Felony - NRS 202.357 - NOC 51508), Count 26 6— SEXUAL ASSAULT WITH USE OF A DEADLY WEAPON (Category A Felony - NRS 27 200.364, 200.366, 193.165 - NOC 50097), and Count 7— ATTEMPT SEXUAL ASSAULT 28 WITH USE OF A DEADLY WEAPON (Category B Felony - NRS 200.364, 200.366,

1 193.330, 193.165 - NOC 50121). The State requested a conditional dismissal of Count 8—
3 Felony - NRS 202.360 - NOC 51460).

4 On October 19, 2017, Petitioner was adjudged guilty and sentenced as follows: as to 5 Count 1 a minimum of twenty-four (24) months and a maximum of seventy-two (72) months
6 in the Nevada Department of Corrections; as to Count 2—life with the eligibility for parole
7 after five (5) years with a consecutive term of a minimum of sixty (60) months and a maximum
8 of one hundred eighty (180) months for the use of a deadly weapon in the Nevada Department
9 of Corrections to run concurrent with count 1; as to Count 3—to a minimum of twelve (12)
10 months and a maximum of seventy-two (72) months in the Nevada Department of Corrections
11 to run consecutive to Count 2; as to Count 5—life with the eligibility to parole after two (2)
12 years to run consecutive to Count 3 in the Nevada Department of Corrections. Petitioner 13 received nine hundred twenty-eight (928) days credit for time served. Counts 4, 6, and 7 were 14 dismissed and Count 8 was conditionally dismissed. Additionally, this Court ordered a special 15 sentence of lifetime supervision to commence upon release from any term of probation, parole, 16 or imprisonment. Further, Petitioner was ordered to register as a sex offender in accordance 17 with NRS 199D.460 within 48 hours of release.

18 Petitioner's Judgment of Conviction was filed on October 31, 2017.

19 On November 13, 2017, Petitioner filed a Notice of Appeal. On April 12, 2019, the 20 Nevada Supreme Court affirmed Petitioner's judgment of conviction. Remittitur issued on 21 May 7, 2019.

22 On May 27, 2020, Petitioner filed a Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus. Also on May 23 27, 2020, Petitioner filed a Motion to Withhold Judgment on Petition for Writ of habeas 24 Corpus and Motion for Appointment of Attorney. On July 6, 2020, the State filed its Response.
25 On August 18, 2020, this Court granted Petitioner's Motion to Withhold Judgment on Petition
26 for Writ of Habeas Corpus and allowed Petitioner to file a Supplemental Petition by October 27 20, 2020. Also on August 18, 2020, this Court denied Petitioner's Motion for Appointment of 28 Counsel without prejudice and articulated that if issues were unduly complex counsel

1 appointment would be considered. Petitioner never filed a Supplemental Petition.

2 Defendant acting pro per could not file Supplementary Points and Authorities by the 3 October 20, 2020 date and on January 19, 2020, the Court denied the Petition and ordered
4 Findings of Fact, Conclusions of Law and Order, which denied the Petition. Defendant then 5 appealed the Order denying his Post-Conviction Petition, filing a Pro Per Notice of Appeal on 6 February 26, 2021. On February 17, 2022, the Supreme Court reversed the District Court's 7 denial of Defendant's Petition and remanded to District Court for appointment of counsel in 8 case number 82637. Counsel Terrence M. Jackson, Esq. was appointed on March 10, 2022 to 9 represent Calvin Thomas Elam on further post-conviction proceedings. On March 15, 2022, 10 the Nevada Supreme Court reversed the District Court's decision and remanded the case to 11 appoint post-conviction counsel and allow Petitioner to file a supplement to his original 12 Petition. On June 9, 2022, Defendant through counsel filed Supplemental Points and 13 Authorities to his Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus in case number A-20-815585-W. On 14 August 11, 2022, the State filed its Response to Petitioner's Supplement to his Petition for 15 Writ of Habeas Corpus. On August 17, 2022 Petitioner filed his Reply.

16 FACTUAL BACKGROUND

17 The following was taken from Petitioner's Presentence Investigation Report ("PSI"):

18 On March 10, 2015, a detective was dispatched to a kidnap call at an 19 apartment complex. The details of the call stated that the victim was 20 kidnapped at a nearby apartment and had escaped her captors. Upon arrival, the detective began an investigation and interviewed the victim.

21 The victim related that she has lived in this neighborhood for the past 22 three months. On this date, she was walking her dog and stopped over at a friend's house. While there, she saw a neighbor, later identified 23 as the defendant Calvin Thomas Elam, who recently had his pit bull dogs stolen. The defendant waved her over to his apartment next door, and she voluntarily went inside.

24 As she waited in the kitchen, the defendant walked to the back of his apartment, came back to the kitchen and told her, "Turn around, put 25 your hands behind your back and get on your knees." She complied, and he bound her hands behind her back with some cords and some 26 plastic material. He next bound her feet together and then he hog tied her feet to her hands and put her face down on the kitchen floor.

1 After tying her up, the defendant began to accuse her of stealing his 2 dogs. When she denied taking his dogs, the defendant began to accuse 3 her of knowing who took his dogs. He then retrieved a shotgun, put 4 the barrel into her mouth and continued to accuse her of knowing who 5 stole his dogs. When she told him it may have been a local thief by 6 the name of RJ, he put toilet paper in her mouth to gag her and put 7 tape around her head to hold the toilet paper in. He then covered her 8 head with some sort of towel, and her vision was partially obscured.

9 During this ordeal, the victim related that a female, the mother of the 10 defendant's child, was in the apartment, as well as three other females.
11 An unidentified male suspect also arrived and accused her of lying 12 and told her that they were going to get to the bottom of it. The mother

14 While everyone was there, the defendant told her to pull her shorts
15 down; and as she was scared, she pulled her shorts and underwear
16 down to her ankles. The defendant and the unidentified male then 17 beat her approximately twenty-five times with a belt. The male then 18 stated, "I know what she wants," and he grabbed a wood handled
19 broom and tapped it on her buttocks. The victim believed the male 20 was going to penetrate her with the broom handle and sexually assault
21 her with it. She saw one of the three female was filming the assault 22 with her cell phone.

23 Moments later, the unidentified male got a stun gun, put it up to her 24 eyes and told her, "I'll put your eye out." He then electrocuted her six 25 or seven times with the stun gun all over her body to include her neck, 26 back, legs and arms. The victim tried to play dead so that the violence 27 would stop; and while doing this, the male asked, "Is she dead?" The 28 defendant replied, "Taze her one more time." The defendant told the male that his kids were going to be home from school and that he would have them play outside. He also told the male that he would take care of the victim later.

The victim stayed on the kitchen floor for a minute and then tried to make an escape. She was able to get to her feet, made it to the door and fell to the outside. She made to an alley while still hog tied and had her shorts down around her ankles. She fell to the ground; but her friend came to her aid, cut the cords off of her wrists and ankles and took the gag out of her mouth. Two other witnesses saw the victim bound and gagged and coming out from the defendant's apartment, and they corroborated the victim's statement. After she was set free, the victim saw the defendant and two women standing outside the defendant's apartment and laughing at her.

Detectives conducted a traffic stop on a vehicle occupied by the two females. Detectives learned that one of the females had a key to the defendant's apartment, and they were presumably going to clean up the evidence there. One female told the detective that the defendant was at her apartment where he was later taken into custody.

1 The defendant denied committing the offense or the victim coming
2 inside his apartment. He, however, stated that he yelled at the victim
3 to come over to his door where he questioned her about his missing 4 dogs. When asked, he admitted to having a shotgun in his home and moving it because his kids were coming. He stated he moved the shotgun by the door.

5 During the course of the investigation, detectives learned that the 6 defendant's pit bulls were taken by animal control on March 8, 2015.

8 ANALYSIS

9 I. PETITIONER'S PETITION IS PROCEDURALLY BARRED

10 A. Application of Procedural Bars is Mandatory

11 The Nevada Supreme Court has held that courts have a duty to consider whether a 12 defendant's post-conviction petition claims are procedurally barred. State v. Eighth Judicial 13 Dist. Court (Riker), 121 Nev. 225, 231, 112 P.3d 1070, 1074 (2005). The Riker Court found 14 that "[a]pplication of the statutory procedural default rules to post-conviction habeas petitions is mandatory," noting:

15 Habeas corpus petitions that are filed many years after conviction are 16 an unreasonable burden on the criminal justice system. The necessity 17 for a workable system dictates that there must exist a time when a criminal conviction is final.

18 Id. Additionally, the Court noted that procedural bars "cannot be ignored [by the District 19 Court] when properly raised by the State." Id. at 233, 112 P.3d at 1075. Ignoring these 20 procedural bars is an arbitrary and unreasonable exercise of discretion. Id. at 234, 112 P.3d at 21 1076. The Nevada Supreme Court has granted no discretion to District Courts regarding 22 whether to apply the statutory procedural bars; the rules must be applied.

23 This position was reaffirmed in State v. Greene, 129 Nev. 559, 307 P.3d 322 (2013).
24 There the Court ruled that the defendant's petition was "untimely, successive, and an abuse of 25 the writ" and that the defendant failed to show good cause and actual prejudice. Id. at 324, 307
26 P.3d at 326. Accordingly, the Court reversed the District Court and ordered the defendant's 27 petition dismissed pursuant to the procedural bars. Id. at 324, 307 P.3d at 322-23. The 28 procedural bars are so fundamental to the post-conviction process that they must be applied

1 by this Court even if not raised by the State. See Riker, 121 Nev. at 231, 112 P.3d at 1074.
2 Parties cannot stipulate to waive the procedural default rules. State v. Haberstroh, 119 Nev.
3 173, 180-81, 69 P.3d 676, 681-82 (2003).

4 B. Any Substantive Claims Were Waived

5 NRS 34.810(1) reads:

6 The court shall dismiss a petition if the court determines that:

7 (a) The petitioner's conviction was upon a plea of guilty or guilty but 8 mentally ill and the petition is not based upon an allegation that the 9 plea was involuntarily or unknowingly or that the plea was entered without effective assistance of counsel.

10 (b) The petitioner's conviction was the result of a trial and the grounds for the petition could have been:

11 . . .

12 (2) Raised in a direct appeal or a prior petition for a writ of habeas corpus or postconviction relief.

13 The Nevada Supreme Court has held that "challenges to the validity of a guilty plea 14 and claims of ineffective assistance of trial and appellate counsel must first be pursued in post-15 conviction proceedings.... [A]ll other claims that are appropriate for a direct appeal must be 16 pursued on direct appeal, or they will be considered waived in subsequent proceedings."
17 Franklin v. State, 110 Nev. 750, 752, 877 P.2d 1058, 1059 (1994) (emphasis added)
18 (disapproved on other grounds by Thomas v. State, 115 Nev. 148, 979 P.2d 222 (1999)). "A 19 court must dismiss a habeas petition if it presents claims that either were or could have been 20 presented in an earlier proceeding, unless the court finds both cause for failing to present the 21 claims earlier or for raising them again and actual prejudice to the petitioner." Evans v. State, 22 117 Nev. 609, 646-47, 29 P.3d 498, 523 (2001).

23 Further, substantive claims are beyond the scope of habeas and waived. NRS
24 34.724(2)(a); Id. at 646-47, 29 P.3d 498, 523; Franklin, 110 Nev. at 752, 877 P.2d at 1059.

25 Petitioner brought substantive claims that should have been raised on direct appeal. In 26 Ground Two of the Petition, Petitioner alleged that his conviction is unsupported by sufficient 27 evidence. Pet. at 7-7A. Such a substantive claim was waived for failure to bring it on direct 28 appeal. Further, to the extent this Court would read Ground Three of the Petition as a claim of prosecutorial misconduct, it is also substantive and should have been raised on direct appeal.

C. Petitioner's Petition is Time-Barred

Petitioner's Petition is time-barred pursuant to NRS 34.726(1):

Unless there is good cause shown for delay, a petition that challenges the validity of a judgment or sentence must be filed within 1 year of the entry of the judgment of conviction or, if an appeal has been taken from the judgment, within 1 year after the Supreme Court issues its remittitur. For the purposes of this subsection, good cause for delay exists if the petitioner demonstrates to the satisfaction of the court:

- (a) That the delay is not the fault of the petitioner; and
- (b) That dismissal of the petition as untimely will unduly prejudice the petitioner.

The Nevada Supreme Court has held that NRS 34.726 should be construed by its plain meaning. Pellegrini v. State, 117 Nev. 860, 873–74, 34 P.3d 519, 528 (2001). Per the language of the statute, the statutory one-year time bar begins to run from the filing date of a judgment of conviction or remittitur from a timely direct appeal. Dickerson v. State, 114 Nev. 1084, 1087, 967 P.2d 1132, 1133–34 (1998).

The one-year time limit for preparing petitions for post-conviction relief under NRS 34.726 is strictly applied. In Gonzales v. State, 118 Nev. 590, 596, 53 P.3d 901, 904 (2002), the Nevada Supreme Court rejected a habeas petition that was filed two (2) days late despite evidence presented by the defendant that he purchased postage through the prison and mailed the petition within the one-year time limit.

Remittitur issued from Petitioner's direct appeal on May 7, 2019. Therefore, Petitioner had until May 7, 2020, to file a timely habeas petition. Petitioner filed his Petition on May 27, 2020, in excess of the one-year deadline. Accordingly, this Court denies the Petition as it is time-barred.

II. PETITIONER HAS FAILED TO PROVIDE GOOD CAUSE TO OVERCOME THE PROCEDURAL BAR

To avoid procedural default, a defendant has the burden of pleading and proving specific facts that demonstrate good cause for his failure to present his claim in earlier proceedings or to otherwise comply with the statutory requirements, and that he will be unduly

1 prejudiced if the petition is dismissed. NRS 34.726(1)(a); see Hogan v. Warden, 109 Nev. 952,
2 959–60, 860 P.2d 710, 715–16 (1993); Phelps v. Nevada Dep’t of Prisons, 104 Nev. 656, 659, 3 764 P.2d 1303, 1305 (1988). “A court must dismiss a habeas petition if it presents claims that 4 either were or could have been presented in an earlier proceeding, unless the court finds both 5 cause for failing to present the claims earlier or for raising them again and actual prejudice to 6 the petitioner.” Evans, 117 Nev. at 646–47, 29 P.3d at 523 (emphasis added).

7 “To establish good cause, petitioners must show that an impediment external to the 8 defense prevented their compliance with the applicable procedural rule.” Clem v. State, 119
9 Nev. 615, 621, 81 P.3d 521, 525 (2003) (emphasis added); see Hathaway v. State, 119 Nev.
10 248, 251, 71 P.3d 503, 506 (2003); Pellegrini, 117 Nev. at 887, 34 P.3d at 537. “A qualifying 11 impediment might be shown where the factual or legal basis for a claim was not reasonably 12 available at the time of default.” Clem v. State, 119 Nev. 615, 621, 81 P.3d 521, 525 (2003).
13 The Court continued, “petitioners cannot attempt to manufacture good cause[.]” Id. at 621, 81
14 P.3d at 526. Examples of good cause include interference by state officials and the previous 15 unavailability of a legal or factual basis. See State v. Huebler, 128 Nev. 192, 198 275 P.3d 91, 16 95 (2012). Clearly, any delay in the filing of the petition must not be the fault of the petitioner.
17 NRS 34.726(1)(a).

18 Additionally, “bare” and “naked” allegations are not sufficient to warrant post-19 conviction relief, nor are those belied and repelled by the record. Hargrove v. State, 100 Nev.
20 498, 502, 686 P.2d 222, 225 (1984). A petitioner for post-conviction relief cannot rely on 21 conclusory claims for relief but must make specific factual allegations that if true would entitle
22 him to relief. Colwell v. State, 118 Nev. 807, 59 P.3d 463 (2002) (citing Evans v. State, 117
23 Nev. 609, 621, 28 P.3d 498, 507 (2001)).

24 This Court finds Petitioner has failed to establish the existence of an impediment 25 external to the defense that prevented him from bringing these claims in accordance with the 26 mandatory deadline. Further, all facts and law necessary were available for Petitioner to bring 27 these claims in a timely habeas Petition. Given Petitioner’s failure to show good cause for his 28 delay in filing, this Court concludes consideration of this issue here.

III. PETITIONER HAS FAILED TO ESTABLISH PREJUDICE TO OVERCOME THE PROCEDURAL BAR

To establish prejudice, the defendant must show “not merely that the errors of [the proceedings] created possibility of prejudice, but that they worked to his actual and substantial disadvantage, in affecting the state proceedings with error of constitutional dimensions.” Hogan v. Warden, 109 Nev. 952, 960, 860 P.2d 710, 716 (1993) (quoting United States v. Frady, 456 U.S. 152, 170, 102 S. Ct. 1584, 1596 (1982)). To find good cause there must be a “substantial reason; one that affords a legal excuse.” Hathaway v. State, 119 Nev. 248, 252, 71 P.3d 503, 506 (2003) (quoting Colley v. State, 105 Nev. 235, 236, 773 P.2d 1229, 1230 (1989)). Clearly, any delay in the filing of the petition must not be the fault of the petitioner. NRS 34.726(1)(a).

Given that Petitioner’s underlying complaints are meritless, this Court finds Petitioner is unable to establish the requisite prejudice for discounting his procedural default.

A. Petitioner Did Not Receive Ineffective Assistance of Counsel

The Sixth Amendment to the United States Constitution provides that, “[i]n all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right . . . to have the Assistance of Counsel for his defense.” The United States Supreme Court has long recognized that “the right to counsel is the right to the effective assistance of counsel.” Strickland v. Washington, 466 U.S. 668, 686, 104 S. Ct. 2052, 2063 (1984); see also State v. Love, 109 Nev. 1136, 1138, 865 P.2d 322, 323 (1993).

To prevail on a claim of ineffective assistance of trial counsel, a defendant must prove he was denied “reasonably effective assistance” of counsel by satisfying the two-prong test of Strickland, 466 U.S. at 686-87, 104 S. Ct. at 2063–64. See also Love, 109 Nev. at 1138, 865 P.2d at 323. Under the Strickland test, a defendant must show first that his counsel's representation fell below an objective standard of reasonableness, and second, that but for counsel's errors, there is a reasonable probability that the result of the proceedings would have been different. 466 U.S. at 687–88, 694, 104 S. Ct. at 2065, 2068; Warden, Nevada State Prison v. Lyons, 100 Nev. 430, 432, 683 P.2d 504, 505 (1984) (adopting the Strickland two-

1 part test). “[T]here is no reason for a court deciding an ineffective assistance claim to approach
2 the inquiry in the same order or even to address both components of the inquiry if the defendant
3 makes an insufficient showing on one.” Strickland, 466 U.S. at 697, 104 S. Ct. at 2069.

4 The court begins with the presumption of effectiveness and then must determine 5 whether the defendant has demonstrated by a preponderance of the evidence that counsel was 6 ineffective. Means v. State, 120 Nev. 1001, 1011, 103 P.3d 25, 32 (2004). “Effective counsel 7 does not mean errorless counsel, but rather counsel whose assistance is ‘[w]ithin the range of 8 competence demanded of attorneys in criminal cases.’” Jackson v. Warden, 91 Nev.
9 430, 432, 537 P.2d 473, 474 (1975).

10 Counsel cannot be ineffective for failing to make futile objections or arguments. See 11 Ennis v. State, 122 Nev. 694, 706, 137 P.3d 1095, 1103 (2006). Trial counsel has the 12 “immediate and ultimate responsibility of deciding if and when to object, which witnesses, if 13 any, to call, and what defenses to develop.” Rhyne v. State, 118 Nev. 1, 8, 38 P.3d 163, 167 14 (2002).

15 Based on the above law, the role of a court in considering allegations of ineffective 16 assistance of counsel is “not to pass upon the merits of the action not taken but to determine 17 whether, under the particular facts and circumstances of the case, trial counsel failed to render 18 reasonably effective assistance.” Donovan v. State, 94 Nev. 671, 675, 584 P.2d 708, 711
19 (1978). This analysis does not mean that the court should “second guess reasoned choices 20 between trial tactics nor does it mean that defense counsel, to protect himself against 21 allegations of inadequacy, must make every conceivable motion no matter how remote the 22 possibilities are of success.” Id. To be effective, the Constitution “does not require that counsel
23 do what is impossible or unethical. If there is no bona fide defense to the charge, counsel 24 cannot create one and may disserve the interests of his client by attempting a useless charade.”
25 United States v. Cronin, 466 U.S. 648, 657 n.19, 104 S. Ct. 2039, 2046 n.19 (1984).

26 “There are countless ways to provide effective assistance in any given case. Even the 27 best criminal defense attorneys would not defend a particular client in the same way.”
28 Strickland, 466 U.S. at 689, 104 S. Ct. at 689. “Strategic choices made by counsel after

1 thoroughly investigating the plausible options are almost unchallengeable.” Dawson v. State, 2 108 Nev. 112, 117, 825 P.2d 593, 596 (1992); see also Ford v. State, 105 Nev. 850, 853, 784
3 P.2d 951, 953 (1989). In essence, the court must “judge the reasonableness of counsel's
4 challenged conduct on the facts of the particular case, viewed as of the time of counsel's
5 conduct.” Strickland, 466 U.S. at 690, 104 S. Ct. at 2066.

6 When a conviction is the result of a guilty plea, a defendant must show that there is a 7 “reasonable probability that, but for counsel’s errors, he would not have pleaded guilty and 8 would have insisted on going to trial.” Hill v. Lockhart, 474 U.S. 52, 59, 106 S.Ct. 366, 370
9 (1985) (emphasis added); see also Kirksey v. State, 112 Nev. 980, 988, 923 P.2d 1102, 1107 10 (1996); Molina v. State, 120 Nev. 185, 190-91, 87 P.3d 533, 537 (2004).

11 Even if a defendant can demonstrate that his counsel's representation fell below an 12 objective standard of reasonableness, he must still demonstrate prejudice and show a 13 reasonable probability that, but for counsel’s errors, the result of the trial would have been 14 different. McNelson v. State, 115 Nev. 396, 403, 990 P.2d 1263, 1268 (1999) (citing 15 Strickland, 466 U.S. at 687, 104 S. Ct. at 2064). “A reasonable probability is a probability 16 sufficient to undermine confidence in the outcome.” Id. (citing Strickland, 466 U.S. at 687-89, 17 694, 104 S. Ct. at 2064–65, 2068).

18 The Nevada Supreme Court has held “that a habeas corpus petitioner must prove the 19 disputed factual allegations underlying his ineffective assistance claim by a preponderance of 20 the evidence.” Means v. State, 120 Nev. 1001, 1012, 103 P.3d 25, 33 (2004). Furthermore, 21 claims of ineffective assistance of counsel asserted in a petition for post-conviction relief must 22 be supported with specific factual allegations, which if true, would entitle the petitioner to 23 relief. Hargrove v. State, 100 Nev. 498, 502, 686 P.2d 222, 225 (1984). “Bare” and “naked”
24 allegations are not sufficient, nor are those belied and repelled by the record. Id. NRS
25 34.735(6) states in relevant part, “[Petitioner] must allege specific facts supporting the claims 26 in the petition[.] . . . Failure to allege specific facts rather than just conclusions may cause your 27 petition to be dismissed.” (emphasis added).

1           1. Counsel Was Not Ineffective in Not Moving for Dismissal of the Complaint

2           Petitioner alleged in Ground One of the Petition that counsel was ineffective for failing
3 to move to dismiss the complaint on the basis of insufficient evidence produced at trial. Pet.
4 at 6. Counsel cannot be ineffective for failing to make futile objections or arguments. See 5 Ennis v. State, 122 Nev. 694, 706, 137 P.3d 1095, 1103 (2006). The remedy for a finding of 6 insufficient evidence presented at trial is not a striking of the indictment, but an acquittal.
7 Evans v. State, 112 Nev. 1172, 1193, 926 P.2d 265, 279 (1996) (stating: “where there is 8 insufficient evidence to support a conviction, the trial judge may set aside a jury verdict of 9 guilty and enter a judgment of acquittal.”); NRS 175.381. This Court therefore finds 10 Petitioner’s claim asserts that counsel was ineffective for failure to move for an acquittal under 11 NRS 175.381.

12           “In reviewing a claim of insufficient evidence, the relevant inquiry is ‘whether, after 13 reviewing the evidence in the light most favorable to the prosecution, any rational trier of fact 14 could have found the essential elements of the crime beyond a reasonable doubt.’” Origel-
15 Candid v. State, 114 Nev. 378, 381, 956 P.2d 1378, 1380 (1998), (quoting Koza v. State, 100
16 Nev. 245, 250, 681 P.2d 44, 47 (1984)). “Clearly, this standard does not allow the district court 17 to act as a “thirteenth juror” and reevaluate the evidence and the credibility of the witnesses.”
18 Evans v. State, 112 Nev. 1172, 1193, 926 P.2d 265, 279 (1996).

19           A Motion for Acquittal due to insufficiency of the evidence would have been futile in 20 the instant case. As the Nevada Supreme Court noted when affirming Petitioner’s sentence, 21 there was “overwhelming evidence that supported the jury’s verdict, which included
22 eyewitness and independent witness testimony, DNA evidence, physical injuries on the victim, 23 and recovery of items used to bind and gag the victim.” Order of Affirmance, at 3. Therefore, 24 such a motion would have been futile. Under Ennis, counsel has no obligation to raise futile 25 motions.

26           Further, even if counsel’s decision to not raise this motion had been unreasonable, 27 Petitioner was not prejudiced. As the Nevada Supreme Court held when affirming Petitioner’s 28 conviction, there was such overwhelming evidence of Petitioner’s guilt introduced at trial that

1 it was not plain error for the Court to allow alleged prior bad act evidence to be admitted.
2 Given that the standard for prejudice under ineffective assistance of counsel is the same as the 3 standard for plain error review, Petitioner thus cannot demonstrate that he was prejudiced by 4 his counsel's actions. See Gordon v. United States, 518 F.3d 1291, 1300 (11th Cir. 2008). As 5 such, this Court cannot find Petitioner's counsel to have been ineffective and this claim is 6 denied.

7 Likewise, Petitioner's related claim under Ground Two of the Petition that his 8 conviction is invalid because of insufficient evidence is similarly without merit. Petitioner's 9 chief complaint seems to be that the evidence admitted regarding his intent was insufficient to 10 warrant a conviction for first degree kidnapping. However, first degree kidnapping is defined 11 as "a person who willfully seizes, confines, inveigles, entices, decoys, abducts, conceals, 12 kidnaps, or carries away a person ... for the purpose of committing sexual assault... or for the 13 purpose of killing the person or inflicting substantial bodily harm." NRS 200.310. Further, the 14 State admitted evidence that Petitioner hogtied the victim, beat her, and placed a shotgun in 15 her mouth. Jury Trial Day 3: June 21, 2017, at 33-36, filed February 13, 2018. Petitioner
16 further angled a broomstick towards the victim's anal opening, as if to stick the broom handle
17 in the victim's anal opening. Id. As such, and consistent with the Supreme Court of Nevada's
18 holding, there is no doubt that sufficient evidence was introduced against Petitioner to support 19 his conviction of first-degree kidnapping.

20 As such, this claim is without merit. Given the claim is meritless, denial thereof could 21 not prejudice Petitioner. Since Petitioner would not be prejudiced by this claim's denial, nor 22 has he shown good cause sufficient to overcome the procedural bars (see Section I(B)), this 23 claim is denied under NRS 34.810.

24 2. Counsel was not ineffective for failing to investigate

25 Petitioner's Supplement alleged counsel was ineffective for failing to "contact a 26 necessary accident reconstruction expert to challenge the State's expert witness." Supp. at 6.
27 However, his claim fails for multiple reasons.

1 First, this claim is a bare and naked assertion. Hargrove, 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 2 225. While Petitioner cites legal authority, Petitioner asserts only that counsel should have 3 investigated and contacted an expert, while offering no justification for the assertion.
4 Petitioner vaguely argues “to challenge the State’s expert witness,” but does not state how an 5 expert for the defense would have challenged the State’s witness, what portion of the testimony
6 was challengeable, or how he would have benefitted from his own expert witness. Petitioner
7 fails to specifically demonstrate what a better investigation would have discovered or how it
8 would have benefitted him. Molina, 120 Nev. at 190-91, 87 P.3d at 537. This claim is a bare 9 and naked assertion that demands summary denial.

10 Second, which witness to call is a virtually unchallengeable strategic decision.
11 “Strategic choices made by counsel after thoroughly investigating the plausible options are 12 almost unchallengeable.” Dawson v. State, 108 Nev. 112, 117, 825 P.2d 593, 596 (1992); see 13 also Ford v. State, 105 Nev. 850, 853, 784 P.2d 951, 953 (1989). In essence, the court must 14 “judge the reasonableness of counsel’s challenged conduct on the facts of the particular case, 15 viewed as of the time of counsel’s conduct.” Strickland, 466 U.S. at 690, 104 S. Ct. at 2066.
16 Trial counsel has the “immediate and ultimate responsibility of deciding if and when to object, 17 which witnesses, if any, to call, and what defenses to develop.” Rhyne v. State, 118 Nev. 1, 8, 18 38 P.3d 163, 167 (2002). Petitioner has failed to demonstrate why this does not constitute a 19 strategic decision, but instead merely provides a one-sentence claim that “[t]his was not a 20 strategic decision.” See Petition at 6-7. Therefore, Petitioner has failed to establish grounds 21 for this Court to deviate from the presumption that this decision is nearly unchallengeable.
22 Accordingly, this claim is denied.

23 3. Counsel Was Not Ineffective for Failing to File Motions

24 i. Motion to suppress

25 Petitioner claimed in his Supplement counsel was ineffective for failing to file a motion
26 to suppress his statements to police. Supp. At 7. However, this claim is belied by the record 27 because his statements to police were voluntary. Thus, any motions specifically arguing “fruit 28 of the poisonous tree” violations of Miranda v. Arizona, 384 U.S. 436, 86 S Ct. 1602 (1966),

1 would have been futile. Therefore, counsel could not have been ineffective for this failure.

2 The Fifth Amendment of the United States Constitution affords an individual the right 3 to be informed, prior to custodial interrogation, that:

4 [H]e has the right to remain silent, that anything he says can be used 5 against him in a court of law, that he has the right to the presence of 6 an attorney, and that if he cannot afford an attorney, one will be appointed to him prior to any questioning if he so desires.

7 Miranda v. Arizona, 384 U.S. 436, 479, 86 S. Ct. 1602, 1630 (1966). Miranda's procedural 8 safeguards are only prophylactic in nature, designed to advise suspects of their rights, and "not 9 themselves rights protected by the Constitution." Michigan v. Tucker, 417 U.S. 433, 444, 94
10 S. Ct. 2357, 2364 (1974).

11 The United States Supreme Court has held that Miranda does not require some 12 "talismanic incantation." California v. Prysock, 453 U.S. 355, 360, 101 S. Ct. 2806, 2809
13 (1981) (per curiam). Rather, the warning need only "reasonably convey to a suspect his rights
14 as required by Miranda." Florida v. Powell, 559 U.S. 50, 60, 130 S. Ct. 1195, 1204 (2010)
15 (internal quotations omitted). Thus, the Supreme Court has instructed reviewing courts that 16 they need not examine the warning rigidly "as if construing a will or defining the terms of an 17 easement." Duckworth v. Eagan, 492 U.S. 195, 203, 109 S. Ct. 2875, 2880 (1989).

18 To be admissible, a confession must be made voluntarily. Passama v. State, 103 Nev.
19 212, 213, 735 P.2d 321, 322 (1987). To be voluntary, the confession must be made as the 20 result of a "rational intellect and a free will." Id. The question in each case is whether the 21 defendant's will was overborne when he confessed. Id. at 214, 735 P.2d at 323. Once the issue
22 of voluntariness is raised, the burden of proving voluntariness is on the State, by a 23 preponderance of the evidence. Quiriconi v. State, 96 Nev. 766, 772, 616 P.2d 1111, 1114 24 (1980).

25 To determine whether a confession is voluntary, the court considers the totality of the 26 circumstances. Passama, 103 Nev. at 213, 735 P.2d at 322. Factors include: "the youth of the 27 accused; his lack of education or his low intelligence; the lack of any advice of constitutional 28 rights; the length of detention; the repeated and prolonged nature of questioning; and the use

1 of physical punishment such as the deprivation of food or sleep.” Id. A lower than average
2 intelligence does not, however, render a confession involuntary. Young v. State, 103 Nev. 233, 3 235, 737 P.2d 512, 514 (1987) (citing Ogden v. State, 96 Nev. 258, 607 P.2d 576 (1980)). Nor 4 do personality disorders, or a desire to please authority figures. Steese, 114 Nev. at 488, 960
5 P.2d at 327.

6 First, Petitioner’s claims are bare and naked. Hargrove, 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 7 225. Petitioner makes only general claims that his “statements were involuntary because they 8 were the result of hostile and coercive interrogation.” Pet. at 7-9. He did not state what the 9 officers did to intimidate him, or how their interrogation was hostile and coercive, let alone so 10 hostile and coercive that it violated his constitutional rights. The only factually specific 11 assertion to support his claim is that he was secretly recorded. Pet. at 8-9. However, Petitioner
12 failed to explain how covertly recording him created an intense and hostile interrogation 13 environment or how his ignorance of being recorded amounts to a waiver of his rights through 14 threats or trickery. Therefore, Petitioner’s claim is denied as bare and naked under Hargrove.

15 Second, Petitioner Supplement cited NRS 200.640, claiming the statute “limits the use
16 of unauthorized wire or radio communication.” Supp. at 8-9. He claimed that the detective 17 violated this statute by taping the interview. Yet, in this claim, Petitioner appears to have 18 sought to mislead this Court. The plain language of NRS 200.640 prohibits individuals from 19 tapping into the wire or radio communication facilities of a communications business without 20 the consent of the business. See State v. Allen, 119 Nev. 166, 170-171, 69 P.3d 232, 235
21 (2003). Petitioner offered no statute or case law for interpreting NRS 200.640 to limit the use
22 of recording devices by police during interviews. Therefore, the true limitation of this statute 23 has no bearing on the instant case.

24 Third, whether Petitioner was informed the interview was being recorded does not 25 entitle him to suppression of his statement on either Miranda or voluntariness grounds. Courts
26 have held that defendants do not have a reasonable expectation of privacy, under the Fourth 27 Amendment, in the back of police cars or at police stations. See, United States v. McKinnon,
28 985 F.2d 525 (11th Cir. 1993); People v. Califano, 5. Cal. App. 3rd 476, 85 Cal. Rptr. 292

1 (1970). Petitioner certainly had no reasonable expectation of privacy within the police car or 2 while speaking with detectives in an interview room.

3 Fourth, Petitioner claimed he involuntarily waived his Miranda rights and was likely 4 “threatened, tricked, or cajoled” into waiving his rights. Supp. at 7-9. The totality of the 5 evidence supports the claim that his statements were made voluntarily and intelligently.
6 During trial, Petitioner’s statement was played for the jury and the transcription of Petitioner’s
7 voluntary statement, State’s Exhibit #71, was projected for the jury so they could read along 8 as the audio was played. Trial Transcript (“TT”) Day 4 at 10-11. State’s Exhibit #71 was 9 Weirauch and Petitioner speaking on March 10, 2015, at 2300 hours:

10 Q: Okay. Okay, Calvin. I’m going to read you something. Okay?

11 A: Yes sir.

12 Q: Calvin, you have the right to remain silent. Anything you say can 13 be used against you in a court of law. You have the right to the 14 presence of an attorney. If you cannot afford an attorney, one will be appointed to you before questioning. Do you understand these rights?

15 A: Yes sir.

16 Petitioner’s Voluntary Statement from 3/10/2015 at 2<sup>1</sup>. Petitioner did not cite any portion of 17 his statement as evidence that his statements were involuntary. Accordingly, the totality of the 18 evidence, including his voluntary statement, supports the fact that his statement was voluntary.
19 As such, this Court finds counsel was not ineffective for failing to file what would have been 20 a futile motion to suppress.

21 Lastly, counsel was not ineffective because the confession could not legitimately be 22 suppressed. Counsel moved for suppression of Petitioner’s statements under a stronger theory.
23 The following exchange happened with Detective Weirauch on the witness stand during a 24 hearing outside the presence of the jury:

26 <sup>1</sup> Petitioner failed to cite to this transcript in his brief. Therefore, this Court presumes that the Miranda warning did
27 adequately inform Petitioner of his rights to an attorney, and Petitioner waived his rights knowingly and voluntarily. See
28 Sasser v. State, 324 P.3d 1221, 1225 (2014) (citing Riggins v. State, 107 Nev. 178, 182, 808 P.2d 535, 538 (1991) (concluding that if materials are not included in the record, the missing materials "are presumed to support the district court's decision."))

1 THE COURT: Was the card the standard-issue card that was 2 carried by Metro officers at that time?

3 THE WITNESS: Yes, it was.

4 THE COURT: Okay. And now they've given you another
5 different card. Is that what's happened?

6 THE WITNESS: Yes.

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 CROSS-EXAMINATION

9 BY MR. ERICSSON:

10 Q: And Detective—and you are a detective, correct?

11 A: Yes, I am.

12 Q: What is the difference with the card that you now carry 13 compared to the one you had back in March of 2015?

14 A: I believe they added one more line for us to read off of.

15 Q: And can you pull out the card that you currently carry.

16 A: Yeah.

17 Q: Do you have that there?

18 A: Yes.

19 Q: For the record, can you just read the card that you currently 20 carry.

21 A: You have the right to remain silent. Anything you say can be 22 used against you in a court of law. You have the right to consult 23 with an attorney before questioning. You have the right to the 24 presence of an attorney during questioning. If you cannot 25 afford an attorney, one will be appointed to you before 26 questioning. Do you understand these rights.

27 Q: Thank you. And what is the additional line to your belief that 28 has been added to the card now compared to the one you
carried in March of 2015?

MS. LUZAICH: Objection. Relevance.

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: It's—I'm assuming it's all worded the same. It's one of these two lines right here, the third or fourth line.

MR. ERICSSON: And, Your Honor, may I approach and—

1 THE COURT: Sure.

2 THE WITNESS: I think it's—I think it's this one they added right 3 here. You have the right to consult with an 4 attorney before questioning as opposed to before 5 it might have just been you have the right to the 6 presence of an attorney during questioning. I
7 don't think they added that one.

8 BY MR. ERICSSON:

9 Q: Okay. So to your knowledge, the new line on this card is the 10 line that reads—

11 A: Go ahead. It's this third one right here I believe is the one that 12 they added is you have the right to consult with an attorney 13 before questioning.

14 THE COURT: I think that's right.

15 THE WITNESS: I think.

16 BY MR. ERICSSON:

17 Q: Okay. So to your knowledge, you did not provide Mr. Elam 18 with that sentence when you gave him a Miranda warning back 19 in—

20 A: No, I wouldn't have. I would've read it just verbatim off the 21 card of the day.

22 MR. ERICSSON: Thank you. Your Honor, I've been doing a fair
23 amount of litigation in federal court on that issue.
24 I would move to prevent to [sic] the statement
25 being introduced in this trial. I think that that is a 26 necessary warning for it to be an effective
27 Miranda warning, and since that was not given—

28 THE COURT: Ms. Luzaich.

MS. LUZAICH: The United States Supreme Court disagrees with that. It was one bad ruling in federal court that I believe may have either since been overruled or something like that, but the United States Supreme Court doesn't agree, and neither does
the Nevada Supreme Court.

THE COURT: Anything else, Mr. Ericsson?

MR. ERICSSON: No. And this is—obviously I'm first time
learning that he's got a different card. So, you know, whatever your ruling is now I—I may—

THE COURT: Well, yeah—

1 MR. ERICSSON: --may supplement tomorrow.

2 THE COURT: --it's denied. I mean, I think the reason they have 3 the new card is to address that issue to the extent
4 some judges may be granting those motions or 5 what have you. That doesn't mean that it was 6 wrong before. I think they just changed the cards 7 because various opinions. So the request is 8 denied.

9 TT Day 3 at 177-181.

10 Counsel advanced a stronger argument than what would have been a bare and naked 11 motion to suppress with no evidence that his statement was involuntary to support it. Given 12 that counsel cannot be ineffective for failing to file futile motions, this Court denies this claim.

13 ii. Motion to dismiss weapon enhancement

14 Petitioner's Supplement claimed counsel was ineffective for failing to file a "motion to 15 strike the deadly weapon enhancement" because a broomstick should not be considered a 16 deadly weapon. Supp. at 9-11. However, Petitioner's claim is belied by the record.

17 Petitioner cited the "inherently dangerous" test from Zgombic v. State, 106 Nev. 571, 18 798 P.2d 548 (1990) as the test for whether something could be considered a deadly weapon.
19 Pet. at 10-11. However, Petitioner failed to cite controlling law. Petitioner appears unaware of 20 the legislative amendment of the test for a deadly weapon from inherently dangerous to the 21 functionality test. NRS 193.165(6)(b). Thomas v. State, 114 Nev. 1127, 1146, Footnote 4, 967
22 P.2d 1123, Footnote 4 (1998). NRS 193.165(6)(b) defines a deadly weapon as "[a]ny weapon, 23 device, instrument, material or substance which under the circumstances in which it is used, 24 attempted to be used or threatened to be used, is readily capable of causing substantial bodily 25 harm or death."

26 A broomstick indeed satisfies the definition of a deadly weapon in this case due to the 27 Petitioner's manner of usage. NRS 193.165(6)(b). Petitioner tied up the victim with fabric and 28 tape, put tape over her mouth, beat her with a belt, then pulled her pants down and angled the broomstick as if to penetrate her anus with it. TT Day 3 at 35-36. While there was no evidence at trial that Petitioner ultimately penetrated the victim with the broomstick, if he had, he almost certainly would have caused substantial bodily injury. See NRS 193.165(6)(b). The statute

1 thus requires the Petitioner, not to have in fact penetrated the victim, but rather only to have 2 threatened to do so, which he did. Specifically, the victim testified:

3 THE STATE ...How did he use [the broomstick]?

4 THE VICTIM He – the – he used it – the top of it, he used it to 5 touch me with.

6 THE STATE Where did he touch you with it?

7 THE VICTIM On my butt area.

8 TT Day 3 at 42-43. Therefore, the evidence presented at trial satisfied the statutory 9 requirement for a deadly weapon. Consequently, any motion to dismiss the weapon 10 enhancement would have been futile, and counsel may not be found ineffective for failing to 11 file one. Accordingly, Petitioner's claim is denied.

12 iii. Motion for sequestered voir dire

13 Petitioner's Supplement alleged his trial counsel was ineffective for failing to file a 14 Motion for Sequestered Voir Dire because "numerous jurors had been victim of sexual assault 15 or had close friends or family members who had been the victims of sexual crimes or crimes
16 of violence." Supp. at 13-15.

17 The district court has discretion in deciding a request for individual voir dire. See 18 Haynes v. State, 103 Nev. 309, 316, 739 P.2d 497, 501 (1987); see also Mu'Min v. Virginia, 19 500 U.S. 415, 427, 114 L. Ed. 2d 493, 111 S. Ct. 1899 (1991). Absent an abuse of discretion 20 or a showing of prejudice to the defendant, this court will not disturb the district court's 21 decision. Haynes, 103 Nev. at 316, 739 P.2d at 501. Counsel cannot be ineffective for failing 22 to make futile objections or arguments. Ennis, 122 Nev. at 706, 137 P.3d at 1103.

23 Petitioner's claim that trial counsel was ineffective for failing to request a sequestered
24 jury during voir dire is meritless. The voir dire process is at the discretion of the trial court.
25 Sequestering a jury during voir dire places a heavy burden on judicial economy and is utilized
26 only where absolutely necessary. Any request to sequester a jury without a compelling reason 27 would have been denied. Petitioner has not offered any compelling reasons that would have 28 caused this Court to order a sequestered voir dire. Petitioner has simply surmised that some of

1 the prospective jurors tainted the entire pool by sharing that they had previous encounters with 2 violence in the presence of other potential jurors. Pet at 13-15. Petitioner did not state how this
3 prejudiced other prospective jurors or why any prospective juror's articulation of a past history
4 of violence would prejudice a potential juror in this case.

5 Leonard v. State, 117 Nev. 53, 64, 17 P.3d 397, 404 (2001), noted the lack of prejudice
6 due to collective voir dire when all jurors with potential bias or knowledge were not 7 empaneled. Petitioner failed to even make a showing of the kind presented in Leonard, where 8 there was extensive pretrial publicity and thus potential bias. Id. To the contrary, there is no
9 merit to his claim. Petitioner has not shown that any of the jurors who heard his case were 10 biased against him, let alone that the statements by other prospective jurors had any effect on 11 the empaneled jurors in this case.

12 This claim is insufficient to support the position that this Court would have granted a 13 request to sequester the voir dire process. Petitioner's counsel cannot be ineffective for failing 14 to file a futile motion so his claim must be denied. Ennis, 122 Nev. at 706, 137 P.3d at 1103.

15 iv. Counsel did not fail to subject the case to a meaningful adversary process

16 Petitioner next argues that counsel was ineffective for failing to (1) do any pretrial
17 investigation; (2) failing to file the following motions: Motion to Strike Aggravators, Motion
18 to Exclude Argument Constituting Prosecutorial Misconduct; Motion to Suppress Evidence; 19 Motion in Limine to Preclude Admission of Prejudicial Evidence; Motion to Dismiss For 20 Insufficient Information Charging Petitioner; (3) failure to object to damaging and prejudicial 21 statements during closing arguments; and (4) failure to call any witnesses on Petitioner's 22 behalf.

23 Each of these allegations is a bare and naked claim suitable only for summary dismissal 24 pursuant to Hargrove. In regard to the failure to investigate claim, Petitioner does not even 25 allege, much less show, what a better investigation would have turned up. Pursuant to Molina
26 v. State, such a claim cannot support post-conviction relief. 120 Nev. 185, 192, 87 P.3d 533, 27 538 (2004) (stating that a defendant who contends his attorney was ineffective because he did 28 not adequately investigate must show how a better investigation would have rendered a more

1 favorable outcome probable).

2 Regarding the various motions Petitioner alleges his counsel should have filed, 3 Petitioner has neither alleged nor shown that any of these motions would have been successful.
4 For some of these motions, Petitioner has only offered bare and naked assertions that counsel
5 not filing them constitutes ineffective assistance of counsel. For example, Petitioner claims 6 that his counsel should have filed a motion to suppress evidence. But he does not even 7 articulate what evidence he claims should have been suppressed. On other motions, there was 8 clearly no legal grounds to bring the motion (such as the motion to exclude argument
9 constituting prosecutorial misconduct). Given that Petitioner has not alleged any grounds
10 claiming why these Motions would have been successful, counsel's decision not to file them 11 cannot constitute ineffective assistance of counsel.

12 Regarding counsel's alleged failure to object to prejudicial statements, Petitioner has 13 not identified what statements he now complains of. To the extent he is referring to the 14 statements he alleged constituted prosecutorial conduct under Ground Three of the pro per 15 pleading, as noted elsewhere in this order counsel cannot be found ineffective for not objecting
16 to these statements. As such, this claim is either meritless or a bare and naked allegation 17 suitable only for summary dismissal. Hargrove. 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 225.

18 Similarly, Petitioner's claim that counsel was ineffective for failing to call any 19 witnesses on his behalf is a bare and naked allegation suitable only for summary dismissal.
20 Petitioner does not articulate what witnesses were available to be called, why they should have 21 been called, or how they would have assisted his case.

22 Further, even if Petitioner had alleged enough facts for this Court to consider whether 23 it was unreasonable for counsel to engage in these courses of conduct, Petitioner would be 24 unable to establish that any of these decisions would have prejudiced him at trial. As the 25 Nevada Supreme Court held when affirming Petitioner's conviction, there was such 26 overwhelming evidence of Petitioner's guilt introduced at trial that it was not plain error for 27 the Court to allow alleged prior bad act evidence to be admitted. Given that the standard for 28 prejudice under ineffective assistance of counsel is the same as the standard for plain error

1 review, Petitioner cannot then demonstrate that he was prejudiced by his counsel's
2 actions. Gordon v. United States, 518 F.3d 1291, 1300 (11th Cir. 2008). Therefore, counsel
3 cannot be found ineffective for any of the reasons articulated in this section, and these claims 4 should be denied.

5 4. Counsel Was Not Ineffective for Failure to Utilize a Jury Selection Expert

6 Petitioner's Supplement claimed his trial counsel was ineffective for failing to retain a 7 "Jury Selection Expert" to assist in preparing voir dire questions and providing a profile of 8 favorable jurors. Supp. at 12-13. However, Petitioner never stated with any specificity how a 9 jury selection expert would have been helpful beyond a vague and unsupported insistence that 10 counsel should have consulted an expert. Petitioner failed to show how such an expert would 11 have led to a different result regarding specific venire persons in his case. Petitioner's claim 12 is devoid of all specific factual reference to venire persons. Therefore, Petitioner's claim is not 13 cognizable and is suitable only for summary denial pursuant to Hargrove.

14 5. Counsel Was Not Ineffective for Not Objecting to Prosecutor's Comments

15 Petitioner's Petition claimed his counsel was ineffective for failing to object to alleged 16 prosecutorial misconduct. Pet. at 8-8D. However, Petitioner failed to assert a single 17 meritorious claim of prosecutorial misconduct, and his counsel cannot be ineffective for failing 18 to raise a claim in futility.

19 Counsel cannot be ineffective for failing to make futile objections or arguments. See 20 Ennis v. State, 122 Nev. 694, 706, 137 P.3d 1095, 1103 (2006). Trial counsel has the 21 "immediate and ultimate responsibility of deciding if and when to object, which witnesses, if 22 any, to call, and what defenses to develop." Rhyne v. State, 118 Nev. 1, 8, 38 P.3d 163, 167 23 (2002).

24 In resolving claims of prosecutorial misconduct, the Court undertakes a two-step 25 analysis: determining whether the comments were improper; and deciding whether the 26 comments were sufficient to deny the defendant a fair trial. Valdez v. State, 124 Nev. 1172, 27 1188. As to the first factor, argument is not misconduct unless "the remarks ... were 'patently
28 prejudicial.'" Riker v. State, 111 Nev. 1316, 1328, 905 P.2d 706, 713 (1995) (quoting Libby

2 disparaging comments about defense counsel pursuant to Butler, 120 Nev. 898, 102 P.3d 84, 3 “statements by a prosecutor, in argument, ... made as a deduction or conclusion from the 4 evidence introduced in the trial are permissible and unobjectionable.” Parker v. State, 109 Nev.
5 383, 392, 849 P.2d 1062, 1068 (1993) (quoting Collins v. State, 87 Nev. 436, 439, 488 P.2d 6 544, 545 (1971)). The prosecution may also respond to defense’s arguments and 7 characterization of the evidence. See Williams v. State, 113 Nev. 1008, 1018-19, 945 P.2d
8 438, 444-45 (1997), receded from on other grounds, Byford v. State, 116 Nev. 215, 994 P.2d 9 700 (2000). A prosecutor may also offer commentary on the evidence that is supported by the 10 record. Rose v. State, 123 Nev. 194, 163 P.3d 408 (2007), rehearing denied (Dec. 6, 2007), 11 reconsideration en banc denied (Mar. 6, 2008), cert. den., 555 U.S. 847, 129 S.Ct. 95 (2008).
12 The Court views the statements in context, and will not lightly overturn a jury’s verdict based 13 upon a prosecutor’s statements. Byars v. State, 130 Nev. 848, 865 (2014). Normally, the 14 defendant must show that an error was prejudicial in order to establish that it affected 15 substantial rights. Gallego v. State, 117 Nev. 348, 365 (2001).

16 With respect to the second step, this Court will not reverse if the misconduct was 17 harmless error. Valdez, 124 Nev. at 1188. The proper standard of harmless error review
18 depends on whether the prosecutorial misconduct is of a constitutional dimension. Id. at 1188-
19 89. Misconduct may be constitutional if a prosecutor comments on the exercise of a 20 constitutional right, or the misconduct “so infected the trial with unfairness as to make the 21 resulting conviction a denial of due process.” Id. 124 Nev. at 1189 (quoting Darden v.
22 Wainwright, 477 U.S. 168, 181 (1986)). When the misconduct is of constitutional dimension, 23 this Court will reverse unless the State demonstrates that the error did not contribute to the 24 verdict. Id. 124 Nev. at 1189. When the misconduct is not of constitutional dimension, this 25 Court “will reverse only if the error substantially affects the jury’s verdict.” Id.

26 The State is permitted to offer commentary on the evidence that is supported by the 27 record. Rose, 123 Nev. at 209, 163 P.3d at 418. In Rose, the prosecutor called the appellant a
28 predator for using his daughter as a lure to reach other victims, but the Nevada Supreme Court

1 accepted it as appropriate commentary supported by the evidence and as insufficiently
2 prejudicial to warrant relief. Rose, 123 Nev. at 209–10, 163 P.3d at 418–19.

3 Further, the State may respond to defense theories and arguments. Williams v. State, 4 113 Nev. 1008, 1018-19 (1997). This includes commenting on a defendant’s failure to 5 substantiate his theory. Colley v. State, 98 Nev. 14, 16 (1982); See also Bridges v. State, 116
6 Nev. 752, 762 (2000), citing State v. Green, 81 Nev. 173, 176 (1965) (“The prosecutor had a
7 right to comment upon the testimony and to ask the jury to draw inferences from the evidence,
8 and has the right to state fully his views as to what the evidence shows.”). Further, if the 9 defendant presents a theory of defense, but fails to present evidence thereon, the State may 10 comment upon the failure to support the supposed theory. Evans v. State, 117 Nev. 609, 630-
11 631 (2001); see McNelson v. State, 115 Nev. 396, 408–09 (1999).

12 Petitioner’s pro per pleading objected to four different statements as alleged 13 prosecutorial misconduct to which his counsel should have objected. Petitioner first took issue 14 with the State claiming during closing argument that: “The purpose was to either inflict 15 substantial bodily harm or kill her -- so first – first degree kidnapping was met.” Pet. at 8; Jury 16 Trial Day 6: June 26, 2017, at 118, filed February 13, 2018. In context, the State’s statement 17 was as follows:

18 All of this demonstrates the fact that she was hogtied, kidnapped. So 19 for what purpose? Was it to inflict substantial bodily harm? To kill 20 her? To sexually assault? You heard the defendant was angry she said.
21 When he brought her into the apartment, everything was fine, and then 22 all of a sudden his body language changed. His demeanor changed.
23 He got loud. He got mean, and ultimately she was beat. She was beat 24 with a belt. She was beat with a broom. She was beat with a – or she 25 was stunned. She had the shotgun in her mouth. What do you think 26 the purpose was? The purpose was to either inflict substantial bodily 27 harm or kill her, and then you heard about the broomstick. So first -- 28 first-degree kidnapping was met.

24 Jury Trial Day 6: June 26, 2017, at 118, filed February 13, 2018. The state’s argument was 25 clearly a commentary on the evidence adduced at trial. The State was arguing that Petitioner’s 26 intent could be deduced from the actions he undertook while he had the victim hogtied. Such 27 a commentary is proper during closing arguments, and is not prosecutorial misconduct.

1           Petitioner next takes issue with the State allegedly offering an incorrect definition of 2   Battery with Intent to Commit Sexual Assault. Petitioner references page 125 and 128 of Jury
3   Trial Day 6: June 26, 2017 and claims that the State defined Battery With Intent to Commit
4   Sexual Assault as

5                   The fact that she is physically restrained substantially increased her 6                   risk of potentially death or substantial bodily harm because she can't 7                   get out.

8                   ...
9                   So the putting her down, whacking her with the broomstick and the 10                  putting the broomstick up at her butt, Battery With the Intent to 11                  Commit a Sexual Assault.

12   Pet. at 8-A; Jury Trial Day 6: June 26, 2017 at 124-25, 128 respectively.

13           As to the first statement, the State was not discussing the crime of Battery With Intent
14   to Commit Sexual Assault. The State was arguing that Petitioner could be found guilty of both 15   Kidnapping in the first-degree and Sexual Assault if the victim is physically restrained, and 16   such restraint substantially increases the risk of harm. Jury Trial Day 6: June 26, 2017 at 124-
17   25. Essentially, the State was arguing that given the facts of the case, the jury could find that 18   Petitioner had committed kidnapping in the first degree by substantially increasing the risk of 19   substantially bodily harm, and also find that Petitioner had committed Sexual Assault by 20   penetrating Petitioner with a broomstick. Id. Further, nowhere in the excerpt does the State
21   define any of these offenses. In fact, the State made regular mention to the jury instructions
22   that properly defined these offenses. Id. As such, Petitioner's notion that the State incorrectly 23   defined Battery with Intent to Commit Sexual Assault is belied by the record.

24           Regarding the second statement, the State was not defining Battery With Intent to 25   Commit Sexual Assault. In fact, the State specifically referenced the jury to Jury Instruction 26   17 for a statement of the law regarding this crime. Id. at 128. The State was arguing that these 27   were the actions that constituted Battery with Intent to Commit Sexual Assault. Given that 28   proof of these actions had been admitted at trial, the State was entitled to argue that the evidence satisfied the elements of the crime charged.

1           Petitioner further takes issue with the State claiming “the fact that she is physically
2 restrained substantially increases her risk of potentially death or substantial bodily harm.” Pet.
3 at 8-B; Jury Trial Day 6: June 26, 2017 at 124-25. Such a statement was clearly a commentary
4 on the evidence. Pursuant to Rose v. State, 123 Nev. 194, 209, 163 P.3d 408, 418 (2007), such 5 a statement does not establish prosecutorial misconduct.

6           Given that trial counsel has the ultimate responsibility of deciding what objections to 7 make, and that none of the statements Petitioner here complains of constituted prosecutorial
8 misconduct, it was not unreasonable for Petitioner’s counsel to not object to these statements.

9           Further, even if counsel’s decision had been unreasonable, Petitioner was not 10 prejudiced. As the Nevada Supreme Court held when affirming Petitioner’s conviction, there
11 was such overwhelming evidence of Petitioner’s guilt introduced at trial that it was not plain 12 error for the Court to allow alleged prior bad act evidence to be admitted. Given that the 13 standard for prejudice under ineffective assistance of counsel is the same as the standard for 14 plain error review, Petitioner cannot then demonstrate that he was prejudiced by his counsel’s 15 actions. See Gordon v. United States, 518 F.3d 1291, 1300 (11th Cir. 2008). As such, 16 Petitioner’s counsel cannot be found ineffective and this claim should be denied.

17           Petitioner’s Supplement further claimed his counsel was ineffective for failing to object 18 to alleged additional instances of prosecutorial misconduct during closing argument. Supp. at 19 15-17. Here too, Petitioner failed to put forth any meritorious claim of prosecutorial 20 misconduct, and his counsel cannot be ineffective for failing to raise a claim in futility.

21           Petitioner alleged three instances of improper argument during closing argument that 22 trial counsel was ineffective for failing to object to. In the first and second claims in the 23 Supplement, Petitioner submits the prosecutor stated her personal opinion regarding whether 24 the victim was hogtied, and what Petitioner’s intent was. Supp. at 15-16. A review of the 25 record shows the prosecutor did not state her personal opinion or belief in either instance. As 26 to both claims, the prosecutor argued the evidence. The prosecutor argued that based on the 27 evidence, Petitioner hogtied the victim and when Petitioner beat her with a belt and a 28 broomstick, Petitioner intended to inflict substantial bodily harm. TT Day 6 at 117-118. All of

1 these facts were in evidence. Statements by a prosecutor, in argument, made as a deduction or 2 conclusion from the evidence introduced in the trial are permissible and unobjectionable.
3 Parker v. State, 109 Nev. 383, 392, 849 P.2d 1062, 1068 (1993). It was then up to the jury to 4 weigh the evidence and decide whether it was Petitioner in the videos or not. Jackson v.
5 Virginia, 443 U.S. 307, 319, 99 S. Ct. 2781, 2789 (1979). It is by no means improper for the 6 State to argue that a defendant committed a crime based on the evidence. Thus, the State's 7 arguments made in closing were made as a conclusion from the evidence presented at trial and 8 were unobjectionable pursuant to Parker.

9 The Supplement's third claim asserted the prosecutor "misstated or oversimplified the 10 law regarding accomplice liability or the legal liability as co-conspirator," when the prosecutor 11 argued that Petitioner was liable for using a deadly weapon, even though someone else was 12 actually the person who used the stun gun. Supp. at 16. However, this claim should be denied 13 because it is without merit.

14 First, the claim is belied by the record. The portion of the prosecutor's closing argument 15 Petitioner complains about is:

16 So an unarmed offender uses a deadly weapon when the unarmed
17 offender is liable for the offense, so specifically, you know, the stun 18 gun. The Defendant is liable for the offense... So if you believe that it was the other person who used the stun gun, the Defendant is still liable for the use of that deadly weapon.

19 TT Day 6 at 123.

20 This is exactly what jury instruction number fourteen (14) says.

21 If more than one person commits a crime, and one of them uses a 22 deadly weapon in the commission of that crime, each may be convicted of using the deadly weapon even though he did not 23 personally himself use the weapon.

24 An unarmed offender "uses" a deadly weapon when the unarmed
offender is liable for the offense, another person liable for the offense 25 is armed with and uses a deadly weapon in the commission of the offense, and the unarmed offender had knowledge of the use of the 26 deadly weapon.

1 Jury Instruction No. 14. The prosecutor’s statement was a correct statement of law. Therefore,
2 the claim is belied by the record and only suitable for summary denial under Hargrove. 100
3 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 225.

4       Regardless, in all three claims, the record shows that each alleged mistake was 5 insufficiently prejudicial to warrant reversal in light of the overwhelming evidence of guilt, as 6 found by the appellate court on direct appeal. There, the Court said, “[w]e conclude that there 7 was no plain error given the overwhelming evidence that supported the jury’s verdict, which 8 included eyewitness and independent witness testimony, DNA evidence, physical injuries on 9 the victim, and recovery of the items used to bind and gag the victim.” Order of Affirmance 10 at 3. Therefore, Petitioner fails to show prejudice.

11       Lastly, when to object is a virtually unchallengeable strategic judgment. Ennis, 122 12 Nev. at 706, 137 P.3d at 1103. Trial counsel has the “immediate and ultimate responsibility of 13 deciding if and when to object, which witnesses, if any, to call, and what defenses to develop.”
14 Rhyne v. State, 118 Nev. 1, 8, 38 P.3d 163, 167 (2002). Even if there was a legitimate 15 objection, which as addressed above there was not, counsel may have made the strategic 16 decision not to object so as not to draw attention to the prosecutor’s arguments and thereby 17 exacerbate any potential prejudice. Counsel cannot be ineffective for making a strategic 18 decision not to object and counsel cannot be ineffective for failing to offer futile objections.
19 Ennis, 122 Nev. at 706, 137 P.3d at 1103. Therefore, Petitioner’s claims fail and should be 20 denied accordingly.

21       6. Failure to Request a Jury Instruction

22       Petitioner further argued in Ground Three of his Petition that counsel was ineffective 23 for not requesting a jury instruction defining the necessary elements of substantial bodily 24 harm. Pet at 8-C. Petitioner alleged it was unreasonable for his counsel to not request an 25 instruction reflecting this standard because the State had charged him with Battery with Intent
26 to Commit Sexual Assault, which the State could not prove without showing that the crime 27 resulted in substantial bodily harm. Id.

28       //

1           However, this assertion is fallacious. In fact, a review of NRS 200.400(4)(b)-(c) reveals
2   that an individual may be convicted of Battery with Intent to Commit Sexual Assault even 3   when no substantial bodily harm occurs. In fact, the charging document reflects that Petitioner
4   was charged only with Battery with Intent to Commit Sexual Assault, not Battery with Intent
5   to Commit Sexual Assault Resulting in Substantial Bodily Harm. See Indictment. Petitioner's 6   sentence for this crime (life with the eligibility to parole after two (2) years) also reflects that
7   he was convicted only of Battery with Intent to Commit Sexual Assault, not Battery with Intent
8   to Commit Sexual Assault Resulting in Substantial Bodily Harm. See NRS 200.400(4); 9   Recorder's Transcript Re: Sentencing, at 8, October 19, 2017. Thus, Petitioner's counsel had 10   no cause to request the jury instruction in question. Counsel's refrain from issuing this request 11   was accordingly not unreasonable.

12           Moreover, even if counsel's decision had been unreasonable, Petitioner was not 13   prejudiced. As the Nevada Supreme Court held when affirming Petitioner's conviction, there
14   was such overwhelming evidence of Petitioner's guilt introduced at trial that it was not plain 15   error for the Court to allow alleged prior bad act evidence to be admitted. Given that the 16   standard for prejudice under ineffective assistance of counsel is the same as the standard for 17   plain error review, Petitioner is unable to demonstrate that he was prejudiced by his counsel's 18   actions. See Gordon v. United States, 518 F.3d 1291, 1300 (11th Cir. 2008). As such, this 19   Court cannot find Petitioner's counsel was ineffective on this basis, and this claim is denied.

20           7. Counsel's Closing Argument Advanced a Clear Theory of the Case

21           Petitioner's Supplement claimed counsel was ineffective for failing to have a "clear 22   theory of the case for an acquittal" during their "very short" closing argument. Supp. at 18-19.
23   However, Petitioner's claim is without merit because it is belied by the record.

24           First, of note, Petitioner failed to clarify how counsel's closing argument was "very 25   short." Supp. at 18-19. He failed to state what counsel should have argued or what other 26   evidence he should have argued during closing. Moreover, counsel's closing argument 27   spanned roughly fifteen (15) pages of trial transcript. TT Day 6 at 133-145. Therefore, his 28   claim that the closing argument was too short is bare and naked, suitable only for summary

1 denial. Hargrove, 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 225.

2 Regardless, counsel's theory during closing argument was straightforward: the victim 3 was not credible because she was a drug user who was using drugs at the time, and because 4 she offered multiple versions of her story that she could not keep straight. TT Day 6 at 133-
5 145. This is consistent with defense counsel's argued theory during opening statements. There, 6 counsel told the jury that they were going to hear about the multiple statements the victim
7 made every time she spoke about the incident, and how each statement would be different 8 from the last. TT Day 2 at 191-192. Counsel even stated, "it is my very sincere belief that you 9 will determine that Arrie is not telling the truth of what happened that day." Id. Therefore, the 10 record clearly indicates that counsel's defense theory, which was consistently argued 11 throughout the trial, was the victim was not credible. Having found this claim is belied by the 12 record, this claim is denied.

13 8. The Evidence Presented at Trial Was Overwhelming

14 Petitioner's Supplement asserted that a deficient trial performance resulted in 15 Petitioner's conviction despite the State's failure to meet its burden of proving the crime
16 beyond a reasonable doubt. Supp. at 18-20.

17 First, Petitioner's contention is devoid of reference to any facts in this case. Petitioner 18 failed to make any specific reference to what part of counsel's argument or trial strategy was 19 deficient, or what defenses they should have presented at trial. Therefore, it is a naked assertion 20 that should be summarily denied. Hargrove, 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 225.

21 Second, the evidence at trial was overwhelming, thus Petitioner's claim is belied by the 22 record. "When reviewing a criminal conviction for sufficiency of the evidence, this Court 23 determines whether any rational trier of fact could have found the essential elements of the 24 crime beyond a reasonable doubt when viewing the evidence in the light most favorable to the 25 prosecution." Brass v. State, 128 Nev. 748, 752, 291 P.3d 145, 149-50 (2012) (internal 26 citations omitted). When there is substantial evidence in support, the jury's verdict will not be 27 disturbed on appeal. Id. A court may not reweigh the evidence or evaluate the credibility of 28 witnesses because that is the responsibility of the trier of fact. McNair v. State, 108 Nev. 53,

1 56, 825 P.2d 571, 573 (1992). Further, circumstantial evidence alone may support a
2 conviction. Collman v. State, 116 Nev. 687, 711, 7 P.3d 426, 441 (2000) (citing Deveroux v.
3 State, 96 Nev. 388, 391, 610 P.2d 722, 724 (1980)).

4         Petitioner’s conviction was not the result of ineffective assistance of counsel. Petitioner
5 was convicted because the evidence in this case was overwhelming. At trial, the victim 6 testified and gave specific details about exactly what happened during the incident, including 7 the fact that Petitioner tied her up, tased her, beat her with a belt, put a broom handle between 8 the cheeks of her buttocks as if he was going to penetrate her with it, and videotaped the entire 9 incident. TT Day 3 at 33-46. The victim had a bruised lip and injuries on her legs when the 10 police met her, and the photographs of her injuries were presented at trial. TT Day 3 at 58-59.
11 Witnesses testified at trial that they saw the victim come out of Petitioner’s apartment with her 12 arms and legs tied, fabric wrapped around her mouth, her pants pulled down, and she was 13 begging them to call the police. TT Day 3 at 200-202. Another witness testified at trial that 14 before he saw the victim come out of the apartment, he saw a black male and three (3) women 15 come out of Petitioner’s apartment. TT Day 4 at 25-26. This matched the description that the 16 victim gave when she testified she heard a male and three (3) women in the apartment with 17 Petitioner when she was tied up. TT Day 3 at 36. The witness also testified he had seen the 18 male with Petitioner before. TT Day 4 at 26. Inside Petitioner’s apartment, detectives found a 19 shotgun, tape, a broom, and a black and brown leather belt. TT Day 3 at 156.

20         The evidence at trial was overwhelming. Every piece of evidence and every witness 21 who testified supported the victim’s version of events. Ultimately, the victim was correctly
22 found to be credible, and all of the evidence presented at trial supported Petitioner’s
23 conviction. Therefore, this Court should not disturb the jury’s conviction and Petitioner’s 24 claim is denied.

25         Furthermore, as the Nevada Supreme Court noted when affirming Petitioner’s sentence, 26 there was “overwhelming evidence that supported the jury’s verdict, which included
27 eyewitness and independent witness testimony, DNA evidence, physical injuries on the victim, 28 and recovery of items used to bind and gag the victim.” Order of Affirmance at 3. This finding

1 is law of the case and as such, this Court can do nothing but deny his sufficiency of the 2 evidence claim. Re-litigation of this issue is precluded by the doctrine of res judicata. Exec.
3 Mgmt. v. Ticor Titles Ins. Co., 114 Nev. 823, 834, 963 P.2d 465, 473 (1998) (citing Univ. of 4 Nev. v. Tarkanian, 110 Nev. 581, 598, 879 P.2d 1180, 1191 (1994)). “The doctrine is intended
5 to prevent multiple litigation causing vexation and expense to the parties and wasted judicial 6 resources...” Id.; see also Mason v. State, 206 S.W.3d 869, 875 (Ark. 2005) (recognizing the 7 doctrine’s availability in the criminal context); York v. State, 342 S.W. 3d 528, 553 (Tex.
8 Crim. App. 2011); Bell v. City of Boise, 993 F.Supp.2d 1237 (D. Idaho 2014) (finding res
9 judicata applies in both civil and criminal contexts). Therefore, the claim must be denied.

10 9. Counsel Was Not Ineffective at Sentencing

11 Petitioner’s Supplement claimed counsel was ineffective at sentencing and this 12 somehow caused the Court to sentence Petitioner to a cruel and unusual sentence in violation 13 of his constitutional rights. Supp. at 20-22. However, Petitioner’s claim is bare, naked, and 14 without merit. Hargrove, 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 225. Therefore, it must be denied.

15 The Eighth Amendment to the United States Constitution as well as Article 1, Section 16 6 of the Nevada Constitution prohibit the imposition of cruel and unusual punishment. The 17 Nevada Supreme Court has stated that “[a] sentence within the statutory limits is not ‘cruel 18 and unusual punishment unless the statute fixing punishment is unconstitutional or the 19 sentence is so unreasonably disproportionate to the offense as to shock the conscience.’” 20 Allred v. State, 120 Nev. 410, 92 P.2d 1246, 1253 (2004) (quoting Blume v. State, 112 Nev.
21 472, 475, 915 P.2d 282, 284 (1996) (quoting Culverson v. State, 95 Nev. 95 Nev. 433, 435, 22 596 P.2d 220, 221-22 (1979)).

23 Additionally, the Nevada Supreme Court has granted district courts “wide discretion” 24 in sentencing decisions, and these are not to be disturbed “[s]o long as the record does not 25 demonstrate prejudice resulting from consideration of information or accusations founded on 26 facts supported only by impalpable or highly suspect evidence.” Allred, 120 Nev. at 410, 92
27 P.2d at 1253 (quoting Silks v. State, 92 Nev. 91, 94, 545 P.2d 1159, 1161 (1976)). A sentencing 28 judge is permitted broad discretion in imposing a sentence and absent an abuse of discretion,

1 the district court's determination will not be disturbed on appeal. Randell v. State, 109 Nev. 5, 2 846 P.2d 278 (1993) (citing Deveroux v. State, 96 Nev. 388, 610 P.2d 722 (1980)). As long 3 as the sentence is within the limits set by the legislature, a sentence will normally not be 4 considered cruel and unusual. Glegola v. State, 110 Nev. 344, 871 P.2d 950 (1994).

5       Petitioner's sentence is not "so unreasonably disproportionate to the offense as to shock 6 the conscience." Allred, 120 Nev. 410, 92 P.2d at 1253. Petitioner was sentenced to an 7 aggregate total a minimum of thirteen (13) years in the Nevada Department of Corrections, 8 and a maximum of life imprisonment. Transcript from Sentencing ("Sentencing") at 8. This 9 sentence was appropriate in light of the facts of this case. At trial, the victim testified that 10 Petitioner told her to get on her knees and then tied her up with electrical cords and tape. TT
11 Day 3 at 33. He tied her hands behind her back and tied them to her feet. Id. Then, he put a 12 double-barrel shotgun in her mouth and said "Bitch, it's not a game." TT Day 3 at 34. After 13 that, he shoved "stuff" in her mouth and down her throat. TT Day 3 at 35. The entire time, 14 Petitioner antagonized the victim telling her that she stole his dogs and repeatedly beat her 15 with a belt. TT Day 3 at 35-36. He also shocked her with a taser. TT Day 3 at 40. As if beating 16 her was not enough, he then pulled her pants down, grabbed a broom, and angled the handle
17 to "stick it in [her] anal." Id. The victim eventually passed out due to trauma. TT Day 3 at TT
18 Day 3 at 42. Petitioner and his friends videotaped the entire incident, laughing and tormenting
19 the victim the entire time. TT Day 3 at 46. The sentence in this case was not unreasonably 20 disproportionate to the offense. In fact, the sentence was warranted in light of the facts of the 21 case. Petitioner fails to show that the sentence was so disproportionate as to shock the 22 conscience and his claim must be denied.

23       Therefore, the record shows the sentence was appropriate and thus insufficiently 24 prejudicial to warrant ignoring Petitioner's procedural defaults. As such, his claim must be 25 denied.

10. Appellate Counsel Was Not Ineffective

Petitioner claimed in his Supplement that appellate counsel was ineffective for failing to raise the following claims: 1) whether there was insufficient evidence of guilt as to the kidnapping count; 2) whether there was insufficient evidence of guilt of battery with intent to commit sexual assault; and 3) whether he was prejudiced by the favorable plea negotiations the State offered to the victim. Supp. at 22-25. However, Petitioner's claims should be denied because they are bare, naked, and belied by the record.

There is a strong presumption that appellate counsel's performance was reasonable and fell within "the wide range of reasonable professional assistance." See United States v. Aguirre, 912 F.2d 555, 560 (2nd Cir. 1990); citing Strickland, 466 U.S. at 689, 104 S. Ct. at 2065. The United States Supreme Court has held that there is a constitutional right to effective assistance of counsel in a direct appeal from a judgment of conviction. Evitts v. Lucey, 469 U.S. 387, 396-97, 105 S. Ct. 830, 835-37 (1985); see also Burke v. State, 110 Nev. 1366, 1368, 887 P.2d 267, 268 (1994). This Court has held that all appeals must be "pursued in a manner meeting high standards of diligence, professionalism and competence." Burke, 110 Nev. at 1368, 887 P.2d at 268.

A claim of ineffective assistance of appellate counsel must satisfy the two-prong test set forth by Strickland. Kirksey v. State, 112 Nev. 980, 998, 923 P.2d 1102, 1114 (1996). To satisfy Strickland's second prong, the defendant must show the omitted issue would have had a reasonable probability of success on appeal. Duhamel v. Collins, 955 F.2d 962, 967 (5th Cir. 1992); Heath, 941 F.2d at 1132; Lara v. State, 120 Nev. 177, 184, 87 P.3d 528, 532 (2004); Kirksey, 112 Nev. at 498, 923 P.2d at 1114.

Appellate counsel is not required to raise every issue that a defendant felt was pertinent to the case. The professional diligence and competence required on appeal involves "winnowing out weaker arguments on appeal and focusing on one central issue if possible, or at most on a few key issues." Jones v. Barnes, 463 U.S. 745, 751-52, 103 S. Ct. 3308, 3313 (1983). In particular, a "brief that raises every colorable issue runs the risk of burying good arguments . . . in a verbal mound made up of strong and weak contentions." Id. at 753, 103 S.

1 Ct. at 3313. For judges to second-guess reasonable professional judgments and impose on 2 appointed counsel a duty to raise every ‘colorable’ claim suggested by a client would disserve
3 the very goal of vigorous and effective advocacy.” Id. at 754, 103 S. Ct. at 3314. The Nevada
4 Supreme Court has similarly concluded that appellate counsel may well be more effective by 5 not raising every conceivable issue on appeal. Ford, 105 Nev. at 853, 784 P.2d at 953.

6 The defendant has the ultimate authority to make fundamental decisions regarding his 7 case. Jones, 463 U.S. at 751, 103 S. Ct. at 3312. However, the defendant does not have a 8 constitutional right to “compel appointed counsel to press nonfrivolous points requested by 9 the client, if counsel, as a matter of professional judgment, decides not to present those points.”
10 Id.

11 First, each of Petitioner’s assertions are bare and naked and should be summarily denied 12 pursuant to Hargrove. 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 225. Petitioner does not apply law to the 13 facts of this case to show how the evidence was insufficient. Nor does he explain how he was 14 prejudiced by any favorable plea negotiations the victim allegedly received. Therefore, these 15 claims are devoid of any argument supported by specific facts and are bare and naked.

16 Second, as to the insufficient evidence claims, Petitioner’s claims are belied by the 17 record and suitable only for summary denial under Hargrove. 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 18 225. Petitioner’s claim that counsel was ineffective for failing to raise the claim that there was 19 insufficient evidence of guilt as to the kidnapping charge is belied by the record. Kidnapping 20 is defined as:

21 A person who willfully seizes, confines...abducts, conceals, kidnaps, 22 or carries away a person by any means whatsoever with the intent to 23 hold or detain...or for the purpose of committing sexual assault...or for the purpose of killing the person or inflicting substantial bodily harm upon the person.

24 NRS 200.310.

25 Here, there was substantial evidence of kidnapping. At trial, the victim testified that 26 Petitioner told her to come into his apartment, then forced her to her knees and tied up her 27 hands, feet, and mouth. TT Day 3 at 33. Witnesses testified that they found the victim with her 28 hands, feet, and mouth bound and that she was begging them to call the police. TT Day 3 at

1 200-202. The tape that Petitioner used to tie up the victim was found at Petitioner's apartment.
2 TT Day 3 at 156. Lastly, the victim had injuries consistent with being tied up. TT Day 3 at 3 139.

4 There was sufficient evidence that Petitioner kidnapped the victim presented at trial. It
5 is clear Petitioner lured her into his apartment, then tied her up, beat her, and videotaped it to 6 get revenge for allegedly stealing his dogs. Appellate counsel did not have to raise an 7 insufficient evidence claim as to the kidnapping charge because counsel is not required to raise 8 futile arguments. Ennis, 122 Nev. at 706, 137 P.3d at 1103. Therefore, Petitioner's claim is 9 denied.

10 Next, Petitioner claims his counsel was ineffective for failing to argue there was 11 insufficient evidence of battery with intent to commit sexual assault. Petitioner's claim is 12 belied by the record.

13 A battery is defined as any willful and unlawful use of force or violence upon another 14 person. NRS 200.400. However, "Battery with intent to commit sexual assault includes a 15 specific intent element and does not include the element of penetration, whereas sexual assault
16 does not include the element of intent but does include the element of penetration." Howard 17 v. State, 129 Nev. 1123; NRS 200.366; NRS 200.400. At trial, the victim testified while she 18 was tied up, Petitioner pulled her pants down and placed the handle of a broomstick between 19 the cheeks of her buttocks as if he was going to penetrate her anus with it. TT Day 3 at 43-44.
20 When witnesses found her, her pants were pulled down exposing her buttocks. TT Day 3 at 21 200-202.

22 The State was not required to prove that the broomstick ultimately penetrated the 23 victim's anus, just that Petitioner intended to commit a sexual assault. As stated above, 24 Petitioner pulled the victim's pants down and placed a broomstick between her buttock's 25 cheeks. There is no other intent to commit that kind of act other than sexual assault. There was 26 substantial evidence that Petitioner committed a battery with intent to commit a sexual assault.
27 Therefore, there was no reason for appellate counsel to raise a futile claim. Ennis, 122 Nev. at 28 706, 137 P.3d at 1103. Therefore, Petitioner's claim should be denied.

1           Lastly, Petitioner claims his counsel was ineffective for failing to raise the claim that 2   Petitioner was prejudiced by the favorable plea negotiations offered by the State to the victim.
3   Pet. at 23. However, this claim is bare and naked because Petitioner does not state how the 4   negotiations were favorable or how those negotiations caused any prejudice to Petitioner.
5   Further, this claim is belied by the record. At trial, referring to the victim's ongoing criminal 6   case, the victim testified:

7                   THE STATE           And when you were negotiating that case, do you 8   know if – did they talk to you about testifying in this case against Mr. Elam?

9                   WEBSTER:           Not at all.

10                  THE STATE:           Okay. Did you have your attorney talk to the 11   prosecutor on that other case about the case you
12   have with Mr. Elam?

13                  WEBSTER:           No.

14                  THE STATE:           No. And did it come up in any way that you were a victim in this case here?

15                  WEBSTER:           No, sir.

16                  THE STATE:           Okay. Have you been told that if you come in and 17   testify against Mr. Elam that that will help you in 18   the case that you have being brought against you?

19                  WEBSTER:           No, not at all.

20   TT Day 3 at 11-12.

21           Counsel cannot be ineffective for failing to raise a claim that is bare, naked, and belied
22   by the record. Ennis, 122 Nev. at 706, 137 P.3d at 1103. Regardless, appellate counsel is most 23   effective when weeding out weaker issues in order to keep the attention on the stronger issues.
24   Jones v. Barnes, 463 U.S. 745, 751-52, 103 S. Ct. 3308, 3313 (1983). Petitioner's claim is 25   therefore without merit and is denied.

1           B. There is No Cumulative Error in Habeas Review

2           Through his Supplement, Petitioner asserted a claim of cumulative error in the context
3 of ineffective assistance of counsel. Supp. at 27-28. However, since Petitioner failed to 4 demonstrate any error, his cumulative error argument is meritless.

5           The Nevada Supreme Court has not endorsed application of its direct appeal cumulative
6 error standard to the post-conviction Strickland context. McConnell v. State, 125 Nev. 243, 7 259, 212 P.3d 307, 318 (2009). Nor should cumulative error apply on post-conviction review.
8 Middleton v. Roper, 455 F.3d 838, 851 (8th Cir. 2006), cert. denied, 549 U.S. 1134, 1275 S.
9 Ct. 980 (2007) (“a habeas petitioner cannot build a showing of prejudice on series of errors, 10 none of which would by itself meet the prejudice test.”)

11           Nevertheless, even where available a cumulative error finding in the context of a 12 Strickland claim is extraordinarily rare and requires an extensive aggregation of errors. See, 13 e.g., Harris By and through Ramseyer v. Wood, 64 F.3d 1432, 1438 (9th Cir. 1995). In fact, 14 logic dictates that there can be no cumulative error where the defendant fails to demonstrate 15 any single violation of Strickland. See Turner v. Quarterman, 481 F.3d 292, 301 (5th Cir.
16 2007) (“where individual allegations of error are not of constitutional stature or are not errors,
17 there is ‘nothing to cumulate.’”) (quoting Yohey v. Collins, 985 F.2d 222, 229 (5th Cir. 1993));
18 Hughes v. Epps, 694 F.Supp.2d 533, 563 (N.D. Miss. 2010) (citing Leal v. Dretke, 428 F.3d 19 543, 552-53 (5th Cir. 2005)). Because Petitioner has not demonstrated any claim warrants
20 relief under Strickland, there is nothing to cumulate. Therefore, Petitioner’s cumulative error
21 claim is denied.

22           Petitioner failed to demonstrate cumulative error sufficient to warrant reversal. In 23 addressing a claim of cumulative error, the relevant factors are: 1) whether the issue of guilt 24 is close; 2) the quantity and character of the error; and 3) the gravity of the crime charged.
25 Mulder v. State, 116 Nev. 1, 17, 992 P.2d 845, 854-5 (2000). As discussed supra, the issue of 26 guilt was not close as the evidence against Petitioner was overwhelming.

27    //

28    //

1 The Mulder factors do not warrant a finding of cumulative error. First, the issue of guilt
2 in the instant case was not close; as discussed, the evidence was immense and compelling. As 3 the Nevada Supreme Court noted when it affirmed Petitioner's judgment of conviction, there
4 was "overwhelming evidence that supported the jury's verdict." Order of Affirmance, at 3.
5 Second, the gravity of the crime charged was severe, as Petitioner was charged with multiple 6 counts in connection with a first-degree kidnapping. Third, there was no individual error in 7 the underlying proceedings, and as such, there is no error to cumulate. Finally, even under the 8 theory that some of or all Petitioner's allegations of deficiency have merit, he has failed to 9 establish that, when aggregated, the errors deprived him of a reasonable likelihood of a more
10 favorable trial outcome. Therefore, even if counsel was in any way deficient, there is no 11 reasonable probability that Petitioner would have received a better result but for the alleged 12 deficiencies. Accordingly, this claim is denied.

13 IV. PETITIONER IS NOT ENTITLED TO AN EVIDENTIARY HEARING

14 In his Petition, Petitioner claimed he is entitled to an evidentiary hearing because he raised 15 factual claims "which, if true, entitled him to an evidentiary hearing." Pet. 25-27. However, 16 an evidentiary hearing is not required.

17 NRS 34.770 determines when a defendant is entitled to an evidentiary hearing. It reads:

18 1. The judge or justice, upon review of the return, answer and all 19 supporting documents which are filed, shall determine whether an 20 evidentiary hearing is required. A petitioner must not be discharged or committed to the custody of a person other than the respondent
unless an evidentiary hearing is held.

21 2. If the judge or justice determines that the petitioner is not entitled 22 to relief and an evidentiary hearing is not required, he shall dismiss the petition without a hearing.

23 3. If the judge or justice determines that an evidentiary hearing is 24 required, he shall grant the writ and shall set a date for the hearing.

25 The Nevada Supreme Court has held that if a petition can be resolved without 26 expanding the record, then no evidentiary hearing is necessary. Marshall v. State, 110 Nev.
27 1328, 885 P.2d 603 (1994); Mann v. State, 118 Nev. 351, 356, 46 P.3d 1228, 1231 (2002). A 28 defendant is entitled to an evidentiary hearing if his petition is supported by specific factual

1 allegations, which, if true, would entitle him to relief unless the factual allegations are repelled
2 by the record. Marshall, 110 Nev. at 1331, 885 P.2d at 605; see also Hargrove v. State, 100
3 Nev. 498, 503, 686 P.2d 222, 225 (1984) (holding that “[a] defendant seeking post-conviction
4 relief is not entitled to an evidentiary hearing on factual allegations belied or repelled by the 5 record”). “A claim is ‘belied’ when it is contradicted or proven to be false by the record as it
6 existed at the time the claim was made.” Mann, 118 Nev. at 354, 46 P.3d at 1230 (2002). It is 7 improper to hold an evidentiary hearing simply to make a complete record. See State v. Eighth
8 Judicial Dist. Court, 121 Nev. 225, 234, 112 P.3d 1070, 1076 (2005) (“The district court 9 considered itself the ‘equivalent of . . . the trial judge’ and consequently wanted ‘to make as 10 complete a record as possible.’ This is an incorrect basis for an evidentiary hearing.”).

11 Further, the United States Supreme Court has held that an evidentiary hearing is not 12 required simply because counsel’s actions are challenged as being unreasonable strategic 13 decisions. Harrington v. Richter, 131 S. Ct. 770, 788 (2011). Although courts may not indulge 14 post hoc rationalization for counsel’s decision making that contradicts the available evidence 15 of counsel’s actions, neither may they insist counsel confirm every aspect of the strategic basis 16 for his or her actions. Id. There is a “strong presumption” that counsel’s attention to certain 17 issues to the exclusion of others reflects trial tactics rather than “sheer neglect.” Id. (citing 18 Yarborough v. Gentry, 540 U.S. 1, 124 S. Ct. 1 (2003)). Strickland calls for an inquiry in the 19 objective reasonableness of counsel’s performance, not counsel’s subjective state of mind. 466
20 U.S. 668, 688, 104 S. Ct. 2052, 2065 (1994).

21 Here, Petitioner has offered no factual allegations which, even if true, would entitle him 22 to relief. All Petitioner’s claims amount to either bare and naked allegations or assertions that 23 counsel had the duty to file frivolous motions. Further, Petitioner is unable to overcome the 24 fact that he cannot show he was prejudiced by counsel’s conduct on any of these grounds
25 because the evidence of guilt admitted against him was overwhelming. See Order of 26 Affirmance, at 3. As such, there is no need to expand the record, and Petitioner’s request for 27 an evidentiary hearing is denied.

1 193.330, 193.165 - NOC 50121). The State requested a conditional dismissal of Count 8—
3 Felony - NRS 202.360 - NOC 51460).

4 On October 19, 2017, Petitioner was adjudged guilty and sentenced as follows: as to 5 Count 1 a minimum of twenty-four (24) months and a maximum of seventy-two (72) months
6 in the Nevada Department of Corrections; as to Count 2—life with the eligibility for parole
7 after five (5) years with a consecutive term of a minimum of sixty (60) months and a maximum
8 of one hundred eighty (180) months for the use of a deadly weapon in the Nevada Department
9 of Corrections to run concurrent with count 1; as to Count 3—to a minimum of twelve (12)
10 months and a maximum of seventy-two (72) months in the Nevada Department of Corrections
11 to run consecutive to Count 2; as to Count 5—life with the eligibility to parole after two (2)
12 years to run consecutive to Count 3 in the Nevada Department of Corrections. Petitioner 13 received nine hundred twenty-eight (928) days credit for time served. Counts 4, 6, and 7 were 14 dismissed and Count 8 was conditionally dismissed. Additionally, this Court ordered a special 15 sentence of lifetime supervision to commence upon release from any term of probation, parole, 16 or imprisonment. Further, Petitioner was ordered to register as a sex offender in accordance 17 with NRS 199D.460 within 48 hours of release.

18 Petitioner's Judgment of Conviction was filed on October 31, 2017.

19 On November 13, 2017, Petitioner filed a Notice of Appeal. On April 12, 2019, the 20 Nevada Supreme Court affirmed Petitioner's judgment of conviction. Remittitur issued on 21 May 7, 2019.

22 On May 27, 2020, Petitioner filed a Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus. Also on May 23 27, 2020, Petitioner filed a Motion to Withhold Judgment on Petition for Writ of habeas 24 Corpus and Motion for Appointment of Attorney. On July 6, 2020, the State filed its Response.
25 On August 18, 2020, this Court granted Petitioner's Motion to Withhold Judgment on Petition
26 for Writ of Habeas Corpus and allowed Petitioner to file a Supplemental Petition by October 27 20, 2020. Also on August 18, 2020, this Court denied Petitioner's Motion for Appointment of 28 Counsel without prejudice and articulated that if issues were unduly complex counsel

1 appointment would be considered. Petitioner never filed a Supplemental Petition.

2 Defendant acting pro per could not file Supplementary Points and Authorities by the 3 October 20, 2020 date and on January 19, 2020, the Court denied the Petition and ordered
4 Findings of Fact, Conclusions of Law and Order, which denied the Petition. Defendant then 5 appealed the Order denying his Post-Conviction Petition, filing a Pro Per Notice of Appeal on 6 February 26, 2021. On February 17, 2022, the Supreme Court reversed the District Court's 7 denial of Defendant's Petition and remanded to District Court for appointment of counsel in 8 case number 82637. Counsel Terrence M. Jackson, Esq. was appointed on March 10, 2022 to 9 represent Calvin Thomas Elam on further post-conviction proceedings. On March 15, 2022, 10 the Nevada Supreme Court reversed the District Court's decision and remanded the case to 11 appoint post-conviction counsel and allow Petitioner to file a supplement to his original 12 Petition. On June 9, 2022, Defendant through counsel filed Supplemental Points and 13 Authorities to his Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus in case number A-20-815585-W. On 14 August 11, 2022, the State filed its Response to Petitioner's Supplement to his Petition for 15 Writ of Habeas Corpus. On August 17, 2022 Petitioner filed his Reply.

16 FACTUAL BACKGROUND

17 The following was taken from Petitioner's Presentence Investigation Report ("PSI"):

18 On March 10, 2015, a detective was dispatched to a kidnap call at an 19 apartment complex. The details of the call stated that the victim was 20 kidnapped at a nearby apartment and had escaped her captors. Upon arrival, the detective began an investigation and interviewed the victim.

21 The victim related that she has lived in this neighborhood for the past 22 three months. On this date, she was walking her dog and stopped over at a friend's house. While there, she saw a neighbor, later identified 23 as the defendant Calvin Thomas Elam, who recently had his pit bull dogs stolen. The defendant waved her over to his apartment next door, and she voluntarily went inside.

24 As she waited in the kitchen, the defendant walked to the back of his apartment, came back to the kitchen and told her, "Turn around, put 25 your hands behind your back and get on your knees." She complied, and he bound her hands behind her back with some cords and some 26 plastic material. He next bound her feet together and then he hog tied her feet to her hands and put her face down on the kitchen floor.

1 After tying her up, the defendant began to accuse her of stealing his 2 dogs. When she denied taking his dogs, the defendant began to accuse 3 her of knowing who took his dogs. He then retrieved a shotgun, put 4 the barrel into her mouth and continued to accuse her of knowing who 5 stole his dogs. When she told him it may have been a local thief by 6 the name of RJ, he put toilet paper in her mouth to gag her and put 7 tape around her head to hold the toilet paper in. He then covered her 8 head with some sort of towel, and her vision was partially obscured.

9 During this ordeal, the victim related that a female, the mother of the 10 defendant's child, was in the apartment, as well as three other females.
11 An unidentified male suspect also arrived and accused her of lying 12 and told her that they were going to get to the bottom of it. The mother 13 of the defendant's child left and did not return.

14 While everyone was there, the defendant told her to pull her shorts
15 down; and as she was scared, she pulled her shorts and underwear
16 down to her ankles. The defendant and the unidentified male then 17 beat her approximately twenty-five times with a belt. The male then 18 stated, "I know what she wants," and he grabbed a wood handled
19 broom and tapped it on her buttocks. The victim believed the male 20 was going to penetrate her with the broom handle and sexually assault
21 her with it. She saw one of the three female was filming the assault 22 with her cell phone.

23 Moments later, the unidentified male got a stun gun, put it up to her 24 eyes and told her, "I'll put your eye out." He then electrocuted her six 25 or seven times with the stun gun all over her body to include her neck, 26 back, legs and arms. The victim tried to play dead so that the violence 27 would stop; and while doing this, the male asked, "Is she dead?" The 28 defendant replied, "Taze her one more time." The defendant told the male that his kids were going to be home from school and that he would have them play outside. He also told the male that he would take care of the victim later.

The victim stayed on the kitchen floor for a minute and then tried to make an escape. She was able to get to her feet, made it to the door and fell to the outside. She made to an alley while still hog tied and had her shorts down around her ankles. She fell to the ground; but her friend came to her aid, cut the cords off of her wrists and ankles and took the gag out of her mouth. Two other witnesses saw the victim bound and gagged and coming out from the defendant's apartment, and they corroborated the victim's statement. After she was set free, the victim saw the defendant and two women standing outside the defendant's apartment and laughing at her.

Detectives conducted a traffic stop on a vehicle occupied by the two females. Detectives learned that one of the females had a key to the defendant's apartment, and they were presumably going to clean up the evidence there. One female told the detective that the defendant was at her apartment where he was later taken into custody.

1 The defendant denied committing the offense or the victim coming
2 inside his apartment. He, however, stated that he yelled at the victim
3 to come over to his door where he questioned her about his missing 4 dogs. When asked, he admitted to having a shotgun in his home and moving it because his kids were coming. He stated he moved the shotgun by the door.

5 During the course of the investigation, detectives learned that the 6 defendant's pit bulls were taken by animal control on March 8, 2015.

8 ANALYSIS

9 I. PETITIONER'S PETITION IS PROCEDURALLY BARRED

10 A. Application of Procedural Bars is Mandatory

11 The Nevada Supreme Court has held that courts have a duty to consider whether a 12 defendant's post-conviction petition claims are procedurally barred. State v. Eighth Judicial 13 Dist. Court (Riker), 121 Nev. 225, 231, 112 P.3d 1070, 1074 (2005). The Riker Court found 14 that "[a]pplication of the statutory procedural default rules to post-conviction habeas petitions is mandatory," noting:

15 Habeas corpus petitions that are filed many years after conviction are 16 an unreasonable burden on the criminal justice system. The necessity 17 for a workable system dictates that there must exist a time when a criminal conviction is final.

18 Id. Additionally, the Court noted that procedural bars "cannot be ignored [by the District 19 Court] when properly raised by the State." Id. at 233, 112 P.3d at 1075. Ignoring these 20 procedural bars is an arbitrary and unreasonable exercise of discretion. Id. at 234, 112 P.3d at 21 1076. The Nevada Supreme Court has granted no discretion to District Courts regarding 22 whether to apply the statutory procedural bars; the rules must be applied.

23 This position was reaffirmed in State v. Greene, 129 Nev. 559, 307 P.3d 322 (2013).
24 There the Court ruled that the defendant's petition was "untimely, successive, and an abuse of 25 the writ" and that the defendant failed to show good cause and actual prejudice. Id. at 324, 307
26 P.3d at 326. Accordingly, the Court reversed the District Court and ordered the defendant's 27 petition dismissed pursuant to the procedural bars. Id. at 324, 307 P.3d at 322-23. The 28 procedural bars are so fundamental to the post-conviction process that they must be applied

1 by this Court even if not raised by the State. See Riker, 121 Nev. at 231, 112 P.3d at 1074.
2 Parties cannot stipulate to waive the procedural default rules. State v. Haberstroh, 119 Nev.
3 173, 180-81, 69 P.3d 676, 681-82 (2003).

4 B. Any Substantive Claims Were Waived

5 NRS 34.810(1) reads:

6 The court shall dismiss a petition if the court determines that:

7 (a) The petitioner's conviction was upon a plea of guilty or guilty but 8 mentally ill and the petition is not based upon an allegation that the 9 plea was involuntarily or unknowingly or that the plea was entered without effective assistance of counsel.

10 (b) The petitioner's conviction was the result of a trial and the grounds for the petition could have been:

11 . . .

12 (2) Raised in a direct appeal or a prior petition for a writ of habeas corpus or postconviction relief.

13 The Nevada Supreme Court has held that "challenges to the validity of a guilty plea 14 and claims of ineffective assistance of trial and appellate counsel must first be pursued in post-15 conviction proceedings.... [A]ll other claims that are appropriate for a direct appeal must be 16 pursued on direct appeal, or they will be considered waived in subsequent proceedings."
17 Franklin v. State, 110 Nev. 750, 752, 877 P.2d 1058, 1059 (1994) (emphasis added)
18 (disapproved on other grounds by Thomas v. State, 115 Nev. 148, 979 P.2d 222 (1999)). "A 19 court must dismiss a habeas petition if it presents claims that either were or could have been 20 presented in an earlier proceeding, unless the court finds both cause for failing to present the 21 claims earlier or for raising them again and actual prejudice to the petitioner." Evans v. State, 22 117 Nev. 609, 646-47, 29 P.3d 498, 523 (2001).

23 Further, substantive claims are beyond the scope of habeas and waived. NRS
24 34.724(2)(a); Id. at 646-47, 29 P.3d 498, 523; Franklin, 110 Nev. at 752, 877 P.2d at 1059.

25 Petitioner brought substantive claims that should have been raised on direct appeal. In 26 Ground Two of the Petition, Petitioner alleged that his conviction is unsupported by sufficient 27 evidence. Pet. at 7-7A. Such a substantive claim was waived for failure to bring it on direct 28 appeal. Further, to the extent this Court would read Ground Three of the Petition as a claim of prosecutorial misconduct, it is also substantive and should have been raised on direct appeal.

C. Petitioner's Petition is Time-Barred

Petitioner's Petition is time-barred pursuant to NRS 34.726(1):

Unless there is good cause shown for delay, a petition that challenges the validity of a judgment or sentence must be filed within 1 year of the entry of the judgment of conviction or, if an appeal has been taken from the judgment, within 1 year after the Supreme Court issues its remittitur. For the purposes of this subsection, good cause for delay exists if the petitioner demonstrates to the satisfaction of the court:

- (a) That the delay is not the fault of the petitioner; and
- (b) That dismissal of the petition as untimely will unduly prejudice the petitioner.

The Nevada Supreme Court has held that NRS 34.726 should be construed by its plain meaning. Pellegrini v. State, 117 Nev. 860, 873–74, 34 P.3d 519, 528 (2001). Per the language of the statute, the statutory one-year time bar begins to run from the filing date of a judgment of conviction or remittitur from a timely direct appeal. Dickerson v. State, 114 Nev. 1084, 1087, 967 P.2d 1132, 1133–34 (1998).

The one-year time limit for preparing petitions for post-conviction relief under NRS 34.726 is strictly applied. In Gonzales v. State, 118 Nev. 590, 596, 53 P.3d 901, 904 (2002), the Nevada Supreme Court rejected a habeas petition that was filed two (2) days late despite evidence presented by the defendant that he purchased postage through the prison and mailed the petition within the one-year time limit.

Remittitur issued from Petitioner's direct appeal on May 7, 2019. Therefore, Petitioner had until May 7, 2020, to file a timely habeas petition. Petitioner filed his Petition on May 27, 2020, in excess of the one-year deadline. Accordingly, this Court denies the Petition as it is time-barred.

II. PETITIONER HAS FAILED TO PROVIDE GOOD CAUSE TO OVERCOME THE PROCEDURAL BAR

To avoid procedural default, a defendant has the burden of pleading and proving specific facts that demonstrate good cause for his failure to present his claim in earlier proceedings or to otherwise comply with the statutory requirements, and that he will be unduly

1 prejudiced if the petition is dismissed. NRS 34.726(1)(a); see Hogan v. Warden, 109 Nev. 952,
2 959–60, 860 P.2d 710, 715–16 (1993); Phelps v. Nevada Dep’t of Prisons, 104 Nev. 656, 659, 3 764 P.2d 1303, 1305 (1988). “A court must dismiss a habeas petition if it presents claims that 4 either were or could have been presented in an earlier proceeding, unless the court finds both 5 cause for failing to present the claims earlier or for raising them again and actual prejudice to 6 the petitioner.” Evans, 117 Nev. at 646–47, 29 P.3d at 523 (emphasis added).

7 “To establish good cause, petitioners must show that an impediment external to the 8 defense prevented their compliance with the applicable procedural rule.” Clem v. State, 119
9 Nev. 615, 621, 81 P.3d 521, 525 (2003) (emphasis added); see Hathaway v. State, 119 Nev.
10 248, 251, 71 P.3d 503, 506 (2003); Pellegrini, 117 Nev. at 887, 34 P.3d at 537. “A qualifying 11 impediment might be shown where the factual or legal basis for a claim was not reasonably 12 available at the time of default.” Clem v. State, 119 Nev. 615, 621, 81 P.3d 521, 525 (2003).
13 The Court continued, “petitioners cannot attempt to manufacture good cause[.]” Id. at 621, 81
14 P.3d at 526. Examples of good cause include interference by state officials and the previous 15 unavailability of a legal or factual basis. See State v. Huebler, 128 Nev. 192, 198 275 P.3d 91, 16 95 (2012). Clearly, any delay in the filing of the petition must not be the fault of the petitioner.
17 NRS 34.726(1)(a).

18 Additionally, “bare” and “naked” allegations are not sufficient to warrant post-19 conviction relief, nor are those belied and repelled by the record. Hargrove v. State, 100 Nev.
20 498, 502, 686 P.2d 222, 225 (1984). A petitioner for post-conviction relief cannot rely on 21 conclusory claims for relief but must make specific factual allegations that if true would entitle
22 him to relief. Colwell v. State, 118 Nev. 807, 59 P.3d 463 (2002) (citing Evans v. State, 117
23 Nev. 609, 621, 28 P.3d 498, 507 (2001)).

24 This Court finds Petitioner has failed to establish the existence of an impediment 25 external to the defense that prevented him from bringing these claims in accordance with the 26 mandatory deadline. Further, all facts and law necessary were available for Petitioner to bring 27 these claims in a timely habeas Petition. Given Petitioner’s failure to show good cause for his 28 delay in filing, this Court concludes consideration of this issue here.

1     III.     PETITIONER HAS FAILED TO ESTABLISH PREJUDICE TO OVERCOME
2     THE PROCEDURAL BAR

3             To establish prejudice, the defendant must show “not merely that the errors of [the 4     proceedings] created possibility of prejudice, but that they worked to his actual and substantial 5     disadvantage, in affecting the state proceedings with error of constitutional dimensions.”
6     Hogan v. Warden, 109 Nev. 952, 960, 860 P.2d 710, 716 (1993) (quoting United States v.
7     Frady, 456 U.S. 152, 170, 102 S. Ct. 1584, 1596 (1982)). To find good cause there must be a 8     “substantial reason; one that affords a legal excuse.” Hathaway v. State, 119 Nev. 248, 252,
9     71 P.3d 503, 506 (2003) (quoting Colley v. State, 105 Nev. 235, 236, 773 P.2d 1229, 1230
10    (1989)). Clearly, any delay in the filing of the petition must not be the fault of the petitioner.
11    NRS 34.726(1)(a).

12            Given that Petitioner’s underlying complaints are meritless, this Court finds Petitioner 13    is unable to establish the requisite prejudice for discounting his procedural default.

14            A. Petitioner Did Not Receive Ineffective Assistance of Counsel

15            The Sixth Amendment to the United States Constitution provides that, “[i]n all criminal 16    prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right . . . to have the Assistance of Counsel for his 17    defense.” The United States Supreme Court has long recognized that “the right to counsel is 18    the right to the effective assistance of counsel.” Strickland v. Washington, 466 U.S. 668, 686, 19    104 S. Ct. 2052, 2063 (1984); see also State v. Love, 109 Nev. 1136, 1138, 865 P.2d 322, 323 20    (1993).

21            To prevail on a claim of ineffective assistance of trial counsel, a defendant must prove 22    he was denied “reasonably effective assistance” of counsel by satisfying the two-prong test of 23    Strickland, 466 U.S. at 686-87, 104 S. Ct. at 2063–64. See also Love, 109 Nev. at 1138, 865
24    P.2d at 323. Under the Strickland test, a defendant must show first that his counsel's 25    representation fell below an objective standard of reasonableness, and second, that but for 26    counsel's errors, there is a reasonable probability that the result of the proceedings would have 27    been different. 466 U.S. at 687–88, 694, 104 S. Ct. at 2065, 2068; Warden, Nevada State
28    Prison v. Lyons, 100 Nev. 430, 432, 683 P.2d 504, 505 (1984) (adopting the Strickland two-

1 part test). “[T]here is no reason for a court deciding an ineffective assistance claim to approach
2 the inquiry in the same order or even to address both components of the inquiry if the defendant
3 makes an insufficient showing on one.” Strickland, 466 U.S. at 697, 104 S. Ct. at 2069.

4 The court begins with the presumption of effectiveness and then must determine 5 whether the defendant has demonstrated by a preponderance of the evidence that counsel was 6 ineffective. Means v. State, 120 Nev. 1001, 1011, 103 P.3d 25, 32 (2004). “Effective counsel 7 does not mean errorless counsel, but rather counsel whose assistance is ‘[w]ithin the range of 8 competence demanded of attorneys in criminal cases.’” Jackson v. Warden, 91 Nev.
9 430, 432, 537 P.2d 473, 474 (1975).

10 Counsel cannot be ineffective for failing to make futile objections or arguments. See 11 Ennis v. State, 122 Nev. 694, 706, 137 P.3d 1095, 1103 (2006). Trial counsel has the 12 “immediate and ultimate responsibility of deciding if and when to object, which witnesses, if 13 any, to call, and what defenses to develop.” Rhyne v. State, 118 Nev. 1, 8, 38 P.3d 163, 167 14 (2002).

15 Based on the above law, the role of a court in considering allegations of ineffective 16 assistance of counsel is “not to pass upon the merits of the action not taken but to determine 17 whether, under the particular facts and circumstances of the case, trial counsel failed to render 18 reasonably effective assistance.” Donovan v. State, 94 Nev. 671, 675, 584 P.2d 708, 711
19 (1978). This analysis does not mean that the court should “second guess reasoned choices 20 between trial tactics nor does it mean that defense counsel, to protect himself against 21 allegations of inadequacy, must make every conceivable motion no matter how remote the 22 possibilities are of success.” Id. To be effective, the Constitution “does not require that counsel
23 do what is impossible or unethical. If there is no bona fide defense to the charge, counsel 24 cannot create one and may disserve the interests of his client by attempting a useless charade.”
25 United States v. Cronin, 466 U.S. 648, 657 n.19, 104 S. Ct. 2039, 2046 n.19 (1984).

26 “There are countless ways to provide effective assistance in any given case. Even the 27 best criminal defense attorneys would not defend a particular client in the same way.”
28 Strickland, 466 U.S. at 689, 104 S. Ct. at 689. “Strategic choices made by counsel after

1 thoroughly investigating the plausible options are almost unchallengeable.” Dawson v. State, 2 108 Nev. 112, 117, 825 P.2d 593, 596 (1992); see also Ford v. State, 105 Nev. 850, 853, 784
3 P.2d 951, 953 (1989). In essence, the court must “judge the reasonableness of counsel's
4 challenged conduct on the facts of the particular case, viewed as of the time of counsel's
5 conduct.” Strickland, 466 U.S. at 690, 104 S. Ct. at 2066.

6 When a conviction is the result of a guilty plea, a defendant must show that there is a 7 “reasonable probability that, but for counsel’s errors, he would not have pleaded guilty and 8 would have insisted on going to trial.” Hill v. Lockhart, 474 U.S. 52, 59, 106 S.Ct. 366, 370
9 (1985) (emphasis added); see also Kirksey v. State, 112 Nev. 980, 988, 923 P.2d 1102, 1107 10 (1996); Molina v. State, 120 Nev. 185, 190-91, 87 P.3d 533, 537 (2004).

11 Even if a defendant can demonstrate that his counsel's representation fell below an 12 objective standard of reasonableness, he must still demonstrate prejudice and show a 13 reasonable probability that, but for counsel’s errors, the result of the trial would have been 14 different. McNelson v. State, 115 Nev. 396, 403, 990 P.2d 1263, 1268 (1999) (citing 15 Strickland, 466 U.S. at 687, 104 S. Ct. at 2064). “A reasonable probability is a probability 16 sufficient to undermine confidence in the outcome.” Id. (citing Strickland, 466 U.S. at 687-89, 17 694, 104 S. Ct. at 2064–65, 2068).

18 The Nevada Supreme Court has held “that a habeas corpus petitioner must prove the 19 disputed factual allegations underlying his ineffective assistance claim by a preponderance of 20 the evidence.” Means v. State, 120 Nev. 1001, 1012, 103 P.3d 25, 33 (2004). Furthermore, 21 claims of ineffective assistance of counsel asserted in a petition for post-conviction relief must 22 be supported with specific factual allegations, which if true, would entitle the petitioner to 23 relief. Hargrove v. State, 100 Nev. 498, 502, 686 P.2d 222, 225 (1984). “Bare” and “naked”
24 allegations are not sufficient, nor are those belied and repelled by the record. Id. NRS
25 34.735(6) states in relevant part, “[Petitioner] must allege specific facts supporting the claims 26 in the petition[.] . . . Failure to allege specific facts rather than just conclusions may cause your 27 petition to be dismissed.” (emphasis added).

28 //

1           1. Counsel Was Not Ineffective in Not Moving for Dismissal of the Complaint

2           Petitioner alleged in Ground One of the Petition that counsel was ineffective for failing
3 to move to dismiss the complaint on the basis of insufficient evidence produced at trial. Pet.
4 at 6. Counsel cannot be ineffective for failing to make futile objections or arguments. See 5 Ennis v. State, 122 Nev. 694, 706, 137 P.3d 1095, 1103 (2006). The remedy for a finding of 6 insufficient evidence presented at trial is not a striking of the indictment, but an acquittal.
7 Evans v. State, 112 Nev. 1172, 1193, 926 P.2d 265, 279 (1996) (stating: “where there is 8 insufficient evidence to support a conviction, the trial judge may set aside a jury verdict of 9 guilty and enter a judgment of acquittal.”); NRS 175.381. This Court therefore finds 10 Petitioner’s claim asserts that counsel was ineffective for failure to move for an acquittal under 11 NRS 175.381.

12           “In reviewing a claim of insufficient evidence, the relevant inquiry is ‘whether, after 13 reviewing the evidence in the light most favorable to the prosecution, any rational trier of fact 14 could have found the essential elements of the crime beyond a reasonable doubt.’” Origel-
15 Candid v. State, 114 Nev. 378, 381, 956 P.2d 1378, 1380 (1998), (quoting Koza v. State, 100
16 Nev. 245, 250, 681 P.2d 44, 47 (1984)). “Clearly, this standard does not allow the district court 17 to act as a “thirteenth juror” and reevaluate the evidence and the credibility of the witnesses.”
18 Evans v. State, 112 Nev. 1172, 1193, 926 P.2d 265, 279 (1996).

19           A Motion for Acquittal due to insufficiency of the evidence would have been futile in 20 the instant case. As the Nevada Supreme Court noted when affirming Petitioner’s sentence, 21 there was “overwhelming evidence that supported the jury’s verdict, which included
22 eyewitness and independent witness testimony, DNA evidence, physical injuries on the victim, 23 and recovery of items used to bind and gag the victim.” Order of Affirmance, at 3. Therefore, 24 such a motion would have been futile. Under Ennis, counsel has no obligation to raise futile 25 motions.

26           Further, even if counsel’s decision to not raise this motion had been unreasonable, 27 Petitioner was not prejudiced. As the Nevada Supreme Court held when affirming Petitioner’s 28 conviction, there was such overwhelming evidence of Petitioner’s guilt introduced at trial that

1 it was not plain error for the Court to allow alleged prior bad act evidence to be admitted.
2 Given that the standard for prejudice under ineffective assistance of counsel is the same as the 3 standard for plain error review, Petitioner thus cannot demonstrate that he was prejudiced by 4 his counsel's actions. See Gordon v. United States, 518 F.3d 1291, 1300 (11th Cir. 2008). As 5 such, this Court cannot find Petitioner's counsel to have been ineffective and this claim is 6 denied.

7 Likewise, Petitioner's related claim under Ground Two of the Petition that his 8 conviction is invalid because of insufficient evidence is similarly without merit. Petitioner's 9 chief complaint seems to be that the evidence admitted regarding his intent was insufficient to 10 warrant a conviction for first degree kidnapping. However, first degree kidnapping is defined 11 as "a person who willfully seizes, confines, inveigles, entices, decoys, abducts, conceals, 12 kidnaps, or carries away a person ... for the purpose of committing sexual assault... or for the 13 purpose of killing the person or inflicting substantial bodily harm." NRS 200.310. Further, the 14 State admitted evidence that Petitioner hogtied the victim, beat her, and placed a shotgun in 15 her mouth. Jury Trial Day 3: June 21, 2017, at 33-36, filed February 13, 2018. Petitioner
16 further angled a broomstick towards the victim's anal opening, as if to stick the broom handle
17 in the victim's anal opening. Id. As such, and consistent with the Supreme Court of Nevada's
18 holding, there is no doubt that sufficient evidence was introduced against Petitioner to support 19 his conviction of first-degree kidnapping.

20 As such, this claim is without merit. Given the claim is meritless, denial thereof could 21 not prejudice Petitioner. Since Petitioner would not be prejudiced by this claim's denial, nor 22 has he shown good cause sufficient to overcome the procedural bars (see Section I(B)), this 23 claim is denied under NRS 34.810.

24 2. Counsel was not ineffective for failing to investigate

25 Petitioner's Supplement alleged counsel was ineffective for failing to "contact a 26 necessary accident reconstruction expert to challenge the State's expert witness." Supp. at 6.
27 However, his claim fails for multiple reasons.

1 First, this claim is a bare and naked assertion. Hargrove, 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 2 225. While Petitioner cites legal authority, Petitioner asserts only that counsel should have 3 investigated and contacted an expert, while offering no justification for the assertion.
4 Petitioner vaguely argues “to challenge the State’s expert witness,” but does not state how an 5 expert for the defense would have challenged the State’s witness, what portion of the testimony
6 was challengeable, or how he would have benefitted from his own expert witness. Petitioner
7 fails to specifically demonstrate what a better investigation would have discovered or how it
8 would have benefitted him. Molina, 120 Nev. at 190-91, 87 P.3d at 537. This claim is a bare 9 and naked assertion that demands summary denial.

10 Second, which witness to call is a virtually unchallengeable strategic decision.
11 “Strategic choices made by counsel after thoroughly investigating the plausible options are 12 almost unchallengeable.” Dawson v. State, 108 Nev. 112, 117, 825 P.2d 593, 596 (1992); see 13 also Ford v. State, 105 Nev. 850, 853, 784 P.2d 951, 953 (1989). In essence, the court must 14 “judge the reasonableness of counsel’s challenged conduct on the facts of the particular case, 15 viewed as of the time of counsel’s conduct.” Strickland, 466 U.S. at 690, 104 S. Ct. at 2066.
16 Trial counsel has the “immediate and ultimate responsibility of deciding if and when to object, 17 which witnesses, if any, to call, and what defenses to develop.” Rhyne v. State, 118 Nev. 1, 8, 18 38 P.3d 163, 167 (2002). Petitioner has failed to demonstrate why this does not constitute a 19 strategic decision, but instead merely provides a one-sentence claim that “[t]his was not a 20 strategic decision.” See Petition at 6-7. Therefore, Petitioner has failed to establish grounds 21 for this Court to deviate from the presumption that this decision is nearly unchallengeable.
22 Accordingly, this claim is denied.

23 3. Counsel Was Not Ineffective for Failing to File Motions

24 i. Motion to suppress

25 Petitioner claimed in his Supplement counsel was ineffective for failing to file a motion
26 to suppress his statements to police. Supp. At 7. However, this claim is belied by the record 27 because his statements to police were voluntary. Thus, any motions specifically arguing “fruit 28 of the poisonous tree” violations of Miranda v. Arizona, 384 U.S. 436, 86 S Ct. 1602 (1966),

1 would have been futile. Therefore, counsel could not have been ineffective for this failure.

2 The Fifth Amendment of the United States Constitution affords an individual the right 3 to be informed, prior to custodial interrogation, that:

4 [H]e has the right to remain silent, that anything he says can be used 5 against him in a court of law, that he has the right to the presence of 6 an attorney, and that if he cannot afford an attorney, one will be appointed to him prior to any questioning if he so desires.

7 Miranda v. Arizona, 384 U.S. 436, 479, 86 S. Ct. 1602, 1630 (1966). Miranda's procedural 8 safeguards are only prophylactic in nature, designed to advise suspects of their rights, and "not 9 themselves rights protected by the Constitution." Michigan v. Tucker, 417 U.S. 433, 444, 94
10 S. Ct. 2357, 2364 (1974).

11 The United States Supreme Court has held that Miranda does not require some 12 "talismanic incantation." California v. Prysock, 453 U.S. 355, 360, 101 S. Ct. 2806, 2809
13 (1981) (per curiam). Rather, the warning need only "reasonably convey to a suspect his rights
14 as required by Miranda." Florida v. Powell, 559 U.S. 50, 60, 130 S. Ct. 1195, 1204 (2010)
15 (internal quotations omitted). Thus, the Supreme Court has instructed reviewing courts that 16 they need not examine the warning rigidly "as if construing a will or defining the terms of an 17 easement." Duckworth v. Eagan, 492 U.S. 195, 203, 109 S. Ct. 2875, 2880 (1989).

18 To be admissible, a confession must be made voluntarily. Passama v. State, 103 Nev.
19 212, 213, 735 P.2d 321, 322 (1987). To be voluntary, the confession must be made as the 20 result of a "rational intellect and a free will." Id. The question in each case is whether the 21 defendant's will was overborne when he confessed. Id. at 214, 735 P.2d at 323. Once the issue
22 of voluntariness is raised, the burden of proving voluntariness is on the State, by a 23 preponderance of the evidence. Quiriconi v. State, 96 Nev. 766, 772, 616 P.2d 1111, 1114 24 (1980).

25 To determine whether a confession is voluntary, the court considers the totality of the 26 circumstances. Passama, 103 Nev. at 213, 735 P.2d at 322. Factors include: "the youth of the 27 accused; his lack of education or his low intelligence; the lack of any advice of constitutional 28 rights; the length of detention; the repeated and prolonged nature of questioning; and the use

1 of physical punishment such as the deprivation of food or sleep.” Id. A lower than average
2 intelligence does not, however, render a confession involuntary. Young v. State, 103 Nev. 233, 3 235, 737 P.2d 512, 514 (1987) (citing Ogden v. State, 96 Nev. 258, 607 P.2d 576 (1980)). Nor 4 do personality disorders, or a desire to please authority figures. Steese, 114 Nev. at 488, 960
5 P.2d at 327.

6 First, Petitioner’s claims are bare and naked. Hargrove, 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 7 225. Petitioner makes only general claims that his “statements were involuntary because they 8 were the result of hostile and coercive interrogation.” Pet. at 7-9. He did not state what the 9 officers did to intimidate him, or how their interrogation was hostile and coercive, let alone so 10 hostile and coercive that it violated his constitutional rights. The only factually specific 11 assertion to support his claim is that he was secretly recorded. Pet. at 8-9. However, Petitioner
12 failed to explain how covertly recording him created an intense and hostile interrogation 13 environment or how his ignorance of being recorded amounts to a waiver of his rights through 14 threats or trickery. Therefore, Petitioner’s claim is denied as bare and naked under Hargrove.

15 Second, Petitioner Supplement cited NRS 200.640, claiming the statute “limits the use
16 of unauthorized wire or radio communication.” Supp. at 8-9. He claimed that the detective 17 violated this statute by taping the interview. Yet, in this claim, Petitioner appears to have 18 sought to mislead this Court. The plain language of NRS 200.640 prohibits individuals from 19 tapping into the wire or radio communication facilities of a communications business without 20 the consent of the business. See State v. Allen, 119 Nev. 166, 170-171, 69 P.3d 232, 235
21 (2003). Petitioner offered no statute or case law for interpreting NRS 200.640 to limit the use
22 of recording devices by police during interviews. Therefore, the true limitation of this statute 23 has no bearing on the instant case.

24 Third, whether Petitioner was informed the interview was being recorded does not 25 entitle him to suppression of his statement on either Miranda or voluntariness grounds. Courts
26 have held that defendants do not have a reasonable expectation of privacy, under the Fourth 27 Amendment, in the back of police cars or at police stations. See, United States v. McKinnon,
28 985 F.2d 525 (11th Cir. 1993); People v. Califano, 5. Cal. App. 3rd 476, 85 Cal. Rptr. 292

1 (1970). Petitioner certainly had no reasonable expectation of privacy within the police car or 2 while speaking with detectives in an interview room.

3 Fourth, Petitioner claimed he involuntarily waived his Miranda rights and was likely 4 “threatened, tricked, or cajoled” into waiving his rights. Supp. at 7-9. The totality of the 5 evidence supports the claim that his statements were made voluntarily and intelligently.
6 During trial, Petitioner’s statement was played for the jury and the transcription of Petitioner’s
7 voluntary statement, State’s Exhibit #71, was projected for the jury so they could read along 8 as the audio was played. Trial Transcript (“TT”) Day 4 at 10-11. State’s Exhibit #71 was 9 Weirauch and Petitioner speaking on March 10, 2015, at 2300 hours:

10 Q: Okay. Okay, Calvin. I’m going to read you something. Okay?

11 A: Yes sir.

12 Q: Calvin, you have the right to remain silent. Anything you say can 13 be used against you in a court of law. You have the right to the 14 presence of an attorney. If you cannot afford an attorney, one will be appointed to you before questioning. Do you understand these rights?

15 A: Yes sir.

16 Petitioner’s Voluntary Statement from 3/10/2015 at 2<sup>1</sup>. Petitioner did not cite any portion of 17 his statement as evidence that his statements were involuntary. Accordingly, the totality of the 18 evidence, including his voluntary statement, supports the fact that his statement was voluntary.
19 As such, this Court finds counsel was not ineffective for failing to file what would have been 20 a futile motion to suppress.

21 Lastly, counsel was not ineffective because the confession could not legitimately be 22 suppressed. Counsel moved for suppression of Petitioner’s statements under a stronger theory.
23 The following exchange happened with Detective Weirauch on the witness stand during a 24 hearing outside the presence of the jury:

---

26 <sup>1</sup> Petitioner failed to cite to this transcript in his brief. Therefore, this Court presumes that the Miranda warning did
27 adequately inform Petitioner of his rights to an attorney, and Petitioner waived his rights knowingly and voluntarily. See
28 Sasser v. State, 324 P.3d 1221, 1225 (2014) (citing Riggins v. State, 107 Nev. 178, 182, 808 P.2d 535, 538 (1991) (concluding that if materials are not included in the record, the missing materials "are presumed to support the district court's decision."))

1 THE COURT: Was the card the standard-issue card that was 2 carried by Metro officers at that time?

3 THE WITNESS: Yes, it was.

4 THE COURT: Okay. And now they've given you another
5 different card. Is that what's happened?

6 THE WITNESS: Yes.

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 CROSS-EXAMINATION

9 BY MR. ERICSSON:

10 Q: And Detective—and you are a detective, correct?

11 A: Yes, I am.

12 Q: What is the difference with the card that you now carry 13 compared to the one you had back in March of 2015?

14 A: I believe they added one more line for us to read off of.

15 Q: And can you pull out the card that you currently carry.

16 A: Yeah.

17 Q: Do you have that there?

18 A: Yes.

19 Q: For the record, can you just read the card that you currently 20 carry.

21 A: You have the right to remain silent. Anything you say can be 22 used against you in a court of law. You have the right to consult 23 with an attorney before questioning. You have the right to the 24 presence of an attorney during questioning. If you cannot 25 afford an attorney, one will be appointed to you before 26 questioning. Do you understand these rights.

27 Q: Thank you. And what is the additional line to your belief that 28 has been added to the card now compared to the one you
carried in March of 2015?

MS. LUZAICH: Objection. Relevance.

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: It's—I'm assuming it's all worded the same. It's one of these two lines right here, the third or fourth line.

MR. ERICSSON: And, Your Honor, may I approach and—

1 THE COURT: Sure.

2 THE WITNESS: I think it's—I think it's this one they added right 3 here. You have the right to consult with an 4 attorney before questioning as opposed to before 5 it might have just been you have the right to the 6 presence of an attorney during questioning. I
7 don't think they added that one.

8 BY MR. ERICSSON:

9 Q: Okay. So to your knowledge, the new line on this card is the 10 line that reads—

11 A: Go ahead. It's this third one right here I believe is the one that 12 they added is you have the right to consult with an attorney 13 before questioning.

14 THE COURT: I think that's right.

15 THE WITNESS: I think.

16 BY MR. ERICSSON:

17 Q: Okay. So to your knowledge, you did not provide Mr. Elam 18 with that sentence when you gave him a Miranda warning back 19 in—

20 A: No, I wouldn't have. I would've read it just verbatim off the 21 card of the day.

22 MR. ERICSSON: Thank you. Your Honor, I've been doing a fair
23 amount of litigation in federal court on that issue.
24 I would move to prevent to [sic] the statement
25 being introduced in this trial. I think that that is a 26 necessary warning for it to be an effective
27 Miranda warning, and since that was not given—

28 THE COURT: Ms. Luzaich.

MS. LUZAICH: The United States Supreme Court disagrees with that. It was one bad ruling in federal court that I believe may have either since been overruled or something like that, but the United States Supreme Court doesn't agree, and neither does
the Nevada Supreme Court.

THE COURT: Anything else, Mr. Ericsson?

MR. ERICSSON: No. And this is—obviously I'm first time learning that he's got a different card. So, you know, whatever your ruling is now I—I may—

THE COURT: Well, yeah—

1 MR. ERICSSON: --may supplement tomorrow.

2 THE COURT: --it's denied. I mean, I think the reason they have 3 the new card is to address that issue to the extent
4 some judges may be granting those motions or 5 what have you. That doesn't mean that it was 6 wrong before. I think they just changed the cards
7 because various opinions. So the request is 8 denied.

9 TT Day 3 at 177-181.

10 Counsel advanced a stronger argument than what would have been a bare and naked 11 motion to suppress with no evidence that his statement was involuntary to support it. Given 12 that counsel cannot be ineffective for failing to file futile motions, this Court denies this claim.

13 ii. Motion to dismiss weapon enhancement

14 Petitioner's Supplement claimed counsel was ineffective for failing to file a "motion to 15 strike the deadly weapon enhancement" because a broomstick should not be considered a 16 deadly weapon. Supp. at 9-11. However, Petitioner's claim is belied by the record.

17 Petitioner cited the "inherently dangerous" test from Zgombic v. State, 106 Nev. 571, 18 798 P.2d 548 (1990) as the test for whether something could be considered a deadly weapon.
19 Pet. at 10-11. However, Petitioner failed to cite controlling law. Petitioner appears unaware of 20 the legislative amendment of the test for a deadly weapon from inherently dangerous to the 21 functionality test. NRS 193.165(6)(b). Thomas v. State, 114 Nev. 1127, 1146, Footnote 4, 967
22 P.2d 1123, Footnote 4 (1998). NRS 193.165(6)(b) defines a deadly weapon as "[a]ny weapon, 23 device, instrument, material or substance which under the circumstances in which it is used, 24 attempted to be used or threatened to be used, is readily capable of causing substantial bodily 25 harm or death."

26 A broomstick indeed satisfies the definition of a deadly weapon in this case due to the 27 Petitioner's manner of usage. NRS 193.165(6)(b). Petitioner tied up the victim with fabric and 28 tape, put tape over her mouth, beat her with a belt, then pulled her pants down and angled the broomstick as if to penetrate her anus with it. TT Day 3 at 35-36. While there was no evidence at trial that Petitioner ultimately penetrated the victim with the broomstick, if he had, he almost certainly would have caused substantial bodily injury. See NRS 193.165(6)(b). The statute

1 thus requires the Petitioner, not to have in fact penetrated the victim, but rather only to have 2 threatened to do so, which he did. Specifically, the victim testified:

3 THE STATE ...How did he use [the broomstick]?

4 THE VICTIM He – the – he used it – the top of it, he used it to 5 touch me with.

6 THE STATE Where did he touch you with it?

7 THE VICTIM On my butt area.

8 TT Day 3 at 42-43. Therefore, the evidence presented at trial satisfied the statutory 9 requirement for a deadly weapon. Consequently, any motion to dismiss the weapon 10 enhancement would have been futile, and counsel may not be found ineffective for failing to 11 file one. Accordingly, Petitioner's claim is denied.

12 iii. Motion for sequestered voir dire

13 Petitioner's Supplement alleged his trial counsel was ineffective for failing to file a 14 Motion for Sequestered Voir Dire because "numerous jurors had been victim of sexual assault 15 or had close friends or family members who had been the victims of sexual crimes or crimes
16 of violence." Supp. at 13-15.

17 The district court has discretion in deciding a request for individual voir dire. See 18 Haynes v. State, 103 Nev. 309, 316, 739 P.2d 497, 501 (1987); see also Mu'Min v. Virginia, 19 500 U.S. 415, 427, 114 L. Ed. 2d 493, 111 S. Ct. 1899 (1991). Absent an abuse of discretion 20 or a showing of prejudice to the defendant, this court will not disturb the district court's 21 decision. Haynes, 103 Nev. at 316, 739 P.2d at 501. Counsel cannot be ineffective for failing 22 to make futile objections or arguments. Ennis, 122 Nev. at 706, 137 P.3d at 1103.

23 Petitioner's claim that trial counsel was ineffective for failing to request a sequestered
24 jury during voir dire is meritless. The voir dire process is at the discretion of the trial court.
25 Sequestering a jury during voir dire places a heavy burden on judicial economy and is utilized
26 only where absolutely necessary. Any request to sequester a jury without a compelling reason 27 would have been denied. Petitioner has not offered any compelling reasons that would have 28 caused this Court to order a sequestered voir dire. Petitioner has simply surmised that some of

1 the prospective jurors tainted the entire pool by sharing that they had previous encounters with 2 violence in the presence of other potential jurors. Pet at 13-15. Petitioner did not state how this
3 prejudiced other prospective jurors or why any prospective juror's articulation of a past history
4 of violence would prejudice a potential juror in this case.

5 Leonard v. State, 117 Nev. 53, 64, 17 P.3d 397, 404 (2001), noted the lack of prejudice
6 due to collective voir dire when all jurors with potential bias or knowledge were not 7 empaneled. Petitioner failed to even make a showing of the kind presented in Leonard, where 8 there was extensive pretrial publicity and thus potential bias. Id. To the contrary, there is no
9 merit to his claim. Petitioner has not shown that any of the jurors who heard his case were 10 biased against him, let alone that the statements by other prospective jurors had any effect on 11 the empaneled jurors in this case.

12 This claim is insufficient to support the position that this Court would have granted a 13 request to sequester the voir dire process. Petitioner's counsel cannot be ineffective for failing 14 to file a futile motion so his claim must be denied. Ennis, 122 Nev. at 706, 137 P.3d at 1103.

15 iv. Counsel did not fail to subject the case to a meaningful adversary process

16 Petitioner next argues that counsel was ineffective for failing to (1) do any pretrial
17 investigation; (2) failing to file the following motions: Motion to Strike Aggravators, Motion
18 to Exclude Argument Constituting Prosecutorial Misconduct; Motion to Suppress Evidence; 19 Motion in Limine to Preclude Admission of Prejudicial Evidence; Motion to Dismiss For 20 Insufficient Information Charging Petitioner; (3) failure to object to damaging and prejudicial 21 statements during closing arguments; and (4) failure to call any witnesses on Petitioner's 22 behalf.

23 Each of these allegations is a bare and naked claim suitable only for summary dismissal 24 pursuant to Hargrove. In regard to the failure to investigate claim, Petitioner does not even 25 allege, much less show, what a better investigation would have turned up. Pursuant to Molina
26 v. State, such a claim cannot support post-conviction relief. 120 Nev. 185, 192, 87 P.3d 533, 27 538 (2004) (stating that a defendant who contends his attorney was ineffective because he did 28 not adequately investigate must show how a better investigation would have rendered a more

1 favorable outcome probable).

2       Regarding the various motions Petitioner alleges his counsel should have filed, 3 Petitioner has neither alleged nor shown that any of these motions would have been successful.
4 For some of these motions, Petitioner has only offered bare and naked assertions that counsel
5 not filing them constitutes ineffective assistance of counsel. For example, Petitioner claims 6 that his counsel should have filed a motion to suppress evidence. But he does not even 7 articulate what evidence he claims should have been suppressed. On other motions, there was 8 clearly no legal grounds to bring the motion (such as the motion to exclude argument
9 constituting prosecutorial misconduct). Given that Petitioner has not alleged any grounds
10 claiming why these Motions would have been successful, counsel's decision not to file them 11 cannot constitute ineffective assistance of counsel.

12       Regarding counsel's alleged failure to object to prejudicial statements, Petitioner has 13 not identified what statements he now complains of. To the extent he is referring to the 14 statements he alleged constituted prosecutorial conduct under Ground Three of the pro per 15 pleading, as noted elsewhere in this order counsel cannot be found ineffective for not objecting
16 to these statements. As such, this claim is either meritless or a bare and naked allegation 17 suitable only for summary dismissal. Hargrove. 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 225.

18       Similarly, Petitioner's claim that counsel was ineffective for failing to call any 19 witnesses on his behalf is a bare and naked allegation suitable only for summary dismissal.
20 Petitioner does not articulate what witnesses were available to be called, why they should have 21 been called, or how they would have assisted his case.

22       Further, even if Petitioner had alleged enough facts for this Court to consider whether 23 it was unreasonable for counsel to engage in these courses of conduct, Petitioner would be 24 unable to establish that any of these decisions would have prejudiced him at trial. As the 25 Nevada Supreme Court held when affirming Petitioner's conviction, there was such 26 overwhelming evidence of Petitioner's guilt introduced at trial that it was not plain error for 27 the Court to allow alleged prior bad act evidence to be admitted. Given that the standard for 28 prejudice under ineffective assistance of counsel is the same as the standard for plain error

1 review, Petitioner cannot then demonstrate that he was prejudiced by his counsel's
2 actions. Gordon v. United States, 518 F.3d 1291, 1300 (11th Cir. 2008). Therefore, counsel
3 cannot be found ineffective for any of the reasons articulated in this section, and these claims 4 should be denied.

5 4. Counsel Was Not Ineffective for Failure to Utilize a Jury Selection Expert

6 Petitioner's Supplement claimed his trial counsel was ineffective for failing to retain a 7 "Jury Selection Expert" to assist in preparing voir dire questions and providing a profile of 8 favorable jurors. Supp. at 12-13. However, Petitioner never stated with any specificity how a 9 jury selection expert would have been helpful beyond a vague and unsupported insistence that 10 counsel should have consulted an expert. Petitioner failed to show how such an expert would 11 have led to a different result regarding specific venire persons in his case. Petitioner's claim 12 is devoid of all specific factual reference to venire persons. Therefore, Petitioner's claim is not 13 cognizable and is suitable only for summary denial pursuant to Hargrove.

14 5. Counsel Was Not Ineffective for Not Objecting to Prosecutor's Comments

15 Petitioner's Petition claimed his counsel was ineffective for failing to object to alleged 16 prosecutorial misconduct. Pet. at 8-8D. However, Petitioner failed to assert a single 17 meritorious claim of prosecutorial misconduct, and his counsel cannot be ineffective for failing 18 to raise a claim in futility.

19 Counsel cannot be ineffective for failing to make futile objections or arguments. See 20 Ennis v. State, 122 Nev. 694, 706, 137 P.3d 1095, 1103 (2006). Trial counsel has the 21 "immediate and ultimate responsibility of deciding if and when to object, which witnesses, if 22 any, to call, and what defenses to develop." Rhyne v. State, 118 Nev. 1, 8, 38 P.3d 163, 167 23 (2002).

24 In resolving claims of prosecutorial misconduct, the Court undertakes a two-step 25 analysis: determining whether the comments were improper; and deciding whether the 26 comments were sufficient to deny the defendant a fair trial. Valdez v. State, 124 Nev. 1172, 27 1188. As to the first factor, argument is not misconduct unless "the remarks ... were 'patently
28 prejudicial.'" Riker v. State, 111 Nev. 1316, 1328, 905 P.2d 706, 713 (1995) (quoting Libby

2 disparaging comments about defense counsel pursuant to Butler, 120 Nev. 898, 102 P.3d 84, 3 “statements by a prosecutor, in argument, ... made as a deduction or conclusion from the 4 evidence introduced in the trial are permissible and unobjectionable.” Parker v. State, 109 Nev.
5 383, 392, 849 P.2d 1062, 1068 (1993) (quoting Collins v. State, 87 Nev. 436, 439, 488 P.2d 6 544, 545 (1971)). The prosecution may also respond to defense’s arguments and 7 characterization of the evidence. See Williams v. State, 113 Nev. 1008, 1018-19, 945 P.2d
8 438, 444-45 (1997), receded from on other grounds, Byford v. State, 116 Nev. 215, 994 P.2d 9 700 (2000). A prosecutor may also offer commentary on the evidence that is supported by the 10 record. Rose v. State, 123 Nev. 194, 163 P.3d 408 (2007), rehearing denied (Dec. 6, 2007), 11 reconsideration en banc denied (Mar. 6, 2008), cert. den., 555 U.S. 847, 129 S.Ct. 95 (2008).
12 The Court views the statements in context, and will not lightly overturn a jury’s verdict based 13 upon a prosecutor’s statements. Byars v. State, 130 Nev. 848, 865 (2014). Normally, the 14 defendant must show that an error was prejudicial in order to establish that it affected 15 substantial rights. Gallego v. State, 117 Nev. 348, 365 (2001).

16 With respect to the second step, this Court will not reverse if the misconduct was 17 harmless error. Valdez, 124 Nev. at 1188. The proper standard of harmless error review
18 depends on whether the prosecutorial misconduct is of a constitutional dimension. Id. at 1188-
19 89. Misconduct may be constitutional if a prosecutor comments on the exercise of a 20 constitutional right, or the misconduct “so infected the trial with unfairness as to make the 21 resulting conviction a denial of due process.” Id. 124 Nev. at 1189 (quoting Darden v.
22 Wainwright, 477 U.S. 168, 181 (1986)). When the misconduct is of constitutional dimension, 23 this Court will reverse unless the State demonstrates that the error did not contribute to the 24 verdict. Id. 124 Nev. at 1189. When the misconduct is not of constitutional dimension, this 25 Court “will reverse only if the error substantially affects the jury’s verdict.” Id.

26 The State is permitted to offer commentary on the evidence that is supported by the 27 record. Rose, 123 Nev. at 209, 163 P.3d at 418. In Rose, the prosecutor called the appellant a
28 predator for using his daughter as a lure to reach other victims, but the Nevada Supreme Court

1 accepted it as appropriate commentary supported by the evidence and as insufficiently
2 prejudicial to warrant relief. Rose, 123 Nev. at 209–10, 163 P.3d at 418–19.

3 Further, the State may respond to defense theories and arguments. Williams v. State, 4 113 Nev. 1008, 1018-19 (1997). This includes commenting on a defendant’s failure to 5 substantiate his theory. Colley v. State, 98 Nev. 14, 16 (1982); See also Bridges v. State, 116
6 Nev. 752, 762 (2000), citing State v. Green, 81 Nev. 173, 176 (1965) (“The prosecutor had a
7 right to comment upon the testimony and to ask the jury to draw inferences from the evidence,
8 and has the right to state fully his views as to what the evidence shows.”). Further, if the 9 defendant presents a theory of defense, but fails to present evidence thereon, the State may 10 comment upon the failure to support the supposed theory. Evans v. State, 117 Nev. 609, 630-
11 631 (2001); see McNelson v. State, 115 Nev. 396, 408–09 (1999).

12 Petitioner’s pro per pleading objected to four different statements as alleged 13 prosecutorial misconduct to which his counsel should have objected. Petitioner first took issue 14 with the State claiming during closing argument that: “The purpose was to either inflict 15 substantial bodily harm or kill her -- so first – first degree kidnapping was met.” Pet. at 8; Jury 16 Trial Day 6: June 26, 2017, at 118, filed February 13, 2018. In context, the State’s statement 17 was as follows:

18 All of this demonstrates the fact that she was hogtied, kidnapped. So 19 for what purpose? Was it to inflict substantial bodily harm? To kill 20 her? To sexually assault? You heard the defendant was angry she said.
21 When he brought her into the apartment, everything was fine, and then 22 all of a sudden his body language changed. His demeanor changed.
23 He got loud. He got mean, and ultimately she was beat. She was beat 24 with a belt. She was beat with a broom. She was beat with a – or she 25 was stunned. She had the shotgun in her mouth. What do you think 26 the purpose was? The purpose was to either inflict substantial bodily 27 harm or kill her, and then you heard about the broomstick. So first -- 28 first-degree kidnapping was met.

24 Jury Trial Day 6: June 26, 2017, at 118, filed February 13, 2018. The state’s argument was 25 clearly a commentary on the evidence adduced at trial. The State was arguing that Petitioner’s 26 intent could be deduced from the actions he undertook while he had the victim hogtied. Such 27 a commentary is proper during closing arguments, and is not prosecutorial misconduct.

1           Petitioner next takes issue with the State allegedly offering an incorrect definition of 2   Battery with Intent to Commit Sexual Assault. Petitioner references page 125 and 128 of Jury
3   Trial Day 6: June 26, 2017 and claims that the State defined Battery With Intent to Commit
4   Sexual Assault as

5                   The fact that she is physically restrained substantially increased her 6                   risk of potentially death or substantial bodily harm because she can't 7                   get out.

8                   ...
9                   So the putting her down, whacking her with the broomstick and the 10                  putting the broomstick up at her butt, Battery With the Intent to 11                  Commit a Sexual Assault.

12   Pet. at 8-A; Jury Trial Day 6: June 26, 2017 at 124-25, 128 respectively.

13           As to the first statement, the State was not discussing the crime of Battery With Intent
14   to Commit Sexual Assault. The State was arguing that Petitioner could be found guilty of both 15   Kidnapping in the first-degree and Sexual Assault if the victim is physically restrained, and 16   such restraint substantially increases the risk of harm. Jury Trial Day 6: June 26, 2017 at 124-
17   25. Essentially, the State was arguing that given the facts of the case, the jury could find that 18   Petitioner had committed kidnapping in the first degree by substantially increasing the risk of 19   substantially bodily harm, and also find that Petitioner had committed Sexual Assault by 20   penetrating Petitioner with a broomstick. Id. Further, nowhere in the excerpt does the State
21   define any of these offenses. In fact, the State made regular mention to the jury instructions
22   that properly defined these offenses. Id. As such, Petitioner's notion that the State incorrectly 23   defined Battery with Intent to Commit Sexual Assault is belied by the record.

24           Regarding the second statement, the State was not defining Battery With Intent to 25   Commit Sexual Assault. In fact, the State specifically referenced the jury to Jury Instruction 26   17 for a statement of the law regarding this crime. Id. at 128. The State was arguing that these 27   were the actions that constituted Battery with Intent to Commit Sexual Assault. Given that 28   proof of these actions had been admitted at trial, the State was entitled to argue that the evidence satisfied the elements of the crime charged.

1           Petitioner further takes issue with the State claiming “the fact that she is physically
2 restrained substantially increases her risk of potentially death or substantial bodily harm.” Pet.
3 at 8-B; Jury Trial Day 6: June 26, 2017 at 124-25. Such a statement was clearly a commentary
4 on the evidence. Pursuant to Rose v. State, 123 Nev. 194, 209, 163 P.3d 408, 418 (2007), such 5 a statement does not establish prosecutorial misconduct.

6           Given that trial counsel has the ultimate responsibility of deciding what objections to 7 make, and that none of the statements Petitioner here complains of constituted prosecutorial
8 misconduct, it was not unreasonable for Petitioner’s counsel to not object to these statements.

9           Further, even if counsel’s decision had been unreasonable, Petitioner was not 10 prejudiced. As the Nevada Supreme Court held when affirming Petitioner’s conviction, there
11 was such overwhelming evidence of Petitioner’s guilt introduced at trial that it was not plain 12 error for the Court to allow alleged prior bad act evidence to be admitted. Given that the 13 standard for prejudice under ineffective assistance of counsel is the same as the standard for 14 plain error review, Petitioner cannot then demonstrate that he was prejudiced by his counsel’s 15 actions. See Gordon v. United States, 518 F.3d 1291, 1300 (11th Cir. 2008). As such, 16 Petitioner’s counsel cannot be found ineffective and this claim should be denied.

17           Petitioner’s Supplement further claimed his counsel was ineffective for failing to object 18 to alleged additional instances of prosecutorial misconduct during closing argument. Supp. at 19 15-17. Here too, Petitioner failed to put forth any meritorious claim of prosecutorial 20 misconduct, and his counsel cannot be ineffective for failing to raise a claim in futility.

21           Petitioner alleged three instances of improper argument during closing argument that 22 trial counsel was ineffective for failing to object to. In the first and second claims in the 23 Supplement, Petitioner submits the prosecutor stated her personal opinion regarding whether 24 the victim was hogtied, and what Petitioner’s intent was. Supp. at 15-16. A review of the 25 record shows the prosecutor did not state her personal opinion or belief in either instance. As 26 to both claims, the prosecutor argued the evidence. The prosecutor argued that based on the 27 evidence, Petitioner hogtied the victim and when Petitioner beat her with a belt and a 28 broomstick, Petitioner intended to inflict substantial bodily harm. TT Day 6 at 117-118. All of

1 these facts were in evidence. Statements by a prosecutor, in argument, made as a deduction or 2 conclusion from the evidence introduced in the trial are permissible and unobjectionable.
3 Parker v. State, 109 Nev. 383, 392, 849 P.2d 1062, 1068 (1993). It was then up to the jury to 4 weigh the evidence and decide whether it was Petitioner in the videos or not. Jackson v.
5 Virginia, 443 U.S. 307, 319, 99 S. Ct. 2781, 2789 (1979). It is by no means improper for the 6 State to argue that a defendant committed a crime based on the evidence. Thus, the State's 7 arguments made in closing were made as a conclusion from the evidence presented at trial and 8 were unobjectionable pursuant to Parker.

9 The Supplement's third claim asserted the prosecutor "misstated or oversimplified the 10 law regarding accomplice liability or the legal liability as co-conspirator," when the prosecutor 11 argued that Petitioner was liable for using a deadly weapon, even though someone else was 12 actually the person who used the stun gun. Supp. at 16. However, this claim should be denied 13 because it is without merit.

14 First, the claim is belied by the record. The portion of the prosecutor's closing argument 15 Petitioner complains about is:

16 So an unarmed offender uses a deadly weapon when the unarmed
17 offender is liable for the offense, so specifically, you know, the stun 18 gun. The Defendant is liable for the offense... So if you believe that it was the other person who used the stun gun, the Defendant is still liable for the use of that deadly weapon.

19 TT Day 6 at 123.

20 This is exactly what jury instruction number fourteen (14) says.

21 If more than one person commits a crime, and one of them uses a 22 deadly weapon in the commission of that crime, each may be convicted of using the deadly weapon even though he did not 23 personally himself use the weapon.

24 An unarmed offender "uses" a deadly weapon when the unarmed offender is liable for the offense, another person liable for the offense is armed with and uses a deadly weapon in the commission of the 25 offense, and the unarmed offender had knowledge of the use of the deadly weapon.

1 Jury Instruction No. 14. The prosecutor’s statement was a correct statement of law. Therefore,
2 the claim is belied by the record and only suitable for summary denial under Hargrove. 100
3 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 225.

4       Regardless, in all three claims, the record shows that each alleged mistake was 5 insufficiently prejudicial to warrant reversal in light of the overwhelming evidence of guilt, as 6 found by the appellate court on direct appeal. There, the Court said, “[w]e conclude that there 7 was no plain error given the overwhelming evidence that supported the jury’s verdict, which 8 included eyewitness and independent witness testimony, DNA evidence, physical injuries on 9 the victim, and recovery of the items used to bind and gag the victim.” Order of Affirmance 10 at 3. Therefore, Petitioner fails to show prejudice.

11       Lastly, when to object is a virtually unchallengeable strategic judgment. Ennis, 122 12 Nev. at 706, 137 P.3d at 1103. Trial counsel has the “immediate and ultimate responsibility of 13 deciding if and when to object, which witnesses, if any, to call, and what defenses to develop.”
14 Rhyne v. State, 118 Nev. 1, 8, 38 P.3d 163, 167 (2002). Even if there was a legitimate 15 objection, which as addressed above there was not, counsel may have made the strategic 16 decision not to object so as not to draw attention to the prosecutor’s arguments and thereby 17 exacerbate any potential prejudice. Counsel cannot be ineffective for making a strategic 18 decision not to object and counsel cannot be ineffective for failing to offer futile objections.
19 Ennis, 122 Nev. at 706, 137 P.3d at 1103. Therefore, Petitioner’s claims fail and should be 20 denied accordingly.

21       6. Failure to Request a Jury Instruction

22       Petitioner further argued in Ground Three of his Petition that counsel was ineffective 23 for not requesting a jury instruction defining the necessary elements of substantial bodily 24 harm. Pet at 8-C. Petitioner alleged it was unreasonable for his counsel to not request an 25 instruction reflecting this standard because the State had charged him with Battery with Intent
26 to Commit Sexual Assault, which the State could not prove without showing that the crime 27 resulted in substantial bodily harm. Id.

1           However, this assertion is fallacious. In fact, a review of NRS 200.400(4)(b)-(c) reveals
2   that an individual may be convicted of Battery with Intent to Commit Sexual Assault even 3   when no substantial bodily harm occurs. In fact, the charging document reflects that Petitioner
4   was charged only with Battery with Intent to Commit Sexual Assault, not Battery with Intent
5   to Commit Sexual Assault Resulting in Substantial Bodily Harm. See Indictment. Petitioner's 6   sentence for this crime (life with the eligibility to parole after two (2) years) also reflects that
7   he was convicted only of Battery with Intent to Commit Sexual Assault, not Battery with Intent
8   to Commit Sexual Assault Resulting in Substantial Bodily Harm. See NRS 200.400(4); 9   Recorder's Transcript Re: Sentencing, at 8, October 19, 2017. Thus, Petitioner's counsel had 10   no cause to request the jury instruction in question. Counsel's refrain from issuing this request 11   was accordingly not unreasonable.

12           Moreover, even if counsel's decision had been unreasonable, Petitioner was not 13   prejudiced. As the Nevada Supreme Court held when affirming Petitioner's conviction, there
14   was such overwhelming evidence of Petitioner's guilt introduced at trial that it was not plain 15   error for the Court to allow alleged prior bad act evidence to be admitted. Given that the 16   standard for prejudice under ineffective assistance of counsel is the same as the standard for 17   plain error review, Petitioner is unable to demonstrate that he was prejudiced by his counsel's 18   actions. See Gordon v. United States, 518 F.3d 1291, 1300 (11th Cir. 2008). As such, this 19   Court cannot find Petitioner's counsel was ineffective on this basis, and this claim is denied.

20           7. Counsel's Closing Argument Advanced a Clear Theory of the Case

21           Petitioner's Supplement claimed counsel was ineffective for failing to have a "clear 22   theory of the case for an acquittal" during their "very short" closing argument. Supp. at 18-19.
23   However, Petitioner's claim is without merit because it is belied by the record.

24           First, of note, Petitioner failed to clarify how counsel's closing argument was "very 25   short." Supp. at 18-19. He failed to state what counsel should have argued or what other 26   evidence he should have argued during closing. Moreover, counsel's closing argument 27   spanned roughly fifteen (15) pages of trial transcript. TT Day 6 at 133-145. Therefore, his 28   claim that the closing argument was too short is bare and naked, suitable only for summary

1 denial. Hargrove, 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 225.

2 Regardless, counsel's theory during closing argument was straightforward: the victim 3 was not credible because she was a drug user who was using drugs at the time, and because 4 she offered multiple versions of her story that she could not keep straight. TT Day 6 at 133-
5 145. This is consistent with defense counsel's argued theory during opening statements. There, 6 counsel told the jury that they were going to hear about the multiple statements the victim
7 made every time she spoke about the incident, and how each statement would be different 8 from the last. TT Day 2 at 191-192. Counsel even stated, "it is my very sincere belief that you 9 will determine that Arrie is not telling the truth of what happened that day." Id. Therefore, the 10 record clearly indicates that counsel's defense theory, which was consistently argued 11 throughout the trial, was the victim was not credible. Having found this claim is belied by the 12 record, this claim is denied.

13 8. The Evidence Presented at Trial Was Overwhelming

14 Petitioner's Supplement asserted that a deficient trial performance resulted in 15 Petitioner's conviction despite the State's failure to meet its burden of proving the crime
16 beyond a reasonable doubt. Supp. at 18-20.

17 First, Petitioner's contention is devoid of reference to any facts in this case. Petitioner 18 failed to make any specific reference to what part of counsel's argument or trial strategy was 19 deficient, or what defenses they should have presented at trial. Therefore, it is a naked assertion 20 that should be summarily denied. Hargrove, 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 225.

21 Second, the evidence at trial was overwhelming, thus Petitioner's claim is belied by the 22 record. "When reviewing a criminal conviction for sufficiency of the evidence, this Court 23 determines whether any rational trier of fact could have found the essential elements of the 24 crime beyond a reasonable doubt when viewing the evidence in the light most favorable to the 25 prosecution." Brass v. State, 128 Nev. 748, 752, 291 P.3d 145, 149-50 (2012) (internal 26 citations omitted). When there is substantial evidence in support, the jury's verdict will not be 27 disturbed on appeal. Id. A court may not reweigh the evidence or evaluate the credibility of 28 witnesses because that is the responsibility of the trier of fact. McNair v. State, 108 Nev. 53,

1 56, 825 P.2d 571, 573 (1992). Further, circumstantial evidence alone may support a
2 conviction. Collman v. State, 116 Nev. 687, 711, 7 P.3d 426, 441 (2000) (citing Deveroux v.
3 State, 96 Nev. 388, 391, 610 P.2d 722, 724 (1980)).

4 Petitioner's conviction was not the result of ineffective assistance of counsel. Petitioner
5 was convicted because the evidence in this case was overwhelming. At trial, the victim 6 testified and gave specific details about exactly what happened during the incident, including 7 the fact that Petitioner tied her up, tased her, beat her with a belt, put a broom handle between 8 the cheeks of her buttocks as if he was going to penetrate her with it, and videotaped the entire 9 incident. TT Day 3 at 33-46. The victim had a bruised lip and injuries on her legs when the 10 police met her, and the photographs of her injuries were presented at trial. TT Day 3 at 58-59.
11 Witnesses testified at trial that they saw the victim come out of Petitioner's apartment with her 12 arms and legs tied, fabric wrapped around her mouth, her pants pulled down, and she was 13 begging them to call the police. TT Day 3 at 200-202. Another witness testified at trial that 14 before he saw the victim come out of the apartment, he saw a black male and three (3) women 15 come out of Petitioner's apartment. TT Day 4 at 25-26. This matched the description that the 16 victim gave when she testified she heard a male and three (3) women in the apartment with 17 Petitioner when she was tied up. TT Day 3 at 36. The witness also testified he had seen the 18 male with Petitioner before. TT Day 4 at 26. Inside Petitioner's apartment, detectives found a 19 shotgun, tape, a broom, and a black and brown leather belt. TT Day 3 at 156.

20 The evidence at trial was overwhelming. Every piece of evidence and every witness 21 who testified supported the victim's version of events. Ultimately, the victim was correctly
22 found to be credible, and all of the evidence presented at trial supported Petitioner's
23 conviction. Therefore, this Court should not disturb the jury's conviction and Petitioner's 24 claim is denied.

25 Furthermore, as the Nevada Supreme Court noted when affirming Petitioner's sentence, 26 there was "overwhelming evidence that supported the jury's verdict, which included
27 eyewitness and independent witness testimony, DNA evidence, physical injuries on the victim, 28 and recovery of items used to bind and gag the victim." Order of Affirmance at 3. This finding

1 is law of the case and as such, this Court can do nothing but deny his sufficiency of the 2 evidence claim. Re-litigation of this issue is precluded by the doctrine of res judicata. Exec.
3 Mgmt. v. Ticor Titles Ins. Co., 114 Nev. 823, 834, 963 P.2d 465, 473 (1998) (citing Univ. of 4 Nev. v. Tarkanian, 110 Nev. 581, 598, 879 P.2d 1180, 1191 (1994)). “The doctrine is intended
5 to prevent multiple litigation causing vexation and expense to the parties and wasted judicial 6 resources...” Id.; see also Mason v. State, 206 S.W.3d 869, 875 (Ark. 2005) (recognizing the 7 doctrine’s availability in the criminal context); York v. State, 342 S.W. 3d 528, 553 (Tex.
8 Crim. App. 2011); Bell v. City of Boise, 993 F.Supp.2d 1237 (D. Idaho 2014) (finding res
9 judicata applies in both civil and criminal contexts). Therefore, the claim must be denied.

10 9. Counsel Was Not Ineffective at Sentencing

11 Petitioner’s Supplement claimed counsel was ineffective at sentencing and this 12 somehow caused the Court to sentence Petitioner to a cruel and unusual sentence in violation 13 of his constitutional rights. Supp. at 20-22. However, Petitioner’s claim is bare, naked, and 14 without merit. Hargrove, 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 225. Therefore, it must be denied.

15 The Eighth Amendment to the United States Constitution as well as Article 1, Section 16 6 of the Nevada Constitution prohibit the imposition of cruel and unusual punishment. The 17 Nevada Supreme Court has stated that “[a] sentence within the statutory limits is not ‘cruel 18 and unusual punishment unless the statute fixing punishment is unconstitutional or the 19 sentence is so unreasonably disproportionate to the offense as to shock the conscience.’” 20 Allred v. State, 120 Nev. 410, 92 P.2d 1246, 1253 (2004) (quoting Blume v. State, 112 Nev.
21 472, 475, 915 P.2d 282, 284 (1996) (quoting Culverson v. State, 95 Nev. 95 Nev. 433, 435, 22 596 P.2d 220, 221-22 (1979)).

23 Additionally, the Nevada Supreme Court has granted district courts “wide discretion” 24 in sentencing decisions, and these are not to be disturbed “[s]o long as the record does not 25 demonstrate prejudice resulting from consideration of information or accusations founded on 26 facts supported only by impalpable or highly suspect evidence.” Allred, 120 Nev. at 410, 92
27 P.2d at 1253 (quoting Silks v. State, 92 Nev. 91, 94, 545 P.2d 1159, 1161 (1976)). A sentencing 28 judge is permitted broad discretion in imposing a sentence and absent an abuse of discretion,

1 the district court's determination will not be disturbed on appeal. Randell v. State, 109 Nev. 5, 2 846 P.2d 278 (1993) (citing Deveroux v. State, 96 Nev. 388, 610 P.2d 722 (1980)). As long 3 as the sentence is within the limits set by the legislature, a sentence will normally not be 4 considered cruel and unusual. Glegola v. State, 110 Nev. 344, 871 P.2d 950 (1994).

5 Petitioner's sentence is not "so unreasonably disproportionate to the offense as to shock 6 the conscience." Allred, 120 Nev. 410, 92 P.2d at 1253. Petitioner was sentenced to an 7 aggregate total a minimum of thirteen (13) years in the Nevada Department of Corrections, 8 and a maximum of life imprisonment. Transcript from Sentencing ("Sentencing") at 8. This 9 sentence was appropriate in light of the facts of this case. At trial, the victim testified that 10 Petitioner told her to get on her knees and then tied her up with electrical cords and tape. TT
11 Day 3 at 33. He tied her hands behind her back and tied them to her feet. Id. Then, he put a 12 double-barrel shotgun in her mouth and said "Bitch, it's not a game." TT Day 3 at 34. After 13 that, he shoved "stuff" in her mouth and down her throat. TT Day 3 at 35. The entire time, 14 Petitioner antagonized the victim telling her that she stole his dogs and repeatedly beat her 15 with a belt. TT Day 3 at 35-36. He also shocked her with a taser. TT Day 3 at 40. As if beating 16 her was not enough, he then pulled her pants down, grabbed a broom, and angled the handle
17 to "stick it in [her] anal." Id. The victim eventually passed out due to trauma. TT Day 3 at TT
18 Day 3 at 42. Petitioner and his friends videotaped the entire incident, laughing and tormenting
19 the victim the entire time. TT Day 3 at 46. The sentence in this case was not unreasonably 20 disproportionate to the offense. In fact, the sentence was warranted in light of the facts of the 21 case. Petitioner fails to show that the sentence was so disproportionate as to shock the 22 conscience and his claim must be denied.

23 Therefore, the record shows the sentence was appropriate and thus insufficiently 24 prejudicial to warrant ignoring Petitioner's procedural defaults. As such, his claim must be 25 denied.

10. Appellate Counsel Was Not Ineffective

Petitioner claimed in his Supplement that appellate counsel was ineffective for failing to raise the following claims: 1) whether there was insufficient evidence of guilt as to the kidnapping count; 2) whether there was insufficient evidence of guilt of battery with intent to commit sexual assault; and 3) whether he was prejudiced by the favorable plea negotiations the State offered to the victim. Supp. at 22-25. However, Petitioner's claims should be denied because they are bare, naked, and belied by the record.

There is a strong presumption that appellate counsel's performance was reasonable and fell within "the wide range of reasonable professional assistance." See United States v. Aguirre, 912 F.2d 555, 560 (2nd Cir. 1990); citing Strickland, 466 U.S. at 689, 104 S. Ct. at 2065. The United States Supreme Court has held that there is a constitutional right to effective assistance of counsel in a direct appeal from a judgment of conviction. Evitts v. Lucey, 469 U.S. 387, 396-97, 105 S. Ct. 830, 835-37 (1985); see also Burke v. State, 110 Nev. 1366, 1368, 887 P.2d 267, 268 (1994). This Court has held that all appeals must be "pursued in a manner meeting high standards of diligence, professionalism and competence." Burke, 110 Nev. at 1368, 887 P.2d at 268.

A claim of ineffective assistance of appellate counsel must satisfy the two-prong test set forth by Strickland. Kirksey v. State, 112 Nev. 980, 998, 923 P.2d 1102, 1114 (1996). To satisfy Strickland's second prong, the defendant must show the omitted issue would have had a reasonable probability of success on appeal. Duhamel v. Collins, 955 F.2d 962, 967 (5th Cir. 1992); Heath, 941 F.2d at 1132; Lara v. State, 120 Nev. 177, 184, 87 P.3d 528, 532 (2004); Kirksey, 112 Nev. at 498, 923 P.2d at 1114.

Appellate counsel is not required to raise every issue that a defendant felt was pertinent to the case. The professional diligence and competence required on appeal involves "winnowing out weaker arguments on appeal and focusing on one central issue if possible, or at most on a few key issues." Jones v. Barnes, 463 U.S. 745, 751-52, 103 S. Ct. 3308, 3313 (1983). In particular, a "brief that raises every colorable issue runs the risk of burying good arguments . . . in a verbal mound made up of strong and weak contentions." Id. at 753, 103 S.

1 Ct. at 3313. For judges to second-guess reasonable professional judgments and impose on 2 appointed counsel a duty to raise every ‘colorable’ claim suggested by a client would disserve
3 the very goal of vigorous and effective advocacy.” Id. at 754, 103 S. Ct. at 3314. The Nevada
4 Supreme Court has similarly concluded that appellate counsel may well be more effective by 5 not raising every conceivable issue on appeal. Ford, 105 Nev. at 853, 784 P.2d at 953.

6 The defendant has the ultimate authority to make fundamental decisions regarding his 7 case. Jones, 463 U.S. at 751, 103 S. Ct. at 3312. However, the defendant does not have a 8 constitutional right to “compel appointed counsel to press nonfrivolous points requested by 9 the client, if counsel, as a matter of professional judgment, decides not to present those points.”
10 Id.

11 First, each of Petitioner’s assertions are bare and naked and should be summarily denied 12 pursuant to Hargrove. 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 225. Petitioner does not apply law to the 13 facts of this case to show how the evidence was insufficient. Nor does he explain how he was 14 prejudiced by any favorable plea negotiations the victim allegedly received. Therefore, these 15 claims are devoid of any argument supported by specific facts and are bare and naked.

16 Second, as to the insufficient evidence claims, Petitioner’s claims are belied by the 17 record and suitable only for summary denial under Hargrove. 100 Nev. at 502, 686 P.2d at 18 225. Petitioner’s claim that counsel was ineffective for failing to raise the claim that there was 19 insufficient evidence of guilt as to the kidnapping charge is belied by the record. Kidnapping 20 is defined as:

21 A person who willfully seizes, confines...abducts, conceals, kidnaps, 22 or carries away a person by any means whatsoever with the intent to 23 hold or detain...or for the purpose of committing sexual assault...or for the purpose of killing the person or inflicting substantial bodily harm upon the person.

24 NRS 200.310.

25 Here, there was substantial evidence of kidnapping. At trial, the victim testified that 26 Petitioner told her to come into his apartment, then forced her to her knees and tied up her 27 hands, feet, and mouth. TT Day 3 at 33. Witnesses testified that they found the victim with her 28 hands, feet, and mouth bound and that she was begging them to call the police. TT Day 3 at

1 200-202. The tape that Petitioner used to tie up the victim was found at Petitioner's apartment.
2 TT Day 3 at 156. Lastly, the victim had injuries consistent with being tied up. TT Day 3 at 3 139.

4 There was sufficient evidence that Petitioner kidnapped the victim presented at trial. It
5 is clear Petitioner lured her into his apartment, then tied her up, beat her, and videotaped it to 6 get revenge for allegedly stealing his dogs. Appellate counsel did not have to raise an 7 insufficient evidence claim as to the kidnapping charge because counsel is not required to raise 8 futile arguments. Ennis, 122 Nev. at 706, 137 P.3d at 1103. Therefore, Petitioner's claim is 9 denied.

10 Next, Petitioner claims his counsel was ineffective for failing to argue there was 11 insufficient evidence of battery with intent to commit sexual assault. Petitioner's claim is 12 belied by the record.

13 A battery is defined as any willful and unlawful use of force or violence upon another 14 person. NRS 200.400. However, "Battery with intent to commit sexual assault includes a 15 specific intent element and does not include the element of penetration, whereas sexual assault
16 does not include the element of intent but does include the element of penetration." Howard 17 v. State, 129 Nev. 1123; NRS 200.366; NRS 200.400. At trial, the victim testified while she 18 was tied up, Petitioner pulled her pants down and placed the handle of a broomstick between 19 the cheeks of her buttocks as if he was going to penetrate her anus with it. TT Day 3 at 43-44.
20 When witnesses found her, her pants were pulled down exposing her buttocks. TT Day 3 at 21 200-202.

22 The State was not required to prove that the broomstick ultimately penetrated the 23 victim's anus, just that Petitioner intended to commit a sexual assault. As stated above, 24 Petitioner pulled the victim's pants down and placed a broomstick between her buttock's 25 cheeks. There is no other intent to commit that kind of act other than sexual assault. There was 26 substantial evidence that Petitioner committed a battery with intent to commit a sexual assault.
27 Therefore, there was no reason for appellate counsel to raise a futile claim. Ennis, 122 Nev. at 28 706, 137 P.3d at 1103. Therefore, Petitioner's claim should be denied.

1           Lastly, Petitioner claims his counsel was ineffective for failing to raise the claim that 2   Petitioner was prejudiced by the favorable plea negotiations offered by the State to the victim.
3   Pet. at 23. However, this claim is bare and naked because Petitioner does not state how the 4   negotiations were favorable or how those negotiations caused any prejudice to Petitioner.
5   Further, this claim is belied by the record. At trial, referring to the victim's ongoing criminal 6   case, the victim testified:

7                   THE STATE           And when you were negotiating that case, do you 8   know if – did they talk to you about testifying in this case against Mr. Elam?

9                   WEBSTER:           Not at all.

10                  THE STATE:           Okay. Did you have your attorney talk to the 11   prosecutor on that other case about the case you
12   have with Mr. Elam?

13                  WEBSTER:           No.

14                  THE STATE:           No. And did it come up in any way that you were a victim in this case here?

15                  WEBSTER:           No, sir.

16                  THE STATE:           Okay. Have you been told that if you come in and 17   testify against Mr. Elam that that will help you in 18   the case that you have being brought against you?

19                  WEBSTER:           No, not at all.

20   TT Day 3 at 11-12.

21           Counsel cannot be ineffective for failing to raise a claim that is bare, naked, and belied
22   by the record. Ennis, 122 Nev. at 706, 137 P.3d at 1103. Regardless, appellate counsel is most 23   effective when weeding out weaker issues in order to keep the attention on the stronger issues.
24   Jones v. Barnes, 463 U.S. 745, 751-52, 103 S. Ct. 3308, 3313 (1983). Petitioner's claim is 25   therefore without merit and is denied.

1           B. There is No Cumulative Error in Habeas Review

2           Through his Supplement, Petitioner asserted a claim of cumulative error in the context
3 of ineffective assistance of counsel. Supp. at 27-28. However, since Petitioner failed to 4 demonstrate any error, his cumulative error argument is meritless.

5           The Nevada Supreme Court has not endorsed application of its direct appeal cumulative
6 error standard to the post-conviction Strickland context. McConnell v. State, 125 Nev. 243, 7 259, 212 P.3d 307, 318 (2009). Nor should cumulative error apply on post-conviction review.
8 Middleton v. Roper, 455 F.3d 838, 851 (8th Cir. 2006), cert. denied, 549 U.S. 1134, 1275 S.
9 Ct. 980 (2007) (“a habeas petitioner cannot build a showing of prejudice on series of errors,
10 none of which would by itself meet the prejudice test.”)

11           Nevertheless, even where available a cumulative error finding in the context of a 12 Strickland claim is extraordinarily rare and requires an extensive aggregation of errors. See, 13 e.g., Harris By and through Ramseyer v. Wood, 64 F.3d 1432, 1438 (9th Cir. 1995). In fact, 14 logic dictates that there can be no cumulative error where the defendant fails to demonstrate 15 any single violation of Strickland. See Turner v. Quarterman, 481 F.3d 292, 301 (5th Cir.
16 2007) (“where individual allegations of error are not of constitutional stature or are not errors,
17 there is ‘nothing to cumulate.’”) (quoting Yohey v. Collins, 985 F.2d 222, 229 (5th Cir. 1993));
18 Hughes v. Epps, 694 F.Supp.2d 533, 563 (N.D. Miss. 2010) (citing Leal v. Dretke, 428 F.3d 19 543, 552-53 (5th Cir. 2005)). Because Petitioner has not demonstrated any claim warrants
20 relief under Strickland, there is nothing to cumulate. Therefore, Petitioner’s cumulative error
21 claim is denied.

22           Petitioner failed to demonstrate cumulative error sufficient to warrant reversal. In 23 addressing a claim of cumulative error, the relevant factors are: 1) whether the issue of guilt 24 is close; 2) the quantity and character of the error; and 3) the gravity of the crime charged.
25 Mulder v. State, 116 Nev. 1, 17, 992 P.2d 845, 854-5 (2000). As discussed supra, the issue of 26 guilt was not close as the evidence against Petitioner was overwhelming.

27    //

28    //

1           The Mulder factors do not warrant a finding of cumulative error. First, the issue of guilt
2 in the instant case was not close; as discussed, the evidence was immense and compelling. As 3 the Nevada Supreme Court noted when it affirmed Petitioner's judgment of conviction, there
4 was "overwhelming evidence that supported the jury's verdict." Order of Affirmance, at 3.
5 Second, the gravity of the crime charged was severe, as Petitioner was charged with multiple 6 counts in connection with a first-degree kidnapping. Third, there was no individual error in 7 the underlying proceedings, and as such, there is no error to cumulate. Finally, even under the 8 theory that some of or all Petitioner's allegations of deficiency have merit, he has failed to 9 establish that, when aggregated, the errors deprived him of a reasonable likelihood of a more
10 favorable trial outcome. Therefore, even if counsel was in any way deficient, there is no 11 reasonable probability that Petitioner would have received a better result but for the alleged 12 deficiencies. Accordingly, this claim is denied.

13   IV.   PETITIONER IS NOT ENTITLED TO AN EVIDENTIARY HEARING

14           In his Petition, Petitioner claimed he is entitled to an evidentiary hearing because he raised 15 factual claims "which, if true, entitled him to an evidentiary hearing." Pet. 25-27. However, 16 an evidentiary hearing is not required.

17           NRS 34.770 determines when a defendant is entitled to an evidentiary hearing. It reads:

18                   1. The judge or justice, upon review of the return, answer and all 19 supporting documents which are filed, shall determine whether an 20 evidentiary hearing is required. A petitioner must not be discharged or committed to the custody of a person other than the respondent
unless an evidentiary hearing is held.

21                   2. If the judge or justice determines that the petitioner is not entitled 22 to relief and an evidentiary hearing is not required, he shall dismiss the petition without a hearing.

23                   3. If the judge or justice determines that an evidentiary hearing is 24 required, he shall grant the writ and shall set a date for the hearing.

25           The Nevada Supreme Court has held that if a petition can be resolved without 26 expanding the record, then no evidentiary hearing is necessary. Marshall v. State, 110 Nev.
27 1328, 885 P.2d 603 (1994); Mann v. State, 118 Nev. 351, 356, 46 P.3d 1228, 1231 (2002). A 28 defendant is entitled to an evidentiary hearing if his petition is supported by specific factual

1 allegations, which, if true, would entitle him to relief unless the factual allegations are repelled
2 by the record. Marshall, 110 Nev. at 1331, 885 P.2d at 605; see also Hargrove v. State, 100
3 Nev. 498, 503, 686 P.2d 222, 225 (1984) (holding that “[a] defendant seeking post-conviction
4 relief is not entitled to an evidentiary hearing on factual allegations belied or repelled by the 5 record”). “A claim is ‘belied’ when it is contradicted or proven to be false by the record as it
6 existed at the time the claim was made.” Mann, 118 Nev. at 354, 46 P.3d at 1230 (2002). It is 7 improper to hold an evidentiary hearing simply to make a complete record. See State v. Eighth
8 Judicial Dist. Court, 121 Nev. 225, 234, 112 P.3d 1070, 1076 (2005) (“The district court 9 considered itself the ‘equivalent of . . . the trial judge’ and consequently wanted ‘to make as 10 complete a record as possible.’ This is an incorrect basis for an evidentiary hearing.”).

11 Further, the United States Supreme Court has held that an evidentiary hearing is not 12 required simply because counsel’s actions are challenged as being unreasonable strategic 13 decisions. Harrington v. Richter, 131 S. Ct. 770, 788 (2011). Although courts may not indulge 14 post hoc rationalization for counsel’s decision making that contradicts the available evidence 15 of counsel’s actions, neither may they insist counsel confirm every aspect of the strategic basis 16 for his or her actions. Id. There is a “strong presumption” that counsel’s attention to certain 17 issues to the exclusion of others reflects trial tactics rather than “sheer neglect.” Id. (citing 18 Yarborough v. Gentry, 540 U.S. 1, 124 S. Ct. 1 (2003)). Strickland calls for an inquiry in the 19 objective reasonableness of counsel’s performance, not counsel’s subjective state of mind. 466
20 U.S. 668, 688, 104 S. Ct. 2052, 2065 (1994).

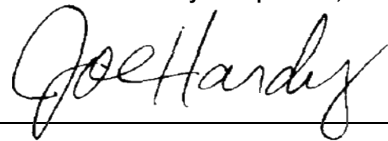

21 Here, Petitioner has offered no factual allegations which, even if true, would entitle him 22 to relief. All Petitioner’s claims amount to either bare and naked allegations or assertions that 23 counsel had the duty to file frivolous motions. Further, Petitioner is unable to overcome the 24 fact that he cannot show he was prejudiced by counsel’s conduct on any of these grounds 25 because the evidence of guilt admitted against him was overwhelming. See Order of 26 Affirmance, at 3. As such, there is no need to expand the record, and Petitioner’s request for 27 an evidentiary hearing is denied.

28 //

ORDER

It is HEREBY ORDERED that Petitioner's Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus (Post-Conviction) and supplements thereto and Request for Evidentiary Hearing are DENIED.

JOURNAL ENTRIES

- Upon the Court's inquiry as to the Defendant's presence, Mr. Jackson indicated he believed the Deft. was in the Nevada Department of Corrections. The State has no objection to waiving his presence. Court waived the Defendant's presence. The Court noted it had reviewed the written pleadings and welcomed arguments. Mr. Jackson argued the State was arguing under the procedural bar, further arguing is a weak argument. Mr. Jackson represented the Defendant had good cause for his delay, noting the normal difficulties of filing while being incarcerated. Mr. Jackson requested the Court rule on the merits, and requested an Evidentiary Hearing be set. The State argued the procedural bars and ruled are in place for a reason and no good cause has been shown.

The Court advised it was going to rule on the merits, and notwithstanding the late petition, the Court cannot find good cause exhibits. The Court further advised it would be denying motion for all of the reasons set forth in the State's detailed response. COURT ORDERED the Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus is DENIED WITHOUT PREJUDICE. COURT DIRECTED the State to prepare a detailed order.

Mr. Jackson noted he would be retiring within the coming weeks, and wanted to ensure the Defendant's rights to an appeal are protected. Colloquy. COURT ORDERED a Motion to Withdraw as Counsel for Defendant would be SET.
