5                                   ROUTING STATEMENT

6           Appellant is appealing the Findings of Fact, Conclusions of Law and Order
8           based upon a Post-Conviction Writ of Habeas Corpus. Therefore, pursuant to 9
10          N.R.A.P. 17(b)(2)(B), this appeal is presumptively routed to the Court of 11          Appeals.

12                                   STATEMENT OF THE CASE

13          On November 8, 2017, an Indictment was returned in the District Court
14
15          charging Defendants Lorenzo Pinkey, and Adrian Powell with two (2) counts of 16          Conspiracy To Commit Robbery (Category B Felony - NRS 200.380, 199.480),
17          two (2) counts of Burglary While In Possession Of A Deadly Weapon (Category
18          B Felony - NRS 205.060), three (3) counts of First Degree Kidnapping With Use
19          Of A Deadly Weapon (Category A Felony - NRS 200.310, 200.320, 193.165),
20          seven (7) counts of Robbery With Use Of A Deadly Weapon (Category B Felony
21          - NRS 200.380, 193.165) and one (1) count of Unlawful Taking Of Vehicle
22          (Gross Misdemeanor - NRS 205.2715). (Exhibit “A” at 1-8). All charges
23          stemmed from robberies that occurred at a Pepe’s Tacos restaurant and a 24          Walgreens store in Las Vegas, Nevada on September 28, 2017. Id.

1           On November 13, 2017, the defendant Mr. Powell was arraigned on the 2           aforementioned charges in the Eighth Judicial District Court. Michael Kane Esq.
3           was appointed on the case, and subsequently Roy Nelson Esq. was appointed to 4           assist Mr. Kane. (See Joint Appendix; Volume II, at APP000427 - APP000436).
5           Over the course of the next eight months, Mr. Kane met with Mr. Powell
6           approximately two times. (JA, II; APP000437). Mr. Nelson allegedly met with 7           Mr. Powell once with Mr. Kane. (JA, II; APP000437 - APP000438). The case
8           ultimately proceeded to jury trial on July 30, 2018. Voir Dire commenced on 9           Monday, July 30, 2018. (JA, II; APP000428). Court concluded for the day, and 10          the parties returned the following day to resume jury selection. (JA, II; 11          APP000431). That morning, negotiations commenced, and Mr. Kane was shown 12          a whiteboard with various other robberies that the State claimed to be pursuing.
13          Id. Upon information and belief Mr. Nelson was not present during this 14          negotiation period. The State threatened to charge Mr. Powell with these charges
15          unless the plea deal was taken. (JA, II; at APP000443 - APP000444). The State
16          also offered to take life sentence off the table. Id.

17
18           Mr. Powell agreed to plead guilty pursuant to the Guilty Plea Agreement 19          after Mr. Kane advised Mr. Powell to take the deal after stating that he would 20          spend the rest of his life in prison if he did not. (JA, II; APP000322-21          APP000327).

1 Mr. Powell pled guilty, the jury was discharged, and a sentencing date was 2 set. On October 31, 2018, prior to sentencing, Mr. Powell expressed concerns
3 regarding his counsel and the guilty plea agreement, and his current counsel,
4 Michael Kane was withdrawn and Monique McNeil, Esq. was appointed. On 5 January 14, 2019, Petitioner filed a Motion to Withdraw Guilty Plea, requesting 6 an evidentiary hearing. (Id.). On February 5, 2019, the State filed its Opposition.
7 (JA, II; APP000335- APP000356). On February 27 2019, the District Court
8 denied Petitioner's motion without conducting an evidentiary hearing.

11 On May 22, 2019, Petitioner was sentenced to the Nevada Department of 12 Corrections as follows: as to Count 1 – twelve (12) to forty-eight (48) months; as 13 to Count 2 – thirty-six (36) to one hundred twenty (120) months concurrent with

17 with a consecutive term of thirty-six (36) to ninety-six (96) months for use of a
18 deadly weapon concurrent with Count 3; as to Count 5 - thirty-six (36) to one
19 hundred twenty (120) months with a consecutive term of thirty-six (36) to ninety-
20 six (96) months for use of a deadly weapon concurrent with Count 4; as to Count 21 6 - thirty-six (36) to one hundred twenty (120) months with a consecutive term of

1 with Count 5; as to Count 7 - thirty-six (36) to one hundred twenty (120) months
2 with a consecutive term of thirty-six (36) to ninety-six (96) months for use of a

10 weapon concurrent with Count 10; as to Count 13 - five (5) to fifteen (15) years
11 with a consecutive term of thirty-six (36) to ninety-six (96) months for use of a
12 deadly weapon consecutive to Count 3; and as to Count 14 - thirty-six (36) to one
13 hundred twenty (120) months with a consecutive term of thirty-six (36) to ninety-
14 six (96) months for use of a deadly weapon concurrent with Count 11, with six 15 hundred two (602) days credit for time served. The aggregate total sentence was 16 five hundred fifty-two (552) months maximum with a minimum parole eligibility
17 of one hundred ninety-two (192) months. (JA, II; APP000410- APP000413). The

The Defendant filed a direct appeal to the Nevada Supreme Court challenging only the Court's denial of his Motion to Withdraw his Guilty Plea on

1 June 14, 2019. The Nevada Supreme Court reversed and remanded to the district
2 court to conduct an evidentiary hearing on May 11, 2020. (JA, II; APP000416 -
3 APP000419). Remittitur was issued on June 5, 2020. (JA, II; APP000421).

5 The Court conducted an Evidentiary Hearing on August 13, 2020, at which 6 only Mr. Kane was called as a witness to testify. (JA, II; APP000423-
7 APP000459). Mr. Nelson was not requested to appear by Ms. McNeil. Id.
8 Following the testimony, the Court found the Petitioner was not entitled to relief.
9 (JA, II; APP000454- APP000459). The Court found there was no ineffective
10 assistance of counsel and no grounds or fair and just reason to withdraw 11 Petitioner's plea. Id. The Findings of Fact, Conclusions of Law and Order was 12 filed on March 4, 2021. (JA, II; APP000481). Ms. McNeil failed to file a Petition
13 for Writ of Habeas Corpus (Post Conviction) and failed to counsel Petitioner on 14 his ability to do so.

15
16 On August 10, 2021, Ms. McNeil filed a declaration stating that she failed
17 to file a timely Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus (Post Conviction). (JA, III; 18 APP000498- APP000499). On August 10, 2021, Petitioner filed the pro se 19 Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus (Post-Conviction). (JA, III; APP000501-20 APP000521). On September 9th, 2021, the state filed a Response to the Writ of 21 Habeas Corpus (Post Conviction).

1 On October 14, 2021, Mr. Powell filed a Motion to Dismiss Ms. McNeil as
2 counsel. (JA, III; APP000557- APP0005563). District Court granted the Motion
3 to Dismiss Ms. McNeil on November 29, 2021. (JA, III; APP000566).
4 Undersigned counsel, Colleen Savage, Esq. was subsequently appointed on 5 January 26, 2022.

7 STATEMENT OF FACTS

8 Adrian Powell and Lorenzo Pinkey were arrested on September 28, 2017.
9 (JA, I; APP000199- APP000200). The following is a summary of the victims'
10 testimony from the Grand Jury presentation, as well as a summary of the forensic 11 evidence and the circumstantial evidence that may have been presented at trial.

13 A. Testimony of Jose Chavarria

14 Jose Alfredo Chavarria Valenzuela was working as a cook at Pepe's Tacos
15 located at 2490 Fremont Street, Las Vegas, Nevada on September 28, 2017. (JA, 16 I; APP000032- APP000033). At approximately 2:40 AM, Chavarria was in 17 kitchen area when two men entered the restaurant. (JA, I; APP000035. Chavarria 18 ran toward the back refrigerator where his co-worker was located, when one of 19 the men jumped the counter, followed Chavarria and pointed a gun at him. Id.
20 The man allegedly pointed his gun at Chavarria and Chavarria jumped on the 21 ground. It is alleged that Chavarria was directed from the back of the store to the 22 front cash registers who was unable to open the till because he did not have the

1 correct password. (JA, I; APP000036). The second man then retrieved
2 Chavarria's coworker to assist Chavarria in opening the cash registers. (JA, I;
3 APP000037). One of the men then took Chavarria to the second cash register,
4 where he was either thrown to the ground or ordered to his knees, Chavarria's
5 testimony is unclear. Id. The men then took the money from the cash registers
6 but did not take any property from Chavarria. (JA, I; APP000037 - APP000038).

8 9 Testimony of Yenir Hessing

10
11 Yenir Hessing works as the shift lead at the Walgreens located at 4470 East
12 Bonanza, Las Vegas, Nevada. (JA, I; at APP00007). On September 28, 2017,
13 Hessing was working the graveyard shift with four other Walgreens employees
14 when, at approximately 4:05 AM, two masked gunmen entered the store. (JA, I; 15 APP00008 – APP00010).
16
17

18 Hessing was stocking the shelves in the food aisle when one of the men
19 allegedly pointed a gun at her, demanding she move to the front of the store
20 where he told her to open the three cash registers, which Hessing did. Id. At that 21 moment, another Walgreens employee, Tifnie Bobbitt returned from lunch and 22 was ordered toward the office located at the back of the store. (JA, I; APP00010).
23

25 Upon reaching the back office, Hessing entered the code and Hessing and 26 Bobbitt were ordered in. (JA, I; APP00015 – APP00016). In the office, it is 27 alleged that the man began hitting Hessing in the ribs with the gun and 28

1 demanding that she open the safe. (JA, I; APP00017). Hessing opened the first of 2 two safes and the man grabbed everything. Id. The man then demanded Hessing
3 open the second safe, which she did. Id. The gunman grabbed the contents from 4 the second safe and fled. Id.

7 SUMMARY OF THE ARGUMENT

8 Mr. Powell's legal representation has continuously and spectacularly failed
9 to meet the reasonable standard expected and guaranteed to him by the Sixth
10 Amendment. These errors prejudiced his defense in literally every stage of the 11 case, from pre-trial litigation, to negotiating the plea agreement, and even during 12 post-conviction proceedings. Not only was Mr. Powell subjected to ineffective 13 assistance by his trial counsel, but he was failed by the attorney who was 14 appointed to remedy trial counsel's prior errors. Trial counsel undermined Mr.
15 Powell's defense during their pre-litigation representation by failing to challenge
16 unconstitutionally permitted charges by not challenging anything via motion
17 practice. Counsel also failed to properly investigate alibi witnesses and failed to 18 reveal the conflict of interest that prevented Mr. Powell from receiving effective 19 assistance of counsel.

20 Michael C. Kane, Esq. was Mr. Powell's appointed counsel up to the entry
21 of the guilty plea agreement. Supposedly, he has tried approximately twenty (20)
22 civil cases. (JA, II; APP00446). Recognizing his own lack of experience, Mr.
23

1 Kane added Roy Nelson, a criminal trial lawyer, as first chair. (JA, II;
2 APP00436, APP00445). Apparently, unbeknownst to Mr. Kane, Mr. Nelson was 3 suffering from documented substance abuse issues which were impacting his 4 ability to perform his duties as an attorney. (JA, III; APP00621, APP00678; IV;
5 APP000679). Mr. Kane was representing a client facing three life sentences and 6 an additional one hundred and fifty years in prison on fifteen (15) charges having 7 never tried a criminal case. (JA, I; APP000201 – APP000210). On top of all of 8 that, the horrific loss of his newly born twins during this same period of time.
9 (JA, II; APP00446). Prior to trial, Mr. Kane only visited Mr. Powell “two to three 10 times” with Mr. Nelson only attending one of those visits. (JA, II; APP00439 –
11 APP000431). Not surprisingly, then, pretrial investigation and motion practice
12 was virtually nonexistent. This created an untenable, powerless, and unfair
13 position for Mr. Powell.

14
15 Amazingly, Mr. Powell suffered from the fact that both of his lawyers
16 were dealing with substantial personal ordeals and tragedies that placed Mr.
17 Powell in the untenable position of having to rely upon them for key decisions,
18 including entry of plea. (JA, II; at APP00456 – APP000458; JA, III; APP000621
19 – APP000678; and JA, IV; APP000679). At the time originally set for sentencing 20 hearing, Mr. Powell expressed concern regarding his guilty plea agreement and 21 his reliance on counsel which prompted the court to dismiss trial counsel and

1 appoint Ms. McNeil. While Ms. McNeil filed the motion to withdraw the guilty
2 plea for Mr. Powell, her subsequent representation was plagued with missed
3 deadlines. (JA, II; APP00322 – APP000334; and JA, III; APP000498 – 4 APP000499). The combined effect of the ineffective assistance of counsel, the 5 trial court’s refusal to grant motion to withdraw guilty plea agreement, and the 6 unconstitutionality of the dual criminal liability of the charges were contrary to 7 clearly established Nevada Law and resulted in decisions all to the detriment of 8 Mr. Powell. Mr. Powell now respectfully requests that this Court grant this 9 Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus for the purposes set forth herein.

10 LEGAL ARGUMENT

11 III. INEFFECTIVE ASSISTANCE OF COUNSEL

12 The Sixth Amendment right to counsel has been recognized by the United 13 States Supreme Court which includes the right to “the effective assistance of 14 counsel” during criminal proceedings. Strickland v. Washington, 466 U.S. 668, 15 686, 104 S.Ct. 2052, 2063, 80 L.Ed.2d 674 (1984) (citing McMann v.
16 Richardson, 397 U.S. 759, 771, n. 14, 90 S.Ct. 1441, 1449, n. 14, 25 L.Ed.2d 763 17 (1970)). When measuring any claim of ineffectiveness, the standard is 18 “whether counsel's conduct so undermined the proper functioning of the 19 adversarial process that the proceeding cannot be relied on as having produced a 20 just result.” Paine v. State, 110 Nev. 609, 620, 877 P.2d 1025, 1031

1 (1994) (Overruled on other grounds by Leslie v. Warden, 118 Nev. 773, 59 P.3d
2 440 (2002)).

4 As the Second Circuit Court of Appeals held, the proper standard for 5 attorney performance is that of reasonably effective assistance. See Trapnell v.
6 United States, 725 F.2d, at 151-152. The Court indirectly recognized as much
7 when it stated in McMann v. Richardson, supra, 397 U.S., at 770, 771, 90 S.Ct., 8 at 1448, 1449, that a guilty plea cannot be attacked when based on inadequate 9 legal advice unless trial counsel was not “a reasonably competent attorney” and 10 the advice was not “within the range of competence demanded of attorneys in 11 criminal cases.” See also Cuvier v. Sullivan, supra, 446 U.S., at 344, 100 S.Ct., at 12 1716.
13

14 When a convicted defendant complains of the ineffectiveness of counsel’s 15 assistance, the defendant must show that counsel's representation fell below an 16 objective standard of reasonableness. Strickland, 466 U.S. at 687-88. In order to 17 establish that representation fell below an objective standard of reasonableness,
18 defendants must meet the factors set forth within the Strickland test:
19
20
21
22

- 23 • “First, the defendant must show that counsel's performance
24 was deficient. This requires showing that counsel made 25 errors so serious that counsel was not functioning as the 26 ‘counsel’ guaranteed the defendant by the Sixth
27 Amendment.
28

- Second, the defendant must show that the deficient performance prejudiced the defense. This requires showing that counsel's errors were so serious as to deprive the defendant of a fair trial, a trial whose result is reliable.”

A. PRE-LITIGATION INEFFECTIVE ASSISTANCE OF COUNSEL

Mr. Powell experienced prejudice from the onset when he was first appointed trial counsel. Defendants have an incredible reliance on their counsel not only during trial, but through the entire process of litigation. Defense counsel has the responsibility to defend against extraneous charges and engage in pretrial motion practice, which is an objective standard for competent, effective representation. Instead, Mr. Powell was left helpless as his counsel entirely failed to engage in any pretrial motion practice challenging the probable cause for any of these charges which deprived him of a fair trial and prejudiced the defense from the start. Mr. Powell’s inability to challenge any charges prior to trial, combined with inexperienced, distracted counsel left him vulnerable to the adversarial process.

a. Trial Counsel Failed to Object to Fatally Flawed Complaint.

The State’s Indictment charged Mr. Powell with three counts of First-Degree Kidnapping in relation to the alleged robbery victims. (JA, I; APP00201 – APP000210). Each of these charges carried a potential life sentence, which was the harshest punishment contained in the charging document. Id. Trial counsel

1 failed to engage in any pretrial motion practice to contest these charges, despite
2 longstanding Nevada law giving a defendant the right to prevent dual criminal
3 liability when kidnapping charges overlap with robbery charges. Had trial
4 counsel been successful in dismissing the Kidnapping Charges during pretrial
5 motion practice, it would have changed the entire dynamic of plea negotiations,
6 and, ultimately, Mr. Powell's decision to plead guilty.

9 The ability to attack the kidnapping charges was available from the start of 10 this case. Under Nevada law, the test found in Mendoza differentiated the 11 movement that was incidental to robbery as opposed to kidnapping where the 12 movement (1) substantially increase the risk of harm; and (2) substantially
13 exceeds that required to complete the associated crime. Mendoza v. State, 122
14 Nev. 267, 274-75, 130 P.3d 176, 180-81 (2006).
15
16
17

18 In the instant matter, Grand Jury testimony revealed that the robbery
19 victims were only moved as a means for the suspects to carry out the robbery.
20 The intent of the suspects in each robbery was to steal money from both locations
21 via cash register and safe. In Mr. Chavarria's case, this could not be 22 accomplished due to Mr. Chavarria being unable to open the cash register
23 resulting in him ending up on the ground. (JA, I; APP00037). In Ms. Hessing's
24 case, this could not be accomplished without Ms. Hessing opening the cash
25 registers in the front of the store or the safe in the office. In other words, all 26
27
28

1 movement of the victims that took place was incidental and necessary in order to 2 commit the robberies. (JA, I; at APP0007 – APP00017).

4       So long as the kidnapping is incidental to the robbery, defense counsel can
5 attack the kidnapping charges prior to trial. Sheriff, Clark County v. Medberrv, 96
6 Nev. 202, 204, 606 P. 2d 181, 182 (1980); Langford v. State, 95 Nev. 631, 638-
7 639, 600 P.2d 231, 236-37 (1979). This is a case where the grounds are clear.
8 Counsel's failure to attack the kidnapping counts left three life sentences on the 9 table, which turned out to be one of the main sources of leverage the State used to 10 coerce Powell into signing the plea agreement. (JA, I; at APP000443). Had trial
11 counsel filed a pretrial Writ of Habeas Corpus Mr. Powell would have had the 12 opportunity to argue for dismissal of the kidnapping charges. However, because 13 there was not a pretrial Writ of Habeas Corpus filed, and the joinder filed by trial
14 counsel was dismissed as untimely, it placed Mr. Powell at a significant 15 disadvantage when it came time to negotiate a plea deal. Mr. Powell was 16 prejudiced by this deficient performance because there existed a reasonable 17 probability that some, if not all, of the kidnapping charges would have been 18 dismissed. Had these charges been dismissed, there is a significant probability 19 that Powell would have rejected the State's offer and insisted on going to trial 20
21
22
23
24
25
26

27       Not only did trial counsel fail to submit a Pretrial Petition for Writ of 28 Habeas Corpus on Mr. Powell's behalf, trial counsel failed to file a single pretrial

1 motion. Mr. Powell's counsel did not contest a single piece of evidence with 2 pretrial motion practice. Notably, there was not one motion pertaining to 3 suppression of evidence, jury questionnaires, voir dire methodologies, nor 4 opening statements. The record is wholly deficient, making it nearly impossible
5 for Mr. Powell to create a defense on the spot at trial.

8 A. INEFFECTIVE ASSISTANCE OF COUNSEL AT THE PRETRIAL
9 AND TRIAL STAGE

10 a. A Conflict of Interest Developed Between Defense Counsel
11 and the Client During the Case.

12 The Nevada Supreme Court held that when the defense counsel has based 13 his recommendations on a plea bargain and tactical decision upon factors that 14 would further his own personal ambitions as opposed to his client's best interests,
15 it was that conduct which "fell below an objective standard of reasonableness"
16 and resulted in "prejudice" to his client. Larson v. State, 104 Nev. 691, 694, 766
17 P.2d 261, 263 (1988).
18
19
20

21 Here, Mr. Powell's constitutional right to effective assistance of counsel
22 was severely impacted by the personal circumstances each of his trial counsel
23 were experiencing during their representation which resulted in prejudice to Mr.
24 Powell and ultimately created a conflict of interest. Specifically, Mr. Nelson was 25 referred to the Nevada Bar for professional misconduct, which impacted his 26 ability to practice law resulting in his removal from multiple cases. (JA, IV;
27
28

1 APP000679). Details surrounding Mr. Roy's circumstances are well documented
2 in his case currently postured before the Nevada Supreme Court, Case No.
3 84369; In Re: Discipline of Roy L. Nelson, III. Due to the personal struggles Mr.
4 Nelson was facing, he could not possibly act in the best interest of Mr. Powell as 5 lead trial counsel, and thus his representation fell below an objective standard of 6 reasonableness as set forth in Larson.

9 Like Mr. Nelson, trial counsel Kane was also preoccupied with a personal 10 situation which impacted his ability to perform his duties as an attorney.
11 Tragically, while representing Mr. Powell, Mr. Kane experienced a terrible
12 family tragedy which forced him to work from home from March 2017 to May 13 2017. (JA, II; APP000446). Trial preparation during the last few months leading 14 up to trial is of incredible importance and time is extremely valuable to be able to 15 adequately prepare for trial. Trial preparation includes, amongst many others, 16 meeting clients, reviewing evidence, devising a trial strategy, and discussing 17 theories of the case, all of which are necessary to sufficiently prepare for trial.
18 Unfortunately, Mr. Kane's personal circumstances and lack of criminal 19 experience rendered him incapable of adequately preparing for a complex trial as 20 in the instant matter, resulting in Mr. Powell receiving ineffective assistance of 21 counsel. Mr. Kane conceded to his lack of experience, stating under oath that he 22 brought Mr. Nelson on to Mr. Powell's case to act as the "first chair" specifically 23
24
25
26
27
28

1 due to his lack of criminal experience.

2 Q. Mr. Kane, how many criminal jury trials have you done? At the time --

3 A. That would have been my first criminal jury trial.

4 ...

5 Q. And so you said you brought Roy Nelson on. Was Roy going to be 6 considered first chair or second chair?

7 A He was going to be considered first chair, I believe. I was planning on 8 doing the voir dire. I was going to do at least one witness.

9 (JA, II; APP000444).

10 Mr. Kane further conceded he was only able to visit Mr. Powell
11 approximately two times prior to the commencement of his trial, only one of 12 which Mr. Nelson allegedly attended. (JA, II; APP000440). It is unimaginable for 13 even the most experienced criminal defense attorneys to adequately prepare for 14 trial after only two visits with a client. There is no time to completely review the 15 evidence, create a defense strategy, and discuss the potential consequences of 16 trial in just a few hours. As such, Mr. Kane and Mr. Nelson's personal 17 circumstances created a situation where both parties could be reasonably
18 understood as distracted resulting in deficient performance as counsel to Mr.
19 Powell.

20 While this situation is different from the representation in Larson, where 21 the attorney made recommendations based on his personal ambitions which led to 22 prejudice, here we have two attorneys, facing substantial personal crises over the 23
24
25
26
27
28

1 course of Mr. Powell's case, and when faced with the first opportunity to take a
2 Plea Agreement regardless of the merit, defense counsel advised their client to 3 take the erroneous deal. (JA, II; APP000442). Mr. Kane and Mr. Nelson's
4 personal struggles restricted their ability to adequately prepare, permitting only a
5 nominal approach to Mr. Powell's case. Trial counsel failed to advise Mr. Powell
6 about the potential consequences of accepting the plea deal. Further, trial counsel
7 failed to challenge the State when threatened with additional uncharged crimes
8 where no discovery had been reviewed which revealed a pattern of making 9 recommendations and tactical decisions based on personal motives as opposed to 10 Mr. Powell's best interest. But for the prejudiced advice from Mr. Kane and Mr.
11 Nelson, it is reasonable that the proceeding would have been different.

14
15
16
17 b. TRIAL COUNSEL FAILED TO THOROUGHLY
18 INVESTIGATE MR. POWELL'S ALIBI AND ALIBI
19 WITNESSES

20 When a defense attorney fails to conduct an adequate investigation, he denies 21 his client his Sixth Amendment right to effective assistance of 22 counsel. Strickland v. Washington, 466 U.S. 668, 104 S.Ct. 2052, 80 L.Ed.2d 674
23 (1984); also see Warner v. State, 102 Nev. 635, 638, 729 P.2d 1359, 1361
24 (1986).

25 Under Strickland, the defense counsel has a duty "to make every reasonable 26 investigation or to make a reasonable decision that makes particular 27
28

1 investigations unnecessary.” 466 U.S. 668. The trial counsel, at a minimum, must 2 conduct a reasonable investigation enabling him to make informed decisions
3 regarding how to best represent his client. Phillips v. Woodford, 267 F.3d 966,
4 978 (9th Cir. 2002). Pretrial investigation is a critical area in any criminal case
5 and failure to accomplish that investigation has been held to 6 constitute ineffective assistance of counsel. This Court has stated “[i]t is still 7 recognized that a primary requirement is that counsel... conduct careful factual
8 and legal investigations and inquires with a view toward developing matters of 9 defense in order that they make informed decisions on his client's behalf both at 10 the pleading stage... and at trial.” Jackson v. Warden, 91 Nev. 430, 537 P.2d 473-
11 474 (1975).

12
13
14
15
16
17 The Federal Courts also hold that pretrial investigation and preparation for 18 trial are a key to effective representation of counsel. U.S. v. Tucker, 716 F.2d 576
19 (1983). When the deficiencies in counsel's performance can be found to be severe
20 and cannot be characterized as the product of strategic judgment, ineffectiveness
21 may be clear. United States v. Gray, 878 F.2d 702, 711 (3d Cir. 1989). Thus, the 22 courts of appeals agree that failure to conduct any pretrial investigation generally 23 constitutes a clear instance of ineffectiveness. Id.

25
26 In Warner v. State, 102 Nev. 635, 729 P.2d 1359 (1986), this Court found 27 that trial counsel was ineffective when counsel had failed to conduct an adequate 28

1 pretrial investigation, failed to properly utilize the full-time investigator 2 employed by the public defender, and failed to prepare for the testimony of 3 defense witnesses. See also, Sanborn v. State, 107 Nev. 399, 812 P.2d 1279
4 (1991). “At a minimum, counsel has the duty to interview potential witnesses and 5 to make an independent investigation of the facts and circumstances of the 6 case.” Crisp v. Duckworth, 743 F.2d 580, 583 (7th Cir.1984), cert, denied, 469
7 U.S. 1226, 105 S.Ct. 1221, 84 L.Ed.2d 361 (1985). Ineffectiveness is generally 8 clear in the context of complete failure to investigate because counsel can hardly 9 be said to have made a strategic choice against pursuing a certain line of 10 investigation when s/he has not yet obtained the facts on which such a decision
11 could be made. See Strickland, 466 U.S. at 690-91.

12 The Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals held that when counsel did not 13 investigate his client’s alibi prior to trial that satisfied the requirement of the 14 Strickland test for ineffective counsel. Grooms v. Solem, 923 F.2d 88, 90 (8th 15 Cir. 1991). The Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals also held that when the previous 16 counsel failed to interview the alibi witnesses prior to trial that was found to be 17 unreasonable thus satisfying the Strickland test. Clark v. Redman, 911 F.2d 731
18 (6th Cir. 1990).

19 As stated above, a failure to investigate qualifies as a deficiency of trial
20 counsel under Strickland. Trial counsel did not conduct any pretrial investigation
21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28

1 for Powell's alibi, despite his insistence that he had an alibi and provided contact
2 information for alibi witnesses. (JA, II; APP000331 – APP000334). To prove
3 prejudice, Powell must present a “reasonable probability that, but for trial 4 counsel's unprofessional errors, the result of the proceeding would have been 5 different.” Strickland, 466 U.S. at 694. A reasonable probability is a “probability
6 sufficient to undermine confidence in the outcome.” Id. Virtually no investigation
7 was done to substantiate Powell’s alibi prior to trial counsel’s advice to accept 8 the State’s plea deal. Powell was facing numerous serious felony charges and 9 several life sentences, yet nothing was done to potentially exonerate Powell of 10 any guilt by providing a clear alibi. Powell provided contact information for an 11 alibi witness, in this case his fiancé. Despite Mr. Powell’s request to investigate 12 this alibi neither his trial counsel, nor anyone acting on their behalf reached out to 13 this witness to discuss anything alibi related at any point during their 14 representation. (JA, II; APP000439). As such, there is sufficient information
15 available to support the notion that if the case had been thoroughly investigated 16 and adequately prepared for trial, and if the legal representation had been 17 competent, the result would have been different.

25 B. INEFFECTIVE ASSISTANCE OF COUNSEL - GUILTY PLEA
26 AGREEMENT AND MOTION TO WITHDRAW

27
28 a. Counsel Misrepresented to his Client the Terms of the Plea Deal

1 It has long been the law that a plea of guilty is constitutionally valid only to
2 the extent it is “voluntary” and “intelligent. Brady v. United States, 397 U.S. 742,
3 748, 25 L.Ed.2d 747, 90 S.Ct. 1463 (1970). This standard connotes a two-part 4 test.

7 The first prong of this test requires that the plea be intelligent. The United States
8 Supreme Court has held that:

10 A plea does not qualify as intelligent unless a criminal defendant first 11 receives real notice of a true nature of a charge against him, the first and 12 most universally recognized requirement of due process. Bousley v. United 13 States, 523 U.S. 614, 618, 118 S.Ct. 1604 (1998) (internal citation omitted).

14 Second, a plea must be voluntary. The voluntary prong is addressed as follows:

15 A plea of guilty entered by one fully aware of the direct consequences,
16 including the actual value of any commitments made to him by the court, 17 prosecutor, or his own counsel, must stand unless induced by threats (or 18 promises to discontinue improper harassment), misrepresentation
19 (including *10 unfulfilled or unfulfillable promises), or perhaps by 20 promises that are by their nature improper as having no proper relationship to the prosecutor's business (e.g. bribes). Brady v. United States, 397 U.S.
742, 755.

22 A “knowing” plea is one entered into with a full understanding of the 23 nature of the charge and all the consequences for the plea. Boykin v. Alabama, 24 395 US 238 (1969). A plea agreement is construed according to what the 25 defendant reasonable understood when he entered the plea. Statz v. State 113
26 Nev. 987, 993, 944 P.2d 813, 817 (1997); Sullivan v. State, 115 Nev. 383, 387, 27 990 P.2d 1258, 1260 (1999). The defendant’s reasonable understanding is 28

1 distinguishable from the mere subjective belief of defendant as to any potential
2 sentence, or hope of leniency, unsupported by a promise from the state or an
3 indication by the court. See Rouse v. State, 91 Nev. 677, 541 P. 2d 643 (1975)

5 A defendant who enters a guilty plea based on the advice of counsel may 6 refute the guilty plea by demonstrating the ineffectiveness of counsel's
7 performance violated the defendant's right to counsel guaranteed under the sixth
8 amendment to the US constitution. Nollete v. State, 118 Nev. 341, 348-349, 46
9 P.3d 87, 92 (2002); Strickland v. Washington, 466 U.S. 668, 687-88 (1984) A 10 defendant must substantiate their claim of ineffective assistance of counsel by 11 showing counsel's performance fell below an objective standard of 12 reasonableness, and a reasonable probability exists that, but for counsel's
13 erroneous advice, the defendant would not have pled guilty. Id.; Warden v.
14 Lyons, 100 Nev. 430, 432, 683 P.2d 504, 505 (1984); Hill v. Lockhart, 474 U.S.
15 52, 106 S. Ct. 366, 88 L.Ed.2d 203 (1985).
16
17
18
19
20

21 Mr. Powell asserts that his plea was signed involuntarily because of the 22 misrepresentations made by his counsel during plea negotiations. These 23 misrepresentations included unfulfilled and unfulfillable promises of a sentence
24 that guaranteed nine to fifteen years in prison. (JA, II; APP000322-APP000324).
25 His attorney could not promise something that is left to the court's discretion, and 26 the actual sentencing decision was significantly different from what counsel had 27
28

1 promised. Mr. Powell's counsel also failed to investigate or request discovery on 2 the undocumented charges that could result in an additional three hundred years
3 of prison for Mr. Powell prior to advising him to agree to the offered Plea Deal.
4 (JA, II; APP000430 – APP000433). At no point would Mr. Powell have had a
5 reasonable understanding of these threatened charges prior to signing the Guilty
6 Plea Agreement. This is clearly due to Mr. Powell's attorney's ineffective
7 assistance of counsel and erroneous advice. These promises and failures to 8 effectively communicate the nature of the deal fully implicate the Brady rule and 9 invalidate the plea deal. Had Mr. Powell known that there was a possibility that 10 these additional charges were bare and naked, and had he known that the 11 sentence communicated to him was not guaranteed then he would not have 12 pleaded guilty and would have insisted on going to trial. Therefore, Mr. Powell is 13 entitled to relief by way of this appeal challenging his Writ of Habeas Corpus.
14 (JA, III; APP000586 – APP000678).

21 b. Counsel Failed to ask the State to Provide Discovery on Alleged 22 new Criminal Cases That Influenced Guilty Plea.

23 The Supreme Court held that to succeed in the second prong of the 24 Strickland test when arguing that ineffective assistance was erroneous plea
25 advice, the defendant must prove that they would have entered a different plea
26 but for counsel's performance. Hill 474 U.S. 52, at 368. When the deficiencies in 27
28

1 counsel's performance can be found to be severe and cannot be characterized as 2 the product of strategic judgment, ineffectiveness may be clear. United States v.
3 Gray, 878 F.2d 702, 711 (3d Cir. 1989). Thus, the courts of appeals agree
4 that failure to conduct any pretrial investigation generally constitutes a clear
5 instance of ineffectiveness. Id.

8 The Nevada Supreme Court has held that for a valid plea to stand, the 9 Defendant must understand the elements of offense to which the plea was entered 10 or made factual statements to court which constitute admission to offence pled to.
11 State v. Love, 109 Nev. 1136, 1137, 865 P.2d 322, 329 (1993). When determining 12 if trial counsel was effective, the court determines whether counsel made a 13 “sufficient inquiry into the information pertinent to his client’s case.” Doleman v.
14 State, 112 Nev. 843, 848, 921 P.2d 278, 280 (1996). And then whether counsel
15 made a “reasonable strategy decision on how to proceed with his client’s case.”
16 Id. While trial counsel is not required to exhaust all avenues of defense, that is 17 only relevant when “counsel and the client in a criminal case clearly understand
18 the evidence and the permutations of proof and outcome” Molina v. State, 120
19 Nev. 185, 192, 87 P.3d 533, 538 (2004).

25 In this case, Mr. Kane and Mr. Nelson clearly failed to obtain discovery
26 and understand the probability of the charges actually being filed against Mr.
27 Powell, and thus failed to effectively construct a reasonable strategy for their 28

1 client which led to clear prejudice by Mr. Powell accepting the Guilty Plea
2 Agreement. Under Strickland, the first prong is the attorney's performance must
3 be proven to be deficient. This can be shown by trial counsel's erroneous advice
4 to Mr. Powell to accept a Guilty Plea Agreement with the State where a
5 significant component of that agreement was based on the State agreeing to not
6 charge Mr. Powell with ten additional robbery charges. (JA, II; APP000430 -
7 APP000431). Not only had trial counsel never reviewed the discovery from those 8 new cases; the only alleged evidence they were presented with were photos on a 9 police white board. Id. Even if other factors were included in the negotiation of 10 the Guilty Plea Agreement, such as taking life sentence off the table from the 11 previously charged crimes, the threat of ten additional robbery charges which 12 could amount to a maximum of 150 years in prison which amounts to an 13 additional life sentence on top of the previous charges. Id. Mr. Powell was placed 14 in the untenable position where, not only did he face three life sentences from the 15 original charges being brought against him, but he was faced with the possibility 16 of being sentenced to an additional three hundred years for crimes in which he 17 had no ability to review or even understand. Id. Mr. Powell relied on the 18 representation appointed to him to understand and represent him within a range
19 of competence guaranteed to him by the sixth amendment, and to reasonably 20 advise him on this new and objectively significant change in his case. The 21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28

1 response of Mr. Powell's legal counsel was not to delay the trial for review of 2 these new charges being threatened by the State that clearly changed the dynamic 3 of the entire case, or even to request the discovery from these new cases, but to 4 advise their client to blindly accept the State's deal. Id. This advice clearly shows
5 a lack of baseline competency expected of an attorney advising a client of a deal 6 with life altering consequences.

9 Under Strickland, the second prong requires a reasonable probability that 10 Mr. Powell would have, but for counsels' unprofessional errors, resulted in a 11 different result during the Plea Agreement Negotiation. It is apparent that these 12 new allegations would not only prejudice Mr. Powell subjectively but would 13 prejudice an objectively reasonable person in Mr. Powell's position as well. The 14 threat of an additional three hundred years of imprisonment combined with the 15 danger of the unknown is clearly a factor that could affected Mr. Powell's 16 decision to take a plea deal. While these new allegations may or may not have 17 been able to have been brought by the State, Mr. Powell was in no position to 18 understand or be able to understand these new charges. This type of erroneous 19 advice by trial counsel, which not only shows a clear and obvious lack of 20 understanding of these new potential charges being brought against Mr. Powell,
21 but a total lack of meaningful assistance. The ineffective assistance of Mr.
22 Powell's counsel plainly falls below the objective standard of reasonableness
23
24
25
26
27
28

1 required from counsel, and the reasonable probability of Mr. Powell not pleading
2 guilty but for counsel's erroneous advice plainly exists.

4 C. INEFFECTIVE ASSISTANCE OF COUNSEL THROUGHOUT
5 COLLATERAL PROCEEDINGS.

6 Unfortunately, the ineffective assistance of counsel did not stop after the 7 imposition of Mr. Powell's sentence. Following the judgment of conviction filed
8 on May 24, 2019, Ms. McNeil failed to file a direct appeal which challenged both 9 the district court's denial of the Motion to Withdraw the Guilty Plea, in addition
10 to challenging the overall Judgment of Conviction producing a procedural 11 default. Furthermore, Ms. McNeil wholly failed to file, or even advise Mr.
12 Powell of his ability to file a Writ of Habeas Corpus within one year after entry
13 of the March 4, 2021 Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law. Ms. McNeil
14 admitted to this shortcoming in a sworn declaration dated August 10, 2021. (JA, 15 III; APP000498 – APP000499).
16
17
18
19

20 A counsel's ineffectiveness can be found when they failed to properly
21 "preserve a claim for state-court review" but "only if that ineffectiveness itself
22 constitutes an independent constitutional claim." Edwards v. Carpenter, 529 U.S.
23 446, 447, 120 S. Ct. 1587, 1589, 146 L. Ed. 2d 518 (2000). Ms. McNeil's
24 performance continuously fell below the objective standard of reasonableness.
25 First, Ms. McNeil failed to challenge the Judgment of Conviction in its entirety
26 when she filed the June 14, 2019 Notice of Appeal, wherein she only challenged
27
28

1 the district court's denial of the Motion to Withdraw the Guilty Plea Agreement.
2 (JA, II; APP000322). Failure to challenge the overall judgment forever waived
3 Mr. Powell's ability to do so on direct appeal to the Nevada Supreme Court.
4 Despite this, the Nevada Supreme Court remanded the case for the purpose of 5 conducting an evidentiary hearing on Mr. Powell's Motion to Withdraw the 6 Guilty Plea Agreement. (JA, II; APP000416). At the hearing, Ms. McNeil failed
7 to call relevant witnesses including "lead trial counsel" Roy Nelson who had 8 been under scrutiny with the Nevada Bar for suspected substance abuse and 9 overall ineffective assistance. (JA, II; APP000423 – APP000424). Instead, Ms.
10 McNeil only requested to examine one of Mr. Powell's former attorneys, Michael 11 Kane. Id. Incredibly, Ms. McNeil waived the opportunity to examine Mr. Nelson, 12 under oath, failing to obtain testimony regarding Mr. Nelson's preparation,
13 counseling of Mr. Powell and overall trial strategy. The Motion to Withdraw 14 Guilty Plea Agreement was entirely based on ineffective council and the fact that 15 only one of Mr. Powell's attorneys was called for examination by Ms. McNeil
16 clearly prevents Mr. Powell being able to reasonably defend his claim properly
17 especially when considering the aforementioned issues Roy Nelson was facing.

18
20
21
22
23
24
25 Following the May 24, 2019, Judgment of Conviction, McNeil again failed 26 to provide effective counsel to Mr. Powell by failing to file a direct appeal to the 27 Nevada Supreme Court challenging not only the district court's denial of the 28

1 Motion to Withdraw the Guilty Plea, but the overall Judgment of Conviction,
2 which led to the waiver of this claim. Furthermore, following the March 4, 2021,
3 Findings of Fact in Conclusions of Law, Ms. McNeil failed to file a Petition for 4 Writ of Habeas Corpus in a timely fashion, nor did she advise Mr. Powell of his 5 ability to challenge this ruling altogether. The details of this error can be seen in 6 the sworn declaration drafted by Ms. McNeil and filed on Mr. Powell's behalf
7 where she plainly states that she miscalculated the date which led to Mr. Powell
8 missing the date to appeal the court's decision based on her error. (JA, III; 9 APP000498 – APP000499). Ms. McNeil has not only failed to advise Mr. Powell
10 on the timeliness on two important deadlines, but that failure has thereby waived
11 any remedy Mr. Powell could have received by appealing the district court's 12 decision denying his Motion to Withdraw his Guilty Plea Agreement. This has 13 prejudiced Mr. Powell's ability to adequately challenge his conviction. But for 14 Ms. McNeil's ineffective counsel, the result of the proceeding would reasonably 15 been different.

16
17
18
19
20
21
22 D. THE DISTRICT COURT ERRED IN FAILING TO GRANT AN 23 EVIDENTIARY HEARING.

24 In Nevada, a post-conviction habeas petitioner is entitled to a post-25 conviction evidentiary hearing when he asserts claims supported by specific 26 factual allegations not belied by the record that, if true, would entitle him to 27 relief. McConnell v. State, 212 P.3d 307, 313, 125 Nev. Adv. Rep. 24 (2009); See 28

1 also Byford v. State, 123 Nev. 67, 68-69, 156 P.3d 691, 692 (2007).

2 NRS 34.770 determines when a defendant is entitled to an evidentiary
3 hearing, and states:

5 1. The judge or justice, upon review of the return, answer and all
6 supporting documents which are filed, shall determine whether an 7 evidentiary hearing is required. A petitioner must not be discharged 8 or committed to the custody of a person other than the respondent unless an evidentiary hearing is held.

9 2. If the judge or justice determines that the petitioner is not entitled 10 to relief and an evidentiary hearing is not required, he shall dismiss the petition without a hearing.

11 3. If the judge or justice determines that an evidentiary hearing is 12 required, he shall grant the writ and shall set a date for the hearing.

13 There is no question that Mr. Powell raised specific factual allegations in 14 the petition. However, the district court refused to grant a hearing.
15

16 IV. CUMULATIVE ERROR.

17 Cumulative error warrants habeas relief where the errors have “so
18 infected the proceedings with unfairness as to make the resulting conviction a
19 denial of due process.” Donnelly v DeChristoforo, 416 U.S. 637, 643 94
20 S.Ct 1868, 4. L.Ed. 2d 431 (1974). When errors of Constitutional magnitude
21 are involved, reversal is warranted where those combined errors have created
22 prejudice for the defendant. United States v. Wallace, 848 F.2d 1464, 1475
23 (9th Cir. 1988). Even if an error does not, on its own, rise to the level of a
24 Constitutional violation, a combination of errors renders a trial fundamentally 25 unfair in violation of the Sixth Amendment to the United States Constitution.
26
27
28

1 See e.g., Lundy v. Campbell, 888 F.2d 467, 472073 (6th Cir. 1989), cert.
2 denied, 495 U.S. 950, 110 S.Ct. 2212, 109 L.Ed.2d 538 (1990); Walker v.
3 Engle, 703 F.2d 959, 963 (6th Cir. 1983), cert. denied, 464 U.S. 951, 104 S.Ct.
4 367, 78 L.Ed.2d 327 (1983); United States v. Necoechea, 986 F.2d 1273, 1282
5 (9th Cir. 1993); United States v. Glover, 83 F.2d 429 (9th Cir. 1996); United 6 States v. McPherson, 108 F.3d 1387 (9th Cir. 1997); Big Pond v. State, 101
7 Nev. 1 (1985). Habeas relief is available for cumulative error when the 8 errors, combined, have “so infected the trial with unfairness as to make the 9 resulting conviction a denial of due process.” Donnelly, 416 U.S. at 643, 94
10 S.Ct. at 1871.

11 In Mr. Powell’s case, the inadequacies and critical failures of trial counsel 12 and appellate counsel so infected Mr. Powell’s litigation with unfairness that he 13 was denied due process of the law as required by the Fifth and Fourteenth 14 Amendments of the United States Constitution. Additionally, the failures of 15 trial and appellate counsel, combined with the violation of Mr. Powell’s right 16 against Dual Criminal Liability resulted in cumulative errors, the effect of 17 which resulted in a Guilty Plea Agreement that was “so infected ... with 18 unfairness as to make the resulting conviction a denial of due process.”
19 Donnelly, 416 U.S. at 643, 94 S.Ct. at 1868. Upon review, this Court should 20 find this cumulative error warrants granting this appeal.
