Introduction

While styled as an “emergency,” Tricarichi’s Motion fails to satisfy any of NRAP 27(e)’s requirements, which by itself merits denial. To start, it was not filed at the “earliest possible time.” It should have been filed shortly after February 29, the day the district court orally denied his motion to stay, not three weeks later. See NRAP 27(e)(1). Nor does the Motion include the required “NRAP 27(e) Certificate,” or any of the information required under that subsection. On these bases alone, the Court should, as NRAP 27(e)(1) permits, “summarily deny the motion.”

The Motion also fails on the merits, as Tricarichi seeks the extraordinary relief of a stay of execution without a supersedeas bond or any alternate security, but fails to provide any support – be it legal, evidentiary, or otherwise – justifying such relief. Indeed, Tricarichi’s Motion is most notable for what it intentionally omits. First, the near entirety of the Motion is premised on the representation that a purported federal tax lien exists due to the IRS judgment (issued in 2016), and that by virtue of the “tax lien,” Tricarichi cannot dissipate assets; thus, “maintain[ing] the status quo [to] protect the judgment creditor pending an appeal, is fully met.”<sup>1</sup> Tricarichi fails to inform the Court that since 2019, and during a time in which the IRS purportedly had a lien on all his assets and property, Tricarichi transferred and dissipated nearly [REDACTED] in assets – [REDACTED]. As such, the IRS judgment has done – and will do – nothing to preserve the status quo pending appeal, and PwC is wholly unprotected without a bond.<sup>2</sup>

Second, despite his professed concern for the IRS, Tricarichi fails to mention that in the eight years since the IRS obtained its judgment, it has not collected – and Tricarichi has not paid – so much as a dollar in satisfaction of the judgment. In short, Tricarichi now seeks to avoid paying PwC, to PwC’s detriment, while continuing his gross dissipation of assets. Third, while focusing exclusively on the Fifth Nelson factor (which as set forth herein, was never intended to be used in the context he proposes), Tricarichi ignores the other four factors and fails to inform that Court that the district court found that every Nelson factor favored PwC.

Finally, Tricarichi fails to mention, let alone satisfy, the requirements under NRAP 8 to obtain a stay. This failure is not surprising, as the factors overwhelming weigh in PwC’s favor. As Tricarichi has failed to carry his burden under the Nelson factors and NRAP 8, the Court should deny the Motion.

Relevant Factual Background

On February 9, 2023, and following a nine-day bench trial, the district court entered judgment in PwC’s favor and against Tricarichi, holding that substantively, Tricarichi had not provided evidence in support of three elements of his claim, and procedurally, holding that his single cause of action was barred by both Nevada and New York’s applicable statutes of limitations.<sup>3</sup> PwC subsequently sought its attorneys’ fees and costs based on two offers of judgment, which the district court granted in part, awarding PwC $2,102,754.39 in attorneys’ fees and $322,955.91 in costs (“Fees and Costs Order”).<sup>4</sup> On October 12, 2023, Tricarichi filed a Motion to stay enforcement of the Fees and Costs order, seeking the extraordinary relief of a stay without supersedeas bond and without alternate security.

---

<sup>2</sup> Nor does Tricarichi himself personally believe – despite the repeated position in his briefs to the contrary – [REDACTED]

The district court subsequently denied in part and deferred in part the motion, ordering a judgment debtor exam, supplemental briefing, and a supplemental hearing on the Motion. Following their completion, the district court denied Tricarichi’s Motion on February 29, 2024.<sup>5</sup> This Court should do the same.

Argument

I. Tricarichi Failed to Satisfy the Requirements for Emergency Relief.

While bringing the motion on a purportedly emergency basis, Tricarichi has not satisfied NRAP 27(e)’s requirements. To start, he has not “filed [the motion] at the earliest possible time,” and thus the Court “may summarily deny the motion.” See NRAP 27(e)(1). The district court orally denied Tricarichi’s motion for a stay on February 29, 2024, and the written order was entered on March 13. Yet, Tricarichi

waited until three weeks after the district court's ruling and more than a week after the entry of the formal written order to file his motion, which by no measure was the "earliest possible time." Tricarichi did not notify PwC's counsel or the clerk prior to filing. See id. Further, Tricarichi only generally argues that "absent an emergency stay ... PwC intends to immediately begin executing on the Fees and Costs Order," but omits the required NRAP 27(e)(3) certificate, specifying, inter alia, the particular facts showing the existence and nature of the emergency. For example, he does not indicate what aspects of potential execution on the judgment are imminent, problematic, or irreparable. The Motion should be denied on this basis.

II. Tricarichi Fails to Satisfy the Nelson Factors and NRAP 8.

In determining whether to grant a stay pending appeal, this court considers:

(1) whether the object of an appeal will be defeated if the stay is not granted, (2) whether appellant will suffer irreparable or serious injury if the stay is denied, (3) whether respondent will suffer irreparable or serious injury if the stay is granted and (4) whether appellant is likely to prevail on the merits in an appeal.

NRAP 8(c); see also Hansen v. Eighth Judicial Dist. Court, 116 Nev. 650, 657, 6 P.3d 982, 986 (2000).

NRCP 62(d) in turn governs stays of money judgments pending appeal and, in the context of the interpreting decisional law, provides that appellant can obtain a stay pending appeal as of right upon the posting of a supersedeas bond for the full judgment amount, but that courts retain the inherent power to grant a stay in the absence of a full bond. Nelson v. Heer, 121 Nev. 832, 834, 122 P.3d 1252, 1253 (2005), as modified (Jan. 25, 2006) (“[A] supersedeas bond posted under NRCP 62 should usually be set in an amount that will permit full satisfaction of the judgment. [But a] district court, in its discretion, may provide for a bond in a lesser amount, or may permit security other than a bond, when unusual circumstances exist and so warrant.”) (emphasis added). “The purpose of security for a stay pending appeal is to protect the judgment creditor’s ability to collect the judgment if it is affirmed by preserving the status quo and preventing prejudice to the creditor arising from the stay.” See Nelson, 121 Nev. at 835, 122 P.3d at 1254. As this Court has noted, “where other appropriate, reliable alternatives [to a supersedeas bond] exist ... the focus is properly on what security will maintain the status quo and protect the judgment creditor pending an appeal.” Id. (emphasis added).

In Nelson, the Court adopted five factors from the Seventh Circuit for the Court to consider when analyzing whether to accept alternate security in lieu of a bond and/or waive the bond:

(1) the complexity of the collection process; (2) the amount of time required to obtain a judgment after it is affirmed on appeal; (3) the degree of confidence that the district court has in the availability of funds to pay the judgment; (4) whether the defendant’s ability to pay the judgment is so plain that the cost of a bond would be a waste of money; and (5) whether the defendant is in such a precarious financial situation that the requirement to post a bond would place other creditors of the defendant in an insecure position.

Id. Because this Court adopted its test from the Seventh Circuit,<sup>6</sup> decisions from the Seventh Circuit and district courts therein should be treated as persuasive authority.

A. Tricarichi Fails to Satisfy the Fifth Nelson Factor (“Fifth Factor”).

As a preliminary matter, Tricarichi spends most of his Motion discussing his purported inability to post a supersedeas bond; however, his ability to post a bond has no part in the analysis.<sup>7</sup> Rather, the Fifth Factor focuses on whether the bond places other creditors in an insecure position. Similarly, the 62(d) analysis as a whole focuses on the impact to PwC. The impact on Tricarichi has no bearing on whether to grant the Motion.

Relying exclusively on the Fifth Factor, Tricarichi misconstrues the same. The genesis for the Fifth Factor comes from Olympia Equipment vs. Western Union, 786 F.2d 794 (7th Cir. 1986), wherein a $36 million judgment was issued against Western Union. Western Union argued that a traditional bond would force a bankruptcy, and thus, harm its other unsecured creditors. The district court waived the bond but required alternate security, the value of which more than doubled the judgment amount. Id. In affirming the district court’s decision, the Seventh Circuit stated:

<sup>6</sup> Further, undersigned counsel has been unable to locate any Nevada Supreme Court authority analyzing and/or applying the fifth factor (“Fifth Factor”) – which demonstrates the rarity with which a reduction and/or waiver of a bond is granted under this factor.

<sup>7</sup> Further, as set forth herein, Tricarichi’s purported inability to post a bond is damage of his own making. As of 2019, Tricarichi had a net worth of [REDACTED]. In an undisputable effort to shield assets from the IRS judgment, Tricarichi has dissipated [REDACTED] of assets in the interim.

But we are reluctant to conclude that a district judge commits an abuse of discretion by refusing to allow a plaintiff to execute a judgment in circumstances where the execution may cause a billion-dollar bankruptcy, merely because the alternative security to a supersedeas bond that the defendant apparently cannot post provides a slightly inferior protection of the plaintiff's interest.

Id. Tricarichi’s instant request could not be more different, as he proposes no alternate security, let alone security that would only be “slightly inferior protection” to a supersedeas bond.

Instead, Tricarichi’s request is identical to that in Leister v. Dovetail, 2007 WL 9757956 (C.D. Ill., Nov. 13, 2007), where the judgment debtor argued for a stay with no security, citing to Olympia and applying the Fifth Factor. The Leister court rejected the comparison on identical terms to Tricarichi’s instant request:

The defendants offer no alternative security. Moreover, they argue that they cannot post bond without harming their own financial condition and that of other creditors. In essence, the defendants seek the court’s blessing to favor themselves and their other creditors over the prevailing plaintiff while the case proceeds on appeal. This court cannot endorse a plan that allows the defendants to continue to pay other creditors and, in doing so, potentially harm the status quo vis a vis the plaintiff.

Id. (emphasis added).

Moreover, Tricarichi has provided no legal or evidentiary support that the IRS’s position would be insecure. Unlike the unsecured creditors in Olympia, the IRS would not be harmed by a bankruptcy, as the IRS judgment is non-dischargeable. Further, and as the district court correctly concluded when finding the Fifth Factor favored PwC: (1) the IRS already has a judgment earlier in time than PwC and is not insecure; (2) the IRS is not a private creditor, but rather, a bureau of the federal government, and the instant dispute is a matter of state law in a Nevada state court; and (3) Plaintiff has not presented evidence that the IRS: (a) believes it would be somehow impacted by the bond, (b) was put on notice of whether it would be impacted, or (c) couldn't attach any posted bond during the intervening time that this case would be on appeal.<sup>8</sup> This Court should do the same. See Milwaukee Ctr. for Indep., Inc. v. Milwaukee Health Care, LLC, 2019 WL 7584285, at *2 (E.D. Wis. Mar. 12, 2019) (denying a motion for stay and finding that outside of a “short declaration,” the judgment debtor “provide[d] very little evidence to support [the Fifth Factor]”, including failure to “show that he could not obtain the premium or the collateral without putting his creditors in an insecure position,” and failure to submit evidence that he “explored alternatives to a supersedeas bond”).

short, the IRS is letting Tricarichi do as he pleases with his assets.

Tricarichi, however, cannot use the IRS's dormant judgment as a shield, arguing without support that [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] and (2) his assets will be preserved on appeal. No authority requires PwC to wait indefinitely to see if the IRS wishes to execute on its judgment, and as described below, his financial behavior and evaporating net worth unequivocally state otherwise. And if the IRS has not taken steps to collect against Tricarichi in eight years, why should he obtain the benefit of paying neither party, while dissipating assets as he pleases in the interim?<sup>12</sup>

B. The IRS Judgment Has Not Maintained the Status Quo Regarding Tricarichi's Finances.

As Nelson holds, and as Tricarichi's Motion repeatedly admits, the primary purpose in requiring a bond or alternate security pending appeal "is to protect the judgment creditor's ability to collect the judgment if it is affirmed by preserving the status quo and preventing prejudice to the creditor arising from the stay." See Nelson, 121 Nev. at 835, 122 P.3d at 1254. As he does now, Tricarichi repeatedly assured the district court that the IRS judgment functions to maintain the status quo, and that maintaining the status quo is "fully met,"<sup>13</sup> protecting PwC during the pendency of the appeal. That narrative is false. The IRS obtained its judgment in 2016, and Tricarichi exhausted his appellate remedies in 2019. Tricarichi's sworn testimony and produced financial documents conclusively evidence that [REDACTED]

<sup>12</sup> Moreover, there is no collection priority. Pretend as he might, Tricarichi is not in bankruptcy.

In 2019, and at the inception of the IRS lien, Tricarichi produced an asset sheet, showing his total assets in the amount of [REDACTED].<sup>14</sup> Four short years later, and during a window in which a purported IRS lien covered all of Tricarichi's property, he now claims total assets in the amount of $900,000.<sup>15</sup> The dissipation and/or transfer of more than [REDACTED] is comprised, at least in part, as follows.

Since 2019, Tricarichi has: [REDACTED]

<sup>21</sup> Id. at 76:12-15. See also, Ex. 3 and 4.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Despite this dissipation, Tricarichi incredibly still maintains that he “is not free to pledge assets for PwC’s sole benefit and to the IRS’s detriment” – yet he is free to [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] to whomever he pleases, whenever he pleases – just not to PwC, because that would be to the IRS’s detriment.

In short, PwC’s judgment is anything but protected without a bond, and the status quo will not be maintained during the pendency of appeal without a bond.

C. The Remaining Four Nelson Factors All Favor PwC, which Tricarichi Concedes by Silence.

Tricarichi’s omission of any discussion of four of the five Nelson factors is an admission that all favor denial of the Motion, as the district court found.<sup>24</sup> Regarding the first factor (the complexity of the collection process), the repeated transfers, sales, failure to recognize community property/debt obligations with his spouse, and fraudulently conveying assets to a trust demonstrate that the collection process will be complex.

Regarding the second factor (the amount of time required to obtain a judgment after it is affirmed on appeal), PwC anticipates that the appeal of the judgment will take at least a year from present to resolve. That intervening year would provide Tricarichi with additional time to transfer, sell, gift, and shield his remaining assets from collection. Regarding the third and fourth factors, which both address a situation where the judgment debtor has substantial assets making the bond unnecessary, Tricarichi admits he does not have sufficient assets to meet these factors. In sum, all factors overwhelming favor a denial of Tricarichi's Motion.

D. Tricarichi Fails to Address NRAP 8.

As with NRAP 27(e), Tricarichi fails to address the requirements for a stay under NRAP 8. Specifically, Tricarichi fails to allege, let alone support, that the object of his appeal will be defeated if the stay is not granted and that he will suffer irreparable or serious injury if the stay is denied. In short, his appeal will not be impacted by a denial of his stay motion, nor is anything about enforcing a money judgment irreparable. Because Tricarichi fails to meet the first required two factors under NRAP 8, the Court need not reach the third factor (likelihood of prevailing on the merits of his appeal), which issue will be briefed in the ordinary course. To the extent the Court reaches this factor, a review of the district court's extensive order confirms that PwC was correctly awarded its attorneys' fees and costs.

Specifically, PwC had an enforceable limitation of liability provision in its engagement agreement that would have limited Tricarichi's recovery to the fees paid to PwC (less than $50,000). Tricarichi contested the enforceability of the engagement agreement throughout the litigation; however, at the time PwC served its October 2021 offer of judgment (for $50,000), this Court had issued its September 2021 decision, holding that Tricarichi was bound by the engagement agreement and accompanying terms of engagement, which terms notably contained the foregoing limitation of liability provision. In refusing to acknowledge the inevitable—that if Tricarichi was somehow able to prevail on his substantively deficient and time-barred claim, his damages would be capped at a mere fraction of the cost it would take to pursue this case through trial—Tricarichi unreasonably rejected the offer. Following a two-week bench trial, the district court entered a complete defense judgment, substantively holding that Tricarichi had failed to provide evidence on three elements of his claim, and procedurally holding that Tricarichi's single cause of action was barred by both Nevada's and New York's statutes of limitations. For the myriad of additional, and independent, reasons set forth in the district court's orders and underlying briefing, Tricarichi is not likely to prevail on the merits of his appeal. The Motion should be denied.

Conclusion

At bottom, Tricarichi seeks the extraordinary relief of a stay without bond, with no alternate security, based on a false premise about the IRS judgment which, as Tricarichi's conduct and sworn testimony demonstrate, has not served to preserve his assets nor the status quo. Tricarichi presents no legitimate basis or support to stay execution without supersedeas bond and without alternate security. Accordingly, Tricarichi's Motion should be denied in its entirety.

23 427) and Plaintiff Tricarichi's Motion to Retax and Settle PWC's Amended 24 Verified Memorandum of Costs (DOC 414). Present at the hearing was Scott F.
25 Hessel, Esq., and Ariel Clark Johnson, Esq. for Plaintiff Tricarichi; and Bradley
26 Austin, Esq., Patrick G. Byrne, Esq., and Chris Landgraff, Esq., for Defendant 27 Pricewaterhouse Coopers (hereinafter PwC). At the hearing, the parties agreed 28

1 to meet among themselves to determine if there could be agreement on 2 outstanding fee and cost issues. The parties also agreed to provide the written 3 positions of the parties post-hearing to the Court. The Court, having reviewed

19 existence of a pending appeal from the underlying final judgment." Defendant also 20 seeks fees pursuant to Nevada Rules of Civil Procedure 68(f) which directs that:

21 "If the offeree rejects an offer and fails to obtain a more 22 favorable judgment: ... (B) the offeree must pay the offeror's 23 post-offer costs and expenses, including a reasonable sum to 24 cover any expenses incurred by the offeror for each expert 25 witness whose services were reasonably necessary to prepare 26 for and conduct the trial of the case, applicable interest on the 27 judgment from the time of the offer to the time of entry of the 28 judgment and reasonable attorney fees, if any be allowed, actually incurred by the offeror from the time of the offer. If the offeror's attorney is collecting a contingent fee, the amount of any attorney fees awarded to the party for whom the offer is made must be deducted from that contingent fee.

1 Defendant made Plaintiff an Offer of Judgment on September 25, 2019, and 2 then made a second Offer of Judgment October 6, 2021.<sup>4</sup> The parties agree that 3 the 2019 update to the Nevada Rules of Civil Procedure apply to both Offers of 4 Judgment. Neither Offer was accepted by Plaintiff, and the case proceeded to trial 5 in October and November 2022. Following the conclusion of the bench trial, the 6 Court issued its Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law on February 9, 2023, 7 entering Judgment in favor of Defendant PwC.<sup>5</sup> The Order continued that “any 8 request for fees and costs shall be handled via separate timely-filed Motion.”<sup>6</sup> As 9 noted, the Court finds that Defendant has met the timeliness standards to seek 10 reasonable fees pursuant to Nevada Rules of Civil Procedure 54(d) and 68(f).

11 As the fee request was timely, the Court next considers whether Defendant 12 has met the factors necessary pursuant to NRCP 68 and applicable case law 13 including Beattie v. Thomas, 99 Nev. 579, 588-89, 688 P.2d 268, 274 (1983) with 14 respect to each of its Offers of Judgment. Pursuant to Beattie and its progeny, the 15 Court considers the following factors to determine whether attorneys’ fees are 16 appropriate:

17 (1) whether the plaintiff’s claim was brought in good faith; (2) 18 whether the defendant’s offer of judgment was reasonable and 19 in good faith in both its timing and amount; (3) whether the 20 plaintiff’s decision to reject the offer and proceed to trial was grossly unreasonable or in bad faith; and (4) whether the fees sought by the offeror are reasonable and justified in amount.

21 Beattie v. Thomas, 99 Nev. 579, 588-89, 688 P.2d 268, 274 (1983).

26 <sup>4</sup> Both Offers of Judgment are provided as Exhibits 1 and 2 in the Appendix of Exhibits to the Motion for Attorney’s Fees and Costs filed March 15, 2023, with electronic service stamps reflecting the dates of service (DOC 428). Each Offer of Judgment was for $50,000.00.

1                                   A. The Court Finds That Fees Are Not Appropriate Under The
2                                   2019 Offer of Judgment

3                   As there were two Offers of Judgment, the Court addresses each of them in 4 turn. With respect to the 2019 Offer, the Court has to consider what was known 5 about the claims and defenses at the time the offer was made as well as other 6 Beattie factors.

7                                   1. The Court Finds That the First Beattie Factor Weighs 8                                   in Favor of Plaintiff.

9                   First, when considering whether Plaintiff's claim was brought in good faith, 10 the Court sees that at the time of the 2019 offer, while Plaintiff had lost on 11 Summary Judgment on the statute of limitations on the 2003 claim, the 2008 claim 12 was still in the early stages of the litigation from a timing standpoint as it had been 13 newly added to the Complaint.<sup>7</sup> This factor weighed in favor of it being pursued in 14 good faith by Plaintiff.

15                                   2. The Court Finds That the Second Beattie Factor
16                                   Weighs in Favor of Defendant.

17                   When analyzing the second factor, the Court looks to whether Defendant's 18 2019 Offer of Judgment was reasonable and in good faith, both in its timing and 19 amount. As to timing, the Court considers that the Offer was made following the 20 Summary Judgment ruling on the 2003 claim.<sup>8</sup> The 2008 claim was just beginning 21 in the case.<sup>9</sup> At that time, the limitation of liability issue had not been resolved
22 either.<sup>10</sup> Accordingly, at the time the Offer was made, given the status of the case 23 and what was known by Defendant, the timing component was reasonable.

<sup>10</sup> May 30, 2023, Hearing Transcript at 56:23-57:2.

1 As to the amount offered of $50,000.00, the Court also sees that amount as 2 reasonable and in good faith because $50,000.00 was consistent with the limitation 3 of liability which was an issue that had not yet been resolved.<sup>11</sup> Thus, the second 4 factor would weigh in favor of Defendant's offer being both reasonable and in good 5 faith.

7 3. The Court Finds That the Third Beattie Factor Weighs 8 in Favor of Plaintiff.

9 Next, the Court considers whether Plaintiff's decision to reject the Offer and 10 proceed to trial was grossly unreasonable or in bad faith. Regardless of whether 11 the Court looks at what issues actually went to trial, or could have gone to trial from 12 a September 2019 lens before the statute of limitation issue was decided, or from 13 the lens of considering Summary Judgment had been granted on the 2003 claim, 14 and what the risk then was of the 2008 claim, the Court finds the factor weighs in 15 favor of Plaintiff.<sup>12</sup> At this juncture, there were appeal and writ opportunities 16 available; the 2008 claim was still in its infancy in this case.<sup>13</sup> The decision to reject 17 the Offer at that time was not grossly unreasonable or in bad faith as there were still 18 other avenues.
19

20 4. The Court Need Not Reach the Fourth Beattie Factor.

21 Lastly, the Court would consider whether the fees sought by the Offeror are 22 reasonable and justified in amount. Here, though, the Court finds it does not need 23 to address whether the fees sought were reasonable and justified as two of the 1 three preceding Beattie factors weighed in favor of Plaintiff. In sum, the Court finds 2 that fees would not be appropriate under the 2019 Offer of Judgment.<sup>14</sup>

3 B. The Court Finds That Fees Are Appropriate Under the 2021
4 Offer of Judgment

5 The Court next considers the 2021 Offer of Judgment which was also for 6 $50,000.00 exclusive of fees, interest, and costs to determine if that Offer meets 7 the requisite criteria to impose fees against Plaintiff.

9 1. The Court Finds That the First Beattie Factor Weighs in Favor of Defendant.

10 The Court first considers whether the Plaintiff's claim was brought in good 11 faith. The Court finds that at the time of the 2021 Offer, there was an existing ruling 12 from the Nevada Supreme Court and the prior the Summary Judgment ruling on 13 the 2003 claim. Further, the parties had the intervening time to flush out the issues 14 that eventually went to trial. Thus, given the posture of the remaining claim, the 15 Court finds that the first factor weighs in favor of Defendant.<sup>15</sup>

16
17 2. The Court Finds That the Second Beattie Factor
18 Weighs in Favor of Defendant.

19 The Court next looks to whether the 2021 Offer was reasonable and in good 20 faith in both its timing and amount. As to amount, the Court considers that there 21 was the issue of the same limitation of liability as with the 2019 Offer; and thus, the 22 $50,000.00 would still be appropriate in light of the matters still at issue.<sup>16</sup> The 23 Court also evaluated the nature of the claims including that it was uncontested in 24 the case that there was no work done by PwC in the intervening five years between 25

1 Plaintiff's 2003 and 2008 issues. The Court also had to look at the fact that Plaintiff
2 was premising his liability claim on potential duties he asserted PWC owed him 3 retrospectively without there being any duty triggered from actual work performed.<sup>17</sup>
4 The 2021 Offer also followed the Nevada Supreme Court's ruling in Defendant's 5 favor pertaining to that limitation of liability, along with the prior Summary Judgment 6 on the 2003 claim. In light of the procedural posture and facts, the Court finds that 7 the timing of the 2021 Offer of Judgment was in good faith.<sup>18</sup> The second factor, 8 thus, weighs in favor of Defendant.

10 3. The Court Finds That the Third Beattie Factor Weighs
11 in Favor of Defendant.

12 Then the Court must consider whether the Plaintiff's decision to reject the 13 Offer and proceed to trial was grossly unreasonable or in bad faith. Here, the Court 14 does find that the rejection of the 2021 Offer was grossly unreasonable. At the time 15 of the 2021 Offer, there was the benefit of knowledge of all of the proceedings in 16 the tax court and other courts up to that point and Plaintiff also had the benefit of 17 the opinions of top tax experts in the field.<sup>19</sup> The Court must also consider if Plaintiff 18 had a reasonable expectation based on the evidence known, whether he would 19 meet his burden would at trial. At the time of the 2021 Offer, Plaintiff was aware of 20 at least three hurdles. First, there was a statute of limitations issue. Second, even 21 if duty, breach, causation, and damages were proven, then Plaintiff would still need 22 to prove a type of retrospective fraud. Third, per the agreement, Plaintiff would also

1 need to meet the burden of establishing gross negligence.<sup>20</sup> Plaintiff also was 2 pursuing an action premised on the finding of a failure to act retrospectively, with no
3 supporting case law.<sup>21</sup> For those reasons the Court finds that the third Beattie factor 4 was not met as to reasonableness of proceeding to trial and the factor then weighs 5 in favor of Defendant.

7 The remaining question is whether the fees sought were reasonable and 8 justified.

9 4. The Fees Sought by the Offeror are reasonable and 10 justified in amount, as reduced by the Court.

11 In light of Defendant meeting its burden on the first three factors, the next 12 step the Court must then determine if “whether the fees sought by the offeror are 13 reasonable and justified in amount.” Beattie, 99 Nev. at 588-89, 688 P.2d at 274 14 (1983).

15 In so doing, the Court engages in a multi- step process. First, the Court 16 must determine what method should be used to calculate the fees amount given 17 the multiple methods used by Defendant’s various counsel. Second, the Court 18 must analyze the amount requested utilizing the appropriate method to determine 19 what is the reasonable and necessary amount that Defendant should be awarded 20 and ensure that the amount was actually incurred in accordance with applicable 21 law.

1 allow the parties time until late July 2023 to either come to an agreement as to an 2 appropriate fee amount or to propose alternate fee amounts that the Court could 3 consider.

4 b. The Reasonable Hourly Rate and Reasonable 5 Number of Hours for the Work Performed

6 The second step of the analysis is for the Court to determine what the 7 reasonable hourly rate is for each of the counsel and legal team. The Court then 8 determines what are the reasonable number of hours for each of the individuals 9 for whom fees are sought.

10 Defendant in their Motion for Attorney's Fees seeks $662,029.40 post-11 Offer fees for the work of Snell & Wilmer, and $9,171,309.00 post-Offer fees for 12 the work of Bartlit Beck. Although the Court provided the parties an opportunity 13 to try and seek an agreement on the fee amount, the parties were unable to 14 agree. Instead, each party submitted its own proposed fee amount that is sought 15 the Court to award.

16 Plaintiff initially proposed that Defendant was entitled to $370,448.50 in 17 fees for work by Snell & Wilmer only, and no fees for Bartlit Beck due to lack of 18 information as to the tasks billed and no detail as to time spent on any given task.
19 Within that proposal, the number of hours billed by Snell & Wilmer of 975.0 was 20 agreed to, but different rates were proposed. In a subsequent letter, Plaintiff then 21 proposed that the Court should award $555,000.00 in fees for Bartlit Beck, the 22 number was based on a rounded-up calculation of a 1.5 times multiplier of the 23 975.0 hours incurred by Snell & Wilmer at Plaintiff's proposed hourly average 24 rate of $375.00 per hour.

25 Defendant proposed a total of $2,284,357.48 in fees, broken down with 26 $1,857,338.68 sought for Bartlit Beck, using a lodestar calculation at the same 27 rates used for local counsel Snell & Wilmer, and then sought $427,018.80 for 28

1 Snell & Wilmer. The Court must consider the factors articulated in Brunzell v.
2 Golden Gate National Bank, 85 Nev. 345, 349, 455 P.2d 31, 33 (1969) to assess 3 what a reasonable hourly rate and reasonable number of hours are for the work 4 performed in this case.

5 When determining a fee amount under Beattie, the Court also needs to look 6 to Brunzell v. Golden Gate National Bank, 85 Nev. 345, 349, 455 P.2d 31, 33
7 (1969) which sets forth factors the Court can consider to ascertain a reasonable 8 fee amount. Pursuant to Brunzell and its progeny, the Court inter alia, considers (1) 9 the qualities of the advocate: his ability, his training, education, experience, 10 professional standing and skill; (2) the character of the work to be done: its 11 difficulty, its intricacy, its importance, time and skill required, the responsibility 12 imposed and the prominence and character of the parties when they affect the 13 importance of the litigation; (3) the work actually performed by the lawyer: 14 the skill, time and attention given to the work; (4) the result: whether the 15 attorney was successful and what benefits were derived. Brunzell v. Golden Gate

25 Defendant set forth the qualities of the advocates, supported by 26 declarations of Counsel. The qualifications of each of the defense counsel were 27 not disputed. Counsel for Snell & Wilmer included Patrick G. Byrne, Esq.;

5 finds that Defendant's counsel at Snell & Wilmer are experienced and qualified 6 and that the rates are generally customary for this type of specific work for most 7 of the tasks performed.

8 b. The Character of the Work Performed

9 Plaintiff, in its Opposition to PwC's Motion for Attorneys' Fees and Costs 10 (DOC 444), challenged the character of the work and work actually performed 11 due to generic descriptions contained in the billing. The Court reviewed the 12 record as to what work was completed after October 6, 2021, the work's intricacy 13 and importance, and time and skill required. The matter involved complex 14 analysis of professional tax services, tax liability and damages. Overall, Defense 15 counsel was effective as demonstrated by the results. The issue is whether 16 some of the work which based on the more general time entries was not as 17 complex could have been done by a person at a lower rate.

18 c. An Award of Attorney's Fees is 19 Reasonable Based on the Work Actually

21 As noted above, Plaintiff, in its Opposition to PwC's Motion for Attorneys' 22 Fees and Costs (DOC 444) challenged the work actually performed. The parties 23 came to an agreement as to the total number of hours billed overall by Snell &

1 Wilmer of 975.00 in the correspondence submitted to the Court July 11, 2023.
2 The number agreed upon was comprised of 104.20 hours billed by Patrick G.
3 Byrne, Esq.; 717.90 hours billed by Bradley T. Austin, Esq.; 3.40 hours billed by 4 Kelly H. Dove, Esq.; 9.40 hours billed by Erin Gettel, Esq.; 56.40 hours billed by 5 Christian P. Ogata, Esq.; 5.30 hours billed by Skylar N. Arakawa-Pamphilon, 6 Esq.; 0.50 hours billed by Dawn Davis, Esq.; 53.60 hours billed by Kathy 7 Casford; 1.10 hours billed by Sev Redd; and 23.20 hours billed by Deborah 8 Shuta. Due to the nature of the case and character of the work done, with the 9 agreed-upon number of hours, the Court finds that the rates sought are 10 customary and reasonable in light of this particular case but that some of the 11 work that was not as complex based on the general time entries could have been 12 done by a person with a lower billing rate. Thus, the Court finds it appropriate to 13 grant fees for the work performed by Snell & Wilmer in the amount of 14 $407,018.80.

15 d. The Outcome Obtained for Defendant

16 It is undisputed that Defendant prevailed. In light of the foregoing 17 analysis, the Court finds that the Brunzell factors are met. The parties agreed as 18 to the number of hours sought of 975.00. The Court further finds that most of the 19 rates are customary with prevailing rates of other attorneys in Nevada with 20 similar qualifications but the Court had to reduce the total award due to the 21 general time entries which did not demonstrate that the work could have been 22 performed by someone at a lower rate. Based on all of the factors and discretion 23 of the Court, considering the nature of the work performed, the Court finds that 24 the $407,018.80 of fees sought for Snell & Wilmer is reasonable and appropriate.

14       The Court notes that fees were originally requested for Mr. Addy, and 15 pursuant to the correspondence submitted to the Court July 11, 2023, as part of 16 the efforts of the parties to reach an agreeable fee amount, Defendant agreed to 17 remove all fees incurred by Mr. Addy (who initially sought $388,884.60). In an 18 effort to provide an appropriate lodestar calculation, Defendant also proposed 19 utilizing the same rates as Snell & Wilmer to be consistent with the local market.

1 The rates proposed by Defendant, as set forth above, were as follows: $664.76 2 per hour for Mark Levine, Esq., and Christopher Landgraff, Esq.; $429.95 per 3 hour for Katharine Roin, Esq., and Daniel Taylor, Esq.; $377.34 per hour for 4 Alexandra Genord, Esq.; and $251.00 per hour for Lori Barnicke and Kim 5 Solorzano. No Brunzell analysis was provided for Barnicke or Solorzano. Based 6 on review of the record, the Court cannot guess as to their qualifications or the 7 basis of how fees were sought for their work. The proposal did not include a rate 8 for Krista Perry, Esq. As articulated above, and in the declarations supporting 9 the Motion, the Court finds Defendant's counsel has met the first Brunzell factor 10 other than as specifically stated.

11 b. The Character of the Work Performed

12 The Court reviewed the record as to what work was completed after 13 October 6, 2021, the work's intricacy and importance, and time and skill required.
14 The matter involved complex analysis of professional tax services, tax liability 15 and damages. The Court also had to look at what work was done by Snell & 16 Wilmer firm and what work was done by Bartlit Beck. Defense counsel was 17 effective as demonstrated by the results as discussed infra.

18 c. An Award of Reduced Attorney's Fees is 19 Reasonable Based on the Work Actually
20 Performed

21 As noted above, Plaintiff, in its Opposition to PwC's Motion for Attorneys' 22 Fees and Costs, challenged the work actually performed (DOC 444). Plaintiff 23 maintained that due to the flat fee billing, lack of hourly time records, and no 24 tasks identified with the amount of time dedicated to the task provided, no fees 25 should be awarded beyond the amount proposed for Snell & Wilmer fees. The 26 initial records provided did not contain hourly descriptions of the work performed 27 due to the billing structure of the firm. A supplemental declaration and monthly 28

1 descriptions summarizing the work performed were provided as exhibits in 2 support of the correspondence submitted to the Court on July 11, 2023. The 3 Supplemental Declaration of Mr. Levine set forth that internal data reflected 4 4,200 hours during the relevant time frame and an average blended rate of 5 $700.00 per hour. Additionally, a description was provided for tasks done that 6 month. December 2021 included preparing status reports, reviewing the 7 mandamus decision, preparing for and attending hearings, drafting briefs, and 8 preparing for argument at an upcoming hearing. January 2022 included working 9 on briefs and preparing for and attending an Evidentiary Hearing. February 2022 10 included preparing for Evidentiary Hearing and associated briefing and attending 11 the hearing. March 2022 included drafting briefs, preparing witnesses, and 12 attending an Evidentiary Hearing. April 2022 included drafting proposed Orders, 13 mandamus hearings, preparing Motions and preparing for hearings, as well as 14 communications with various parties. May 2022 included work on the Reply in 15 support of Summary Judgment. June 2022 included preparation and attendance 16 at the summary judgment hearing and planning for pretrial work. July 2022 17 included preparing exhibits, deposition designations, trial preparations, and 18 drafting pretrial memorandum. August 2022 similarly included trial preparation 19 including witness, exhibit, deposition preparation, preparing objections, trial 20 briefs, and other drafts. September 2022 included witness meetings and 21 preparation, and further work on pretrial documents. October 2022 included 22 preparation for trial and attendance at pretrial matters. November 2022 included 23 the trial fees at $50,000.00 per day for 10 days. December 2022 included 24 preparing Orders from trial and drafting proposed Findings of Fact and 25 Conclusions of Law. A breakdown was also given by each counsel for hours 26 billed in each month.
27
28

The Court evaluates the hours billed by the three trial counsel in October and November 2022 when the trial occurred. Mark Levine, Esq. billed 145 hours; Chris Landgraff, Esq. billed 161.90; and Katharine Roin, Esq. billed 184.00. The Court is fully appreciative that counsel is highly qualified and this was a complex matter, but the Court also considers whether all three counsel were required for all tasks at trial. Considering all of these factors, the Court finds it appropriate to reduce the hours for Landgraff to 121.90, for Levine to 130.00, and for Roin to 142.00. The Court also considers that Alexandra Genord, Esq. billed 180.48 hours in October 2022 and 182.37 hours in November 2022. In light of the hours spent by the trial counsel, the Court does not see a basis for the total amount sought in that time period given that Ms. Genord is an associate, and appears to have come into the case only in October 2022, and in those two months billed over 362 hours. The Court finds it appropriate to reduce the hours to for that time period. The Court also considers that there is a lack of support for work performed by Lori Barnicke and Kim Solorzano and there was no detail as to their qualifications or anything for the Court to analyze based on the pleadings. The Court finds that there is insufficient support in the application to justify the 176.25 hours sought by Lori Barnicke and 158.50 hours sought by Kim Solorzano for November 22, 2022. Thus, the Court finds it appropriate to reduce the hours to zero as Brunzell and Beattie require the Court to evaluate each individual for whom fees are sought and the Court cannot do so based on the lack of information provided.

d. The Outcome Obtained for Defendant

It is undisputed that Defendant prevailed. The Court, thus, finds that it is appropriate to award fees to Bartlit Beck; however, the overall fees do need to be reduced both in amount and in hours and $1,695,735.59 is appropriate.

1 In sum, based on the foregoing, the Court awards fees in the amount of 2 $407,018.80 for Snell & Wilmer and $1,695,735.59 for Bartlit Beck.

4 III. Defendant's Request for Costs and Plaintiff's Motion to Retax And Costs.

5 The February 9, 2023, Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law set forth 6 that that "any request for fees and costs shall be handled via separate timely-filed 7 Motion."<sup>42</sup> On February 14, 2023, Defendant PwC timely filed a Verified 8 Memorandum of Costs (DOC 417), and Appendix thereto (DOC 418). Then on 9 February 15, 2023, the parties then filed a Stipulation and Order to Extend Time 10 to File Memorandum of Costs and Motion to Retax (DOC 419). Thereafter, on 11 February 24, 2023, Defendant filed an Amended Verified Memorandum of Costs 12 (DOC 422) and Appendix thereto (DOC 423), seeking a total of $921,833.58 in 13 costs. Plaintiff then filed Tricarichi's Motion to Retax and Settle PWC's Amended 14 Verified Memorandum of Costs (DOC 424). Defendant filed an Opposition to 15 Plaintiff's Motion to Retax Costs (DOC 440) on March 31, 2023. Pursuant to 16 NRS 18.020(3), costs must be awarded to the prevailing party against any 17 adverse party in an action where Plaintiff sought to recover more than $2,500.00.
18 In this action, Plaintiff was seeking far in excess of that amount. Following 19 conclusion of the bench trial, Judgment was entered in favor of Defendant and 20 Plaintiff was awarded nothing from his Complaint.<sup>43</sup> Thus, an award of costs is 21 appropriate here.

22 Additionally, as set forth at the May 30, 2023, hearing, costs sought under 23 NRS 18 pre-date the 2021 Offer of Judgment; and thus, the statute is the basis of 24 the award of costs. As the Court has found that the elements of NRCP 68 were 25

1 met based on the 2021 Offer of Judgment, NRCP 68 provides an independent 2 basis for costs incurred after the 2021 Offer of Judgment. Although both the NRS 3 and the NRCP provide independent basis for costs post the 2021 Offer, as those 4 amounts are not cumulative, the Court analyzes the total costs that are to be 5 awarded utilizing the statutory framework.<sup>44</sup>

11 NRS 18.005 allows recovery of the following amounts:

- 12 (1) Clerks' fees.
- 13 (2) Reporters' fees for depositions, including a reporter's 14 fee for one copy of each deposition.
- 15 (3) Jurors' fees and expenses, together with reasonable 16 compensation of an officer appointed to act in 17 accordance with NRS 16.120.
- 18 (4) Fees for witnesses at trial, pretrial hearings and 19 deposing witnesses, unless the court finds that the 20 witness was called at the instance of the prevailing 21 party without reason or necessity.
- 22 (5) Reasonable fees of not more than five expert 23 witnesses in an amount of not more than $1,500 for 24 each witness, unless the court allows a larger fee 25 after determining that the circumstances surrounding 26 the expert's testimony were of such necessity as to 27 require the larger fee.
- 28 (6) Reasonable fees of necessary interpreters
- (7) The fee of any sheriff or licensed process server for the delivery or service of any summons or subpoena used in the action, unless the court determines that the service was not necessary.
- (8) Compensation for the official reporter or reporter pro

- (10) Fees of a court baliff or deputy marshal who was required to work overtime.
- (11) Reasonable costs for telecopies.
- (12) Reasonable costs for photocopies.
- (13) Reasonable costs for long distance telephone calls.
- (14) Reasonable costs for postage.
- (15) Reasonable costs for travel and lodging incurred taking depositions and conducting discovery.
- (16) Fees charged pursuant to NRS 19.0335.
- (17) Any other reasonable and necessary expense incurred in connection with the action, including reasonable and necessary expenses for computerized services for legal research.

The Amended Verified Memorandum of Costs (DOC 422) sought the following costs:

a. Reporters’ Fees for Depositions, Hearings, and Trial

Reporters’ fees requested are broken down by the amount sought by each firm representing Defendant and by the type of reporter fees. Defendant seeks $73,354.31 for reporters’ fees for depositions incurred by the Bartlit Beck firm under NRS 18.005(2). The amount included $59,221.51 for deposition transcripts and $15,554.11 for daily transcript fees for the Trial. The Court considers North Las Vegas Infrastructure Investment and Construction, LLC v.

1 City of North Las Vegas, 139 Nev. Adv. Op. 5, 525 P.3d 836 (2023). There, 2 costs for videotaped depositions were denied because the depositions were not 3 used at trial and there was no explanation of why the videos were necessary.
4 The Court notes that here, Plaintiff challenges, within the reporters' costs for the 5 depositions, optional reporting services such as RealTime, rush fees, and 6 videotaping.

7       Invoices for deposition transcripts were provided for services dated 8 August 3, 2020, for $750.00, $443.50, and $1,382.15 including a $175.00 9 Realtime Setup Fee and $239.80 Realtime Over Internet Fee; August 4, 2020,
10 for $2,481.20 including a $695.20 Realtime Over Internet fee, and $665.00 11 including a $190.00 rush fee; August 11, 2020, for $1,100.00, $641.50, and 12 $2,280.85 including a $175 Realtime Setup Fee and $385.00 Realtime Over 13 Internet Fee; August 18, 2020, for $542.50, $925.00, and $1,478.75 including a 14 $175.00 Realtime Setup Fee and a $204.60 Realtime Over Internet Fee; August 15 19, 2020, for $542.50, $925.00, and $1,878.10 including a $175.00 Realtime 16 Setup Fee and $325.60 Realtime Over Internet fee; September 1, 2020, for 17 $805.00, $1,317.40, and $1,176.75; September 16, 2020, for $1,450.00, 18 $839.50, and $4,064.20 which included a $175.00 Realtime Setup Fee and a 19 $576.40 Realtime Over Internet fee; September 17, 2020, for $685.00 for 20 videography services for the deposition of Mark Boyer, and $2,683.90 which also 21 included a $424.60 Realtime Over Internet fee; September 18, 2020, for $635.00, 22 and $2,023.50 which included a $367.40 Realtime Over Internet fee; September 23 22, 2020, for $610.00 and $2,233.50 which included a $446.60 Realtime Over 24 Internet fee; September 25, 2020, for $790.00, $1,362.50, and $3,555.90 which 25 included a $175.00 Realtime Setup Fee and $565.40 Realtime Over Internet fee; 26 September 29, 2020, for $490.00 and $1,638.90 which included a $301.40
27 Realtime Over Internet Fee; September 30, 2020, for $2,750.30 which included a 28

1 $550.00 Realtime Over Internet fee; October 1, 2020, for $988.00, $1,712.50 for 2 videography services for the deposition of Michael Tricarichi, for $3,665.90, 3 $780.00 for videography services for the deposition of Kenneth Harris, and for 4 $2,675.70 which included a $492.80 Realtime Over Internet fee; October 9, 5 2020, for $2,050.70 including a $567.60 Realtime Over Internet fee, and $780.00
6 for videography services for the deposition of Brian Meighan. Invoices for daily 7 transcript fees for trial are provided dated October 31, 2022, for $1,830.84; 8 November 2, 2022, for $1,140.26; November 3, 2022, for $2,039.62; November 9 4, 2022, for $1,919.17; November 5, 2022, for $939.51; November 9, 2022, for 10 $1,718.42; November 10, 2022, for $1,862.96 and $2,682.02, and November 11, 11 2022 for $1,421.31.

12 While under NRCP 68, the costs pre-dating the 2021 Offer of Judgment 13 would not be recoverable. Here, the deposition costs are allowable under NRS 14 18 and, in general, are supported by adequate documentation as reasonable, 15 necessary, and actually incurred as required under In re Dish Network, Cadle,
16 Berosini, and Fairway. Based on the invoices provided, $57,800.20 in deposition 17 transcripts incurred by Bartlit Beck is supported; however, that amount includes a 18 $190.00 in rush fees, $7,192.40 in Realtime Fees, and $3,957.50 in videography 19 services for depositions, which the Court finds would not be appropriate. Nothing 20 is provided by Defendant showing that these extra reporter services were 21 reasonable and necessary to this case. The Court then also considers and finds 22 that the invoices provided support the $15,554.11 sought for daily transcript fees.
23 Therefore, the Court finds that $62,014.41 in reporters' and transcript fees 24 incurred by Bartlit Beck is appropriate under NRS 18.

25 Defendant also seeks $4,894.97 in Reporters' Fees for Hearings incurred 26 by Snell & Wilmer under NRS 18.005(8). Invoices are provided for hearings 27 dated November 16, 2016, for $270.54 and $80.00; May 10, 2017, for $318.53; 28

1 September 24, 2018, for $169.63 and $40.00; March 21, 2019, for $42.07; July 8, 2 2019, for $144.54 and $40.00; March 31, 2020, for $168.63 for an expedited 3 transcript; March 24, 2022, for $40.00; March 30, 2022, for $120.00; March 31, 4 2022, for $1,216.93 and for $120.00; June 13, 2022, for $186.31 for an expedited 5 transcript; October 25, 2022, for $725.16; November 16, 2022, for $944.38; and 6 December 27, 2022, for $268.25.

7 While, under NRCP 68, the costs pre-dating 2021 Offer of Judgment 8 would not be recoverable, here the hearing and trial costs are allowable under 9 NRS 18 and are supported by adequate documentation as reasonable, 10 necessary, and actually incurred as required under In re Dish Network, Cadle, 11 Berosini, and Fairway. Based on the invoices provided, the Court finds that the 12 amount sought for reporters' fees for hearings is supported; however, as noted 13 above, some invoices indicate expedited fees without a basis provided for the 14 rush charge. Therefore, the Court finds it must reduce the amount to account for 15 the rush charges and that $4,540.03 is appropriate in reporters fees incurred by 16 Snell & Wilmer for hearings.

17 b. Printing, Copying, and Scanning

18 Defendant seeks $5,468.66 for printing, copying, and scanning under NRS 19 18.005(12). Four separate invoices were provided: an October 21, 2019, invoice 20 for $1,252.46; a July 27, 2020, invoice for $380.00; an October 20, 2022, invoice 21 for $2,354.70; and an October 31, 2022, invoice for $1,481.50. While, under 22 NRCP 68, the costs pre-dating 2021 Offer of Judgment would not be 23 recoverable, here the copying costs are allowable under NRS 18 and are 24 supported by adequate documentation as reasonable, necessary, and actually 25 incurred as required under In re Dish Network, Cadle, Berosini, and Fairway.
26 The full $6,468.66 is, therefore, appropriate.

c. Travel and Lodging for Hearings and Depositions

Defendant seeks $4,585.60 for travel and lodging costs incurred by Bartlit Beck associated with counsel traveling for hearings and depositions. Defendant seeks the amount under NRS 18.005(15). Invoices were provided for: September 4, 2020, travel by Christopher Landgraff for $1,339.65; September 4, 2020, meals for Christopher Landgraff of $192.50; September 8, 2020, conference room, beverage service, and internet for $2,178.36; September 30, 2022, travel for Christopher Landgraff for $464.53; September 30, 2022, air fare for Christopher Landgraff for $323.18; and September 30, 2022, meals for $87.38. At the May 30, 2023, hearing the Court set forth that meals would not be appropriate to recover as counsel would have to eat regardless, and that hotel costs and tickets would not be appropriate, acknowledging that while parties have their choice of counsel, those costs are client driven based on their selection of counsel and Plaintiff should not have to bear additional cost for the choice of the Defendant.<sup>45</sup> After the Court allowed time for the parties to reach an agreement as to fees and costs, per the correspondence submitted to the Court on July 11, 2023, counsel withdrew the request for travel and meal expenses. Thus, the Court need not address the initial travel and lodging and meal request.

d. Pro Hac Vice Admissions

Defendant seeks $5,000.00 in costs related to Pro Hac Vice Admissions incurred by Bartlit Beck and $3,700.00 in costs related to Pro Hac Vice Admissions incurred by Snell & Wilmer. Defendant seeks these costs under NRS 18.005(17) as an “other” reasonable and necessary expense. Invoices were provided for Application fees, Pro Hac Vice fees, and Annual Renewal Fees. Plaintiff challenged the cost in its entirety as not authorized under NRS

7 e. Clerk's Fees

8 Defendant seeks $3,386.00 in Clerk's Fees under NRS 18.005(1). The 9 register of actions was provided showing filing fees on July 11, 2016, for 10 $1,483.00; March 6, 2017, for $200.00; August 12, 2019, for $223.00; November 11 13, 2020, for $200.00; April 28, 2022, for $200.00; June 13, 2022, for $40.00; 12 October 24, 2022, for $120.00; and November 16, 2022, for $920.00. While 13 under NRCP 68 the fees pre-dating 2021 Offer of Judgment would not be

15 supported by adequate documentation as reasonable, necessary, and actually 16 incurred as required under In re Dish Network, Cadle, Berosini, and Fairway.
17 The full $3,386.00 sought is, therefore, appropriate.

18 f. Subpoena Costs

19 Defendant seeks various costs associated with subpoenas consisting of 20 Clerk's Fees under NRS 18.005(1); Witness fees under NRS 18.005(4); Service 21 of Subpoena under NRS 18.005(7); Messenger Services for Filing/Obtaining

15 g. Mediator Fees and Messenger Fees

16 Defendant seeks the costs under NRS 18.005(17) as an “other”
17 reasonable and necessary expense for both Mediator Fees and Messenger 18 Fees. The Court addresses both in turn.

19 Defendant seeks $3,850.00 for Mediation fees. Plaintiff challenged the 20 cost as not authorized under NRS 18.<sup>48</sup> At the May 30, 2023, hearing, counsel

9 $111.00. Plaintiff challenged the cost in its entirety as not authorized under NRS 10 18.<sup>50</sup> The Court finds that messenger fees are appropriate, per the statute, and 11 supported by documentation for the hearings listed above and thus the Court 12 awards $1,226.00.

13 h. Expert Witness Fees

14 Defendant seeks $814,286.98 in Expert Witness Fees for three experts.
15 The amount sought is broken down as $84,655.50 for Joseph Leauanae; 16 $36,584.25 for Arthur Dellinger; and $693,046.73 for Kenneth Harris. Plaintiff 17 challenged the amount in its entirety. In the alternative, if fees were awarded, 18 Plaintiff argued that costs should capped at $1,500.00 under NRS 18.005(5).<sup>51</sup> At 19 the May 30, 2023, hearing, the Court set forth that the amount sought needed to 20 be reduced given overlap with the tax court issues, general advice, benefit of 4 In Frazier v. Drake, 131 Nev. 632, 650-51, 357 P.3d 365, 377-78 (Nev. Ct.

5 App. 2015), the Court of Appeals set forth that awarding expert witness fees 6 more than $1,500.00 per expert requires an analysis of various factors, where 7 "not all of these factors may be pertinent to every request for expert witness fees 8 in excess of $1,500 per expert under NRS 18.005(5), and thus, the resolution of 9 such requests will necessarily require a case-by-case examination of appropriate 10 factors":

- 11 (1) the importance of the expert's testimony to the party's
- 12 case;
- 13 (2) the degree to which the expert's opinion aided the trier
- 14 of fact in deciding the case;
- 15 (3) whether the expert's reports or testimony were
- 16 repetitive of other expert witnesses;
- 17 (4) the extent and nature of the work performed by the
- 18 expert;
- 19 (5) whether the expert had to conduct independent
- 20 investigations or testing;
- 21 (6) the amount of time the expert spent in court, preparing
- 22 a report, and preparing for trial;
- 23 (7) the expert's area of expertise;
- 24 (8) the expert's education and training;
- 25 (9) the fee actually charged to the party who retained the
- 26 expert;
- 27 (10) the fees traditionally charged by the expert on related
- 28 matters;
- (11) comparable experts' fees charged in similar cases;
- and,
- (12) if an expert is retained from outside the area where
- the trial is held, the fees and costs that would have
- been incurred to hire a comparable expert where the
- trial was held.

1 Verified Memorandum of Costs (DOC 417), nor the Amended Verified
2 Memorandum of costs (DOC 424) beyond a footnote stating that the experts 3 “have specialized and substantial knowledge in the foregoing field(s),” and that 4 the cost was warranted because each expert “(1) prepared a comprehensive 5 expert report, (2) sat for a deposition, and (3) testified at trial (and as such,

7 Defendant seeks $36,584.25 in expert fees for Arthur Dellinger. Mr.

9 As to the nature of the work performed, Dellinger provided an opinion on whether 11 forth that Mr. Dellinger drafted an expert report, rebuttal report, was deposed, 12 prepared demonstrative exhibits, testified at trial, reviewed standards for tax 13 services, conducted research, and reviewed information on the case provided by 14 counsel.<sup>63</sup> The reports and testimony were not repetitive as the three experts 15 were opining from three different fields of expertise. Defendant also sets forth 16 that the independent investigation performed by Mr. Dellinger was that he 17 "extensively reviewed the statements on standards for tax services, conducted 18 research, and reviewed case information provided by counsel".<sup>64</sup> Unlike Mr.

19 Leauanae, however, Defense counsel did provide support of showing that the 2 preparing a report, preparing for trial, and in court, Mr. Dellinger spent 72.45 3 hours at a rate of $500.00 per hour, and provided invoices as to the time.<sup>66</sup> 4 Defendant provided nothing to show the fee charged was in accordance with 5 those traditionally charged by the expert in related matters. Instead, it again set 6 forth that “this Court is well positioned to determine the reasonableness of the 7 same based on its vast experience with similar experts in complex civil litigation 8 matters as well as the submitted invoices.”<sup>67</sup> Nevertheless, to support that the fee 9 was comparable to what would have been incurred by a local expert, Defendant 10 compared Dellinger’s rate of $500.00 to Plaintiff’s local expert, Greene’s, rate of 11 $400.00 who has been practicing for roughly 15 less years than Dellinger.<sup>68</sup> As a 12 result of the more detailed analysis, the Court finds that there is enough support, 13 pursuant to the case law and given the nature of the instant case, to award 14 Defendant the entirety of the costs sought on behalf of Mr. Dellinger in the 15 amount of $36,584.25.

1 for 35 years, with experience in mergers, acquisitions, spin offs, divestitures, and 2 internal reorganizations.<sup>69</sup> Mr. Harris also teaches tax law at Northwestern 3 School of Law.<sup>70</sup> As to the nature of the work performed, Defendant sparsely 4 provided that Mr. Harris gave an opinion as to Defendant's conduct in advising 5 Plaintiff on the transaction.<sup>71</sup> Defendant set forth the same description for all of its 6 experts -- that Mr. Harris drafted an expert report, rebuttal report, was deposed, 7 prepared demonstrative exhibits, and testified at trial.<sup>72</sup> No further details were 8 included in Defendant's Frazier analysis as to this factor. Defendant then 9 addressed that the reports and testimony were not repetitive as the three experts 10 were opining from three different fields of expertise. In support of showing that 11 the expert's testimony was of significant importance to the decision, Defendant 12 pointed to the Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law referencing the testimony

18 Harris spent 1,089.90 hours preparing a report, preparing for trial, and in court at 19 a rate of $775.00 per hour. It did provide invoices as to the time, as noted in the 1 associates” or how those rates could be justified, pursuant to Nevada law, given 2 the limited billing details provided. Defendant also failed to provide anything to 3 show the fee charged was in accordance with those traditionally charged by the 4 expert in related matters, instead relying on the assertion that “this Court is well 5 positioned to determine the reasonableness of the same based on its vast 6 experience with similar experts in complex civil litigation matters as well as the 7 submitted invoices.”<sup>75</sup> Next, to support that the fee was comparable to what 8 would have been incurred by a local expert, Defendant compared Harris’ rate of 9 $775.00, and experience as an attorney since 1985, to its own retained counsel 10 Mr. Byrne’s rate of $750.00 who has been practicing since 1988.<sup>76</sup> The 11 comparison provided by Defendant was a rate for an attorney, and while the 12 Court acknowledges Mr. Harris is an attorney, no comparison was provided for 13 what is the appropriate rate for an expert standard who plays a different role than 14 counsel for the party. In short, there was no analysis as what a comparable 15 attorney acting in an expert capacity would charge in Nevada or Clark County.

16 Considering the invoices provided, the fee summary description for Mr. Harris is 17 listed under “Lawyer” and other lawyers at the firm are also listed as billing on the 18 matter. Based on the limited analysis given of the foregoing Frazier factors, the 19 Court finds it appropriate to reduce the expert fee sought for Mr. Harris.

20 For example, some of the items in the invoices contain insufficient detail 21 for the Court to consider, appear to be representation work beyond the scope 22 necessary for an expert opinion, appear to be other parties conducting review for 23 the expert, or appear to be duplicative intra-office conferencing with the expert,

1 as further discussed below. The invoices reflect the billings of Mr. Harris (KLH)
2 and other billing entries are included billed by Andrea M. Despotes (AMD) and 3 Matthew Koenders (KM) yet there is nothing to provide the Court how three 4 attorneys were needed to prepare an expert report particularly when there were 5 other experts that presented opinions that overlapped but were not duplicative.

6 The following entries show billing for intra-office communications and, in 7 some instances, duplicative billing for the same intra-office meeting. On August 8 6, 2019, MK billed $1,207.50 to conference with KLH as well as to review the 9 complaint, research, and analysis, and did not parse out the amount of time 10 spent conferring with KLH. Then on August 26, 2019, AMD billed $1,840.00 to 11 review the file, conduct research, and confer with KLH; again, not breaking down 12 the amount of time spent for inter-office conferencing. On August 27, 2019, MK 13 again billed $1,312.50 to again review the complaint, analysis, and confer with 14 KLH. On August 30, 2019, there are billing entries for KLH for conferencing with 15 MK, as well as a duplicative $525.00 entry for MK for conferencing with KLH. On 16 September 5, 2019, MK billed $1,050.00 to review the record and confer with 17 KLH. On September 16, 2019, AMD billed $2,760.00 for an office conference 18 with KLH and work on research, with no breakdown for the timing as to each. On 19 September 18, 2019, AMD billed $172.50 for an office conference. On February 20 20, 2020, and February 27, 2020, MK billed $787.50 and $2,467.50, respectively, 21 to review record and analysis and confer with KLH; again, with no breakdown of 22 the time spent on intra-office conference. Then on March 21, 2020, and March 23 31, 2020, MK billed $1,680.00 and $367.50, respectively, to work on the draft 24 expert report, research, and conference with KLH with no temporal breakdown.
25 On April 8, 2020, and April 12, 2020, AMD billed $230 and $57.50, respectively, 26 to conference with KLH. On April 13, 2020, there are billing entries for KLH for 27 conferencing with MK, as well as a duplicative $787.50 entry for MK for 28

1 conferencing with KLH. Similarly, on April 14, 2020, there are billing entries for 2 KLH conferencing with MK on the report, and a duplicative entry for $1,470.00 3 MK to conference with KLH and review and revise the draft report, the time is not 4 parsed out for the activities. On April 20, 2020, and April 21, 2020, AMD billed 5 $115.00 for both entries to conference with KLH. On April 27, 2020, MK billed 6 $1,207.50 for an entry covering work on a draft report and conferencing with 7 KLH, with no breakdown of the time spent on each task. On May 7, 2020, MK 8 billed $210.00 to conference with KLH. On June 5, 2020, KLH billed to 9 conference with AMD, and there was a duplicative billing entry by AMD for 10 $1,207.50 to conference with KLH and work on the rebuttal report, with no 11 breakdown of the time allotted to each activity.

12 Some billed activities appear to be representation work beyond the scope 13 necessary of an expert opinion and the entries do not contain sufficient detail for 14 the Court to fully evaluate the distinction between expert tasks and tasks that 15 would be handled by counsel. For example, on November 16, 2020, KLH billed 16 $630.000.00 to review a Motion in Limine pertaining to expert testimony, and 17 then on November 19, 2020, billed $232.50 for “research re: MIL issue.”

18 Additionally, there were billing entries for drafting the expert report and 19 rebuttal report performed by parties that were not expert Mr. Harris. There was 20 no information provided as to the nature or scope of the work, whether this work 21 was duplicative, or what role each person had in the preparation of the report for 22 the Court to assess in its review of the records. On January 24, 2020, AMD 23 billed $632.50 for a generic entry of “worked on matters re: expert opinion.” On 24 February 4, 2020, AMD billed $920.00; on February 7, 2020, AMD billed 25 $805.00; on February 11, 2020, AMD billed $2,127.50; on February 12, 2020, 26 AMD billed $1,782.50; on February 14, 2020, AMD billed $115.00; on February 27 19, 2020, AMD billed $977.50; on February 21, 2020, AMD billed $3,220.00; on 28

1 February 25, 2020, AMD billed $2,300.00; on February 26, 2020, AMD billed
2 $2,507.50; on February 28, 2020, AMD billed $2,817.50; all of the foregoing 3 entries were for a generic description of “worked on expert opinion matter.” It is 4 unclear to the Court whether these were part of preparing the opinion or whether 5 they were other actions associated with the file as there is minimal description of 6 the work given.

7 Then, turning to entries where it was apparent the work was pertaining to 8 the report, on March 2, 2020, KLH billed $4,107.50 and on March 5, 2020, billed 9 $1,007.50 to research and work on the expert report. On March 6, 2020, KLH 10 billed $5,580.00 to work on the expert report while MK also billed $1,942.50 that 11 same day to work on the draft report and research. Similarly, on March 7, 2020, 12 KLH billed $2,480.00 to work on the expert report and MK also billed $1,312.50
13 to work on the draft. Thereafter, KLH billed $1,162.50 for “work on expert report” 14 on March 8, 2020; $5,037.50 on March 9, 2020; $5,435.00 on March 10, 2020; 15 $2,325.00 on March 11, 2020; $3,100.00 on March 12, 2020; $3,100.00 on 16 March 13, 2020; $1,550.00 on March 14, 2020; $2,945.00 on March 15, 2020;
17 $4,262.50 on March 16, 2020; $4,107.50 on March 17, 2020; $4,262.50 on 18 March 18, 2020; $4,650.00 on March 19, 2020; $4,495.00 on March 20, 2020;
19 $3,875.00 on March 21, 2020; $3,875.00 on March 22, 2020; $5,347.50 on 20 March 23, 2020; $5,192.50 on March 24, 2020; $3,487.50 on March 25, 2020;
21 $4,650.00 on March 26, 2020; $4,650.00 on March 27, 2020; $5,037.50 on 22 March 28, 2020; $3,875.00 on March 29, 2020; $4,650.00 on March 30, 2020;
23 and $3,487.50 on March 31, 2020. Overlapping many of those same dates, MK 24 billed $1,680.00 on March 21, 2020, (which was already referenced above for 25 overlapping with intra-office conferencing with KLH); $1,050.00 on March 22, 26 2020; $787.50 on March 23, 2020; $1,470.00 on March 24, 2020; $1,312.50 on 27 March 27, 2020; $3,150.00 on March 28, 2020; $3,937.50 on March 29, 2020; 28

1 $1,995.00 on March 30, 2020; and $367.50 on March 31, 2020, (this entry was 2 also accounted for above for the overlapping conference with KLH), all for 3 generic descriptions of "work on draft report."

4 KLH then billed for revisions to the report on April 1, 2020; April 2, 2020; 5 April 11, 2020; and April 20, 2020, in the amounts of $2,945.00, $2,092.50, 6 $1,395.00, and $1,705.00 respectively. For further work on the expert report, 7 KLH billed $1,782.50 on April 13, 2020; $3,022.50 on April 14, 2020; $1,162.50
8 on April 15, 2020; $775.00 on April 16, 2020; $2,712.50 on April 17, 2020;
9 $3,100.00 on April 19, 2020; $3,875.00 on April 20, 2020; $3,642.50 on April 21, 10 2020; $3,410.00 on April 22, 2020; $2,712.50 on April 23, 2020; $4,107.50 on 11 April 24, 2020; $3,177.50 on April 27, 2020; $1,550.00 on April 28, 2020; and 12 $1,937.50 on April 29, 2020. Overlapping many of those same dates, MK billed 13 $787.50 on April 13, 2020 (addressed above for the entry also covering intra-14 office conference); $1,470.00 on April 14, 2020; $945.00 on April 25, 2020; and 15 $1,207.50 on April 27, 2020 (addressed above for the entry overlapping intra-16 office conference as well), all to "work on draft report." AMD also billed $345.00
17 on April 15, 2020; $115.00 on April 17, 2020; $3,392.50 on April 22, 2020;
18 $2,875.00 on April 23, 2020; $3,162.50 on April 24, 2020; $4,772.50 on April 25, 19 2020; $3,622.50 on April 26, 2020; $4,657.50 on April 27, 2020; and $3,277.50
20 on April 28, 2020, for generic entries of "worked on opinion draft."

21 KLH then made further revisions to the report as part of billing blocks, 22 including multiple other activities without distinguishing the time spent specifically 23 on the report for $2,170.00 on May 13, 2020, and $1,705.00 on May 15, 2020.
24 KLH billed $1,937.50 on May 30, 2020; $2,325.00 on June 1, 2020; $3,255.00 on 25 June 2, 2020; $2,170.00 on June 3, 2020; $3,487.50 on June 5, 2020; $3,100.00
26 on June 7, 2020; $3,642.50 on June 8, 2020; $3,100.00 on June 9, 2020;
27 $2,712.50 on June 10, 2020; $3,487.50 on June 11, 2020; $3,487.50 on June 12, 28

2020; $3,100.00 on June 13, 2020; $3,487.50 on June 14, 2020; $2,712.50 on June 15, 2020; $1,782.50 on June 16, 2020; $2,092.50 on June 17, 2020; $3,875.00 on June 18, 2020; $3,100.00 on June 19, 2020; and $1,705.00 on June 24, 2020, to work on his rebuttal report and make revisions thereto. Some of the foregoing entries were also lumped with activities such as reviewing production without breaking down the time spent for the Court to consider. Again, overlapping many of these same dates, there were entries by other persons for work on the expert rebuttal report. There were also billing entries by MK for work on the rebuttal report of $1,312.50 on June 28, 2020, and $2,782.50 on June 29, 2020. AMD billed $575.00 on June 1, 2020; $2,645.00 on June 2, 2020; $2,645.00 on June 3, 2020; $1,207.50 on June 5, 2020; $2,990.00 on June 9, 2020; $2,645.00 on June 10, 2020; $2,875.00 on June 11, 2020; $3,162.50 on June 12, 2020; $2,760.00 on June 13, 2020; $3,392.50 on June 14, 2020; $172.50 on June 15, 2020; $690.00 on June 18, 2020; $1,035.00 on June 19, 2020; $1,035.00 on June 23, 2020; $920.00 on June 24, 2020; $1,610.00 on June 26, 2020; $632.50 on June 27, 2020; and $2,472.50 on June 28, 2020. The Court notes that in addition to the foregoing entries that specifically referenced work on the report, and as highlighted above, AMD frequently billed generic entries for “work on expert matter” and it is not clear for the Court to assess the work done and whether it was in preparation of the report or another matter. On July 1, 2020, KLH billed $1,085.00 to review comments and edits to the rebuttal report; on July 2, 2020, KLH billed $1,162.50 to revise the rebuttal report; and on July 7, 2020, KLH billed $1,937.50 to conference with AMD and work on final edits to the rebuttal report for which AMD also billed $575.00 to work on “expert opinion matters.”

While the Court appreciates that the testimony was important to the Defendant’s case, and it is cited as being an aid to the Court’s decision, it is

1 unclear how the expert report and rebuttal reports alone could be billed at over 2 $302,400.00, including work by two persons who were not the expert himself, 3 and have that amount be considered “reasonable.” The Court fully considers the 4 nature of the case, the sophisticated parties, and the complex matters involved.
5 The Court also fully considers that due to the nature of the invoices, some of the 6 matters have other activities included in the line item accounting for the total time 7 billed for that entry, but also notes that there are many other generic entries that 8 could have involved billing for work on the report that were unclear, and the 9 foregoing entries were only the ones that it was clear to the Court that the work 10 done pertained to the actual reports.

11       Next, the Court also considers the billing entries pertaining to Mr. Harris’ 12 participation in trial. On November 1, 2022, KLH billed $3,875.00 to review the 13 transcript of the first day of trial and prepare for testimony; AMD also billed 14 $3,852.50 that day to review the transcript, research tax issues, prepare notes for 15 KLH, and partake in “related expert preparation activities.” On November 2, 16 2022, KLH billed $5,037.50 to review the transcript of the second day of trial, 17 prepare for testimony, and travel to Las Vegas; AMD also billed $3,450.00 that 18 day to again review the transcript, research tax issues, prepare notes for KLH, 19 and “related expert preparation activities.” On November 3, 2022, KLH billed 20 $6,200.00 to attend trial; AMD billed $3,852.50 to review the transcript, research 21 tax issues, prepare notes for KLH, and “related expert preparation activities.” On 22 November 4, 2022, KLH billed $5,812.50 to prepare in the morning and then 23 attend trial in the afternoon; AMD billed $2,530.00 for the same activities
24 articulated in the preceding entries. On November 5, 2022, KLH billed $6,200.00 25 to prepare for cross examination. On November 6, 2022, KLH billed $5,425.00 to 26 again prepare for cross examination; AMD billed $2,587.50 that day for the same 27 activities articulated in the preceding entries. On November 7, 2022, KLH billed 28

1 $6,975.00 to attend trial and prepare for direct testimony; AMD billed $3,852.50
2 for the same activities articulated in the preceding entries. On November 8, 3 2022, KLH billed $6,975.00 to attend trial and prepare for direct testimony. On 4 November 9, 2022, KLH billed $6,975.00 to attend trial and give direct and cross
5 examination testimony. On November 10, 2022, KLH billed $3,875.00 to attend 6 trial and give cross examination testimony, as well as billed travel time. Upon 7 review, the Court notes that Mr. Harris testified 4 hours and 44 minutes over two 8 days at the trial, and pursuant to applicable law the Court takes that into account 9 in ascertaining what is the reasonable and necessary cost amount that Plaintiff 10 should be responsible for.

11 In sum, while the Court is appreciative of the extent of Mr. Harris' 12 expertise, based on the limited information provided by Defendant, the 13 requirements of Nevada case law, and the analysis of entries set forth above, the 14 Court finds that costs to be borne by Plaintiff associated with Mr. Harris should 15 be reduced to $160,000.00

16 As noted above, while Defendant's prevailed on their 2021 Offer of 17 Judgment which would entitle them to costs after said Offer was declined, that 18 amount is subsumed in the NRS 18 analysis. Accordingly, there are no 19 additional costs that the Court need address.
20

21 ORDER

22 Having reviewed the papers and pleadings on file herein, including, but 23 not limited to, the pleadings, exhibits and affidavits; having heard oral arguments 24 of the parties, this Court makes the following ruling:

25 IT IS, THEREFORE, HEREBY ORDERED, ADJUDGED, and DECREED 26 that Defendant Pricewaterhouse Coopers LLP's Motion For Attorneys' Fees and 27 Costs (DOC 427) is granted in part and denied in part without prejudice as follows: 28

1 The Court finds it appropriate to award Defendant Attorney's Fees for the 2 work of Snell & Wilmer in the amount of $407,018.80.

3 The Court finds it appropriate to award Defendant Attorney's Fees for the 4 work of Bartlit Beck in the amount of $1,695,735.59.

5 The Court further finds it appropriate to award costs, as set forth above 6 pursuant to NRS 18 without being duplicative of NRCP 68 in the amount of 7 $322,955.91.

8 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, ADJUDGED, and DECREED that Plaintiff
9 Tricarichi's Motion To Retax and Settle PwC's Amended Verified Memorandum 10 Of Costs (DOC 414) is granted in part and denied in part without prejudice
11 consistent with the Court's ruling on Defendant Pricewaterhouse Coopers LLP's 12 Motion For Attorneys' Fees And Costs as set forth herein.
13

14 IT IS SO ORDERED.

15 DATED this 25th day of August, 2023.
