IN THE SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF NEVADA

MATTHEW HOUSTON,

Appellant,

v.

THE STATE OF NEVADA,

Respondent.

Case No. 84886

RESPONDENT'S ANSWERING BRIEF

Appeal from Denial of a Motion to Withdraw Guilty Plea Eighth Judicial District Court, Clark County

ROUTING STATEMENT

This appeal is presumptively assigned to the Court of Appeals because it is a post-conviction challenge to a guilty plea involving a category B felony. NRAP 17(b)(3).

STATEMENT OF THE ISSUES

1. Whether the district court properly denied Houston's Motion to Withdraw Plea

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Preliminarily, it is difficult to determine what case Appellant Matthew Houston is appealing from, much less what order of the district court he is challenging. The Nevada Supreme Court docket under the instant appeal number, 84886, indicates that the Lower Court Case is C357927. The clerk of the district court transmitted Records on Appeal from that criminal case number as well as A-22-853203-W, a post-conviction habeas case number. Despite Houston listing numerous case numbers on his notice of appeal, the State assumes Houston is challenging proceedings in either C357927 or A853203. Notice of Appeal at 1.

Habeas case A853203 does not appear to have any orders which may be challenged on appeal, the habeas petition has not been decided, and no findings of fact, conclusions of law, and order has been filed in it. It is currently set for hearing on May 5, 2023. Houston already attempted to appeal under this habeas case number, and this Court dismissed the appeal because no decision had been made in that case. Order Dismissing Appeal, Case 85353, filed October 6, 2022. Because there still has been no final decision or other appealable order in that case, to the extent Houston is appealing from any filing in that case this appeal should be dismissed for the same reason.

Accordingly, the State assumes that Houston is challenging some order presented in case C357927. His Notice of Appeal indicates that he is appealing “the decision of the District Court from the 4th day of April, 2022 also April 25, 2022, with the ORDER having been issued in error not until May 10th, 2022.” Notice of Appeal at 1. On May 10, 2022, the district court entered an Order Denying Defendant's All Pending Motions. 2 ROA 326-328.¹ That Order denied four motions, three of which are not appealable; Defendant's Pro Se Motion For an Order to Suppress Hearing from December 6, 2021, Defendant's Emergency Motion requesting hearing De Novo and Release to Intensive Supervision, and Defendant's Pro-Se Motion for An Order to Appear By Phone Or Video and Notice of Motion. 2 ROA 327. The Order also denied Defendant's Emergency Motion to Withdraw Plea, and the denial of a motion to withdraw plea is an appealable order. NRS 177.015. Accordingly, the State assumes that is the order that Houston is appealing from.

On April 27, 2021, Houston was charged, by way of Criminal Complaint, with one count of Making Threats Or Conveying False Information Concerning Act of Terrorism. 1 ROA 4.

On August 2, 2021, Houston waived his right to a preliminary hearing, agreeing to plead guilty to one count of Aggravated Stalking (Category B Felony) with certain conditions that, if followed, could allow Houston to withdraw his plea and plead guilty to a gross misdemeanor Aggravated Stalking offense. 1 ROA 39-

41. He also received various release benefits and an agreement that the State would not oppose probation. Id. On August 3, 2021, Houston was accordingly charged, by way of Information, with one count of Aggravated Stalking (Category B Felony). 1

The same day, the State moved to have Houston remanded for failure to comply with his release conditions and violating his plea agreement. 1 ROA 55-69. The district court entered a bench warrant for Houston's arrest on October 12, 2021, and he was arrested and returned on October 18, 2021. 1 ROA 70-76.

On October 25, 2021, the district court granted the State's motion to remand, increased bail to $15,000, and imposed high level electronic monitoring. The district court also set a status check for confirmation of counsel to consider a motion to withdraw plea.² Mr. Goldstein confirmed as counsel on November 1, 2021.

2021, the district court filed a Judgment of Conviction reflecting Houston's Conviction. 1 ROA 94-95.

Houston filed a slew of motions thereafter, including Notices of Appeal on February 22, 2022, and March 30, 2022. Both of those appeals were dismissed. See Houston v. State, 84281, Houston v. State 84478.

Relevant to this appeal, Houston filed an "Emergency Motion to Withdraw Plea" (hereinafter, Motion") on April 13, 2022. 1 ROA 226-230. The State opposed on April 21, 2022. 2 ROA 264-270. The Motion was denied on April 25, 2022, and the order denying the Motion was filed on May 10, 2022. 2 ROA 326-328.

STATEMENT OF THE FACTS

The Court relied on the following factual synopsis in sentencing Houston:

A detective of LVMPD was assigned to investigate the offense of Threat/False Info Regarding Acts of Terrorism, which said investigation developed the defendant, Matthew Houston aka Matthew Travis Houston, as the perpetrator thereof.

On December 23, 2020, Mr. Houston left a voicemail at the Office for Consumer Health Assistance. When victim 1 returned his call, Mr. Houston stated he had a case in the Supreme Court and said he was being harassed by an individual. Victim 1 attempted to explain the process to help Mr. Houston and point him in the right direction. However, Mr. Houston became angry and began yelling and said he should be afforded all the benefits due to him instead of being harassed by the government. He then said that no one should be surprised if/when he goes on a mass shooting rampage like the one committed on October 1st.

Victim 1 felt scared that Mr. Houston would carry out the threats he had expressed.

The detective later found out that on July 23, 2020, Mr. Houston had phoned victim 2, who was employed by his insurer. Mr. Houston threatened to murder everyone at Sedgwick and their families, and to “eat their hearts.” On March 16, 2021, victim 3, who is an employee at the Department of Administration Hearings Division, advised Capitol Police that Mr. Houston had also made threats on their voicemail line. Mr. Houston stated that he “Needed immediate assistance because [he] was going to fucking murder every fucking employee at Mandalay Bay, MGM, and everyone in the State of Nevada if [you] fucking people don’t give me my fucking money.” Contact was then made with an officer of Iowa Police Department. He stated that Mr. Houston had been responsible for (21) calls for service in Iowa City and that he was mentally unstable.

A warrant of arrest was issued for Mr. Houston; and on July 14, 2021, he was arrested, transported to the Clark County Detention Center, and booked accordingly.

1 ROA 86-93.

SUMMARY OF THE ARGUMENT

The district court correctly denied Houston’s Motion to Withdraw Plea because he provided no legal basis or coherent argument supporting his Motion.

ARGUMENT

I. THE DISTRICT COURT CORRECTLY DENIED HOUSTON’S MOTION TO WITHDRAW PLEA

Houston’s Motion asserted various grievances, but none which would permit withdrawal of his guilty plea. He complained that unknown individuals had stolen his seeing eye dogs, and complained that district court judges were in some manner interfering with Houston's (apparently civil) claims against other people. 1 ROA 227. He engaged in an extended rant, at the end of which he denied making the phone call that (presumably) was the basis for the initial terroristic threats charge. Id. at 228.

After a sentence has been imposed, a post-conviction habeas petition takes the place of a motion to withdraw guilty plea. Harris v. State, 130 Nev. 435, 437, 329 P.3d 619, 621 (2014). Given the rambling motion, the district court apparently denied the pleading as a motion to withdraw plea rather than a post-conviction habeas petition.³ This was erroneous, but harmless. This Court will affirm the district court if it reaches the right result for the wrong reason. Wyatt v. State, 86 Nev. 294, 298, 468 P.2d 338, 341 (1970). Additionally, any error, defect, or irregularity which does not affect substantial rights shall be disregarded. NRS 178.598.

As the State noted in its response, the single-sentence denial of making the phone call essentially amounted to an assertion of actual innocence. But actual innocence is not a free-standing claim in the habeas context. Nevada state law does not recognize freestanding claims of actual innocence in a Petition for Writ of ³ No transcript was apparently generated, nor minutes provided. The minutes that do exist do not provide any additional detail. That a simple Order denying the motion, rather than a Findings of Fact, was filed seems to indicate that the Court denied the pleading as a motion rather than a habeas petition.

Habeas Corpus, but rather only provides for claims of actual innocence where a defendant is attempting to overcome a procedural bar caused by an untimely or successive petition. See Mitchell v. State, 122 Nev. 1269, 1273-74, 149 P.3d 33, 36 (2006); See also Clem v. State, 119 Nev. 615, 621, 81 P.3d 521, 525-26 (2003). This is consistent with the Nevada Supreme Court's adoption of the standard established in See Schlup v. Delo, 513 U.S. 238, 315, 115 S. Ct. 851, 861 (1995) (quoting Herrera v. Collins, 506 U.S. 390, 404, 113 S. Ct. 853, 862 (1993)) ("Schlup's claim of innocence is thus not itself a constitutional claim, but instead a gateway through which a habeas petitioner must pass to have his otherwise barred constitutional claim considered on the merits."). In contrast, a freestanding claim of actual innocence is a claim wherein a petitioner alleges actual innocence alone, rather than actual innocence supported by a claim of constitutional deficiency, warrants relief. See Herrera, 506 U.S. 390, 113 S. Ct. 853 (1993). The Herrera Court acknowledged that claims of actual innocence based on newly discovered evidence have never been held as a ground for habeas relief absent an independent constitutional violation in the underlying criminal proceeding. Id. The Court noted such claims were traditionally addressed in the context of requests for executive clemency, which power exists in every state and at the federal level. Id. at 414-15, 113 S. Ct. at 867-68. However, the Court assumed, arguendo, that a federal freestanding claim of actual innocence may exist where a petitioner was sentenced to death and state law precluded any relief. Herrera, 506 U.S. at 417, 113 S. Ct. at 869; Schlup, 513 U.S. at 317, 115 S. Ct. at 862. The United States Supreme Court has never found a freestanding claim of actual innocence to be available in a non-capital case. See, e.g., Herrera, 506 U.S. at 404-405, 416-417; House v. Bell, 547 U.S. 518, 554, 126 S. Ct. 2064, 2086 (2006); see also Carriger v. Stewart, 132 F.3d 463, 476 (9th Cir. 1997); Jackson v. Calderon, 211 F.3d 1148, 1165 (9th Cir. 2000).

Houston failed to cite any Nevada authority which would allow him to raise a freestanding claim of actual innocence and improperly suggested the claim before the district court. “Actual innocence” is a term of art that should only be raised in the context of an attempt to overcome post-conviction procedural bars to petitions for writ of habeas corpus. Even in the post-conviction context, where at least “actual innocence” claims can be made in order to have other arguments heard on the merits, there is no such concept as a “freestanding” actual innocence claim where a person can claim they deserve some kind of relief solely because they proclaim their innocence.

Moreover, Houston’s claim that he did not make the phone call was belied by the record. Actual innocence means factual innocence not mere legal insufficiency. Bousley v. United States, 523 U.S. 614, 623, 118 S.Ct. 1604, 1611 (1998); Sawyer v. Whitley, 505 U.S. 333, 338-39, 112 S.Ct. 2514, 2518-19 (1992). To establish actual innocence of a crime, a petitioner “must show that it is more likely than not that no reasonable juror would have convicted him absent a constitutional violation.” Calderon v. Thompson, 523 U.S. 538, 560, 118 S. Ct. 1489, 1503 (1998) (emphasis added) (quoting Schlup v. Delo, 513 U.S. 298, 316, 115 S. Ct. 851, 861 (1995)). Actual innocence is a stringent standard designed to be applied only in the most extraordinary situations. Pellegrini, 117 Nev. at 876, 34 P.3d at 530.

“Without any new evidence of innocence, even the existence of a concededly meritorious constitutional violation is not itself sufficient to establish a miscarriage of justice that would allow a habeas court to reach the merits of the barred claim.” Schlup, 513 U.S. at 316, 115 S. Ct. at 861. The Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals has “rejected free-standing claims of actual innocence as a basis for habeas review stating, ‘[c]laims of actual innocence based on newly discovered evidence have never been held to state a ground for federal habeas relief absent an independent constitutional violation occurring in the underlying state criminal proceeding.’” Meadows v. Delo, 99 F.3d 280, 283 (8th Cir. 1996) (citing Herrera v. Collins, 506 U.S. 390, 400, 113 S. Ct. 853, 860 (1993)). Furthermore, the newly discovered evidence suggesting the defendant’s innocence must be “so strong that a court cannot have confidence in the outcome of the trial.” Schlup, 513 U.S. at 315, 115 S. Ct. at 861. Once a defendant has made a showing of actual innocence, he may then use the claim as a “gateway” to present his constitutional challenges to the court and require the court to decide them on the merits. Id.

Here, Houston claimed he never called any of the victims and that he is innocent of the crime he pled guilty to. 1 ROA 228. However, Houston did not allege any specific facts nor provided any evidence of his innocence apart from his own self-serving statement. Further, he did not allege any constitutional violations. Outside of the single claim, Houston only generally complained that the people involved in his case colluded against him, causing unidentified errors and “cluster trucks.” ROA 227-228. Simply put, there is no evidence, let alone coherent argument that Houston is innocent outside of his one-sentence claim.

Furthermore, Houston pled guilty in this case. Thus, his claim is belied by his signed GPA. Houston’s GPA states, “I hereby agree to plead guilty to: AGGRAVATED STALKING (Category B Felony – NRS 200.575 – NOC 50333) ...I understand that by pleading guilty I admit the facts which support all the elements of the offense(s) to which I now plead as set forth in Exhibit ‘1’,” 1 ROA 43-45. Additionally, Houston was canvassed and affirmatively stated he was entering a plea of guilty freely and voluntarily.

Houston had the opportunity to move to withdraw his plea and chose not to. 2 ROA 338. He pleaded guilty to the offense, and that guilty plea was further supported by the victim impact speakers at sentencing, as well as the voicemail message of Houston making the call that was played at sentencing. 2 ROA 338-353. Houston presented no evidence in his Motion that would call into question either his guilt or his desire not to withdraw his plea.

Finally, any error in construing the Motion as a motion should be disregarded for at least two reasons. First, Houston neither alleged that his plea was entered into without the effective assistance of counsel nor that it was not freely and voluntarily entered into, the only two bases upon which he could have challenged his guilty plea in a habeas proceeding. NRS 34.810. Second, as noted previously, Houston has a pending habeas petition that has not yet been decided wherein he is again challenging his guilty plea. 1 ROA-A853203 1-40. To the extent he has any cognizable claims or can meet the standard for a habeas petition, his claims will be resolved when that litigation concludes.

CONCLUSION

Based on the foregoing, the State respectfully requests that this Court AFFIRM the district court's denial of Houston's Motion.

CHRISTOPHER D. BURK'S MOTION TO DISMISS

HEARING REQUESTED

Defendants BERNSTEIN & POISSON, LLP; SCOTT POISSON; JACK BERNSTEIN; RYAN KERBOW, and CHRISTOPHER D. BURK, by and through their counsel of record, the law offices of LIPSON NEILSON P.C., make this Motion to Dismiss Plaintiff's Complaint pursuant to Nev. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(5). This Motion is made and based upon the following Memorandum of Points and Authorities, the papers and pleadings on file, and any oral arguments the Court may entertain on this matter.

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION

Plaintiff is presently incarcerated at High Desert State Prison. He was formerly a client of Bernstein & Poisson, LLP. The underlying legal matter resolved at a Mediation and the file was closed.

On October 13, 2022, Plaintiff filed a Complaint against Defendants¹ for false imprisonment, legal malpractice, coercion, extortion, embezzlement and malicious prosecution. See Complaint, Doc 1, ¶¶ 2-6. The remainder of the Complaint is rambling and incomprehensible. For the reasons set forth below, the Court should determine that the Complaint fails to state a claim on which relief may be granted and dismiss this case.

II. LEGAL ARGUMENT

A. PLAINTIFF'S COMPLAINT DOES NOT STATE CLAIMS UPON WHICH RELIEF MAY BE GRANTED.

1. Essential Pleading Requirements to State a Claim

Nev. R. Civ. P. 8(a)(2), requires that a Complaint must contain "a short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief." In addition, "[e]ach averment of a pleading shall be simple, concise, and direct." Nev. R. Civ. P. 8(e)(1). Finally, Nev. R. Civ. P. 10(b) mandates "separate counts . . . whenever separation facilitates the clear presentation of the matters set forth." The fundamental purpose of these provisions is to give to the court and to the parties the claims being presented. The failure to comply with basic rules of pleadings deprives a responding party of due process.

Nev. R. Civ. P. 8, is based on Fed. R. Civ. P. 8, and this Court can consider federal law evaluating the rule. In Ashcroft v Iqbal, 556 US 662 (2009), the Court concluded that the purpose of these specific pleading requirements is to enable the Court to determine whether the plaintiff has stated "a plausible claim for relief." Ashcroft, 556 U.S. at 679 (internal citation omitted). To state a plausible claim for relief, a complaint must contain both sufficient factual allegations (i.e. names, dates, and facts) and legal conclusions (i.e., specific laws defendants allegedly violated) that create a reasonable inference of liability. Id. at 678-79. Plaintiff's Complaint does not meet these ¹ It is unknown whether Defendant Karlie Gabour was served with the summons and complaint. Nevertheless, if the Court grants this motion, the same relief should be granted to Ms. Gabour.

1 minimal standards. Rather, Plaintiff's Complaint is riddled with incomprehensible
 2 statements that fail to provide notice of the specific reason for the lawsuit. The
 3 Complaint does not describe the alleged conduct at issue for each Defendant, what
 4 alleged conduct gives rise to this suit, how each Defendant harmed the Plaintiff, or
 5 where and when each of the alleged actions or inactions occurred. Although the
 6 standard under Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) does not require detailed factual allegations, a
 7 plaintiff must provide more than mere labels and conclusions. Bell Atlantic Corp. v.
 8 Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555, (2007). A formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause
 9 of action is insufficient. Id. Important to this motion is the rule that even a liberal
 10 construction of a complaint filed by a pro se litigant may not be used to supply essential
 11 elements of a claim absent from the complaint. Bruns v. Nat'l Credit Union Admin., 12
 12 F.3d 1251, 1257 (9th Cir. 1997) (quoting Ivey v. Board of Regents, 673 F.2d 266, 268
 13 (9th Cir. 1982)).

2. Rule 12(b)(5) Standards of Review

15 In reviewing a motion to dismiss, the court shall determine whether or not the 16 challenge pleading sets forth sufficient allegations to make out the elements for a claim
 17 for relief. See Edgar v. Wagner, 101 Nev. 226, 699 P.2d 110 (1985). The test for 18 determining whether the allegations of a complaint are sufficient to assert a claim for 19 relief is whether the allegations give fair notice of the nature and basis of the legally
 20 sufficient claim and relief requested. Brelant v. Preferred Equities Corp., 109 Nev. 842, 21 846, 858 P.2d 1258 (1993). Accordingly, when all of a plaintiff's allegations are 22 accepted as true and still do not justify any relief, the trial court should properly dismiss
 23 the claims. Blackjack Bonding v. City of Las Vegas Municipal Court, 116 Nev. 1213,
 24 1214, 14 P.3d 1275, 1278 (2000); Bergman v. Boyce, 109 Nev. 670, 756 P.2d 560
 25 (1993); see also, Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 US 662, 678 (2009) (A Court should not accept 26 legal conclusions and "[t]hreadbare recitals of the elements of a cause of action" as 27 true.) To survive a motion to dismiss, those well-pled facts must allow the Court to 28 reasonably infer that the defendant is liable under the stated claim. Id. at 678-79.

1 Dismissal is appropriate when it appears beyond doubt that the plaintiff could prove no
2 set of facts, which if accepted by the trier of fact, would entitle him to relief. Bratcher v.
3 City of Las Vegas, 113 Nev. 502, 937 P.2d 485 (1997).

4 Plaintiff's Complaint is incomprehensible and violates Nev. R. Civ. P. 8(a)(2),
5 (e)(1) and 10(b). It does not plead the elements of any other claims stated as captions
6 in paragraphs 2-6 of the Complaint i.e., false imprisonment, legal malpractice, coercion,
7 extortion, embezzlement and malicious prosecution. In short, the Complaint does not
8 state a claim and should be dismissed.

9 III. CONCLUSION

10 Based on the foregoing, Defendants request that the Court grant this Motion to 11 Dismiss and enter an order dismissing the Complaint as to all parties.

Case No: A-23-865442-C

DEFENDANTS CHRISTOPHER D.
BURK, SCOTT L. POISSON, RYAN
M. KERBOW, JACK BERNSTEIN, AND BERNSTEIN & POISSON, LLP's MOTION TO DISMISS

HEARING REQUESTED

Defendants BERNSTEIN & POISSON, LLP, CHRISTOPHER D. BURK, SCOTT POISSON, RYAN KERBOW, and JACK BERNSTEIN, by and through their counsel of record, the law offices of LIPSON NEILSON P.C., make this Motion to Dismiss Plaintiff's Complaint pursuant to Nev. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(5). This Motion is made and based upon the following Memorandum of Points and Authorities, the papers and pleadings on file, and any oral arguments the Court may entertain on this matter.

I. INTRODUCTION

Plaintiff is presently incarcerated at High Desert State Prison. He was formerly a client of Bernstein & Poisson, LLP. The underlying legal matter resolved at a Mediation and the file was closed.

1 On or about February 9, 2023, Plaintiff filed a Complaint purporting to name 209
2 individual Defendants including Burk, Poisson, Kerbow, Bernstein and Bernstein &
3 Poisson, LLP.¹ The Complaint is styled as a Civil Rights Complaint. See Complaint, Doc
4 1, p 1. The Complaint is rambling and incomprehensible and does not state a claim.
5 For the reasons set forth below, the Court should determine that the Complaint fails to 6 state a claim on which relief may be granted and dismiss this case.

7 II. LEGAL ARGUMENT

8 A. PLAINTIFF'S COMPLAINT DOES NOT STATE CLAIMS UPON WHICH 9 RELIEF MAY BE GRANTED.

10 1. *Essential Pleading Requirements to State a Claim

11 Nev. R. Civ. P. 8(a)(2), requires that a Complaint must contain "a short and plain
12 statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief." In addition, "[e]ach 13 averment of a pleading shall be simple, concise, and direct." Nev. R. Civ. P. 8(e)(1).
14 Finally, Nev. R. Civ. P. 10(b) mandates "separate counts . . . whenever separation 15 facilitates the clear presentation of the matters set forth." The fundamental purpose of 16 these provisions is to give to the court and to the parties the claims being presented.
17 The failure to comply with basic rules of pleadings deprives a responding party of due 18 process.

19 Nev. R. Civ. P. 8, is based on Fed. R. Civ. P. 8, and this Court can consider 20 federal law evaluating the rule. In Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 US 662 (2009), the Court 21 concluded that the purpose of these specific pleading requirements is to enable the 22 Court to determine whether the plaintiff has stated "a plausible claim for relief." Ashcroft,
23 556 U.S. at 679 (internal citation omitted). To state a plausible claim for relief, a 24 complaint must contain both sufficient factual allegations (i.e. names, dates, and facts)
25 and legal conclusions (i.e., specific laws defendants allegedly violated) that create a 26 reasonable inference of liability. Id. at 678-79. Plaintiff's Complaint does not meet these

28 ¹ It is unknown whether Defendant Karlie Gabour was served with the summons and complaint.
Nevertheless, if the Court grants this motion, the same relief should be granted to Ms. Gabour and all other Defendants.

1 minimal standards. Rather, Plaintiff's Complaint is riddled with incomprehensible
 2 statements that fail to provide notice of the specific reason for the lawsuit. The
 3 Complaint does not describe the alleged conduct at issue for each Defendant, what
 4 alleged conduct gives rise to this suit, how each Defendant harmed the Plaintiff, or
 5 where and when each of the alleged actions or inactions occurred. Although the
 6 standard under Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) does not require detailed factual allegations, a
 7 plaintiff must provide more than mere labels and conclusions. Bell Atlantic Corp. v.
 8 Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555, (2007). A formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause
 9 of action is insufficient. Id. Important to this motion is the rule that even a liberal
 10 construction of a complaint filed by a pro se litigant may not be used to supply essential
 11 elements of a claim absent from the complaint. Bruns v. Nat'l Credit Union Admin., 12
 12 F.3d 1251, 1257 (9th Cir. 1997) (quoting Ivey v. Board of Regents, 673 F.2d 266, 268
 13 (9th Cir. 1982)).

14 2. Rule 12(b)(5) Standards of Review

15 In reviewing a motion to dismiss, the court shall determine whether or not the 16 challenge pleading sets forth sufficient allegations to make out the elements for a claim
 17 for relief. See Edgar v. Wagner, 101 Nev. 226, 699 P.2d 110 (1985). The test for 18 determining whether the allegations of a complaint are sufficient to assert a claim for 19 relief is whether the allegations give fair notice of the nature and basis of the legally
 20 sufficient claim and relief requested. Breliant v. Preferred Equities Corp., 109 Nev. 842, 21 846, 858 P.2d 1258 (1993). Accordingly, when all of a plaintiff's allegations are
 22 accepted as true and still do not justify any relief, the trial court should properly dismiss
 23 the claims. Blackjack Bonding v. City of Las Vegas Municipal Court, 116 Nev. 1213,
 24 1214, 14 P.3d 1275, 1278 (2000); Bergman v. Boyce, 109 Nev. 670, 756 P.2d 560
 25 (1993); see also, Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 US 662, 678 (2009) (A Court should not accept 26 legal conclusions and "[t]hreadbare recitals of the elements of a cause of action" as 27 true.) To survive a motion to dismiss, those well-pled facts must allow the Court to 28 reasonably infer that the defendant is liable under the stated claim. Id. at 678-79.

1 Dismissal is appropriate when it appears beyond doubt that the plaintiff could prove no
2 set of facts, which if accepted by the trier of fact, would entitle him to relief. Bratcher v.
3 City of Las Vegas, 113 Nev. 502, 937 P.2d 485 (1997).

4 Plaintiff's Complaint is incomprehensible and violates Nev. R. Civ. P. 8(a)(2),
5 (e)(1) and 10(b). It does not plead the elements of any other claims stated as captions
6 in paragraphs 2-6 of the Complaint i.e., false imprisonment, legal malpractice, coercion,
7 extortion, embezzlement and malicious prosecution. In short, the Complaint does not
8 state a claim and should be dismissed.

9 III. CONCLUSION

10 Based on the foregoing, Defendants request that the Court grant this Motion to 11 Dismiss and enter an order dismissing the Complaint as to all parties.

Case No.: A-17-758861-C

ORDER ON PENDING MOTIONS

Plaintiff's Emergency Notice of Motion and Statement of Facts was filed on April 11, 2023 and is currently set for hearing on May 16, 2023. Plaintiff also has several other Motions set for hearing on May 25, 2023, and June 8, 2023. Having read the pleadings and papers on file, the Court hereby DENIES Plaintiff's pending motions with prejudice for the following reasons.

Plaintiff filed his Complaint on July 24, 2017. The parties proceeded to mediation and on May 17, 2019, the parties agreed to settle Plaintiff's claims, with the agreement being reduced to writing in the Mediation Settlement Agreement. As of June 7, 2019, Defendant had satisfied all conditions of the Mediation Settlement. On August 1, 2019, Plaintiff executed the Release of All Claims and Agreement to Indemnify. On January 30, 2020, an Order was entered dismissing and closing the case and granting Defendant's Motion to Compel Settlement. This Order dismissed Case No. A-17-758861-C with prejudice. Plaintiff has appealed the Court's Orders several times without success. The last appeal was dismissed by the Nevada Supreme Court on March 30, 2023.

Accordingly, the Court finds that Case No. A-17-758861-C has been closed since January 30, 2020. As such, Plaintiff's pending Motions seeking relief from this Court in this case are

1 DENIED as moot and untimely. If Plaintiff seeks further relief, that relief would require the 2 initiation of a new Complaint. No further Motions from Plaintiff will be considered in this case.

3 Accordingly and for good cause appearing,

4 Plaintiff's Notice of Motion and Statement of Facts is hereby DENIED.

5 Plaintiff's Emergency Supplement and Ex Parte Motion for Reconsideration as a Renewed
6 Petition for a Writ of Habeas Corpus under 28 U.S.C. 2241, Meritorious Interpleadings and Joinder
7 of Appeal in all Cases of the Petitioner-Plaintiff-Appellant is hereby DENIED.
8

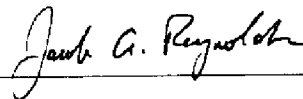

9 Plaintiff's Emergency Motion to Compel an Answer from Aaron D. Ford Under NRAP
10 3C127E as a Notice of Motion is hereby DENIED.

11 Plaintiff's Emergency Motion and Order for Transportation of Inmate for Court Appearance 12 or, in the Alternative, for Appearance by Telephone or Video Conference is hereby DENIED.

14 The hearings currently set on this matter for May 16, 2023, May 25, 2023, and June 8, 2023
15 are hereby VACATED.

16 This Case remains CLOSED.

CASE NO.: 22A001793

JC DEPARTMENT 5

ORDER FOR

TELEPHONIC TESTIMONY

WHEREAS the instant case involves an incarcerated party who wishes to be transported to Court for the scheduled small claims hearing, and

WHEREAS NRS 209.274 only mandates inmates transportation when an inmate "is required or requested to appear before a court", and

WHEREAS this language merely means that if a court mandates the offender's presence, he must be allowed to be transported here, and the statutory language not grant an inmate the right to be transported upon the inmate's own request; and

WHEREAS in the case of Barry v. Lindner, 119 Nev. Op. No. 45, 81 P.3d 537 (2003), the Nevada Supreme court held that telephonic testimony may be used, in lieu of a court appearance, when exigent circumstances exist; and

WHEREAS the Nevada Supreme Court recently amended JCRCP 43(a) to clarify that the court may, for good cause shown in compelling circumstances and upon appropriate safeguards, "permit presentation of testimony in open court by contemporaneous transmission from a different location"; and

WHEREAS the Department of Corrections would incur substantial cost and effort to transport an inmate to court for a small claims hearing; and

WHEREAS allowing an inmate to appear for a case raises serious security issues, involving the control of the inmate and potential danger to the general public; and

WHEREAS the instant case does not appear to be especially complex, such that the inmate's actual presence would be essential,

THE COURT FINDS that compelling circumstances are present in this case and that the inmate should be required to testify by telephone, and therefore,

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the institution where the inmate is currently incarcerated shall make the inmate available for telephonic testimony for the scheduling hearing of this matter on February 01, 2023 at 10 AM.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the inmate shall provide the Court with a phone number where the inmate can be reached for the purposes of eliciting testimony.

Plaintiff, vs.

Brian P. Clark

Defendant.

CASE NO.: A-22-856372-C

DEPT. NO.: 20

ORDER RE: APPLICATION TO PROCEED IN FORMA PAUPERIS

Plaintiff Matthew Travis Houston, acting in proper person, filed an Application to Proceed in Forma Pauperis, which was provided to the Chief Judge to review.

Pursuant to the Administrative Orders of the Court, as well as EDCR 2.23, this matter may be decided with or without oral argument. This Court has determined that it would be appropriate to decide this matter on the pleadings; consequently, this Order issues.

The Court notes that NRS 12.015(2)(a) provides as follows:

2. The court shall allow a person to commence or defend the action without costs and file or issue any necessary writ, process, pleading or paper without charge if:

(1) Based on its review of an application filed pursuant to paragraph (a) of subsection 1, the court determines that the application should be granted and the person may proceed as an indigent litigant because the person:

(1) Is receiving benefits provided by a federal or state program of public assistance;

(2) Has a household net income which is equal to or less than 150 percent of the federally designated level signifying poverty as provided in the most recent federal poverty guidelines published in the Federal Register by the United States Department of Health and Human Services;

(3) Has expenses for the necessities of life that exceed his or her income; or

(4) Has otherwise shown compelling reasons that he or she cannot pay the costs of prosecuting or defending the action.

NRS 12.015(2)(a)

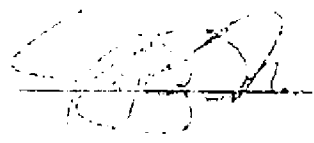

Based on its review of the Application to Proceed in Forma Pauperis filed on 8/3/22, the Court has determined that the application should be granted and Mr. Johnson may proceed as an indigent litigant. Mr. Houston is currently incarcerated at the Nevada Department of Corrections and has shown that he cannot pay the costs of prosecuting this action.

Based upon the foregoing, and good cause appearing,

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that Matthew Houston's Application to Proceed in Forma Pauperis is hereby GRANTED.

Mr. Houston shall be permitted to proceed in forma pauperis in this action as permitted by NRS 12.015. The Clerk of the Court shall allow the Applicant to file or issue any necessary writ, process, pleading, or paper without charge, and it is ordered that the Sheriff or other appropriate public officer within this State shall make personal service of any necessary writ, process, pleading, or paper without charge.

SEE ATTACHED ORDER, FILED JUNE 29, 2023:

By the looks of this 9TH CIR. ORDER, I'm not being treated fairly either, especially by the ineffective aid of counsel of ALEXIS M. Did y'all get a chance to check out the latest in investigations by LVM PD? Apparently, BREDENTA BLACIC has never even been employed by

What up THOMAS or CYNTHA or VERONICA?
I was trying to obtain Emily Strand to type up my briefs to get me out of this wrongful conviction - as I am factually innocent and actually innocent, however
Thomas said Emily works for Clark County Public Defenders now, the same people who conned me into agreeing to a GPA and ruining my life. Solitary confinement for over a year now certainly hasn't helped anything 😞.

Dear Mr. Houston,

We received your package. Thank you for writing to us and considering our firm to take on your case.

Unfortunately, our firm does not currently take on post-conviction cases, so we are unable to take your case at this time. We also aren't aware of any firm that we can refer you to. Our only suggestion is to contact the Nevada State Bar. They may be able to assist you with finding counsel. Their phone number is (702) 382-0504.

Enclosed, we are returning the document you provided to us. Once again, thank you for your consideration. We wish you the best of luck with this matter.

Hello to Mr. Comacho, Mr. Thomas, Ms. Veronica and

Thank you Mr. Comacho for your letter dated November 3rd, 2022, as I am checking in to see if anybody at the firm could at all aid in my post-conviction litigation(s) in reconsideration?

Perhaps Miss Cynthia or Emily Strand or a new employee could assist in my efforts? As I am indeed both factually and actually innocent, this process is beyond difficult what with the becoming of my person an indentured servant to the STATE OF NEVADA. Thomas at the office ^(is) was my witness to my whereabouts the morning of September 6th, 2021, and I have attached a copy of State's response (that was FWD to me by AMD LAW, PLLC, after April 28th-
May 5th, 2023). I pray for your expeditious response, and for your review of my traumatic situation, etc.

Dear Matthew,

Thank you for contacting Just Detention International (JDI), a health and human rights organization that seeks to end sexual abuse behind bars.

We received your request for assistance. However, your request falls outside the scope of our mission. We do not have the resources or the expertise to provide assistance with matters that are not directly related to addressing sexual violence in detention.

JDI is a policy organization. We do not provide counseling, legal advice or representation, books, or pen-pal services. We do not have pro bono referrals for legal or medical cases. We do not accept or investigate reports of sexual abuse. Please do not send us your legal documents; we cannot store them, make copies, mail them to someone else, or return them to you.

If you have experienced any form of sexual harm in custody – including sexual harassment, sex in exchange for protection, sexual assault, etc. – we can send you a packet of resources and information, at your request.

We wish you all the best.

Dear Matthew,

I received your letter asking for copies of several documents relating to legal procedure in Nevada.

I believe I have located all the materials you were referencing:

- The Nevada Rules of Civil Procedure
- The Revised Nevada Code of Judicial Conduct
- The Nevada Rules of Professional Conduct

I hope these are the right documents and they help you find the information you need, but we are happy to keep looking if there's anything missing or if I misunderstood your question. This response confirms we are free to answer another question. Just write us back using this address: PLSN c/o Interference Archive, 314 7th Street, Brooklyn, NY 11215.

Take care,

Rachel G.

PLSN Volunteer

We are a small group of volunteers who connect incarcerated people with information. Due to the high volume of letters we receive, we can only answer one letter per patron at a time, and we ask patrons to limit their letters to no more than 3 questions. Our average response time is 3 to 6 months.

We do not provide legal advice, personal/private information about living individuals, or anything related to or created by fascist or white supremacist organizations. Although we do not assume intent, we are an abolitionist organization and do not support actions that will actively harm others. We work towards the safety and liberation of all bodies we are in community with—land, water, plants, and beings—no compromises will be made that risk community safety.

We are still growing, and these guidelines are subject to change.

PRIVILEGED AND CONFIDENTIAL LEGAL MAIL

Dear Mr. Houston,

We received your letter asking for help with your case. The Rocky Mountain Innocence Center (RMIC) is a private, non-profit organization that investigates prisoner claims of innocence.

Because RMIC has limited resources and relies mostly on volunteers, we can consider only a very small number of cases. In order for us to consider your case, you must meet the following requirements:

- You must have been convicted of a serious felony in Nevada, Utah, or Wyoming.
- You must have more than seven years left on your prison sentence.
- Your trial and direct appeals must be finished, and you are not currently represented by an attorney.
- You must be completely innocent (no involvement whatsoever in the crime, the events leading up to the crime or any related events following the crime).
- Significant new evidence must be available to prove your innocence.

RMIC also cannot consider the following cases: cases of self-defense; cases of consensual sex; and cases in which the prisoner was involved as an accessory or a party-to-the-crime and claims he/she did not play a major role in the crime.

If your conviction was child sexual assault/lewdness, there must be DNA evidence available to help prove your innocence or the victim must have changed his or her claim against you.

Also, RMIC cannot take your case if you are serving a lengthy sentence for another, unrelated conviction, and exoneration on the conviction for which you are innocent would not free you from prison.

In the event that you meet all of these criteria, please complete and return the "Screening Questionnaire" and "Waiver and Authorization For Release Of Records And Information." Do not send us any other documents or materials, because we cannot look at them at this time or return them to you.

By sending you this letter and the questionnaire, RMIC is not agreeing to accept your case for investigation. At this point in time, RMIC has agreed to perform work on your case for the limited purpose of screening your case for investigation.

Because we get many requests for help, it will take up to a year for us to screen your case. If your case is accepted for investigation, you will go onto a waiting list until the other cases before yours have been investigated.

Please do not telephone or write additional letters asking about your case, because this will only slow down the screening process. We will contact you after we have screened your case. Thank you very much for your patience.

Kind regards,

Amanda Darcy, Atty.
RMIC Legal Fellow

- Issue 37, with features on different angles of housing justice and prison industrial complex (PIC) abolition went to print in June 2022 and was mailed out to over 5,500 subscribers. The feature analysis with CR member and senior organizer with Right to the City Alliance, Kamau Walton.
- Issue 38, Focused on labor struggles & PIC abolition is packed full of timely and useful analysis, reflection and resources for organizing inside and outside of cages, including articles on decriminalizing sex work, recent general strikes in Ecuador and Colombia, challenging the 13th Amendment and prison labor, and more. There's a interview with Melissa Burch, former Critical Resistance (CR) staffer and past editor of The Abolitionist, current long-time CR at-large member, and director of the Afterlives of Conviction Project, on the rise of employment barriers and discrimination against formerly imprisoned people and people with conviction history, arrest, court, and legal records.

We hope to get the next issue out later this year during the summer, which will focus on reproductive rights as they relate to the PIC.

Dear

Unfortunately, we are not able to provide legal support, but on the back of this letter is a list of pro bono legal resources that may help you in your struggle.

In working towards abolishing the Prison Industrial Complex, we use a combination of strategies, including public education, campaign work and coalition building. We believe prisoners are a central part of this work and encourage writings, criticism, advice and feedback.

Although we cannot guarantee a quick response due to the high volume of mail we receive each week, we hope that you will continue writing and conversing with us on topics that are of interest to you. We love ongoing communication with folks inside and want to build with you as well as give you any information we can.

In Solidarity & Struggle,

On behalf of Critical Resistance

Dear Mx. Houston,

Thank you for your letter requesting assistance from the Roderick and Solange MacArthur Justice Center. I was so sorry to read about all the problems you described.

The MacArthur Justice Center is a public interest law firm whose mission is to litigate cases aimed at challenging injustices in the criminal legal system and holding people in power accountable. Because we have a small staff and are currently operating at a full case load, we are often unable to provide assistance in individual cases and situations.

This is not to say that your case does not have merit. We have made a record of your letter in our database in the event that circumstances in the future might allow us to be of service. Unfortunately, because we have limited resources and select our cases with many factors in mind, we cannot pursue your case at this time. There are other organizations that may be able to help you, however. Please see the enclosed page for that contact information. The ACLU of Nevada has an office in Las Vegas and their phone number is (702) 366-1226. In addition, the Legal Aid Center of Southern Nevada might be able to direct you to an attorney who could assist you: Legal Aid Center of Southern Nevada, 725 E. Charleston Blvd., Las Vegas, NV 89104. (702) 386-1070.

Thank you for reaching out to us. I'm very sorry we can't help with your case at this time. Please know that you are in our thoughts.

Sincerely,

Hello Mr. Pascetta,

My name is Matthew and I am a wrongfully convicted inmate at HIGH DESERT STATE PRISON. I received your contact information off of this letter from the organization CRITICAL RESISTANCE that lists pro bono legal resources. Sir, I have funds to pay for representation, and I need as much support as I can get. I was able to get my appeal reinstated, the briefing schedule, SUPREME COURT OF NEVADA Case No. 84886. I have plenty of other issues I need help with, and the primary goal is having people advocate to get me this parole, and as you can see on the attached NOTICE OF HEARING that is on June 28th, 2023, in 3 weeks. I am trying to get all of my friends and resources to send them letters of reference, and/or participate in the hearing, or whatever else they can do to help justice. Of course you don't even know me yet, so now you do. I have included a stamped envelope for you to mail me back and/or the parole board. Talk to you soon,

1482 -M. Houston

As always, I want to express my deepest apologies for the gap since our last newsletter. The short story is that once the legislative session started, it was chaos trying to get all of the bills passed, keep families up to date with ways they could help move the legislation and handle everything outside of the legislative session. We were barely holding our heads above water, but- we made it, and while we may not have won everything we wanted, we did historically pass all the bills we were running and supported many others.

Before I get to the bill updates, I want to review some things I have been responding to over the past few months and remind you what we do, what we don't do and why, especially regarding legislation. First, our work focuses on widespread change and how what is happening impacts the most people when improved. It also is focused on laying the foundation for future work. Legislative change isn't an END to a fight, it is the beginning of a journey of change, and even once we win, we must hold decision-makers and leadership accountable. We know that. Without accountability, why make laws?

AB121: First, This bill protects physical mail from electronic scanning. There is a clause that the Director can stop physical mail if he completes a study and provides data proving that the mail is causing a health and safety risk to staff or offenders. Second, NDOC must provide medication refills when due, without the incarcerated person filing a request/Kyte. Third, it requires NDOC to create a policy that will provide your contact person notification of hospitalization for a critical illness within 24 hours upon admission into the hospital or to give you access to contact your people within 4 hours of an incident that requires a trip to the hospital, but no admission. Effective July 1, 2023.

AB452: This bill has two distinct things: visitation and oversight. First, it protects in-person visitation upon the implementation of any electronic visitation. (In other words, they can never go to video only, it can be an option but not at the removal of in-person visits). The bill also requires Director or Deputy Director approvals for cancellations of visits and an annual report to the legislature with all cancellations and their reasons.

The other part of the bill will develop an office of the corrections ombudsman. A neutral third party with access to NOTIS to pull incident reports/complaints, freely investigate with access to facilities, data, staff, and residents (you)- make recommendations to the Director and the state with suggested resolutions. One key component of this office is to provide oversight to protect your due process rights by watching grievance timelines and problems with that process. It will also have a reporting component that will report to the legislature annually for accountability. Effective 10.1.23

SB107: Ends the exemption to the (public) administrative rule-making process previously granted to NDOC. When legislators initially passed the 233b process, NDOC was exempt. The past few years have proven that oversight is necessary, and we won an end to this exemption. It requires a public and legislative approval process covering all fiscal policies, visitation, and mail. Effective 7.1.23 Together, SB107 and the ombudsman make a significant impact on necessary oversight and accountability of Nevada's prisons. The ombudsman will be following reports of complaints and grievances inside the prison, and the 233b process creates a public process that needs legislative approval for specific changes. It doesn't mean we can stop everything we don't like, but we get a voice and an opportunity to do that. Right now, when we fight, it's trying to stop a policy change with 72 hours' notice, and it is a miracle that we have been able to get anything done that way.

SB307: Limits segregation to 15 consecutive days. Daily health and welfare checks while in segregation. Effective 1.1.24

SB413 This will change the current good time/meritorious credit system to a flat percentage of time served. This bill passed with a percentage of 65% of time served, making you eligible for parole. It is also supposed to make parole presumptive unless there have been significant or repetitive disciplinary actions. Effective 1.1.25

This bill was a very complicated bill change that followed five decades of changes to the credit system depending on the political climate at the time. We had to make some difficult choices in negotiating the bill because there are two types of bills- ones that focus on policy and ones that focus on values. With the current Governor, winning legislation that was "value" based was close to impossible. We had an opportunity to take a historical step towards fixing the credit system and stop the problem of moving days and confusion on your time.

Who is eligible became the "value" question. While we disagree with carve-outs for certain classifications of crimes, that is a value question we must address through education, and there was no avenue to succeed during the session. We need time to be able to do that, and it is on our agenda. We opposed several bills with carve-outs because of the damage it would do.

Remember that sometimes, we have to move incrementally and change things one piece at a time, other times- we go all or nothing. This bill made sense to take this step and return for more in subsequent years.

SB416-This bill built off the caps on restitution deductions in 2021 and further expands additional financial protection. As I said at the beginning of the session, we asked for EVERYTHING on this, knowing we would need to negotiate to win anything, and this has additional next steps.

What we won: an end to all medical co-pays, man-down fees for medical emergencies (they are still allowed to charge for self-harm, riot or fight-related injuries, sports injuries) and, room and board fees, and an end to limitations on the amount you can spend on commissary. In addition, the end to hygiene markups is now LAW- so zero markups on hygiene are here to stay! Effective 10.1.23

Remember, they can raise prices if the supplier increases the cost, but they can't mark that cost up

What we left on the table: Ending trust accounts for people on DR or LWOP and a reduction in the cost of food- which I know is disappointing, BUT if we took a reduction in the markup, we couldn't come back later for no markup, and this is part of a more extensive conversation around funding prisons. (I will expand this in future newsletters).

AB292-Dignity for Incarcerated Women- which provides free feminine hygiene products and protections around physical searches. (I don't have all the final language on this because we didn't lead the negotiations, and I am not exactly sure where it ended as it went into last-minute negotiations)

SB153- Now requires cultural competency training for corrections officers to improve their interactions with people who identify as trans or non-binary.

SB351-Changes the rules for visitation to allow people with prior felonies the same rights to visitation as everyone else. People will not automatically receive a visitation denial for a felony conviction, but the felony must be evaluated individually according to when it happened and what it was. So far, the administration has said things that involve bringing contraband into a prison and visitation with children or victims, dependent on the conviction. The second part of this bill requires written notification of the denial reason.

The Legislative Session is Over- Now What?

Our work never ends! Here is a summary of some of the things we are still working on and some new things that we have started, and a list of ways you can help- We have several volunteer workgroups that will be working on specific campaigns-

The Food Fight- this workgroup is addressing food insecurity issues in Nevada prisons (and beyond). It involves addressing the Aramark contract, the intersection of commissary/pricing, and the monopoly on vendors. This group is working on a long-term campaign to end the Aramark contract and address all food issues/concerns. PLEASE fill out the attached survey to help them in their work. Feel free to share; people can write their answers on blank paper. Your voice matters!

II. Women's Sentencing & Policy Group: This workgroup will start later this summer, and more details and surveys will be coming to you. We are building a coalition of organizations interested in doing this work by several social workers, policy experts, and legal experts from UNLV and UNR who are interested in working with us to address specific issues & policies impacting incarcerated women and women in the criminal legal system. As soon as we have this up and running, I will send the info directly to the FMWCC and JCC women. If you identify as a woman and are at another facility, please let us know, and we will include you in the surveys.

III. The Pardon Advocacy Project: This is about to go through a transformation because we are running into nonstop roadblocks in successfully getting people onto an agenda. We hoped pressure would make a change, but so far, very little has happened. If you are part of the 2023 cohort, you will remain on the cohort indefinitely, BUT we are adding another layer to this, and it falls under policy work. Beginning immediately, we are using the lack of progress to show why the pardon board is problematic and can't be the only way that we address the numbers of people who have been unfairly and excessively sentenced, people who were sentenced under laws that don't exist anymore and other injustices- we are beginning the work to establish a Prosecutorial Sentencing Review Board. More information is coming in the following newsletter (Fall 2023). In the meantime- share your story with us. If you have already shared it- send us a brief letter and tell us that you are interested in using your story as an example, and we will pull it from our database for review. We will review all pardon board applications we have previously received to find highlight stories to show why this needs to happen. If your story is one we are interested in, get it to us.

IV. Family Council Roundtables: Return Strong has worked very hard to build communication and transparency with the new administration, and together, we have made significant progress, both in the legislature and regarding other work that impacts all of you in your daily lives. To know what is happening and keep our finger on the pulse of what is happening in facilities- we need YOU to be writing to us because you understand everything at a deeper level. The other way is to have quarterly roundtables with families from each facility to gain additional information and insight for our meetings with the Director and his administrative team.

Some of the things we have been able to resolve in the past few months (even with legislative pressure restricting our capacity)- include addressing the missing disciplinary sanctions, which resulted in people being sanctioned/charged with murder when no murder occurred, monitoring water issues at NNCC due to repeated water main breaks, visitation policy issues at several facilities, lack of water drinkable water at HCC, attorney access at HDSP, missing food at Carlin camp- and many more.

Our goal is NOT to be a constant banda-aid, and please, if it isn't urgent- do not send your family to us on every issue- follow the process that exists both with NDOC and with our method of you writing to us with your concerns and your loved ones attending our VIRTUAL roundtables and facility workgroups and us to get updated information- we can't answer individual questions and concerns, we need you and your loved ones to meet us halfway.

Our goal IS to be aware of the issues so that we can prioritize and get as many problems addressed through our meetings with the administration as possible. We need to know what's happening to get it addressed. Letters, roundtables, and family council workgroups are how people can help.

We have recently made significant progress with 1983 cases, specifically on correctional abuse. If you are a jailhouse lawyer with active cases nearing the point that you need representation, please send us case summaries and information with a request to pass it on to our attorney for screening.

V. Impact Teams are our way of educating decisionmakers, community leaders, families, educators on the reality of prison. If you know someone who may be interested in being a spokesperson and part of the work we are doing, especially people who have done a significant amount of time and want to be an advocate for change, we are creating that platform. Please have them email us at info@returnstrongnv.org and tell us who they are and why they are interested. If YOU are interested when you come home, please contact us. We are working together to create a movement! Be the change!

YOU can help by sharing your story or making us aware of facility problems by writing to:

Volunteer as a unit organizer- we continue to grow our reach inside to ensure we can provide you with information and streamline communication when necessary. You are responsible for ensuring that people on your unit, wing, or group of associates know what we are working on.

Organize a fundraiser or stamp drive. The women at Florence McClure recently contacted us and offered to do a fundraiser to donate proceeds to Return Strong! to continue their work. If you are interested in organizing one at your facility and need help, we have volunteers to help you manage it. Any funds raised would help us with communication costs and improve our ability to stay in communication with you.

Your loved ones can get involved by attending Zoom workgroups, joining Facebook, or becoming a monthly donor (even $10 a month is a huge help when coupled with a large number of people)

The Food Fight Survey :

The following survey is related to Return Strong's campaign on food insecurity, hunger, water, and climate change. We have received hundreds of letters from all of you, as well as calls, comments, and emails from your families about food, temperature, environmental concerns, and water issues. Our goal with this survey is to add your voices and experience to the data and research available on these issues to get a deeper understanding. We understand there have been significant changes in the past year; our goal is to understand the differences better so that we can address the issue beyond the obvious.

You are welcome to copy this, handwrite it, and share it- the more responses we have from various facilities, the better we can identify the issue and work to find solutions. In addition, while we have standard answers, YOUR STORIES and details are powerful, and we want to hear them. Thank you- we are stronger together. Thank you for trusting us enough to work with us because, remember, there is no us without you.

Plaintiff moves this Honorable Court to examine the intentional gross negligence of the Law Library as demonstrated by Document 47, filed July 06, 2023, pages 5-15. Obviously, as the pages are incomplete and haphazardly thrown together, they're not taking their job(s) seriously. Their unnecessary roughness has further blocked, thwarted and hindered the factually and actually innocent Plaintiff, causing misinterpretation and vexatious abuse of the court's resources. BRANDEIS BRIEF

"HEARING REQUESTED"

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that it is asked of this court,

"why did the Plaintiff-in-error have to become wrongfully convicted to Fine-Benard Little?" Mr. Little submitted his MOTION TO WITHDRAW AS COUNSEL on October 5th, 2021 and during that time a pro se motion to dismiss the fraudulent charges was submitted to the clerk. The petitioner-appellant is in opposition to "the state of being without legal significance" of Judge Tierra Jones especially because he still has not been provided the name of the "substitute judge" who appointed Anthony M. Goldstein to properly withdraw petitionerappellant's VOIDED guilty plea. This dereliction of duty has caused nothing more than a miscarriage of justice, adding insult to injury, while defaming the character Page Number: 1 of an innocent man.

P.32

CLERK OF THE COURT

MAR 29 2022

RECEIVED

STATEMENT OF FACTS: Kidapped from his home in

1 Iowa, On July 14, 2021, MATTHEW TRAVIS HOUSTON (hereinafter "Petitioner-Appellant")
2 was abducted from his hotel room at the Best Western located at [REDACTED] 3041
3 St Rose Parkway in Henderson, Nevada, as he was not served with any sort of 4 summons or WARRANT, nor was told or read that he had any kind of rights. This 5 false arrest prevented Petitioner-Appellant from attending his appointment the very 6 next day at Nevada Retina Specialists, with Dr. Tyson Ward on July 15, 2021, while 7 this continued imprisonment of his person also prevented him from attending his medical 8 disability ruling in Reno, Nevada, on August 15, 2021, with Dr. Dwagleri. Both appointments
9 of which had been scheduled by the abductors, SEDAWICK's Dianne Ferrante, and her 10 alleged supervisor, Rosemarie McMorris-Alexander, as was the booking of his room.
11 The Petitioner-Appellant's attempt at release from CEISE was intended so that he could 12 search for, and hopefully, retrieve his service animals. However, the now-dismissed counsel, J. Wood
13 and Benard Little, provided misinformation regarding the lack of a directly-related "City Jail
14 Detainer Hold". Counsel had told Petitioner-Appellant, all the while coercing his client into a 15 potential release from custody, that he "did not see a detainer hold" when, in fact, there was.
16 This coercion of the client by his previous representation created a second double-jeopardy -
17 in LAS VEGAS MUNICIPAL COURT #1248354A + #C1237802A; with the first being by J. Wood
18 in the EIGHTH JUDICIAL DISTRICT COURT 21-CR-019840 + 21-CR-035713. A. Goldstein never visited
19 Mr. Houston. These traumatic events are a cruel and unusual punishment being inflicted upon an abused
20 and innocent man, who was forced into an involuntary relocation, with unnecessary hardships
21 causing the eviction of his law office located at 435 South Linn Street #927, in Iowa
22 City, Iowa (52240), $36.5 million of property damage, and the destruction of his K-9(s).
23 Due to crimes both civil and criminal, not to mention the willful omissions of Rosemarie
24 McMorris-Alexander and Dianne Ferrante, SEDAWICK and the prosecutions most unlawful use
25 of overreaching tactics in their exploitation of the innocent man has put the Petitioner-Appellant
26 into an unmanageable state of duress, homelessness, and extensive incarceration. Not at any 27 time did Mr. Houston make any threats or acts of harassment, extortion or 28 aggravated stalking towards any of the parties in Mr. Houston's cases or anybody 29 else. It is in FACT Mr. Houston 1511 is the victim of crime.

1 Perhaps a cause of this neglect of duty is the fact
2 that there are other objective factors showing both
3 cause and prejudice as there is much more in this 4 case to blame besides bad lawyering. Additionally, the 5 claim of ineffective aid of counsel was reinforced by the 6 Supreme Court of Nevada's dismissal of DIRECT APPEAL
7 No. 84281 on March 10th, 2022. Had either Anthony
8 M. Goldstein, Jeremy Woods, Bernard Little or the attorney
9 from the cases in Las Vegas Municipal Court adhered to 10 any sort of principle than the petitioner-appellant
11 would not have been as prejudiced.
12 Primarily, it is the fact that the judge, prosecution
13 and alleged "victim" in this case are females, causing a 14 sexist bias against the petitioner-appellant who had already, while 15 in a state of trauma been subjected to a double-jeopardy.
16 Not only was petitioner-appellant made victim of sexist 17 bigotry, but he became more of the scapegoat to the evil forces of 18 stereotypical racism after being told by Bernard Little that "because 19 he was white, he would not qualify for aid from the Bail Bond Project."
20 Social worker Cassandra Diaz, also from the Clark County
21 Public Defender's office, was also a hindrance to justice
22 when she had informed petitioner-appellant that "it would be a
23 conflict of interest if ^{-you-} [petitioner-appellant] authorized Bernard
24 Little (or someone from their office) to act as a POWER
25 OF ATTORNEY so that ^{-you-} [petitioner-appellant] could have the 26 overly-inflated bond paid in full." But why would any of that even 27 matter to the social worker who would not accept complete
28 medical records from all of the petitioner-appellant's team of doctors?

1 PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that it is asked of this court,
2 "is there a state wide conspiracy to conceal the truth
3 about the exploitation of the injured worker(s) from the 4 citizens of Nevada?" There surely must be in the case(s)
5 of Matthew Travis Houston.

6 The temerity of dispute resolution has escalated into the most 7 extreme sort of prejudice, which has been swept under the 8 rug by those individuals causing a broken system. In this 9 case involving Daniel Schwartz, with potential organized criminal
10 operations possibly involving Scott Poisson in the State of Florida, 11 and Alexis Plunkett out of the State of Ohio, the theory of 12 of a conspiracy causing legal, medical and judicial malpractice
13 against the Plaintiff-in-error has been further validated externally 14 to the now dismissed counsel with additional shady characters including 15 but not limited to: Karen Schwartz, Lina Sakakuskas, Gene Porter and 16 both David Jones and Tierra Danielle Jones. External to the 17 procedural errors causing this illegal incarceration is the fact that 18 big business was able to coerce LKMPD into acting as a modern 19 day Gestapo. Therefore it is asked to this court, 20

21 "a conspiracy is possible... is it not?" In fact, it
22 is no conspiracy that Sedgwick's interest off of the petitioner-23 appellant is making quite a bit of money when not having to 24 pay the injured worker(s) their legally and rightfully
25 entitled benefits. (Now if you please skip ahead to page 49-55) You

1 To date, the Appellants "PETITION FOR JUDICIAL REVIEW OF 2 THE EVENTS OF DECEMBER 6th, 2021" has been ignored by the 3 courts, even before the illegal arrest of the petitioner-appellant
4 on July 14th, 2021 because judicial ineptitude and procedural
5 mistandlements ought NEVER happen. However, due to particular
6 individuals acts in temerity and carelessness, these errors throw 7 monkeywrenches into particular parts of the machine, therefore 8 preventing the lawful turnings in the wheels of justice from working 9 towards the forces of good, and all that it is of. It is hereby 10 asked to this court, "are these most cruel and inhumane injustices to be 11 accepted by our judicial system and ^{the} people of the State of Nevada?"
12 It was asked by the most falsely accused Appellant, (OFFICIALLY before 13 See # → the 13th of October, 2021) that this case be opposed and completely dismissed, page 49
14 as proven by the original motion's pages "1-6" which were put on record

16 OF COURT". The originals are at the offices of Bernard Little, et al 17 who neglected their duties in providing this court with truth, contributing to 18 malpractice and is an additional cause of this wrongful conviction. This error 19 shows the tendency of judicial officers of Las Vegas to parade the 20 elements of oppression and facism. As a result, the Appellant prays 21 that prosecutorial malice, misconduct, wanton disregard and carekess neglect 22 be lessened, if not completely eliminated while reading of the observations 23 and the theory of District Attorney Mr. Jim Garrison who is,
24 most unfortunately no longer with us. May he provide this court 25 with motivation in a reminder to all of the call of duty in 26 encouragement to unhinder, repair and more equally balance the 27 scale of justice in the community of Lost Wages, Nevada
28 that is still part of the good old United States of America:

-1 Interview With District Attorney Jim Garrison

0 as he is clearly in opposition to government interference:

1 I was with the artillery supporting the division
2 that took Dachau; I arrived there the day
3 after it was taken, when bulldozers were making 4 pyramids of human bodies outside the camp. What 5 I saw there has haunted me ever since. Because 6 the law is my profession, I've always wondered 7 about the judges throughout Germany who sentenced 8 men to jail for picking pockets at a time when 9 their own government was jerking gold from the 10 teeth of men murdered in gas chambers. I'm 11 concerned about all of this because it isn't a 12 German phenomenon; it's a human phenomenon. It
13 can happen here, because there has been no change
14 and there has been no progress and there has 15 been no increase of understanding on the part of 16 men for their fellow man.

18 What worries me deeply, and I have seen it exemplified 19 in this case, is that we in America are in great 20 danger of slowly evolving into a proto-facist state.
21 It will be a ~~different~~ different kind of fascist state
22 from the one of the Germans evolved; theirs grew 23 out of depression and promised bread and work, while 24 ours, curiously enough, seems to be emerging from 25 prosperity. But in the final analysis, it's based on 26 power and on the inability to put human goals and 27 human conscience above the dictates of the state.
28 Its origins can be traced in the tremendous

1 war machine we've built since 1945, the "military-
2 industrial complex" that Eisenhower vainly warned
3 us about, which now dominates every aspect of our 4 life. The power of the states and Congress has 5 gradually been abandoned to the Executive Department, 6 because of war conditions; and we've seen the 7 creation of an arrogant, swollen bureaucratic complex
8 totally unfettered by the checks and balances of 9 the Constitution.

10
11 In a very real and terrifying sense, our Government
12 is the CIA and the Pentagon, with Congress reduced
13 to a debating society. Of course, you can't spot
14 this trend to fascism by casually looking around. You 15 can't look for such familiar signs as the swastika,
16 because they won't be there. We won't build 17 Dachaus and Auschwitzes; the clever manipulation of 18 the mass media is creating a concentration camp of the 19 mind that promises to be far more effective in keeping 20 the populace in line. We're not going to wake up one
21 morning and suddenly find ourselves in gray uniforms
22 goose-stepping off to work. But this isn't the test.
23 The test is: What happens to the individual who 24 dissents? In Nazi Germany he was physically 25 destroyed; here, the process is more subtle,
26 but the end results can be the same.

1 I've learned enough about the machinations of the 2 CIA in the past year to know that this is no
3 longer the dream world America I once believed
4 in. The imperatives of the population explosion,
5 which inevitably will lessen our belief in the 6 sanctity of the individual human life, combined
7 with the awesome power of the CIA and the 8 defense establishment, seem destined to seal the 9 fate of the America I knew as a child and bring 10 us into a new Orwellian world where the citizen
11 exists for the state and where raw power justifies 12 any and every immoral act. I've always had a 13 kind of knee-jerk trust in my Government's 14 basic integrity, whatever political blunders it may 15 make. But I've come to realize that in Washington, 16 deceiving and manipulating the public are viewed by 17 some as the natural prerogatives of office. Huey 18 Long once said, "Facism will come to America in the 19 name of anti-facism." I'm afraid, based on my 20 own experience that facism will come to America
21 in the name of national security.

KILLING MACHINE

DID NEVADA'S INNOVATIVE GAS CHAMBER INSPIRE HITLER?

BY SCOTT CHRISTIANSON

On February 8, 1924, in a stone-and-concrete shack that for 40 years had served as the Nevada state prison's barbershop, a Chinese immigrant and convicted killer named Gee Jon became the first person ever executed in a gas chamber. Inside the sealed room two wooden chairs with armrests had been positioned a few feet apart—Gee's accomplice had also been scheduled to die but received a commutation. In front of and between the chairs stood a small metal device that would spray hydrocyanic acid, commercially known as cyanogen. A state spokesman insisted one deep breath by the condemned man would paralyze his lungs, displace the oxygen in his body and cause instant and painless death. Witnesses would be spared any painful outcries.

Prior to the execution, the warden staged a rehearsal with a stray white cat and two kittens. He estimated the cats died within 15 seconds. The test revealed a small leak, which was quickly patched to avert the poisoning of witnesses or staff.

It appeared Gee needed about six minutes to die, though the gas clouding the windows made it difficult to see inside. The warden pronounced the method "a wonderful and humane way of execution." Unlike hanging (by which an inmate might suffer for up to 15 minutes), electrocution (which could take three or four jolts) or a firing squad (which sometimes didn't cause instant death), gas first produced unconsciousness. The state's largest newspaper, the Nevada State Journal, began its coverage by pronouncing, "Nevada's novel death law is upheld by the highest court—humanity."

Eighteen days after Gee's death, in Munich, a right-wing radical named Adolf Hitler went on trial for his role in the failed Beer Hall Putsch. The previous year U.S. newspapers had reported on Hitler's extraordinary ability to sway crowds and his deep hatred of Jews, Communists, Bolsheviks and liberals, as well as his embrace of the trappings of fascism that had been introduced in 1922 by Italy's Benito Mussolini.

One of Hitler's friends who visited him in jail and kept him abreast of developments in the U.S. was Ernst "Putzi" Hanfstaengl, a six-foot-four German American patrician graduate of Harvard and descendent of a Union army general who had helped carry Abraham Lincoln's coffin. When Hanfstaengl wasn't entertaining his friend with his piano playing, he stimulated Hitler's imagination with stirring accounts of skyscrapers, gangsters and college football chants. He also translated and read aloud from British and U.S. newspapers. Hitler had been gassed and temporarily blinded while serving on the front during World War I, so he already knew gas was an ugly, painful and unpredictable weapon, and he disclaimed its use in battle. He would have been interested to learn about what the Americans had done in Nevada.

After being convicted and receiving a five-year sentence, Hitler began composing his own political creed, which he first titled Eine Abrechnung (Settling Accounts) but later changed to Mein Kampf (My Struggle). He wrote, "If at the beginning of the war and during the war, 12 or 15,000 of these Hebrew corrupters of the people had been held under poison gas, as happened to hundreds of thousands of our very best German workers in the field, the sacrifice of millions at the front would not have been in vain." Decades later Lucy Dawidowicz, a historian of the Holocaust, wrote, "Did the idea of the final solution originate in this passage, germinating in Hitler's subconscious for some 15 years before it was to sprout into practical reality?"

Another biographer observed, "Hitler's concept of concentration camps as well as the practicality of genocide owed, so he claimed, to his studies of English and U.S. history. He admired the camps for Boer prisoners in South Africa and for the Indians in the Wild West, and he often praised to his inner circle the efficiency of America's extermination—by starvation and uneven combat—of the red savages who could not be tamed by captivity." Hitler learned about the American enslavement of blacks and Jim Crow laws enforcing racial segregation, about the shipment of Native Americans to faraway prisons via boxcars and recent court rulings

National Origins Act, which called for eugenic quotas."

Historians have not yet turned up direct evidence that Hitler's thinking was influenced by the first successful use of the gas chamber, but the event was in the headlines during his trial, imprisonment and the writing of Mein Kampf. At the same time, delegations of German officials, criminologists and legal scholars were touring the American penal system, inspecting prison conditions and methods of punishment. These visits were also widely reported in Germany and most certainly read by executives at certain chemical companies. After all, cyanide was their business.

upholding the involuntary sterilization of the unfit. Yet another historian noted that Mein Kampf displayed Hitler's "keen familiarity with the recently passed U.S.

DOES THE FIRST AMENDMENT PROTECT LAST WORDS?

That is the question posed in a 2001 law review article by Kevin Francis O'Neill, who was the lead counsel in a suit filed by the ACLU to prevent Ohio wardens from removing "offensive" language from the final statements of condemned prisoners. O'Neill notes that the Anglo-Saxon tradition of last words dates back to at least 1388; even accused witches and slaves were given the opportunity. Today, some states allow last words to be uttered only out of earshot of witnesses, while Texas gives its condemned an open microphone. Here are memorable examples of inmates exercising their right to free speech one final time. For more, see Robert Elder's new book, Last Words of the Executed (University of Chicago Press).

12 Many decisions are based on beliefs concerning the likelihood of 13 uncertain events such as the outcome of an election, the guilt
14 of a defendant, or the future value of the dollar. These 15 beliefs are usually expressed in statements such as "I think 16 that...", "chances are...", "it is unlikely that...", and so 17 forth. Occasionally, beliefs concerning uncertain events are 18 expressed in numerical form as odds or subjective
19 probabilities. What determines such beliefs? How do people
20 assess the probability of an uncertain event or the value
21 of an uncertain quantity? This article shows that people rely 22 on a limited number of heuristic principles which reduce the complex
23 tasks of assessing probabilities and predicting values to simpler
24 judgemental operations. In general, these heuristics are 25 quite useful, but sometimes they lead to severe and 26 systematic errors.

27 The subjective assessment of probability resembles the 28 subjective assessment of physical quantities such as distance or size. These judgements are all based on data of limited validity which are processed according to heuristic rules. For example, the apparent distance of an object is determined in part by its clarity. The more sharply the object is seen, the closer it appears to be. This rule has some validity, because in any given scene the more distant objects are seen less sharply than nearer objects. However, the reliance on this rule leads to systematic errors in the estimation of distance. Specifically, distances are often overestimated when visibility is poor because the contours of objects are blurred. On the other hand, distances are often underestimated when visibility is good because objects are seen sharply. Thus, the reliance on clarity as an indication of distance leads to common biases. Such biases are found in the intuitive judgement of probability. This article describes three heuristics that are employed to assess probabilities and to predict values. Biases to which these heuristics lead are enumerated, and the applied and theoretical implications of these observations are discussed.

REPRESENTATIVENESS

Many of the probabilistic questions for which people are concerned belong to one of the following types:

- What is the probability that object A belongs to class B?
- What is the probability that event A originates from process B?
- What is the probability that process B will generate event A?

1 In answering such questions, people typically rely on 2 the representativeness heuristic, in which probabilities are 3 evaluated by the degree to which A is representative
4 of B, that is, by the degree to which A resembles B.
5 For example, when A is highly representative of B,
6 the probability that A originates from B is judged
7 to be high. On the other hand, if A is not
8 similar to B, the probability that A originates
9 from B is judged to be low.

10 For an illustration of judgement by representativeness,
11 consider an individual who has been described by a 12 former neighbor as follows: "Steve is very shy and 13 withdrawn, invariably helpful, but with little interest
14 in people, or in the world of reality. A meek and 15 tidy soul, he has a need for order and structure,
16 and a passion for detail." How do people assess
17 the probability that Steve is engaged in a particular 18 occupation from a list of possibilities (for example, 19 farmer, salesman, airline pilot, librarian, or physician)?
20 How do people order these occupations from most to 21 least likely? In the representativeness heuristic,
22 the probability that Steve is a librarian, for example,
23 is assessed by the degree to which he is representative
24 of, or similar to, the stereotype of a librarian.
25 Indeed, research with problems of this type has shown that 26 people order the occupations by probability and by similarity
27 in exactly the same way.⁷ This approach to the judgement 28 of probability leads to serious errors, because similarity, or

1 representativeness, is not influenced by several 2 factors that should affect judgements of 3 probability.

4 Insensitivity to prior outcomes. One of the 5 factors that have no effect on representativeness
6 but should have a major effect on probability is the 7 prior probability, or base-rate frequency, of the 8 outcomes. In the case of Steve, for example,
9 the fact that there are many more farmers than 10 librarians in the population should enter into any 11 reasonable estimate of the possibility that Steve 12 is a librarian rather than a farmer. Considerations 13 of base-rate frequency, however, do not affect the 14 similarity of Steve to the stereotypes of librarians
15 and farmers. If people evaluate possibility of 16 representativeness, therefore, prior possibilities will 17 be neglected. This hypothesis was tested in an 18 experiment where prior probabilities were manipulated.²

19 Subjects were shown brief personality descriptions
20 of several individuals, allegedly sampled at random 21 from a group of 100 professionals—engineers and 22 lawyers. The subjects were asked to assess:
23 for each description, the probability that it belonged
24 to an engineer rather than a lawyer. In one 25 experimental condition, subjects were told that the 26 group from which the descriptions had been drawn 27 consisted of 70 engineers and 30 lawyers. In 28 another condition, subjects were told that the

1 group consisted of 30 engineers and 70 lawyers.
2 The odds that any particular description belongs
3 to an engineer rather than to a lawyer should 4 be higher in the first condition, where there is a
5 majority of engineers, than in the second
6 condition, where there is a majority of lawyers.
7 Specifically, it can be shown by applying Bayes'
8 rule that the ratio of these odds should be 9 $(.7/.3)^2$, or 5.44, for each description. In a
10 sharp violation of Bayes' rule, the subjects 11 in the two conditions produced essentially the 12 same probability judgements. Apparently, subjects
13 evaluated the likelihood that a particular description
14 belonged to an engineer rather than to a lawyer
15 by the degree to which this description was 16 representative of the two stereotypes, with little 17 or no regard for the prior ~~probabilities~~ ~~of the~~ 18 probabilities of the categories.

19 The subjects used prior probabilities correctly
20 when they had no other information. In the 21 absence of a personality sketch, they judged the 22 probability that an unknown individual is an engineer
23 to be .7 and .3, respectively, in the two base-rate
24 conditions. However, prior probabilities were 25 effectively ignored when a description was introduced,
26 even when the description was totally uninformative.
27 The responses to the description illustrate this 28 phenomenon.

1 Dick is a 30-year-old man. He is married
2 with no children. A man of high
3 ability and high motivation, he promises
4 to be quite successful in his field.
5 He is well liked by his colleagues.
6

7 This description was intended to convey no information
8 relevant to the question of whether Dick is an 9 engineer or a lawyer. Consequently, the probability
10 that Dick is an engineer should equal the proportion 11 of engineers in the group, as if no description had 12 been given. The subjects, however, judged the 13 probability of Dick being an engineer to be .5
14 regardless of whether the stated proportion of 15 engineers in the group was .7 or .3. Evidently,
16 people respond differently when given no evidence
17 and when given worthless evidence. When no
18 specific evidence is given, prior probabilities are 19 properly utilized; when worthless evidence is given,
20 prior probabilities are ignored.³

21 Insensitivity to sample size. To evaluate the 22 probability of obtaining a particular result in a sample 23 drawn from a specific population, people typically 24 apply the representativeness heuristic. That is,
25 they assess the likelihood of a sample result,
26 for example, that the average height in a 27 random sample of ten men will be 6 feet, by 28 the similarity of this result to the corresponding

1 parameter (that is to the average height in the 2 population of men). The similarity of a simple
3 statistic to a population parameter does not 4 depend on the size of the sample. Consequently,
5 if probabilities are assessed by representativeness,
6 that the judged probability of a sample statistic
7 will be essentially independent of sample size.
8 Indeed, when subjects assessed the distributions
9 of average height for samples of various sizes,
10 they produced identical distributions. For example,
11 the probability of obtaining an average height greater 12 than 6 feet was assigned the same value for 13 samples of 1000, 100, and 10 men.⁴ Moreover,
14 subjects failed to appreciate the role of sample
15 size even when it was emphasized in the formulation
16 of the problem. Consider the following question:

18 A certain town is served by two hospitals.
19 In the larger hospital about 45 babies
20 are born each day; and in the smaller
21 hospital about 15 babies are born each day.
22 As you know, 50% of all babies are boys.
23 However, the exact percentage varies from day
24 to day. Sometimes it may be higher than 25 50%, sometimes lower.
26 For a period of 1 year, each hospital
27 recorded the days on which more than 60%
28 of the babies born were boys.

1 which hospital do you think recorded
2 more such days?

3 The larger hospital (~~20~~) (21)

4 The smaller hospital (21)

5 About the same (that is,
6 within 5% of each other) (53)

8 The values in parenthesis are the number of 9 undergraduate students who chose each answer.

10 Most subjects judged the probability of 11 obtaining more than 60% boys to be the same in 12 the small and in the large hospital, presumably 13 because these events are described by the same 14 statistic and are therefore equally representative of 15 the general population. In contrast, sampling
16 theory entails that the expected number of days
17 on which more than 60% of the babies are boys is 18 much greater in the small hospital than in the 19 large one, because a large sample is less likely 20 to stray from 50%. This fundamental notion 21 of statistics is evidently not part of people's 22 repertoire of intuitions.

23 A similar insensitivity to sample size has 24 been reported in judgements of posterior probability, 25 that is, of the probability that a sample has been 26 drawn from one population rather than from another.
27 Consider the following example:

28

1 Imagine an urn filled with balls of which
2 $\frac{2}{3}$ are of one color and $\frac{1}{3}$ of another.
3 One individual has drawn 5 balls from 4 the urn, and found that 4 were red and
5 1 was white. Another individual has drawn 6 20 balls and found that 12 were red and 7 8 were white. Which of the two individuals
8 should feel more confident that the urn
9 contains $\frac{2}{3}$ red balls and $\frac{1}{3}$ white balls,
10 rather than the opposite? What odds
11 should each individual give?

13 In this problem, the correct posterior odds are 14 8 to 1 for the 4:1 sample and 16 to 1 for the 12:8
15 sample, assuming equal prior probabilities. However, most 16 people feel that the first sample provides much stronger
17 evidence for the hypothesis that the urn is predominantly 18 red, because the proportion of red balls is larger in the 19 first than in the second sample. Here again,
20 intuitive judgements are dominated by the sample 21 proportion and are essentially unaffected by the size of 22 the sample, which plays a critical role in the 23 determination of the actual posterior odds.⁵ In addition,
24 intuitive estimates of posterior odds are far less
25 extreme than the correct values. The underestimation
26 of the impact of evidence has been observed
27 repeatedly in problems of this type.⁶ It has 28 been labeled "conservatism".

1 Misconceptions of chance. People expect that a
2 sequence of events generated by a random process
3 will represent the essential characteristics of that 4 process even when the sequence is short. In 5 considering tosses of a coin for heads or tails, for 6 example, people regard the sequence H-T-H-T-T-H
7 to be more likely than the sequence H-H-H-T-T-T,
8 which does not appear random; and also more
9 likely than the sequence H-H-H-H-T-H, which 10 does not represent the fairness of the coin.
11 Thus, people expect that the essential characteristics
12 of the process will be represented, not only globally
13 in the entire sequence, but also locally in each of 14 its parts. A locally representative sequence, however,
15 deviates systematically from chance expectation:
16 it contains too many alternations and too few runs.
17 Another consequence of the belief in local 18 representativeness is the well-known gambler's fallacy.
19 After observing a long run of red on the roulette
20 wheel, for example, most people erroneously believe 21 that black is now due, presumably because the 22 occurrence of black will result in a more 23 representative sequence than the occurrence of an 24 additional red. Chance is commonly viewed as a self-
25 correcting process in which a deviation in one direction
26 induces a deviation in the opposite direction to restore
27 the equilibrium. In fact, deviations are not "corrected"
28 as a chance process unfolds; they are merely diluted.

1 Misconceptions of chance are not limited to 2 naive subjects. A study of the statistical
3 institutions of experienced research psychologists⁸
4 revealed a lingering belief in what may be 5 called "the law of small numbers," according to 6 which even small samples are highly representative
7 of the populations from which they are drawn.

8 The responses of these investigators reflected 9 the expectation that a valid hypothesis about a
10 population will be represented by a statistically
11 significant result in a sample with little regard
12 for its size. As a consequence, the researchers
13 put too much faith in the results of small samples 13 and grossly overestimated the replicability of such 14 results. In the actual conduct of research, this 15 bias leads to the selection of samples of inadequate
16 size and to overinterpretation of findings.

17 Insensitivity to predictability. People
18 are sometimes called upon to make such numerical 19 predictions as the future value of stock, the 20 demand for a commodity, or the outcome of a
21 football game. Such predictions are often made by representativeness.
22 For example, suppose one is given a description of a company
23 and is asked to predict its future profit. If the 24 description of the company is very favorable, a very high
25 profit will appear most representative of that description;
26 if the description is mediocre, a mediocre performance will 27 appear most representative. The degree to which

NO. 1210652 E H.D.S.P.
P.O. Box 650
Indian Springs, NV 89070-0650

1 the description is favorable is unaffected by the reliability
2 of that description or by the degree to which it permits
3 accurate prediction. Hence, if people predict solely in 4 terms of the favorableness of the description, their 5 predictions will be insensitive to the reliability of the 6 evidence and to the expected accuracy of the prediction.

7 This mode of judgement violates the normative statistical
8 theory in which the extremeness and the range of predictions
9 are controlled by considerations of predictability. When 10 predictability is nil, the same prediction should be made in 11 all cases. For example, if the descriptions of companies
12 provide no information relevant to profit, then the same value
13 (such as average profit) should be predicted for all companies.
14 If predictability is perfect, of course, the values predicted
15 will match the actual values and the range of predictions 16 will equal the range of outcomes. In general, the higher the 17 predictability, the wider the range of predicted values.

18 Several studies of numerical prediction have demonstrated
19 that intuitive predictions violate this rule, and that subjects
20 show little or no regard for considerations of predictability.⁹
21 In one of these studies, subjects were presented with several 22 paragraphs, each describing the performance of a student teacher
23 during a particular practice lesson. Some subjects were asked to 24 evaluate the quality of a lesson described in the paragraph in 25 percentile scores, relative to a specified population. Other 26 subjects were asked to predict, also in percentile scores,
27 the standing of each student teacher 5 years after the practice
28 lesson. The judgements made under the two conditions were identical.

P.O. Box 650
Indian Springs, NV 89070-0650

1 That is, the prediction of a remote criterion (success of a teacher after 2 5 years) was identical to the evaluation of the information on which 3 the prediction was based (the quality of the practice lesson). The 4 students who made these predictions were undoubtedly aware of the 5 limited predictability of teaching competence on the basis of a single 6 trial lesson 5 years earlier; nevertheless, their predictions were as extreme 7 as their evaluations.

8 The illusion of validity. As we have seen, people often predict by 9 selecting the outcome (for example, an occupation) that is most 10 representative of the input (for example, the description of a person).
11 The confidence they have in their prediction depends primarily on the 12 degree of representativeness (that is, on the quality of the match 13 between the selected outcome and the input) with little or no regard 14 for the factors that limit predictive accuracy. Thus, people express 15 great confidence in the prediction that a person is a librarian when given 16 a description of his personality which matches the stereotype of 17 librarians, even if the description is scanty, unreliable, or outdated.

18 The unwarranted confidence which is produced by a good fit between 19 the predicted outcome and the input information may be called the 20 illusion of validity. This illusion persists even when the judge is 22 aware of the factors that limit the accuracy of his predictions. It is 23 a common observation that psychologists who conduct selection interviews 24 often experience considerable confidence in their predictions, even when 25 they know of the vast literature that shows selection interviews to 26 be highly fallible. The continued reliance on the clinical interview for 27 selection, despite repeated demonstrations of its inadequacy, amply 28 attests to the strength of this effect.

29 The internal consistency of a pattern of inputs is a major detriment

no. 1210632 @ H.D.S.P.
P.O. Box 650
Indian Springs, NV 89070-0650

1 of one's confidence in predictions based on these inputs. For example,
2 people express more confidence in predicting the final grade point
3 average of a student whose first-year record includes many A's
4 and C's. Highly consistent patterns are most often observed when 5 the input variables are highly redundant or correlated. Hence,
6 people tend to have great confidence in predictions based on redundant
7 input variables. However, an elementary result in the statistics of 8 correlation asserts that, given input variables of stated validity,
9 a prediction based on several such inputs can achieve higher 10 accuracy when they are independent of each other than when they 11 are redundant or correlated. Thus, redundancy among inputs 12 decreases accuracy even as it increases confidence, and people are 13 often confident in predictions that are quite likely to be off the mark.
14 Misconceptions of regression. Suppose a large group of 15 children has been examined on two equivalent versions of an aptitude 16 test. If one selects ten children from among those who did best on 17 one of the two versions, he will usually find their performance on 18 the second version to be somewhat disappointing. Conversely, if 19 one selects ten children from among those who did worst on one
20 version, they will be found, on the average, to do somewhat better
21 on the other version. More generally, consider two variables X and Y
22 which have the same distribution. If one selects individuals whose 23 average X score deviates from the means of X by k units, then 24 the average of their Y scores will usually deviate from the mean of 25 Y by less than k units. These observations illustrate a general 26 phenomenon known as regression toward the mean, which was 27 first documented by Galton more than 100 years ago.
28

P.O. Box 650
Indian Springs, NV 89070-0650

1 In the normal course of life, one encounters many instances
2 of regression toward the mean, in the comparison of the height
3 of fathers and sons, of the intelligence of husbands and wives, or 4 of the performance of individuals on consecutive examinations.
5 Nevertheless, people do not develop correct intuitions about this 6 phenomenon. First, they do not expect regression in many contexts
7 where it is bound to occur. Second, when they recognize the 8 occurrence of regression, they often invent spurious causal 9 explanations for it. We suggest that the phenomenon of 10 regression remains elusive because it is incompatible with the belief 11 that the predicted outcome should be maximally representative of the 12 input, and, hence, that the value of the outcome variable should be 13 as extreme as the value of the input variable.

14 The failure to recognize the import of regression can have 15 pernicious consequences, as illustrated by the following observation.¹²
16 In a discussion of flight training, experienced instructors noted that 17 praise for an exceptionally smooth landing is typically followed by a 18 poorer landing on the next try, while harsh criticism after a rough 19 landing is usually followed by an improvement on the next try. The 20 instructors concluded that verbal rewards are detrimental to learning,
21 while verbal punishments are beneficial, contrary to accepted
22 psychological doctrine. This conclusion is unwarranted because of the 23 presence of regression toward the mean. As in other cases of 24 repeated examination, an improvement will usually follow a poor
25 performance and a deterioration will usually follow an outstanding 26 performance, even if the instructor does not respond to the 27 trainee's achievement on the first attempt. Because the 28 instructors had praised their trainees after good landings and

P.O. Box 650
Indian Springs, NV 89070-0650

admonished them after poor ones, they reached the erroneous and potentially harmful conclusion that punishment is more effective than reward.

Thus, the failure to understand the effect of regression leads one to overestimate the effectiveness of punishment and to underestimate the effectiveness of reward. In social interaction, as well as in training, rewards are typically administered when performance is good, and punishments are typically administered when performance is poor. By regression alone, therefore, behavior is most likely to improve after punishment and most likely to deteriorate after reward. Consequently, the human condition is such that, by chance alone, one is most often rewarded for punishing others and most often punished for rewarding them. People are generally not aware of this contingency. In fact, the elusive role of regression in determining the apparent consequences of reward and punishment seems to have escaped the notice of students of this area.

AVAILABILITY

There are situations in which people assess the frequency of a class or the probability of an event by the ease with which instances or occurrences can be brought to mind. For example, one may assess the risk of heart attack among middle-aged people by recalling such occurrences among one's acquaintances. Similarly, one may evaluate the probability that a given business venture will fail by imagining various difficulties it could encounter. This judgemental heuristic is called availability. Availability is a useful clue for assessing frequency or probability, because instances of large classes are usually recalled better and faster than

NO. 1210052 C H.U.D.P.
P.O. Box 650
Indian Springs, NV 89070-0650

1 instances of less frequent classes. However, availability is 2 affected by factors other than frequency and probability.
3 Consequently, the reliance on availability leads to predictable
4 biases, some of which are illustrated below.

5 Biases due to the retrievability of instances. when the 6 size of a class is judged by the availability of its instances,
7 a class whose instances are easily retrieved will appear more
8 numerous than a class of equal frequency whose instances are 9 less retrievable. In an elementary demonstration of this effect,
10 subjects heard a list of well-known personalities of both sexes
11 and were subsequently asked to judge whether the list contained 12 more names of men than of women. Different lists were 13 presented to different groups of subjects. In some of the lists 14 the men were relatively more famous than the women, and in 15 others the women were relatively more famous than the men.
16 In each of the lists, the subjects erroneously judged that 17 the class (sex) that had the more famous personalities was 18 the more numerous.¹³

19 In addition to familiarity, there are other factors, such as 20 salience, which affect the retrievability of instances. For example, 21 the impact of seeing a house burning on the subjective probability of 22 such accidents is probably greater than the impact of reading
23 about a fire in the local paper. Furthermore, recent 24 occurrences are likely to be relatively more available than earlier
25 occurrences. It is a common experience that the subjective 26 probability of traffic accidents rises temporarily when one
27 sees a car overturned by the side of the road.

Biases due to the effectiveness of a search set.

Suppose one samples a word (of three letters or more) at random from an English text. Is it more likely that the word starts with r or that r is the third letter? People approach this problem by recalling words that begin with r (roar) and words that have r in the third position (car) and assess the relative frequency by the ease with which words of the two types come to mind. Because it is much easier to search for words by their first letter than by their third letter, most people judge words that begin with a given consonant to be more numerous than words in which the same consonant appears in the third position. They do so even for consonants, such as r or k, that are more frequent in the third position than in the first.

Different tasks elicit different search sets. For example, suppose you are asked to rate the frequency with which abstract words (thought, love) and concrete words (door, water) appear in written English. A natural way to answer this question is to search for contexts in which the word could appear. It seems easier to think of contexts in which an abstract concept is mentioned (love in love stories) than to think of contexts in which a concrete word (such as door) is mentioned. If the frequency of words is judged by the availability of the contexts in which they appear, abstract words will be judged as relatively more numerous than concrete words. This bias has been observed in a recent study¹⁵ which showed that the judged frequency of occurrence of abstract words was much higher than that of concrete words, equated in objective frequency. Abstract words were also judged to appear in a much greater variety of contexts than concrete words.

Biases of imaginability. Sometimes one has to assess the frequency of a class whose instances are not stored in memory but can be generated according to a given rule. In such situations, one typically generates several instances and evaluates frequency or probability by the ease with which the relevant instances can be constructed. However, the ease of constructing instances does not always reflect their actual frequency, and this mode of evaluation is prone to biases. To illustrate, consider a group of 10 people who form committees of k members, $2 \leq k \leq 8$. How many different committees of k members can be formed? The correct answer to this problem is given by the binomial coefficient $(10/k)$ which reaches a maximum of 252 for $k=5$. Clearly, the number of committees of k members defines a unique group of $(10-k)$ nonmembers.

One way to answer this question without computation is to mentally construct committees of k members and to evaluate their number by the ease with which they come to mind.

Committees of few members, say 2, are more available than committees of many members, say 8. The simplest scheme for the construction of committees is a partition of the group into disjoint sets. One readily sees that it is easy to construct five disjoint committees of 2 members, while it is impossible to generate even two disjoint committees of 8 members. Consequently, if frequency is assigned by imaginability, or by availability for construction, the small committees will appear more numerous than larger committees, in contrast to the correct bell-shaped function. Indeed, when naive subjects were asked to estimate the number of distinct committees of various sizes, their estimates were a decreasing ~~or~~ monotonic function of committee size.¹⁶ For example, the median estimate of the number of committees of 2 members was 70, while the estimate for committees of 8 members was 20 (the correct answer is 45 in both cases).

Imaginability plays an important role in the evaluation of probabilities in real-life situations. The risk involved in an adventurous expedition, for example, is evaluated by imagining contingencies with which the expedition is not equipped to cope. If many such difficulties are vividly portrayed, the expedition can be made to appear exceedingly dangerous, although the ease with which disasters are imagined need not reflect their actual likelihood. Conversely, the risk involved in an undertaking may be grossly underestimated if some possible dangers are either difficult to conceive of or simply do not come to mind.

Illusory correlation. Chapman and Chapman¹⁷ have described an interesting bias in the judgement of the frequency with which two events co-occur. They presented naive judges with information concerning several hypothetical mental patients. The data for each patient consisted of a clinical diagnosis and a drawing of a person made by the patient. Later the judges estimated the frequency with which each diagnosis (such as paranoia or suspiciousness) had been accompanied by various features of the drawing (such as peculiar eyes). The subjects markedly overestimated the frequency of co-occurrence of natural associates, such as suspiciousness and peculiar eyes. This effect was labelled illusory correlation. In their erroneous

Indian Springs, NV 89070-0650

1 judgements of the data, to which they had been exposed,
2 naive subjects "rediscovered" much of the common, but 3 unfounded, clinical lore concerning the interpretation of the 4 draw-a-person tests. The illusory correlation effect was 5 extremely resistant to contradictory data. It persisted
6 even when the correlation between symptoms and diagnosis
7 was actually negative, and it prevented the judges from 8 detecting relationships that were in fact present.

9 Availability provides a natural account for the illusory-
10 correlation effect. The judgement of how frequently
11 two events co-occur could be based on the strength
12 of the associative bond between them. When the 13 association is strong, one is likely to conclude that the 14 events have been frequently paired. Consequently, strong
15 associates will be judged to have occurred together frequently.
16 According to this view, the illusory correlation between 17 suspiciousness and peculiar drawing of the eyes, for example,
18 is due to the fact that suspiciousness is more readily
19 associated with the eyes than with any other part of the body.

20 Lifelong experience has taught us that, in general, 21 instances of large classes are recalled better and faster than 22 instances of less frequent classes; that likely occurrences are 23 easier to imagine than unlikely ones; and that the associative
24 connections between events are strengthened when the events
25 frequently co-occur. As a result, man has at his disposal 26 a procedure (the availability heuristic) for estimating the 27 numerosity of a class, the likelihood of an event, or the 28 frequency of co-occurrences, by the ease with which the relevant mental operations of retrieval, construction, or association can be performed. However, as the preceding examples have demonstrated, this valuable estimation procedure results in systematic errors.

P.O. Box 650
Indian Springs, NV 89070-0650

ADJUSTMENT AND ANCHORING

In many situations, people make estimates by starting from an initial value that is adjusted to yield the final answer. The initial value, or starting point, may be suggested by the formulation of the problem, or it may be the result of a partial computation. In either case, adjustments are typically insufficient.¹⁸ That is, different starting points yield different estimates, which are biased toward the initial values. We call this phenomenon anchoring.

Insufficient adjustment. In a demonstration of the anchoring effect, subjects were asked to estimate various quantities, stated in percentages (for example, the percentage of African countries in the United Nations). For each quantity, a number between 0 and 100 was determined by spinning a wheel of fortune in the subjects' presence. The subjects were instructed to indicate first whether that number was higher or lower than the value of the quantity, and then to estimate the value of the quantity by moving upward or downward from the given number. Different groups were given different numbers for each quantity, and these arbitrary numbers had a marked effect on estimates. For example, the median estimates of the percentage of African countries in the United Nations were 25 and 45 for groups that received 10 and 65, respectively, as starting points. Payoffs for accuracy did not reduce the anchoring effects.

Po Box 650
Indian Springs, NV 89070-0650

Anchoring occurs not only when the starting point is given to the subject, but also when the subject bases his estimate on the result of some incomplete computation. A study of intuitive numerical estimation illustrates this effect.

Two groups of high school students estimated, within 5 seconds, a numerical expression that was written on the blackboard. One group estimated the product

$$8 \times 7 \times 6 \times 5 \times 4 \times 3 \times 2 \times 1$$

while another group estimated the product

$$1 \times 2 \times 3 \times 4 \times 5 \times 6 \times 7 \times 8$$

To rapidly answer such questions, people may perform a few steps of computation and estimate the product by extrapolation or adjustment. Because adjustments are typically insufficient, this procedure should lead to underestimation. Furthermore, because of the result of the first few steps of multiplication (performed from left to right) is higher in the descending sequence than in the ascending sequence, the former expression should be judged larger than the latter. Both predictions were confirmed. The median estimate for the ascending sequence was 512, while the median estimate for the descending sequence was 2,250. The correct answer is 40,320.

Biases in the evaluation of conjunctive and disjunctive events.

In a recent study by Bar-Hillel¹⁹ subjects were given the opportunity to bet on one of two events. Three types of events were used: (i) simple events, such as drawing a red marble from a bag containing 50% red marbles and 50% white marbles; (ii) conjunctive events, such as drawing a red marble seven times in succession, with replacement, from a bag containing 90% red marbles and 10% white marbles; and (iii) disjunctive events, such as drawing a red marble at least once in seven successive tries, with replacement, from a bag containing 10% red marbles and 9% white marbles. In this problem, a significant majority of subjects preferred to bet on the conjunctive event (the probability of which is .48) rather than on the simple event (the probability of which is .50). Subjects also preferred to bet on the simple event rather than on the disjunctive event, which has a probability of .52. Thus, most subjects bet on the less likely event in both comparisons. This pattern of choices illustrates a general finding. Studies of choice among gambles and of judgements of probability indicate that people tend to overestimate the probability of conjunctive events²⁰ and to underestimate the probability of disjunctive events. These biases are readily explained as effects of anchoring. The stated probability of the elementary event (success at any one stage) provides a natural starting point for the estimation of the probabilities of both conjunctive and disjunctive events. Since adjustment from the starting point is typically insufficient, the final estimates remain too close to the probabilities of the elementary events in both cases. Note that the overall probability of a conjunctive event is lower than the probability of each elementary event, whereas the overall probability of a disjunctive event is higher than the probability of each elementary event. As a consequence of anchoring, the overall probability will be overestimated in conjunctive problems and underestimated in disjunctive problems.

P.O. Box 650

Biases in the evaluation of compound events are particularly significant in the context of planning. The successful completion of an undertaking, such as the development of a new product, typically has a conjunctive character: for the undertaking to succeed, each of a series of events must occur. Even when each of these events is very likely, the overall probability of success can be quite low if the number of events is large. The general tendency to overestimate the probability of conjunctive events leads to unwarranted optimism in the evaluation of the likelihood that a plan will succeed or that a project will be completed on time. Conversely, disjunctive structures are typically encountered in the evaluation of risks. A complex system, such as a nuclear reactor or a human body, will malfunction if any of its essential components fails. Even when the likelihood of failure in each component is slight, the probability of an overall failure can be high if many components are involved. Because of anchoring, people will tend to underestimate the probabilities of failure in complex systems. Thus, the direction of the anchoring bias can sometimes be inferred from the structure of the event. The chain-like structure of conjunction leads to overestimation, the funnel-like structure of disjunctions leads to underestimation.

PO Box 650
Indian Springs, NV 89070-0650

Anchoring in the assessment of subjective probability distributions. In decision analysis, experts are often required to express their beliefs about a quantity, such as the value of the Dow Jones average on a particular day, in the form of a probability distribution. Such a distribution is usually constructed by asking the person to select values of the quantity that correspond to specified percentiles of his subjective probability distribution. For example, the judge may be asked to select a number, X_{90} , such that his subjective probability that this number will be higher than the value of the Dow Jones average is .90. That is, he should select the value X_{90} so that he is just willing to accept 9 to 1 odds that the Dow Jones average will not exceed it. A subjective probability distribution for the value of the Dow Jones average can be constructed from several such judgements corresponding to different percentiles.

By collecting subjective probability distributions for many different quantities, it is possible to test the judge for proper calibration. A judge is properly (or externally) calibrated in a set of problems if exactly 11% of the true values of the assessed quantities falls below his stated values of X_{90} . For example, the true values should fall below X_{90} for 1% of the quantities and above X_{90} for

Indian Springs, NV 89070-0650

1 1% of the quantities. Thus, the true values should fall in 2 the confidence interval between X_{01} and X_{99} on 98% of 3 the problems.

4 Several investigators²¹ have obtained probability distribution
5 for many quantities from a large number of judges. These 6 distributions indicated large and systematic departures from 7 proper calibration. In most studies, the actual values of the 8 assessed quantities are either smaller than X_{01} or greater than 9 X_{99} for about 30% of the problems. That is, the subjects
10 state overly narrow confidence intervals which reflect more 11 certainty than is justified by their knowledge about the 12 assessed quantities. This bias is common to naive and 13 to sophisticated subjects, and it is not eliminated by 14 introducing proper scoring rules, which provide incentives
15 for external calibration. This effect is attributable, 16 in part at least to anchoring.

17 To select X_{90} for the value of the Dow Jones
18 average, for example, it is natural to begin by thinking
19 about one's best estimate of the Dow Jones and to adjust
20 this value upward. If this adjustment—like most others—
21 is insufficient, then X_{90} will not be sufficiently extreme. A 22 similar anchoring effect will occur in the selection of X_{10} , which 23 is presumably obtained by adjusting one's best estimate
24 downward. Consequently, the confidence interval between X_{10}
25 and X_{90} will be too narrow, and the assessed probability 26 distribution will be too tight. In support of this interpretation it can 27 be shown that subjective probabilities are systematically altered by a procedure in 28 which one's best estimate does not serve as an anchor.

Po Box 650
Indian Springs, NV 89070-0650

Subjective probability distributions for a given quantity (the Dow Jones average) can be obtained in two different ways: (i) by asking the subject to select values of the Dow Jones that correspond to specified percentiles of his probability distribution and (ii) by asking the subject to assess the probabilities that the true value of the Dow Jones will exceed some specified values. The two procedures are formally equivalent and should yield identical distributions. However, they suggest different modes of adjustment from different anchors. In procedure (i), the natural starting point is one's best estimate of the quantity. In procedure (ii), on the other hand, the subject may be anchored on the value stated in the question. Alternatively, he may be anchored on even odds, or a 50-50 chance, which is a natural starting point in the estimation of likelihood. In either case, procedure (ii) should yield less extreme odds than procedure (i).

To contrast the two procedures, a set of 24 quantities (such as the air distance from New Delhi to Peking) was presented to a group of subjects who assessed either X_{10} or X_{90} for each problem. Another group of subjects received the median judgement of the first group for each of the 24 quantities. They were asked to assess the odds that each of the given values exceeded the true value of the relevant quantity. In the absence of any bias, the second group should retrieve the odds specified to the first group, that is 9:1. However, if even odds or the stated value serve as anchors, the odds of the second group should be less extreme, that is, closer to 1:1. Indeed, the median odds stated by this group, across all problems, were 3:1.

PO Box 650
Indian Springs, NV 89070

When the judgements of the two groups were tested for external calibration, it was found that subjects in the first group were too extreme, in accord with earlier studies. The events that they defined as having a probability of .10 actually obtained in 24% of the cases. In contrast, subjects in the second group were too conservative. Events to which they assigned an average probability of .34 actually obtained in 26% of the cases. These results illustrate the manner in which the degree of calibration depends on the procedure of elicitation.

DISCUSSION

This article has been concerned with cognitive biases that stem from the reliance on judgemental heuristics. These biases are not attributable to motivational effects such as wishful thinking or the distortion of judgements by payoffs and penalties. Indeed, several of the severe errors of judgement reported earlier occurred despite the fact that subjects were encouraged to be accurate and were rewarded for the correct answers.

The reliance on heuristics and the prevalence of biases are not restricted to laymen. Experienced researchers are also prone to the same biases when they think intuitively.

For example, the tendency to predict the outcome that best represents the data, with insufficient regard for prior probability, has been observed in the intuitive judgements of individuals who have had extensive training in statistics.

Although the statistically sophisticated avoid elementary errors, such as the gambler's fallacy, their intuitive judgements

PO Box 650
Indian Springs, NV 89070

are liable to similar fallacies in more intricate and less transparent problems.

It is not surprising that useful heuristics such as representativeness and availability are retained, even though they occasionally lead to errors in prediction or estimation.

What is perhaps ~~more~~ surprising is the failure of people to infer from lifelong experience such fundamental statistical rules as regression toward the mean, or the effect of sample size on sampling variability. Although everyone is exposed, in the normal course of life, to numerous examples from which these rules could have been induced, very few people discover the principles of sampling and regression on their own. Statistical principles are not learned from everyday experience because the relevant instances are not coded appropriately.

For example, people do not discover that successive lines in a text differ more in average word length than do successive pages, because they simply do not attend to the average word length of individual lines or pages. Thus, people do not learn the relation between sample size and sampling variability, although the data for ~~forming~~ such learning are abundant.

The lack of an appropriate code also explains why people usually do not detect the biases in their judgements of probability. A person could conceivably learn whether his judgements are externally calibrated by keeping a tally of the proportion of events that actually occur among those to which he assigns the same probability. However, it is not natural to group events by their judged probability. In the absence of such grouping it is impossible for an individual to

Po Box 650

discover, for example, that only 50% of the predictions to which he has assigned a probability of .9 or higher actually came true.

The empirical analysis of cognitive biases has implications for the theoretical and applied role of judged probabilities. Modern decision theory²⁴ regards subjective probability as the quantification of an idealized person. Specifically, the subjective probability of a given event is defined by the set of bets about this event that such a person is willing to accept. An internally consistent, or coherent, subjective probability measure can be derived for an individual if his choices among bets satisfy certain principles, that is, the axioms of the theory. The derived probability is subjective in the sense that different individuals are allowed to have different probabilities for the same event. The major contribution of this approach is that it provides a rigorous subjective interpretation of probability that is applicable to unique events and is embedded in a general theory of rational decision.

It should perhaps be noted that, while subjective probabilities can sometimes be inferred from preferences among bets, they are normally not formed in this fashion. A person bets on team A rather than team B because he believes that team A is more likely to win; he does not infer this belief from his betting preferences. Thus, in reality, subjective probabilities determine preferences among bets and are not derived from them, as in the axiomatic theory of rational decision.²⁵

The inherently subjective nature of probability has led many students.

Po Box 650
Indian Springs, NV 89070

1 to the belief that coherence, or internal consistency, is the 2 only valid criterion by which judged probabilities should be 3 evaluated. From the standpoint of the formal theory of 4 subjective probability, any set of internally consistent
5 probability judgements is as good as any other. This criterion
6 is not entirely satisfactory, because an internally consistent set
7 of subjective probabilities can be incompatible with other beliefs
8 held by the individual. Consider a person whose subjective
9 probabilities for all possible outcomes of a coin-tossing game
10 reflect the gambler's fallacy. That is, his estimate of the 11 probability of tails on a particular toss increases with the 12 number of consecutive heads that preceded that toss. The 13 judgements of such a person could be internally consistent and 14 therefore acceptable as adequate subjective probabilities according 15 to the criterion of the formal theory. These probabilities, 16 however, are incompatible with the generally held belief that a 17 coin has no memory and is therefore incapable of generating 18 sequential dependencies. For judged probabilities to be considered 19 adequate, or rational, internal consistency is not enough. The 20 judgements must be compatible with the entire web of beliefs held 21 by the individual. Unfortunately, there can be no simple formal 22 procedure for assessing the compatibility of a set of probability 23 judgements with the judge's total system of beliefs. The rational 24 judge will nevertheless strive for compatibility, even though 25 internal consistency is more easily achieved and assessed. In 26 particular, he will attempt to make his probability judgements
27 compatible with his knowledge about the subject matter, the laws
28 of probability, and his own judgemental heuristics and biases.

SUMMARY

This article described three heuristics that are employed in making judgements under uncertainty: (i) representativeness, which is usually employed when people are asked to judge the probability that an object or event A belongs to class or process B; (ii) availability of instances or scenarios, which is often employed when people are asked to assess the frequency of a class or the plausibility of a particular development; and (iii) adjustment from an anchor, which is usually employed in numerical prediction when a relevant value is available. These heuristics are highly economical and usually effective, but they lead to systematic and predictable errors. A better understanding of these heuristics and of the biases to which they lead could improve judgements and decisions in situations of uncertainty.

ATTACHED EXHIBIT(S)

WHEREFORE, the Plaintiff-in-error-petitioner-appellant prays that a competent reader of this document (preferably the judge who is to NOT be biased) has had some time to let this all sink in while these pleadings seem to be lost within the bureaucratic ineptitude and temerity of Clark County and the careless State of Nevada. In observing the next few pages, further proof substantiating grounds from page No. 1 will illustrate just how dereliction of duty added insult to injury.

We are sending you this letter in both a standard print version and a large print version. You will receive them in separate envelopes.

Good news! We are writing to tell you about a program that helps people receiving disability benefits to go to work. It also may help people who are already working to earn more money.

Ticket to Work and Self-Sufficiency is the name of the program. It was established by Congress and is run by Social Security. It may help you get a job if you want one or help you get a better job. Enclosed with this letter is your Ticket to Work. The Ticket to Work is a very important paper that you should keep in a safe place.

And don't worry. The Ticket to Work and Self-Sufficiency Program is voluntary. You do not have to take part in this program to keep receiving your disability benefits. But, if you want to work, we have many special rules to help you. These special rules may help you keep some of your cash benefits and will let you keep your Medicaid or Medicare coverage while you work.

How The Program Works

You can take the enclosed Ticket to Work to any of the Employment Networks we have approved to help you or to a State vocational rehabilitation (VR) agency. When you and an Employment Network or State VR agency agree to work together, they will help you with services and supports to get and keep a job.

It won't cost you anything. Social Security will pay any Employment Network or State VR agency that helps you go to work.

And this is very important. If you are working with an Employment Network or State VR agency and you meet certain other requirements, we will not begin a medical review to decide if you are still disabled. For more information, please read the enclosed pamphlet.

CORRECTION
PHILIP NICE

Top Floor at the Tower

"On the top floor, we have a very small tower, which is the top of the tower, the top of the tower, the top of the tower."

THE PROJECT IS IMPOSSIBLY ENORMOUS. It sprawls across city blocks and beyond. It contains trillions of parts and counting, accumulated into one mountainous human effort. Its mass is seismic, its height is dominating, and it keeps growing. It's a project best measured not in feet, miles or megatons, but in lives.

This is a description of the Genesis II tower of Babel, perhaps somewhat accurately captured in well-known illustrations like those of Peter Bruegel the Elder and others.

But it is also a description of human civilization itself, generation upon generation, course upon course, life upon life. The top level is the newest: an active layer of material, technology and human activity. From here, the view is spectacular. Looking down at the clouds below, and the world below that, as from the window of an aircraft, how can you be anything but dazzled at the civilization that built such a vantage point as this?

Here's how. Look inside.

Inside are the laborers. Inside are their taskmasters. Inside is human suffering of our own making.

One generation atop another atop another has set over itself its elites and travailed under them, laying the walls, the arches, the beams of human history and stacking them high with lives of ignorance, confusion, poverty and affluence, failure, fatality, fear, strife, murder and suicide, violence and war. When the mass sufferings reach a breaking point, new elites have arisen and pushed the masses into new tasks—and brought new suffering. The levels below us are catastrophically out of course—but we just pile on more of the same and keep building. This is not so much a metaphor. This is the human condition.

This is the very nature of human beings. No amount of oppression, suffering or death has caused us to stop worshipping our own human will. We exert our will on the less powerful, and the will of the more powerful is exerted on us by our elites—kings, politicians, dictators and other taskmasters.

We oppress, raid, steal, dehumanize and mass-slaughter hundreds and thousands and millions because of our indestructible belief that human beings can rule ourselves. After all, we say, just look at our tower.

Human beings seem driven by a conviction, even if sub-conscious, that we are operating independently from our Creator—that, in fact, He may well want to destroy us, and that if we are to escape His punishment, we must do it together: we must make and submit to our human taskmasters, and we must build this tower. We will live our own way. How far will we take this belief? To the grave.

Here on the top floor, we are enjoying the view. But at this late stage of construction, the structure, out of plumb, out of level, yet ever taller, is swaying out of control.

Our elites—and we—are now actively demolishing those few strong columns our Creator gave us that still remain standing: man and wife, parents and children, ideals of human freedom and accountability. It is becoming clear, if we will just see it, that we and our elites are hopelessly, terminally underqualified to build our own lives, let alone civilization. Deadly serious world elites are now telling us to cover our faces (made in the semblance of our Creator); stay inside; subject our bodies to injections and other medical mandates; eat insects instead of meat; live in pods; let criminals go unpunished; believe lies about the distant and recent past; forfeit our liberty; own no homes, vehicles, or other personal property; tolerate, wear, ingest or implant surveillance devices; forfeit our children's minds and sexuality; have no children at all, before or after they are conceived; have no family; give up our nationalities and eventually leave Earth altogether. No privacy, no freedom, no property, no family, no man or woman, no country, no Earth—no choice.

We could believe that our Creator made us for a purpose other than to destroy us. We could submit to His occasional punishment in order to better reach the potential He created humans to achieve, and live according to His will. Instead, we believe He must be resisted or denied altogether, and we must submit instead to the punishment, will and dehumanization of radical, destructive, insane elites who view us not as children of God but almost literally as ants.

Open your eyes. Our Creator is exposing to us the fundamental flaw, not just of a particular political party or ideology or class, but of human civilization itself. It's time to see this tower for what it really is.

JUDICE COURT
LAS VEGAS NEVADA

BJG

D. Kelly, being first duly sworn, deposes and says:

That He is a Detective with the Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department, being so employed for a period of 19 years, assigned to investigate the crime(s) of Threat/Fake Info Re Act of Terrorism NRS 202.445 committed on or about 12/23/2020, which investigation has developed Houston, Matthew as the perpetrator thereof.

THAT DECLARANT DEVELOPED THE FOLLOWING FACTS IN THE COURSE OF THE INVESTIGATION OF SAID CRIME, TO WIT:

On 03/16/2021 (1), Kelly #7416 was notified by Capital Police Officer Montero #C5056 of incidents involving an individual named Matthew Houston who was threatening to commit acts of violence unless his workman's compensation appeal was resolved.

On 12/23/2020 at 0103 am Matthew Houston left a voicemail on the main telephone line for Office for Consumer Health Assistance located at 332 W. Sahara #100 Las Vegas, NV 89102 from phone number: [REDACTED] Redenta Blacio who is the Ombudsman for Workers Compensation returned Houston's phone call at 0828 am the same day. Houston told Blacio that he had an appeal before the Nevada Supreme Court and alleged he was being harassed by his insurer Sedgwick CMS Nevada Attorney for Injured workers and the Department of Administration Hearings Division. Blacio asked if he had filed a complaint with the Division of Industrial Relations Workers Compensation Section and Houston responded that he had filed several complaints with them and again stated he was being harassed by everyone. As Blacio started to explain the process, Houston became angry and began yelling about knowing the process and being harassed and that he should be afforded all the benefits instead of being harassed by government agencies. He then stated to Blacio that "They shouldn't be surprised if/when he goes on a mass shooting rampage like the one committed on October 1st". Blacio does not remember if Houston used the words "if" or "when". Blacio attempted to calm Houston down but was unsuccessful. Houston attempted to call back two more times but Blacio did not answer the calls. No phone calls or voicemails were recorded.

I conducted an interview with Blacio on 03/22/21 with Detective F. Foye #1645 and obtained Blacio's taped statement regarding the incident. Blacio stated she was scared that Houston would carry out his threats, and after the phone call notified her supervisor. A Capital Police report was generated under Report Number 20C900043 which was taken on 12/31/20. I also completed an LVMPD report under LVMPD Evt# LLV 210300101590

On 07/23/2020 Houston also made threats to Rosemarie McMorris who is employed by Houston's insurer. McMorris filed an LVMPD crime report under Evt# LLV200700099898 for Harassment. Details of the report indicate Houston threatened to murder every employee of Sedgwick and their families and "Eat their hearts" and an Arrest warrant for harassment was submitted at that time.

On 03/16/2021 Jason Lewis [REDACTED] advised Capital Police that Houston also has made threats to the Department of Administration Hearings Division of Northern Nevada located in Carson City leaving a voicemail stating "I need immediate assistance because I am going to fucking murder every fucking employee at Mandalay Bay, MGM and everyone in the state of Nevada if you fucking people don't give me my fucking money."

Capital Police officer Montero had local Iowa PD officer Fowler [REDACTED] verify Houston's physical address as 435 S Linn St Apt 927, Iowa City IA 52240. Fowler stated that Houston has been responsible for 21 calls for service in Iowa City and is mentally ill and constantly on & off his prescribed medication.

Due to the fact that Houston through the means of oral communication made the threat "They shouldn't be surprised if/when he goes on a mass shooting rampage like the one committed on October 1st" and therefore, intimidated and alarmed Black and her coworkers. There is Probable Cause to believe that Houston made a Threat/False Info Re Act of Terrorism NRS 202.446.

Wherefore, Declarant prays that a Warrant of Arrest be issued for suspect Houston, Matthew on the charge(s) of Threat/False Info Re Act of Terrorism NRS 202.446.

D. Kelly, being first duly sworn, deposes and says: DON MALARCHY
 MOST MALIGNANT

That He is a Detective with the Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department, being so employed for a period of 19 years, assigned to investigate the crime(s) of Threat/Fake Info Re Act of Terrorism NRS 202.448 committed (on or about 12/23/2020) which investigation has developed Houston, Matthew as the perpetrator thereof. Then why isn't David Kelly sure of the exact date of these false accusations?
 THAT DECLARANT DEVELOPED THE FOLLOWING FACTS IN THE COURSE OF THE INVESTIGATION OF SAID CRIME, TO WIT: What sort of "incidents" were these?

On 03/16/2021 I D. Kelly #7413 was notified by Capital Police Officer Montero #C6056 of incidents involving an individual named Matthew Houston who was threatening to commit acts of violence unless his workmen's compensation appeal was resolved. proceed? why would Houston need any explanation for any sort of process when his Supreme Court appeal was already in the process?
 On 12/23/2020 at 0903 am Matthew Houston left a voicemail on the main telephone line for Office for Consumer Health Assistance located at [REDACTED] from phone number [REDACTED] in the process?
 Redenta Black who is the Ombudsman for Workers Compensation returned Houston's phone call at 0929 am the same day. Houston told Black that he had an appeal before the Nevada Supreme Court and alleged he was being harassed by his insurer Sedgwick CMS Nevada Attorney for injured workers and the Department of Administration Hearings Division. Black asked if he had filed a complaint with the Division of Industrial Relations Workers Compensation Section and Houston responded that he had filed several complaints with them and again stated he was being harassed by everyone. As Black started to explain the process, Houston became angry and began yelling about knowing the process and being harassed and that he should be afforded all the benefits instead of being harassed by government agencies. He then stated to Black that "They shouldn't be surprised when he goes on a mass shooting rampage like the one committed on October 1st" Black does not remember if Houston used the words "if" or "when". Black attempted to calm Houston down but was unsuccessful. Houston attempted to call back two more times but Black did not answer the calls. if she remembered then why did she make any claims at all?
 No phone calls or voicemails were recorded.

I conducted an interview with Black on 03/22/21 with Detective F. Edge #5846 and obtained Black's taped statement regarding the incident. Black stated she was scared that Houston would carry out his threats, and she was sure of what she heard.

if she's not sure of what Houston said, why would she have interpreted the p. 3 recorded phone call as a threat?

CONTINUATION

Event #: 210300101680-001

Who was this? why isn't this individual named in report?
after the phone call (notified her supervisor.) A Capital Police report was generated under Report number 2009000343 which was taken on 12/31/20. I also completed an LVMPD report under LVMPD Ev# LLV 210300101680 well after 01/01 or about 12/23/2021.

where's the proof of this?
On 07/23/2020 Houston also made threats to Rosemarie McMorris who is employed by Houston's insurer. McMorris filed an LVMPD crime report under Ev# LLV200700009898 for Harassment. Details of the report indicate Houston threatened to murder every employee of Sedgwick and their families and "Eat their hearts" and an Arrest warrant for harassment was submitted at that time.

Again, where's the proof?
'DISCOVERY' is incomplete. why isn't this in DISCOVERY? Obviously this
On 03/18/2021 Jason Lewis [REDACTED] advised Capital Police that Houston also has made threats to the Department of Administration Hearings Division of Northern Nevada located in Carson City leaving a voicemail stating "I need immediate assistance because I am going to fucking murder every fucking employee at Mandalay Bay, MGM and everyone in the state of Nevada if you fucking people don't give me my fucking money."

EVIDENCE OF INCOMPETENCE:
Capital Police officer Montero had local Iowa PD officer Fowler ([REDACTED]) verify Houston's physical address as [REDACTED]. Fowler stated that Houston has been responsible for 21 calls for service in Iowa City and is mentally ill and constantly on & off his prescribed medication.

Again, where's the proof of any of this? :Y
Due to the fact that Houston through the means of oral communication made the threat "They shouldn't be surprised when he goes on a mass shooting rampage like the one committed on October 1st" and therefore, intimidated and alarmed Blacic and her coworkers. There is Probable Cause to believe that Houston made a Threat/Fake Info Re Act of Terrorism NRS 202.448.

Wherefore, Declarant prays that a Warrant of Arrest be issued for suspect Houston, Matthew on the charge(s) of Threat/Fake Info Re Act of Terrorism NRS 202.448.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the law of the State of Nevada that the foregoing is true and correct.

VOLUNTARY STATEMENT

Statement Of: Rodents Black (RB)

Event #: LLV210300101600

DK: And are you giving this statement of your own free will?

RB: Yes.

DK: Awesome. So yeah, can you just tell me what happened in regards to this incident?

RB: Okay on um December 23rd, um I received an email from our administrative assistant indicating that Mr. Huston had called and left a message and wanted us um to return his call. I am the workers compensation on Buds - Ombudsman and he had some workers compensation issues, so the email came to me. I called him on the 23rd, at 9:03 when I a - when he answered the phone, he basically indicated that he was on the other phone with the Federal Department of Labor, as well as myself, and he said he was taped recording both phone calls.

Um he never said he had any issue with a not wanting to talk to me, I mean he continued the conversation, um indicating how he had been wronged by the workers compensation system, and every entity in Workers Compensation Nevada Attorney for Injured Workers, a his workers compensation insurer third party administrative which was Sedwick, and um I tried to um deescalate the situation explaining um workers compensation was a process. Um he was alleging harassment by his third party administrator Sedwick, by the Nevada Attorney for Injured Workers, um the Department of Administration, the hearings, he had um, had some hearing and he did not prevail, and um he currently shared he had a hearing pending um at the Nevada Supreme Court, I do believe.

But he's very um disgruntled, a so again I tried to calmed him down, and when I explained that workers compensation was a just a process, just trying to explain to him is a process, he um - he started yelling, that he knows workers compensation um and how he was being harassed and he should be provided everything because he was the injured worker.

Um Instead of being harassed by government agencies, and then he stated that we should not be surprised um he used the word if/or when I'm sorry I don't remember if or when he um goes on a mass shooting rampage like um the one committed on October 1st. I attempted - I attempted to calm him down that failed, so I disc - I disconnected the call, he attempted to call back, I did not pick up the call. I called my supervisor who said that um we needed to file a report with Capital Police, um because of the statement he said, you know if/or when he, he said he, goes on um ...

DK: ... right.

RB: ... a the shooting spree, like October 1st, then - that really concerned me.

DK: And um did you - did you make a, filed a report with Capital Police?

RB: Yes I did. Yes I did, I filed a report with Capital Police, and um they have my statement and the online report, the number is 20C900043. Um after that um, they reached out to me, it was over the Christmas holiday, so things were scattered um, I also um - the officer asked me to reach out to Sedwick, who is the third party administrator as well as the Division of Industrial Relations, who is my former employer. So, I do - I do know the District Manager over there.

VICTIM OF NASHVILLE, TN TERRORIST ATTACK CBJ
and um she had shared with me that he had called the DIR, that they did filed a report because of the third party notification that Sedwick had notified them of their concern of Mr. (Huston) um it took a few days, it was after Christmas, I don't remember the exact day but Rosemary McMorris, who is the manager of Sedwick finally reached out to me, and she shared with me, that they had also filed a report, because they were also concerned with um their well being.

Because he had threatened her, the adjuster, the supervisor, um and to the point where they were working from home and Sedwick had to hire security for them, while they were working at home because of the threats that Mr. (Huston) made against them, um that's where we are with that.

CBJ

DK: And did they um, let you know what the nature of those threats were?

RB: No they did not, because I'm no longer the regulator.

DK: Okay.

RB: Um I'm not privy to a lot information that I would've been privy to had I still been part of, in the regulatory agency.

DK: And - and how approximately how long has this situation been going on with Mr. (Huston)?

RB: Um...

DK: Approximately...

RB: ... approximately, when I talked to him in December um, gosh it at least I - I think, God it sounded like it was a like month - a month and half before when Sedrick had complaint, it was already something that had been done, prior to him reaching out to us and making that threat.

DK: Okay, um...

RB: ... I don't know a time, I'm so sorry they didn't share that with me.

DK: No, that's okay. Um and then when he called back, a did he leave messages?

RB: He did but unfortunately we did not saved them. Um they were again late, I forward them to my supervisor, didn't do anything, but unfortunately, I'm so sorry they were not saved.

DK: That's - that's okay. Did - did you listen to those messages?

RB: Um n - I just heard his name and then I just sent it forward.

DK: Okay.

RB: Because I just did not.

DK: Okay, and then um...

Event #: LLV210300101590

RB: ... I just thought it was better for me, just...

DK: ... sure, that's understandable.

RB: Just send it to my supervisor.

DK: And then when he called, did he called um a this main office number?

RB: Would he did, the first time he called the main office number, and then because I was working remotely, um I had a cellular phone that's an office phone, it's a 775 number, and when I do that um I call off that number because no one picks up a restricted call from my phone.

DK: Okay. why wouldn't she answer if Houston called back? if she was truly afraid why didn't she file

RB: So, I use that phone, and that's a 775 number and that's the phone I used and that's the one complaint he would - would he tried originally right away to call back on that one, I ignored it he didn't leave any messages, but when he did call back after, he did call back on the mainline. Which center is the one I forwarded to my supervisor then 4 months later?

DK: Okay, and forgive me for not knowing all the appropriate division...

RB: ... uh-um...

DK: ... and ...

RB: ... oh I'm sorry...

DK: ... and organization...

RB: ... uh-um...

OBJECTION:

DK: ... involved with this process, but do you know if he made any threats to the Nevada Department of Administration Hearings Division of Northern Nevada?

RB: Um - um no I do not.

DK: Okay. How does RB "know" that he made threats to Sedwick?

RB: Um, I know that he made threats to Sedwick, I know that the Division of Industrial Relations Workers Compensation Section because Sedwick reported them, were reported to him to them, because they were concerned. Um they filed a verbal with Capital Police.

DK: Okay. Why did Sedwick make those false reports?

RB: But, I - for what the Division of Industrial Relations Workers Compensation Section said, Mr. Huston did not threaten them directly, he just... well what did he "just" do?

DK: Okay. And when - when you were on the phone with Mr. Huston...

RB: ... tone and manner is illegal pursuant to the First Amendment without question, I was fearful, I was, I was -- I was distraught and I was fearful, because of his new run-in? he did make the threats. tone and his manner. And I been doing workers-comp since 1998, um actually as an audit investigator, so I -- I had threats, I had all those types of things um said to me in the past. Um you know workers-comp is not a system that breeds positivity (laughter).

DK: Sure. As so if she did have experience, why did she not report the audit? Why did she deny her duty in helping Houston for a
RB: [it's a, so but he -- he scared me I mean, I still get upset, his is how many months later. And he frightens me, his tone, because he said if/or when he, he said he -- he, not someone, he said a delay. he, and he was frightening, I -- I was fearful.

DK: Okay. And again what was the date of this phone call?

RB: Um it was, um December, um 23rd.

DK: And do you remember roughly what time?

RB: Yeah it was 9:03, because I -- I logged it right away, I have, I sent...

DK: ... okay approximately how long did the conversation last?

RB: Um I wanna say maybe ten minutes, ten -- fifteen minutes, at the most.

DK: Okay and he made the threat... How did Houston make a threat if none of the phone calls were recorded or logged?
RB: ... at the most...

DK: ... toward the end of the conversation?

RB: Yes, yes it was just like I said as soon as he said that and I couldn't calmed him down, and he frighten me, um because again I'm not generally frighten, it's not ...

DK: ... okay...

RB: ... something I -- I, I'm like I'm done, so I disconnected the call, and I called, I talked to my supervisor right away, I called them on my cell phone saying, a -- you need to know this, because...

NOTICE OF INTENT TO USE AUDIOVISUAL TECHNOLOGY PURSUANT TO NRS
171.1975 TO PRESENT LIVE TESTIMONY AT PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION DUE TO COVID-19 OUTBREAK

Pursuant to NRS 171.1975, if the preliminary hearing in this matter is conducted during the COVID-19 outbreak, the State of Nevada intends to present the testimony of all victims and witnesses, regardless of geographical location, through the use of audiovisual technology. The court must allow the use of such audiovisual technology if good cause exists.¹

Prior to the preliminary hearing in this matter, the witness will be sworn and will sign the previously provided declaration, which acknowledges that "the witness understands that he or she is subject to the jurisdiction of the courts of this state and may be subject to criminal prosecution for the commission of any crime in connection with his or her testimony, including, without limitation, perjury, and that the witness consents to such jurisdiction."²

There is good cause existing to limit in-person testimony at a preliminary hearing during the COVID-19 outbreak due to the following facts and circumstances:

On March 11, 2020, the World Health Organization, noting their deep concern as to "both [] the alarming levels of spread and severity, and [] the alarming levels of inaction," to the COVID-19 outbreak, officially declared the outbreak as a pandemic. While doing so, the WHO noted they "have never before seen pandemic that can be controlled," and since they were first notified, they have "called everyday /sic/ for countries to take urgent and aggressive action," further noting, "[w]e have rung the alarm bell loud and clear."³

Since this classification of the COVID-19 outbreak as a pandemic, Federal, State, County, and Local governments across the United States of America have taken swift and significant action to prevent the spread of this disease.

On Friday, March 13, President Trump declared a National Emergency Concerning the Novel Coronavirus Disease (COVID-19) Outbreak.⁴ Three days after this initial proclamation, President Trump and the White House Coronavirus Task Force issued stronger guidelines in an effort to slow the spread of this disease. Notably, the guidelines stated "[e]ven if you are young, or otherwise healthy, you are at risk and your activities can increase the risk for others. It is critical that you do your part to slow the spread of the coronavirus." President Trump called for gatherings to be no larger than ten people and to avoid eating and drinking in bars, restaurants, or food courts.⁵ Finally, the Director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases

Governor Sisolak issued a Declaration of Emergency in the State of Nevada on March 12, 2020. On Sunday, March 15, 2020, Governor Sisolak ordered all K-12 schools in the State of Nevada closed through April 6, 2020. Later that same day, he announced further directives, which included: closing state offices to the public, a call to transition to working as much as possible over the phone or online for essential services, and strongly encouraged gaming properties to close to the public. Governor Sisolak stated these efforts are required "protect the health and safety of the public and our state workforce while ensuring that the important work of our state government does not grind to a halt." Further, he noted that we all "must do what we can to be part of the solution and share[] responsibility for each other as Nevadans."¹

Clark County, as well as many cities therein, issued their own Declarations of Emergency in response to the COVID-19 outbreak.⁸ Federal, state, and local courts also responded to the outbreak with varying administrative orders, citing the COVID-19 outbreak as good cause to suspend court proceedings or scale back operations.

The U.S. District Court for the District of Nevada continued all trials through April 20, 2020, among other modifications and visitor restrictions "to do its part in slowing the spread of COVID-19."

The Nevada Supreme Court and Court of Appeals imposed visitor restrictions to minimize exposure, noting, "... the best way to prevent illness is to avoid being exposed to the virus."¹⁰

The Eighth Judicial District Court issued Administrative Order 20-01, which suspended all jury trials for 30 days and encouraged any essential hearings to be heard through alternative means to in-person appearances. Additionally, the order provided restrictions on public and employee entry into the courthouse.¹¹ Three days later, through Administrative Order 20-02, the court discontinued in-person meetings or gatherings and issued a direction to conduct court business through social distancing.¹²

The Las Vegas Justice Court issued Administrative Order 20-03, which provided for amended procedures due to the COVID-19 outbreak. However, all preliminary hearings, regardless of...

custody status, are still expected to proceed in person, although alternative appearances for the attorneys are "encouraged when possible."¹³

While there are precautionary measures in place to screen for those exhibiting symptoms of the virus before entering the courthouse, the courthouse is open to the public as of March 16, 2020. A person infected with this virus, and who is contagious, may take up to two weeks to exhibit the symptoms that are the current focus of any screening. Further, multiple new studies strongly suggest that those who are infected, but are asymptomatic, are likely a significant force driving the spread of COVID-19.¹⁴ Finally, President Trump declared COVID-19 an "invisible enemy."¹⁵

Considering preliminary hearings are still scheduled and expected to be heard in the Las Vegas Justice Court, where attorneys are encouraged to use alternative methods to appear, limiting the in-person testimony of all victims and witnesses is required in the interest of public health and the safety of our community. Therefore, the State of Nevada intends to introduce such testimony at the preliminary hearing through the use of audiovisual technology should this hearing proceed during the COVID-19 outbreak.

4 THE COURT: MATTHEW HOUSTON, 21CR019840.

5 GOOD MORNING.

6 MR. LITTLE: AND, YOUR HONOR, I BELIEVE WE HAVE THIS
7 MATTER RESOLVED. WITH THE COURT'S PERMISSION, MR. HOUSTON IS

12 PROBATION FOR 24 MONTHS, WITH A TWO TO FIVE YEAR SUSPENDED
13 SENTENCE. HE'S TO HAVE NO CONTACT WITH THE NAMED VICTIM, AND 14 STAY AWAY. IF HE'S SUCCESSFUL DURING PROBATION, IT WILL BE 15 REDUCED DOWN TO A GROSS MISDEMEANOR, NON-FELONY OFFENSE FOR 16 AGGRAVATED STALKING, WAIVING ANY DEFECTS IN THE PLEADINGS.
17 HE'S ALSO TO RECEIVE, UPON ENTRY OF HIS PLEA, AN O.R. AT HIS 18 ENTRY OF PLEA, WITH LOW LEVEL ELECTRONIC MONITORING, AND HE'S 19 TO STAY AWAY AND A NO CONTACT ORDER WITH THE NAMED VICTIM
20 REN -- RED -- I'M ALWAYS GOING TO HAVE PROBLEMS WITH HIS NAME, 23 ADDITIONALLY, THE STATE WILL DISMISS CASE NO. 21CR033713.

24 MR. MERBACK: SO -- THAT'S ALL CORRECT. THE ONLY ISSUE

3 THE COURT: OF COURSE.

4 MR. MERBACK: IS THAT WHAT --

5 MR. LITTLE: YES.

6 MR. MERBACK: SO IT'S ROSEMARIE MCMORRIS, REDENTIA ELACIC,
7 AND ROSEMARIE -- DO YOU HAVE THAT LAST...

8 MR. LITTLE: I BELIEVE JASON LEWIS WAS THE THIRD --

9 MR. MERBACK: OKAY.

10 MR. LITTLE: -- ALLEGATION.

11 MR. MERBACK: AND SO THEN THE ADDRESS IS 9930 WEST

13 CORRECT.

14 THE COURT: OKAY. SIR, IS THAT YOUR UNDERSTANDING OF THE 15 NEGOTIATIONS?

16 THE DEFENDANT: YES, YOUR HONOR.

17 THE COURT: YOU UNDERSTAND THAT THIS IS AN UNCONDITIONAL
18 WAIVER OF YOUR RIGHT TO HAVE A PRELIMINARY HEARING, WHICH 19 MEANS IT'S A PERMANENT WAIVER OF YOUR RIGHT TO HAVE A 20 PRELIMINARY HEARING?

22 THE COURT: WHAT THAT MEANS FOR YOU IS ONCE YOU GET UP TO 23 DISTRICT COURT IF YOU DECIDED NOT TO GO THROUGH WITH THESE 24 NEGOTIATIONS YOU WOULD BE GOING DIRECTLY TO TRIAL ON THE 25 ORIGINAL CHARGES BUT YOU WOULD NOT BE COMING BACK TO THIS

1 COURT TO HAVE A PRELIMINARY HEARING, DO YOU UNDERSTAND?

2 THE DEFENDANT: YES, YOUR HONOR.

3 THE COURT: KNOWING ALL OF THIS, DO YOU WISH TO 4 UNCONDITIONALLY WAIVE YOUR RIGHT TO HAVE A PRELIMINARY

6 THE DEFENDANT: YES, YOUR HONOR.

7 THE COURT: IT APPEARS TO ME FROM THE CRIMINAL COMPLAINT

GUILTY PLEA AGREEMENT

16 I hereby agree to plead guilty to: AGGRAVATED STALKING (Category B 17 Felony - NRS 200.575 - NOC 50333), as more fully alleged in the charging document attached
18 hereto as Exhibit "1".

19 My decision to plead guilty is based upon the plea agreement in this case which is as 20 follows:

21 The State has no opposition to probation for a twenty-four (24) month period. The 22 parties stipulate to recommend a two (2) to five (5) year suspended sentence. Parties agree 23 Defendant will receive a mental health evaluation and any treatment as a condition of 24 probation, and retain the right to argue any other terms and conditions. The State will not 25 oppose dismissal of Case No. 21CR033713 after rendition of sentence. Defendant is to stay
26 away and have no contact with Redenta Blacio, Rosemarie McMorris, and/or Jonathan 27 Shockely. Defendant is to also stay away from 9930 West Cheyenne Avenue, Las Vegas, 28 Nevada. The State will not oppose Defendant's own recognizance release with low-level

2 orders. If I successfully complete probation and receive an honorable discharge, I may 3 withdraw my plea and plead guilty to AGGRAVATED STALKING (Gross Misdemeanor -
4 NRS 200.575(1), waiving any defects in that pleading, with credit for time served.

5 Defendant agrees and understands that he is ineligible for the reduction in his 6 sentence if one or more of the following events occur:

- 7 1. Defendant fails to interview for the presentence investigation;
- 8 2. Defendant fails to make any subsequent court appearance;
- 9 3. An independent magistrate, by affidavit review, confirms probable cause against him for 10 new criminal charges including reckless driving or DUI, but excluding minor traffic 11 violations;
- 12 4. Defendant fails to pay restitution in full; or
- 13 5. Defendant has been found by the Court to be in violation of his probation, regardless of 14 whether the Defendant is revoked or not.

15 I agree to the forfeiture of any and all weapons or any interest in any weapons seized 16 and/or impounded in connection with the instant case and/or any other case negotiated in 17 whole or in part in conjunction with this plea agreement.

18 I understand and agree that, if I fail to interview with the Department of Parole and 19 Probation, fail to appear at any subsequent hearings in this case, or an independent magistrate, 20 by affidavit review, confirms probable cause against me for new criminal charges including 21 reckless driving or DUI, but excluding minor traffic violations, the State will have the 22 unqualified right to argue for any legal sentence and term of confinement allowable for the 23 crime(s) to which I am pleading guilty, including the use of any prior convictions I may have 24 to increase my sentence as an habitual criminal to five (5) to twenty (20) years, life without 25 the possibility of parole, life with the possibility of parole after ten (10) years, or a definite 26 twenty-five (25) year term with the possibility of parole after ten (10) years.

27 Otherwise I am entitled to receive the benefits of these negotiations as stated in this 28 plea agreement.

CONSEQUENCES OF THE PLEA

I understand that by pleading guilty I admit the facts which support all the elements of the offense(s) to which I now plead as set forth in Exhibit "1".

I understand that as a consequence of my plea of guilty the Court must sentence me to imprisonment in the Nevada Department of Corrections for a minimum term of not less than TWO (2) years and a maximum term of not more than FIFTEEN (15) years. The minimum term of imprisonment may not exceed forty percent (40%) of the maximum term of imprisonment. I understand that I may also be fined up to $5,000.00. I understand that the law requires me to pay an Administrative Assessment Fee.

I understand that, if appropriate, I will be ordered to make restitution to the victim of the offense(s) to which I am pleading guilty and to the victim of any related offense which is being dismissed or not prosecuted pursuant to this agreement. I will also be ordered to reimburse the State of Nevada for any expenses related to my extradition, if any.

I understand that I am eligible for probation for the offense to which I am pleading guilty. I understand that, except as otherwise provided by statute, the question of whether I receive probation is in the discretion of the sentencing judge.

I understand that I must submit to blood and/or saliva tests under the Direction of the Division of Parole and Probation to determine genetic markers and/or secretor status.

I understand that if I am pleading guilty to charges of Burglary, Invasion of the Home, Possession of a Controlled Substance with Intent to Sell, Sale of a Controlled Substance, or Gaming Crimes, for which I have prior felony conviction(s), I will not be eligible for probation and may receive a higher sentencing range.

I understand that if more than one sentence of imprisonment is imposed and I am eligible to serve the sentences concurrently, the sentencing judge has the discretion to order the sentences served concurrently or consecutively.

I understand that information regarding charges not filed, dismissed charges, or charges to be dismissed pursuant to this agreement may be considered by the judge at sentencing.

1 I have not been promised or guaranteed any particular sentence by anyone. I know that
2 my sentence is to be determined by the Court within the limits prescribed by statute.

3 I understand that if my attorney or the State of Nevada or both recommend any specific 4 punishment to the Court, the Court is not obligated to accept the recommendation.

5 I understand that if the offense(s) to which I am pleading guilty was committed while I
6 was incarcerated on another charge or while I was on probation or parole that I am not eligible
7 for credit for time served toward the instant offense(s).

8 I understand that if I am not a United States citizen, any criminal conviction will likely 9 result in serious negative immigration consequences including but not limited to:

- 10 1. The removal from the United States through deportation;
- 11 2. An inability to reenter the United States;
- 12 3. The inability to gain United States citizenship or legal residency;
- 13 4. An inability to renew and/or retain any legal residency status; and/or
- 14 5. An indeterminate term of confinement, with the United States Federal 15 Government based on my conviction and immigration status.

16 Regardless of what I have been told by any attorney, no one can promise me that this 17 conviction will not result in negative immigration consequences and/or impact my ability to 18 become a United States citizen and/or a legal resident.

19 I understand that the Division of Parole and Probation will prepare a report for the 20 sentencing judge prior to sentencing. This report will include matters relevant to the issue of 21 sentencing, including my criminal history. This report may contain hearsay information 22 regarding my background and criminal history. My attorney and I will each have the 23 opportunity to comment on the information contained in the report at the time of sentencing.
24 Unless the District Attorney has specifically agreed otherwise, the District Attorney may also 25 comment on this report.
