Case No. 40232

8 THE STATE OF NEVADA, )

9 Respondent. )

10
11 RESPONDENT'S ANSWERING BRIEF

12 Appeal from Order Denying Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus 13 Eighth Judicial Court, Clark County

14 STATEMENT OF THE ISSUES

- 15 1. Whether the district court properly denied discovery and an 16 evidentiary hearing on the issues of alleged innocence, 17 prosecutorial misconduct, and ineffective assistance of counsel,
18 and denied relief on all claims.
19 2. Whether the district court properly denied discovery and relief on 20 the issue of ineffective assistance of counsel arising out of an 21 alleged conflict between co-counsel for Defendant during his third 22 penalty hearing.

23 STATEMENT OF THE CASE

24 On February 25, 1985, an information was filed that charged Dale Edward Flanagan 25 ("Defendant") with one (1) count each of Conspiracy to Commit Burglary, Conspiracy to 26 Commit Robbery, Conspiracy to Commit Murder, Burglary, Robbery With Use of a Deadly 27 Weapon and two (2) counts of Murder With Use of a Deadly Weapon. Volume 1 Appellant's 28 Appendix (hereinafter "A.A."), p. 4, 19, 237. After he was found guilty by a jury on all counts of the information, Defendant was sentenced on November 27, 1985 to death by lethal injection.

1 The Defendant filed a timely notice of appeal and was appointed appellate counsel.
2 On May 18, 1988, the Nevada Supreme Court affirmed Defendant's conviction, but reversed
3 and remanded the case to the District Court based on improper prosecutorial argument
4 during the penalty hearing. Flanagan v. State, 104 Nev. 105, 754 P.2d 836 (1988)(Flanagan
5 I). After the second penalty hearing in District Court, Defendant was again sentenced to 6 death by legal injection. Defendant appealed this second death sentence to the Nevada
7 Supreme Court which affirmed Defendant's sentence. Flanagan v. State, 107 Nev. 243, 810
8 P.2d 759 (1991)(Flanagan II).

9 Defendant petitioned the United States Supreme Court with a writ of certiorari which 10 the Supreme Court granted vacating Defendant's death sentence and remanding the case for 11 reconsideration consistent with the holding of Dawson v. Delaware, 503 U.S. 159, 112 S.Ct.
12 1093 (1992)(To be admissible at a penalty hearing, constitutionally suspect evidence must 13 somehow be "tied" to the defendant's crime). Flanagan v. Nevada, 503 U.S. 931, 112 S.Ct.
14 1464 (1992). On remand, the Nevada Supreme Court agreed that during the second penalty
15 hearing the State had impermissibly offered evidence of Defendant's involvement in satanic 16 worship in violation of the First Amendment and that the case should be remanded for 17 another penalty hearing. Flanagan v. State, 109 Nev. 50, 846 P.2d 1053 (1993)(Flanagan 18 III). Prior to the third penalty hearing, Defendant filed a petition for writ of habeas corpus 19 raising issues from the guilt phase of his trial in 1985. This petition was denied by Order 20 filed July 28, 1995.

21 Following a third penalty hearing in which he was yet again sentenced to death by 22 lethal injection, Defendant appealed his sentence and the denial of post-conviction relief to 23 the Nevada Supreme Court. The Nevada Supreme Court then affirmed the order denying 24 habeas corpus relief and affirmed the sentence of death. Flanagan v. State, 112 Nev. 1409, 25 930 P.2d 691 (1996)(Flanagan IV). Defendant petitioned the United States Supreme Court
26 again with a writ of certiorari, but that petition was denied. Flanagan v. State, 523 U.S.
27 1083, 118 S.Ct. 1534 (1998).

1 On May 28, 1998, Defendant filed the present Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus
2 (Post-Conviction). 26 A.A., p. 6323. On June 5, 1998, counsel was appointed, who filed a 3 Supplemental Petition on November 30, 1999. 26 A.A., p. 6345.

4 On August 16, 2000, the district court denied Defendant's motion for discovery (30
5 A.A., p. 7282), and on February 14, 2002, the district court held an evidentiary hearing. 30
6 A.A., p. 7314. By Order, dated June 19, 2002, the district court denied the petition. 31
7 A.A., p. 7521. On August 8, 2002, Findings of Fact, Conclusions of Law and Order denying 8 the petition was filed. 31 A.A., p. 7530. On August 16, 2002, the district court mailed 9 notice of entry of decision and order. 31 A.A., p. 7564. Defendant filed his Notice of 10 Appeal on September 12, 2002. 31 A.A., p. 7568. The State responds as follows.

11 STATEMENT OF THE FACTS

12 Defendant, with the help of five (5) co-conspirators, shot and killed his grandmother 13 and grandfather in the early morning hours of November 6, 1984 with the express purpose of 14 obtaining insurance proceeds and an inheritance. Defendant and his co-conspirators broke a 15 window to gain entry to his grandparents' house, and Defendant shot his grandmother three 16 (3) times at close range and Randy Moore shot Defendant's grandfather multiple times.
17 Their bodies were found in the afternoon hours of November 6, 1984. See Flanagan v. State, 18 104 Nev. 105, 754 P.2d 836 (1988)(Flanagan I); Flanagan v. State, 107 Nev. 243, 810 P.2d
19 759 (1991)(Flanagan II); Flanagan v. State, 109 Nev. 50, 846 P.2d 1053 (1993)(Flanagan 20 III); and Flanagan v. State, 112 Nev. 1409, 930 P.2d 691 (1996)(Flanagan IV).

21 ARGUMENT

22 The State submits that all of Defendant's claims in this appeal are procedurally barred 23 except for the ineffective assistance of counsel claims pertaining solely to the third penalty 24 hearing. Remittitur from affirmance of Defendant's conviction issued in 1988 and 25 Defendant has had ample time and opportunity to raise his guilty phase issues. Any claims 26 of ineffective assistance of counsel arising from the final penalty hearing are timely filed, 27 however, they are belied by the record and are without merit.

1 Defendant's appeal herein challenges a denial of his second post-conviction petition
2 for writ of habeas corpus. In 1995, Defendant filed his first petition for writ of habeas 3 corpus prior to his third penalty hearing. See 25 A.A., p. 6037, 6040, 6076, 6144-6145. The 4 1995 petition for writ of habeas corpus attacked the validity of the guilt phase from 1985.
5 See 25 A.A., p. 6064-6065. On June 6, 1995, the district court denied Defendant's petition
6 (Order filed on July 28, 1995). 25 A.A., p. 6036-6037. On June 23, 1995, the jury returned
7 a death sentence for the third time. 25 A.A., p. 5966. Defendant appealed both (25 A.A., p.
8 6064-6065), and this Honorable Court affirmed Defendant's conviction and sentence on 9 December 20, 1996. 25 A.A., p. 6040-6062. Thus, to the extent Defendant's 1998 petition
10 raising guilt phase issue, it is procedurally barred and successive in violation of NRS 34.810.
11 NRS 34.810(1)(b)(2) provides in pertinent part: "The court shall dismiss a petition if the 12 court determines that ... [t]he petitioner's conviction was the result of a trial and the grounds 13 for the petition could have been ... [r]aised in a direct appeal or a prior petition for a writ of 14 habeas corpus or post conviction relief...". Under NRS 34.810(2), a second or successive 15 petition must be dismissed if it fails to allege new or different grounds, or the failure to assert 16 new or different grounds in a prior petition for writ of habeas corpus constitutes an abuse of 17 the writ.

18 Furthermore, NRS 34.726 provides:

- 19 (1) Unless there is good cause shown for delay, a petition that challenges the validity 20 of a judgment or sentence must be filed within 1 year of the entry of the judgment of 21 conviction or, if an appeal has been taken from the judgment, within 1 year after the 22 Supreme Court issues its remittitur. For the purposes of this subsection, good cause 23 for delay exists if the petitioner demonstrates to the satisfaction of the court:
24 (a) That the delay is not the fault of the petitioner; and 25 (b) That dismissal of the petition as untimely will unduly prejudice the petitioner.

26 On May 18, 1988, the Nevada Supreme Court affirmed Defendant's conviction, but 27 reversed and remanded the case to the District Court based on improper prosecutorial
28 argument during the penalty hearing. Flanagan v. State, 104 Nev. 105, 754 P.2d 836
(1988)(Flanagan I). Remittitur for Defendant's guilt phase issued in 1988. Defendant's present petition for writ of habeas corpus (post-conviction) was filed approximately ten (10) years later on May 28, 1998. This is well in excess of the one year time bar established by

1 the statute. Due to the fact that Defendant filed his petition more than one year after 2 Remittitur, and has failed to show good cause for his failure to abide by the statute, his 3 petition must be dismissed. Pellegrini v. State, 117 Nev. 860, 34 P.3d 519, 525 (2001). In 4 the event Defendant attempts to argue that this instant appeal was his first opportunity to 5 attack the guilt phase with a post-conviction petition for writ of habeas corpus, this is belied
6 by the record because he previously filed such a petition in 1995. See 25 A.A., pp. 6037,
7 6040, 6076, 6144-6145. Thus, Defendant's petition filed in 1998 was untimely as it was not
8 filed within one (1) year of the 1988 Remittitur. The State also asserts the 5 year time bar 9 for any guilt phase issues pursuant to NRS 34.800 and alleges prejudice in responding to the 10 writ and conducting a retrial some twenty years later.

11 The Nevada Supreme Court has addressed similar issues in dealing with petitioners 12 that have not filed their petitions within the statutorily prescribed range. This Honorable 13 Court has said that to establish good cause, a defendant must demonstrate that some 14 impediment external to the defense prevented him from complying with the procedural bar 15 that has been violated. Lozada v. State, 110 Nev. 349, 353, 871 P.2d 944, 946 (1994). The 16 Court reaffirmed this holding in Crump v. Warden, 113 Nev. 293, 934 P.2d 247 (1997). The 17 Court went on to say that once the State has raised procedural grounds for dismissal, the 18 burden then falls on the defendant "to show that good cause exists for his failure to raise any 19 grounds in an earlier petition and that he will suffer actual prejudice if the grounds are not 20 considered." Id. at 302, 934 P.2d at 253, citing Phelps v. Director of Prisons, infra, at 659, 21 764 P.2d 1305. The Court explained that in order to establish prejudice, the defendant must 22 show "not merely that the errors of trial created possibility of prejudice, but that they worked 23 to his actual and substantial disadvantage, in affecting the state proceedings with error of 24 constitutional dimensions." Id. citing Hogan v. Warden, 109 Nev. 952, 960, 860 P.2d 710, 25 716 (1993).

26 In Gonzales v. State, 118 Nev. 590, 53 P.3d 901, 902 (2002), the Nevada Supreme 27 Court rejected a habeas petition, pursuant to the mandatory provisions of NRS 34.726(1) that 28 was filed two days late. Gonzales reiterated the importance of filing the petition within the

1 mandatory deadline, absent a showing of “good cause” for the delay in filing. Gonzales, 53
2 P.3d at 902.

3 “In order to demonstrate good cause, a petitioner must show that an impediment 4 external to the defense prevented him or her from complying with the state procedural 5 default rules.” Hathaway v. State, 119 Nev. 30, 71 P.3d 503, 506 (2003); citing Pellegrini v.
6 State, 117 Nev. 860, 886-87, 34 P.3d 519, 537 (2001); Lozada v. State, 110 Nev. 349, 353, 7 871 P.2d 944, 946 (1994); Passanisi v. Director, 105 Nev. 63, 769 P.2d 72 (1989); see also
8 Crump v. Warden, 113 Nev. 293, 295, 934 P.2d 247, 252 (1997); Phelps v. Director, 104
9 Nev. 656, 764 P.2d 1303 (1988).

10 Such an external impediment could be “that the factual or legal basis for a claim was 11 not reasonably available to counsel, or that ‘some interference by officials’ made compliance
12 impracticable”. Hathaway, 71 P.3d at 506; quoting Murray v. Carrier, 477 U.S. 478, 488, 13 106 S.Ct. 2639, 2645 (1986); see also Gonzalez, 53 P.3d at 904; citing Harris v. Warden, 14 114 Nev. 956, 959-60 n. 4, 164 P.2d 785 n. 4 (1998). Clearly, the delay in filing of the 15 petition must not be the fault of the petitioner. NRS 34.726(1)(a).

16 To find good cause there must be a “substantial reason; one that affords a legal 17 excuse”. Hathaway, 71 P.3d at 506; quoting Colley v. State, 105 Nev. 235, 236, 773 P.2d 18 1229, 1230 (1989), quoting State v. Estencion, 625 P.2d 1040, 1042 (Haw. 1981).

19 The lack of the assistance of counsel when preparing a petition, and even the failure 20 of trial counsel to forward a copy of the file to a petitioner, have been found to not constitute 21 good cause. See Phelps v. Director Nevada Department of Prisons, 104 Nev. 656, 660, 764
22 P.2d 1303 (1988); Hood v. State, 111 Nev. 335, 890 P.2d 797 (1995). Also, the failure of 23 counsel to inform the petitioner of his right to direct appeal did not rise to good cause for 24 overcoming the time bar. Dickerson v. State, 114 Nev. 1084, 967 P.2d 1132 (1998).

25 Defendant’s petition was untimely filed, and Defendant does not demonstrate good 26 cause to overcome the procedural bar. This appeal should be dismissed as untimely.

27 This Honorable Court has previously held that Defendant was convicted by 28 overwhelming evidence.

1 Here, there was overwhelming evidence of Flanagan's involvement in the planning
2 and execution of the murders. Given the strength of the State's case, we hold that the
3 prosecutor's conduct did not render the determination of Flanagan's guilt
4 fundamentally unfair.

5 Flanagan v. State, 104 Nev. 105, 107, 754 P.2d 836, 837 (1988)(Flanagan I).

6 We characterized the evidence against Flanagan and Moore as "overwhelming" in our 7 first opinion in this case. There is no reason to change that characterization now, nor 8 has either appellant disputed the weight of the evidence against him. The evidence 9 included eyewitness testimony regarding meetings held prior to the murders where 10 appellants planned to kill the Gordons and statements made after the murders in 11 which Flanagan admitted to killing his grandmother, Mrs. Gordon, and Moore
12 admitted to killing Mr. Gordon. We conclude beyond a reasonable doubt that the jury
13 looked to this evidence in convicting appellants and that the prosecutor's improper
14 remarks did not contribute to the verdict.

15 Flanagan v. State, 112 Nev. 1409, 1420, 930 P.2d 691, 698 (1996)(Flanagan IV).

16 Contrary to the assertions by Defendant, he was not automatically entitled to an 17 evidentiary hearing. A defendant is entitled to an evidentiary hearing if his petition is 18 supported by specific factual allegations, which, if true, would entitle him to relief unless the 19 factual allegations are repelled by the record. Marshall v. State, 110 Nev. 1328, 1331, 885
20 P.2d 603, 605 (1994). "The judge or justice, upon review of the return, answer and all 21 supporting documents which are filed, shall determine whether an evidentiary hearing is 22 required." NRS 34.770(1). However, "[a] defendant seeking post-conviction relief is not 23 entitled to an evidentiary hearing on factual allegations belied or repelled by the record."
24 Hargrove v. State, 100 Nev. 498, 503, 686 P.2d 222, 225 (1984); citing Grondin v. State, 97
25 Nev. 454, 634 P.2d 456 (1981).

26 "If a judge or justice determines that the petitioner is not entitled to relief and an 27 evidentiary hearing is not required, he shall dismiss the petition without a hearing." NRS 28 34.770(2) (emphasis added). The district court properly granted an evidentiary hearing solely for the alleged conflict regarding counsel during Defendant's third penalty phase. The district court properly ruled that an evidentiary hearing was not required for the other issues for the following reasons: Attorney Pike was not ineffective, some claims were bare and naked allegations, other claims were barred by the law of the case, and the subsequent penalty hearings rendered the first two moot. 30 A.A., p. 7283-7284.

1 Defendant alleges that the district court improperly deprived him of the funds
2 necessary to investigate and present his claims for relief. Defendant fails to advise this 3 Honorable Court that the district court did in fact authorize $16,000.00 for investigative fees
4 in the instant underlying petition for writ of habeas corpus.

5 In this matter, Petitioner Flanagan's counsel obtained two Orders dated July 7, 6 1998 and February 24, 1999 granting investigative fees not to exceed $1,000
7 and $15,000, respectively. Despite the fact that no further request was made
8 until December 1999, some 10 months later, investigation fees were incurred
9 during that time in the amount of $128,774.89, which Petitioner Flanagan's 10 counsel sought reimbursement in December 1999. Additionally, since the 11 December 1999 motion and through May 2000, another $105,275.38 was 12 expended as investigation fees. The total reimbursement through May 2000 13 that counsel seeks is $234,050.27. The expenditure of these funds is 14 considered by the Court to be excessive and would not have been granted had 15 they been requested prior to being incurred. In Sonner v. State, 112 Nev.
16 1328, 930 P.2d 707 (1996), the Nevada Supreme court held that although the 17 defendant was entitled to attempt to prove his theory of defense, the law does 18 not require an unlimited expenditure of resources in an effort to find 19 professional support for his theory. As such, in this case, both of Petitioner 20 Flanagan's requests for investigative fees (December 1999 in the amount of 21 $128,774.89 and August 2000 in the amount of $105,275.38) must be denied.
22 The Court modifies these requests and grants total investigative fees in the 23 amount of $16,000, which was previously authorized by the Court.

24 30 A.A., p. 7290 (August 28, 2000 Order by District Judge Mark Gibbons).

25 Counsel for Defendant sought Reimbursement of investigation expenses already 26 incurred. 30 A.A., p. 7289. To imply that Defendant was denied an adequate investigation
27 is disingenuous. The fact that Counsel for Defendant did not seek prior approval and receive 28 full reimbursement for investigation expenses is of no consequence to this appeal. The pertinent fact is that an investigation occurred on behalf of Defendant with the price tag of $234,050.27. Few defendants in Nevada history have had the investigative efforts and review of four (4) sets of counsel and a quarter of a million dollars in expenses.

Defendant also asserts that the district court improperly denied his discovery requests.
"After the writ has been granted and a date set for the hearing, a party may invoke any method of discovery available under the Nevada Rules of Civil Procedure if, and to the extent that, the judge or justice for good cause shown grants leave to do so." NRS.
34.780(2). (emphasis added). The district court granted an evidentiary hearing regarding the alleged conflict regarding counsel during Defendant's third penalty phase, but did not

1 find good cause to grant discovery. 30 A.A., p. 7282. Furthermore, the district court
2 concluded that Defendant's discovery requests – including depositions of Nevada Supreme 3 Court Justices and staff – were overbroad. 30 A.A., p. 7282; 27 A.A., p. 6541. Defendant 4 erroneously argues the standards of review for civil procedure summary judgment motions.
5 In Beets v. State, 110 Nev. 339, 871 P.2d 357 (1994), this Honorable Court held that the 6 district court erred in entertaining a motion for summary judgment in the context of a post 7 conviction petition for writ of habeas corpus.

8 Defendant also alleges that the district court abdicated its responsibility as an 9 impartial and fair decision-maker by adopting the State's proposed findings of fact and 10 conclusions of law. The local rules for the Eighth Judicial District Court permit the 11 prevailing party to draft the order. See EDCR 7.21. "...[E]ven when the trial judge adopts 12 proposed findings verbatim, the findings are those of the court and may be reversed only if 13 clearly erroneous." Anderson v. City of Bessemer, N.C., 470 U.S. 564, 572, 105 S.Ct. 1504, 14 1510-1511 (1985) (citations omitted). "If the district court's account of the evidence is 15 plausible in light of the record viewed in its entirety, the court of appeals may not reverse it 16 even though convinced that had it been sitting as the trier of fact, it would have weighed the 17 evidence differently." Id. at 573-574. Defendant has failed to show that the district court's 18 ruling was clearly erroneous.

20 DEFENDANT'S FIRST CLAIM SHOULD BE DENIED 21 BECAUSE IT IGNORES THE "LAW OF THE CASE" 22 DOCTRINE AND CONSISTS OF BARE/NAKED ALLEGATIONS

23 Defendant's first claim is a combined allegation of prosecutorial misconduct and an 24 alleged failure by the State to disclose exculpatory evidence. Although he acknowledges the 25 doctrine of "law of the case," Defendant selectively applies it to his allegations while 26 ignoring its full effect on his petition/this appeal. While Defendant makes a number of 27 allegations, which include an irrelevant synopsis of the views of former Deputy District 28 Attorneys Mel Harmon and Dan Seaton on discovery, Defendant fails to offer any type of 1 substantiation for these claims. Moreover, Defendant's argument neglects to include any 2 analysis pursuant to Strickland to illustrate how trial and/or appellate counsel was 3 ineffective. Instead, Defendant launches into a lengthy dissertation on issues previously 4 raised and decided on appeal.

5 A. Prosecutorial Misconduct

6 In the present case, Defendant asserts that the State coached, coerced and intimidated
7 various State's witnesses while also proffering false and prejudicial testimony before the 8 District Court. Defendant acknowledges that the issue of prosecutorial misconduct was 9 addressed by the Nevada Supreme Court, but fails to acknowledge the full extent to which 10 "law of the case" applies to this petition. "The law of first appeal is the law of the case on all 11 subsequent appeals in which the facts are substantially the same." Bejarano v. State, 106 12 Nev. 840, 841, 801 P.2d 1388, 1389 (1990). "The doctrine of law of the case cannot be 13 avoided by a more detailed and precisely focused argument substantially made after 14 reflection upon previous proceedings." Hall v. State, 91 Nev. 314, 316, 535 P.2d 797, 798-99
15 (1975). Upon review of Defendant's trial and initial penalty hearing, the Nevada Supreme 16 Court ruled that:

17 there was overwhelming evidence of Flanagan's involvement in 18 the planning and execution of the murders. Given the strength of 19 the State's case, we hold that the prosecutor's conduct did not render the determination of Flanagan's guilt fundamentally unfair.

20 Flanagan I, 104 Nev. at 107. The Court did identify five (5) areas of prosecutorial 21 misconduct during Defendant's first penalty hearing. Id. at 108. However, subsequent 22 appeals regarding further alleged prosecutorial misconduct were summarily rejected by the 23 Nevada Supreme Court under the "law of the case" doctrine as set forth in Hall v. State, 91
24 Nev. 314, 315-16, 535 P.2d 797 (1975). Flanagan IV, 112 Nev. at 1422. Thus, despite his 25 attempt to inflame this court with stories of past misconduct and unsupported allegations of 26 witness coercion, Defendant yet again raises issues that have already been decided and thus 27 require no further review. As such, Defendant's claim lacks merit and should be denied. To 28 the extent Defendant is adding new or altered claims of prosecutorial misconduct made after

1 reflection upon previous proceedings, they are barred by the law of the case. Furthermore,
2 the specific claims lack merit as stated in I.B. through I.F. herein.

3 B. Allegation Of Intimidating And Bribing Witnesses.

4 Angela Saldana stated at trial that she was to be paid $2,000.00 from the secret
5 witness program. 8 A.A., p. 1787, 1821, 1826; See also 4 A.A., p. 858. She also stated at 6 trial that it was her idea to elicit information from Defendant. 8 A.A., p. 1842-1843. Angela
7 Saldana testified that it was her Uncle and not a police officer that instructed her to get 8 additional information. 8 A.A., p. 1822. Even in Angela Saldana's declaration in 2000 it is 9 clear that she decided to investigate on her own and get information from Defendant. In 10 paragraph 5 of her declaration she states "I decided I would try to solve the crime because I 11 wanted to be a police officer ...". 30 A.A., p. 7194. During Saldana's testimony it was 12 brought out that a previous boyfriend of hers was a metro police officer. 8 A.A., p. 1796.
13 Angela Saldana was not a police agent and her potential bias or monetary motives were 14 brought to the attention of the jury at trial.

15 Defendant's allegation about intimidation of Wayne Wittig is without merit. Mr.
16 Wittig was not called as a witness by the State. Instead, Mr. Wittig was called as a witness 17 by counsel for a co-defendant. 9 A.A., p. 2062.

18 During trial, John Lucas informed the jury that he had already received $1,000.00
19 through the secret witness program and that he expected to receive an additional $1,000.00.
20 7 A.A., p. 1708. Defense counsel effectively cross-examined Mr. Lucas regarding his 21 inconsistent statements, including changing his story regarding whether he actually was 22 present when the guns were thrown into Lake Mead. It is interesting to note that the 23 declaration of John Lucas in 2000 includes statements that there was a plan for burglary that 24 included guns. "But I do know that once the idea to burglarize the Gordon's was on the 25 table there was no choice but for everyone to support the idea. 23. While the 'plan' was to 26 bring guns...." 30 A.A., p. 7143.

27 The Declaration of Rusty Havens states that during each meeting with the prosecutor
28 "I was pressed to recount my knowledge of what happened to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon." 30

1 A.A., p. 7147. There is no indication therein that Havens was intimidated into testifying to 2 something false. He was just requested to state what he knew ("recount my knowledge").

3 The Declarations of Debora L. Samples Smith and Michelle Gray Thayer do not 4 include any allegation that they were intimidated or bribed by the police. See 30 A.A., p.
5 7168, 7191. The Declaration of Roy McDowell regarding alleged intimidation of him is 6 irrelevant as he did not ever testify in any of the trials. Furthermore, his Declaration states
7 that he believed Randolph Moore could have, and should have, stopped it. 30 A.A., p. 7160.

8 This Honorable Court has previously determined that there was overwhelming 9 evidence of Defendant's guilt. See Flanagan I & IV. The claims by Defendant are belied by 10 the record, but even if they were true there is no reasonable likelihood that the judgment of 11 the jury would have been affected.

12 C. Failure to Disclose Exculpatory Evidence.

13 Defendant alleges that the State withheld statements of Robert Ramirez that allegedly 14 provide proof of Defendant's innocence. However, the declaration of Robert Ramirez
15 clearly states that he did not tell the police any information he knew. "I got a lot of heat 16 from the police because I would not give them the information they needed. They 17 continually wanted to know what information I knew." 30 A.A., p. 7189. Mr. Ramirez did 18 not give the police any information, thus the State did not have any information from him to 19 disclose to the defense. Defendant's claim is contradicted by the declaration and is without 20 merit.

21 Defendant alleges that law enforcement withheld John Lucas's statement that the 22 killings were not planned. It is interesting to note that the declaration of John Lucas in 2000
23 includes statements that there was a plan for burglary that included guns. "But I do know 24 that once the idea to burglarize the Gordon's was on the table there was no choice but for 25 everyone to support the idea. 23. While the 'plan' was to bring guns...." 30 A.A., p. 7143.

26 Defendant's assertion regarding the alleged failure to disclose exculpatory evidence 27 from Wayne Wittig's statements is without merit. Wayne Wittig testified at trial that 28 "Dale's not a very violent person at all." 9 A.A., p. 2082. Mr. Wittig testified that Dale

1 could not have done it by himself and that Dale acquiesced to Randy Moore's request to do
2 things. 9 A.A., p. 2083, 2084. Furthermore, Mr. Wittig testified at trial that Dale Flanagan
3 did not have the conscious capabilities of taking someone's life. 9 A.A., p. 2089.

4 Defendant also alleges that the State withheld the existence of Defendant's own will 5 and his planned involvement in a group "to discourage youth from participation in 6 witchcraft." Yet both of these pieces of allegedly withheld evidence were products of 7 Defendant's own doing and readily available to defense counsel at the time. See Thompson
8 v. State, 93 Nev. 342, 565 P.2d 1011 (1977). Furthermore, Defendant's first penalty phase
9 was overturned on appeal and he has had subsequent penalty phases with this information 10 disclosed and available to him.

11 Nevertheless, because Defendant's allegations are so threadbare and meritless, 12 appellate counsel was correct not to file an appeal regarding this issue and risk detracting
13 from other more meritorious appellate issues. See, Hollenback v. United States, 987 F.2d 14 1272 (7th Cir. 1993); (In order to be effective, appellate counsel need not raise every 15 conceivable issue); Kirksey v. State, 112 Nev. 980, 923 P.2d 1102 (1996).

16 D. Improper Use of Peremptory Challenges.

17 Defendant contends that the State utilized their peremptory challenges in a racially 18 discriminatory manner during the second penalty hearing. Obviously this alleged Batson 19 violation is moot given that Defendant received a third penalty hearing. Thus appellate 20 counsel cannot be held to have been ineffective since there cannot be any prejudice arising 21 from what transpired at the second of three penalty hearings.

22 E. Introduction of Evidence Regarding Witchcraft/Satanic Worship
23 and Prejudicial Information.

24 This claim is barred by the law of the case because it was raised in the first post-
25 conviction petition for writ of habeas corpus which was denied and then affirmed on appeal 26 in Flanagan IV.

27 Furthermore, Defendant inaccurately claims that the State sought to introduce at trial 28 evidence of Defendant's involvement in witchcraft and satanic worship. However, the

1 record of Nevada Supreme Court decisions shows that a co-defendant actually introduced 2 said satanic evidence. The Nevada Supreme Court found that counsel for co-defendant,
3 Johnny Ray Lockett, called a witness in Lockett's defense to testify regarding Defendant's
4 involvement in witchcraft/satanic worship. Flanagan IV, 112 Nev. at 1412. Defendant's 5 trial counsel objected to the evidence at the time it was offered, but the testimony was 6 admitted. Id. Notwithstanding its admission, the fact remains that the State did not offer the 7 evidence, and thus appellate counsel astutely did not raise this non-issue on appeal.
8 Moreover, the Nevada Supreme Court already addressed the State's use of that evidence 9 during the second penalty hearing and remanded the case for a third penalty hearing.
10 Therefore, the law of the case doctrine would necessarily preclude any further review. See 11 Hall, supra.

12 This Honorable Court has previously held that Defendant was convicted by 13 overwhelming evidence.

14 Here, there was overwhelming evidence of Flanagan's involvement in the planning
15 and execution of the murders. Given the strength of the State's case, we hold that the 16 prosecutor's conduct did not render the determination of Flanagan's guilt fundamentally unfair.

17 Flanagan v. State, 104 Nev. 105, 107, 754 P.2d 836, 837 (1988)(Flanagan I). 1

18 We characterized the evidence against Flanagan and Moore as "overwhelming" in our 19 first opinion in this case. There is no reason to change that characterization now, nor 20 has either appellant disputed the weight of the evidence against him. The evidence 21 included eyewitness testimony regarding meetings held prior to the murders where 22 appellants planned to kill the Gordons and statements made after the murders in which Flanagan admitted to killing his grandmother, Mrs. Gordon, and Moore admitted to killing Mr. Gordon. We conclude beyond a reasonable doubt that the jury looked to this evidence in convicting appellants and that the prosecutor's improper remarks did not contribute to the verdict.

23 Flanagan v. State, 112 Nev. 1409, 1420, 930 P.2d 691, 698 (1996)(Flanagan IV).
26
27

28 1 This Honorable Court also held "[w]e have examined Flanagan's other assignments of error and find them to be without merit. 104 Nev. at 112.

1 These additional scattershot allegations of prosecutorial misconduct, including 2 commenting on the right to remain silent and biblical dogma, do not warrant relief for 3 Defendant due to the overwhelming evidence of Defendant's guilt and law of the case.

4 F. Failure of Trial Court to Exercise Authority.

5 The alleged failure of the trial court to properly exercise its authority is without merit
6 as is based on underlying meritless claims. Defendant was convicted by overwhelming 7 evidence and 36 jurors believe he should die.

8 II

9 DEFENDANT'S SECOND CLAIM SHOULD BE DENIED
10 BECAUSE IT CONSISTS OF BARE/NAKED
11 ALLEGATIONS, IS BELIED AND REPELLED BY THE 12 RECORD AND ATTEMPTS TO SUPPLANT JURY
13 EVALUATION OF WITNESS CREDIBILITY

14 Defendant next alleges that the State unlawfully induced and fashioned witness 15 testimony by offering them leniency and paying them money. Even though he recognizes 16 that the State may bargain for witness testimony, Defendant erroneously presumes that such 17 bargained-for testimony was "inherently incredible and rendered the trial and sentencing 18 fundamentally unfair." In fact, Defendant again makes unsupported allegations in an attempt 19 to supplant his assessment of witness credibility for that of the jury's deliberations. Such 20 allegations can only be described as falling under the rubric of "bare" or "naked" allegations
21 as set forth in Hargrove.

22 Defendant's assertions are simply a de facto analysis that because some State's 23 witnesses (Rusty Havens ("Havens"), John Lucas ("Lucas") and Angela Saldana 24 ("Saldana")) were offered inducements to testify that their testimony was therefore scripted 25 to conform to the State's theory of Defendant's guilt. Because the witnesses mentioned by 26 Defendant in this claim were extensively cross-examined about the inducements for their 27 cooperation in testifying, Defendant's assertions are simply belied and repelled by the 28 record. See Sheriff, Humboldt County v. Acuna, 107 Nev. 664, 819 P.2d 197 (1991).

"A defendant seeking post-conviction relief is not entitled to an evidentiary hearing on factual allegations belied or repelled by the record." Hargrove, 100 Nev. at 503. Saldana

1 and Lucas were thoroughly questioned about the inducements they received or were to 2 receive upon completion of their testimony. 8 A.A., p. 1787, 1821, 1826; 7 A.A., p. 1679,
3 1708; 4 A.A., p. 858. The declaration of Rusty Havens does not even state that he received 4 money or other consideration from the State. See 30 A.A., p. 7146-7147. Reviewing the 5 cross-examination of Lucas highlights the flaw in Defendant's argument. Lucas was directly 6 questioned:

7 DEFENSE COUNSEL: And that thousand dollars, nobody gave you that 8 thousand dollars and told you you better sit there 9 and give incriminating or bad statements against any of the defendants here, did they?

10 LUCAS: No, they didn't.

11 7 A.A., p. 1703.

12 Thus, Defendant's allegations that the testimony of these three (3) was somehow 13 scripted is simply refuted by the record.

14 [w]e now conclude that bargaining for specific trial testimony, 15 i.e. testimony that is essentially consistent with the information 16 represented to be factually true during negotiations with the 17 State, and withholding the benefits of the bargain until after the 18 witness had testified, is not inconsistent with the search for truth 19 or due process. ... In accordance with the foregoing, we now embrace the rule generally prevailing in both state and federal courts, and hold that any consideration promised by the State in exchange for testimony affects only the weight accorded the testimony, and not its admissibility.

20 Acuna, 107 Nev. at 669. (Emphasis added). This Court plainly ruled that any inducement 21 for testimony merely affects the weight of that testimony, but does not preclude its 22 introduction in evidence. See also Leslie v. State, 114 Nev. 8, 952 P.2d 966 (1998).

23 Furthermore, Defendant's contention ignores the fact that the jury heard all this 24 impeaching evidence regarding inducements for testimony and obviously chose to believe 25 the witnesses' testimony. See Doyle v. State, 112 Nev. 879, 921 P.2d 901, 910 (1996) ("It is 26 the jury's function, not the reviewing court, to assess the weight of the evidence and 27 determine the credibility of witnesses. Walker v. State, 91 Nev. 724, 726, 542 P.2d 438,

DEFENDANT'S THIRD CLAIM SHOULD BE DENIED BECAUSE IT IS GOVERNED BY THE "LAW OF THE CASE" DOCTRINE

The third claim of Defendant's petition asserts that the State impermissibly used evidence of Defendant's affiliation with witchcraft and satanic worship in violation of his Constitutional rights. While he claims that such action by the State creates a per se prejudicial violation of his rights, Defendant fails to specifically allege how trial or appellate counsel was ineffective. In fact, appellate counsel raised this same claim during the appeal of Defendant's third penalty hearing. In light of that failed appeal, Defendant's contention simply disregards the doctrine of "law of the case" as this issue has already been reviewed and decided by the Nevada Supreme Court.

After the United States Supreme Court reviewed and remanded his case, the Nevada Supreme Court also remanded Defendant's case for a new penalty hearing because the State had improperly argued evidence of Defendant's religious beliefs in satanic worship during the second penalty hearing. Flanagan III, 109 Nev. at 55-57.

The Nevada Supreme Court noted that due process prohibited a harmless error analysis when the review concerns admission of evidence during a death penalty sentencing hearing. Id. However, the Court did rule in Flanagan IV that a harmless error analysis was appropriate when considering the admission of such evidence during the trial. Flanagan IV, 112 Nev. at 1418-1421. The Court held that:

[w]e characterized the evidence against Flanagan and Moore as "overwhelming" in our first opinion in this case. There is no reason to change that characterization now, nor has either appellant disputed the weight of evidence against him. ...We conclude beyond a reasonable doubt that the jury looked to this evidence in convicting appellants and that the prosecutor's improper remarks [about satanic worship] did not contribute to the verdict.

Flanagan IV, 112 Nev. at 1420. Based on the "law of the case" set forth in Hall, supra, the Nevada Supreme Court has already decided this issue, and therefore, this court need not review Defendant's third claim.

2 IV

3 DEFENDANT'S FOURTH CLAIM SHOULD BE DENIED
4 BECAUSE IT CONSISTS OF BARE/NAKED
5 ALLEGATIONS AND IS BELIED AND REPELLED BY 6 THE RECORD

7 The United States Supreme Court has set forth the standard for determining the merits
8 of a claim of ineffective assistance of counsel:

9 First, the defendant must show that counsel's performance was deficient. This 10 requires a showing that counsel made errors so serious that counsel was not functioning as 11 the counsel guaranteed the defendant by the Sixth Amendment. Second, the defendant must 12 show that the deficient performance prejudiced the defense. This requires a showing that 13 counsel's errors were so serious as to deprive the defendant of a fair trial, a trial whose result 14 is reliable. Unless a defendant makes both showings, it cannot be said that the conviction or 15 death sentence resulted from a breakdown in the adversary process that renders the result 16 unreliable.

17 Strickland v. Washington, 466 U.S. 668, 687, 104 S.Ct. 2052 (1984). The Nevada 18 Supreme Court has similarly held that a valid ineffective assistance of counsel claim must 19 demonstrate both that "counsel's performance fell below an objective standard of 20 reasonableness, and that [the Defendant] was prejudiced as a result of counsel's 21 performance." Riley v. State, 110 Nev. 638, 646, 878 P.2d 272, 277-78 (1995). Prejudice is 22 shown only by a demonstration that trial counsel's "errors were so severe that they rendered
23 the jury's verdict unreliable." Pertgen v. State, 110 Nev. 554, 558, 875 P.2d 361, 363 24 (1994).

25 In considering whether trial counsel has met this standard, the court should first 26 determine whether counsel made a "sufficient inquiry into the information... pertinent to his 27 client's case." Doleman v. State, 112 Nev. 843, 848, 921 P.2d 278, 280 (1996) citing 28 Strickland, 466 U.S. at 690-691. Once this decision is made, the court should consider whether counsel made "a reasonable strategy decision on how to proceed with his client's case." Doleman, 112 Nev. at 848 citing Strickland, 466 U.S. at 690-691. Finally, counsel's

1 strategy decision is a "tactical" decision and will be "virtually unchallengeable absent
2 extraordinary circumstances." Doleman, 112 Nev. at 848; see also, Howard v State, 106 Nev.
3 713, 722, 800 P.2d 175, 180 (1990); Strickland, 466 U.S. at 691; State v. Meeker, 693 P.2d 4 911, 917 (Ariz. 1984).

5 Based on the above law, the court begins with the presumption of effectiveness and 6 then must determine whether or not the Defendant has demonstrated, by "strong and 7 convincing proof," that counsel was ineffective. Homick v. State, 112 Nev. 304, 310, 913
8 P.2d 1280, 1285 (1996) citing Lenz v. State, 97 Nev. 65, 66, 624 P.2d 15, 16 (1981). The 9 role of a court in considering allegations of ineffective assistance of counsel, is "not to pass
10 upon the merits of the action not taken but to determine whether, under the particular facts 11 and circumstances of the case, trial counsel failed to render reasonably effective assistance."
12 Donovan v. State, 94 Nev. 671, 675, 584 P.2d 708, 711 (1978) citing Cooper v. Fitzharris, 13 551 F.2d 1162, 1166 (9th Cir. 1977). This analysis does not mean that the court should 14 "second guess reasoned choices between trial tactics nor does it mean that defense counsel, 15 to protect himself against allegations of inadequacy, must make every conceivable motion no
16 matter how remote the possibilities are of success." Donovan, 94 Nev. at 675 citing Cooper, 17 551 F.2D at 1166. In essence, the court must "judge the reasonableness of counsel's
18 challenged conduct on the facts of the particular case, viewed as of the time of counsel's
19 conduct." Strickland, 466 U.S. at 690. "A fair assessment of attorney performance requires 20 that every effort be made to eliminate the distorting effects of hindsight, to reconstruct the 21 circumstances of counsel's challenged conduct, and to evaluate the conduct from counsel's 22 perspective at the time." Kirksey v. State, 112 Nev. 980, 987-988, 923 P.2d 1102, 1107 23 (1996).

24 Defendant's fourth claim specifically alleges that counsel at the guilt phase and at 25 each of the penalty hearings was ineffective for a whole plethora of reasons. However, 26 Defendant engages in exactly the kind of "second guessing" discouraged by the Nevada
27 Supreme Court when assessing allegations of ineffective assistance of counsel. See 28 Donovan v. State, 94 Nev. 671, 675, 584 P.2d 708, 711 (1978); Kirksey v. State, 112 Nev.

1 980, 987-988, 923 P.2d 1102, 1107 (1996). Furthermore, Defendant's allegations embody
2 either bare/naked allegations or are belied and repelled by the record of the case. See
3 Hargrove, supra. For the ease of consideration, the State will respond to Defendant's
4 numbered assertions in three (3) separate sections -- one section for the trial and first penalty
5 hearing and one section for each of the subsequent penalty hearings.

6 A. Trial and First Penalty Hearing

7 Defendant's allegations that trial counsel (Atty. Randall Pike) was ineffective span a 8 number of claims including failure to conduct adequate pre-trial investigation, failure to 9 effectively cross examine State witnesses and failure to adequately prepare for the penalty
10 hearing. However, as previously noted, most of Defendant's assertions consist of bare/naked 11 allegations or are simply belied and repelled by the record.

12 As noted earlier, claims of ineffective assistance of counsel during the guilt phase
13 could have been raised during Defendant's first petition for writ of habeas corpus in 1995.
14 Defendant has failed to allege good cause and prejudice for the failure to bring such claims 15 in the prior proceeding as required by NRS 34.810.

16 Defendant's first substantial allegation of ineffective assistance of counsel is that 17 Atty. Pike failed to conduct any investigation to prepare for trial. An entirely bare/naked 18 allegation unto itself, Defendant's contention is also belied and repelled by the record of 19 Atty. Pike's cross examination of State's witnesses. Atty. Pike competently highlighted the 20 inconsistencies surrounding the testimony of State witnesses and other credibility issues
21 during cross examination. 6 A.A., p. 1263; 7 A.A., p. 1538, 1539, 1542, 1547, 1550, 1674, 22 1676, 1677, 1679; 8 A.A., p. 1821, 1822, 1826, 1829-1830, 1914; 9 A.A., p. 2158; 10 A.A.,
23 p. 2297. Moreover, any allegations surrounding Atty. Pike's preparation for the penalty 24 hearing are moot as Defendant was granted a new penalty hearing by the Nevada Supreme 25 Court. See Flanagan I.

26 Defendant next contends that Atty. Pike was ineffective for not investigating or 27 presenting a defense based on diminished capacity. Yet again, this allegation merely 28

1 claims that Defendant was on a "three-day drug and alcohol binge...immediately preceding
2 the crimes." Without an affidavit or any more specific offer of proof, this allegation can 3 only be described as bare/naked and unworthy of the court's consideration. Moreover, the 4 witnesses that testified at trial did not indicate that Defendant was on a drug and alcohol 5 binge immediately preceding the crimes.

6 Defendant also alleges that Atty. Pike neglected to conduct any investigation into 7 some of the details of the crime itself. Defendant particularly points to inconsistencies
8 between testimony and physical evidence; furthermore, Defendant also emphasizes that no
9 fingerprints of any defendant were found at the crime scene. Yet, Defendant doesn't explain
10 what inconsistencies were allegedly present nor does he acknowledge that the Nevada 11 Supreme Court already found the quantum of evidence against Defendant was 12 "overwhelming." Flanagan IV, 112 Nev. at 1420.

13 Defendant next asserts that Attorney Pike was ineffective for not determining that 14 Defendant was incompetent due to psychotropic medication he was taking at the time of 15 trial. Such a claim is simply belied and repelled by the record of Defendant's appearance in 16 court. See also State's Argument below in Section V. During the Petrocelli hearing 17 conducted by the District Court, Defendant clearly and coherently was able to answer the 18 required series of questions illustrating his mental clarity. See also 9 A.A., p. 2122-2125.
19 Furthermore, Defendant was able to read a coherent unsworn statement to the jury in the 20 penalty phase which occurred shortly after the guilt phase. 12 A.A., p. 2774-2775.

21 Defendant then alleges that Attorney Pike was ineffective for not moving to continue 22 the case in order to better prepare for trial. Once again Defendant's claim is belied and 23 repelled by the record in that he conducted a thorough cross-examination of the State's 24 witnesses as previously stated.

25 Defendant also accuses Atty. Pike of being ineffective for failing to challenge the 26 complaint, for failing to file a motion in limine to preclude any witchcraft evidence and for 27 failing to object to the court-designed exercise of peremptory challenges. Yet such claims 28 are both belied and repelled by the record and are subject to the doctrine of "law of the case"

1 (See Hall, supra). A simple check of the record of the case shows that the complaint,
2 amended complaint and information all charged Defendant with two (2) counts of murder. 1
3 A.A., p. 4-6, 19-24, 237-243. Furthermore, as previously argued in Section III above, the 4 doctrine of “law of the case” governs Defendant’s claim regarding the witchcraft evidence.
5 Similarly, Defendant’s objection to the court-designed exercise of peremptory challenges has 6 already been considered by the Nevada Supreme Court during Defendant’s first appeal and 7 deemed to be without merit. See 13 A.A., p. 3108-3109; Flanagan I.

8 Defendant next makes a repeat argument that Atty. Pike was ineffective because he 9 failed to request investigative funds from the court. Again, such a contention is repudiated
10 by the “overwhelming” evidence against Defendant and consists of substantially a 11 bare/naked allegation. See Hargrove, supra.

12 Defendant also asserts that Atty. Pike was ineffective because he “failed to press for a 13 change of venue.” However, this assertion ignores the fact that Atty. Pike did file a Motion
14 for Change of Venue. 2 A.A., p. 388-390. Moreover, Atty. Pike did argue before the District
15 Court that a change of venue would be necessary if the jury pool was too small after the jury 16 voir dire. 4 A.A., p. 856. Atty. Pike’s approach was in compliance with Nevada law that 17 requires such a motion to be made after voir dire. Ford v. State, 102 Nev. 126, 717 P.2d 27
18 (1986); Cutler v. State, 93 Nev. 329, 566 P.2d 809 (1977). Thus, Defendant’s assertion is 19 belied and repelled by the record of Atty. Pike’s work. See Hargrove, supra.

20 In the next claim, Defendant repeats an argument claiming that Atty. Pike failed to 21 effectively cross examine State’s witnesses regarding inconsistencies in their testimony.
22 This claim too is belied and repelled by the record as Atty. Pike had highlighted the 23 inconsistencies and challenged the credibility of several State’s witnesses. 6 A.A., p. 1263;
24 7 A.A., p. 1538, 1539, 1542, 1547, 1550, 1674, 1676, 1677, 1679; 8 A.A., p. 1821, 1822, 25 1826, 1829-1830, 1914; 9 A.A., p. 2158; 10 A.A., p. 2297. Defendant then alleges that Atty.
26 Pike failed to cross examine witnesses “on certain key factual issues” such as why there 27 were no glass shards found near where the defendants broke into the victims’ home. Again, 28 the “law of the case” would make this alleged error irrelevant in light of the “overwhelming”

1 evidence. Moreover, assuming arguendo that an error had occurred, any error was harmless
2 at best in light of such substantial evidence against Defendant. See Flanagan I.

3 Furthering the cross examination allegations, Defendant contends that Atty. Pike was 4 ineffective for not sufficiently cross-examining Wayne Wittig ("Wittig") to portray the 5 weaknesses of Wittig's testimony. Yet after some fifteen (15) years of hindsight to second-
6 guess, Wayne Wittig's declaration provides no proof to support these bare/naked allegations
7 that Wittig lacked personal knowledge concerning the facts to which he testified. Mr.
8 Wittig's declaration does not state that he lied or did not have any personal knowledge. It
9 merely states that he believed defendant did not commit the crime and he would have liked
10 to have been able to testify more favorably for Defendant. See 30 A.A., p. 7170-7183.
11 Defendant simply claims that Wittig's testimony had the same errors as newspaper articles 12 about the trial without any substantiation.

13 The State previously addressed the declaration of Robert Ramirez in Section I.C.
14 herein. Furthermore, the declaration of Ramirez constitutes hearsay within hearsay.

15 Defendant's ensuing contention is that Atty. Pike was ineffective for not investigating 16 Angela Saldana's ("Saldana") criminal record for cross examination purposes. However, 17 Atty. Pike thoroughly covered inconsistencies in Saldana's testimony during cross
18 examination. 8 A.A., p. 1821, 1822, 1826, 1829-1830. Atty. Pike elicited testimony 19 regarding Saldana's potential receipt of $2,000 for the information she provided to the 20 police. (Id.).

21 Defendant erroneously asserts that Atty. Pike failed to object to the witchcraft 22 evidence that Lockett proffered. However, Atty. Pike repeatedly preserved objections for 23 the record and moved for a mistrial. See 6 A.A., p. 1231; 9 A.A., p. 2061-2062, 2118.
24 Furthermore, Atty. Pike filed a motion for severance from Lockett. 2 A.A., p. 401-410. It 25 should also be noted that Defendant raised the issue alleging the trial court erred in denying 26 Defendant's motion for severance on direct appeal in 1986. See 13 A.A., p. 3065. This 27 Honorable Court denied that claim when it held "[w]e have examined Flanagan's other 28 assignments of error and find them to be without merit." 104 Nev. at 112 (Flanagan I).

1        Additionally, Defendant's claim is that Atty. Pike failed to object to the presence of 2 armed guards in the courtroom or to the jury allegedly having seen Defendant in shackles.
3 This argument is refuted by the holding of McKenna v. State, 114 Nev. 1044, 968 P.2d 739,
4 743 (1998) in which the Nevada Supreme Court concluded that no actual prejudice to the 5 defendant had been shown by the presence of SWAT officers in the courtroom.

6        Defendant next maintains that Atty. Pike was ineffective for not conducting an 7 adequate mitigation investigation. This claim is simply moot given that Defendant was 8 granted two (2) more penalty hearings.

9        Defendant's last set of allegations against Atty. Pike are that he was ineffective for 10 not objecting to and for not offering any jury instructions during the penalty hearing.
11 Defendant specifically suggests that an objection to the "great risk" factor should have been 12 made and an instruction to require a "nexus between the burglary and robbery" should have 13 been requested. Yet again, Defendant fails to consider the history of this case and to 14 acknowledge that the Nevada Supreme Court has already ruled upon these frivolous issues.
15 The Nevada Supreme Court previously held that the great risk factor was appropriate and 16 that sufficient evidence was presented to support that aggravating factor. Flanagan IV, 112
17 Nev. at 1421. Addressing previous arguments about the jury instructions, the Court also 18 ruled that "[w]e see no merit to Flanagan's argument anyway." Id. at 1422. Moreover, 19 Defendant's assertion that a "nexus" should have been required between the burglary and 20 robbery has no legal basis or justification whatsoever. Thus the "law of the case" doctrine
21 nullifies any claim that Atty. Pike was ineffective for failing to object or request such jury 22 instructions.

23        B. Second Penalty Hearing

24        All of Defendant's allegations regarding the second penalty hearing are moot as 25 Defendant was granted a third penalty hearing. In addition, Defendant makes more of the 26 same bare/naked allegations that cannot support a need for an evidentiary hearing. As such 27 no evidentiary hearing is required to rule on Defendant's petition. See Rippo v. State, 113 28 Nev. 1239, 946 P.2d 1017, 1024 (1996)(Court held that "absent factual grounds which

1 would allow for a reasonable inference” of ineffective assistance, petitioner was not entitled 2 to an evidentiary hearing).

3 C. Third Penalty Hearing

4 Defendant claims that poor communication between Ms. Blaskey and Mr. Wall led to 5 ineffective representation. Defendant supports this assertion with examples gleaned from the 6 testimony of Rebecca Blaskey. However, the testimony of David Wall is not consistent with 7 the testimony of Ms. Blaskey. As such, Defendant has failed to present strong and 8 convincing proof that poor communication between his attorneys resulted in ineffective 9 assistance.

10 Ms. Blaskey claims that the strained relationship between her and Mr. Wall prevented 11 them from engaging in planning sessions for Defendant’s case. 30 A.A., p. 7340. However, 12 Mr. Wall testified that he and Ms. Blaskey did have discussions regarding strategy in the 13 Flanagan case. 31 A.A., p. 7388. According to Mr. Wall, their offices were very close and 14 there were frequent informal discussions regarding the case in addition to more formal 15 strategy sessions. 31 A.A., p. 7389. Defendant also cites to Ms. Blaskey’s testimony that Mr.
16 Wall went golfing rather than meeting his client at Ely State Prison. 30 A.A., p. 7349. Mr.
17 Wall categorically denied that he canceled his trip to Ely so he could play golf. 30 A.A., p.
18 7383.

19 Finally, Defendant claims that poor communication between Ms. Blaskey and Mr.
20 Wall led to the delayed examination of Defendant and to the State’s devastating cross-
21 examination of Dr. Etcoff. In Bean v. Calderon, 163 F.3d 1073, 1078 (1998), the attorneys 22 had not prepared for the penalty phase, had ignored recommendations from experts for 23 further examinations of the defendant, and had failed to furnish experts with requested
24 information regarding the social, medical and educational history of the defendant. Id. This 25 behavior is easily distinguishable from the attorneys’ efforts in the instant case.

26 David Wall testified that Dr. Etcoff’s examination of Defendant was delayed because 27 Defendant was not transported from state prison as early as the District Court order
28 requested. 31 A.A., p. 7394. As a result, the examination was delayed and Dr. Etcoff did not

1 have time to prepare a report. 30 A.A., p. 7369. Thus, the Court ordered defense counsel to 2 turn over Dr. Etcoff's raw data because he did not have enough time to prepare a report. 30
3 A.A., p. 7381.

4 Ms. Blaskey also testified that due to lack of communication, there was confusion
5 regarding the preparation of Dr. Etcoff for trial. 30 A.A., p. 7369. However, David Wall
6 testified that he was responsible for communicating with and preparing Dr. Etcoff for trial.
7 31 A.A., p. 7393. David Wall also testified that he did prepare Dr. Etcoff for trial prior to the 8 third penalty hearing. 31 A.A., p. 7393. In addition, Ms. Blaskey indicated that she did not 9 have any idea how much time Mr. Wall spent preparing Dr. Etcoff for trial. 30 A.A., p.
10 7346. David Wall testified that he did not believe that the tension between him and Ms.
11 Blaskey affected the quality of representation that Defendant received in his third guilt
12 phase. 31 A.A., p. 7395. Defendant has not proven that his attorneys provided ineffective 13 assistance of counsel due to an alleged lack of communication.

14 Even if this Court finds that Defendant's trial attorneys provided deficient
15 representation due to their personal conflicts, Defendant's appeal should not be granted.
16 According to the Supreme Court, "An error by counsel, even if professionally unreasonable, 17 does not warrant setting aside the judgment of a criminal proceeding if the error had no 18 effect on the judgment." Strickland, 466 U.S. at 691. Defendant has failed to demonstrate 19 that the conflict between his trial attorneys, Rebecca Blaskey and David Wall, prejudiced 20 him.

21 In his petition, Defendant claims that he is exempt from proving the prejudice 22 requirement under Strickland because of the conflict between his two attorneys. In support of 23 this assertion, Defendant cites to Strickland v. Washington, 466 U.S. at 687 and Cuyler v.
24 Sullivan, 446 U.S. 335, 100 S.Ct. 1708 (1980). Defendant's reliance on these cases is 25 misguided. Strickland indicates that a defendant need not demonstrate he was prejudiced by 26 his attorney's actions where there is a true conflict of interest; in such a circumstance the 27 defendant need only demonstrate that conflict had an adverse effect on his case. The 28 Supreme Court cites United States v. Cuyler, in making this determination. United State v.

1 Cuyler, describes a professional conflict of interest where the attorney represented multiple 2 co-defendants in the same criminal case. It does not discuss personality conflicts between 3 two attorneys representing the same Defendant. Defendant has presented no evidence of an 4 actual conflict as envisioned by the Supreme Court in Strickland. As such, Defendant must 5 demonstrate he was prejudiced by his attorneys' actions in order to demonstrate he received 6 ineffective assistance of counsel.

7 Ms. Blaskey testified that if communication between her and David Wall had been 8 better, she would have insisted on a continuance of the penalty hearing so Defendant's 9 grandmother and other witnesses could be present at the penalty hearing. 30 A.A., p. 7358.
10 Defendant has failed to demonstrate that the presence of his grandmother and other 11 witnesses during his third penalty hearing would have created a different outcome in the 12 case. One of the witnesses, Gary Hoffman, was deceased and could not be at the hearing. 30
13 A.A., p. 7359. Both of the other witnesses, the prison guard and Defendant's grandmother, 14 had testified at Defendant's second penalty hearing. 30 A.A., p. 7359-7360. The transcript of 15 both of these witnesses was read into the record during the third penalty hearing. 30 A.A., p.
16 7361, 7384. Ms. Blaskey testified that she could not say that Defendant would have received 17 less than the death penalty if these two witnesses had testified, in person, at the penalty trial.
18 30 A.A., p. 7361.

19 As I sit here, I cannot say if we only had more time we would have gotten this or that 20 or that I would have thought that at the time because I don't have any recollection of thinking that.

21 30 A.A., p. 7384. Ms. Blaskey and Mr. Wall testified that when all three of the witnesses had 22 testified in person during the second penalty hearing, the jury still returned a death verdict.
23 30 A.A., p. 7361; 31 A.A., p. 7385. As such, Defendant cannot demonstrate that he was 24 prejudiced by the reading of transcript of his grandmother and the prison guard.

25 In addition, Defendant was not prejudiced by the lack of communication regarding 26 Ms. Blaskey's filing of a Motion for a New Trial without consulting Mr. Wall. Because Mr.
27 Wall believed the motion was incorrectly filed, Ms. Blaskey's prior motion was withdrawn 28 and the motion was redrafted. 30 A.A., p. 7348, 7365. After the motion was redrafted, it was

1 addressed by the Nevada Supreme Court. 30 A.A., p. 7365. Because the motion was 2 ultimately reviewed by the Supreme Court, Defendant cannot demonstrate that he was 3 prejudiced.

4 Defendant claims that he was most prejudiced by lack of communication with respect
5 to Dr. Etcoff's testimony. Ms. Blaskey testified that she believed that had there been better
6 communication, Dr. Etcoff's testimony would have been better and Defendant would not 7 have received the death penalty. 30 A.A., p. 7370-7371. Ms. Blaskey testified that she 8 believed that the fact that the prosecutor had the raw data allowed them to conduct a 9 damaging cross-examination. 30 A.A., p. 7369.

10 As a result of the prison's delay in transporting Defendant to Las Vegas, Dr. Etcoff 11 had a shortened amount of time to conduct his examination of defendant. 31 A.A., p. 7394.
12 Dr. Etcoff was not able to prepare a report and was ordered by the District Court to turn over 13 his raw data. 30 A.A., p. 7381. Prior to the penalty hearing, Mr. Wall prepared Dr. Etcoff for 14 the hearing. 31 A.A., p. 7393. David Wall testified that they didn't get the outcome they 15 were hoping for, but he didn't recall being disappointed with his testimony. 31 A.A., p.
16 7381.

17 What was contained in that raw data was in no way affected by the alleged strained
18 relationship between Ms. Blaskey and Mr. Wall. The fact that the State was able to conduct 19 an effective cross-examination has nothing to do with Defendant's representation.
20 Defendant's attorneys had no control over his late transport from prison to Las Vegas. Dr.
21 Etcoff conducted an examination of Defendant and was ordered to turn the raw data over to 22 the State. After David Wall prepared Dr. Etcoff for trial, the State conducted a damaging 23 cross-examination. Ms. Blaskey admitted that the data used by the State to conduct cross-24 examination would have been the same regardless of the communications between her and 25 Mr. Wall. 30 A.A., p. 7370. As such, Defendant cannot demonstrate that he was prejudiced 26 by his attorney's strained relationship. Defendant has failed to meet the burden of 27 demonstrating his counsel was ineffective. The trier of fact was present to observe the 28

1 demeanor of the two attorneys at the evidentiary hearing and resolved the inconsistencies
2 between their testimonies in favor of Mr. Wall's version.

3 Essentially, Defendant is now second guessing what Defense counsel might have 4 done differently or better. As Ms. Blaskey admitted, trial lawyers who do not achieve a 5 favorable result often think in hindsight. 30 A.A., p. 7371. This approach is specifically 6 rejected as a means of determining whether counsel was effective in Strickland v.
7 Washington, 466 U.S. 668, 689, 104 S.Ct. 2052, 2065 (1984).

8 Defendant alleges, via the declaration of Julie A. Kriegler, Ph.D. (30 A.A., p. 7207), 9 that he was abused by his grandparents (victims) and his father. On page 38 of Defendant's 10 Opening Brief he alleges severe physical abuse at the hands of his grandparents. However, 11 Dr. Kriegler's declaration does not support this allegation of physical abuse by the Gordons 12 (victims/grandparents), but indicates that Defendant was punished by "forcing him to 13 perform senseless tasks such as digging ditches or raking rocks in the pasture." 30 A.A., p.
14 7222-7223. Of greater significance is that Defendant told Dr. Etcoff that the Gordons 15 (victims/grandparents) had not physically abused him and had treated him well.

16 Surprised in the sense that from what Mr. Flanagan had told me, his grandparents had 17 taken him over the summers, for weeks and weeks at a time most every summer, and 18 had treated him well. He hadn't been hurt by his grandparents; he hadn't been molested by his grandparents; he hadn't been beaten by his grandparents; he had nothing against his grandparents.

19 24 A.A., p. 5774 (1995 trial testimony / third penalty hearing). See also 24 A.A., p. 5764.

20 Contrary to Defendants assertions, counsel for the 1995 penalty hearing were 21 effective in presenting evidence of the terrible childhood he endured, that he was not 22 typically violent, and that he had changed since the murders into a religious and helpful
23 person. Coreen McWhorter, Defendant's sister, testified in the 1995 penalty hearing that 24 Defendant's family life growing up was "terrible" and that he was physically and mentally 25 abused by his father. 24 A.A., p. 5671, 5675. Defendant's sister also testified that 26 Defendant moved out of the family home when he was 15 years old and got a job and took 27 care of himself. 24 A.A., p. 5686.

1 Dr. Louis Etcoff, a licensed psychologist, testified during the 1995 penalty trial that 2 there is an excellent chance that Defendant would be nonviolent in the future. 24 A.A., p.
3 5828. Dr. Etcoff spent six (6) hours with Defendant interviewing him and conducting tests
4 at his office. 24 A.A., p. 5741-5742. Dr. Etcoff testified regarding the physical abuse that 5 Defendant received at the hands of his father. 24 A.A., p. 5745, 5758. Dr. Etcoff testified
6 regarding Defendant's drug and alcohol use. 24 A.A., p. 5763. Dr. Etcoff also testified that 7 Defendant had detached himself from his family because of some traumatic experience as a 8 child. 24 A.A., p. 5757.

9 Janelee Hoffman testified in 1995 regarding Defendant's Bible studies after being 10 incarcerated as well as the positive letters he had written to other troubled teenagers. 23
11 A.A., p. 5585, 5587. Ms. Hoffman testified how Defendant sent her a big envelope of 12 stamps from prison one time when she was having financial problems. 23 A.A., p. 5589.
13 Chaplain Dean M. Haywood testified that he Baptized Defendant after he was incarcerated.
14 23 A.A., p. 5644. Chaplain Haywood testified regarding Defendant's Bible studies and 15 Defendant's ministering to others. 23 A.A., p. 5645, 5651-5652. The testimony of 16 Defendant's other grandmother, Mary Howard, was read into evidence which included Bible
17 certificates and how Defendant is a completely different person now. 24 A.A., p. 5694, 18 5696.

19 Warden Sherman Hatcher and Bud Hlavaty testified regarding Defendant's good 20 conduct in prison (with the exception of one minor write-up) during his ten years of 21 incarceration. 23 A.A., p. 5609, 5620.

22 Counsel for Defendant were not ineffective in their representation of Defendant in the 23 third penalty trial (1995). Evidence was presented of the terrible childhood and how 24 Defendant was now a better person in an effort to spare him from the death penalty.
25 Defendant's new contention that his grandparents physically abused him is belied by the 26 record. Defendant's claim that his counsel were ineffective is without merit.

VI

Defendant's fifth claim is that Attorney Pike was apparently ineffective for not seeking an evaluation as to Defendant's competency to stand trial. Not only does Defendant fail to offer any affidavit that documents the "substantial doses of psychotropic medications which may have rendered him incompetent to stand trial" but he also overlooks the fact that his allegation is belied and repelled by the record. On May 29, 1985, Psychiatrist Ivan Aralica, M.D. rendered the opinion that Defendant "is fully competent to stand trial." 29 A.A., p. 7110. During the Petrocelli hearing conducted by the District Court, Defendant was able to coherently answer all of the questions posed to him. See also 9 A.A., p. 2122-2125. Furthermore, Defendant was able to read a coherent unsworn statement to the jury in the penalty phase which occurred shortly after the guilt phase. 12 A.A., p. 2774-2775. Such clear communication with the court refutes Defendant's contention that he was unable "to fully comprehend the nature of the charges against him and the magnitude of the penalty he faced." Thus, Defendant's claim did not merit an evidentiary hearing in light of Hargrove, supra.

Defendant's trial commenced on September 26, 1985 and testimony closed in the guilt phase on October 9, 1985. The penalty phase commenced on October 14, 1985. Defendant included in his Appendix medical records from the Clark County Detention Center. 29 A.A., p. 7082-7134. However, in his brief he fails to identify the specific psychotropic medication(s) that were allegedly given to him involuntarily. Furthermore, a review of the Appendix indicates that no psychotropic medications were given to Defendant from the middle of September 1985 through the beginning of October 1985. Regardless, Defendant's claim that any medical treatment and medication he received was involuntary is belied by the record. On May 25, 1985, Defendant asked for assistance because he had "developed a condition wich (sic) could led (sic) me to my self destruction." 29 A.A., p.

1 7090. Defendant was placed on suicide watch on more than one occasion during his 2 incarceration prior to trial.

3 A court need not consider whether to allow forced medication for that kind of purpose 4 (interest in rendering the defendant competent to stand trial), if forced medication is 5 warranted for a different purpose, such as the purposes set out in Harper related to the 6 individual's dangerousness, or purposes related to the individual's own interests
7 where refusal to take drugs puts his health gravely at risk. 494 U.S., at 225-226, 110
S.Ct. 1028. There are often strong reasons for a court to determine whether forced administration of drugs can be justified on these alternative grounds before turning to the trial competence question.

8 Sell v. United States, 539 U.S. 166, 181-182, 123 S.Ct. 2174, 2185 (2003).

9 Defendant has made general allegations without specifying the particular medication
10 and where evidence thereof can be found in the record. Defendant has failed to show that he 11 was medicated involuntarily during the relevant time period in September and October of 12 1985. Defendant's claim is a bare and naked allegation that was properly dismissed.

14 DEFENDANT'S SIXTH CLAIM SHOULD BE DENIED 15 BECAUSE IT IS BELIED AND REPELLED BY THE 16 RECORD

17 In his sixth claim of error, Defendant asserts that his conviction and sentence are 18 invalid because of the prejudicial atmosphere of the Eighth Judicial District Court and 19 because of the failure of the District Court to permit a change of venue. Defendant assigns
20 error to Atty. Pike as ineffective counsel for not forcing the District Court to allow a change 21 of venue. Yet again this allegation is belied and repelled by the record and is discredited by 22 Defendant's own speculation regarding prospective jurors.

23 While he recognizes that Atty. Pike filed a motion in limine for a change of venue, 24 Defendant fails to carefully read the record and the sound reasoning behind Atty. Pike's
25 action. At a pre-trial hearing, Atty. Pike specifically agreed with the District Court to delay
26 ruling on the motion in the event that an impartial jury was not attained from the jury venire
27 as was required by Nevada case law. See Ford, supra; Cutler, supra. In doing so, Atty. Pike 28 gave Defendant a preview of what the prospective jurors were thinking about the case without losing the right to argue for a change of venue; in essence, Atty. Pike gave

1 Defendant "two bites of the apple" on the issue of juror bias and impartiality. Moreover,
2 Defendant's own examples illustrate Atty. Pike's strategy and the effective safeguards of 3 jury voir dire. Both prospective jurors candidly answered that they had pre-trial knowledge
4 of Defendant's case through the media and that they had formed an opinion about the case.
5 However, neither prospective juror mentioned any specifics facts about the case nor can 6 Defendant assert beyond mere speculation that any other potential juror heard these 7 innocuous remarks. Once again, Defendant fails to offer any affidavit or offers of proof to 8 support his claim that the jury was somehow tainted by these voir dire statements. As such, 9 this claim is unworthy of review by the court.

VII

DEFENDANT'S SEVENTH CLAIM SHOULD BE DENIED BECAUSE IT CONSISTS SOLELY OF A BARE/NAKED ALLEGATION

14 Defendant's seventh allegation, simply a recitation of what he believes the jury 15 selection process in Clark County to be, does not support a claim of ineffective assistance of 16 counsel. Moreover, despite his citation to Census statistics and his belief about what the 17 Jury Commissioner's Office does upon receipt of jury summonses, Defendant's bare/naked
18 allegation fails to make any analysis under the Strickland standard for ineffective assistance
19 of counsel. Defendant has failed to provide any support in the record for his claim that there 20 were no African Americans present in the jury pools for all of his trials. Furthermore, 21 Defendant neglects to show how he was prejudiced by the alleged all-white jury that 22 convicted the Caucasian Defendant.

23 Notwithstanding his constitutional entreaties to the court, Defendant's allegations are 24 without merit upon close examination.

VIII

DEFENDANT'S EIGHTH CLAIM SHOULD BE DENIED BECAUSE IT FAILS TO MEET THE STANDARD FOR INEFFECTIVE ASSISTANCE OF COUNSEL UNDER STRICKLAND

Defendant next contends that his conviction is invalid because Atty. Pike was forced to jointly exercise peremptory challenges with counsel for the co-defendants and because the District Court failed to grant him an additional peremptory when there was a disagreement about the last challenge to be used. Defendant cites to United States v. McClendon, 782 F.2d 785 (9th Cir. 1986) in support of his argument, but fails to correctly apply the holding of that case. In McClendon, two (2) co-defendants were on trial for a series of bank robberies. McClendon, 782 F.2d at 786. After a disagreement arose over the exercise of the last two (2) peremptory challenges, the defendants objected because the trial court refused to grant additional challenges. Id. at 787. The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals held that:

there is no "right" to additional peremptory challenges in multiple defendant cases...[and that]...[d]isagreement between co-defendant on the exercise of joint peremptory challenges does not mandate a grant of additional challenges unless defendants demonstrate that the jury ultimately selected is not impartial or representative of the community. Id. at 787-88.

In the present case, Defendant has failed to show that the jury selected was not impartial or representative of the community. In fact, Defendant points out that seven (7) of eight (8) challenges were agreed upon by counsel for all the defendants. Claiming that the exercise of one (1) challenge creates a non-representative jury is tenuous at best. Furthermore, besides making a sweeping unsupported statement that the jury was not representative, Defendant neglects to make any analysis under the Strickland standard regarding this alleged error of the District Court. Defendant has not shown how he was prejudiced either in light of Strickland or McClendon.

Additionally, Defendant's argument is contrary to longstanding case law in Nevada on this very subject. In White v. State, 83 Nev. 292, 296, 429 P.2d 55 (1967), the Nevada Supreme Court upheld such joint exercise of peremptory challenges based upon NRS

1 175.015<sup>2</sup>. See also Doyle v. State, 82 Nev. 242, 415 P.2d 323 (1966); Anderson v. State, 81
2 Nev. 477, 406 P.2d 532 (1965). Therefore, Defendant's allegation does not warrant an 3 evidentiary hearing.

5 DEFENDANT'S NINTH CLAIM SHOULD BE DENIED
6 BECAUSE IT LACKS MERIT AS A BARE/NAKED
7 ALLEGATION

8 Defendant maintains that his conviction is invalid because the District Court required 9 certain objections and motions to be made to the court reporter out of the presence of the 10 jury. Defendant claims that this process somehow impaired his ability to present a defense 11 "because the jury was given the mistaken impression that [Defendant] had no meaningful 12 defense to certain evidence, eliminating possible bases for reasonable doubt." Defendant 13 evidently is claiming that the jury has a right to hear meritless objections, and he cites no 14 case law to support this novel proposition. In fact, this entire argument is utterly devoid of 15 any authority to support his claim that the trial judge somehow violated a constitutional 16 right. Defendant fails to consider that any contemporaneous objections made at trial would 17 be subject to a bench conference out of the presence of the jury anyway. Moreover, the 18 objection process instituted by the District Court in no way prevented Defendant from cross 19 examining witnesses or from putting on his own case-in-chief.

21 DEFENDANT'S TENTH CLAIM SHOULD BE DENIED
23 ALLEGATION AND INCORRECTLY APPLIES THE 24 SECOND PRONG OF THE STRICKLAND STANDARD

25 The same benchmark of review applies to cases of alleged ineffectiveness of 26 appellate counsel. In order to be effective, appellate counsel need not raise every 27 conceivable issue. Hollenback v. United States, 987 F.2d 1272, 1275 (7th Cir. 1993); Mann

28 <sup>2</sup>NRS 175.015(now 175.041) reads in pertinent part:

1 v. State, 856 P.2d 992, 994 (Okla.Crim.App. 1993), cert. denied, 511 U.S. 1100, 114 S.Ct.
2 1869 (1994). In fact, appellate counsel does not even have to raise every nonfrivolous issue.
3 Chief Justice Burger, writing for the majority in Jones v. Barnes, 463 U.S. 745, 103 S.Ct.
4 3308 (1983), quoted Justice Jackson:

5           Legal contentions, like currency, depreciate through over-issue.
6           The mind of an appellate judge is habitually receptive to the 7           suggestion that a lower court committed error. But receptiveness
8           declines as the number of assigned errors increases. Multiplicity 9           hints at lack of confidence in any one ... [E]xperience on the bench convinces me that multiplying assignments of error will dilute and weaken a good cause and will not save a bad one.
          (Citations omitted).

10 Id at 752, 103 S.Ct. at 3313.

11           In Jones, the Court reversed a lower court which had held that appellate counsel must 12 raise every nonfrivolous issue requested by the defendant and found that “a brief that raises 13 every colorable issue runs the risk of burying good arguments.” Id at 753, 103 S.Ct. at 3313.
14 The Court emphasized that “[e]xperienced advocates since time beyond memory have 15 emphasized the importance of winnowing out weaker arguments on appeal and focusing on 16 one central issue if possible or at most a few key issues.” Id at 751-52, 103 S.Ct. at 3313.
17 The Court continued, “for judges to second-guess reasonable professional judgments and 18 impose on appointed counsel a duty to raise every ‘colorable’ claim suggested by a client
19 would disserve the very goal of vigorous and effective advocacy that underlies Anders v.
20 California, 368 U.S. 738, 87 S.Ct. 1396 (1967)].” Id at 754, 103 S.Ct. at 3314. Thus, a truly 21 effective appellate counsel raises only meritorious issues on appeal.

22           Defendant’s tenth claim addresses the alleged ineffectiveness of all three (3) appellate 23 counsel that worked on each of Defendant’s appeals following conviction and sentence.
24 Defendant alleges that all three (3) appellate counsel were ineffective for not raising on 25 appeal many of the claims that he now makes in this petition. Once again, Defendant’s 26 petition makes baseless allegations while employing the incorrect standard for review under 27 Strickland.

1 Defendant primarily faults appellate counsel with lacking the resources and time to 2 effectively prepare his case for appeal on three (3) separate occasions. Utilizing the 3 “distorting effects of hindsight,” Defendant blames appellate counsel for not raising certain 4 issues which were, in fact, raised on appeal. The United States Supreme Court and the 5 Nevada Supreme Court both ruled on Defendant’s First Amendment rights in light of the 6 witchcraft evidence introduced at trial and argued during the penalty hearings. See Flanagan
7 II; Flanagan III. Moreover, Defendant’s first appellate counsel did raise the issue of 8 prosecutorial misconduct during closing arguments as part of Defendant’s first appeal to the 9 Nevada Supreme Court. See Flanagan I. Not only is such an argument disingenuous to this 10 court, but it simply ignores the long appellate history of Defendant’s case. Beyond that, 11 appellate counsels’ tactical decisions not to raise every possible issue on appeal, as 12 Defendant now suggests, would have worked to enhance the likelihood of success for those 13 meritorious claims that were appealed. See Hollenback, 987 F.2d 1272, 1275 (7th Cir.
14 1993); Jones, 463 U.S. 745, 103 S.Ct. 3308 (1983). As such, Defendant’s unfounded
15 contentions are rejected by the “law of the case” doctrine. See Hall, supra.

16 Additionally, Defendant’s allegations incorrectly apply the Strickland standard for 17 review of counsel’s effectiveness. Under the second prong of the Strickland standard, 18 Defendant must show that counsel’s performance was so deficient that it “rendered the jury’s 19 verdict unreliable.” Pertgen v. State, 110 Nev. 554, 558, 875 P.2d 361, 363 (1994). Clearly, 20 Defendant’s allegations fail to make a showing that any of the three (3) jury verdicts were 21 unreliable.

23 DEFENDANT’S ELEVENTH CLAIM SHOULD BE 24 DENIED BECAUSE IT HAS PREVIOUSLY BEEN 25 DECIDED

26 As stated by Defendant, this Honorable Court has rejected Defendant’s arguments in 27 Evans v. State, 28 P.3d 498 (2001). Defendant proffers no good reason to revisit these

DEFENDANT'S TWELFTH CLAIM SHOULD BE
COURT

Defendant next alleges that the jury instructions regarding reasonable doubt, premeditation/deliberation, "equal and exact justice" and the "guilt or innocence of any other person" were constitutionally invalid and that both trial and appellate counsel were ineffective for not challenging these instructions at trial and on appeal. What Defendant's argument fails to recognize is that these same issues have been previously addressed by the Nevada Supreme Court, and thus the trial and appellate counsels could not be ineffective for failing to challenge instructions that have been upheld by the Nevada Supreme Court.

For the reasonable doubt instruction, the Nevada Supreme Court has consistently ruled that the instruction quoted by Defendant does not minimize the State's burden of proof. The Court has held that there was no reasonable likelihood that a jury applied the instruction defining reasonable doubt in an unconstitutional manner where the instruction was accompanied by other instructions regarding the State's burden of proof and the presumption of the defendant's innocence. Bollinger v. State, 111 Nev. 1110, 1114, 901 P.2d 671, 674 (1995). Similarly, in the case at bar, the instruction defining reasonable doubt was accompanied by an instruction regarding the State's burden of proof and another instruction regarding the presumption of innocence. The pertinent instructions were:

The defendant is presumed innocent until the contrary is proved. This presumption places upon the State the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt every material element of the crime charged and that a defendant is a person who committed the offense.

12 A.A., p. 2743 (Emphasis added). As such, there is no reasonable probability that the jury believed the instruction allowed the conviction of Defendant based on a lesser quantum of evidence than is required by the Constitution. See Bollinger, 111 Nev. at 1114.

Defendant also argues that other portions of the reasonable doubt instruction are defective (i.e. "weighty affairs of life"). However, the Nevada Supreme Court has approved

1 the "weighty affairs" language contained in Nevada's reasonable doubt jury instruction, 2 disregarding the defendant's argument in Bollinger, which is similar to that argued by 3 Defendant in the instant case. Bollinger, 111 Nev. at 1114. The Court held that although it
4 elected not to scrutinize such language, the "proper inquiry is not whether the instruction
5 'could have' been applied in an unconstitutional manner, but whether there is a reasonable
6 likelihood that the jury did so apply it." Id. at 674 (quoting Victor v. Nebraska, 511 U.S. 1, 7 114 S.Ct. 1239 (1994)).

8 Regarding the murder instruction, Defendant assigns error for the 9 premeditation/deliberation and implied malice instructions given by the District Court.
10 However, such instructions have been formerly upheld by the Nevada Supreme Court. The 11 Court dealt with this issue in Kazalyn v. State, 108 Nev. 67, 825 P.2d 578 (1992) when it
12 was asked to rule on whether the premeditation instruction was distinct from the malice 13 instruction. In holding that the premeditation instruction was distinct, the Nevada Supreme 14 Court found the same instruction for premeditation used in Defendant's case to be 15 appropriate:

16 Premeditation is a design, a determination to kill, distinctly 17 formed in the mind at any moment before or at the time of the 18 killing. Premeditation need not be for a day, an hour or even a 19 minute. It may be as instantaneous as successive thoughts of the 20 mind. If the jury believes from the evidence that the act constituting the killing has been the result of premeditation, no matter how rapidly the premeditation is followed by the act constituting the killing, it is wilful, deliberate, and premeditated murder.

21 Id. at 75; 12 A.A., p. 2726.

22 Moreover, the Court in Kazalyn specifically noted that the murder instructions adequately 23 met the premeditation/deliberation and malice criteria as set forth in Payne v. State, 81 Nev.
24 503, 508-509, 406 P.2d 922 (1965). Thus, the murder instructions used in the instant case
25 embodied the standard for such instructions over the nearly twenty (20) years before 26 Defendant's trial in 1985.

27 Since Kazalyn, the Court has continually reviewed this type of instruction and upheld
28 it throughout the remaining part of the decade. See Powell v. State, 108 Nev. 700, 838 P.2d

1 921 (1992) vacated on other grounds, 511 U.S. 78 (1994) and citing to Depasquale v. State,
2 106 Nev. 843, 803 P.2d 218 (1990) and Briano v. State, 94 Nev. 422, 51 P.2d 5 (1978);
3 Greene v. State, 113 Nev. 157, 931 P.2d 54 (1997); Williams v. State, 113 Nev. 1008, 945
4 P.2d 438 (1997); Doyle v. State, 112 Nev. 879, 921 P.2d 901 (1996). Clearly, the giving of 5 the Kazalyn instruction of premeditation and deliberation was not plain error, and neither 6 trial nor appellate counsel can be held to have been ineffective for not challenging an 7 instruction that had been consistently endorsed by the Nevada Supreme Court.

8 However, in Byford v. State, 116 Nev. 215, 994 P.2d 700 (2000), the Court reviewed
9 the Kazalyn instruction. In that opinion, the Nevada Supreme Court changed the instructions 10 in all cases in the future. However, at the time that the trial court in the instant case gave the 11 murder instructions, the premeditation instruction was clearly good law. Moreover, in 12 Byford, the Court recognized that it had expressly informed the district courts in prior 13 opinions that the Kazalyn instruction was proper. Byford. Therefore, the District Court's 14 reliance on the express holdings of the Nevada Supreme Court cannot be viewed as plain 15 error.

16 In addition, the Court's new instruction is not retroactive as indicated by the language 17 of the opinion itself:

18 Because deliberation is a distinct element of mens rea for first-19 degree murder, we direct the district courts to cease instructing 20 juries that a killing resulting from premeditation is "willful, 21 deliberate, and premeditated murder." Further, if a jury is instructed separately on the meaning of premeditation, it should also be instructed on the meaning of deliberation.

22 Id at 23 (Emphasis added). Furthermore, the Byford decision never held that the Kazalyn 23 instruction was erroneously given, but only that it should not be given in the future and that 24 new instructions are to be used in future cases.

25 "Consistent with Byford, the jury instructions in the instant case do not constitute 26 reversible error. Bridges was tried prior to our decision in Byford; consequently, additional 27 instruction as articulated in that decision was not required." Bridges v. State, 116 Nev. 752, 28 762, 6 P.3d 1000, 1008 (2000).

1 Where a new rule of criminal procedure is not constitutionally based, that new rule is 2 only to apply prospectively. Gier v. Ninth Judicial District Court, 106 Nev. 208, 212, 789
3 P.2d 1245, 1248 (1990). The new rule announced in Byford is not a constitutional rule. The 4 Nevada Supreme Court was concerned that the instructions given may have blurred the 5 distinction between first and second degree murder as set forth in the Nevada Revised 6 Statutes. Byford, supra. As such, the Court has determined that the statutory definition of 7 deliberate is different from that of premeditated, and giving an instruction defining 8 “premeditated” and not “deliberate” may emphasize one element over another. Id. The 9 Court never stated in Byford that the new rule was based on any constitutional consideration.
10 Therefore, this new “rule” is only based on the Court’s concern that the old instructions did 11 “not do full justice to the phrase ‘willful, deliberate, and premeditated,’” and set forth new 12 instructions the Court felt would more clearly define the phrase. Id.

13 The conclusion that Byford should not be held retroactive is supported by the case
14 law underlying the decision. In Byford, the Court heavily relied on State v. Brown, 836
15 S.W.2d 530 (Tenn. 1992). The Tennessee courts have had repeated opportunities to review
16 the application of Brown and have unanimously determined that the decision is not 17 retroactive. See e.g., State v. Hall, 958 S.W.2d 679 (Tenn. 1997); Harris v. State, 947
18 S.W.2d 156 (Tenn.Crim.App. 1996); Lofton v. State, 898 S.W.2d 246 (Tenn.Crim.App.
19 1994). Not only did the Tennessee Supreme Court hold that Brown is not retroactive to 20 post-convictions proceedings, but, additionally, it is not retroactive to direct appeals or 21 motions for new trials. State v. Hall, 958 S.W.2d 679, 711 (Tenn. 1997), cert. denied, Hall 22 v. Tennessee, 524 U.S. 941 (1998)(finding the defendant could not base a motion for a new 23 trial on Brown because Brown was decided two months after the jury verdict).

24 Tennessee’s state rule on retroactivity is similar to that in Nevada. In Tennessee, a 25 new rule which does not implicate a constitutional right is not to be applied retroactively.
26 See State v. Hall, 958 S.W.2d 679, 711 (Tenn. 1997)(citing Meadows v. State, 849 S.W.2d 27 748, 754 (Tenn. 1993)). The Court then held that the unanimous opinion of the courts that 28 have reviewed the Brown decision have determined that it did not create a constitutional

1 rule, either state or federal. Id. The Court held that the Brown decision did not find the old 2 premeditation instruction had violated a constitutional right, but rather that it would be 3 prudent to abandon the old instruction and give new instructions because of the potential for 4 confusion (the same ruling that was made by this Court in Byford.) Hall, 958 S.W.2d at 711
5 (citing Lofton, 898 S.W.2d at 249-50). Tennessee's determination that it did not create a new 6 constitutional rule was concurred with by the United State's Court of Appeals Sixth Circuit.
7 Houston v. Dutton, 50 F.3d 381, 384 (6th Cir.1995).

8 As such, there is no authority for the proposition that Byford should be held to apply
9 retroactively. For over a century, first degree murder in Nevada has been defined as murder
10 which is willful, premeditated and deliberate. See State v. Wong Fun, 22 Nev. 336, 341, 40
11 P. 95, 96 (1895). In the intervening time, that definition has not changed. Byford, 116 Nev.
12 Adv. Op. 23 at 23. The only difference is the manner in which the jury is to be instructed.
13 Moreover, instructions defining deliberation and premeditation are not even required 14 because they mean nothing "other than in their ordinary sense." Id at n. 3 (quoting Ogden v.
15 State, 96 Nev. 258, 263, 607 P.2d 576, 579 (1980)). As such, any change in instructions is a 16 state law decision not implicating the Constitution. Houston v. Dutton, 50 F.3d 381, 384
17 (6th Cir.1995). Therefore, Byford is not to be retroactively applied and gives no further 18 support to Defendant's meritless claim.

19 Similarly, the Nevada Supreme Court has held that the "equal and exact justice"
20 instruction used by the District Court is valid. In Leonard v. State, 114 Nev. 1196, 969 P.2d 21 288, 296 (1998), the Nevada Supreme Court ruled on allegations that:

22 the district court denied him the presumption of innocence by 23 instructing the jury to do "equal and exact justice between the 24 Defendant and the State of Nevada." This instruction does not 25 concern the presumption of innocence or burden of proof. A 26 separate instruction informed the jury that the defendant is 27 presumed innocent until the contrary is proven and that the state 28 has the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt every material element of the crime and that the defendant is the person who committed the offense. Appellant was not denied the presumption of innocence.

1 See also McKenna v. State, 96 Nev. 811, 618 P.2d 348 (1980). The District Court in 2 Defendant's case also instructed the jury separately on the issues of burden of proof and 3 presumption of innocence. Therefore, Defendant's assertion that the jury did not give him
4 the benefit of the presumption of innocence or that they convicted him based on a lesser 5 standard of proof is simply wrong.

6 Finally, regarding the "guilt or innocence by any other person" instruction used by the 7 District Court, once again the Nevada Supreme Court has concluded that such an instruction
8 is constitutionally sound. In Guy v. State, 108 Nev. 770, 839 P.2d 578 (1992), the Court 9 considered the exact same language that Defendant now disputes as having been used to 10 convict him with a "lesser quantum of evidence than the constitution requires." In Guy, the 11 Court rejected the defendant's argument that:

12 this instruction tended to confuse the jury by leading it to "an 13 erroneous conclusion that [appellant] was a moving party in 14 causing the death of Evans and override [sic] any doubts the trier of fact may had [sic] as to [appellant's] knowledge of an/or participation in the events which led to Evans [sic] death.

15 Id. at 778. Moreover, the Court went on to find that the challenged instruction sufficiently 16 directed the jury to ignore the co-defendant's culpability when determining whether the 17 defendant was guilty as charged. Id. Thus, Defendant's nearly identical argument likewise 18 misfires because the jury instruction satisfactorily maintains the burden of proof and 19 quantum of evidence necessary to convict Defendant beyond a reasonable doubt.

20 XIII

21 DEFENDANT'S THIRTEENTH CLAIM SHOULD BE 22 DENIED BECAUSE IT IS INVALIDATED BY THE "LAW 23 OF THE CASE" DOCTRINE

24 Defendant next argues that his conviction is invalid because insufficient evidence 25 existed to support the jury's finding that the aggravating circumstance that the killing was 26 committed by someone who "knowingly created a great risk of death to more than one 27 person by means of a weapon, device or course of action that would normally be hazardous 28 to the lives of more than one person." The Nevada Supreme Court has already heard this argument from Defendant in 1996 when the Court ruled that "substantial evidence existed to 1 support the finding that [Flanagan and Moore] knowingly created a great risk of death to 2 more than one person by means of a weapon and course of action which would normally be 3 hazardous to the lives of more than one person.” Flanagan IV, 112 Nev. at 1421. Thus, 4 Defendant is precluded from having this court re-hear this same flawed argument under the 5 “law of the case” doctrine. See Hall, supra.

6 Moreover, Defendant’s thirteenth allegation, maintains that prejudicial error occurred
7 because “the courts have not afforded [Defendant] a new sentencing proceeding or re-
8 weighing or other correction under applicable state procedures.” This claim is disingenuous 9 at best given that Defendant was granted three (3) different penalty hearings during the 10 appellate history of his case. Furthermore, such an allegation is the type that should have 11 been raised in any one of Defendant’s direct appeals to the Nevada Supreme Court. Franklin
12 v. State, 110 Nev. 750, 877 P.2d 1058 (1994). Thus, Defendant’s claim, which is precluded 13 by the law of the case, is also improperly before this court and was properly denied without 14 an evidentiary hearing.

15 XIV

16 AND

17 XV

18 DEFENDANT’S FOURTEENTH AND FIFTEENTH
19 CLAIMS SHOULD BE DENIED BECAUSE THEIR
20 ARGUMENTS HAVE BEEN PREVIOUSLY REJECTED
BY THE NEVADA SUPREME COURT AND THEY ARE IMPROPERLY BEFORE THIS COURT

21 Defendant’s ensuing two (2) arguments, which practically mirror his previous 22 argument, have also been rejected by the Nevada Supreme Court. Defendant’s efforts to 23 suggest that there is a difference between murders that occur indoors and murders that occur
24 outdoors during the commission of a felony is absurd at best. The Nevada Supreme Court 25 has already held that such a narrow construction that Defendant proposes is untenable and 26 illogical.

27 In Bennett v. State, 106 Nev. 135, 787 P.2d 797 (1990), the Court addressed an 28 analogous situation in which the defendant shot and killed a store clerk without provocation

1 before attempting to rob the store. Rejecting the defendant's claim that the aggravating
2 factor of "in the commission of a burglary" was not supported by the evidence, the Court 3 ruled that:

4 NRS 200.033(4) only requires that, for burglary to be an 5 aggravating circumstance, the murder must be committed while 6 the person was engaged in the commission of or an attempt to 7 commit or flight after committing or attempting to commit
8 burglary or robbery. This was clearly the case here. Were it otherwise, burglary could be used as an aggravating circumstance only upon the rare occasion of a killing which occurs while the defendant is entering the building.

9 Id. 106 Nev. at 142. In the instant case, there was uncontroverted evidence that Defendant
10 killed his grandmother during the commission of the burglary while his co-defendants killed 11 his grandfather.

12 Additionally, the same line of argument applies to Defendant's contention regarding 13 the aggravating factor for "in the commission of a robbery." See also Leslie v. State, 114
14 Nev. 8, 952 P.2d 966, 975-76 (1998). Defendant would have the court distinguish the 15 robbery from the rest of the murderous scheme he and his cohorts executed that night. Such 16 rationale is misplaced, and even assuming arguendo that the court accepts Defendant's 17 theory, any error that may have occurred was harmless in light of the other three (3)
18 aggravating factors found by the jury. Accordingly, the aggravating factors were 19 appropriately applied and supported by evidence introduced at trial and the penalty hearings.

20 Furthermore, as mentioned beforehand, Defendant's allegations are the type that 21 should have been raised in any one of Defendant's direct appeals to the Nevada Supreme 22 Court. Franklin, supra. Thus, Defendant's claims are also improperly before this court and 23 should be denied without an evidentiary hearing.

DEFENDANT'S SIXTEENTH CLAIM SHOULD BE DENIED BECAUSE ITS ARGUMENT HAVE BEEN
COURT

Defendant next contends that his conviction is invalid because the District Court permitted the State to use the same facts to convict him under a felony murder theory and to support one of aggravating factors for the death sentence. At the time of trial, the state of the law clearly allowed this. The Nevada Supreme Court has held on several occasions "that the U.S. Supreme Court has implicitly approved the use of the underlying felony in felony murder cases as a valid aggravating circumstance to support the imposition of the death sentence." Atkins v. State, 112 Nev. 1122, 1134, 923 P.2d 1119 (1996) quoting Petrocelli v. State, 101 Nev. 46, 53, 692 P.2d 503 (1985); accord Miranda v. State, 101 Nev. 562, 707 P.2d 1121 (1985), cert. denied 475 U.S. 1031 (1986); Farmer v. State, 101 Nev. 419, 705 P.2d 149 (1985) cert. denied 476 U.S. 1130 (1986). Furthermore, the jury at the guilt phase and each of the penalty hearings was bound to find evidence beyond a reasonable doubt; therefore, Defendant's contention that "two separate increments of culpability" exist is simply without merit and was properly denied without an evidentiary hearing.

Defendant's reliance on McConnell v. State, 120 Nev. ----, 102 P.3d 606 (2004) is misplaced.

The issue of the retroactivity of McConnell was not briefed in the Defendant's petition for writ of habeas corpus in the district court below. In fact, it could not have been briefed because the findings of fact, conclusions of law and order from Defendant's petition was filed on August 8, 2002. The McConnell decision was not reached until December 29, 2004. Therefore, the retroactivity of the McConnell decision is not properly before this

1 court.<sup>3</sup> Because the district court did not look at the issue, this Court should not consider the 2 issue.

3 Even in the event that this Court decides to look at the retroactivity issue, applying
4 the McConnell decision retroactively is something this Court appears to be unwilling to do.
5 In McConnell, this Court stated:

6 . . . in cases where the State basis a first-degree murder conviction in whole or in 7 part on felony murder, to seek the death sentence the State will have to prove an aggravator 8 other than the one based on the felony murder's predicate felony. We advise the State,
9 therefore, that if it charges alternative theories of first-degree murder intending to seek a 10 death sentence, jurors in the guilt phase should receive a special verdict form that allows 11 them to indicate whether they find first-degree murder based on deliberation and 12 premeditation, felony murder, or both. Without the return of such a form showing that the 13 jury did not rely on felony murder to find first-degree murder, the State cannot use
14 aggravators based on felonies which could support the felony murder. McConnell, 606 P.3d 15 at 624.

16 First, this Court's prospective language ("will have to prove" and "we advise the 17 State") strongly indicates this Court's intent for its decision to not be applied retroactively.
18 Moreover, in its published opinion denying rehearing, this Court clarified this intent by 19 stating, "[o]ur case law makes it clear that new rules of criminal law or procedure apply to 20 convictions which are not final." [Emphasis added] McConnell, 107 P.3d at 1290 (citing 21 Clem v. State, 119 Nev. 615, 627-628, 81 P.3d 521, 530-531 (2003)).

22 A conviction is final when judgment has been entered, the availability of appeal has 23 been exhausted, and a petition for certiorari to the Supreme Court has been denied or the 24 time for the petition has expired. Colwell v. State, 118 Nev. 807, 59 P.3d 463 (2002). In the 25 instant case, remittitur from direct appeal of Flanagan's last and final penalty hearing issued

27 3 "Before deciding retroactivity, we prefer to await the appropriate post-conviction case that presents and briefs the 28 issue." McConnell v. State, 107 P.3d 1287, 1290 (2005). Here, Defendant did not brief the retroactivity issue below, therefore his is not the appropriate post-conviction petition this Court is waiting for.

1 in 1998. Thus, Flanagan's death sentence was final in 1998 and the "new rule" set forth in 2 McConnell does not apply to this case.

3 Even if the decision applied to this case, it still would not afford relief as there is 4 ample evidence of premeditation and deliberation, just as there was in McConnell. In 5 charging McConnell with first-degree murder, the State alleged two theories: deliberate,
6 premeditated murder and felony murder during the perpetration of a burglary. McConnell, 7 102 P.3d at 620. This Court noted that during his testimony, McConnell admitted that he 8 had premeditated the murder. Id. Therefore, his conviction for first-degree murder was 9 soundly based on a theory of deliberate, premeditated murder. Id.

10 In the present case, Flanagan planned the murders with his co-defendants and there
11 was overwhelming evidence of premeditation and deliberation as this Court noted on direct 12 appeal from his conviction in Flanagan I:

13 The record contains overwhelming evidence that nineteen year old Flanagan
14 and his co-defendants planned to kill the Gordons in an effort to obtain 15 insurance proceeds and an inheritance. With the express purpose of killing the 16 Gordon's, Flanagan and the others broke into the Gordon residence and accomplished their deadly objective. Flanagan I, 104 Nev. at 107.

17 XVII

18 DEFENDANT'S SEVENTEENTH CLAIM SHOULD BE
21 COURT, ARE BELIED AND REPELLED BY THE
RECORD AND THEY ARE IMPROPERLY BEFORE
THIS COURT

22 Defendant's seventeenth claim actually contained no claim of ineffective assistance of 23 counsel in the district court (27 A.A., p. 6428), and thus is precluded from review because it 24 is the type of claim that could have been raised in Defendant's direct appeal. Franklin, 25 supra. The claim was properly summarily dismissed. Nevertheless, the claim discussed 26 below illustrates that the issues lack merit and failing to pursue them could not form the 27 basis of an ineffective assistance of counsel claim. Defendant's seventeenth claim is that his 28 conviction is invalid because the District Court improperly instructed the jury during

1 Defendant's three (3) penalty hearings. Defendant alleges, inter alia, that the instructions
2 precluded the jury from considering any type of sympathy during deliberations, incorrectly 3 required jury unanimity regarding the aggravating and mitigating circumstances, and 4 improperly instructed the jury about possible commutation of his sentence. However,
5 Defendant's allegations have either been previously rejected by the Nevada Supreme Court,
6 are belied and repelled or are so purely speculative in nature that they do not warrant review.

7 Defendant's first sub-claim is that the District Court precluded the jury's
8 consideration of any type of sympathy when it gave the "Anti-Sympathy Instruction." Yet, 9 the District Court followed established jury instructions regarding sympathy which have 10 been endorsed as constitutional by the Nevada Supreme Court. The same argument
11 Defendant now sets forth in his petition has already been rejected by the Court in Sherman v.
12 State, 114 Nev. 998, 965 P.2d 903 (1998). The Court in Sherman decided that as long as the 13 jury is given instruction to consider mitigating circumstances, the anti-sympathy instruction
14 is proper. Id. The mitigating circumstances instruction was given in Defendant's trials. 25
15 A.A., p. 5952, 5954; 17 A.A., p. 4077; 13 A.A., p. 2977. Therefore, Defendant's contention 16 is without merit.

17 Defendant goes on to assert that the District Court failed to properly instruct the jury 18 about unanimity regarding their findings of aggravating and mitigating circumstances.
19 Once again, this assertion contravenes existing case law. The Nevada Supreme Court has 20 clearly ruled that during a penalty hearing, the jury instructions considered in their totality 21 would not have instilled a unanimity requirement to find mitigating circumstances, but 22 would have preserved a unanimity requirement for the finding of aggravating circumstances.
23 Jiminez v. State, 112 Nev. 610, 624, 918 P.2d 687 (1996). The Court in Jiminez held that:

24 In the end, each juror must have evaluated the juxtaposition of 25 aggravating circumstances and mitigating circumstances in 26 reaching the conclusion that the latter were not sufficient to 27 outweigh the former. ... There was no constraint on the right of 28 individual jurors to find mitigators, such as a requirement of unanimity or proof by a preponderance of the evidence or any other standard.

1 Id. See also Geary v. State, 114 Nev. 100, 952 P.2d 431 (1998); Hill v. State, 114 Nev. 169, 2 953 P.2d 1077 (1998). Defendant is not challenging his third penalty trial as the lack of
3 unanimity for mitigating circumstances instruction was given to the jury in 1995. See 25
4 A.A., p. 5953. Defendant was given a second and third penalty trial, thus his contentions
5 regarding the 1985 and 1989 instructions are moot. Therefore, Defendant's argument is not 6 worthy of review by this court.

7 Defendant's next sub-claim is that the District Court failed to instruct the jury that 8 there was no requirement to impose the death penalty. In this regard, Defendant's 9 contentions are simply and directly contradicted by the case precedent addressing this issue.
10 In Bennett v. State, 111 Nev. 1099, 1109, 901 P.2d 676 (1995), the case Defendant cites in 11 his own petition, the Nevada Supreme Court upheld the nearly identical language present in 12 this case (13 A.A., p. 2973; 17 A.A., p. 4075; 25 A.A., p. 5950) as adequately informing the 13 jury that there was no requirement to impose the death penalty.<sup>4</sup> The Court very distinctly 14 stated that:

15 we conclude that the above jury instruction accurately informed the jury of 16 their statutorily endowed prerogative to decide whether [defendant] would live, 17 regardless of whether aggravating circumstances outweighed mitigating circumstances. "May" is clearly permissive in the context of NRS 175.554(3) and the instruction submitted to the jury.

18 Id. Only then did the Court go on to state that the gravity of the death penalty compelled the 19 district courts to provide as much specificity to a jury as possible, but the Court never 20 deemed the instruction given in Bennett to be inadequate. Thus, Defendant's argument is 21 not only wrong, but any claim that "[t]he Nevada Supreme Court has acknowledged that the 22 [aforementioned] instruction did not adequately convey to the jurors their ability to render a

24
25 <sup>4</sup>The jury instruction in Bennett read in pertinent part:

26 The jury may impose a sentence of death only if it finds at least one 27 aggravating circumstance has been established beyond a reasonable doubt 28 and further finds that there are no mitigating circumstances sufficient to outweigh the aggravating circumstance or circumstances found.
Otherwise, punishment imposed shall be imprisonment in the state prison for life with or without the possibility of parole.

1 life sentence under any set of circumstances, and urged trial courts to 'henceforth provide
2 instructions that will satisfy the concerns expressed herein...' substantially misrepresents
3 the holding of Bennett. Defendant is not challenging his third penalty trial as the no
4 requirement to impose a sentence of death instruction was given to the jury in 1995. See 25
5 A.A., p. 5955. Defendant was given a second and third penalty trial, thus his contentions
6 regarding the 1985 and 1989 instructions are moot.

7 Defendant further challenges the commutation instruction given to the jury as 8 inadequate. See 13 A.A., p. 2972; 17 A.A., p. 4074; 25 A.A., p. 5949. This claim rests 9 solely upon Defendant's machinations and speculations that the jury was too ignorant to 10 understand the plain language of the instruction. Defendant's claim does not merit an 11 evidentiary hearing and should be denied.

12 Lastly in this string of alleged errors, Defendant maintains that the District Court 13 failed to appropriately instruct the jury regarding the application of the aggravating factors.
14 This argument is repetitious of Defendant's claims fourteen and fifteen above. As such, the 15 State would incorporate its response to those claims here, and Defendant's claims should be 16 denied without an evidentiary hearing.

18 AND

19 XIX

20 DEFENDANT'S EIGHTEENTH AND NINETEENTH 21 CLAIMS SHOULD BE DENIED BECAUSE THEY ARE 22 MOOT

22 Defendant next alleges in his following two (2) claims that errors occurred during the 23 jury selection of the second penalty hearing. First he claims that the District Court forced 24 him to use a peremptory challenge and that the District Court improperly removed a juror 25 that was inclined not to impose the death penalty. However, even assuming that he is 26 correct, the only remedy available to Defendant is that he would be granted a new penalty
27 hearing. Defendant was in fact granted a third penalty hearing; thus, any allegations of error
28

1 regarding the jury selection during the second penalty hearing are moot and not deserving of 2 review.

3 Defendant has not put forth any legal support for why Mr. Jacintho should not have 4 been dismissed for cause in the third penalty hearing. This claim is without merit.

7 DEFENDANT'S TWENTIETH CLAIM SHOULD BE
8 DENIED BECAUSE IT LACKS MERIT AS A
9 BARE/NAKED ALLEGATION, IS BELIED AND 10 REPELLED BY THE RECORD AND IS MOOT

11 Defendant's ensuing claim is a mixed bag of allegations regarding the impartiality of 12 the judges who presided over his trial and penalty hearings. While Defendant lists a number 13 of grievances, the thrust of his complaints are against the trial judge, Judge Donald Mosley, 14 for his alleged bias against Defendant. However, Defendant also attempts to indict Judge 15 Addeliar Guy for his alleged bias during the third penalty hearing. Nevertheless, 16 Defendant's argument is simply a collection of bare/naked allegations that lack merit and are 17 moot to the extent that they refer to the first and second penalty hearings.

18 Defendant's allegations that "Judge Mosley was ultimately removed from the case 19 because of his bias against [Defendant]" again smacks of ill-considered, imprudent claims by 20 Defendant. The record of the case is crystal clear that Judge Mosley was found not to be 21 biased or prejudiced against the defendants. After hearing oral arguments, then Chief 22 District Court Judge Nancy Becker ruled that:

23 [r]eview of the transcript of the proceedings of June 24, 1991 and 24 the Affidavit of Judge Mosley shows that there is no actual 25 prejudice or bias against any of the parties to this case. The 26 comments of Judge Mosley only evidenced a dissatisfaction with 27 the overall slowness of the appellate process in capital cases. The 28 challenged comments, while not showing actual prejudice or bias, could be construed to give an appearance of prejudice.
While appearance of prejudice is usually insufficient to require the disqualification of a District Court Judge, the history of this case and the fact that it is a capital case requires that an abundance of caution be exercised.

30 Hargrove, supra.

1 Furthermore, the comment asserted by Defendant regarding Judge Mosley was not in 2 the presence of a jury, and was during the second penalty phase which was reversed.

3 Lastly, Defendant's claim that Judge Addeliar Guy was somehow biased against 4 Defendant is again without merit and to a large extent moot. Defendant impugns Judge Guy
5 for having a congenial manner with Deputy District Attorney Dan Seaton. Apparently 6 Defendant would have every judge sterilize himself/herself from any type of personal 7 contact with counsel that appears in court or any other court personnel for that matter.
8 Regardless, Defendant fails to show how Judge Guy's disposition prejudiced him during the

10

12 DEFENDANT'S TWENTY-FIRST CLAIM SHOULD BE
14 PREVIOUSLY REJECTED BY THE NEVADA SUPREME
15 COURT

16 Defendant's next claim alleges that his death sentence is invalid because the Nevada 17 capital punishment system operates in an arbitrary and capricious manner. However, the 18 Nevada Supreme Court has long held that Nevada's use of the death penalty meets both 19 federal and state constitutional requirements.

20 In Ybarra v. State, 100 Nev. 167, 174, 679 P.2d 797 (1984), the Court reviewed 21 Nevada's death penalty statutes in light of United States Supreme Court opinions regarding 22 similar statutes from Florida and Georgia. Citing Gregg v. Georgia, 428 U.S. 153, 96 S.Ct.
23 2909 (1976) and Proffitt v. Florida, 428 U.S. 242, 96 S.Ct. 2960 (1976), the Nevada 24 Supreme Court ruled that:

25 [s]ince our procedure for weighing aggravating and mitigating 26 circumstances provides the sentencer with adequate information 27 and guidance and the accused with sufficient guarantees that the 28 penalty of death will not be imposed arbitrarily and capriciously, the challenged statute passes constitutional muster.

29 Id. 100 Nev. at 176. See also Hill v. State, 102 Nev. 377, 724 P.2d 734 (1986); Middleton v.
30 State, 114 Nev. 1089, 968 P.2d 296 (1998). Thus, despite his impertinent assertions that 31 "the Nevada capital punishment system provides no rational method for distinguishing

1 between who lives and who dies," Defendant's allegations are simply refuted by reasoned
2 decisions of both the Nevada Supreme Court and the United States Supreme Court.

3 XXII

4 DEFENDANT'S TWENTY-SECOND CLAIM SHOULD BE 5 DENIED BECAUSE IT IS BELIED AND REPELLED BY
6 THE RECORD

7 Defendant, searching for the something that has not been previously reviewed in the 8 fifteen (15) years after he was convicted, now claims that his conviction and sentence are 9 invalid because the amended complaint did not fully apprise him of the charges against him.
10 Defendant now contends that the amended complaint was "a masterpiece of generalities."
11 Surprisingly, Defendant managed to go through a preliminary hearing in Justice Court, an 12 entire trial, three (3) different penalty hearings, four (4) appellate reviews by the Nevada 13 Supreme Court and two (2) writs of certiorari to the United States Supreme Court without 14 ever knowing what crimes he had allegedly committed.

15 Clearly Defendant's allegations are belied and repelled by the record in this case 16 where the amended complaint filed in open court on February 11, 1984 put him on notice of 17 the charges against him. 1 A.A., p. 19-24; Hargrove, supra. Furthermore, at the subsequent 18 preliminary hearing, Defendant heard all the evidence which was found sufficient to bind 19 him up to the District Court on the charges in the amended complaint. Any problems with 20 the complaint needed to be addressed in a pre-trial writ; Defendant has not presented any 21 reason why this court should ever entertain this issue in a post-conviction writ. Defendant's 22 claim is wholly without merit and completely devoid of any need for review by this court.

23 XXIII

24 DEFENDANT'S TWENTY-THIRD CLAIM SHOULD BE
26 BARE/NAKED ALLEGATION

27 Defendant next claims that his conviction and sentence are defective because he 28 wasn't present during critical court proceedings. Notwithstanding his list of citations to the record, Defendant's assertions can only be described yet again as bare/naked allegations.
Hargrove, supra. Moreover, Defendant does not demonstrate how his alleged absence

1 prejudiced him or his counsel who represented him. As has become commonplace, 2 Defendant merely makes a blanket allegation with the hopes of gaining some type of judicial 3 review. However, even assuming that Defendant's claim is true, a defendant's absence from 4 preliminary matters or hearings does not necessarily prejudice him. See Thomas v. State, 5 114 Nev. 1127, 967 P.2d 1111 (1998). Defendant also failed to make any claim of 6 ineffective assistance of counsel with the district court in his petition that would even make 7 this a proper claim for a post-conviction writ. Therefore, Defendant's claim was properly 8 denied without the need for an evidentiary hearing.

10 XXIV

11 DEFENDANT'S TWENTY-FOURTH CLAIM SHOULD BE
BARE/NAKED ALLEGATION

13 Defendant's twenty-fourth claim is that his conviction and sentence are invalid 14 because the District Court precluded public access to the trial by failing to have all the 15 proceedings recorded or reported. Specifically, Defendant faults the District Court for 16 conducting bench conferences that were not recorded because "substantial actions" were 17 taken during these conferences. Still again, Defendant fails to provide any affidavit or offer 18 of proof to support these allegations. Moreover, Defendant overlooks the fact that it is 19 counsel's responsibility to make a record of all matters that may be future appellate issues.
20 Nothing precluded counsel from making a record, outside the presence of the jury, of any 21 decision or action taken by the District Court during a bench conference. In fact, the 22 appellate record is replete with instances in which Atty. Pike and counsel for the co-23 defendants created such a record. Thus, Defendant's unsubstantiated allegations were 24 properly denied without an evidentiary hearing.

DEFENDANT'S TWENTY-FIFTH CLAIM SHOULD BE DENIED BECAUSE IT IS REPETITIOUS OF ARGUMENTS ALREADY ANSWERED BY THE STATE

Defendant's next claim is a conglomeration of all the previous allegations set forth in his petition. Defendant asserts that even if the individual claims themselves are not compelling enough to justify some type of relief, the whole collection of allegations had a "cumulative effect" to merit some remedy. Having previously answered Defendant's individual claims, the State would direct the court to those responses and maintain that either individually or collectively, Defendant's allegations do not merit relief and were properly denied without an evidentiary hearing. As Chief Justice Gunderson observed in his dissenting opinion in LaPena v. State, 92 Nev. 1, 14, 544 P.2d 1187 (1976), "nothing plus nothing plus nothing is nothing."

DEFENDANT'S TWENTY-SIXTH AND TWENTY - SEVENTH CLAIMS SHOULD BE DENIED BECAUSE THEIR ARGUMENTS HAVE BEEN PREVIOUSLY REJECTED BY THE NEVADA SUPREME COURT

Defendant's next two (2) claims allege that his death sentence is invalid because it violates both the federal and state constitutional guarantees against cruel and unusual punishment. However, despite Defendant's recitation of death sentences poorly carried out in other jurisdictions, none of those cases stand for the proposition that death by lethal injection violates constitutional guarantees against cruel and unusual punishment. Moreover, his claims have already been heard and rejected by the Nevada Supreme Court.

In Bishop v. State, 95 Nev. 511, 517-18, 597 P.2d 273 (1979), the Court ruled that the Nevada death penalty statutes were in conformance with other death penalty statutes that had been upheld by the United States Supreme Court. Moreover, the Court specifically held that "[t]he imposition of the death penalty...offends neither the United States Constitution nor the

1 Nevada Constitution.” Id. at 518. See also Colwell v. State, 112 Nev. 807, 919 P.2d 403
2 (1996); Bennett v. State, 106 Nev. 135, 787 P.2d 797 (1990); Rogers v. State, 101 Nev. 457,
3 705 P.2d 664 (1985).

4 Additionally, while the Nevada Supreme Court has not specifically ruled on whether 5 death by lethal injection, as opposed to other forms of capital punishment, violates state and 6 federal constitutional guarantees against cruel and unusual punishment, nearly all the 7 jurisdictions that Defendant cited in his petition to the district court have ruled that death by 8 lethal injection is not cruel and unusual punishment. See Fairchild v. State, 286 Ark. 191, 9 690 S.W.2d 355 (1985)(Defendant actually chose to be executed by lethal injection instead
10 of by electrocution); Ex Parte Granviel, 561 S.W.2d 503 (Tex.Crim.App. 1978)(Appeals
11 Court held lethal injection does not violate Eighth Amendment); Romano v. State, 917 P.2d
12 12 (Okla.Crim.App. 1996)(same); People v. Stewart, 121 Ill.2d 93, 520 N.E.2d 348 (1988)
13 (same); Harrison v. State, 644 N.E.2d 1243, 1258 (Ind. 1995)(Court recognizes “the strong 14 national trend toward lethal injection as the most appropriate form of capital punishment”);
15 McConnell v. State, 120 Nev. ----, 102 P.3d 606 (2004). Accordingly, Defendant’s claims of 16 cruel and unusual punishment regarding the death penalty and lethal injection should be 17 denied.

18 XXVIII

19 DEFENDANT’S TWENTY-EIGHTH CLAIM SHOULD BE 20 DENIED BECAUSE THE ARGUMENT IS 21 PREMATURELY RAISED

22 Defendant alleges next that his sentence is invalid because he may become 23 incompetent to be executed even though he is not presently incompetent nor does he 24 evidence any indication of pending incompetence. In support of his argument, Defendant
25 cites to Martinez-Villareal v. Stewart, 118 F.3d 628 (1997) for the proposition that “a claim 26 anticipating incompetence to be executed must be raised in an initial petition for writ of 27 habeas corpus.” However, Defendant’s reliance upon Martinez-Villareal is misplaced.

28 In Martinez-Villareal, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals held that a defendant’s competency claim had to be raised in his first federal habeas petition. Id. at 634. The claim

1 would then be considered premature due to the automatic stay that's issued when a first
2 federal petition is filed. Id. The Ninth Circuit then opined that once the state issues a second 3 warrant of execution, then the state court could consider the ripe competency claim which 4 could be followed by federal review of the same issue and only that issue. Id. Thus,
5 Defendant's competency claim, designed only to protect it against any later waiver argument
6 by the State, is acutely premature and misinterprets the holding of Martinez-Villareal.

7 XXIX

8 DEFENDANT'S TWENTY-NINTH CLAIM SHOULD BE 9 DENIED BECAUSE IT IS GOVERNED BY THE "LAW OF 10 THE CASE" DOCTRINE

11 Defendant's following claim is that his conviction and sentence are unreliable
12 because of the District Court's failure to sever Defendant's case from his co-defendants 13 which resulted in the admission of inadmissible evidence. Defendant again refers to the so-14 called "witchcraft evidence" introduced by a co-defendant and referenced by the State.
15 However, Defendant also again fails to recognize that this issue has already been decided by 16 the Nevada Supreme Court. Moreover, Defendant's essentially repeating the same argument 17 made in Section III of this petition to which the State has already responded.

18 In Flanagan IV, the Nevada Supreme Court held that a harmless error analysis was 19 appropriate when considering the admission of the so-called "witchcraft evidence" during 20 the trial. Flanagan IV, 112 Nev. at 1418-1421. The Court ruled that because there was 21 "overwhelming evidence" against Defendant, any admission of such evidence was harmless 22 at best. Flanagan IV, 112 Nev. at 1420. It should be noted that severance was one of the 23 other issues determined to be without merit in Flanagan I without a detailed analysis. Thus, 24 based on the "law of the case" doctrine set forth in Hall, supra, the Court has already 25 decided this issue, and therefore, this Honorable Court need not review Defendant's claim.

DEFENDANT'S ARGUMENT HAS BEEN PREVIOUSLY REJECTED BY THE NEVADA SUPREME COURT AND IS IMPROPERLY BEFORE THIS COURT

Defendant contends next that his sentence is defective because Nevada has no effective mechanism for clemency in capital cases. Defendant alleges that because the State Board of Pardons Commissioners has not commuted a death sentence since 1973 the entire Nevada capital punishment system is unconstitutional. Yet again, Defendant's argument has been previously made to and rejected by the Nevada Supreme Court. Furthermore, such a claim is not appropriate for a petition for writ of habeas corpus.

1 In Colwell v. State, 112 Nev. 807, 812-13, 919 P.2d 403 (1996), the Nevada Supreme 2 Court addressed a related issue when it considered whether NRS 213.085<sup>5</sup> rendered the 3 Nevada death penalty scheme unconstitutional by denying clemency. Finding that clemency
4 encompassed the powers to commute a sentence or to pardon a defendant, the Court ruled 5 that "NRS 213. 085 does not completely deny the opportunity for 'clemency' ....but rather 6 modifies and limits the power of commutation." Id. Therefore, Defendant's "no mechanism
7 for clemency" argument lacks merit as it did in Colwell.

8 Furthermore, as mentioned beforehand, Defendant's allegation is the type that should 9 have been raised in any one of Defendant's direct appeals to the Nevada Supreme Court.
10 Franklin, supra. Consequently, Defendant's claims are improperly before this court and

12 XXXI

13 DEFENDANT'S THIRTY-FIRST CLAIM SHOULD BE 14 DENIED BECAUSE ITS ARGUMENT CONSISTS OF BARE/NAKED ALLEGATIONS

15 Defendant now contends that his conviction and sentence are invalid because jurors
16 allegedly saw him in shackles, and the District Court permitted the presence of armed guards
17 in the courtroom. Neither of these claims warrants judicial review, much less an evidentiary 18 hearing, based on existing Nevada case law and even the Ninth Circuit case cited by the 19 Defendant. Moreover, Defendant's claims once again lack any substantiation, and therefore 20 consist solely of bare/naked allegations that do not merit an evidentiary hearing.

22 <sup>5</sup>NRS 213.085 reads in pertinent part:

- 23 1. If a person is convicted of murder of the first-degree before, on or after 24 July 1, 1995, the board shall not commute:
25 (a) A sentence of death;
(b) A sentence of imprisonment in the state prison for life without the possibility of parole, to a sentence that would allow parole.
- 26 2. If a person is convicted of any crime other than murder of the first degree
27 on or after July 1, 1995, the board shall not commute:
28 (a) A sentence of death;
(b) A sentence of imprisonment in the state prison for life without the possibility of parole, to a sentence that would allow parole.

1 Defendant claims that a juror saw him briefly in shackles once when he entered the 2 courtroom before his shackles had been removed. 30 A.A., p. 7137. Even if true, a brief
3 glimpse such as this during the trial in 1985 does not warrant relief for Defendant. The issue 4 is procedurally barred and no prejudice can be shown.

5 Furthermore, Defendant's reliance upon Rhoden v. Rowland, 172 F.3d 633 (9th Cir.
6 1999) is inaccurate. In Rhoden, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals considered whether a 7 defendant who "was shackled during the entire course of his trial...[where] the shackles were 8 visible from the jury box" violated his rights to an impartial jury. Id. at 634. (Emphasis
9 added). Clearly, Defendant's alleged shackling is vastly different from that of the defendant
10 in Rhoden. Moreover, the prejudice arising from one supposed instance of a juror viewing
11 him in shackles is refuted by the Rhoden opinion itself. Citing to United States v. Olano, 62
12 F.3d 1180, 1190 (9th 1995) and other Ninth Circuit cases, the Court of Appeals in Rhoden 13 noted that "[a] jury's brief or inadvertent glimpse of a defendant in physical restraints 14 outside of the courtroom has not warranted habeas relief." Rhoden 172 F.3d at 636.

15 Additionally, Defendant's argument that the presence of armed guards in the 16 courtroom impermissibly influenced the jury is the same contention he had in Section IV(a).
17 This argument is refuted by the holding of McKenna v. State, 114 Nev. 1044, 968 P.2d 739,
18 743 (1998) in which the Nevada Supreme Court concluded that no actual prejudice to the 19 defendant had been shown by the presence of SWAT officers in the courtroom. Thus, 20 Defendant's claims are meritless and were properly denied without an evidentiary hearing.

21 XXXII

22 DEFENDANT'S THIRTY-SECOND CLAIM SHOULD BE 23 DENIED BECAUSE ITS ARGUMENT IS IRRELEVANT 24 TO A PETITION FOR WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS AND 25 IS IMPROPERLY BEFORE THE COURT

26 Defendant's next groundless claim is that his conviction and sentence are invalid 27 because he was denied an impartial tribunal due to the fact that trial and appellate judges in 28 Nevada are elected and not appointed. Not only does this claim lack merit and implicitly

1 condemn the entire Nevada judicial system, but it also is an inappropriate matter to be raised
2 in a post-conviction petition. See Franklin, supra.

3 Defendant argues his sentence violates the constitutional guarantees of due process of 4 law, equal protection of the laws and a reliable sentence because his trial and review were 5 conducted by popularly elected judges. However, this Court has found that a defendant in a 6 capital murder prosecution is not prejudiced by having a popularly elected trial judge.
7 Haberstroh v. Warden, Nevada State Prison, 119 Nev. 173, 182, 69 P.3d 676, 685 (2003).
8 Judges who are elected are not per se hostile to the defense. Id. In addition, a judge is 9 presumed to be not biased and the burden is on the party making the challenge to show that a 10 judge will not be fair in carrying out their duties. Goldman v. Bryan, 104 Nev. 644, 764
11 P.2d 1296 (1988). The mere general allegation that judges are impartial based on the fact 12 that they are elected does not come anywhere close to overcoming the presumption that 13 judges are unbiased.

14 Moreover, this Court's impartiality is easily demonstrated by the fact that it has 15 vacated numerous sentences of death. See, e.g., Servin v. State, 117 Nev. 775, 32 P.3d 1277
16 (2001)(sentence of death vacated); Geary v. State, 112 Nev. 1434, 930 P.2d 719
17 (1996)(death sentence vacated and remanded for a new penalty hearing); Jones v. State, 101
18 Nev. 573, 707 P.2d 1128 (1985). Defendant's claim is meritless and must be denied.

19 XXXIII

20 DEFENDANT'S THIRTY-THIRD CLAIM SHOULD BE 21 DENIED BECAUSE IT FAILS TO MAKE AN ANALYSIS
22 PURSUANT TO STRICKLAND

23 Defendant next contests his sentence as invalid because counsel failed to challenge
24 for cause jurors in the second and third penalty hearings. To the extent that Defendant refers 25 to any alleged errors regarding the second penalty hearing, these assertions are moot as 26 Defendant was granted a third penalty hearing. With regard to the rest of his allegations 27 pertaining to jurors in the third penalty hearing, Defendant fails to conduct any sort of 28 analysis in light of the Strickland standard to show that he was prejudiced.

1 Defendant cites to the record during jury voir dire and selection to illustrate that some 2 jurors had distinct feelings and views about the death penalty. However, while he notes that 3 nearly all of these jurors were removed via peremptory challenge, Defendant neglects to 4 include any analysis which explains how the exercise of these peremptory challenges
5 prejudiced him during the third penalty hearing. Instead, Defendant merely presumes that he 6 could have selected a more favorable jury had these jurors been excused for cause. Such 7 "tactical" decisions have been held to be "virtually unchallengeable absent extraordinary 8 circumstances." Doleman, 112 Nev. at 848. Furthermore, this court should seek to avoid 9 "the distorting effects of hindsight" when reviewing claims of ineffective assistance of 10 counsel. Kirksey, 112 Nev. at 987-988. Thus, Defendant's claim was properly denied 11 without an evidentiary hearing.

12 XXXIV

14 XXXV

16 XXXVI

17 DEFENDANT'S THIRTY-FOURTH, THIRTY-FIFTH AND 18 THIRTY-SIXTH CLAIMS SHOULD BE DENIED
19 BECAUSE THEIR ARGUMENTS ARE IRRELEVANT TO
A PETITION FOR WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS AND
ARE IMPROPERLY BEFORE THE COURT

20 Finally, Defendant makes allegations in his last three (3) claims that his conviction 21 and sentence are invalid because the State has allegedly violated international law and has 22 egregiously detained Defendant for a period of more than twenty (20) years. To the extent 23 that Defendant claims the State violated international law, the treaties cited by Defendant are 24 not controlling authority in Nevada and are therefore irrelevant to a post-conviction petition.
25 Furthermore, Defendant fails to acknowledge that when ratifying the International Covenant
26 on Civil and Political Rights in 1992, the United States' Senate reserved the right to impose
27 capital punishment on any person (other than a pregnant woman) including persons below
28 eighteen years of age. See Servin v. State, 117 Nev. 775, 787, 32 P.3d 1277, 1286 (2001).

1 A Defendant will not be heard to complain of delays that he has caused. Woods v.
2 State, 94 Nev. 435, 581 P.2d 444 (1978); Williams v. State, 93 Nev. 405, 566 P.2d 417
3 (1977); Stabile v. Justice Court, 83 Nev. 393, 432 P.2d 670 (1967). Similarly, Defendant's
4 allegation that the State's pursuit of justice over the past twenty (20) years, largely because 5 Defendant has sought to exhaust every conceivable remedy under state and federal law, has 6 somehow been cruel and unusual punishment obviously ignores the overwhelming evidence
7 of his guilt in the murder of his grandparents in 1984. Such outrageous claims by a 8 convicted murderer insult the Nevada judicial system and the citizens of the State of Nevada
9 who have paid for Defendant's remorseless behavior time and again.

10 CONCLUSION

11 For the foregoing reasons, this Honorable Court should deny Defendant's appeal and 12 affirm his conviction and sentence of death.
