Reviewed Motion for an Order for Access to the HDSP Law Library and
Other Relief

9 COMES NOW, Appellant, Alfred P. Centofanti, III ("Centofanti"), in 10 proper and hereby files his renewed Motion for an Order for Access 11 to the HDSP Law Library and other relief.

12 This Motion is made and based upon all motions, pleadings, and 13 documents on file, the attached Memorandum of Points and Authorities, 14 the inherent powers of the Court, as well as any additional pleadings,
15 or materials requested by this Court to reach a decision.

20
21 Memorandum of Points and Authorities

22 On October 26, 2020, HDSP delivered to Centofanti the October 23 14, 2020 Order of this Court (post marked October 15, 2020) which 24 gave Centofanti "14 days from the date of the Order to file an amended
25 PETITION FOR REVIEW."

26 NOV 02 2020
27 Two days or until October 28, 2020 is not a sufficient enough time to respond, and, Centofanti will need an Order from this Court 28 to access the materials needed to comply with the Order (Amend the

ELIZABETH A. PEGASH
CLERK OF THE COURT
SUPREME COURT OF NEVADA

1 Petition for Review).

2 On information and belief, Centofanti has been informed that access 3 to the HDSF has been allowed at the discretion of prison officials and/or 4 with Orders from the Court.

5 Centofanti is not seeking "to alter the lockdown restrictions at the 6 prison" (Oct 14th Order p. 1) Centofanti is a general population, level 1 7 (least restrictive) inmate housed in a unit that is not a lockdown
8 unit. Other level 1 inmates assigned to work at the HDSF law library
9 (as well as Protective Segregation Units workers) and others are allowed 10 to attend. So, as of the date of this motion, neither the prison, the 11 law library, Centofanti, or his unit are on lockdown status.

12 Furthermore, the prison and the law library are not following or 13 complying with the applicable Administrative Regulations as to the 14 operation of the law library, legal mail (failure to date stamp, expedite 15 processing and delivery) and response to requests for appointments, 16 materials, and grievances (Centofanti's grievance about law library 17 access filed in July remains unresponded to - due since August).

18 Centofanti is in the untenable position of trying to draft a motion 19 of why this Court should grant his request to access to the 20 law library, without which, access, he will be without the materials
21 needed to draft the MOTION.

22 Centofanti has tried to informally resolve the access issue with 23 prison officials since June. This Court has been patient with 24 Centofanti and extended deadlines but continually denied the request 25 for access relief. Without access relief preparing and filing an Amended Petition for Rehearing is impossible. Centofanti raised five
(5) separate areas for Rehearing which Centofanti assumes this Court has reviewed, separately, and forms the basis for granting the

1 requests to file a supplement (researched and脚注ized) or Amended Points and 2 Authorities. Clearly the Court understands the need of access to rules, statutes, 3 and case law to support arguments and to have issues decided on the merits.
4 The Court can take judicial notice that the NDOC does not employ at it's 5 law libraries, and at the HOSP law library, persons trained in the law, either 6 it's two free staff law librarians (administrative assistants) supervised by 7 Inmate Briefing Services) or inmate clerks, as codified in the NES (unauthorized 8 practice of law prohibitions) and AR's.

9 Centofanti, however, is trained in the law (JD 1993 California Western School 10 of Law, Nevada license in 1997, California in 1993) and worked at the law library
11 at ESP (4 years) and HOSP (4 years). My ability to adequately represent 12 myself has been absolutely thwarted since June and neither the appellate 13 Court or this Court is willing to either require the NDOC / HOSP to answer, 14 appear or otherwise respond. Yet alone be accountable, thus here we are 15 four months later with an issue that continues to occur yet evades review.

16 The NDOC (taxpayers) spend thousands of dollars for the computers
17 in the HOSP law library as portals of access to Lexis-Nexis
18 that go unused OR are staffed by those either not adequately 19 trained or trained at all to use let alone assist inmates such 20 as Centofanti do research under court imposed time restrictions.

21 Centofanti can't even obtain a copy of NRAP 30(i) or the 22 McConnell decision cited in the Oct 14th Order - NO request forms
23 available for materials, GP workers not called to work today.

24 Centofanti's appeal concerns his criminal case in which he's 25 serving two consecutive sentences of LWOP. Any hindrance on his 26 ability to represent himself therefore has severe consequences and 27 the prejudice here obvious, the inability to meet deadlines and to 28 have issues decided on the merits, fully briefed.

With all due respect, by not even hearing, let alone deciding the issue of access, this Court would be condoning NOCC / HOSP policies that are not rationally related to the safety and security of the institution, that have the chilling effect of denying inmates with a demonstrated need for access to the courts (law library), as well as violations of Centofanti's Rights to Due Process and Equal Protection (5th, 6th and 14th Amendments).

Is the pugil system inadequate? Is denial of access to the lexus nexus system the least restrictive alternative?

Centofanti filed a grievance as to the delay in mail (45 day response) Cannot grieve the continued denial of access due to the outstanding July grievance. Cannot attach copies of the envelope + delivery slip (for the Oct 14th order showing October 26th delivery) no access. Same for copies of the October 26 grievance.

Therefore, and based on the foregoing, Centofanti requests this Court order:

(1) Centofanti be allowed access to the HOSP law library for four sessions over two weeks (two sessions per week as was in place for GP inmates under the prior approved schedule) to conduct research, draft, copy and prepare for filing an Amended Petition for Rehearing;

(2) A deadline of at least 30 days be set from the date of the last appointment to file an Amended Petition for Rehearing.

Dated this 26th day of October, 2020
