MOTION TO CONSOLIDATE CASES

Real Party in Interest in Case No. 80837/Petitioner in Case No. 81975, Aaron M. Morgan (“Morgan”), by and through his counsel of record, Richard Harris Law Firm and Claggett & Sykes Law Firm, hereby moves this Court to consolidate the two original proceedings docketed as Supreme Court Case Nos. 80837 and 81975.

According to NRAP 3(b)(2), this Court should consolidate these two original proceedings for purposes of judicial economy. This rule provides, “When the parties have filed separate timely notices of appeal, the appeals may be joined or consolidated by the court upon its own motion or upon motion of a party.” Both petitions for extraordinary writ relief arise from the same District Court case, involves the same parties, and similar issues. Essentially, both cases ask for a different remedy from the District Court’s rulings arising out of the verdict form. As such, the issues of both petitions for extraordinary writ relief are interrelated.

In Case No. 80837, the Court already heard oral argument earlier this week, and the case will now proceed to a disposition. Similarly, Case No. 81975 has been fully briefed and can also proceed to a disposition (unless the Court sets an oral argument hearing) together with the Court’s decision in Case No. 80837.

///

Therefore, Morgan respectfully requests that the Court consolidate both original proceedings for the purpose of reaching a uniform disposition in both cases.

Dated this 16th day of April 2021.
